Farmers Favor Increase In Loan Rates, Payments

Increasing loan rates for grain and beefing the present disaster payment programs were two topics farmers and businessmen from 12 Nebraska counties agreed upon during a state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service district meeting in Wayne Tuesday.

The majority of the 40 persons who attended the two-hour session at Les' Steak House favored raising the loan rate, but weren't sure how much. "The problem is at what level should we raise so it won't adversely affect the market price or the free market system," said Ray Bults, of the Wayne ASC office.

If the rate is up or above the cost of production then this could tend to bring the market price down to the level of the loan rate, he said.

Representatives from the state ASC office decided to take a survey of persons present and take their results to Washington.

On the topic of the disaster payment program, the group favored the changing of the feed grain allotment program and increasing the farmer's allocation of cost-share for agricultural conservation.

It was proposed that the present feed-grain allotment be changed to payment based on

Lack of Funds

Halt Project

Following a request by the State of Nebraska, Wayne County commissioners Tuesday passed a resolution to withdraw their claim project southeast of Winfield.

The state asked the commissioners to withdraw their fund request after it learned that there weren't enough federal funds available for that project, said county clerk Norris Weible.

As a result, Weible said, See LACK OF, page 8

Allen Board Ups Salary For Clerk

The Allen Village Board earlier this month agreed to increase the hourly wage of the village clerk to $2.50.

The increase came during the regular monthly meeting when the board agreed to have Pearl Snyder continue as village clerk. Mrs. Snyder, who has served as village clerk for about three years, had earlier handed in her resignation, but reconsidered.

In other action, the board agreed to accept Chase Plumbing's bid of $488.39 for the water line replacement on the east side of town through the alley between Armond Ellis and Robert Noe to the south corner of Darrell Rode's property.

Installation of the water line will begin after an original agreement with Rode's has been fulfilled.

The board also agreed to "Make 'Curb and Gutters' the street project for the fiscal year 1977-78.

Hansen: Regents Have To Tighten Spending

A farmer from Newman Grove believes that the University of Nebraska Board of Regents needs to tighten its spending policies and become more accountable for the taxpayer's money.

Merle Hansen, who is a candidate for the Board of Regents now occupied by incumbent Kermil Wagner of Schuyler, said he is seeking the third district seat because "I want to bring the taxpayer's voice to this board of eight persons who govern the University of Nebraska."

This year the Regent cut services directly affecting students and gave raises totaling $30,000 to persons who never go near the classroom, Hansen pointed out.

"The important question about University spending is whether it really fosters learning and teaching or whether it goes into concrete, buildings and big bureaucratic salaries," he said.

The 56-year-old native said that the regents have proposed several new ways of raising money to meet the budget which is unaffordable to the farmer. Hansen related that there are plans to establish a check-off system on farm products where so much money would be taken out of checks to farmers for sales to pay for agricultural research.

"Doctors don't check-off for medical research and teachers don't check-off for educational research," he said, adding that "Research benefits us all and should be paid for from general tax funds."

Hansen said he is concerned with the fact that Nebraska has 15 counties which have no doctors and 10 counties which have only one physician. "Taxpayers provide two-thirds of the University of Nebraska-Omaha. Negl-

Team Leaders, Workers Begin Mapping Out '76 'Way' Drive

With a goal of $13,000, team leaders from Wayne business community and representatives from Wayne High and Wayne State Tuesday morning began mapping out their strategy to begin the 1976 United Way campaign.

Gathering at Wayne State's Student Center, the seven leaders and a host of their workers focused their attention on United Way chairman Dick Manley and drive coordinator John Nigh as they outlined how this year's fund drive can meet the goal.

Manley listed several of the nine agencies which will benefit from the drive, and pointed out that "it will be a considerable job ahead to reach the goal, but it can be done."

Nigh explained to the 30 persons attending the breakfast that this year's campaign will extend over four weeks, but it will be conducted a lot different than past fund drives.

The first two weeks of the campaign will focus on seeking contributions from the business and employes, staffs of both the high school and college and employes on the local and county government levels.

Nigh figured that through the contributions of businesses and their employes workers should be able to meet the projected $9,000 needed to send the campaign well on the way to achieving this year's goal.

The musicians will receive contributions from the school, college and government employes should reach the $2,250 mark, leaving only $1,750 to be collected from city residents who weren't contacted during the first two weeks of the campaign.

Manley emphasized that the goal this year is only $100 more than last year's $12,900 goal. The big change in this year's budget is the $400 reduction in gifts to Red Cross and the decrease in administration costs by one-third.

A breakdown shows that the $13,000 will be divided among the nine agencies in this fashion: Wayne recreation, $3,000; The Mid-America—Council of Boy Scouts, $2,850; Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, $2,400; Salvation Army, $1,400; Senior Citizens Center, $800; Red Cross, $100; Arthritis Foundation, $200; Florence Crittenton Home for Unwed Mothers, $200; and Cystic Fibrosis, $300.

Also figured into the goal are $400 for a contingency fund and $800 for administration.

Team leaders and their workers will meet with members of the board and Nigh every Tuesday of the four-week campaign to evaluate the program.

Band Day, Olympics Part of Weekend Fun

This weekend promises a rip-roaring time for the "freshies" at Wayne State College. Friday and Saturday are labeled "Freshman Days" for a multitude of spring chickens, new to the college scene.

The weekend coincides with two other major events at Wayne State. Number one is Band Day, an annual event featuring band members from area high schools on Saturday. And Saturday also marks the first home game for Wayne State when they face Northwest Missouri State at 7:30 p.m.

"Freshman Days" is just one more opportunity to break that first year bashful barrier of freshman. Representing dormitories, students develop friendships through a variety of activities requiring plenty of freshman teamwork.

Sack races, piggy back races, three legged races, tractor tire races — those are only part of the fun in Freshman Olympics. Then, there's pyramid building and going through the mud in the ever popular lug of war.

Milder activities are also offered to the freshmen. A free movie "The Reincarnation of Peter Proud" will push off activities Friday evening in Ramsey Theatre at 8 o'clock.

After the Olympics, beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, a welcome treat of watermelon will be provided by the college food service. And a dance featuring "Mac Nasty" will follow the Wayne game Saturday evening in the Student Center at 9:30.

"Freshman Days" is sponsored by the Student Activities

Board (ISAB) with Frank Teach in charge. Site for the Saturday Olympics is the intramural field on the WS campus. Prizes will be awarded to winning dormitories.

Now on to Band Day.

A parade down Main heads off music band activities at the college. Beginning at 3:15 p.m., over 800 students from 15 area schools will march through town from 10th Street to First Street.

The musicians will route themselves, then, to the city auditorium, where the Chamber of Commerce will provide a complimentary lunch.

At 7:15 band members will provide pre game entertainment preceding the first Wayne home game. With the Wayne State College band, halftime entertainment is also on the agenda for high school musicians.

School entering bands in Class 1 are junior high groups from Blair and Wayne and senior high bands from Fullerton, Randolph, Hooper Logan View and Wayne.

In Class 2 are bands from Elgin, Bancroft, Niobrara, Ponca, Battle Creek, Butte, Spencer and Orchard.

A mass band concert will feature such songs as "America the Beautiful," "1776 Medley," and "This Is My Country," plus renditions by the college band.

The program is planned by Dr. Ray Kellon, director of the Wayne State College band. Prizes will be awarded to winning bands in two class categories.

Wayne's weekend of events is open to the public.

LINING UP the packets containing lists of businesses to contact for this year's United Way campaign is team leader Rowan Wiltsie. The five leaders who will canvass the business district plus the two leaders who will cover the school and college met Tuesday morning with some of their workers to outline their fund-raising plans.

Dixon County Trio Is First In 4-H Judging

The Dixon County 4-H judging team of Vern George, Lori Von Minden and Roger Stage took first place in the district 4-H and FFA range judging contest at Albion Thursday.

George of Dixon, Miss Von Minden of Afton and Stage of Laurel collected 588 points. Five 4-H teams and 38 FFA teams completed.

The same three continued to be the leaders in individual contests. George finished on top of the 154 entries with 248 points while Miss Von Minden was second with 183 points and Stage was third with 157 points.

Designer Unveils 'New Faces' for Five Downtown Businesses

Businessmen from Wayne Tuesday got a glimpse at five drawings for the proposed improvement of the downtown shopping area.

The drawings of Swan-McLean Clothing—Gerald's Decorating Center, Wayne Office Equipment, Dale's Jewelry and Montgomery Ward gave the 30 persons attending the noon meeting at Les' Steak House an idea of some of the new designs for improving the appearances of their buildings.

Designer Al Nelson of Iowa said that not all of the requested drawings were completed, but said he hopes to have most of them done in the near future.

Contractor Kenneth Scott of Osceola gave those attending the meeting an idea of the cost to complete the type of work outlined in Nelson's designs. Although the cost depends on the structure of the building and other factors, Scott figures the cost of redesigning the second story of the building housing Gerald's and Swan-McLean's to be about $650 per business.

Scott explained that the work included sandblasting, trimming, caulking and repainting.

The tone of the meeting chan-

posed that the top half of the building be cleaned and repainted and add wooden shutters for effect. The street level of the store fronts show the proposed change of the buildings.

ged during a question and answer session when Pal Gross of Triangle Finance questioned the purpose of the downtown improvement district.

