RIF Plan Tough To Set
But Guidelines Needed

The Wayne-Carroll school board Monday night made tentative plans to adopt a reduction in force (RIF) policy at its November regular meeting. The RIF policy is being formulated to provide guidelines for reducing the size of the testing staff if such action should become necessary because of decreasing enrollments, changes in financial support, changing programs, or other factors. A preliminary draft of the policy states that reduction will be accomplished when possible by normal attrition through resignations and retirement. However, the superintendent of schools will recommend to the board of education teachers whose contracts will be terminated under the RIF provisions. As outlined in the preliminary draft, consideration will be given to performance evaluations, contribution to the activity program, program to be offered, areas of certification and endorsement, special qualifications, and state and federal regulations which may mandate certain employment practices. The board also discussed several possible additions to the policy. Superintendent Francis Haun recommended that part time teachers be released before full time teachers within the same program and that teachers released be given priority as substitute teachers if they wish. Board president Irv Brandt suggested that the board consider acting upon a final draft of the RIF policy at the next school board meeting, and asked members to come prepared with any additions or modifications to the preliminary proposal which they think are desirable. "There's no way to write a good policy when dealing with something like this," Brandt said. "But it is important to have established guidelines if See RIF, page-10"

Commissioners OK Winside Road Plans

The Wayne County board of commissioners Tuesday signed an agreement regarding a project to improve the Winside cemetery road. Under terms of the agreement the county will allocate $10,870 toward the project, 30 per cent of the total cost. Federal funds will pay the remainder of the cost. "Plan planned includes widening of the road and improvement of an intersection with Highway 35. The commissioners also discussed a request from the Wayne airport authority for the appointment of two members to an airport zoning board. The airport authority has made a similar request to the City of Wayne. It appointed, the two county and two city members would then select a fifth member. Airport authority chairman Frank Prather, in the representative of the State Aeronautics Department had implied that a zoning board would be vital to any request for state or federal funds to improve the airport.

Roads Department Willing To Look at Bypass Plan

There may be good news for Seventh St. property owners in Wayne opposed to a plan to widen the street, part of Highway 35, to four lanes.

The four-lane proposal, however, stirred up a hornet's nest of protest as virtually every owner of property adjacent to the proposed project signed a petition opposing it.

A Department of Roads (DOR) official Tuesday said the department is willing to consider a proposal to build a Highway 35 bypass around Wayne if that is what the city wants. The DOR presented a preliminary plan to the city council earlier this year, proposing that the portion of Highway 35 which constitutes Seventh St. in Wayne be widened to four lanes to handle projected increases in traffic load.

Faced with the proposition of either endorsing the DOR proposal or seeing the city eventually bearing all costs for resurfacing the street, the city council voted to endorse the DOR proposal. That stirred the kettle of controversy even more. First, Wayne real estate appraiser Dave Ewing sent a letter of protest to the city council and DOR, outlining what he believes would be the detrimental effects of widening the streets, and proposing that instead, Highway 35 bypass be built which would funnel through traffic around Wayne.

to Highway 15. The eastern leg of the bypass would follow the Chicago and North Western railroad right of way.

The railroad has been granted permission to abandon the rail line. Wayne attorney Kem Swartz, representing Ewing, was present at the Sept. 28 council meeting to further outline alleged detrimental effects of the four-lane highway proposal.

look at the proposal after the letter is received.

The first step in the study, Nutter said, would be to determine if the proposed bypass would divert enough traffic now using Seventh St. to make the project worthwhile. Such a study doesn't require any great length of time, Nutter said, but the DOR can't initiate the study until the city's request is received.

The council voted 5 to 2 to reject a motion to withdraw its endorsement of the four-lane proposal. The council, however, also voted to send another recommendation to the roads department requesting that the possibility of building the bypass be investigated.

Nutter said that, because of the variety of factors which contribute to construction costs, it is impossible to predict how the cost of the bypass would compare with the cost of widening Seventh St. However, based on experience in other communities, Nutter said, costs would probably be about equal. At any rate, Nutter said, the See BYPASS, page 10

Republicans Will Open Grill Damaged

Wayne County Republicans will officially open campaign headquarters tonight (Thursday) in the office building at 119 Main St. in Wayne, formerly occupied by the county ASCS office.

A grease fire about 10:30 a.m. Monday did extensive damage to a grill at Jeff's Cafe, 212 Main.

Faye Mann, vice-chairman for the county party organization, said state Sen. Bob Murphy will be at the reception, which begins at 7 p.m.

A fire apparently started in the stove and spread to a ventillation hood before firemen from the Wayne department arrived. According to fire chief Dick Kern, the automatic sprinkler system in the hood extinguished part of the blaze before firemen put out the fire in the stove.

The kitchen also sustained some smoke damage. Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock firemen were called out to the Bryan Reinhardt farm about six miles south of Wayne near Highway 15 to put out a brush fire. The fire apparently started when high winds blew smoldering ashes from burning trash into some brush nearby. The fire was quickly put out.

The planning commission, appointed by the county board of commissioners, is charged with developing a comprehensive planning document for the county, and with originating county land use regulations.

Hearing Set for County Plan

Members of the Wayne County joint planning commission Tuesday tentatively date for a public hearing on the county comprehensive plan.

After final adoption by the planning commission, the document will be forwarded to Wayne County and its municipalities. (The City of Wayne has a comprehensive plan and is excluded) for consideration.

The commission is an advisory group only. It will forward recommendations to the county commissioners and to the town boards of Winside, Carroll and Hoskins. Each government will then decide whether or not to adopt the recommendations.

The 11-chapter comprehensive plan, developed through the consulting services of the State Office of Programming and Planning (SOPP) inventories conditions in the county, makes projections regarding what conditions will be during a 20 year period, and makes recommendations regarding planning priorities to best meet those conditions.

The public hearing in December will be conducted to give the public a chance to offer input before a final draft of the report is adopted.

The joint planning commission is now beginning work to come up with land use and zoning regulation recommendations for the county. A public hearing on zoning recommendations will be scheduled when the project is completed. The commission's recommendations will then be forwarded to the county and towns for their consideration.

Eleven is the lucky number for Wayne County courthouse employees in October and November.

Courthouse offices will be closed Oct. 11 in observance of Columbus Day. Courthouse workers will also have the day off Nov. 11 when they observe the traditional Veteran's Day.

Murphy: Claims Are Misleading

State Sen. John R. "Bob" Murphy of South Sioux City has charged that figures quoted by his opponent regarding state aid to school are misleading. "The figures in question were included in campaign advertising for Aaron Butler of Wayne, who is running against Murphy in the 17th legislative district. According to Butler's advertising, published in several North-east Nebraska newspapers including The Wayne Herald, school district mill levies in the legislative district would have been lower if LB 369, a state aid to schools bill, had passed.

Butler claimed that defeat of the bill cost local school districts money. Among claims made in the advertisement are: "Example: Wayne would have saved $40,000 and more than three mills of the tax increase."

The Butler advertisement also claims that the bill needed 30 votes to pass, but only received 29. Murphy voted against the bill, the advertisement said, implying that it would have passed if Murphy had voted in favor of it.

The Legislative Journal of May 22, 1975, records a vote on a motion to override Gov. J. J. Exon's veto of LB 369. According to the copy of the Journal, supplied by clerk of the legislature Vince Brown, 28 senators voted in favor of overriding the veto, 19 including Murphy, voted against the measure, and two did not vote.

Murphy pointed out that the information contained in Butler's advertisement, therefore, is incorrect, and the measure would not have received the 30 votes required to override the veto even if he (Murphy) had voted in favor of it.

A similar situation resulted from a vote taken April 7, 1976, on a motion to override line-item vetoes in a general appropriations bill, LB 691, including an additional $15 million for state aid.

