Swine Flu Shot Clinic Scheduled for Wakefield

Wakefield has been added to the list of Nebraska communities where swine flu shots will become available during October.

The Wakefield clinic will be held at the American Legion Hall from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m., Oct. 20. There will be no charge for the swine influenza inoculations.

The Wayne Federated Woman's Club had announced previously that two such clinics will be conducted on the same day, Oct. 20, in Wayne: from 10 a.m. until noon in the Manager's room of the Wayne State College Student Union, and from 3:30 p.m. in the city auditorium.

All persons wishing to receive the vaccine must sign an informed consent form before inoculation.

Persons under 18 will not be able to receive the vaccine at the free clinics because recommendations for immunization of persons in that age group will not be available until mid to late October.

Bivalent vaccine, protecting against both A. Victoria and swine flu, has been designated for the high risk population.

Six Candidates Are Competing

For AH Royalty

Six candidates for this year's homecoming royalty at Allen High School are competing for student votes to be named king and queen.

Seeking votes for king are Stan McAfee, Denny Uhl and Jack Warner, and for queen are Mary Jo Lundin, Kandi Rahm and Kris Young.

The seniors winning the most votes will be crowned during ceremonies at 2 p.m., Friday in the high school auditorium and will reign over the football game between Allen and Coleridge that night.

Leading up to the big day will be a week's slate of activities. Monday (Monday) students will dress in blue jeans and Tuesday they will wear a hat, different colored socks and carry a toy.

Wednesday students will wear clothes inside out and Thursday wear clothing with the school colors. Also Thursday night at 7 o'clock there will be a pajama party and bon fire near the high school. Friday is dress up day.

Following the coronation there will be a parade through the downtown business district. After the game there will be a dance at the high school auditorium where a radio announcer from KMMB in Sioux City will play records.

Crowning this year's royalty will be last year's king and queen, Lindy Koester and Diane Witte.

Master of ceremonies will be Brad Hase and mistress of ceremonies is Lori Erwin.

Allen to Charge

Fee for Landfill

Non residents of Allen who are using the town's landfill facilities will be charged $2 per load, the town board agreed during Monday night's meeting.

The fee, which will affect vitallite, rock or businesses, was a result of numerous complaints that out-of-towners were using the landfill without permission.

The charge will go into effect when the board hires someone to operate the facility.

Other action the board approved the application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a grant totaling more than $700,000 for about 20 blocks of curb, street and gutter work.

those over 45, and anyone chronically ill.

Monovalent vaccine will be given to persons in good health between the ages of 18 and 45. Recommendations regarding the necessity of a booster for those 18 to 25 will be released later.

Panel Questions Americans' Foreign Affairs Knowledge

Four men with a combined total of 85 years of foreign service experience addressed an audience Wednesday on the Wayne State College campus.

Val Peterson, a former U.S. ambassador to Denmark and Finland and Norman Nordstrand, who served with the U.S. Information Agency in those same countries, were joined by Francis Cunningham of Humboldt, who served for 31 years as a foreign service officer, and Morris Hughes of Omaha, who was a foreign service officer for 37 years.

Peterson and Nordstrand both now hold the title of Professor Emeritus at WSC.

The four men gave their views on foreign policy during the first of two sessions, and discussed the foreign service profession during the second session.

As an added attraction to the event, sponsored by the WSC Public Affairs Institute, the wives of both Cunningham and Hughes discussed the role of women in the foreign service.

Marianne Cunningham of Illinois and Swedish descent and Calista Hughes brought a special flavor to the afternoon panels.

What were the revelations from the foreign service troupe? Excerpts from conversations show that Nordstrand fears Americans' apparent lack of knowledge regarding foreign policy. He feels an urgency for students to enter the foreign service and be aware of other countries' thinking and policy.

"There is no question, the concept of foreign policy is very realistic and acute to our nation every single day."

Of Henry Kissinger, opinions differed. A typical conversation: Nordstrand: "I think Henry Kissinger will go down in history as one of the best secretaries of state this country has ever had." Scandinavian leaders praise him, he says. Europe understands him and Kissinger has a foreign policy philosophy.

Cunningham: He shares admiration of Kissinger to a point. "He has fine ideas, but pushes the role of the ambassador and staff."