"Is the primary purpose of the district to deter outside businesses from developing shopping malls or is the purpose to keep up the appearance of downtown stores?" he asked.

Roger Nelson, a member of the improvement district committee who directed the presentation, pointed out that purpose is a little bit of both.

Robert Carhart, of Carhart

Lumber, interceded by pointing out that the purpose of an improvement district is "to create an area of business which is vital and encourage business traffic."

The format of the meeting again took a turn when members focused their attention on the subject of downtown parking.

Nelson said that the committee has come up with several ideas to better the parking situation in Wayne, but further action has been bogged down by the city council.

The city is in favor of the parking lot which would be owned by a private firm, he said. On that subject, Nelson indicated that there is an area of land near the district which is owned by Wayne Development Co. "Perhaps they may be interested in such an idea," he added.

2 Fires, Mishap Occur at Allen

Allen volunteer firemen and rescue workers were busy Sunday answering three alarms.

The first came shortly after 9 a.m. when firemen were called to the Al Frederickson farm to extinguish a haystack fire. The stack was owned by Dave Frederickson.

The second call about noon was to put out a television which caught fire in the Jim Walsh home.

See TWO FIRES, page 8

Arch Gustafson of Columbus, who is the area development supervisor for Nebraska Public Power District to coordinate industries with the communities in his district, pointed out that two forces which draw industry into a town are labor and the progressiveness of merchants.

Gustafson cited an example which happened several years ago when Unirovay Rubber was looking over cities in Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri to locate a plant. "I thought Nebraska had the deal sewn up," said Gustafson but Unirovay officials chose Red Oak, Ia. "He later learned that the labor force and progressive merchants were the primary reasons for Unirovay's decision."

Elaborating on last week's Chamber of Commerce Tour of Red Oak, Tom McClain of State National Bank and Trust Company noted he was particularly impressed with the enthusiasm and friendliness of the Red-Oak chamber about their city. "They were out selling their city to a bunch of people they didn't know," McClain added.

Overall, persons attending the tour of LeMars and Red Oak came away impressed by the active role businessmen took in selling the community.

The Rev. and Mrs. Vern E Mattson of Wayne were among representatives of 71 churches who attended the 109th annual session of the Nebraska Baptist State Convention last Thursday through Saturday in North Platte.

Rev. Mattson is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Wayne and Obert He participated in the opening session of the convention with scripture and prayer.

About 400 attended the three-day meeting. The Rev. Verle E. Holstein, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Omaha, is president of the statewide organization affiliated with the American Baptist Churches in the U.S.A.

New officers were elected, and reports concerning Nebraska Baptists' efforts to raise $150,000 in a nationwide $7.5 million fund of renewal project for minority causes was heard. A report of the new 568-acre Christian Growth Center and Camp near Lincoln was presented.

Featured speakers at the convention were Dr. Norman R. DePuy, pastor and author from Michigan, Capt. John Jacob of Connecticut, who spoke about minority needs, and the Rev. William Thomas, missionary to university students in Belgium.

Annual meetings of state-wide organizations of laymen, laywomen and ministers were conducted Saturday morning.

Carl Gangwish Jr., Shelton, was elected president for the new year. Other officers are the Rev. James E. Rowe of Scotts-bluff, vice president; F. E. Borchers of Omaha, treasurer; and Mrs. Alexander Elliott of Omaha, recording secretary.

Researchers Reveal Sudden Infant Death Too Often Cause of 'Unwarranted Guilt'

Families who have lost a child to Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) experience physical and psychological problems, including guilt, according to a study conducted at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Human Economics in conjunction with the Nebraska State Department of Health, division of maternal and child health.

"More than 73 theories exist on the cause of SIDS, but no one is certain why apparently healthy infants are found dead in their beds," said Dr. John DeFraim, UNL assistant professor of Human Development and the Family and former UNL graduate student Linda Ernst.

According to one theory, the brain may not send a message to breathe when the normal buildup of carbon dioxide occurs. People breathe irregularly during sleep, and some researchers think the brain does not send the command to breathe.

Formerly called crib death, SIDS claims an estimated 10,000 lives each year, making it the greatest cause of death among infants.

"Most of the victims are stricken before age six months, with the peak age being two to four months, the researchers said. "About two-thirds of the deaths occur among male infants and among poor families. Indications are that SIDS is associated with low birth weight."

Among SIDS victims, there is generally little evidence of struggle or pain, the researchers said.

Ninety-one SIDS cases were reported in Nebraska between Jan. 1, 1973 and June 30, 1975, and each was investigated by the State Department of Health, division of maternal and child health, in preparation for the study. From these cases, a study was conducted on how bereaved families cope with the death of infants.

Parents of 63 out of the 91 cases were sought for the study but only 50 could be found, the researchers said. The rest had left their homes, leaving no forwarding address.

Findings were compiled from a 14-page questionnaire completed by 32 of the 50 participating parents.

"Those who responded said that SIDS represented the most severe crisis they ever had experienced — surpassing other family crises including deaths, divorce and separation, serious illness and alcoholism."

"It took parents an average of 15 months to regain the level of happiness experienced prior to the infant's death. About the same amount of time was necessary for the family to regain its previous level of organization and ability to function smoothly," the researchers said.

Most parents reported a strengthening of family ties between spouses, children and grandparents. However, the researchers added, more than half of the parents experienced sleeplessness and nervousness, tension, loss of appetite and difficulty getting up in the morning.

Only 22 per cent said their remaining children's behavior had not changed. Others said their children had experienced nightmares, bed wetting, school problems and probably had suffered from overprotection.

"The fact that about 60 per cent of the families could not be found is perhaps the most startling aspect," the researchers said. "The families who remained together through this crisis experienced severe problems. We can only speculate about the families that could not be found."

DeFraim said he thought many families who left without leaving a forwarding address possibly were driven away by what he called "unwarranted guilt feelings."

"Most parents said that had family and friends known more about SIDS, they could have come through the crisis easier," they said.

Center Buzzes With Activities

Eleven members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center attended the monthly sermonette and sing-a-long conducted by the Rev. Doniver Peterson Friday afternoon.

The sermonette was entitled "The Whole Arm of God." Rev. Peterson sang "Come Thou Almighty King," and led in group singing of hymns, Alma Splitfgerber was accompanied.

Parents of 63 out of the 91 cases were sought for the study but only 50 could be found, the researchers said. The rest had left their homes, leaving no forwarding address.

Refreshments were furnished by Rose Heilhold, Alice Dorman, Alma Splitfgerber and Nellie Brockman.

The next sermonette and sing-a-long will be at 2 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 15.

Ten members attended library hour conducted last Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Ann Waggoner of the Wayne Public Library.

New books brought by Mrs. Waggoner to the center include "Sun Boy" by Robert Steiman; "Handbook of the Nations"; and "Life With Father" by Dooley.

Mrs. Waggoner also showed a film, entitled "Alaska, the 49th State — Its People and Resources."

Mrs. Judy Blendenner will conduct the next library hour at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 21. Mrs. Waggoner, who is assistant librarian, is moving to California.

The monthly potluck dinner on Wednesday, Sept. 15, was attended by 43 members.

Serving on the volunteer committee were Anton Pedersen, Mathilde Harms, Emma Soules, Lotie Longnecker, Nellie Brockman, Leah Sitzman, Mildred Wacker, Pearl Griffith, Louise Hoeman, Anna Jensen, Dorothy Thun, Virgil and Cordeila Chamber, Gladys Peterson, Eldon and Joceli Bull, Goldie Leonard and Ann Wohlfiel.

Cordeila Chambers arranged the floral centerpiece and Dorothy Thun gave the invocation. Pearl Griffith accompanied group singing.

Ivan Padgett gave the program on Watkins products and told of the company's history, dating back to the 1800's. Door prizes were won by Myrtle Weber and Dorothy Thun.

The next potluck luncheon will be Oct. 20 at 12 noon.

Northwest Enters with 3-0 Mark

Wildcats Again Face Stiff Test

The home debut of Wayne State's 1976 football Wildcats Saturday night seems likely to be a stiff test. Still seeking a first win after a 17-0 loss to Missouri-Rolla last Saturday, the Wildcats will clash with 3-0 Northwest Missouri State at 7:30 in Memorial Stadium.

The Missourians squeaked by William Jewell, 25-21, last week after starting the season with a 6-3 verdict over Chadron State, then blanking Pittsburg State, 24-0.

Northwest owns two victories over Wayne, 18-0 in 1964 and 14-7 a year later.

One thing is certain about the Wayne-Northwest match this week: WSC graduate assistant Stew Cline may be more eager than anybody for a Wayne win. Why? Because he played football at Northwest (he graduated there in 1922). It's axiomatic, apparently, that all coaches take special cheer in beating the old alma mater.

If the Wildcats are to gratify Cline and break into the win column, they must find ways to beat the Bearcat defensive backfield, which has compiled impressive statistics in batting down or intercepting passes, not to mention tackling.

Wayne defense will have to stop a Northwest offense which has averaged over 18 points. One factor may work for the Wildcats — that Northwest has depended more on rushing than passing.