Murphy explained that a state aid bill, LB 631, was introduced during the 1976 legislative session which would have provided an additional $15 million in state aid to schools, distributed under

Landfill Problem Prompts Special Council Meeting

A special meeting of the Wayne city council is scheduled for today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at the council chambers in the city auditorium.

Council members will meet to discuss the need for a new landfill. City administrator Fred Brink said at the last regular council meeting that the city is quickly running out of landfill space. According to street superintendent Vern Schulz, Brink said, the landfill will be completely filled by next summer.

Brink proposed at that time that the council look into the possibility of a transfer station. City clerk Bruce Mordhorst Tuesday said officials from cities which have transfer stations are expected to be present at the special meeting to explain their operation.

Wayne United Way Enters Second Phase Of Fund-Raising Drive

The second phase of the Wayne United Way campaign unfolds Tuesday when the fund-raising drive begins canvassing the residential district. Under the direction of United Way board members John Potts, Kay Swerczek and Steve Schumacher, the residential drive will be aiming to give this year's campaign the shot in the arm needed to reach the goal of $13,000. Board chairman Dick Manley said during this week's breakfast meeting for business district workers that he is still confident Wayne businesses will pull through to meet the projected $9,000 the campaign hopes to get from donations. As of Tuesday morning, a total of $1,635 had been turned in by team captains who helped organize the drive in downtown businesses. If donations from businesses reach $9,000 and donations from school, college, city and county government employees total the projected $2,250, only $1,750 will have to be collected from residents in Wayne who haven't already given to this year's drive. Persons attending Tuesday's breakfast at the Student Union on the Wayne State College campus also viewed a film, "The Turning Point." Produced for United Way, the film featured actor Cliff Briffson as a worker who lost his wife and job, and turned to United Way for help. Manley said the purpose of the film was to show workers that funds to the nine agencies in this year's drive are available to city residents in time of emergencies. All of the $3,000 allocated to the city recreation program stays in Wayne, Manley added. Other agencies and the amount they will receive if this year's goal is made: Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts, $2,850; Prairie Hills Council of Girl Scouts, $2,400; Salvation Army, $1,400; Senior Citizens Center, $800; Arthritis Foundation, $750; Cystic Fibrosis, $300; Florence Critten Home in Sioux City for unwed mothers, $200, and Red Cross, $100. The local United Way committee budgeted $400 for a contingency fund and $800 for administration of the campaign. Another kickoff breakfast will be held Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. at the Student Union for residential team captains and their workers.

Caught in His Own Web
A PAINTER from a Sioux City firm, Keith Julch, seems to be trapped in his own work of painting lanes on the new high school track facilities located near West Elementary School. Both Julch and a fellow worker spent most of Tuesday putting the finishing touches on the eight-lane track, which is expected to see a lot of use when spring practice rolls around.

Joy Bloom September Bride

In a 2 p.m. ceremony Sept. 25 at the Evangelical Free Church in Concord, Joy Bloom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bloom of Laurel, became the bride of Richard Grosvenor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grosvenor Sr. of Newcastle.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Laurel High School and a 1976 graduate of Western Iowa Tech in Sioux City.

The bridegroom graduated from Newcastle High School in 1966 and spent four years in the U.S. Air Force. He is employed by Dixon County.

Honor attendants at the couple's wedding were their sister and brother, Sandy Bloom of Laurel and Bob Grosvenor Jr. of Newcastle. Also in the wedding party were Lori Grosvenor of Newcastle, Julie Dykeman of Fremont and Lorraine Pinkelman of Hartington, bridesmaids, and Paul Kerr of Allen, Tim Corrigan of Harlan, Ia. and Kurt Grosvenor of Ponca, groomsmen.

The bride's personal attendant was Rose Vortherms.

Tina Kerr and Neil Kerr, both of Allen, were ring bearer and flower girl. Candlelighters were Tim Bloom of Dixon and Garry Conrad of Newcastle.

Guests, registered by Carla Swick of Dixon, were ushered into the church by Brian Bloom of Dixon and John Harding of Newcastle.

The Rev. Delov Lindquist of Concord officiated at the double ring rites. Dave Bloom of Laurel, brother of the bride, sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Because" and "Eternal Life," accompanied by Karl Erwin of Concord.

The bride fashioned her floor-length wedding gown of white satin with a nylon crepe overlay, to be full-length in the matching veil—also floor-length and also designed by the bride. She carried a cascade of Robin Aby roses and white daisies and pompons accented with baby's breath, English ivy and long, white bridal streamers.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length peach double knit tulle dress with lace. The bridesmaids were matching gowns in mint green. Each carried a Robin Aby rose surrounded with peach, green and white daisy pompons.

For her daughter's wedding

Cats Still Savoring 14-0 Victory

Chadron, Wayne Looking for 2nd Win

Mention the names of Wayne State and Chadron State in sports competition, and fans understand that's likely to mean excitement.

The rivals will tangle Saturday afternoon as the big event of Wayne's Wildcat Days. Game time is 2 p.m. following pregame ceremonies at 1:30.

While season records are uncomfortable to both teams — Wayne 1-3 and Chadron 1-4 — spectators who have watched them play in years past know most anything can happen. It might range from last year's 19 Chadron win to such scores as 47-12, 40-29 and 34-20 in recent years (Wayne winning the first two of those).

Chadron comes off a 23-20 homecoming loss to Colorado Mines last week, while Wayne, coming in the last minute, earlier the Eagles lost by 63 to the Northwest Missouri team which edged Wayne, 17-15; 21-19 to South Dakota Tech, and 26-14 to Kearney State. Chadron beat Minor State, 28-14.

Wayne approaches the game savoring the season's first win, 14-0 over Midland Saturday at Fremont.

The style of that victory pleased everybody in the Wayne camp. For one thing, the Wildcats scored both touchdowns on substantial drives — no easy ones — resulting from enemy errors close to the goal line. For another point, Wildcat defense drove Midland into a minus-seven-yard rushing hole overall, and pass defense spaced out 10 Warrior completions for 120 yards so they did no scoring.

Chief engineer of Wayne's rushing attack was freshman Bob Barry of Battle Creek, who got his first starting duty. He plunged for 146 yards on 38 carries, according to WS charts (Midland had him with 124).

Two Barry runs scored, the first capping a 45-yard drive in the second quarter, the other going 10 yards to end another 45-yard campaign, with 5:37 to play. This time Wayne went for a two-point conversion and hit on a Mark Mintken-Maurie Mintken pass. After the first TD, a kick attempt missed because of a late ball set.

Coach Del Stoffenberg declared the Wildcats "looked more like we expected them to be." He attributed improvement to fewer errors, mental and physical, and to better execution. The offense repeatedly opened highways for runners, and sometimes the runners made their own holes.

Wildcat defense trapped Warriors backs for tosses 18 times and 38 plays. Defensive end

Gary Krajciak had himself a banner night, sacking the quarterback six times, and making 15 tackles, five of them solo. Linebacker Ken Jenkins registered four sacks, five solo tackles and five assists. Defensive back Ray Wagner had six tackles, seven assists, three sacks. Wayne came up with its first interceptions of the season, two in fact, by Charles Curryn and Bill Kott. Meanwhile, the Cats suffered only one interception after giving up 12 in three games.

HOW'S THIS for blocking? Freshman tailback Bob Barry (25), top picture, heads for a hole created by two Wayne State mates, an unidentified lineman in foreground and fullback Kirk Barroner (45) beyond. Below, that glaring number 89 meant trouble in Midland's backfield Saturday. Defensive end Gary Krajciak hurled that 89 into Warriors 15 times, and on six of those occasions he decked the quarterback.

