Report Shows Farm Income In County Tops $58 Million

From the standpoint of gross income, Wayne County farms have been producing more for their operators during the past two years than have farms and ranches in many parts of the country.

On the basis of survey figures recently released, their yield from the sale of crops, livestock and other farm products rose considerably in the period.

The income gain is attributed to greatly increased output, the result of more acres being farmed, rather than to any marked increase in prices.

The facts and figures, showing how local farmers have been making out, are contained in a report on their annual income, issued by the Standard Rate and Data Service.

It lists the total receipts from farm operations in Wayne County in the past year at $58,412,000.

That was the gross return, before taking into account the cost of labor, seed, fertilizer, fuel, taxes and the various other operational expenses.

It represents the overall receipts from the sale of farm products, together with government payments and the value of homegrown foods consumed on the farm.

Of the total received locally from the marketing of farm products, approximately 10 per cent from the sale of livestock, poultry and dairy items, according to the latest estimates by the Department of Agriculture.

It finds, also, that a change is taking place on the farm — that it is attracting a growing proportion of young people.

Back in 1910, it notes, the average age of farm operators was 44 years. It rose to 57.7 years by 1965 and reached a peak of 53 in 1970.

In the same span, the proportion of farmers under 35 dropped from 29 per cent to 11 per cent.

In the last five years, however, there has been a sharp rise in the number of farm workers under 35.

It attributes the change "to better profits from farming, to the improved attitude of farm youth toward agriculture and the rural life and to the entry of urban-reared young adults into farming."

Hint of Rain Halts Band Day

Up to her wiles again, Mother Nature performed a rain dance over the Wayne State campus Saturday resulting in the cancellation of Band Day.

It was the third year in a row that the forecast of rain threatened this gathering of high school musicians. A drifter soaked the 1976 event and a hint of rain threatened the activity in 1975.

Although a real downpour never materialized this year, the 100 per cent forecast of rain was warning enough to cancel the event.

Dr. Ray Kellon, director of the Wayne State College Band, was disappointed with the forecast and the cancellation of the annual event. "It happens frequently," he said. "Nature seems to bring band weather that way."

But despite the "bandless" music, the Wayne State College Band, provided a round of music for the crowd at the Wayne home opener against Northwest Missouri State.

The cancellation of Band Day did not affect other activity on campus Saturday, however. Frank Teich, sponsor of the student activities board and "ring-leader" of Freshman Days estimated that 400,500 crowd count at the freshman olympics Saturday afternoon.

"Overall it was a real nice turnout," he said. "A flock of college students danced to the music of 'MacNuts' Saturday night, and an 'overflow crowd' attended the free freshman days movie. Teach stated

Council Overrides Motion To Halt Proposed Highway

After much discussion, the city council Tuesday night overrode a motion to rescind its recommendation to the State Department of Roads for widening of Highway 35 through Wayne.

By a vote of 5-2, the council rejected a motion by councilman John Vakoc who brought up the motion after Wayne attorney Kern Swarts listed several reasons why the council should withdraw its blanket recommendation to the state.

Casting the no votes were Ivan Beeks, Jimmie Thomas, Carolyn Fisher, Vernon Russell and Leo Hansen. Voting in favor were Darrel Fuelleber, who seconded the motion and Vakoc. Not present was Ted Bahe.

Vakoc pointed out to the council that none of the council members can say what is absolutely good for the town. Referring to the council's action to give a blanket recommendation to the state for widening of the highway, Vakoc said "The council was totally unresponsive to the wishes of the persons involved."

Swarts, representing Dave Ewing who owns property along the highway, outlined some of the detrimental effects both to the city and property owners if the state would widen the highway from two to four lanes.

The state department has pointed out that increasing the width of the street would increase the flow of traffic, Swarts said. "However, he argued that increasing the speed of traffic in and out of Wayne would only hurt downtown businesses."

He also pointed out that property owned by persons living along the highway in town would decrease in value and that widening the streets would create problems not only for the high school and cemetery, but also for businesses located on the east edge of town.

By giving the Department of Roads a blanket recommendation to go ahead with the project, the council has recognized "Lincoln as kingpin" and will let it make the decisions, Swarts remarked.

Swarts proposed to the council that it study the possibility of a bypass south of Wayne which would follow the soon to be abandoned railroad right of way. He added the bypass would be more of a benefit to Wayne.

Russell disagreed with Swarts' reasoning, pointing out that he "Russell felt his voting for the recommendation was "for the good of the whole town, not just a few." The cost to build a bypass would be about three to four times the cost to widen the present highway, he emphasized.

Thomas, who presided over

Tuesday's meeting for vacationing mayor Freeman Decker, agreed with Mrs. Filler that the city shouldn't stop its recommendation to the state. Once complete cost estimates are available the state will hold a public hearing and then the public will decide, he said.

Following the veto by the board, the council voted unanimously in favor of a motion by Fuelleber to send a recommendation to the state to look at the possibility of constructing a bypass south of Wayne.

In other action, the council heard from city administrator Fred Brink that the city needs to look for new landfill facilities. Brink told members that the landfill area is quickly running out of space and, according to street superintendent Vern Schulz, the landfill will be completely filled by next summer.

Brink proposed that the council look into the possibility of a transfer station because the cost of buying land suitable for a landfill and maintaining equipment needed to keep the landfill running are going up.

"The concept of a transfer station is used all over the world," he said, adding that the cost of such an operation would "lessen the burden to taxpayers."

Russell then brought up the idea of the city getting completely out of the landfill business and let it be operated by a private firm.

Russell, who owns and operates Wayne Refuse Service, said the city owning the present landfill is "double taxation" for Wayne residents who pay to have their garbage hauled and who have to pay when they take junk to the landfill.

The board also:

Nigh: We Have to Get Going

With only $415 turned in after the first week of the United Way fund-raising now, drive chairman John Nigh told a small gathering Tuesday morning that they have to get out and round up pledges from local businesses if they want to make this year's goal.

Speaking to a handful of board members and team captains, during a report breakfast at Wayne State's Student Center, Nigh said by next week he wants the campaign to be in good shape.

He said persons involved in the fund-raising drive can't over-emphasize the need to get the ball rolling now. "We've got to talk this thing up if it's going to be a success," he emphasized.

A total of $275 had been turned in from two of the five teams selected to canvass the downtown business district for contributions. Nearly $150 had been collected from personnel at Wayne State and $240 from city residents.

"We're off to a slow start and we should be about a half to two-thirds done by the end of the first two weeks," he said.

To reach the goal, Nigh hopes workers can collect $9,000 from the 100 businesses in Wayne and their employees should reach $2,250. The rest of the donations, $1,750, hopefully will be given by local residents.

The second of four weekly report meetings will be held Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. in the Student Union.

The goal of $13,000 will be divided among nine different agencies, including Wayne Recreation; $3,000; The Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts, $2,800; Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, $2,400; Salvation Army, $1,400; Senior Citizens Center, $800; Arthritis Foundation, $700; Cystic Fibrosis, $300; Florence Crittenton Home for Unwed Mothers, $200; and Red Cross $100.

This year's goal also includes $400 for a contingency fund and $800 for administration.

He's not Irish

A story in Monday's issue about drivers in Wayne County who own prestige license plates incorrectly reported that Joe Nuss was Irish because his license plate reads IRISH.

Nuss had the name IRISH used on his plates because he is a graduate of Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind.

A sidelight to that story, both Nuss and Dr. William Koeber were the first drivers in the county to purchase the special plates when they first came out about four years ago.

Wayne Profile Available at CC

A new Nebraska Community Profile of Wayne has been compiled and printed by the State Department of Economic Development and is available at the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

The four-page statistical report on the city's resources, and services also gives a concise overview of its citizens, facilities and industrial potential. Information contained in the profile includes population data, labor availability, transportation services, utilities and tax structure.

It also contains facts on Wayne's social and recreational services, including educational and health facilities.

Chamber manager Howard Witt said the profile primarily was prepared for industrial development purposes, but it also can have many other uses local ly.

About 500 of the pamphlets are available through Wayne Industries, Inc. which paid for the study. The Chamber office and the state Department of Economic Development

Charges Filed Against Youth

Charges of malicious destruction of property have been filed against an 18-year-old Wayne youth in connection with damage to Wayne Carroll High School.

He is Roger Niemann, 602 Lincoln, who allegedly used a bolt cutter to cut chains along the spring of 1971, shortly after they were installed, and damaged the east edge of town.

By giving the Department of Roads a blanket recommendation to go ahead with the project

New ID Program Is in Effect

A program designed to help prevent thefts of farm and ranch equipment is now in effect in Wayne County.

Sponsored by Wayne County Farm Bureau, the program offers farmers and ranches a method to stamp their machinery with an identification number supplied by the Wayne County sheriff's office.

The program provides that the county sheriff's office assign identification numbers to each farmer and maintain a file of all identification numbers.

Law enforcement officials indicate that when this identification program is fully implemented, the owner of stolen machinery, equipment and grain can be identified within minutes after their recovery. The system is devised to readily permit cooperation with law enforcement officials of other states by use of interstate computerized law enforcement communications systems.

A grain identification conflict on which the identification number is printed also can be purchased

Bell Proposal Could Benefit Area Users

A proposal has been filed with the Nebraska Public Service Commission for an experimental calling plan proposed by North western Bell Telephone Co.