At Rolla last Saturday, Wildcat and Miner rushing defenders ate each other, but passing was something else. Rolla scored both touchdowns on aeriels, one for 84 yards in the first quarter, the other for 25 in the final period. Ten of 17 Miner passes connected, going 213 yards. By contrast, three Wayne quarterbacks completed 517 for 64 yards. Rolla garnered its other points on a 37-yard field goal after fumbling on Wayne defense, plus two extra point kicks.

Offensive standout for Wayne was fullback Kirk Gardner, who accounted for 92 rushing yards, practically all of the 104 Wildcat net. Wingback Marty Hansen of Wayne ran 28 yards on four trips before a shoulder injury sidelined him in mid-second quarter. This was one of five injuries that may keep starters out of action Saturday.

Also on the doubtful list: linebacker Dwight Lienemann, who suffered a bruised kidney; line-backer Bill Hughes, with a pulled hamstring; fullback Mike McMahon, a knee injury, and tight end-punter Mike Green, an ankle injury — not his kicking leg, but still troublesome. Lienemann was hospitalized Saturday night before returning to Wayne and again Sunday in Wayne. The kidney bruise,

First downs	Wayne	Rolla
Rushed yards	43 104	44 97
Passing yards	64	213
Return yards	106	24
Passes	5 17 3	10 20 0
Punts, average	9 36.2	8 35.0
Fumbles, lost	1 0	1 1
Penalties, yards	8 82	2 22
Wayne	0 0 0 0	0
Rolla	7 0 3 7	17

though not apparently serious, needs several days to repair, coach Del Stollenberg said.

Defensive coach Ralph Barclay said the defense "per formed pretty well, except for the two scoring lapses."

Torrid temperature, close to 90, and high humidity might have handicapped the Wildcats a bit, Barclay surmised. For the Miners, it was typical weather.

Reserves Overcome Pierce

Powered by a strong rushing game, the Wayne High reserves football team decked invading Pierce 20-8 Monday.

At Memorial Stadium on the Wayne State campus, Wayne rushed for over 180 yards and scored three times on the ground to push its reserve record to 2-0 on the year. Monday the young Blue Devils travel to Hartington C.C.

Wayne opened the scoring with a bang as Mark Heithold returned the opening kickoff 77 yards for a touchdown and Brad Emry ran for the two-point PAT.

Wayne pushed its lead to 14-0 before halftime when Keith Schuller blocked a Pierce punt and the State's recovered on the Pierce 10 yard line. From there the Devils drove the ball in with Emry going the final four yards for the touchdown.

Pierce narrowed the Wayne lead to 14-8 midway through the third period when the invaders recovered a blocked Wayne punt in the end zone for six points and then quarterback Wade Hever ran for the double PAT.

Late in the game, Pierce turned the ball over on downs deep in its own territory and Wayne drove in for an insurance score with Brian Haun taking the ball over the goal line from two yards out.

Haun led a tough Wayne defensive unit with seven tackles.

Winside Hit By Coleridge

Winside dropped its varsity spiker mark to 2-6 Tuesday night as Coleridge handed the invading Wildkittens in two straight sets.

The invaders dropped the varsity match 15-10 and 15-8.

The next action for the Winside volleyballers will be a home match with Stanton on Thursday (Today).

In the junior varsity match, Coleridge also came out on top as the hosts prevailed 15-12 and 15-9. The Winside frosh extended their match to a third set but the outcome was again the same as the hosts won 15-15, 15-16 and 15-13.

Prep Picks:

Defense Scares Ernst

By BOB BARTLETT

The one thing Madison head football coach LeRoy Ernst fears about his opponent Friday night is its defense. "To be truthful, Wakefield's defense scares me," he said.

"Our scout reports that Wakefield's defense is tough, quick, aggressive and hard-hitting," the third-year man observed about his West Husker Conference rival.

Ernst has equal respect for coach John Torczon's offense, especially fullback Dave Gustafson, whom Ernst calls hard-nosed and shifty.

The fact that the Trojans' defense is unscored upon is one problem; Ernst's club must overcome. Another is playing on Wakefield's home turf.

Madison, which enters the match with a 2-1 record and an offense which averages just over 300 yards a game, will be gunning to break Wakefield's string of shutouts behind the rushing Al Brandt, Wendell Rowley and Doug Harder. At 200 pounds, Harder is the horsework. Quarterbacking is Jerry Schmidt, a 186-pound 6-3 junior, can pass the ball when needed.

Ernst expects to go to the air game since the Trojans proved too tough on the ground. If so Schmitt will be aiming for ends 6-4 Craig Wehrle, and 6-2 Jim Jensen plus his backfield sprinters.

Torczon said he hopes to take the edge off Madison's size advantage by causing the Dragons to commit mistakes and keep from making the big play. If the Trojans can accomplish that, the coach feels his team will beat Madison.

"Even though Madison on paper has everything over us, they're still kids, and kids make mistakes," Torczon reflected. The head coach believes that the positive thinking of his players is a factor in favor of Wakefield. "Positive waves have a way of becoming an epidemic right now and we're almost at that stage where we can beat anybody," he added.

Besides Gustafson, seniors Dan Byers and Brooks Myers will make up the backfield behind sophomore quarterback Todd Swigart. That same backfield also makes for good throwing targets as the Trojans have shown in their 9-0 win over favored Dodge last week.

That Dodge win plus wins by Wisner-Pilger over Wayne and Plainview over Laurel were the straws which broke the camel's back, trying to pick winners in prep football. Only one team came through in the selections, that was Winside over Allen.

Three losses and one win dropped my record to 9-4. Let's see if I can better that mark with these predictions (winners in boldface):

Madison at Wakefield — Positive thinking will be a big factor in the outcome of this match. However, Madison's size advantage will have a lot to do with the final score. Give this tight game to the Dragons.

Winside at Ponca — The Wildcats' last week uncorked a strong rushing attack and a defense to match. Look for the Red and White to romp in this Lewis and Clark interleague battle.

Allen at Hartington — Eagles need to shore up their offensive line to move against Wildcats.

Laurel at Crofton — Warriors' offense too much for coach Joe Boyle's club to handle.

Tough Yards

HARD-NOSED running was how Wayne's freshman football squad earned its 2-0 win over visiting Pierce Thursday afternoon at Memorial Stadium on the Wayne State College campus. Fighting for some of those tough yards against a stubborn Bluejay defense were quarterback Jeff Dion, top, and runningback Jeff Zeiss. Keeping their eyes glued on Zeiss as he breaks away from two defenders are teammates Doug Marr (51), Brad Teigen (39) and Marv Hansen (77).

WS Spikers Down Platte

Monday evening marked a winning beginning for Wayne's women spikers in their volleyball opener against Platte College at Columbus.

The Wild kittens outplayed Columbus in both reserve and varsity action, clearing a two game win in JV activity, and overtaking the Raiders in two of three sets for the final varsity win.

And that's not the end of action against Platte. They're coming back Saturday, this time on Wayne stomping grounds. Along with Midland College competition, Platte will face Wayne again in the home opener at 7 p.m. in Rice Auditorium.

Reserve play Monday showed 15-5 and 15-9 winning scores for Wayne and 6-15, 15-6, and 15-9 results for the varsity.

Sizing up the Wildcat starter, coach Bernice Fulton feels a season of hard work ahead. "We've got one whole of a lot of work to do, and we've found our weak spots," she says.

Laurel Spikers

Chalk Up 2nd Straight Win

"Team work. We're calling every hit and really working well together," was coach Dwight Iverson's explanation of his Laurel girls' chalking up their second straight volleyball win and their fourth overall Tuesday night while knocking off visiting Crofton, 15-12 and 15-12.

The 4-4 Bears also carry a .500 mark in the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference. Balanced scoring highlighted Laurel's victory. Elaine Guerrero led with nine serve points followed by Cheryl Abts with eight, Paula Buss with six and Patli Stark with five. The coach noted that Buss is his newest addition to his starting lineup and she appears to really have helped in turning the game around.

Laurel split reserve and freshman action. The area club dropped the JV match, 15-2 and 15-5 for a 2-3 record. The freshmen battle went three sets before Laurel came out on top. Janet Johnson served the last eight points of the first game and Donna Loftquist led in floor play, the coach noted.

In the Triple Crown Nebraska Championship races held at Summit Speedway in Omaha Sunday, Hoskins driver, Gerald Bruggeman placed second in the second heat and fifth in the A feature.

Marathon Vet Among New Cat Coaches

Claudette "Baabi" Wispe is a new coach at Wayne State College this fall. She teaches dance and P.E. classes, coaches volleyball and track and likes to run and run and run.

While the high school girls in Nebraska last spring first started running the mile in prep competition, Baabi has gone there one or maybe 26 times better — she runs in marathons.

Yes, this year's newest Wildcat coach is a veteran of marathon competition. The marathon is a grueling cross country race over a course just a little bit longer than 26 miles. To complete the race it takes a top flight Olympic runner just over two hours of continuous running at a pace around five miles per minute.

In the Drake marathon Baabi ran in last spring, the weather didn't cooperate and the contestants had to run the 26 miles in rain and cold.

"I came in a tank top," Wispe said, "but it was so cold I had to borrow someone's jacket. And I never took it off the whole time."