Wayne Battles Wisner To Settle Earlier Loss

WS Harriers Host Again This Saturday

Revenge is one word which is hanging around the locker room of the Wayne girls volleyball team.

The Blue Devils of coach Mavis Dalton want to settle a score with West Husker powerhouse Wisner Pilger tonight (Thursday) after the Galors handed Wayne its first loss of the season in the Beemer four-set game. The deal was in the championship game and we're looking forward to playing them again," Mrs. Dalton said.

Wayne, however, will be going into tonight's matches with two more losses against six wins. One of those losses came against South Sioux City and the other happened Tuesday night when Norfolk got its revenge for an earlier setback to the Devils.

The Wayne varsity jumped off to a 15-2 start but stumbled in the second game, 12-15, after being down 14-2 in the final match Norfolk squeezed out a 16-14 decision.

Senior Stephanie Dorcay led in scoring for Wayne with 14 points. Coach Dalton lauded the play of Peg Pinkelman. Both the freshman and reserve teams fell to the hosts. The frosh battled back from a 5-1 first game loss to take a 15-4 game on the serving of Stacy Jacobmeier who had 14 points in the third game. Norfolk came back 15-4.

The reserves fell in two straight games, 9-15 and 5-15.

Another home meet is on Wayne State's cross country schedule Saturday at 11 a.m. And it won't be any easier than last week's home debut, except fewer teams are coming.

One of them, however, is South Dakota Springfield, a power as usual; coach LeRoy Simpson expects. Also coming is Westminster, which Wayne defeated in a dual last month at LeMars, La. Morrisville may compete.

Last week the Wildcats hosted their Wayne Invitational and ended in a third place tie with Concordia, scoring 85 points. Doane finished five runners in the first nine positions to win the team title with 27 points.

Nebraska Wesleyan rated second at 38, but Plainsman Bob Quick won the individual trophy on a 25:57 time for five miles. First in for Wayne was Don Rinehart, 11th at 27:16. Jerry Sanders finished 14th at 27:21; Chip Hagerman 28th at 28:01. Dale Sohl placed 24th, Al Libbe 29th.

Midland, Platte and Southeast Community College entered partial teams.

Prep Picks: Devils Back to Winning?

By BOB BARTLETT
The majority of area football teams will be on the road Friday night as prep action heads into its fifth of the nine week season.

Wayne travels to Madison seeking to break a three-game losing skid. Allen goes to Newcastle. Laurel ventures to O'Neill and Winside heads to Ponca. The only home game has Bancroft at Wakefield.

Wayne coach Don Koenig pegs Friday's match at Madison as a "must" victory for his Blue Devils. "We have to win this one to set a pace for homecoming next week," Koenig pointed out.

Overall, the Devils are healthy for the West Husker Conference battle and the attitude is good, the coach added. Madison is good sized and has a good defense to match. Koenig observed about the Dragons who are 3-1 in conference play and trail undefeated West Husker leader Emerson-Hubbard by a half game.

Good size is also the description Madison coach LeRoy Ernst had about Wayne. He also labels the Devils as a potent running club behind what he considers two outstanding running backs in this area — senior Mark Brandt and Mike Wisler. "They'll give us all kinds of problems," he added. Looking at his club, Ernst said his team probably will be without the services of star runner senior Al Brandt who is still recovering from a badly bruised right leg suffered in the Wakefield tussle two weeks ago. The 5-7, 150-pound Brandt is the main cog in Madison's offense, averaging about seven yards a tote. Filling his shoes likely will be sophomore Jim Love who got his first varsity calling last week against Hartington.

After the Hartington match, the coach noted that he has several other injuries which may slow Madison. Ankle injuries were the common problem, but the coach didn't feel they would hamper his club by the time Friday night rolls around. However, defensive halfback Mark Parr may not see action because of a sinus infection.

Ernst cautioned his team not to expect Wayne to be a pushover after the Devils bowed to tough Tekamah-Herman last Friday, 33-7. "Our scouting report shows that the Tekamah game was much better than the score showed. We don't let the score fool you."

Last week's prep selections were four right, one wrong, which brought my record to 16-6 on the season. I picked Tekamah over Wayne, Pierce over Laurel, Homer over Allen and Winsler over Wakefield — all right! The losing pick was Wausau's one point victory over Winside.

This week's selections (winners in boldface):
Wayne at Madison — This should be the game the Devils turn their season around. Wayne's healthy and eager to snap their losing streak. This time they should do it.

Laurel at O'Neill — Bears failed to show a potent offense against Pierce. O'Neill probably will halt Laurel's ability to score.

Allen at Newcastle — Wouldn't be surprised if this contest ended in a scoreless deadlock. Both are about evenly matched. Hunch is that Allen may chalk up second win.

Winside at Ponca — Wildcats get back on winning track with running machine again in full force.

Bancroft at Wakefield — No match here. Trojans all the way.

Congratulations go out to Scott & Jody Bennel, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bennel of Rural Pilger. They both celebrate their birthdays this month. Scott has his 17th on October 27 and Jody's 9th birthday comes on October 10.

Emerson Takes 3 From Winside

Visiting Emerson-Hubbard took all three matches from Winside Tuesday night.

Emerson won the varsity match, 15-5 and 15-11, claimed the reserve battle, 15-8 and 15-9, and triumphed in the freshman game, 16-14 and 15-5.

Winside's varsity record stands at 2-7 while the reserves are 3-3 and the freshmen are 2-4.

JV Gridders Hit Midland

Not to be outdone by their elders, Wayne State junior varsity gridders defeated Midland College reserves here Monday afternoon. Wayne lads even ran up a bigger score, 19-14, than the varsity did at Fremont Saturday, 14-0.

It was a dandy game, for suspense. After the Wildcats took a 3-0 edge on Joe Wisniecki's 22-yard field goal, Midland struck on a six yard run by Doug Lanik and Eric Afonasio's kick. Wayne made it 10-7 as quarterback Denny Wilson and wingback Mark Johnson connected on a 40-yarder and Wisnieski added the point. All this scoring came in second quarter.

Early in third period, Midland climbed out of a deep hole after Wayne defense chased quarterback Lanik back to the Warrior four. What happened? Lanik scrambled 21 yards on the next play, then Ralph D'Agostino outran the whole defense for a 75-yard TD. Afonasio kicked the point.

Life in that quarter, Wayne devoured Lanik at the six inch line for a 12-yard loss. Presently, Wayne took a short punt at the Warrior 25. On first play of fourth-quarter, Johnson got his second touchdown on a nifty zig zag romp of 25 yards. Wisnieski made it 17-14.

Midland had one big chance later but lost it on a fumble. Still later, Wildcat guard Mark Jennett made a one-hand pass interception, ran it to the Warrior 25. A first-down series fizzled. Midland had one more chance after a penalty setback to the 10. Last play: Wayne swarmed the Warrior quarterback for a safety and a 19-14 finale.

Defeat Kearney, Powerful UNO

"We did it!" exclaimed coach Bernice Fulton and indeed they did. "They" — the Wayne State volleyball girls — swallowed some good-fasting wins Tuesday night in double doses. They outplayed the defending volleyball champs, Kearney State, plus one powerful UNO team for a two-match win. With 3-15, 15-11 and 15-7 scores against Kearney, Wayne served more "powerball" over UNO showing 9-15, 15-12 and 15-10 numbers. In Kearney vs. UNO competition, the K-Staters defeated the University women with two wins in a three-game match. Despite Wayne's winning high, a heavy v ball schedule won't let the ladies "stop and smell the roses." A home battle Wednesday was scheduled to see Wayne against Doane and Westmar. On Saturday it will be home again for the Wildkittens when they take on Missouri Western, Washburn, and Emporia. Starting time for the triple event is 10 a.m. Tuesday's victories followed only a two-day breather for the VB girls. One match win and three losses resulted from a weekend jaunt to Missouri. In "show me" land Friday, the Wildkittens overpowered a group of tall Stephens girls in two games, 19-17 and 15-14. But on Saturday the VB sport changed its course. Coach Fulton's words: "The girls didn't seem to be with it."