If approved, the plan would offer an hour of long distance calls per month to points within a 15-mile radius for $3.20, or an hour at $4 for a 24-mile option. Comparable overtime charges would be added.

Commission chairman Duane Gay said the proposal would benefit areas where extended area service isn't the answer to customer needs. As it stands now, all customers in smaller exchanges pay the rate of a nearby exchange for two-way calling availability.

Dr. E.L. Langard, a member of the planning board, said the 10 schools will receive a total $200,000 during the 1976-77 academic year. The learning centers provide help to students in improving skills such as study habits, reading and composition.

Other colleges earmarked to receive funds are Kearney, Chadron, Peru, Deane, Doane, Midland, Wesleyan, Hastings and the College of Saint Mary

He is James Maloy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Maloy, who is being treated for possible second and third degree burns over 12 per cent of his body.

Maloy was a passenger in a military vehicle when the driver apparently lost control of his truck and hit a concrete bankment, causing the truck to explode into flames.

'All in All, You Got a Pretty Good Paper'

By PAT OSWALD
Windsor Correspondent

Sixty years is a long time for anything, including subscribing to the same newspaper. But Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wittler of Windsor have done just that.

Wittlers began taking the Wayne Herald in the spring of 1911, shortly after they were married, and have been one of the Herald's most faithful subscribers since that time.

The Wittlers say there isn't really anything they dislike about the paper. Both say they read it from "cover to cover" and enjoy having it delivered by carrier boy on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

When the Wittlers first subscribed to the newspaper, it was published once a week and cost about $1.50 for a one year subscription. Both agreed the newspaper was not as big then but always contained a lot of news from within the county. Mrs. Wittler said there's more golden wedding anniversary announcements in the paper now than there used to be. "But, more likely," said Mrs. Wittler, "that's because more people observe their 50-year anniversaries today than did back then."

Other items the couple say they enjoy most are the hospital notes, birthday observances and club stories.

Wittlers said they find the sports stories the least interesting, but were quick to add that everyone isn't interested in the same thing.

The subscribers said the biggest changes they've noticed through the years include the price of the newspaper, the size of the publication, the smaller type style and the switch from a weekly publication to a semi-weekly.

Fred, who at the age of 84 reads most of the newspaper without his glasses, says the fine print is very difficult to read.

Mrs. Wittler says she likes to cut clippings from the newspaper to mail to her family in Cheyenne, Wyo. "This saves a lot of writing, and the children enjoy the items," she added.

"All in all, Wittlers said they're satisfied with the newspaper. "If we weren't," said Fred, "we probably would not have taken it for so many years."

Fred, who attended the Nebraska Normal College in Wayne during the winter of 1909-10, talked about several other changes which have taken place through the years.

During the summer he helped his parents on the farm north of the Methodist Church near Windsor, and in the winter of 1911-12 See PAPER, page 10

LOOKING OVER another edition of The Wayne Herald, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wittler of Windsor say they enjoy reading the news around the county and note "there have been a lot of changes in the paper" since they first subscribed 60 years ago.

Cats Still Looking For First Victory

Wayne State's football Wildcats, Midland's Warriors will provide the next target, at Fremont Saturday night, 7:30.

Specifically, the target is a first victory after three losses. The Wildcats came close Saturday when they bowed to Northwest Missouri State, 17-15. That lifted Northwest to a 4-0 season.

Midland, idle last week, owes 17-0 win over Peoria State and 7-0 over Simpson College. That record, following Midland's no. six national rating last year and no. five two years ago, influenced NAIA raters to tab the Warriors second-in-line listing of Division II teams.

Last year Wayne tagged a 16-6 loss on Midland, which finished at 9-2. In 1974, the Warriors posted an official record of 11-0, thanks to Wayne forfeit of a field victory.

But that's history, signifying nothing for next Saturday, except whatever incentive it gives each team.

Chief problem for the Wildcats continues to be consistency in offense. They have yet to move for three consecutive first downs. But they have proved touchdown capability after cashing on enemy errors close to the goal line. And one touchdown Saturday produced the longest gain of 1976, a 51-yard pass from quarterback Mark Mintken to split end Maurie Mintken. That followed defensive back Mark Erbhart's recovery of a Northwest fumble.

Wayne defense made several heroic stands, especially in the second half. Once the Bearcats had first and 10 on the Wayne 15 and failed to make the last yard on fourth try. Later they had first and goal from the Wildcat three and couldn't penetrate.

The visiting Bearcats learned early the mettle of Wayne defense. On the opening series, Northwest rambled 77 yards to the Wayne 12, then had to settle for a field goal.

Not long after, a Bearcat defender committed pass interference in the end zone. Quite likely he thus averted a Wayne touchdown reception by Maurie Mintken. But the infraction gave Wayne possession one yard from the goal line, and fullback Kirk Gardner smashed that yard on the next play — his first score in two Wayne seasons. Kevin Mahlbeg kicked for a 7-3 Wayne lead, first time the Wildcats were out from this year.

In case rules-minded fans wonder about that end zone interference outburst, the explanation is this: the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) this year adopted NCAA football rules.

Previously, NAIA rules on pass interference dictated a 15-yard penalty from time of scrimmage (or half the distance to goal line if closer than 30 yards). But NCAA rules on interference gave the passing team possession at the point of infraction — or for an end zone interference, at the one yard line.

Wayne's 7-3 joy unhappily lasted only 10 seconds of playing time. On the first play after kickoff, Northwest quarterback Kirk Mathews and split end Brad Boyer teamed for a 78-yard passing touchdown, and Steve Stokes added the point kick to his earlier field goal.

Another Mathews-Boyer pass for 25 yards gave Northwest its winning margin, in the second quarter after Wayne lost a punt return fumble.

Injuries will continue to plague the Wildcats, for Saturday's game. Wingback Marty Hansen, linebacker Dwight Lienemann and tailback Mike McMahon missed the Northwest game, and probably will be kept out again to prevent additional injury. Linebacker Bill Hughes probably can return to battle at Midland.

Brothers' Act

EARLY IN the third quarter of Saturday's clash with Northwest Missouri, Wayne State's Mintken brothers combined for a TD to bring the Cat's to within four points of the invaders. Above freshman quarterback Mark Mintken (3) roared out and eventually finds brother Maurie (80) on a 51-yard touchdown pass. Putting pressure on the young signal caller are Bearcats Mark Patters (24), Steve Anderson (77) and Henry Hummert (65). On the right, the brothers from Gretna talk things over during the final minutes of the contest that the Wildcats lost 17-15.

WSC Stats Show Lack Of Offense

In team statistics released in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' District 11 report this week, the Wayne State Wildcats are last in offense and fifth in defense among the nine Nebraska small college teams.

On offense, Wayne trails the pack with an average of 171 total yards a game. Dana is tops in that category with an average of 489 yards a contest. Wayne is fifth in team defense as the Cats have held foes to 291.7 yards per game. Doane leads the defensive stats with a 156-yard average.

Allen Hit By Homer

Allen's junior high gridder's fabled defeat for the first time this fall as Homer stopped the young Eagles 22-8 Monday in Homer.

The invaders scored first when Frank Langer scored on a 10-yard run in the first quarter. Langer then pitched to Randy Smith who carried the ball for the double PAT.

But that was all the scoring for Allen. Late in the second quarter, Allen drove to the Homer 12 but failed to score and again in the fourth quarter the invaders drove deep into Homer territory but didn't score.

Homer rattled the game at 8-8 on a 70-yard scoring play in the third period and then scored twice in the final period to win the game.

Allen's junior high gridder's are now 2-1 on the year.

Jr Hi Teams Split

In junior high volleyball matches played Tuesday night in Wayne, the Laurel eighth grade dumped Winside 15-1, 15-12 while the Winside seventh graders posted a 16-14, 15-5 win over their counterparts.

Reserves Push Record To 3-0

Mark Heithold broke loose on an 80-yard touchdown scamper late in the third quarter to clinch a 12-6 win for the Wayne reserves Monday over host Hartington CC.

The win puts the Wayne JV grid mark at 3-0 on the year with a contest Oct. 11 at the Norfolk soph next on the slate.

Heithold scored the second touchdown of the game for the winners when he got loose on an end sweep from the Wayne 20. Earlier in the third period, Wayne tagged the scoring when Roger Daniels went over from one yard out. The touchdown was set up by a 36-yard pass from Vic Sharp to Brad Emery that went to the one-yard line. Wayne had got the ball in Hartington territory as a result of one of the host's six turnovers.

Hartington rallied in the final stanza as the hosts scored on a one-yard plunge with six minutes to go and then drove for a second score. The host's tying points, however, were nullified by a penalty.

Late in the contest Wayne held Hartington on the Wayne 30 on downs to ice the win.

Sharp did all the throwing for the winners as he hit on three of six passes for 68 yards. Heithold finished the day with 103 yards on nine carries while Emery had 60 yards on 13 carries and Daniels produced 38 yards on 11 tries.

Steve Bodenstedt led Wayne's defenders with a dozen tackles. Wayne drove deep into Hartington territory three times in the first half but lost the balls on fumbles each time to bring about the 0-0 score at halftime.

Dalton Scores Help Bears Even Mark

Led by a three-touchdown performance by Mike Dalton, Laurel ran over host Crofton Saturday night 19-0.

The win moves the Bears to 2-2 in Northwest Nebraska Activities. Conference action with another loop fill on tap Friday night in Laurel, when Pierce invades.