Baabi (pronounced Bobby) placed fourth at Drake in her second outing in the world's longest foot race. In October of 1975 she ran in a marathon in Omaha but she said she would enter the fall event in Omaha because of her schedule of coaching duties as an assistant on the women's volleyball team.

She is a University of Iowa graduate with a B.A. in textiles and clothing. She got into teaching P.E. and dance when she received her master's degree from Iowa in physical education. She was an instructor at Kirkwood Community College in Cedar Rapids, Ia. and taught for two years at Iowa University. In a physical skills program before coming to Wayne State this fall.

Baabi also claims the distinction of being the first woman admitted to Phi Epsilon Kappa, formerly a men-only physical education graduate fraternity. Her teaching duties at Wayne State include two sections of folk and recreation dance, one modern dance course, gymnastics and elementary school physical education along with her duties in volleyball and as the women's head track coach for the Wildcats.

To keep up her conditioning for future marathons, Wispe tried to jog 5-12 miles four or five times a week.

"I try to run at least five times a week but I don't have any set time of day or distance I run. I may have 15 minutes between classes so I'll run then. Or I may jog back and forth from home to school. Then perhaps I'll do some major distance running after volleyball practice," she explained.

Her interest in track is well based as she competed from in track junior high school through college and her father and brother were both active in cross country competition.

She says that enduring the pain, both physical and mental, is the key to distance running. Baabi explains, "One has to endure the pain. It always hurts and the hurt lasts a long time. It's not like running short distances where the pain only lasts a little while."

The results of a 26-mile run can be long lasting as she pointed out, "I limped for a week after the last marathon." Also emotionally a runner is usually drained after the two-hour running feat. "After each marathon I thought I'd never run in another but later you usually change your mind," she pointed out.

Wispe says she runs in marathons because it is a race she feels she can best compete with men in. While she will concede that today on the whole women cannot run as fast as men, she sees no reason why the gap between men's and women's events as far as distances are concerned, can't be closed. She points out that since endurance is the biggest key in distance running in her estimation, there seems to be no reason why women cannot endure as much as men in distance running.

The possibility of girls competing on an even basis with boys in track some day could become a reality, she says, if girls start training as early as boys do. She points out, however, that physiology plays a role in athletic ability but at the present "no one knows for sure" how important of a factor it is in comparing the ability of men and women in track.

Mills' Serving Lifts Wakefield

Over Hartington

Behind the serving of Robin Mills, Wakefield varsity spikers moved their season's mark to 3-2 Monday night.

Wakefield took quick 15-3, 15-12 wins over Invading Hartington Cedar at Wakefield.

Mills led the Wakefield servers with 11 points while Lynn Holm was credited with four spikes and Mary Kober had three spikes. Lori Stevens led the losers with six serving points.

The Ernie Kovar coached Wakefield volleyballers will host West Point tonight (Thursday).

In the reserve match Monday, the Wakefield reserves saw their record fall to 0-4 as Hartington took the JV match 9-15, 15-10 and 15-11. Heidi Carlson and Karen Johansen led the losers with seven serve points each.

The most exciting match of the night was in the freshman contest as the Wakefield frosh won their first victory in four outings with a thrilling 15-10, 9-15, 17-15 win over the invaders' freshmen.

Rhonda Wilson led the winners with 11 points.

Athletes of the Week

BROOKS MYERS

CHERYL ABTS

A football player from Wakefield and a volleyball stand-out at Laurel are this week's winners for the Herald's "Athlete of the Week" honor.

They are Wakefield High senior Brooks Myers, who scored one touchdown and booted a field goal for a 9-0 upset of Dodge, and junior Cheryl Abts, who led the Bears to a victory over Stanton.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Myers of Wakefield, Brooks kept Wakefield in the game in the first half with 40 yards rushing in six carries on offense. Defensively, he blocked a Dodge punt deep in the Pirates' territory which resulted in a five yard TD by Myers for an early 6-0 Trojan lead. In the third quarter, he kicked a 13-yard field goal to all but ice the victory.

Abts consistent playing both on offense and defense has been a major factor in first-year coach Dwight Iverson's successful start.

Abts served up 14 points during Laurel's 15-8 and 15-13 wins over Stanton Thursday for the Bears' third win of the season. "She's been consistent both at the line spiking the ball and serving," added Iverson.

Cheryl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abts of Dixon.

WS Harriers Finish 5th

Wayne State cross country runners found the pace lively in the Nebraska Wesleyan W Club invitational meet Saturday. They finished fifth among six full teams that scored. Five other colleges entered partial teams.

Jerry Sanders led Wayne harriers with his 11th place, touring the four-mile Pioneer Park course in 20:20. Next for Wayne was Don Rinehart, 20th at 20:36.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha had five runners in the first 10 to win team scoring with 25 points.

Bears Notch 1st JV Win

Laurel's reserve football team notched its first win of the 1976 campaign with a 20-12 win on the road over Wisner Pilger. The young Bears under coach Ed Jensen moved their record to 1-2 Monday as they scored on three short runs in natching the victory.

In the second quarter, Laurel opened the scoring when Don Burns scored and Paul Guern kicked the extra point. The host Galors scored before the half to close the gap to 7-6. Laurel extended its lead in the third stanza when Russ Gade scored on a short run and the Bears put the game away with a touch down by Ron Dadsken in the fourth period.

Guern also kicked Laurel's second PAT.

Laurel's next reserve contest will be against Randolph in Laurel Monday.

Young Devils Tripped 8-0

Wayne's eighth grade griders ran into a tough bunch of foes at Randolph Tuesday and dropped an 8-0 decision.

The loss puts the young Blue Devils at 1-1 on the year with a contest in Wayne Tuesday against Hartington C.C. next on the slate.

The hosts took the opening kickoff and drove for the only score of the game as Brad Johnson scored the TD and the double PAT.

Wayne's only real threat came in the fourth period when the Devils drove to the Randolph 40 on a string of three completed passes but lost the ball on a fumble. Wayne could muster only five first downs in the contest.

Despite the loss, Wayne coach Dick Neill still had a lot of praise for his defense. "We held a much bigger offense to only one score and I think that's pretty good," he said. Mike Macke led the Wayne defense with a dozen stops while Aaron Schuett was next with five tackles.

Wayne lost its right halfback for the season as Brian Aquirre broke his collar bone during the contest.

Johnson Sparks Devil Volleyballers

Lori Johnson led Wayne's varsity volleyballers in both serving points and spikes as the host Blue Devils nipped Norfolk Tuesday night at Wayne High.

Wayne moved its varsity record to 8-1 by grabbing an exciting 15-8, 13-15, 15-13 win. In the third set, Wayne grabbed an early lead but saw Norfolk rally to knot the set at 13-all. Stephanie Dorcay then served up a point for the winners to break the tie and Johnson delivered her tenth scoring serve of the night to clinch the victory.

Johnson also was credited with nine spikes.

Wayne coach Mavis Dilton praised her spikers' 100 per cent accuracy in serving in Tuesday's varsity action.

Wayne will try to extend its four-game winning streak in varsity action in a match against host South Sioux City on Sept. 30.

In the reserve contest, Sandy Jacobmeter led Wayne to 15-11, 12-15, 15-10 win with a dozen serving points. Coach Dilton praised the overall play of Wayne's Ann Fredrickson in the reserve class. The Wayne reserves are now 3-1 on the year.

Allen Shutout

Allen's reserve griders dropped their season's opener at Newcastle Tuesday afternoon 13-0.

The hosts put the game away with a touchdown in each of the first two quarters. Allen drove to the Newcastle 15 yard line twice in the fourth quarter but both times the young Eagles ran out of downs.

Kevin Kraemer led the losers' attack with 35 yards on the ground. Allen coach Jim Koontz lauded the defensive work of Eagles Gary Karlberg and Mark Koch.

Monday Allen will host Homer in another JV clash.

In a junior high contest also played at Newcastle Tuesday, Allen completely dominated as the Eagles posted a 46-0 win.

Eighth grade running backs Randy Smith and Frank Lanzer led the way as they both scored two touchdowns and one PAT. Smith ran for 93 yards and Lanzer for 101. The Allen junior high mark stands at 2-0.

Hartington JVs Top Winside

Winside scored first but host Hartington came away with the win as the Winside reserves dropped their season opener 26-6 on the road Monday afternoon.

In the first period, the invaders struck quickly as Paul Roberts hit Randy Ritze on a 40-yard touchdown pass and Winside grabbed an early 6-0 lead.

But after the first quarter, "Hartington dominated the game," according to Winside reserve coach Sam Calvin as the hosts scored twice in the second quarter and once in each of the final stanza's to clinch a 20-point victory.

Abts served up 14 points during Laurel's 15-8 and 15-13 wins over Stanton Thursday for the Bears' third win of the season. "She's been consistent both at the line spiking the ball and serving," added Iverson.

Teachers In, Out of State Before Taking Posts

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of three articles introducing new WSC faculty members to Wayne citizens.)

A variety of experiences in and out of Nebraska led to the present day occupations of four new faculty members at Wayne State College.

Before her contract with Wayne for example, Mrs. Margaret Hansen, new instructor in home economics, wove a trip to England, Wales and Washington study into her home economics education.