Scanning through the booklet, one can find out that Neligh's Paul Tedesco is head coach in four sports and athletic director. Only three other coaches in this area — Gary Chivala of Spencer, Ralph Tichota of Clearwater and Jack Sell of Fort Calhoun — manage three sports in addition to the AD post. The list is quite long for coaches who handle three jobs. Among them are Allen's Steve McManigal who heads girls basketball, volleyball and track, and Laurel's Joel Parks who is the head man in basketball and golf for boys and girls.

Athletes of the Week

Performances by Wayne senior Lori Johnson in the Blue Devils volleyball victory over Norfolk two weeks ago and by Wayne Smith of Winside in his team's 22-21 loss to Wausa Friday earn these players the "Athletes of the Week" honors. In playing one of her best games, Johnson served up 10 points, including the deciding point which gave Wayne a three-game victory over the visitors. Wayne opened the varsity match with a 15-8 decision before it dropped the next 13-15. Ahead 14-13, Johnson served across the winning point for the Devils' sixth win. In addition, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Johnson of Wayne had 10 points for the night and nine spikes. Smith gained 114 yards, including touchdown jaunts of 60 and 52 yards to lead his Wildcat team to a near upset of the Vikings. The 135-pound senior put his club on the board first with a 60 yard scramble and later in the game put his club in front again with a 52-yard run and a 21-15 lead. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas of Hoskins.

Wakefield Splits in VB

Wakefield Varsity spikers picked up a win and loss in volleyball action Monday and Tuesday night. The Trojanettes fell to host Coleridge Monday in three games, but came back the following night to score a three-game victory over visiting South Sioux City. The split made Wakefield's record 7-3. Mary Kober had 15 points and teammates Renee Wilson and Robin Mills had nine each to lead coach Ernie Kovar's girls. Kovar also got strong spiking from Lynn Holm with 12 and Mary Prochaska and Kober with nine each. Leading in sets were Mills with eight and Kober with seven. The reserves suffered a set-

STATISTICS: Wayne Statz's defense, which overpowered Midland Saturday night for the Wildcats' first victory of the season, holds down the No. three spot in this week's NAIA District 11 defensive charts. The Cats of defensive coach Ralph Barclay are giving up an average of 247 yards a game, right behind leader Doane with 276.5 and Midland with 187.3 average in the nine-team standings. The breakdown shows Wayne giving up just over 108 yards on the ground and about 138 in the air. Offensively, the Cats are last in charts, producing 115 on the ground and 79 in the air for an average of 194 yards a game. Incidentally, that's exactly what Wayne rolled up against Midland for its 14-0 upset of the previously undefeated Warriors.

Of the seven individual categories, Wayne has players in six. Kirk Gardner is fourth in rushing with 38 rushes for 146 yards, or 49 yards a game. End Maurice Minfken in fifth in receiving with eight catches for 165 yards, or just over 41 yards a game. In passing, brother Mark Minfken is eighth, completing 13 of 37 tries for 231. Kicker Mike Green is sixth in punting with a 33-yard average. Strangely enough, he leads the pack in total yardage — 1,208 — but also has the most number of boots — 36.

In kick off returns, Anthony Shoemaker is tied with Mike Cherry of Kearney for first with an average of 21 yards. Shoemaker also carries a two-yard average in punt returns among the six leaders in that division.

IN THE eyes of Omaha World-Herald sports writer Steve Pivovar, Wayne State still has the "worst offense in the state." The Cats were able to turn things around from a 9-3 start to their first victory behind the engineering of freshman quarterback Mark Minfken and another freshman, runningback Bob Barry, Pivovar went on.

Defensive leader was Gary Kralick led the charts in tackles and assists. Said Wayne coach Del Stoltenberg of Kralick's efforts: "He did just about everything he could. He played very well."

A MAN for all seasons seems to be the appropriate title for Ray Vaughn of Butte High School. Vaughn, who is principal in the Northeast Nebraska community of 575, also carries the load of head coach in football, basketball, track, girls basketball and girls track, according to a coaches directory published by Wayne State College. Mike Pfeifer of Spaulding Academy probably has the busiest sports schedule of most coaches in this area. He is the head coach in three sport and assists in three others. On top of that, he's the athletic director.

Allen Pushes Record to 2-0

Allen Eagles pushed their conference record to 2-0 Tuesday night with a two-game victory over host Winnebago, 15-2 and 15-10. Lori Erwin scored up 11 points and June Stapleton added nine to lead coach Steve McManigal's club to its fourth win overall against three setbacks. Commented McManigal about the win: "The team played above average with 90 per cent of its serves scoring. The players also had solid bumping and showed improved spiking." Allen's reserves kept their undefeated string at two with a pair of 15-2 decisions. Pam Brownell had 10 points and Susie Erwin collected eight to lead the junior varsity.

Trojan JVs Shut out Cats

Scoring in every quarter, Wakefield's reserves shutout invading Winside 28-0 Monday. The host JVs moved their season mark to 2-0 while Winside's reserve mark dropped to 0-2. Winside will host Coleridge Monday. Jeff Simpson opened the scoring for the winning Trojans with a three-yard quarterback sneak for six points in the first period. In the second quarter, Simpson found Doug Starzl on about a 30-yard touchdown pass and Starzl ran for the PAT to make the score 14-0 at half. Simpson struck again in the third period when he found Todd Swigart for 20 yards and a touchdown and Starzl closed out the scoring for the winners with a three-yard run for a TD in the final period. Winside drove to the Wakefield 15-yard line in the third quarter but lost the ball on a fumble in the Wildcats' only scoring threat of the day. Wakefield reserve coach Dennis Chipmann lauded the work of his defense and had special praise for the play of Trojan defenders Deen Wageman, Chuck Sherer, Verdell Ekberg and Tim Prochaska.

Announcing

My son, Aaron Graham Butler, returns to Nebraska this week to study for the bar exam and to help me in my campaign for the legislature. He did his law studies in Minnesota where he was admitted to the bar October 1. Graham is a graduate of Wayne High School and the University of Nebraska. If I am elected I will move my business to Nebraska where he will be legal adviser to it.

Allen Beermann, Nebraska Secretary of State notified Aaron Butler of the sufficiency of petitions to put him on the ballot for the legislature.

Both Graham and I have great appreciation for the welcome we received in Nebraska when we arrived, with the rest of my family, in 1946. I would expect to meet some criticism during the campaign for not having been born in Nebraska and for having worked elsewhere. That criticism has been minimal. I find agreement that my experience outside the state, in and out of politics, should be helpful in the legislature if I am elected. Actually, thirty-five years of my life were spent in Kansas — which is as close to Nebraska economically and culturally as you can get.

AARON BUTLER

Shots Shouldn't Affect Blood Bank

The supply of blood at Sioux land Community Blood Bank will not be seriously affected by the upcoming swine flu immunization program, according to Dr. J.S. Pennepacker, Medical Director of the blood bank.

In conformity with standards of the American Association of Blood Banks, persons wishing to donate blood may do so 24 hours after immunization for swine flu, provided that they are otherwise well healthy and have no symptoms or adverse effects from the immunization.

Those who do have any type of apparent reaction to the vaccine should not attempt to become blood donors until the symptoms have subsided which will normally be within less than one week after the flu shot. Within a day after giving blood healthy individuals should not suffer any adverse effects from swine flu immunization.

Blood bank personnel routinely question potential donors about immunizations and those who have received a flu shot within 24 hours of reporting to the blood bank will be asked to return later.