Running out of the wishbone, Laurel's offense ran for over 200 yards with Cleve Stolpe, Don Dalton and Mike Dalton all sharing the rushing duties pretty evenly.

Stolpe rushed for 85 yards on nine carries out of his fullback slot while Don Dalton ran for 50 yards on a dozen carries and Mike Dalton had 70 yards on 20 attempts.

In what head coach Joe Boyle called the Bears' best game this season so far, the offensive line of Laurel drew special praise. "Our line really moved and the defense," Boyle said, and added, "our defense also put in a super game."

ing in the first quarter when he dashed in to score from five yards out to cap a drive the Bears started after receiving the opening kickoff. In the second quarter, Dalton scored on a three-yard run and he finished up the scoring with a two-yard plunge for six points in the third period.

Laurel Falls Below .500

Laurel's varsity volleyball record dropped below the .500 mark Tuesday night as host Creighton swept to a two-set victory.

Creighton dominated the varsity with a 15-12, 15-8 win to put Laurel's season mark at 4-5. The Laurel girls travel to O'Neill for their next match Thursday (today).

Patty Stork led the losers with seven serving points while Elaine Guern had seven spikes for Laurel.

In the JV contest, Laurel evened its mark at 3-3 with a three set victory over the Creighton reserves.

Limited Supply Of Seedlings, Shrubs Are Left

A limited supply of tree and shrub seedlings and sweet clover seed are available from the Game and Parks Commission to farmers and ranchers willing to give wildlife a helping hand.

Though intended primarily for wildlife habitat, the plantings can also serve as a soil builder, erosion control and windbreaks for crops and livestock.

The clover will come in 30 lb. bags, with a limit of 200 pounds per landowner. Each bag should be enough to seed five acres.

The landowner must agree to maintain the clover for at least two years.

The seedlings come in two separate assortments. One contains 100 red cedar, and 100 ponderosa pine, while the other offers 50 each of red cedar, pine, chokecherry and American plum. The limit is three bundles, or 600 seedlings per landowner, and the plantings must be maintained for at least 10 years.

Neither the clover nor the seedlings can be used within the limits of cities or towns, in housing developments or within 200 yards of inhabited dwellings. Supplies are limited, so interested landowners should promptly contact Game and Parks Commission in Norfolk.

Laurel JV's Hit

Laurel's reserve team was hit hard Monday by invading Randolph 32-0. The loss dropped the host JV's to 1-3 on the year with a game at home against Pierce coming up on Oct. 4.

No other information on the Randolph game was available.

South Sioux Dominates Triangular

South Sioux City completely dominated a triangular cross country meet held Tuesday afternoon at the Wayne Country Club.

The Cardinals took top honors in the prep meet with 10 points. Coleridge finished second with 29 points and Wayne was third in the Devils first home meet of the season with 39 falliers.

Harold Johnson of South Sioux won the event in a time of 13:51. The Cardinals took the top four places.

Wayne's top finisher was Jon Lay in sixth place with a time of 15:01. For the Devils SI Prather was tenth in 15:59. Jeff Backstrom was 11th in 16:22 and Kurt Powers was 12th in 16:53.

The Devils next action will be Friday in the Bloomfield Invitational. The meet will begin at 4 p.m. on the Bloomfield golf course.

Last Friday, the Devils came seventh in the eight-team Crofton Invitational run on a farm near Crofton.

Host Crofton won the meet with 13 points while Bloomfield was second with 36 points and Wayne finished seventh with 106 fallies.

At Crofton, Lay finished 13th over a course just short of two miles in a time of 12:11. The winning time went to Delwyn Henning of Crofton in 10:39. Backstrom finished 20th in 13:22 and Prather was 29th in 15:35 to round out Wayne's top finishers in the Devils' first meet of the 1976 season.

Laurel High Homecoming Is Friday

Twelve Laurel High seniors are vying for the honors of king and queen of this year's homecoming festivities.

The royalty will be crowned Friday night following the football game between Laurel and conference rival Pierce.

Candidates seeking titles are Garth Paulsen, Doug Thompson, Gordon Kardell, Mike Dalton, Dwight Anderson and Cleve Stolpe for king; and Patti Stark, Sandra Bloom, Jean Erwin, Nancy Galvin, Doreen Hansen and Rebecca Kraemer for queen.

Crowning the 1976 royalty will be last year's king and queen, Brad Erwin and Terri Dirks.

Homecoming festivities start following dismissal of classes about 2:45 p.m. and include a pep rally, skit contest for freshmen through senior grades and a parade through the downtown shopping area.

Midland Prevails in Triangular Meet

Midland Lutheran College overpowered Platte and Wayne State College Saturday in a triangle of volleyball matches held at Wayne State.

Midland took care of Platte 15-10, 15-15 and 15-5 and then dumped the host Cats 15-3, 5-13 and 15-10 to take the overall honors in the triangular meet. In the final match of the afternoon, Wayne dumped Platte 15-13 and 15-5.

It was the second victory for the WSC spikers over Platte. Wayne's opener at Platte on September 20 showed both reserve and varsity wins over the Raiders.

Saturday's triple team event was the first home volleyball action in Wildcat country. For Wayne, it also marked the beginning of a strictly varsity season — Coach Bernice Fulton says the budget will not permit reserve travel.

Deb Glaser of Spalding, co-captain of the WSC team Saturday, stated that a lack of confidence was a major weak point in the Cat's play.

"We have to get used to playing the same teams," she added.

Glaser says bumps were another ailment of the team. We have to learn to stay down on bumps, the Wildcat said.

Wednesday the Wayne State volleyballers will host another triangular with Westmar and Doane the foes this time.

Record Stands At 5-2

Wakefield Trims Walthill

Mary Kober and Lynn Holm led the Wakefield varsity volleyballers to a very close victory over host Walthill Monday night.

The two Trojan spikers led the winners' attack as Wakefield posted a 4-15, 16-16, 16-16 win in the varsity match. The win is the third varsity victory in a row for Wakefield and moves its record to 5-2.

Wakefield turned things around after the first set Monday night by playing "with a little more intensity," according to head coach Ernie Kovar. Trailing 13-9 in the second set, the invaders rallied as Mary Kober served up five straight points and Wakefield pulled out a two-point win.

The invaders led throughout the third set but had to hang on after a Walthill rally as Robin Mills served up the three final winning points. Coach Kovar also had praise for the work of reserve Mary Prochaska during the deciding set. Prochaska entered the contest and was credited with three spikes and two kills during the final set.

Major Tom Wakefield with 10 serving points while Kober had seven. Kober led the winners with a dozen spikes and Holm was credited with 11. Mills led Wakefield with 13 sets. For the losers, Janef Swanson had 15

WS Harriers Host 7 Teams

Wayne State's cross country team will host its own invitational meet Saturday, with seven teams expected to visit. It's the first of five home meets for the Wildcats.

The five mile grind will get the starter's gun at 11 a.m. Spectators who want to watch can reach the starting point by walking about 300 yards north from Lundahl Drive, three blocks east of Main Street. At the starting points, spectators can watch the runners almost all the way as they tour the golf course.

Coach LeRoy Simpson expects teams from South Dakota-Springfield, Doane, Nebraska Wesleyan, Midland, Southeast Community College, Platte Community College and possibly Concordia.

Last Saturday at the Doane Invitational, four of those teams finished ahead of seventh-place Wayne, but Simpson thinks his Wildcats are capable of doing better.

Nebraska-Omaha won at Doane, with 43 points, followed by Wesleyan, 42; Doane, 59; Kearney, 116; Concordia, 143; Platte, 156; Wayne, 161; and Tarkio, 196.

Don Rinehart, placing 18th, was Wayne's first finisher.

A WAKEFIELD man, Larry Clay, is one of 16 persons from around Nebraska who is forming a committee to study school sports seasons and the possibility to reduce the number of high school contests for all sports.

The group will meet Dec. 1 at North Platte to formulate a plan to ease a crunch on school activities, caused to a large degree by recent growth in girls athletic programs, according to an article in the Lincoln Journal newspaper. In the meantime, the committee voted to consult with constituents from across the state before developing a specific program.

The article went on to say, "It could be that the proposal will include an elimination of holiday tournaments, limitation of eight regular season football games, two less basketball games a season and intramural competition only in schools below ninth grade."

These trends came as a result of straw votes by committee members. They also favored retention of a current fall-winter spring season setup over a four-season idea.

RECOGNIZE the name Brian Hedrick? Besides being a defensive end for the University Nebraska-Lincoln freshman football team, the 195-pounder once played football in the recreation program here in Wayne when he was in junior high.

Hedrick, whose father is Boyd Hedrick, went from Wayne to York where he earned all-state honors as a high school senior on defense.

During Friday's 34-6 romping of Kansas State, Brian intercepted a Wildcat pass and returned 25 yards to set up the yearlings final TD of the game.

DON'T forget that Friday is a day set aside to honor all coaches across the nation.

CLEANINGS: On this year's University of South Dakota-Springfield football roster are Wakefield High graduates, Steve Grove, Steve Sorenson, and Doug Fischer.

Prep Picks: Back in Action

BY BOB BARTLETT
All five area football teams swing back into action this week as prep football heads into second half of the 1976 campaign.

And for all five clubs, this Friday night means plenty of conference action.

Heading play are some key conference battles which include Winside and Wakefield. Both clubs are 3-1 overall and are in the thick of top action for first place in their respective leagues.