Hughes: He agrees 100 percent with Cunningham. "Henry Kissinger is a statesman rather than a diplomatist. He disrupts things greatly from the professional viewpoint" maybe that's what's needed."

Peterson: "I was singing the man's praises years ago in Denmark." But Kissinger's effectiveness, Peterson feels, can not be measured for another 10 to 15 years. "Before you appoint a man, let's see that he's appointable."

Nordstrand: "You have to remember, Val, President Sadat calls him Henry."

Peterson: "And he calls Barbara (Walters), Barbara, too."

Other topics bounced from man to man throughout the afternoon, all dealing with foreign affairs.

Under the moderation of Allen O'Donnell and Clifford Ginn, director and administrator respectively of the Public Affairs Institute, the special program was designed as a public service.

Further programs are in planning stages of the institute. With a tentative Oct. 27 date, the next program may include several politically involved Nebraskans discussing the "Role of the Political Party in the American System."

Landfill Talks Will Continue

The Wayne city council Tuesday night will consider two ordinances, one concerning over-crowded vehicles and the other vehicles driving abreast.

The council is also expected to act upon two requests for sign permits, one for Lill Oulter and one for Willits. They will also hear a request for a rate increase for Wayne Cablevision.

Discussion of the need for a new landfill will also be continued. The council met in special session Thursday afternoon to consider the matter. Representatives from Oakland and Neligh were at the meeting to explain the operation of transfer stations there. Two sites are under consideration as possible sites for a transfer station if the council decides that would be part of the solution to the landfill problem. One site is at the city sewage lagoon, the other adjacent to the railroad tracks near Husker Concrete.

Powder Puff Opens Homecoming

The ladies will get an opportunity to try out their gridiron skills during the opening event of Wayne High School's homecoming activities.

Wayne high girls are scheduled to clash tonight (Monday) in a powder puff football game with kickoff time set at 7:30 p.m.

Students will observe special days throughout the week to celebrate homecoming. Today is hat day and a variety of chapeaux should be in evidence at the school.

Drive Results 'Encouraging'

"Encouraging" is the word John H. High used as Wayne United Way workers checked in their gifts and pledges Friday.

The giving total amounted to $4,160, compared with a $13,000 goal. But campaign chairman Nigh said momentum was building.

Mrs. Marilyn Carhart, UW secretary, estimated that the number of gifts represented maybe one-fourth of business firms and a small percentage of individuals.

Sidewalks Top Priority For Improvement Group

The Wayne downtown improvement committee Thursday agreed that some facts regarding their function and the improvement district ordinance recently passed by the city council need to be clarified.

A number of businessmen have expressed alarm at the number of items included in the ordinance, committee co-chair man Roger Nelson said.

The ordinance was written that way in order to make it proper and effective, but that doesn't mean that all or any of the types of improvements allowed under the ordinance will be undertaken. For example, co-chairman Bob Carhart said, the committee has no intention of recommending building a mall or planting trees in the district.

"Recommend" is the key word to understanding the function of the improvement committee, Nelson emphasized. It is merely an advisory body appointed to make recommendations.

Injuries Minor in Plane Crash

A Wayne man and two others escaped serious injury Thursday afternoon about 5:45 when the light plane in which they were flying crashed while attempting to land at the Wayne municipal airport.

Tim Boyle of Wayne, a Passenger, said his brother, Dan

Boyle of Creighton, was flying the Cherokee Arrow single-engine aircraft under the instruction of Arnold Clark of Sioux City.

Boyle said his brother was attempting a simulated forced landing when the accident occurred. As the plane was approaching the landing strip Clark ordered the student pilot to apply a little more power but the engine did not respond and the plane landed short of the runway.

The nose wheel of the landing gear folded and wheels under either wing also collapsed, damaging both wings.

The Wayne passenger said his brother suffered a broken nose and cuts. Clark and Tim Boyle were not injured.

The committee also recommends that if the sidewalk project is approved, an assessment schedule be arranged that would provide some relief for owners of corner property by passing a portion of the assessment back to adjacent property owners.

Committee members said there also appears to be a misunderstanding regarding their role in the remodeling of buildings. The downtown improvement ordinance does not give the city authority to order any type of remodeling of buildings, and the improvement committee has no official capacity in that regard.