Federated Woman's Club Schedules Flu Shot Clinic

Free Swine influenza shots will be available in Wayne Oct. 20. The Wayne Federated Woman's club will be coordinating the clinic in Wayne in conjunction with the Nebraska Health Department as part of the nation-wide swine flu inoculation program. Clinics will be held from 10 a.m. until noon in the Menagerie room of the Wayne State College Student Union, and from 2-7 p.m. in the city auditorium.

Two types of vaccine will be available at the clinics. Bivalent vaccine will be given persons 45 or older or chronically ill. Monovalent vaccine will be given to healthy persons 18 to 45 years old. Recommendations regarding the necessity of a booster for persons 18-25 are expected later in October.

Vaccinations will not be available at the clinics to persons under 18 years old. Leita Maynard, in charge of coordinating the clinics, said persons in that age group should consult with their family doctor regarding immunization for swine flu.

Everyone who receives the swine flu shot will be required to sign a consent form. Forms will be available Monday at the following locations in Wayne: post office, library, Bentback Clinic, Dr. Wise-man's clinic, Dr. Koerber's office, First National Bank, State National Bank, Wayne Federal Savings and Loan, Wayne State College dormitories, senior citizen's center.

Forms will also be available at the Winside State Bank, at the Farmers State Bank in Carroll, and at the Commercial State Bank in Hoskins. Mrs. Maynard said 18-year-olds will need their parent's signature to receive the shots. A Harvard study — undertaken in the belief that not enough planning went into the decision to sponsor swine flu inoculations — concludes that the government was right. The study released last week by Harvard's Medical School says that without widespread immunizations there could be a one in 10 chance of an epidemic killing more than 50,000 people this winter and infecting more than 58 million.

The Harvard report says such an epidemic would cost the nation $6 billion in hospital bills and lost working time. The government inoculation program is therefore a good financial investment, the report concludes.

The study was begun last spring after President Ford announced in March that "every man, woman and child" would be vaccinated against the threatening disease.

Influenza virus changes its makeup so often that man cannot build up specific immunity to it, according to information provided by the Nebraska Swine Influenza Immunization Program (NSIIP) organization.

Once every ten years or so there occurs what scientists call a major antigenic shift. When this happens, the flu virus has changed so much that almost no one has any immunity to it. The population is wide open, unprotected against infection. This happened in 1957 with what was called the Asian flu, and again in 1968 with Hong Kong flu. In both years, millions of Americans were sick within a period of a few months.

Scientists have now identified a swine influenza virus which represents a major antigenic shift from viruses circulating in the human population. The new strain was first identified in early 1976, following an outbreak of influenza at Fort Dix, N.J. Several hundred recruits were infected and one died.

The swine flu epidemic of early fall, 1977, although associated with a high attack rate had a quite low mortality. A second wave occurring in the winter and spring of 1978, also with a high attack rate, infected more of those who were ill during the 1977 fall epidemic.

It was this one which caused extremely high mortality rates, and became pandemic. During this wave, a significant number of deaths occurred within 24-48 hours indicating death from the primary virus illness. A great number of these were young, previously healthy persons. This change in virulence remains unexplained and contributed to the decision to commence immunizing as many persons as possible prior to the influenza season of 1976-77.

Scientists do not know for certain whether this virus, officially called a — New Jersey-76 (HswN1), will spread to the general population during the next flu season. If it does, it could cause a worldwide epidemic with extensive illness and death. Influenza epidemics cause deaths, even in the era of antibiotics, involve astronomical medical costs and tax the medical delivery system to a stressful extent. In the epidemic of 1968, 30,000 died in excess of the normal number. The cost for this period was $8 billion. This is far more than the $35 million that the President has awarded for the prevention program. There is no known cure for influenza, although antibiotics are important for treating some of the complications of the disease. Vaccination before exposure to the disease is the only way an individual can protect himself from influenza.

The above, together with consideration of other factors, has led the State Health Department to support, unequivocally, the nationwide influenza immunization program announced by President Ford.

Field trials testing the influenza vaccine have found that approximately 90 per cent of persons 25 years of age and older have responded well to the minimum dose of vaccine tested. Of those 18 to 24 years, 85 per cent developed some immunity to a single dose. Additional trials are now being conducted in respect to the inoculation of children and the advisability of a booster dose for those under 25 years of age.

Because the vaccine contains a dead rather than live virus, persons cannot contract influenza from the inoculation. Most will experience no side effects whatsoever, however, three per cent may experience brief minor discomforts such as a low grade fever or sore arm. No serious side effects developed among the more than 5,000 persons participating in the swine influenza field trials. Extensive use of flu vaccines over the past 20 years has shown that it has rarely, if ever, been associated with severe reactions. In addition, flu vaccines manufactured in the past several years have caused far fewer and milder side effects than earlier vaccines. There are no reasons why pregnant women should not receive the vaccine. NSIIP officials said

NMPP Says Move No Surprise

The resignation of the City of Wayne from the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool was not unexpected according to general manager Steve Wacker. Wacker is quoted in the NMPP news letter as saying "Obviously, we do not like to lose a member, but the facts are that we are in existence to be of service to a member and if a city thinks there is no service the pool can provide them, they have the option to resign." Board of directors of the NMPP "were surprised" when the City of Wayne joined the pool, the article said, because Wayne had previously signed a long-term wholesale contract with the Nebraska Public Power District and also had signed a capacity leasing agreement.

Allen GOP Meeting

Dixon County Republican central committee chairman John Kingsbury stressed the importance of voter registration during a meeting Sept. 30 at the Allen fire hall.

Special guests at the meeting were state Sen. and Mrs. Bob Murphy, and Tom Brawner, campaign manager for Joanne Soper, an Iowa congressional candidate.

Brawner explained his training and experience as a campaign manager. Sen. Murphy answered questions concerning the legislature and the committees he serves on.

even if he had voted in favor, the total would have been only 29, still one short of the 30 votes required to override a veto.

The South Sioux City senator said other claims made by Butler in his advertising are also misleading.

Butler's advertisement claims that Wayne would have saved $40,000 if LB 368 were passed (because it would have relieved that much additional money in state aid to schools).

Murphy said he does not know where the $40,000 figure comes from, but added that, assuming it is correct, Wayne County taxpayers would have saved, at most, $2,927.

Figures supplied by legislative fiscal staff member Dale Johnson show that Wayne County pays 41 of one percent of the state income tax, and 35 of one percent of the total state sales tax. Those two taxes are the source of state-aided funds, and revenue generated by the two taxes is roughly equal. Averaging the two figures together, then, reveals that Wayne County pays roughly 38 of one percent of the total tax dollars received by the state.

According to Johnson's figures, Wayne county receives .41 of one percent of the current appropriation of state taxes distributed to local schools.

Because of the difference in the percentages paid and received, Murphy said, if Wayne County had received an additional $40,000 in state aid to local schools, it would have paid all but $2,927 of that amount to the state in sales and income taxes.

Figures included in the Butler advertisement regarding the Wakefield school district mill levy are also inaccurate, according to school superintendent, Dr. Gary Bendorff.

The ad said the 1975 levy was 36.77 mills and the 1976 levy was 49.9 mills, with both figures including a levy for a building fund.

Dr. Bendorff said the 1975-76 general mill levy was 36 mills, with a 4.8-mill building fund tax and 4-mill sinking fund also levied that year.

Figures for 1976-77, supplied by Dr. Bendorff are: general fund, 49.9 mills, building fund, 12 mills, and sinking fund, one-half mill.

we are forced to reduce the teaching staff."

Mrs. Diana Runestad asked the board to consider providing an art instructor for students in grades kindergarten through four and grades five, six and eight.