Winside, of the Lewis and Clark Conference, is 2-0 in the West half; a half game back of frontrunner Osmond which has three conference wins to its credit.

Friday night the Wildcats of coach Ron Pock head to conference foe Wausa, a victim last week of an up-and-coming Coleridge club.

Trojan fans will venture to always-tough Winer-Pilger High where the two teams will meet headon in a do-or-die situation. Both have a conference loss and a second would almost mean no chance of a bid for the West Husker title.

In other conference headliners, Laurel travels to Pierce in search of the Bears second straight NENAC win against two losses. At home, Allen hosts East Lewis and Clark powerhouse Homer.

Turning to Wayne High, the Blue Devils go to Tekamah-Herman in a cross-rival Husker Conference meet between the West (Wayne) and East Divisions.

Sizing up this week's games, I'll go with Winside, Winer, Pierce, Homer and Tekamah to come out on top.

Winside Still In Grid Ratings

Winside is the only area grid squad to appear in this week's Nebraska School Activities Association football district playoff standings.

The Wildcats are third in district 2 of Class C-2 with a total of 36.2 points and a 3-1 record. Walthill tops the standings with 45.7 points while Verdigris is second with 37.5 fallies.

Wakefield, which appeared in the district 3 standings last week, dropped from the top teams with a 14.6 setback at the hands of Madison last Friday.

SS Benefits Can Help Disabled

Many people make some plans to protect themselves and their families against loss of income due to death or retirement.

However, too many times they overlook the possibility of loss of income, for an extended period of time, due to a severe disability, according to Dale Branch, manager of the Norfolk social security office.

The Social Security law does provide protection to some disabled workers and their qualified dependents in the event they become disabled and unable to work.

Branch said, "To qualify for disability benefits a workers must have been employed under social security for a certain period of time. The amount of work needed depends mainly on the age of the worker at the time he becomes disabled.

"To be considered disabled under Social Security Law, a worker must have a physical or mental condition which prevents him from doing any substantial gainful work, and the condition is expected to last 12 months or longer or to result in death.

Branch also advised that there is a five-month period in disability cases for which no benefits are payable. Benefits are payable the sixth month after the worker is severely disabled and is expected to be off of work for at least 12 months or longer.

In addition to disability benefits to the worker, benefits are also payable to qualified dependents. These include unmarried children under the age of 18; children between the ages of 18 and 22 who are unmarried and attending school fulltime; unmarried children over age 18 who became disabled before age 22 and continue to be disabled; a wife who has a child under age 18, or a child over age 18 who was disabled before age 22, in her care, or a wife age 62 or older, regardless of children.

To prevent any possible loss of benefits, Branch suggested that you contact your nearest Social Security office if you have any questions or believe you may qualify for disability benefits.

He's Got a Long Way to Go

TINY, a one-month-old calf belonging to the Ray Loberg family of rural Carroll, has a lot of growing up to do to catch up with other members of the Loberg's dairy herd. You see Tiny was born weighing only 28 pounds, far below the normal of 50-90 pounds which most Holstein bulls weigh at birth. According to Mrs. Loberg, the chances of a calf being born that small aren't rare but the chances of the calf's survival aren't as good. The young calf, which is spending left of normal size calf, was fed once every three hours during the early stages after its birth. The family fed it milk using milk and ketchup bottles. When the calf was born, the feeding and caring belonged to the Loberg's three boys. From left, Brian, Tim and Jeff. But when school started, the whole project was turned over to their mother. "Isn't that the way it always is," Mrs. Loberg laughed.

Missing Cycle Found After Chase Friday

A motorcycle belonging to a Wayne man has been recovered by Norfolk police. Roger Victor identified the cycle Monday as being his after police apprehended a rural Norfolk man and charged him with possession of a stolen motor vehicle.

Madison County deputy sheriff Orlo Rath was chasing a motorcycle Friday evening when the driver, 20-year-old Vaughn Holman, wrecked the vehicle and fled.

The cycle, a 900 Kawasaki valued at $2,600, was reported missing from Victor's garage May 12. Victor said police will return the cycle following prosecution by Madison County officials.

Pickups Collide North of Wayne Council

Pickups operated by Larry Echlenkamp and George Claycomb, both of rural Wayne, collided on Highway 15, about two miles north of Wayne Tuesday evening.

Echlenkamp was headed south when Claycomb turned to enter a gasoline station and was struck broadside, according to reports from the Wayne County sheriff's office. No one was injured.

Under investigation are reports of missing radio-tape deck and CB radio, belonging to Scott McAfee of Allen, and four hubcaps.

McAfee reported the equipment was missing from his truck while parked at Corvett Auto Co. sometime between Saturday and Tuesday. No value was given.

The hubcaps belonged to a auto owned by Corvett while located in the parking lot. The wire hubcaps, missing since Thursday, were valued at $160.

Kiwanis Club Honors Eight Nurses

Three of the eight nurses who helped with the blood pressure clinic during the Wayne County Fair were honored Monday by members of the Kiwanis Club.

The three, Mrs. Larry Nichols, Mrs. Dennis Baier and Susan Hansen, were presented certificates of appreciation by program director Leon Meyer, who helped organize the Kiwanis-sponsored event.

Laurel Firm Awarded Bid On Road Work

The board of directors of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Thursday night accepted the low bid of $55,527 from Logan Valley Construction Company of Laurel, to build a series of three road structures in southern Wayne County.

The cost of the three road structures or dams will be shared by local landowners, the NRD, Wayne County and American Telephone and Telegraph, which has a cable threatened by erosion.

The board also extensively reviewed four resolutions to be considered at the Nebraska Association of Resources Districts annual conference in January.

Among them was a resolution calling for additional funding for the Department of Water Resources and a complete re-evaluation of Nebraska's law regarding ground and surface water development.

Also receiving certificates, but not present, were Mrs. Harlan Pankratz, Mrs. Sid Hillier, Mrs. Robert Reeg, Mrs. G. W. Gottberg and Mrs. Dee Luft.

In recognizing the women, club president Dan Sherry noted that they all did a very good job. He added that he knew of few women who would do as good a job and do it without pay.

Prior to the presentation, the Rev. Robert Haas of the United Presbyterian Church in Wayne was inducted into the club, bringing the total number of members to 66.

Guest speaker Gary Tuttle of Norfolk, elaborated about his profession as a salesman for Josten's Inc., which manufactures class rings.

Tuttle, who is a native of Laurel and graduated from Wayne State, said his company also makes rings for winners of the baseball World Series, Super Bowl and other professional sports.

Showing some of his samples to members, Tuttle pointed out that his company has 18 plants located in the United States, Canada and Venezuela, and employs 4,000 workers and 800 salesmen.

Last year marked the 19th consecutive year that Josten's has shown a marked increase in profits, Tuttle said, adding that the gross income for 1973 was $164 million.

The company started in 1897 under the leadership of Otto Josten who lived in Minnesota. By 1918 he started his sales campaign in the states.

The changing of student attitudes has been one reason for the big increase in sales of class rings, Tuttle said. During the 1960's and 1970's, students were against the establishment and therefore didn't want to have to do anything to do with buying rings, he went on.

The oval style ring is the more popular type sold, but there is a trend to return to the rectangular style, Tuttle said.

DISPLAYING some of the rings his company manufactures is Gary Tuttle, who was the guest speaker during Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

worked in the Grocery and Dry Goods store in Winside, which was owned by Frank Weible Sr. "I had a room in the upper part of the buildings where I slept," said Fred, "and I got my meals in the Weible home."

Fred said cookies in those days were sold from a big barrel, not in a package, and sugar was bought in 100-pound bags and resold in five- and 10-pound paper sacks.

The wooden sidewalks in front of the Weible store were high enough to role a 50-gallon barrel of salt into a farmer's wagon, recalled Wittler.

"Hamemade butter was bought by the pound from farmers, dumped into large 50-gallon barrels, and shipped out on the train," said Wittler. "No cream was bought at that time."

Wittler said a special treat for kids back then was the sack of candy that was included in the box of groceries which their parents purchased in 1915.

Mrs. Wittler was working as a hired girl at the John Grier farm that summer and Fred was helping his aunt, Mrs. August Brune, with the farm.

Wittler was employed in the Mittelstadt Lumber Yard during the winter of 1913-14. He started a hardware, plumbing and implement business in 1924 and sold out in 1942. From 1947 to 1952 he managed the Mittelstadt Lumber Yard.

Mrs. Wittler, the former Elia Brader, spoke about her and Fred's "courtin' days," and especially Winside's Fourth of July celebration for a day long celebration," said Mrs. Wittler, including picnics, afternoon programs with a speaker, fireworks and a dance.

Mrs. Wittler recalls how the Fourth of July celebration in 1915 was cold and wet and main street, which wasn't paved yet, was muddy. She said the dance floor was laid on the present park and became mighty muddy before the evening concluded.

Fred picked Elia up and drove to the dance in a buggy pulled by a team of bay horses. The next spring he traded in his horses for a Model T Ford. Cost of the new car was $175 with the guarantee of a $50 refund if prices went down. Wittler said he got the $50 back the following year.

Wittler's date married in Dec. 20, 1916.

Here Are Some of This Year's Property Tax Levies for School Districts.

These Are Only Part of the Overall Property Tax Levy, Which is Even Worse.