Carhart said that a number of businessmen does need to improve the appearance of their buildings had asked the committee for some guidelines. The committee then invited artist Al Nelson to meet with anyone interested to explain his method for spruce up their buildings. It has no authority to direct anyone to do so. That is a decision that each business owner will make.

However, Carhart emphasized, while the improvement committee encourages businessmen to spruce up their buildings, it has no authority to direct anyone to do so. That is a decision that each business owner will make.

Zorinsky Plans Wayne Visit

Omaha Mayor Ed Zorinsky, who is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, will be in Wayne today (Monday) for a morning and afternoon stop.

Zorinsky will arrive about 11 a.m. and will stop at the Wayne State Student Union for a brief talk.

About 11:30 he will address members of the Young Democrats at the Student Center before Zorinsky visits the Wayne Kiwanis Club at noon. About 1:15 he will tour the downtown shopping district, and will participate in the dedication of the county democratic headquarters in the building which formerly housed the Jack and Jill store, on Main St.

Game, Dance Wrap Up Wildcat Days Activities

Lana Peterson of Alliance and Larry Habrock of Emerson were crowned king and queen of the Wayne State College Wildcat Days homecoming celebration during ceremonies Wednesday night.

Miss Peterson is a physical education major with a recreation minor, active in volleyball, intramural sports, Alpha Lambda Delta, Women's Athletic Association and is president of Kappa Delta Gamma.

Habrock is an elementary education major, president of the Wayne State Education Association, president of the Student Activities Board and is a resident assistant in Morey Hall.

In between concert and jazz band performances, the band provided an interlude of lively polkas and waltzes.

A free polka Fest in the Wayne City Auditorium was open to the public Thursday night. The Duane Schultz group was featured at this Thursday activity.

The other Wildcat Days events were: Friday, Greek Olympics in the Willow Bowl, freshman skills in Rice Auditorium, and bonfire and pep rally in the Rice Parking Lot.

Saturday, parade down Main St., 10 a.m.; pre-game ceremonies, stadium, 1:30 p.m.; football game, Wayne vs. Chadron State, 2 p.m.; spirited post-game gathering at Wayne County Club, 4:30 p.m.; and dance featuring Noah in Rice Auditorium, 9 p.m.

Wildcat Royalty

WAYNE STATE College homecoming queen and king crowned during Wildcat Days were Lana Peters and Larry Habrock. The week-long festivities concluded Saturday.

'Physical Therapy Involves More Than Exercise'

By JIM STRAYER
Fifth in Series

Many people think of physical therapy in terms of exercise but involves much more than, said Gwen Dickey.

Mrs. Dickey, physical therapist for Education Service Unit-1, explained that physical therapy deals with all physical ailments in daily living.

Because physical problems can interfere with learning, physical therapy is included in the catalog of services provided by ESU-1. Schools are required by LB-685 to make such services available when required, and about 10 schools in the six-county ESU-1 area have contracted for physical therapy services this year.

Remedial physical therapy programs work better, she said, when they are inflated and Mrs. Dickey also works with pre-school children. Project Predict and Prevent was developed by the Wayne school district last year to identify pre-schoolers with learning disabilities. It is now offered throughout the six-county area under ESU-1 direction. That portion of Title VI B of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Mrs. Dickey joined the ESU-1 staff in February, working during the last school year mainly in Wayne. She also made visits to other schools in the service unit area, explaining what services are available, and response has been good.

Physical therapy in conjunction with education is a relatively new concept, she said, and beyond there is room for expansion, including a need for more trained therapists.

As with other ESU-1 departments, physical therapy services are generally provided following referral by the school or parents of the student involved.

Problems encountered are usually categorized as neuromuscular, such as cerebral palsy or muscular dystrophy; orthopedic, involving the muscular-skeletal system; or may involve cerebral vascular accidents (strokes), or motor perception or motor coordination dysfunction.

After referral is made Mrs. Dickey contacts the parents; then observes the student at school, preferably in some type of physical activity if they are able to participate.

If Mrs. Dickey thinks therapy could be beneficial, the parents are again consulted. They are responsible for taking the child to a physician, and must also give their permission before a program can be started.