Students in those grades receive no art instruction from regular classroom teachers.

"I don't mean to criticize classroom teachers," Mrs. Runestad said. "Some do a fine job in teaching art, but I feel art is a gift that not everyone has, and it is important to start students in art as early as possible.

The school board discussed the matter and agreed to keep it in mind during future budget considerations.

In other action on the board:

—Reviewed the school district's financial records as audited by CPA Jerry Malcom.

—Heard a progress report on the school track facility. Hahn said the sprinkler system is in operation, seeded grass is growing well, and lane, lines are being painted.

—Was informed that the number of school bus routes has been reduced from three to two.

—Reviewed short and long range goals for the district.

—Approved a request by Hahn to attend the National Professional Meeting.

Sheriff Reports
Accidents, Theft
 A round oak table and four high-backed chairs, with leather seats were taken from a vacant farm house southeast of Wayne sometime overnight Saturday, Wayne County Sheriff Don Weible said.
 No value was placed on the table and chairs, which belong to Robert Boeckenhauer. The sheriff's department also reported two accidents.
 Automobiles driven by Herman Schuelz and Ruth Hank, both of Winside, collided at an intersection in Winside. Schuelz was eastbound and Mrs. Hank northbound. No personal injuries were reported. Damage to both vehicles was extensive.
 Both drivers in a Monday night collision also escaped injury. Weible said Brad Brockman of rural Winside was traveling east and Melvin Meier-Henry of rural Hoskins was traveling west on a county road when the two vehicles met at the crest of a hill one mile north and four and one-half miles west of Winside and collided head-on.
 Neither driver was injured but both vehicles sustained damage in the accident which occurred about 7:15 p.m.

Message to the candidates: level with the voters

The author is a former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

In the 1976 Presidential campaign, one of the major battlegrounds is the alleged benefits and costs, strengths and weaknesses of government. Government is in low esteem — a tempting target for demagogues. Many of the criticisms of government are rightly deserved, but demagogues won't help. We need specific solutions from the candidates who seek to lead us.

Both liberals and conservatives have allowed certain illusions to distort their perception. The liberal illusion has been that federal aid per se solves problems. The conservative illusion is an unshakable conviction that no government social program can really be made to work.

We can no longer afford either illusion. Coping with inflation and unemployment, preventing international conflicts, correcting social inequities and using limited resources wisely will require that we look at the limits and potential of government with a fresh eye.

For example, most of the aspects of government that are wasteful, corrupt or indefensible on the other grounds are held firmly in place by outside special interests that stand to profit thereby. That's why old programs never die — or even fade away. One may find examples in the Pentagon and in social programs. Both liberals and conservatives have played the game. Open scrutiny of all such matters would be advanced if Presidential candidates were asked to advocate a "sunset" law under which programs would have to be periodically reviewed to decide whether they should be terminated, modified or continued.

Another example: we want to know whether the Presidential candidates have identified the most difficult problems facing the nation. Are they willing to level with the voter as to the costs of solving those problems, the sacrificed, the hard trade-offs? Are they willing to lay their own priorities on the line?

Such questions are not anti-government. The candidates must tell us now they intend to make our institutions work. All the great goals of humane and just government, all the hopes of citizens and leaders may count for nothing if the clanking machinery of the executive branch is simply unequal to the tasks laid upon it.

The role citizens should play has been undermined by their loss of confidence in their government. The only way to restore the confidence of the people in government is to create a system that is open, accountable and unbought.

All Presidential candidates should be asked to pledge their support of specific measures to assure openness and integrity in executive branch functioning, such as open meetings of regulatory and advisory commissions, whole-hearted compliance with the Freedom of Information Act, personal financial disclosure by public officials, disclosure of lobbying directed at the executive branch, stronger conflict-of-interest provisions, and creation of a new Justice Department division to investigate official corruption and abuse of power.

Message to the candidates: No generalities. What specific steps will you take to ensure openness and integrity in government and the protection of our liberties?

These are only a few examples of questions the candidates should be asked.

The world we're facing verges on the unmanageable. In this ebullient society, where everybody wants everything, there are hard choices and real sacrifices ahead. Unless we have leadership that helps us clarify alternatives, institutions capable of resolving complex issues, and citizens who understand the limited but necessary functions of government, the crisis of New York City in mid-1975 will be the road map of the American future. We had better know how our candidates intend to govern. — John Gardner, Common Cause Chairman.

OBSERVATIONS

It's time to register

It may be later than you think. The 1976 general election is less than a month away. It's time for citizens to be doing several things.

Before you can vote you must register. Anyone who hasn't yet done so should set a specific time when they intend to register and make sure they stick to it.

Registering to vote is one of those things easy to put off until tomorrow. All of a sudden it's election day, and you're left out at the voting booths.

There isn't any excuse for not registering. The state has made it possible for everyone to register with a minimum of inconvenience.

Same goes for voting. Being out of town is no excuse. Absentee ballots are available now for those who will be gone on election day. A story in the Oct. 4 issue of The Wayne Herald gives Wayne County residents full details on registration. Anyone with questions should contact county clerk Norris Weible. — Jim Strayer.

Citizen's Choice speaks for taxpayers

If you have been feeling lately that just about every conceivable cause (and several inconceivable ones) has some organized group pushing it — at the expense of the country's most unorganized and imposed-upon person, the working taxpayer — then you've got company.

A number of leading executives who are prominent in the National Chamber have been pondering this problem trying to figure out what to do about it. These people see the damage done by activist sponsored legislation from a dual perspective: What it is doing to American business, and what it is doing to the American taxpayer.

On the one hand, they know that Congress will respond to well-organized, well-focused pressure nearly every time no matter what it is in the general interest of the whole country. And on the other hand, they believe that trying to pass laws regulating activist groups is a dangerous flirtation with government suppression of our freedoms of speech and petition.

What's left? Fighting fire with fire. The fact is, middle class taxpayer will continue to take it in the wallet (and elsewhere) until the strength of their voice in Washington matches the strength of their numbers. If it takes yet another pressure group, so be it. Let's make it the biggest and most powerful this city has ever seen.

Why not simply open the National Chamber to general membership? There was a strong temptation to do just that. But the Chamber already has a responsibility to represent the interests of the nation's businesses. And that is also a job that needs doing. So a legitimate question would arise as to whether the Chamber could adequately represent two distinct groups, even given a great deal of common interest between them.

Hence, a brand new organization just for the taxpayer: Citizen's Choice. The Chamber will do what it can to help it prosper, but it will be an independent organization.

The founders of Citizen's Choice — all experienced bureaucracy fighters — have selected five initial objectives which will have broad appeal to the harassed taxpayer. Later, the members of the organization will be polled regularly, and their views presented to Congress. They will also be kept informed of what's going on in Washington of specific interest to them so they will be able to react before it's too late.

Here are some of the goals:

— Enact "sunset laws" requiring automatic review of federal agencies to determine if their continued existence is justified.

— Require the federal bureaucracy to prepare cost-benefit statements to prove the need for all proposed regulations.

— Require that all major spending programs be field tested on a limited scale before national enactment.

— Restrict the sale of food stamps to those who truly need them — people with incomes below the officially defined poverty line.

That's the story. From here on, it will be your story, not mine. Anyone who wants more information about this organization can write: Citizen's Choice, 1615 H. Street, H.W., Washington, D.C. 20062. — Richard Leshar, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Plant thieves Not appreciated

Wayne
Dear Editor:
Our "heartfelt" thanks go out to the tasteless clods who helped themselves to five of our beautiful hanging plants on Sunday evening, October 6th. I must apologize, though, for the poor craftsmanship of the macrame planters, since I just recently learned the art. Perhaps if these "plant lovers" would like to come back to pick up the three plants they so graciously left us (were their hands full?) they can have their choice of better quality macrame hanging planters (sorry, but nice big healthy plants take more than a few days to grow). We'll be waiting for you vehemently. — Lynn E. Johnson

If you planted trees last spring you should pay extra attention to them this fall and winter. Be sure the soil is well soaked when the ground freezes. Also, watering throughout the winter will be of benefit.