District	1975	1976	District	1975	1976	District	1975	1976
So. Sioux	52.18	60.22	Wayne	51.69	55.00	Ponca	41.03	43.44
Wakefield	36.77	48.90	Emerson	52.50	58.55	Winside	43.08	52.89
(includes building)			Newcastle	40.91	54.76	Dakota City (same as So. Sioux)
Allen	45.36	60.00

The School Boards are not to blame. Inflation is only partly responsible. YOUR LEGISLATURE IS TO BLAME.

Explanation: If LB No. 368 had passed, all of the School Districts in our 17th Legislative District would have had a lower property tax levy.

Example: South Sioux City, in the poorest five per cent of the state, would have saved $160,000 and more than four mills of the tax increase.

Example: Wayne would have saved $40,000 and more than three mills of the increase.

Example: Wakefield would have saved $20,000 and two mills of the increase.

The bill needed 30 votes to pass. If got 29. Your Legislator (Murphy) voted against this tax relief. His vote would have made the 30. He voted against his own district (South Sioux City). I agree with the President of the United States who called the property tax "one of the most oppressive and discriminatory taxes" in our country. Thousands of homes are being sold, and thousands more not being built or purchased because of this tax alone. Yet a mainstay of American society is home ownership. I will vote at every opportunity, if elected, for property tax relief and the interests of the Seventeenth District.

1977 CHEVROLET - OLDSMOBILE

Let One of Our Talented Salesmen Pictured Below Explain the Drastic Changes in the 1977's.

Ed Carroll is shown here with a new 1977 Chevette. The word's getting around, "Chevette." When we created the Chevette, we had one thing uppermost in mind — efficiency. Efficiency of size, space, power and maintenance. You sit in front bucket seats that are chair-high, body contoured for support. Your legs stretch out naturally. The rear seat is full width, full foam. Available in 2 door, hatchback or station wagon. 4 speed transmission. EPA — City 31, Hiway 43. 1977 Chevrolet — Now That's More Like It!

Pictured here with a 1977 Chevrolet Wagon is salesman Hank Warrlemann. A lot of new thinking went in, a lot of new Chevy came out. Seldom in the history of wagons has so much thinking been directed toward development of a new one. The 1977 Chevrolet wagons take up less space in garages and parking places than 1976 Caprice and Impala Wagons. A new 116 in. wheelbase provides for more agility in tight situations. A wider rear tread, scientifically engineered frame and full coil spring suspension help move out the ride. Power steering, power brakes and automatic transmission are standard. Yes, Chevrolet's new wagons are completely beautiful, tastefully appointed and functional. But you have to drive one to get the full effect of what Chevy's newness is all about. You'll love the ride, the nice responsive steering, the way it maneuvers and parks. 305 Engine. EPA — City 16, Hiway 20. 1977 Chevrolet — Now That's More Like It!

Al Bebee is pictured here with a new 1977 Delta Eighty-Eight. Delta could upgrade all your ideas about family cars. Delta 88 moves with new agility on a 116 inch wheelbase, and responds with a 231 V 6 or a choice of redesigned V 8's under the hood. Inside, there's more headroom and more legroom in back. If you'd like a lot of luxury, too, you've got it in beautiful abundance in the Delta 88. Royale as you can plainly see in this picture. A diagnostic connector is standard in the engine compartment. With an analyzer plugged in, it can help diagnose a service problem in the engine's electrical system. 231 Engine — EPA — City 17, Hiway 25. 1977 Oldsmobile — Can We Build One For You?

Tom Rooney is shown here with the new 1977 Impala Coupe. A whole new car, a whole new ball game. The 1977 Chevrolet takes up a little less space in the world than its predecessor, making it a more manageable automobile — easier to maneuver in tight traffic and park in cramped spaces. There is more head room than in the 1976 Impala Caprice Sedans and Coupes. There is more leg room for your rear seat passengers. There is more trunk room, too. The New Chevrolet. There's never been a car quite like it. 305 V 8 engine — EPA — City 16, Hiway 21. 1977 Chevrolet — Now That's More Like It!

Pictured here with a new 1977 Oldsmobile Ninety-Eight Regency is salesman Ed Carroll. A remarkable new kind of luxury car. The 98 Regency wears a new look of sculptured elegance. It's lines are clean, authoritative. Inside, you'll find a new air of limousine-like luxury. Rich crushed velour. "Loose cushion" look to the seat backs. More legroom and headroom in back than last year. Add it up, then test drive against other luxury cars. You'll see why 98 Regency truly deserves its description as the "Thinking man's luxury car." 403 Engine — EPA — City 15, Hiway 21. 1977 Oldsmobile — Can We Build One For You?

Pictured here with a new 1977 Monte Carlo is salesman Jack Brownell. Monte Carlo's introduction seven years ago marked the beginning of a new kind of automobile. Monte Carlo spawned a host of imitators. But none has captured the imagination as Monte Carlo has, and with good reason. The continuing popularity contributes to Monte Carlo's traditionally high resale value. For all its imitators, it remains a blend of beauty and responsiveness all its own. To own a Monte Carlo is to own an original. It is surely a pleasure you owe yourself. 305 Engine — EPA — City 16, Hiway 21. 1977 Chevrolet — Now That's More Like It!

Conflict brewing between laws

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — Are there any real differences between the U.S. and Nebraska constitutions?

That is one question the Nebraska Supreme Court is being asked in a case pending before it.

Earlier this year, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that under the constitution of the nation, capital punishment was not cruel and unusual punishment.

Attorneys for Erwin Charles Simants of Sutherland say that decision very well may apply under the U.S. Constitution, but it doesn't hold true under Nebraska's chief operating document, nor does it hold true in the minds and traditions of the state.

In Nebraska, the death penalty has been so rarely and arbitrarily inflicted that it constitutes cruel and unusual punishment," the attorneys said in written briefs filed with the supreme court.

This is so because the random extinction of human life was a cruelty imposed by inequity and because of the very randomness and rarity of the punishment being any claim that it had fulfilled an accepted or acceptable penal purpose.

Simants was convicted on six counts of first degree murder by the Lincoln County district court in connection with the shooting deaths last October of six members of the Henry Kellie family of Sutherland.

The Simants' case drew national attention, but took on special meaning when at one point a free press dispute went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The dispute stemmed from a gag order imposed on the news media during Simants' arraignment in county court on the murder charges.

In Simants' case, his attorneys said the death penalty was imposed because it was thought best to protect society from him. Six consecutive life sentences could have done the same things, they said.

On Nebraska's tradition, the attorneys said there is definitely room in the Nebraska Constitution for taking such things as beliefs into consideration.

The cruel and unusual punishment clause under the bill of rights of the constitution of the State of Nebraska cannot withstand the concept that the dignity of man is one of the highest precepts of all mankind and that to extinguish human life denies the standard of decency in Nebraska," the attorneys said.

The attorneys told the supreme court the real story of Nebraska's feeling is found in numbers. Since 1903, 20 persons have been put to death with 16 of those prior to 1929.

There can be no more telling example of the abhorrence by the citizens of the state of Nebraska to the ultimate penalty and to its obvious nature of cruel and unusual punishment," the attorneys said.

Another example of public distaste for capital punishment is the fact that they are imposed in near secret, witnessed by few.

"The conscience of the citizens of the State of Nebraska toward human decency demand that the existence of the death penalty be abolished," the attorneys declared.

Who Runs Schools?

For years, the Unicameral has been picking at and probing the question of how to get the best college level education for the least expense while also providing the variety of fields which are needed.

Over the years since those studies began in earnest, 13 bills were introduced. Only two of them were passed: one was in the form of a proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution; the other was statutory law.

The constitutional proposal called for something most dubbed "super board," which simply would have had complete control over all public institutions of higher learning.

The voters rejected the proposed amendment.

In turn, the statutory attempt at coordination of higher education was successfully vetoed by the executive branch in 1969.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly heads a special committee which is once again addressing the coordination issue and is now in the process of making some decisions on how to handle the thing.

Already rejected is another try for the "super board" approach.

Sen. Leslie Stull of Alliance offered a suggestion for regulatory coordination, a thing that could put the Unicameral itself in firm control over coordination of public institutions. The committee adopted the idea.

Pending in the courts is a lawsuit designed to test just what controls the legislature now has over the University of Nebraska is particularly.

The NU board of regents contends the legislature is sipping its nose too far into regal powers. The legislature, obviously, feels differently.

Warner's committee did not reach any decision on whether to vest all powers in the legislature or whether to hand them over to some form of executive agency.

However, the committee did decide the coordination would be of a regulatory rather than voluntary nature.

Warner said he personally prefers legislative coordination because pinpointing the role of the colleges is primarily a policy decision.

Some 17 other states have already adopted that approach.

There must be a better way

MOTORISTS heading west on Highway 35 undoubtedly are becoming more aware that election time is drawing near when they bypass this political sign about five miles outside of Wayne. We understand that the purpose of the sign is to keep the name of the person running for office in the minds of potential voters. However, those political-type signs added to the already too numerous billboards and other roadside signs which advertise goods and services, distract motorists and do nothing for the view of the countryside. We don't know who this candidate is, outside of what is pointed out on the sign, but we do wish he and other persons who use this form of political advertising could find a better way of informing the public.

OBSERVATIONS

Dig a little deeper

From now until the end of the United Way campaign in Wayne, sometime in October, we'll be giving weekly up-to-date reports on how the fund-raising drive is closing in on its goal of $13,000.