They physician generally doesn't prescribe the actual therapy, but appraises Mrs. Dickey of any medical findings which will affect what she does. She then decides that should be done to help the student.

Parents usually must become involved if a program is to be effective, Mrs. Dickey said. She generally spends an hour each week with each student. That isn't long enough to make a program effective so prescribed activities must be carried on in the home, she said.

Physical handicaps interfere with learning mainly because they restrict mobility in some way. Severity can range from coordination problems to disability which require the use of braces, or which confine the victim to a wheelchair.

Regardless of severity, the goal is the same: to help the student achieve as much mobility as possible, and also to teach the student to accept the problem, compensate for it as much as possible, "and to get along and live," Mrs. Dickey said.

Therapy can include exercise to help correct problems, but it also includes the whole range of other physical activities. It may include learning a different way to eat meals or a different way to sit in a chair.

Emotional support from parents, teachers and friends is also important. Children with congenital handicaps are generally able to accept their disability more easily than persons who have some sort of disability as the result of a tragic experience.

That pretty much holds true for older people also, Mrs. Dickey said.

No Injuries

In Accident

Near Carroll

No injuries were reported in a collision Wednesday near three miles south and five miles west of Carroll.

State trooper Bill Watson said Daniel Blumck of Plainville was westbound on Highway 98 when William Shuffelt of rural Carroll, northbound on a county road, pulled onto the highway. His vehicle was struck by Blumck's. Both vehicles suffered minor damage, Watson said, but neither driver was injured.

Certification requirements no block to continued state ambulance service

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — It seems no town will be out of ambulance service for lack of certified attendants despite earlier indications to the contrary.

The Nebraska Board of Ambulance Attendants is now in the process of putting the final touches on the regulations that will implement a law passed last year requiring that attendants be certified by the State Health Department.

The first set of proposed regulations said attendants had to complete either an 81-hour emergency medical technician-ambulance course or advanced Red Cross training with basic life support components.

But the board learned fast from the response across the state there was a problem.

The kind of training that wasn't available in all areas and wouldn't be before Jan. 1, 1977, when certification requirements would go into effect. So, the board has come up with a new idea on the subject.

In essence, the new plan would allow a three-year grace period for those without any formal emergency training.

And then, even after the first three-year certification period, there would be provisions to certify by test rather than by how many hours of training were taken.

The law allows for waivers of a hardship nature and the board decided to use that provision. On Jan. 1, 1977, all those who have met formal training requirements will get a certificate. Those who have not had formal training but have had five years of emergency crew experience and can get a physician who knows that person's abilities to vouch for them can also get a certificate.

Michael Dodge of Lincoln said he could not quite accept the proposal until some of the skills that will be required in the testing three years from now have been developed. He also questioned the need to make every attendant go through a skill test every three years.

Dodge suggested instead that requirements for brush-up courses be established.

In trying to figure out how to come up with the skill standards, the board kicked several ideas around.

Ed O'Shaughnessy of South Sioux City suggested standards should be set by the local physicians.

But Dr. Charles G. Gross of Cambridge

said physicians, not all of them, are generally too busy to take on that responsibility. He also said that "many" physicians are against emergency medical training anyway.

Under the law, which has been a hot subject for some time, no ambulance can be operated beginning next year unless it is manned by one or more attendants who are certified.

The initial flap over the law stemmed from the threat the federal government made for failure to pass it.

The federal government said the state had to pass the law or lose 10 per cent of its federal highway money.

State Official Gambling?

A motion has been filed in U.S. District Court in Omaha by State Sen. Ernest Chambers in order to find out which state officials may have been involved in an Omaha gambling case.

The motion seeks disclosure of evidence introduced during grand jury proceedings that led to indictments in the John Salatin case.

The indictment that came down did list names and then said state officials were involved. No names were given at that point.

The grand jury was in session in March of 1975.

Chambers and other members of the Unicameral's Judiciary Committee want to find out who those state officials are, if there actually are any. And, the Unicameral itself passed a resolution directing the committee to find out.

Chambers, in his motion, said even though all cases filed as a result of the indictment have been taken care of, the legislature still has the responsibility to impeach any state official involved.