Specializing in sociology and anthropology, Peter Black gained experience first-hand at Tobl Island, a Peace Corps assignment for Wayne's new assistant professor of sociology.

Indeed, all types of positions preceded the appointments of new faculty members at WS.

Howard Health
It's the first year of college-level teaching for Howard Health, a native of Oshkosh. His appointment as assistant professor of education follows graduation from Garden City High School, four years in the U.S. Navy, years of study at Chadron State College and UNL, and years of high school teaching.

Specializing in secondary education with a mathematics major, Health taught math for two years at Hyannis High School, then moving over to Deuel County High School in Chappell.

For the past eight years he has served as a high school guidance counselor in O'Neill and completed his doctorate of education at UNL in May.

Health regards his experience in the Navy as a highlight in his life. Stationed at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, he witnessed the beginning of Castro's takeover.

From his swimming pool at the base, he said, he could see battleships and hear gunfire at Caminara, a city across the bay. The men, who could once travel anywhere in Cuba, were then subject to restriction. Castro, who Health marked a "trouble-maker", even threatened to cut of the U.S. water supply at this base, U.S. territory under a 100-year contract.

Even then Health held a keen interest in guidance counseling. His job as personnel man in the aircraft squadron entailed to office work — keeping personnel records and interviewing enlisted men.

Currently Health is teaching courses in counselor education, psychology and individual assessments at Wayne. His wife, Norma, is a housewife and works with O'Neill Education Opportunity Center.

She and children Brad, 13, and Terri, 19, live in Inman. AS is common with several WSC faculty members, Health commutes home on weekends.

Memberships for the professor include the Nebraska Educational Association (NEEA), SEA and HEA, plus the Nebraska Personnel Guidance Association. At Chadron he was selected for Blue Key.

Hunting, fishing and sports viewing are a few of Health's current favorites.

Mrs. Kathryn Cork
Once a neighbor of Howard Health ("They lived behind us three years"), Mrs. Kathryn Cork, the new instructor of learning disabilities classes, has spun around Nebraska with her career in education.

She currently teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in principles of learning disabilities and identification of learning disabilities. Child psychology and Instructional Materials for Special Education Students are two other courses.

Rushville was the hometown of Mrs. Cork, who went from high school to college at Chadron State. Her degree in elementary education, however, came from Yankton College, followed by a one-year teaching assignment in Broadwater.

Then came Yankton where she and Health were neighbors. Two years were spent teaching fifth and sixth grades and for three years Mrs. Cork taught rural school.

After a three-year contract at Dorchester teaching first grade, Mrs. Cork shifted her educational interest a bit in Bloomfield where she became a Title I reading teacher. In Emerson, she became a resource teacher for the Education Service Unit at Wakefield covering Newcastle, Pender, Thurston and Homer school districts.

In between time Mrs. Cork spent two and one half years of night classes at Wayne State earning her master's degree in elementary education with an endorsement in learning disabilities.

She and her family have traveled extensively to such places as Mexico, California and New York. Her husband, Robert, is superintendent of schools at Emerson. They have one daughter, Cheryl, a 17 year old senior at Emerson.

Peter Black
Rather than an instructor teaching anthropology, Peter Black looks upon himself as an anthropologist teaching in college.

And after five years of living in Northern Nigeria and in the Pacific Islands, Black has considerable background for his anthropology career.

Raised in the Mobawkan Valley in upstate New York, Black grew up surrounded by the Adirondack Mountains. A degree in government resulted from years of study at Columbia University in New York, and then Black joined the Peace Corps.

Initially, the young graduate worked with a farmers coop in Nigeria. Acting as a middle man between the small farmers and exporters, Black brought the Nigerian cash crop, peanuts, and prepared them for sale to exporters.

During the rainy season, when money ran short, he gave out low interest loans. Black worked in an American possession in Micronesia, Palau, under community development.

He then went on to Tobl Island where his only contact with the outside world was a ship that came in only four times a year slaying for half a day.

A very small atoll, Tobl Island, is inhabited by only 60 people. Black stayed. At one time the island held over 1,000 persons, but an influenza epidemic wiped out the majority of the population.

Black's assignment in Tobl Island, was to determine another means to make money on the island. Tobl's cash crop, copra (the meat of the coconut) no longer pulled in needed income, so Black initiated new means of income through selling smoked fish and handicrafts and carving by the native people.

More general duties for Black included building latrines, and jobs of a more common nature. After a year there, he returned to America, completing an anthropology degree at Lajolla Beach, Calif., and returning to Tobl again for his research project.

Now living in Cornell Hall with his wife Mary and son Jamie, 4, Black's job at Wayne follows a temporary position at Pioma College in California. He is interested in emotions and thinking and his courses at Wayne include social thought and anthropology.

Mrs. Margaret Hansen
Not new to the area, Mrs. Margaret Hansen, instructor in home economics, calls her hometown Millard. After years of involvement in 4-H activities, she kept up with her interest at UNL, earning her B.S. in home economics.

England and Wales followed. For six months Mrs. Hansen was a participant in the International Farm Youth Exchange Program, an international program sponsored by Nathan Gold of the Golden Co. (now known as Brandeis).

With the basic idea "cultural understanding," Mrs. Hansen and five other U.S. students lived with farm families overseas, not with the intention of studying, but actually living and working with foreign farm families.

Then Mrs. Hansen had to go to work. Beginning as an extension home economist in Cuming County at West Point, a National 4-H fellowship for study then sent her to Washington D.C. to study with the Federal Extension Service.

Earning her master's degree in home development education from the University of Maryland, she then became instructor and dean of women at a small church college in northern Indiana.

In the fall of 1965 an extension home economist position brought her to the N.E. Nebraska Station near Concord. On to Lincoln she became associate state 4-H leader, a job which lasted for three years.

Then Mrs. Hansen was married to a man with two children. Staying at home until her children became of school age, she then moved to Wayne for her present position.

Report Shows: Standard of Living Is Up

How high is the standard of living in Wayne County? How does it compare with the standard in other communities? On the basis of an index rating used by the Department of Commerce, it ranks above many areas in that regard. During the last decade or so, local families have been steadily upgrading their style of living, despite the periods of self imposed restraint brought about by inflation and depressions. Except for the last two or three years, when they held themselves in close check, they have been spending a considerable part of their disposable income for major appliances and for luxuries in general. If spent for such items as food freezers, color TV sets, washing machines, new cars and the like. As a result, the proportion of local families who are now equipped with such amenities of good living has become much greater. With respect to freezer units, for example, they are now to be found in some 60 per cent of all Wayne County households. In 1960, by way of comparison, only 43 per cent had them. Similarly, there are many more air conditioners in use locally. The proportion of homes so equipped has reached 35 per cent, as against 13 per cent in 1960. As for TV sets, over 97 per cent of local families have one or more. In 1960 the ratio was 94 per cent, the Commerce Department's figures show. Car ownership has also increased. Approximately 95 per cent of families in the area have at least one car, compared with 93 per cent previously. The extent to which people in each part of the country have these four kinds of equipment at their command, is taken as an indication of their well being and their standard of living. The maximum rating for a community, if every one of its families had all four of them, would be 400. Wayne County has a rating of 287, a marked gain over its 1960 rating of 243. Elsewhere in the United States, the rating is 250 and in the North Central States, 255. As would be expected, the acquisition of expensive durables is directly related to income. When income rises, as it has been doing locally, people tend to spend more in that direction.

Everyone has heard it, most of us have used the phrase, "It's a necessary evil!" By this, we usually mean that something, or some situation, is highly undesirable but not easily eliminated.

A little reflection should convince us of our error. If this "evil" thing is truly necessary, it isn't as evil as supposed. If it is truly evil, it can't be really necessary and we should root it out so that it can no longer exert its influence on us.

Our sincere respect for all faiths and creeds underlies our ability to provide a perfectly appropriate service for all, whatever their belief.

Everyone has heard it, most of us have used the phrase, "It's a necessary evil!" By this, we usually mean that something, or some situation, is highly undesirable but not easily eliminated.

A little reflection should convince us of our error. If this "evil" thing is truly necessary, it isn't as evil as supposed. If it is truly evil, it can't be really necessary and we should root it out so that it can no longer exert its influence on us.

Our sincere respect for all faiths and creeds underlies our ability to provide a perfectly appropriate service for all, whatever their belief.

Leshner: What kind of conservative are you?

Is there a strong conservative trend in the country today? A lot of evidence suggests that there is, but trying to pin down the nature of this "conservatism" brings to mind Harry Truman's plea for "some one-armed economists" who couldn't say, "on the one hand, but on the other hand."

Public opinion polls indicate that at least a strong plurality of Americans think of themselves as conservative. One recent poll put the percentage as high as 66 per cent. In six major national polls taken from late 1974 to early this year, "conservative" responses ranged from a low of 25 per cent to a high (early 1976) of 47 per cent. In those same polls, people describing themselves as "liberal" ranked from a low of 15 per cent to a high of 30 per cent.

Comparing such polls is risky, however. In some of them, respondents were given a choice of additional categories, such as "middle-of-the-road" and "radical." In other cases, the only choice was between "conservative" and "liberal," with those who didn't specify either lumped under "undecided."