We're just as intrigued as the next person to see if this year's board and committee of hard working people can make the goal and possibly go over it.

Prior to the start of the 1974 campaign, board president Dick Manley expressed his feeling that this year's goal can be met if everyone involved contributes his time and his fair share to make this a worthwhile project in this community.

During earlier board meetings, Manley told board members that if Wayne wanted to meet the $13,000 mark, it could do it. He pointed out that in the late 1960's, the board, which was known then as Community Chest, only had a goal of $9,000. An increase of $4,000 is a small amount when considering the rate of inflation since that time.

What Manley and drive chairman John High stressed to board members, campaign chairmen and their workers during last week's kickoff breakfast is that each person will have to dig a little deeper in their pockets if they want to make this year's drive a success.

In essence, they both pointed out that it will take more than a $2 individual donation to meet this year's requirements. It's going to mean each individual will have to dig deeper into his pocket and come up with at least $5.

When you consider that a large amount of the funds are funneled back into Wayne in forms of youth and adult recreation projects, Boys and Girls Scouts, Senior Citizens plus a host of other beneficial programs, digging down for that extra $2 or $3 sure seems worth it. — Bob Bartlett.

Farmers, ranchers balking at program

There are some signs that farmers and ranchers may be developing resistance to the proliferation of commodity checkoff programs which have developed on a state and national basis.

Nebraska has four checkoff programs in operation — potatoes dating back to a 1945 act, wheat, set up in the 1950's, soybeans, poultry and eggs from the last two sessions of the Legislature. Others have been discussed.

Somewhat startling was the rejection by Iowa corn producers recently of a checkoff proposed for corn research and promotion. The unofficial tally in the referendum by producers showed about a 62 per cent rejection margin and less than 5,000 of the approximately 110,000 corn producers actually casting ballots.

In Iowa which normally is the nation's largest corn producing state, the checkoff would have amounted to one-tenth of a cent per bushel of corn marketed, and the total funds from such a checkoff were estimated at around $600,000 per year.

An official of the Iowa State Department of Agriculture was quoted as saying that the results may mean farmers have some misgivings about checkoffs, perhaps feeling there are too many and wondering if the money is doing them any good. He noted that Iowa farmers already have checkoff programs to promote milk, hogs, turkeys, eggs and soybeans.

Iowa is a major cattle producing and feeding state and results of the corn referendum raise questions as to how Iowa farmers will vote next spring when the national referendum is held among cattle producers on whether the Beef Research and Development Act passed by Congress earlier this year is to be implemented. Farmers' attitudes are very greatly in crossing state lines so the implications are not confined to Iowa.

Obviously, in the case of the Iowa referendum, a huge majority of corn producers didn't care enough either way to cast their ballots. This is not unusual in the history of checkoff referendums. While collectively checkoff programs generate millions of dollars, the cost of the individual producer is relatively small. In many cases, the laws are written so that the producer can request a refund of his assessments if he wants to. Producers rarely ask for such a refund.

One explanation could run something like this: Checkoff programs are "sold" amid enthusiastic claims for what they will do for the producers of a commodity. To openly oppose the issue subjects a producer to a charge of being "unprogressive" and unwilling to help himself. A common feeling is, "Well, it might do some good and it doesn't represent a lot of my money. If it passes, okay, and if it doesn't, okay." So he doesn't vote either way.

There are state checkoff programs and national checkoff programs and some producers are confronted with paying checkoffs on two, three or even more of the commodities they produce.

Also, there is the matter of commodities competing against each other. A farmer who produces both cattle and hogs (pork producers have their own promotion program and have rejected the idea of promoting a government-administered checkoff on hogs) could well say to himself, "I'm paying good money to increase beef consumption when I'd be better off promoting pork."

Then so that the producer can request a refund of his assessments if he wants to. Producers rarely ask for such a refund.

NEBRASKA HIGHWAY SAFETY PROGRAM

NEBRASKA'S GREATEST PASSER?

Nebraska has had more than the Big Red's share of great passers, such as Tagge and Humm and many others.

But she has one in the legislature who has not been properly recognized or appreciated.

He is Bob Murphy from the 17th District. Bob "passed" four times out of seven on the right-to-life bill. When he did vote, he voted both sides.

His "pass" on equalization of taxes was one of his worst. He had tax relief for the overvalued property tax bill in his hand and threw it away. ONE VOTE FOR RELIEF WAS ALL IT TOOK AND BOB PASSED — THE ONLY LEGISLATOR TO DO SO.

As the President said in his state-of-the-union message: "The property tax is one of the most oppressive and discriminatory taxes."

If elected, I will vote for property tax relief at every opportunity. The Zero-Base budget which I favor, and the reform of the income tax would more than offset this relief.

Silage Covers
Visible top spoilage on trunch and stack silos may not appear to justify a plastic cover, but some recent studies show that there were losses on uncovered trunks.

With excellent packing, the difference in top spoilage on alfalfa silage was not enough to justify covering with plastic. When unseen losses (gaseous to seepage losses) were evaluated, a weighted plastic seal proved to be an excellent investment.

In addition to preserving more silage, sealing resulted in a silage which was more palatable. Dairy cows fed the sealed silage ate more silage and produced more milk than those fed silage from the unsealed silo. The difference in the quality of the silage was not detected by either chemical analysis or digestibility studies.

Face Flies
Face flies closely resemble house flies except they are slightly larger and darker than house flies. In the fall they enter buildings to hibernate. The best control is to prevent their entry with the aid of a "fly swatter" and several cans of an aerosol bomb containing such insecticides as one per cent DDT or one per cent Dibrom. Hanging 20 per cent DDVP resin strips in attics, one per 1,000 cu. ft., also will help.

Trees Help Curb Effect of Drouth

DROUGHT is expected to cost dryland farmers 3,400 million in crop yields this year, but trees in the right location can have a tempering effect. The dryland corn on the right was protected by a 10 year old, 40 foot windbreak, while the corn on the left was not. The corn in the two pictures is the same variety, was planted at the same time at the same number of plants per acre at the University Field Lab near Mead. Atrazine was applied at the same time and no additional cultivation was done. Rick Hamilton, Natural Resources District forester, examines the unprotected crop on the left, which was severely damaged by drought and exposure to hot summer winds. Yield in this corn is expected to be 10 bushels or less an acre. Hamilton finds that the corn on the right, which has been protected by a windbreak that has conserved moisture and sheltered the planting from winds, will yield in excess of 70 bushels per acre.

'No Cropland Set-Aside for Upcoming Year'

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz announced that there will be no cropland set aside in 1977.

But said the decision for continued unrestricted production is based on the continuing strong export demand for grain, particularly for livestock feeding, soybeans and cotton. Under the 1973 Farm Act, farmers have been given freedom to shift crops without restrictive acreage allotments.

In view of project large supplies of wheat in 1977, many wheat farmers are making hard decisions to better alternatives for planting wheat, according to members of the National Advisory Committee on grain and cotton. On Aug. 23, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced an accelerated program for new Public Law 480 wheat export agreements for the next fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, and that greater emphasis would be placed on wheat in the Commodity Credit Corporation short term export credit program in the new fiscal year.

In 1977 as in the present year, producers may substitute any non-conserving crop (except marketing quota crops) or any wintering crop (including approved volunteer cover) for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat, feed grain or cotton allotments.

Next year will be the fourth consecutive year for the feed grain and wheat programs and the fifth for the upland cotton program in which no set-aside was required. About 40 million acres of cropland have been brought back into production since 1972.

Nebraska Hog Inventory
Up 21 Per Cent

Hog producers in Nebraska had 1,249,000 hogs on hand Sept. 22, 21 per cent from a year earlier and three per cent above 1974, according to Jack Archibald, state statistician of the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Below, this level was 10 per cent below the September 1970 record high.

Sows farrowed during the June-August quarter totaled 2,350,000, producing a pig crop of 1,095,000, up 21 per cent from a year ago, but well below the 1970 record high at 1,304,000.

During the next six months, 325,000 sows are expected to farrow on Nebraska farms, up 19 per cent from the number which farrowed during September-February of last year. For the September-November quarter, 175,000 sows are expected to farrow, up 21 from a year ago but 15 below the 1970 record farrowings for the December-February quarter of 190,000 sows are expected to be up 18 per cent from last year and the highest estimate since the first quarter of 1971.

14 State Inventory Up 17 Per Cent From Last Year

Hog producers in the 14 major hog producing states had 48.7 million hogs and pigs on hand Sept. 1, 17 per cent above last year. Breeding stock was up 13 per cent and market hogs and pigs were up 18 per cent from a year earlier. Market-hogs by weight were as follows:

Under 60 pounds, 17,025,000 — up 18 per cent.
60-119 pounds, 10,655,000 — up 19 per cent.
120-179 pounds, 8,423,000 — up 17 per cent.
180-219 pounds, 4,857,000 — up 17 per cent.
220 pounds and over, 911,000 — up 14 per cent.

Sows farrowing during the June-August quarter totaled 2.3 million head, up 19 per cent from the same period in 1975. Pigs saved during this period totaled 18.1 million, 21 per cent above the previous year.

Producers in 14 states intend to farrow 2.4 million sows during the September-November period, 16 per cent above a year ago. Intentions for the December-1976-February 1977 quarter are to farrow 2.2 million sows, nine per cent more than actual farrowings for the comparable period ending February 1976.