"The ends of justice and the public interest served by disclosure outweigh the usual policy of secrecy," Chambers said, referring to the traditional cloak of secrecy that surrounds grand jury proceedings.

Chambers said it is the duty of the legislature to protect the public trust placed in government.

"The public trust and confidence reposed in those who govern by understanding citizens imposes an awesome responsibility and should elicit the highest standard of ethical conduct and excellence from all public officials. Wrongs must be righted and the public trust vindicated," he told the court.

The motion also said that simply knowing the names of those involved is not enough.

Additional reasons included the need to determine whether existing state criminal laws need revising, whether those laws should be better enforced, whether there should be more of an effort to make sure the public officials can be made better aware of the fact they will be held responsible for their actions and whether the legislature should find a better method of ensuring only qualified people get jobs.

Bar-Press Negotiations

The Nebraska Bar Association has been asked to meet with news media representatives to discuss American Bar Association courtroom guidelines approved recently.

The request stems in part from the Erwin Charles Simants murder case in which the Simants family prohibited from reporting what went on at the Sutherland man's preliminary hearing even though members of the public were allowed in the Lincoln County District Courtroom.

Nebraska does have some voluntary guidelines and G. Woodson Howe, Omaha World-Herald vice president, noted they were put together nine years ago. They were adopted in 1970.

Those guidelines were hammered out by a nine-member group composed of three newspaper representatives, three broadcast and three attorneys.

Howe said of interest in the new ABA guidelines are provisions judges must follow if they want to restrict public and media access during trial procedures, such as jury selection.

Under the new ABA guidelines, Howe said a judge must give notice to the public and the press he intends to restrict access, accept written comments from the public and media regarding such restrictions and hold a public hearing on the issue.

In addition, the judge must make written findings justifying his order and an avenue for a prompt appeal as to be provided.

As far as the Simants case is concerned, Howe said it has been dismissed at the request of Media of Nebraska.

"This really isn't the best case any longer in which to base our fight," he said. "We will continue to fight, but not in the Simants case."

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

There was an error in the story in Thursday's paper about the Wayne-Carroll school board meeting. In the portion of the story regarding a request for an art instructor or art consultant for elementary and Middle School grades, a paragraph said "Student in those grades received no art instruction from regular classroom teachers."

The word "no" did not belong in the sentence. Classroom teachers do provide daily art instruction, a fact which Mrs. Diana Runestad made very clear in presenting the request. She was complimentary of classroom teachers' efforts in art instruction when making the request, in behalf of a number of parents, and was asking for a consultant with an art degree to provide art instruction or to assist classroom teachers in their efforts to teach art.

Old Friends

This seems to be a time for meeting old friends for me. Another of my old Fairbury cronies stopped in the office last week to talk over old times.

Steve and I sort of banded together way back in high school, but our common interest in science fiction literature, considered a weird avocation by most of our peers.

Steve had another hobby, considered to be even stranger. He was an enthusiastic collector of comic books, a hobby which he continued through high school and into college.

Naturally, being into comic books wasn't considered cool, and Steve's enthusiasm provided plenty of amusement for our classmates.

He's pretty amused now, too. You see, those he collected in high school, but stored in plastic bags in the basement of his parents' home, are now worth a good-sized chunk of change as collectors items. Well, he who laughs last...

Madrigal Singers

The Wayne State College Elizabethan Christmas Dinners have been such a great success in the past that they are going out of town this year.

There will be four performances scheduled in Wayne Dec. 9-12 in the Student Center. In addition, the WSC Madrigal Singers will appear at Westminster Presbyterian Church Nov. 30 in Lincoln as part of its Fine Arts Series and Advent presentations, and Dec. 15 at Mount Mary College, Yankton, S.D., at the Faculty-Student Annual Christmas Dinner.

Tickets for The Dinners become available at the Val Petersen Fine Arts Center after Nov. 10.

National Newspaper Week

As other material on this page points out, National Newspaper Week began Sunday (Oct. 10) and extends through Saturday. To add a comment to those made by National Newspaper Association president William Branen, I think recent events in Thailand point out the importance of newspapers in preserving freedom.

One of the first moves made by Thai defense minister Sangad Chalawyu after taking power was to order that all newspapers stop publication.

He assured his countrymen that the military leaders do not want power and would "lead the country toward a form of democracy."