You should also watch for rabbit damage between now and May 1. The best way of protecting the trees is by placing chicken netting around each tree.

Should You Fall Prune?

Fall pruning should be enjoyable since there is very little to do. Most of the herbaceous perennials (those plants which die back to the ground each fall) need only to have their leaves and branches removed after the first killing frost. Some may need to be mulched to protect the crowns, after the ground has frozen.

Most perennial trees or shrubs can be pruned just as easily and with less danger to the plant early in the spring. Plants such as roses, which may have a heavy branching system, could benefit from a partial cutback this fall after two or three hard frosts. The removal of some of the "top heavy" growth can help prevent the wind from loosening the plant in the soil. Mulching or another appropriate measure should be undertaken after the ground temperatures have lowered in order to prevent winter injury.

One reason for early spring pruning is the opportunity to see the extent of winter damage before pruning.

Diseased, broken or sect infested branches can be removed any time. Low, inconvenient branches, rubbing or cross-wise branches and branches interfering with buds or traffic should be removed as early as possible next spring.

Maple, elm, walnut and birch should not be pruned during their dormant season. Early spring flowering trees and shrubs should not be pruned until after they flower next spring.

Fall Clean-Up Important

Football, school children, changing color patterns all signal the passing of another season. To the home gardener, it is the time of countless hours spent in the flower beds and vegetable gardens. Before hanging up the hoe and rake, one more process is necessary to help insure next year's crop: "this process" is known as "cleaning up."

Many of the common diseases-producing organisms overwinter in plant debris. These organisms may be the source of initial infection of next year's plants. Some of the common diseases which survive the winter in plant residue are black spot of roses, apple scab and tomato leaf blight. Many other diseases also have the ability to survive the winter in this manner.

Clean-up measures vary according to the crops involved. Removal of leaves from the area surrounding the plants will lessen the amount of potential inoculum. In other cases it may be necessary to pull the plants, removing both the root and upper portions of the plant. After removal, allow the debris to naturally decompose in a compost heap which is well away from plant sites, or pack, or age and remove to dumps. Local regulations often prohibit burning as a method of removal. If feasible, yearly rotations of flower and vegetable gardens will dramatically reduce disease incidence. When rotations cannot be used, filling the soil prior to planting is advisable. Sanitation should not be considered a substitute for chemical control but rather an aid to chemical methods. A good clean-up program in the fall should lessen the amount of disease present next year, thus lowering the amount of chemical control needed.

Shades of Autumn

ALMOST ANYWHERE in Northeast Nebraska a person can see the shades of autumn paint the landscapes. Sure signs of the season are the tinted leaves and farmers busy in their fields harvesting. For a lot of growers in this area and neighboring states, the year's production was greatly curbed by the lack of rain. Combining the corn crop on the Robert Schulteis farm west of Wayne is Eldon Butt

Nebraskans Attend Dairy Expo

Four Nebraska 4-H'ers spent an educational weekend in Madison, Wis., for the annual 4-H Dairy Conference.

The three-day national conference, which ended Friday, was held in conjunction with the World Dairy Expo '76, a trade and all-breed show for dairymen.

Chosen to attend the conference were Kris Anderson of Wayne, Connie Guenther of Bancroft, Beverly Stevenson of Fairview and Kelly Sue Eich of Geneva.

Phil Cole, University of Nebraska Extension dairy specialist, said the conference primarily is educational, providing 4-H'ers with an opportunity to learn about production, processing and marketing of dairy products, as well as detailing associated careers.

Kris, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Anderson, is attending Wayne-Carroll High School and has been in 4-H seven years. She has participated in dairy, sewing and cooking projects. Kris has received county, district and state awards in public speaking and demonstrating and winning county and district showman-ship honors. Earlier this year, she was chosen South Sioux City District Dairy queen. Chaperoning the Nebraska delegation was Don Kubik, Concord Northeast Stallion dairy specialist, who was also a speaker on the program.

Senior Picks

Up $25 Prize

An 18-year-old Wakefield youth, Greg Simpson, is the latest winner in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

Simpson, who was in Swan McLean Clothing last Thursday night, won himself $25 in Birthday Bucks when his birth date was the closest to the winning date drawn that night by Jean Coan of McDonald's and announced at 8:15.

A senior at Wakefield High School, Simpson was born on Nov. 29, 1958. Had his birth date matched the winning date of Dec. 20 of that same year, Simpson would have won the grand prize totaling $500.

As a result of no one claiming the top prize, the amount climbs to $525 for the drawing tonight (Thursday).

To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating Wayne business when the winning date is announced.

Drought Pattern Not Universal

The year 1976 will be remembered by many Nebraskans, especially farmers, as an exceptionally dry year. However, the drought pattern was not universal, with some sections of the state receiving above normal precipitation during the growing season.

Out of the word in a final report on weather conditions relative to their effect on crops issued by Professor Ralph Neild, climatologist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Out of the period from March 1 to Sept. 17, Neild said all or parts of five Nebraska counties - Greeley, Valley, Sherman, Custer and Blaine - had above normal precipitation. Brewster received more than 20 per cent above normal rainfall. Neild said the state, in general, went into the spring with above normal moisture conditions, and the situation remained favorable through May and on up into June. From that point on, he said, vast stretches of the state suffered from lack of rain except for the central Nebraska area which continued to receive timely rains through most of the season.

The report stated that "the vast majority of the state suffered from a moisture deficit this season. Alma, Crete, Fremont, Imperial, Superior, Tekamah and Valentine were all more than 40 per cent below normal. Dryland farmers in northeast Nebraska suffered from rainfall deficits ranging from 10 to 35 per cent below normal."

Pinning down definite amounts of precipitation, Neild said portions of Blaine, Greeley, Custer, Jefferson, Gage, Pawnee and Otter Counties received more than 9.25 inches of precipitation since March 1. Several reporting stations in eastern Nebraska reported less than 15 inches.

"The extremes across the state vary from 7.31 inches at Valentine to 23.3 inches at Pawnee City. For most stations, June and August were the driest months," Neild said.

The report also summarized the accumulation of growing degree days (GDD) around the state, which influenced maturity of crops. Growing Degree Days involve a value or base temperature below which a given plant does not grow, with rate of growth increasing as temperature increases above this base. GDD are determined by subtracting the base temperature from the daily average temperature. A 50 degree Fahrenheit (about 10 degrees Celsius) base is used for warm season crops like corn, soybeans and grain sorghum.

Butter can be kept frozen up to a month.

The report noted that "for most of the state, it was a warmer than usual year in terms of growing degree days for crops, especially in northern and northeastern Nebraska."

Field corn hybrids require different GDD to reach maturity and are safe from frost damage. Short season hybrids may require as few as 2,000 GDD while late season hybrids may require 3,000 or more GDD to mature.

The report said Harlan, Gage, Pawnee and Richardson Counties accumulated more than 3,300 GDD. Most eastern and southern Nebraska counties have accumulated more than 2,900 GDD. Hemingford was one of the coolest placed in the state this crop season with only 2,149 GDD.

Hayes, Frontier, Thayer, Hooker, Thomas, Deuel, Cheyenne, Kimball, Scotts Bluff, Sioux and southern Cherry Counties all has near normal or cooler than normal growing seasons.

Neild said the corn crop in central and eastern Nebraska should be well past physiological maturity and field drying for harvest, according to GDD accumulations since planting.