Other factors influence polls, too. What has been in the news just before the poll is taken can be important. The way questions are worded also influences results.

Nevertheless, put it all together and you are left with the impression that more people in this country think of themselves as "conservative" than as "liberal." Also, there is evidence that both of the major presidential candidates in this campaign are perceived by the voters as more conservative than liberal.

On the other hand (sorry, Harry!), if the country is going conservative, why do polls show public support for the Republican Party dwindling? The GOP is not, officially, a conservative party, of course, but most people perceive it to be more conservative than the Democratic Party.

Nobody really knows the answer to that one, although a variety of theories have been proposed. Among them:

- The GOP is still scarred by recent scandals.
- The GOP is not conservative enough for conservatives.
- Individual Democratic candidates are often perceived as "conservative" by the voters.
- There are two different kinds of conservative: The "economic conservative" and the "social conservative." The former is concerned about federal fiscal and monetary policy and business conditions. The latter is concerned about such things as busing, sexual permissiveness, crime, gun control, abortion, etc.
- According to this two-conservative theory — which is held by some prominent conservative and liberal thinkers — the recent growth in "conservative" ranks is accounted for mostly by the social conservatives, who come largely from social groups which have not traditionally identified with the Republican Party.

There is probably some truth in all of these theories. Conservatives come in a variety of shapes, sizes and philosophies. And you can believe that there has been a recent increase in the number of people sharing the concerns attributed to the "social conservative." They are — by and large — the frustrations caused by tripping upon the wreckage of 40 years of liberal social experimentation.

But I think it is simplistic to imagine a sharp polarization in the conservative camp. There is at least one major national problem that alarms (and unites) both social and economic conservatives: Inflation. Economic conservatives know what it is doing to the national economy, and social conservatives know what it is doing to the family budget.

In June, 1974, Opinion Research Corporation asked people to name the biggest problem we face. Thirty-six per cent picked "government spending" (which causes inflation), and 30 per cent chose "inflation." That's a pretty encouraging indication that at least 66 per cent of us are on the "right" track. — Richard L. Leshner, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Lippe: It's our fault big government grows

Within a couple of months the American people will again have an opportunity to decide if they want to continue the trend toward bigger government, or if they are ready to do without a few of the services now offered and being planned by Uncle Sam. Some polls indicate that there is less interest in this election than there has in recent years. Yet, we feel this election may be one of the most important ever held.

While both political parties say they do not want more government, the programs that have been offered by the Democrats would seem to require even more federal employees and departments. They are seeking full employment, via government jobs. They want a national health care program that makes even liberal congressmen pale when they contemplate the costs of such a massive "care package."

The advocates of a health program keep saying that a majority of the people want this service, but surveys show that health care ranks about 14th on a list of citizen concerns, and then they aren't satisfied with the government involvement. They are concerned with their rising insurance costs. After following the plight of Great Britain through national health care, government ownership of the mines and steel mills, etc., it is hard to believe that we will do things differently.

People keep saying we need a leader. That's very true. On the other hand, if the leader is taking the country the wrong way, it might be better to get by with a good manager instead. The glamour boys have always been able to spend money. It takes courage and intelligence to know when to say "no" to Congress and stand by your decision.

Part of our problem is caused by business itself. For example, my nine year old son recently attended a major league baseball game. When he came home proudly displaying his duffel bag that had been given away at the game, I noticed he had also received an application form for a national credit card.

So what? That's nothing new. No, but it is an indication of something that has been happening for the past 15 to 20 years. We have extolled the virtues of credit cards, indicating that everyone can and should have several, thus enabling them to buy things when they don't have the money. We have made easy credit appear to be a right instead of something to be earned.

Credit cards themselves are a fine idea, we use them for a great many things, and they help keep records straight and allow payment with one check. The problem is that we have created a whole generation of people that see nothing wrong with paying today and

"maybe" paying for it tomorrow. This philosophy then carries over into government. We have some very intelligent people saying that it really doesn't matter how high our national debt goes, we'll just print more money and extend the time of payment — and the worst part is that they are really sincere in this belief.

In addition, when the dollars and the cents come easy, people seem to have less respect for productivity. The value of a particular product or service is lowered in their eyes — and therefore, we lose in another way, too. Increasing inflation and lowered productivity can spell disaster for any country in this modern world.

We do not have an endless supply of resources.

At any rate, if government continues to grow in 1977 and later years, we really can't blame the politicians. It will be our fault for being too comfortable, too busy and too uninterested to work for candidates that can turn this trend around. We'll be saying how much we hate big government, but we'll also not want to give up any of those benefits which we gain from government programs. Somehow, we have to get rid of this "easy come, easy go" attitude. We can't afford that any more, either. — Ray Lippe, Mid-America Commerce and Industry.

OBSERVATIONS

Maybe now's the time

Senator Carl Curtis Friday said a proposal for the federal government to spend $160 million to develop an electric car would be a waste of money.

Private industry, Curtis said, can develop the cars, and if they work, everybody will want one.

We will have to disagree with Curtis on this one. Sen. Warren Mansour, D-Wash., said it well: "The electric vehicle can provide the public a nonpolluting vehicle that does not depend on petroleum fuels."

The federal government does need to control spending, but developing an electric car certainly sounds like a much more worthy project than some of the others we've heard of that have been funded by federal tax dollars.

The idea of leaving development up to private enterprise sounds good in theory, but it won't work in the real world.

Why? Because, for now at least, the auto manufacturers don't want it, and neither do the oil companies. Retooling would be expensive for the automakers (although such a step will be necessary sooner or later).

Gazing into our crystal ball, we're predicting that no practical alternative to petroleum power will become available until the supply of oil becomes rather crucial.

There will be a carefully timed transition period, with a new type of energy gradually replacing oil in other words, petroleum resources will be milked for every nickel of profit possible before a replacement takes over entirely.

Trouble is, chances of misjudging that timing are good and being a year or two off would mean costs, domestically, economically and militarily.

We'd just as soon start now to develop the new technology which will be needed to replace oil when the time comes. Private enterprise can introduce that technology when it becomes economically feasible, but the earlier it is developed the better. It looks like it is up to the government to get things started. — Jim Strayer.

We want to know

Our news correspondent in Winside, Pat Oswald, has come up with what we think will be a gem of an idea for a story in the near future.

While canvassing the town for local news she found a couple who have been faithful subscribers to The Wayne Herald for better than 60 years. Why have they continued to take the paper for such a long time? That's the question we've asked Pat to find out in her interview.

The couple told her the main reason for renewing their subscription each year is to keep up with the news in the county.

We also asked Pat to find out some of the likes and dislikes the couple have about the newspaper because we want to know how we can better serve the public and in what areas we need to beef up in order to please you, the reader.

You see, the purpose of any newspaper, whether it be published weekly, twice weekly or daily, is to keep you informed about what is happening in local and county government, as well as other news making events in your town.

If you think we're not doing too good a job, we want to hear about it. That's why we have a letter to the editor column on the editorial page of each edition.

We welcome your comments, regardless of what your stand is on any issue. Our only requirement is that when you send in a letter you sign it. If you wish to withhold your name when your letter is put in the paper, we can do that. — Bob Bartlett.

FRIDAY!

THAT'S O.K.—SO WILL I!

Proposed amendments skip agriculture

Eight proposed amendments to the Nebraska State Constitution will be submitted to Nebraska voters at the Nov. 2nd general election, none of which seems to have direct implication for agriculture.

The list of constitutional proposals is not as long nor as confusing as in some years but every voter would do well to have some understanding of the proposals as they will appear on the ballot prepared by the Secretary of State's office will be as follows:

Amendment 1 — As proposed by LB 94, this amendment would eliminate the requirement that every bill be read at large before the vote is taken on final passage. This proposal has been rejected by the voters in previous elections but legislators generally favor eliminating the time-consuming work by word reading of each bill on final reading before a vote is taken, saying the requirement is unnecessary and meaningless. Copies of the bill in final form have to be on the senators' desks for 24 hours before a final vote is taken and the reading by the clerk is usually rapid and generally inaudible, simply perfunctory compliance with the present constitutional requirement.

Amendment 2 — As proposed by LB 17, this amendment would provide for the Legislature to line item override the Governor's line item veto of appropriation bills. Presently, the Governor can line item veto in appropriation bills, but to override, the Legislature must vote by a three-fifths majority (30 votes) to override on the entire bill. This would permit the senators to let some line item vetoes stand and to be selective in their overrides rather than having to override on the total bill package.

Amendment 3 — As proposed by LB 12, this amendment would change the date when the Legislature meets to the second Monday in December and would have the senators' terms start on that date. Presently the Constitution requires that the sessions start on the first Wednesday after the first Monday in January. Advocates of the change see it as permitting the Legislature to meet in December, get organized, accept bill introductions and recess for the holidays. They contend this would save time, particularly in the odd-numbered (90 day sessions) years when reorganization must take place, and there are no carry-over bills.

Amendment 4 — As proposed by LB 119, this amendment would provide that the lieutenant governor would no longer be the presiding officer over the legislative sessions. It would permit the Legislature to provide a presiding officer and advocates have talked in terms of hiring a skilled parliamentarian to perform the service. Advocates contend that the lieutenant governor, now elected as part of the governor lieutenant governor "team," is a member of the executive branch and in position to serve as governor's advocate.