Rehm: Don't Second Guess Your Carryover

Guessing may be okay for picking winners of football games but guessing is not the way to measure fertilizer carry over. When guessing, says George Rehm agronomist at the Northeast Station, farmers have two chances to make a mistake.

If someone guesses that fertilizer carryover is low when, in fact, there is a substantial amount of carryover, he may spend money for fertilizer which he doesn't need.

On the other hand, if he guesses carryover is high when there is no carryover, lower rates of fertilizer might be applied. These reduced rates could hurt yields and crop production would be less than desired. Rather than guess, Rehm urges farmers and ranches to collect soil samples this fall.

Since the largest percentage of money spent for fertilizer is spent for nitrogen, farmers should give special attention to testing for carryover nitrogen. Because of the dry weather the past three years, build up of nitrogen in the soil can mean that lower rates of nitrogen will be needed in 1977.

Soil samples, collected in Curming and Thurston Counties in 1974 showed that carryover nitrogen varied considerably from field to field. Carryover nitrogen could not be predicted from the rate of nitrogen which was applied to the previous crop.

Rehm points out that a combination of a surface and subsol sample is needed to accurately measure carryover nitrogen. Research has shown that carryover nitrogen cannot be measured by analyzing only a surface sample.

Phosphorus, potassium and zinc should not be ignored. Soil tests can measure a build-up or depletion of these nutrients in the soil. The determination of organic matter is also important because rates of many herbicides are adjusted according to organic matter content.

Fall is the ideal time to collect soil samples. All county extension offices as well as the Northeast Station have the soil sample boxes as well as the easy to follow instructions.

Registration Deadline Nears for WS Courses

Friday, Oct. 8, marks the deadline for registration for four continuing education courses at Wayne State College.

Three of the courses deal with instruction for children with learning and emotional disabilities, while the fourth concerns the works of the great poet Yeats.

Columbus is the location for "Language Arts for the SLD Child." This course for two senior or graduate credits is set for Oct. 15-17 with a follow-up session on Nov. 20. Education 670 is a required prerequisite for the course.

"Language Arts" deals with tried and tested techniques in teaching children with slow reading and poor spelling habits. The techniques, now in their fourth year of use in Project Success, are taught by two qualified language therapists in close association with this program. They are Marian Renwick and Mary deFrees who will combine efforts to instruct this course.

"Curriculum Modification for the SLD Child," set for the same dates, is under the instruction of Jean Owen at the Stuart Menlo Schools in Menlo, Ia. Dealing with various curriculum problems, this course introduces curriculum modification techniques in relation to the child with learning disabilities.

Also for two graduate credit hours, this course will emphasize the role of the individual instructor as curriculum modifier.

A mental health intervention, also from Hutchinson, Kan., is the instructor of the third continuing education course entitled "Mainstreaming the Emotionally Disturbed Child." Calvin Polk with experience in Psychodrama, Transactional Analysis, Gestalt and Behavior Modification, will teach characteristics and education of the emotionally disturbed child in the regular classroom in this workshop.

Methods of Freud, Skinner, Berne-Harris and others will be implemented in the course to emphasize an eclectic approach. Currently Polk is conducting classes for the elementary and disturbed child. He has worked in the elementary schools as teacher, coach and principal, and has also advanced work at the Kansas Treatment Center for Children and the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Dates for the "Mainstreaming" course are Oct. 15-17, with the follow-up session on Nov. 6. Location is the Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

"A Weekend With William Butler Yeats" is offered on the Oct. 15-17 weekend also, but with no follow-up session. Laura Franklin, Janet Schmitz and Sayre Anderson, all professors at Wayne State, will lead this continuing education course.

All have experience with Yeats' works. Dr. Franklin taught a previous Yeats course and completed her doctoral dissertation on Yeats at Northwestern University. Ms. Schmitz participated in an NEH seminar on Symbolist Poetry in New York, and Anderson has taught several courses concerning Yeats.

This weekend workshop is specifically for secondary school teachers plus anyone else interested in Yeats. One undergraduate credit hour is conferred for the course, dealing with Yeats' poetic development and the totality of his canon.

To register for continuing education courses, persons should contact the department of continuing education, Wayne State College, Wayne, Ne., 68787.

Puppets Take Over Stage at Wayne State

The stars of the first special program at Wayne State College are not people.

They look, act and move like people, but the stars aren't people. They're puppets. The Pickwick Puppets.

Coming to Ramsey Theatre Sunday, 3 p.m., the Pickwick Puppets head off the list of 76-77 special programs at WSC.

A cast of 40 hand and rod puppets will present "The Arabian Nights," the classic adventures of boy Abu with an original Pickwick plot.

Deleting dialogue, the puppets' words are revealed through varying musical movements. "Scheherazade," Korsakov's symphony poem, leads the viewer into violent storms, an evil magician, a princess-turned-peacock and a flying carpet ride.

Performing on a large open stage, the puppets measure from one to nine feet in height. Besides regular appearances with symphony orchestras, the Pickwick "mini players" have broadened their horizons in the Lincoln Center and in trade shows and TV commercials. It was a Pickwick Puppet which played "The Happy Tooth" in a famous local television commercial.

Ken Moses, past president of the Puppetry Guild of Greater New York and puppetry instructor in theatre courses at Syracuse University, is director of the Pickwick Puppets.

The theatre originated in 1951 under Larry Berthelson, who led the production for 20 years.

Birthday Lucky For Wayne Man

Last Thursday, John Barnes of Wayne had a good reason to celebrate on two occasions.

The 85-year-old resident celebrated his birthday and celebrated winning the $25 consolation award in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

Barnes, who was in Kuhn's Department Store at the time of the drawing, missed winning the $475 grand prize when the July 19, 1976 date was drawn. Drawing the winning date was Jean Nuss of Ben Franklin Store.

The prize for Barnes was his third in a little over a year. In May of 1975 Barnes won the consolation two weeks in a row.

The grand prize tonight (Thursday) grows $25 to an ever $500. Anyone can be a winner by being present at a participating Wayne business when the drawing is made.

Birthday Bucks can be spent just like cash in any participating store. No purchase or registration is necessary to be a winner.

EXTENSION NOTES

CAREFUL WITH DRUGS The season of runny noses and watery eyes will soon be here. Chances are your medicine chest is still filled with the popular remedies from last year.

These products, known as "over the counter" (OTC) drugs, can be bought without a prescription because they treat symptoms not severe enough for medical doctor.

But, OTC drugs are medicines and should be used accordingly. Labels are worthless unless you read and heed them. Clean out your medicine cabinet regularly. Outdated medicine may be too weak or too strong. Most medicines over one year old should be tossed.

Don't follow a friend's prescription simply because your miseries seem alike. Their drug may have an entirely different effect on your body.

Keep medicines in their original containers. Inexpensive, for example, may lose potency if taken out of their dark bottle. Mixing aspirins, vitamins, antacids, etc., in the same bottle is not a good idea.

Watch for side effects. If you zink a headache with plain aspirin, but get a "blah" stomach as a bonus, consult your druggist. He will suggest a substitute to relieve the headache pain without giving you stomach problems.

Don't make a habit of taking laxatives to relieve irregularity. Instead, try roughage such as fruit, carrots, lettuce, or bran cereals.

There is still not a complete cure for the common cold. But analgesics (aspirins) will field ease the aches, and decongestants (nose drops) take care of stuffy noses.

Remember, OTC drugs are only for mild symptoms. See your doctor when your aches become severe or continue on after taking OTC drugs for a few days.

— symptoms change. — your temperature rises to 101 degrees.

The new Electra and Riviera. Luxury cars that are

THE NEW ELECTRA. When a car this luxurious promises to provide a few grins when you get it out on the road well that's precisely what you have to do. Get it out on the road. Because you have to actually drive this car to realize just what solid road manners it has.

It continues to be the ultimate Buick. Ample endowed with rich appointments. Lavish expanses of cushioned fabric. Serenity. Quietness. And plenty of room for passengers and cargo.

Standard equipment still includes features like power front disc brakes, power steering, automatic transmission.

It still indulges you with niceties like power windows, seats with armrests, courtesy lights, and even a quartz crystal dial clock. All standard.

Indeed, life is still pretty soft in an Electra.

But this year, there's a slightly different emphasis. A regard for function. A desire to make Electra a car that can cope with the times. And to make it as fun as it is elegant.

The first hint of this comes from the styling. It's considerably trimmer of line this year. Which gives Electra a lean classic look. Even the instrumentation suggests that there's something new going on here. It's particularly easy to read and the various dials and gauges have brushed metallic faces.

The standard engine this year is a 5.7 litre (350 CID) V-8. Plenty of oomph, but with 105 fewer cubic inches to feed than last year.

The 1977 Electra. Luxurious as ever. More fun than ever.

really fun to drive.

THE NEW RIVIERA. Fourteen years ago, we came out with a very special Buick. It was an automobile designed to live in two different worlds -- that of the luxury car, that of the road car. We called it Riviera, lavished much technology and affection on it, and succeeded quite nicely if we do say so ourselves, in achieving our goal. In the process, we created a classic.

This is the Riviera, 14 years later. Refinements abound. But the philosophy is the same. The 1977 Riviera may surround you with elegance and luxury, but it is still a driver's car.

Its smooth, quiet ride is coupled with an ability to be tough in the corners. To respond with precision. To give its driver a sense of the road.