'Farmers Should Be Alert To Level of Prussic Acid'

This is the season when farmers should be alert to higher levels of prussic acid in sorghums, sudans and their hybrids used to feed livestock. If cattle growers fail to keep track of prussic acid levels, warned Vernon Krause, enough of the acid could be potentially fatal to livestock.

The beef specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord said that to avoid this problem, farmers should let their grasses used for feeding dry or put in a silo for a 21-day period.

Plants other than summer annuals which also contain enough prussic acid to be hazardous are wild cherry, velvetgrass, arrowgrass, Christmas berry and Johnsongrass. Once an animal has eaten enough plants containing the acid, death often comes quickly, Krause pointed out. Upon examination the blood and mucus membranes are red. This is in contrast to nitrate poisoning which affects the hemoglobin and turns the blood and mucus membranes chocolate brown in color.

Some of the most common questions about summer annuals and prussic acid are: —Are there differences in prussic acid content among varieties? Yes. Hybrid sorghums, hybrid sudangrasses and hybrid sorghum-sudangrasses can contain higher amounts of prussic acid than was found in the parental material. Don't graze or green chop before summer annuals are 18 inches high.

—Would you expect more of a problem when grazing than feeding green chop? Yes. When cattle are grazing they select the lush green tips and shoots that are high in prussic acid release potential while in green chopping you are mixing stems and leaves, thereby diluting the concentration.

—Will prussic acid be a problem in silage or hay? No. Making summer annuals into hay requires crimping to dry the plants before baling. Upon drying, the prussic acid is lost and most, if not all, goes off into the air. During ensiling the prussic acid is released and is not a problem.

—Why is frost considered to be so dangerous with summer annuals? The problem when frost occurs is usually not with the mature plants that remain but rather with the small shoots which regrow at the base of the plants. These small shoots are very dangerous because of their high prussic acid content and their appeal to livestock.

—On the other hand, the prussic acid release potential in mature tissue rises for about two days after frost, then declines rapidly and essentially all of the prussic acid is lost from the dead plant tissues. Don't green chop for two days after frost.

Papillion Senior Readies Recital

Polishing off his college musical career, Randy Sr. of Papillion will present his senior music recital, Thursday at Wayne State College.

"I'm Merle Hansen.
I'm opposed to any check-off scheme on farm products to pay for agricultural research.

Doctors don't check-off for medical research and teachers don't check-off for educational research.

Agricultural research benefits us all and ought to be paid for from general tax funds.

This proposal to double-tax farmers with a check-off is being talked about by University spokesmen. You need a representative on the Board of Regents who can say no to such nonsense.

I'm a working farmer from Newman Grove. I've been president of the Nebraska Charolais Cattleman's Association, School Board member and a Soil Conservation District Supervisor.

I believe you deserve a voice on the Board of Regents and I want to be that voice.

Social Security Program Covers Severe Disability

Many people who apply for social security disability benefits are (not just disabled enough) under the law to get payments, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

"Under the social security law," Branch said, "you are severely disabled only if you have a physical or mental impairment that prevents you from doing any substantial gainful work... expected to last 12 months — or is expected to result in death."

"If your disability prevents you from doing your regular work," Branch said, "your age, education, and work experience may be considered in deciding whether or not you can do any other sort of work. But, if you can't do your regular work but can do other substantial gainful work, you generally won't be considered disabled under the social security law."

"The decision on whether or not you're physically or mentally disabled under the social security law is made by doctors and other disability experts in the Nebraska Disability Determination Unit in Lincoln," Branch said.

"To be eligible for disability payments, most workers need at least five years of work covered by social security in the 10 years before their disability began. For workers disabled before age 31, the requirements range down to 18 months of covered work, depending on age."

Severely disabled people who haven't worked long enough under social security to be eligible for social security disability payments may be eligible for supplemental security income (SSI) payments. The SSI program, administered by social security, makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are disabled or blind or 65 or over.

Jordan Installed as New Kiwanis President

The Wayne Kiwanis Club is now under the direction of three new officers.

Taking over as president of the local group Monday is Bob Jordan, who took the gavel from Dan Sherry who becomes the club's past-president. Assisting Jordan are newcomers, Deryl Lawrence as president-elect and Leon Meyer as vice president. Continuing his role as secretary-treasurer is Vern Fairchild.

The lieutenant governor of the Nebraska-Iowa district, Marv Anderson of South Sioux City, swore in the new officers along with two new additions to the board of directors. Anderson told the group that this is the year the Wayne club and other groups like it across the nation could take a more active role in their community by getting involved in the new Kiwanis' major emphasis program, "Lead The Way."

He explained that the program is designed to help law enforcement agencies by reporting possible crimes, such as vandalism, and thereby possibly reduce the cost of destruction to private as well as public properties.

"What greater job can Kiwanians accomplish than to safeguard against crimes. This is an opportunity for Kiwanians to sink our teeth in and really help," Anderson said.

New to the board of directors are Dick Armstrong and Charles Surber. They replace Dick Keidel and Mayor whose three year terms expired Monday.

Other board members include Bill Workman, Frank Teach, Don Zeiss, Carl Lentz and Rev. Doniver Peterson.

Membership in the Wayne club is up to 65 with the addition of Gordon Nedergaard and Roger Lentz, both of Wayne. Nedergaard is an insurance salesman and Lentz is an assistant part-mahager at Coryell Auto.

Guest speaker Val Peterson, an instructor at Wayne State College, told the gathering of about 50 persons about his experience at the Republican National Convention in Kansas City in August.

Peterson, who was a delegate from Nebraska, said the race to decide the GOP's candidate between President Gerald Ford and former California Governor Ronald Reagan, was a lot closer than appeared on television.

About the history of the conventions, the former Nebraska Governor and U.S. Ambassador to Finland related that the word convention first was used in England and arrived on the American scene in the 1800's.

In 1931 the anti-Masonic Party held the first successful convention to nominate a president and vice president for the United States. The first president successfully nominated at the convention and who took office was Andrew Jackson.

HANDING OVER the gavel to the new president of the Wayne Kiwanis Club is former head man Dan Sherry, left. Taking over is Bob Jordan who will be assisted by president-elect Deryl Lawrence, second from left, secretary-treasurer Vern Fairchild and vice president Leon Meyer. Sherry will take on the role of past-president as well as lieutenant governor-elect for the Nebraska-Iowa district.

Peterson went on to point out that the first Republican convention in 1856 nominated John Fremont as its choice for "45 party steal."

The longest convention was held in New York in 1924 when the Democrats casted a record 103 ballots before agreeing on John Davis as its choice for presidential candidate.

Peterson cautioned club members "never go to a convention where the nomination is a cinch — you'll never get a chance to become involved in deciding who the candidate will be."

Serving on this year's committees are:

Club Meetings — Harland Pankrat, Harry Wert, Richard Manley, Bob Bartlett, Francis Haun, Rev. Doniver Peterson, Freeman Decker, Lyle Marotz, Al Cramer.

Spiritual Aims — Max Lundstrom, Ken Olds, Ray Schreiner, Aaron Butler, Walt Moller, Gene Bagelow, Dick Keidel, Phil Griess.

More Manageable in City Traffic and parking. Turning diameter reduced, easy a load, curb to curb.

It was clear that cars had to become more efficient. Not just small cars. All cars.

It was equally clear that plenty of people still preferred cars of size and substance, and were not about to settle for less.

So we gave them more. More economy and common sense on the one hand, more head room and rear leg room and trunk room on the other.

All in a crisp, clean, beautiful new package we call The New Chevrolet. A whole new kind of 6-passenger car that's more manageable in size, more responsible in its use of fuel and materials, yet retains "big car" room, ride, comfort and pride.

It's more than a new car. It's a whole new ball game.