Amendment 5 — As proposed by LB 260, this amendment would permit the Legislature to authorize a political subdivision to issue bonds for the funding of redevelopment projects, with the bonds to be repaid by property taxes on new valuations in such projects when the indebtedness had been paid in full, then such property would be taxed as all other property in that taxing jurisdiction.

Amendment 6 — As proposed by LB 666, this amendment is in two parts (1) to permit contracting with private schools to provide special nonsectarian services for handicapped children; and (2) to permit educational grants in aid to students who choose to attend private colleges of the state rather than restricting such aid to students in the public institutions. This proposal has raised the argument of "separation of church and state" and is strongly opposed by the Nebraska State Education Association on grounds that there are not enough public funds to go around.

Amendment 7 — As proposed by LB 667, this amendment would permit governmental subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to acquire and develop real and personal property for commercial or business enterprises. Such property would be subject to taxation during the time it was leased or held by private interests, according to the proposition.

Amendment 8 — As proposed by LB 797, this amendment would increase the salary of state legislators from the present $400 per month to $675 per month. The present $400 per month figure was approved by the voters in 1968. The voters rejected a similar increase proposal for the legislators for 1970, 1972 and 1974. At the present $4,800 per year, it is generally conceded that service in the Legislature is a financially losing proposition for each senator or congressman. Legislative service to those who are willing and able to subsidize their service from their own resources. — M. M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation.

Five New Teachers Are on Wayne High Staff

Students in the Wayne Carroll school system are becoming acquainted with a number of new faces this year. Hallie Sherry (Mrs. Orville Sherry) is teaching freshman English. A long-time resident of Wayne, Mrs. Sherry taught in the Wakefield school system for one year and was a substitute teacher in the Wayne system last year.

In addition to her teaching duties, Mrs. Sherry is yearbook advisor.

Teaching advanced biology to sophomores is Leigh Mueller, a native of Stuart and a 1968 graduate of the University of South Dakota Springfield. Mueller previously taught at Keya Paha County High School for eight years. He is a junior class advisor at Wayne High. Hobbies include bow hunting and oil painting.

The Muellers have three children: Ann Marie, six; Dana Lyle, three; and Jennifer, born June 12.

Roger Geiger is teaching drafting classes for the first semester assuming teaching duties normally assumed by Al Hansen, who is not teaching this semester for health reasons.

Geiger is a 1970 Wayne State College graduate. He then taught in Randolph for four years, while commuting from Wayne. In all, the Creighton native has been a Wayne resident since 1965. For the past two years he has been a contractor.

The Geigers have two children, Shane, five and Tammy, two.

Howard Peters is teaching consumer economics and typing, while working toward a masters degree in education at Wayne State College.

A 1964 graduate of Keumpeur Catholic High at Carroll, Iowa, Peters attended WSC and Richard College at Decatur, Ill., prior to entering the business world. He was Illinois sales manager for the Griffaw Manufacturing Company before deciding to return to WSC to receive certification as a teacher which he received in May.

Peters, who was vice-president of the Des Moines Jaycees in 1972, is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, and received the WSC 1975 Outstanding Business Education Major Award.

Norfolk Hosting Workshop

A workshop for all area young musicians in eighth grade through college will be held Sunday, Oct. 3 at Norfolk Senior High School.

Under the direction of Dallas Tjaden, the workshop is part of a Youth Symphony for Northeast Nebraska which is free of charge.

Purpose of the workshop is to get young people interested in the YSNM for the performances which will be held later this year. Plans are to continue workshops on Oct. 17, 31, Nov. 7 and 21 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in preparation for a concert on Sunday, Dec. 5.

A native of Council Bluffs,

Serving as guidance counselor is Curt Frey. Frey, who moved to Wayne this year after spending two years as guidance counselor at Neligh High School, is married and has two children, Corey and Kelli.

A 1969 graduate of Midland College in Fremont, Frey earned a bachelor's degree in history and physical education before he received his master's from Chadron State in guidance and counseling.

In addition to his counseling duties at Wayne High, Frey coaches freshman football and will coach girls basketball this winter.

Drought Threatening Young Trees

The 1975-76 drought is threatening millions of young trees throughout Nebraska, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) reported Tuesday.

SCS forester Jim Carr said, "Farmers and rural landowners should water their windbreak plantings this fall if the trees are to survive the drought. Trees planted in the last three years are in greatest danger."

Grasshoppers are also compounding this problem on broad-leaf trees and shrubs. SCS field offices pointed out, "We could exceed normal losses by 20 per cent or even higher," Carr says.

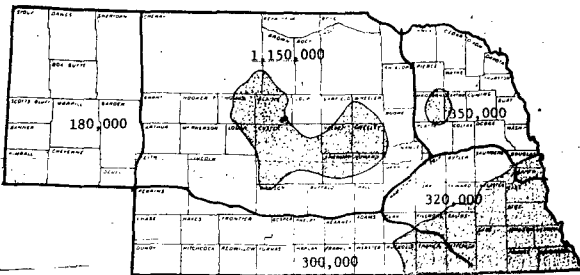

From 1975 to 1976 Nebraska landowners have planted over six million trees for windbreak, livestock feed windbreaks and wildlife and screen planting on some 15,000 acres.

"It is extremely important that these trees survive," he explained, "because they are very effective in preventing wind erosion and providing livestock protection."

Windbreaks with voids or gaps left where the trees didn't survive are unsightly and do a poor job of trapping snow and controlling erosion.

"It is recommended that the soil profile should be soaked to a depth of six feet where soil depth permits. A late fall application of water just before freeze-up is best," according to the SCS.

"With mortality of newly planted trees higher than normal this year, landowners should order their plantings for replacement needs this fall in time for planting next spring," Carr added.

HATCHED AREAS have had adequate moisture supplies from March 1 to Sept. 3, 1976 according to an Ag. Weather Service map prepared by R.E. Neill, ag. climatologist. Un-L. All other areas need adequate moisture for tree survival. Figures represent approximate amount of trees planted during the spring of 1976.

Relief Payment Available for Area Producers

Livestock producers plagued by drought damaged grain now are eligible for federal crop disaster relief payments, according to Paul Sindt, state executive director of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The new policy reverses an earlier decision that reduced relief payments by 10 per cent to livestock producers harvesting drought damaged corn as silage.

For producers to receive full relief benefits, Sindt said, they must contact their county ASCS office before harvesting grain crops or within 15 days after harvest to allow the office to assess damages.

He said farmers should leave a representative strip of five per cent of their field for analysis if they contact the ASCS after harvesting.

"The new rules will allow all grain farmers, including livestock producers, to use drought damaged corn for more than just grain," Sindt said.

He said the basic disaster payment is 52 cents a bushel, although several variables can alter that figure.

"Each farm stands on its own production as far as damage payments go," he said.

Gov. J. J. Exon declared 38 Nebraska counties to be drought disaster areas on Aug. 27. The crop damage, mostly in the northeastern section of the state, was estimated at $300 million.

Livestock, Horse Entries Down for Start of 4-H Exhibition at Ak-Sar-Ben

The 49th edition of the world's largest 4-H Livestock exhibition opened Friday at Ak-Sar-Ben in conjunction with the Ak-Sar-Ben World Championship Rodeo featuring LeRoy Van Dyke and "The Auctioneers."

"Livestock Show activities continue through Friday, Oct. 1, with rodeo performances scheduled through Saturday, Oct. 2. Nightly rodeo performances begin at 7:30 with the Sunday matinee at 2 p.m., Sept. 26.

A record 2,421 4-H exhibitors from seven states will bring 4,572 livestock and horse entries to Ak-Sar-Ben to compete in eight livestock divisions plus the 4-H light horse competition. States represented are Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Missouri, South Dakota and Illinois.

Combined livestock and horse show entries prior to the opening of the show are down 20 over the record of 4,620 a year ago. However, the 3,546 livestock entries are up 40 more than in 1975. The 1,247 market steer entries represent a 12 per cent increase over last year.

"The increase in market steer entries is probably due to recent successful beef sales of the Ak-Sar-Ben show, plus a general stabilization in market prices

'77 Conservation Program Goes into Effect Oct. 1

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced a $190 million 1977 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) to be activated Oct. 1 in all U.S. Agricultural counties.

The objective of ACP is to encourage enduring soil and water conservation practices on farmland and is aimed at those farmers who cannot undertake these conservation practices without some economic assistance.

Farmer-elected county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committees have full authority in identifying critical farm conservation problems and developing local plans for solving them on a priority basis.

According to a USDA official, the delegation of authority to county ASC committees places decision-making in the hands of local farmers who are in the best possible position to evaluate local conservation needs and priorities.

ACP provides up to 75 per cent of the cost of carrying out approved soil water and woodland conservation practices. All approved practices in effect under the 1970 National ACP are eligible.

USDA also announced the 1977 funding for the Forestry

Incentives Program (FIP) at the $15 million level authorized by Congress. FIP is designed to increase the production of timber products on small, private timber tracts and will be available in most states in specifically designated counties with high resource potential for increased timber production.