The standard suspension system includes front and rear stabilizer bars. And special shock absorbers. And computer selected coil springs at all four wheels.

Other driving assists include power steering, which you manipulate with a leather covered steering wheel, if you so order. And you can order disc brakes at all four wheels -- a feature that you'll find on the most exotic European touring and racing cars.

The standard engine is a 5.7 litre V-8. But you can order a new 6.6 litre (403 CID) V-8. Both are effective sources of power -- thanks to High Energy Ignition and the catalytic converter.

But as we indicated earlier, for all its roadability, Riviera is a most satisfyingly elegant and luxurious automobile.

For instance, while Riviera satisfies a serious driver's demand for agility, it also has more front and rear head room than last year. And more rear leg room.

Not to mention more trunk room.

There is new 50/50 front seating with twin armrests. Rich velour fabrics. An elegant and functional instrument panel. New custom wire wheel covers.

And there is a considerable variety of available equipment designed to make life easier for you. Including an AM-FM stereo radio with an integral citizens band transceiver.

The 1977 Riviera. It's a very special automobile. Because it carries on a very special tradition. Something you'll never really grasp, until you get that available leather steering wheel in your own two hands and take a Riviera out into the real world.

The new LeSabres. Family cars that have a whole

THE NEW LeSABRE SEDAN.

Let's establish one thing right off. LeSabre is the family car extraordinaire. It holds six full-sized adults. Comfortably. In fact, it has even more front and rear head room and more rear leg room than it did last year.

The trunk is bigger, too. Which means LeSabre is most definitely qualified to transport family-size cargoes.

But LeSabre's qualities go far beyond the number of cubic feet it has to offer.

Together with LeSabre's roominess, there is a new trimness to its design. Its lines are crisp, uncluttered. There is a more efficient use of space. And the car itself is very maneuverable. Surprisingly easy to turn. And park. And nimbleness, is something you just don't expect from a car that can carry as much as this one.

Another thing. LeSabre is a Buick. And that suggests certain things about the smoothness of its ride. And of the quiet inside.

It also suggests that the inside of this car is special. Generously endowed with standard equipment to help make your life easier. With gleaming appointments. And with an easy-to-read, intelligently organized instrument panel.

And such helpful features as power front disc brakes, power steering, and a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission.

The 1977 LeSabre Sedan. It offers room, yes. But a lot more than that. Drive a new LeSabre. A stretch of road can present a much more eloquent appraisal of LeSabre's quality than words.

lot more going for them than room.

THE NEW LeSABRE SPORT COUPE.

This, too, is a family car. This, too, can carry six uncramped. This, too, has a trunk capable of absorbing large quantities of family-style paraphernalia.

But, this one is quite a departure from whatever you've come to think of as the family car.

Start with the design. Much of what is normally chrome has been blacked out: the grille, the moldings around the windows, even the wide-louvered moldings on the rocker panels. And there's black applique on the roof pillars. It smacks of something you're more likely to see in Stuttgart than in White Plains.

It's an incredibly clean, beautifully restrained automobile.

That should give you a pretty good idea of the philosophy behind this car.

This should, too. Part of the LeSabre Sport Coupe's standard equipment is a special ride and handling package. It consists of a substantial front stabilizer bar (28 mm). A rear stabilizer bar. Special springs and shock valving. And quick steering.

The standard engine is a 5.0 litre, 301 CID V-8 (or, in California and high altitude areas, a 5.7 litre, 350 CID V-8).

The tires are steel-belted GR 70x15 radials.

What's really kind of nice about all this attention to performance is that it's been lavished on a car that still delivers considerable comfort and convenience.

Power front disc brakes, power steering, and an automatic transmission are all standard. As is thick, comfortable seating with a fold-down armrest in front. Instrumentation is quite complete, and the panel itself most sensibly designed.

See, we're not really trying to make aficionados out of you (OK, so we sneaked in a Rallye steering wheel). But the main idea was to give you a roomy, even luxurious, automobile that can do more than double as the living room sofa. To give you a car that can handle a winding road as admirably as it handles the kids and the dog.

And frankly, we think that makes the LeSabre Sport Coupe a rather special sort of automobile.

The new Century and Regal. Mid-size cars that are

THE NEW CENTURY. Philosophically, the mid-size car has always been something of a compromise. Not too big. Not too small. Just a logical and practical way to fill the gap between full-size and compact.

Well, Buick doesn't build just logical and practical mid-size cars. And we offer in evidence, Century.

Century is indeed mid-size. And yes, it is most certainly practical. Thanks to things like standard fiberglass-belted radial tires. And High-Energy Ignition, which eliminates the need for an ignition condenser and points, and therefore the need to replace them. And a newly revised, lighter version of the super little Buick V-6 engine.

Yup, Century is practical.

But Century is a Buick.

Which explains the handsome styling. The big, soft, comfortable seating. The smoothness. The quietness.

And which explains why so many good things are standard. Like power steering. And front disc brakes (with audible pad wear indicators). And computer selected coil springs at each wheel. And Full-Flo ventilation, something that keeps a steady stream of outside air flowing through the car. And a windshield wiper system with a single-wipe feature for wet, but not really rainy, conditions. And a hood release inside the car.

And so on.

No, Century is not just logical. No, Century is not just practical. Century is a beautifully designed, generously endowed automobile.

In other words, the fact that this intermediate-size car is a Buick counts for a whole lot.

much more than practical.

THE NEW REGAL COUPE. This is the ultimate intermediate-size Buick. In fact, it's about as close to a personal luxury car as you're likely to get in a car this size.

In our own humble opinion, it is one of the most desirable-looking American automobiles on the road today. It is distinguished from the regular Century by its more formal styling, its squared-off front end, its squared-off roofline.

And as the pièce de résistance of Buick's mid-size line, it offers a most impressive assortment of standard finery.

Naturally, you get power steering standard. And the front disc brakes are power-assisted.

Standard seating is of the notchback variety — which means you get a big, comfortable fold-down armrest in front. The seat fabrics are newly designed this year.

Courtesy lights abound — under the dash, in the front ashtray, in the glove box and on the ceiling.

You get a deluxe steering wheel.

You get added insulation under the seats and dash, which helps explain why Regal is so quiet under way.

And that's just the basic Regal.

There's a whole lot more luxury and comfort available.

Naturally, you can order all sorts of available electronic wizardry to make life a little easier. Power windows. Six-way power seats. Electric door locks. Electric rear window defogger. Electric trunk release. Even a lighted vanity mirror for the passenger's visor.

The available air conditioning is special this year. In the past, when the air conditioning was on, the compressor ran full-time. Now, the compressor is thermostatically controlled, so that when it reaches a certain temperature, it cuts out.

And there are no less than five different sound systems you can order: AM radio. AM-FM radio. A 4-speaker AM-FM stereo radio system. A 4-speaker AM-FM stereo radio and stereo tape system. And an under-dash, citizens band transceiver that you can remove and take with you for safekeeping when you leave your car unattended.

The 1977 Regal. It's a pretty elegant way to get the benefits of mid-size transportation.

Introducing small cars that can actually indulge you.

THE NEW SKYLARK. Skylark is the kind of small car that happens when Buick makes the decisions.

Which means there is a lot more to recommend Skylark than a set of compact dimensions.

On our way to making Skylark manageable and moderately priced, we built in many of the qualities inherent in our larger Buicks: Style, Comfort, Quietness.

In addition to things such as a Buick V-6 (newly revised to reduce weight) and a High-Energy Ignition system, we made sure Skylark had big, cushiony seats, armrests, cut-pile carpeting, front and rear, Deluxe steering wheel, Full-Flow ventilation, Generous insulation and sound deadening.

The new Skylark. Sit in one. Drive one. It's going to change a few of your ideas about smaller cars.

THE NEW SKYHAWK. Ever since we introduced Skyhawk two years ago, we've had a very special affection for it. Partly because it was such a departure from the Buicks of the past. And partly because it's such a terrific automobile.

Well, heck, just look at the little rascal. All sleek and aerodynamic. It's reminiscent of the exotic GT's that populate European roadways.

It really works, too. The terrific little V-6 engine under the hood certainly helps. And this year it's been modified to reduce weight.

The suspension includes front and rear stabilizer bars. And the standard transmission is a fully synchronized 4-speed. But you can order an available 5-speed with overdrive if you desire. Or a Buick-smooth automatic.

In any case, performance is certainly a major Skyhawk personality trait.

But for something with this much road talent, Skyhawk is remarkably civilized.

It has high-backed bucket seats, Courtesy lights in the ashtray, glove box and under the dash. Computer-selected springs. Remote-control outside sport mirror. And cut-pile carpeting front and rear.

The new Skyhawk. Maybe now you know why we're in love with it. If not, drive it. That'll help you see the light.

THE NEW OPEL ISUZU. The Opel Isuzu is a very interesting small car. It's part German, part Japanese, part performer, part money-saver, and it's sold and serviced by Buick.

And it really does indulge you. But in a rather special way. Because it gives you solid performance and considerable comfort, yet does it for a very reasonable price.

For a relatively small amount of money, you get a sophisticated 1817cc, 4-cylinder, overhead-cam engine with five main bearings and a cross-flow head. A short-throw, 4-speed manual transmission. Reclining bucket seats. Rack-and-pinion steering. And tinted glass.

All in all, Isuzu is fun to drive, comfortable, and very functional. Why not test drive one today?