USDA also announced the 1977 Water Bank (WB) Program funded at $10 million. WB compensates participating landowners for maintaining wetlands and providing additional habitat for nesting and brooding places for migratory waterfowl.

MONEY

Wayne County's 4-H program is unique in not only the amount of money it raises, but how the money is used.

Many counties have 4-H programs which raise money for a specific program such as sending a group of 4-H'ers to the Citizenship Trip in Washington, D.C. but Wayne County 4-H'ers believe that this money earned should benefit as many different people as possible.

Here are a few examples:

Teen Supermes — The Teen Supermes, Wayne County Jr. Leaders, the last three years have earned money through bake sales and slave auctions. They have purchased over a thousand dollars worth of equipment such as tape recorders, projectors, speaking system which are available through the extension office for loan to 4-H clubs. They also have purchased equipment for use at the county fair.

Four-H Council — The 4-H council's source of revenue is the food stand at the county fair. This food stand is operated under the direction of Teen Supreme adult leaders, Mrs. Wallace Anderson and Mrs. Allen Spitzberger.

A budget has been set up by the 4-H council to distribute this year's income of nearly $2,000. Thirty per cent is allocated to repairs and improvements on the 4-H buildings at the fair-ground; 15 per cent for trophies and awards, 20 per cent for 4-H promotion and five per cent for scholarships to 4-H Club Week.

Wayne County Hombres — Wayne County Hombres is the county 4-H horse club. Members have donated over $1,000 in past years for handicapped children in this area. They earn money through benefit horse shows held each year.

Other Clubs — Many other clubs earn money for the use of members in their own club, as well as participation in various community affairs such as clean up campaigns, painting mailboxes and other people too numerous to mention.

4-H COUNCIL

An election will soon be held by the 4-H council. The council consists of four adults, Mrs. Harriet Wittler, Stan Bajer, Mrs. J.J. Lisika and Gerald Pospisil, and 4-H'ers Linda Anderson, Cindy Bull, Les Thomson and Dwight Anderson. Linda, Les, Mrs. Wittler and Bajer will complete their two-year term Oct. 1.

The council isn't only responsible for a budget as mentioned earlier, but also is responsible for many worthwhile programs and improvements in the 4-H program, such as repair of the 4-H building, Achievement Night, Livestock Challenge Program, Awards Program, Bonus Auction and 4-H A to Z program held in conjunction with the Kiwanis Pancake supper.

Nebraska Cattle on Feed Up 10 Per Cent

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,000,000 cattle on feed Sept. 1, according to Jack Aschwege, State statistician of the Nebraska, Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This is a 20 per cent increase from last year and up five per cent from two years ago.

Nebraska Marketings and Placements Up

Nebraska feeders marketed 290,000 fed cattle during August up 38 per cent from last year and up 20 per cent from two years ago. Placements of cattle into feedlots during August totaled 238,000, a 20 per cent increase over last year and up 24 per cent from 1974.

Cattle on Feed in Seven States Up Eight Per Cent

Cattle and calves on feed Sept. 1 for slaughter market in seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 4,432,000 head, up eight per cent from last year's record low number for Sept. 1 but still six per cent less than the same date in 1974. The number on feed Sept. 1 was above last year in five of the seven states.

August placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states totaled 1,042,000, ten per cent more than last year and 16 per cent above the same month in 1974. Placements were above last year in six of the seven states.

Fed cattle marketed during August totaled 1,266,000, 31 per cent more than 1975 and 22 per cent more than two years ago. Marketings were above August 1975 in all states except Arizona which was unchanged.

SAFE PACKED LUNCHES

Lunches packed at home can be delicious, dull or even dangerous.

The dull lunch can be changed into delicious with a little imagination and a special treat. To keep the lunch from becoming dangerous takes a little thought and planning.

How can packed lunches be dangerous? Most lunches sit in a locker or other warm place for three or four hours before they are eaten. Bacteria and germs which cause food poisoning grow rapidly at temperatures between 40 and 140 degrees F. Room temperatures provide a playground for growing germs and bacteria.

Don't panic! There are things that can be done to keep lunches safe.

Sandwiches containing meat and poultry products can be frozen the night before they are packed for lunch. Take them out of the freezer right before leaving the house. They will thaw slowly in the lunch box and be just right by noon. By keeping sandwiches cold, you inhibit the growth of germs and bacteria.

When preparing sandwiches to freeze, spread on just enough butter mayonnaise or sauce to cover the bread. Don't spread it too thick, since the bread may become soggy during thawing. Lettuce can be added at eating time.

To keep lunches cold, take a clean margarine container, fill it with water and freeze it overnight. Just before you brown burger leaves for school or work, place the homemade device in the center of their lunch bags. This will keep lunches cold and safe until it is time to eat them.

Fresh fruit and vegetables make a good addition to the lunch. Be sure they have been washed thoroughly before they are packed in the lunch.

Lunchboxes hold the cold inside much better and are easier to clean than paper bags. However, if you prefer a sack lunch, buy bags which are to be used specifically for this purpose. Mark them clearly and store them apart from your other bags.

KEEP A GOOD THING GOING, AMERICA!

Replace your old gas water heater with a new gas water heater.

If you own a gas water heater, you've had a good thing going. Because gas water heaters have always been faster and more efficient. But today's gas models are even more efficient. So while you enjoy plenty of hot water, you also enjoy savings in both energy and money.

When it's time to replace your old gas water heater, stick with natural gas. You'll keep a good thing going.

Look for the ATLANTIC GAS WATER HEATER logo.

SS Benefits Are Available Under Income Program

You may be eligible for disability benefits based on financial need if you meet the requirements under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, according to Dale Branch, district manager of the Norfolk Social Security Office.

This program became effective Jan. 1, 1974, and replaced the state programs for aid to the blind and aid to the disabled. To receive disability benefits under SSI, it is not necessary to have ever worked under covered Social Security employment. Although the SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration, benefits are paid from general revenues rather than from the Social Security Trust fund.

The disability requirement itself is the same as for Social Security disability benefits. A person must be suffering from a mental or physical impairment which prevents him from doing substantial work and which is expected to last 12 months or longer or result in death. Unlike Social Security disability, there is no waiting period required before benefits are paid. If the claimant is found to be disabled, the claimant must show financial need by meeting both a "resource" and an "income" requirement. An individual can't have resources exceeding $1,300. The limit for a couple of $2,250. "Resources" include the things you own like money and property. Certain things like a house, car, household items, etc. may be excluded in determining whether the resource limit is met.

The standard payment amount for an individual is $167.00 per month. The amount for a couple is $251.80 a month. Any income a person now receives must be used to reduce the amount of his SSI payment. However, the first $20 a month of unearned income is not counted. If a person has earned income, the first $65 a month and one-half above that is not counted.

If you believe you or someone you know may meet the above requirements, contact the Social Security Office at 1310 Norfolk Avenue in Norfolk.

Deadline Nears To Register

Saturday, Oct. 2, is the registration deadline for the Wayne State College continuing education course, "Introduction to Computer Programming."

The mini-course for one senior graduate hour is set for 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 9, and Saturday, Oct. 16. Described as a "hands-on experience in programming a computer," the introductory course gives persons an opportunity to learn computer programming by actually writing and running programs on the computer. Individual help will also be provided for "debugging" the program.

Jim Paige and Hilbert Johs are instructors for the two-session course. Dr. Paige is an associate professor of mathematics at WSC, receiving his doctorate from the University of Michigan in 1974. Also a mathematics professor at Wayne, Dr. Johs received his Ed. D. degree in mathematics education from the University of Northern Colorado in 1974.

BBucks Prize Climbs to $475

Some lucky shopper tonight (Thursday) will have a chance to win $475 in Birthday Bucks if his birth date matches the winning date announced at 8:15.

This week's amount rose from other $25 as a result of no one claiming the top prize during last week's drawing. Coming close was Larry Willers of rural Wayne who missed winning the grand prize by 15 days. Willers was born on Aug. 30, 1941; the winning date as Sept. 14, 1941.

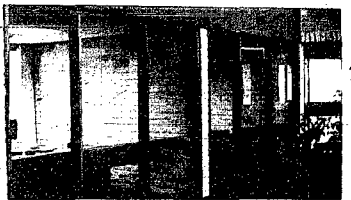

Drawing the winning date was Jan. 15 of Roy Hurd Ford-Mercury.

Willers, who was at Coryell Derby Station when the date was announced, received the $25 consolation award.

Birthday Bucks can be spent just like cash in any participating store. To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating store when the date is announced. No purchases or registration are necessary to enter.

NEBRASKA'S GREATEST PASSER?

Nebraska has had more than the Big Red's share of great passers, such as Tagge and Humm and many others. But she has one in the legislature who has not been properly recognized or appreciated.

He is Bob Murphy from the 17th District.

Bob "passed" four times out of seven on the right-to-life bill. When he did vote, he voted both sides.

His "pass" on equalization of taxes was one of his worst. He had tax relief for the overworked property tax right in his hand and threw it away. ONE VOTE FOR RELIEF WAS ALL IT TOOK AND BOB PASSED — THE ONLY LEGISLATOR TO DO SO.

As the President said in his state-of-the-union message "The property tax is one of the most oppressive and discriminatory taxes."