I claim no expertise in Asian politics, but I think his ban on newspaper publication denies that claim. A free press is vital to open government and democracy.

Thomas Jefferson perhaps said it best in his oft-quoted declaration: "Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspaper or newspapers without government..."

should not hesitate a moment to choose the latter."

NCIP Results

I'll be waiting tonight (Monday) to hear it Wayne is one of the six finalists in its category in the Nebraska Community Improvement Program. The 84-page scrapbook was submitted before the Sept. 24 deadline and judges are supposed to announce the finalists tonight. If Wayne is a finalist, contest judges will be in town either Tuesday or Wednesday for a tour. Awards will be announced at the Nov. 5 banquet.

Good Record

I received a copy of a letter for Vincent Brown, clerk of the Nebraska legislature, which I thought might be of interest. According to Brown, state Sen. John R. "Bob" Murphy was in attendance on all of the days when the legislature was in session, except as follows. In 1973 he was absent March 26, 27 and 28, and April 4 and 5. On Feb. 27 he was excused until his late arrival.

There were no absences in 1974, and one in 1975, Feb. 24. Murphy was also absent on one day in 1976, April 9.

"Your attendance appears to be close to 98 per cent in attendance which is perhaps one of the highest averages of any Senator attending the Nebraska Legislature," Brown says in the letter.

'Give us the right to practice your right - - NNA president'

By WILLIAM E. BRANEN

President National Newspaper Association

Do you have a right to know? Do you want to have the right to know? Do you feel reporters and editors should be gagged?

Do you think the news media has prejudiced individuals suspected and being tried for a crime?

These are questions all of you must answer in the days ahead. You must decide if freedom is exploited, or if you are being cheated.

You are interested in the Sheppard case. Not long ago it was depicted on TV in a dramatic presentation. This is the story, as you know, of the celebrated Cleveland, Ohio doctor who was accused of killing his wife and newspaper reports were said to have convicted him. It should be noted on the other hand that a newspaper woman was responsible for his eventual retrial and acquittal.

Newspaper reporters have been tossed in jail on contempt charges in the last several years; have served jail sentences because they refused to reveal sources. You read of the case in Boston, Massachusetts where a Superior Court judge told the reporters he did not want the case of a woman who allegedly killed a police officer five years ago reviewed in the newspaper again — only the actual facts of the trial would be allowed. He said this was not a gag rule but newspapers were to be treated as libelous and what not to write.

I have heard it said many times in small communities that everyone knows what's happening and a newspaper only verifies it. It goes further than that.

How many times have you been at a baseball game and watched someone local get real hot on the floor — sinking baskets and free throws right and left — and how many of you have kept an accurate, foolproof account of that total? After the game, you might go to the score table and irritate them. But, you do check the newspaper for the box score. I revise that memory and have the correct facts.

The right to know is as fundamental as apple pie or baseball and you know all of us have dreams to be followed: a purpose, perhaps to build a better community for others — a better world for others. This is true, regardless of whether we are professionals, in business, in industry or in anything else.

How many times have people in your community told you that it is we who create the climate of the nation — that if it were not for us (speaking newspaper writers) the climate would be less and that we should print some good news for a change?

The answer to that, in my judgment, is that you, as a community and individual businessman and as a citizen of the community should give us good news. It is not for us to print the good or the bad news but all news. If there has been an area of wrongdoing, whether it be on Main Street or at the White House, the journalist should have to tell you about it.

Whether you are a banker, an industrialist, a merchant, publisher or editor, we all have one thing in common — we are Americans. And as Americans, we subscribe to the document known as the Constitution, the greatest instrument of democracy ever written.

While the Magna Carta, the previous model of freedom, is no longer in direct use as an instrument of British government, our Constitution is still a viable document in daily use and continually updated to meet changing needs through the amendments.

Think of us as newspaper people who have heard again and again from the superintendent of schools, aldermen, mayor or the police chief who answered the newspaper's inquiry by saying, "This is really classified information."

How many times have we in the newspaper business been under the paternalistic attitude of "This is not good to publish?"

Who is the judge? How many times have editors/reports been asked, "We would appreciate it if you would refrain from using this item" — whether it's a Main Street item, in the State Capitol or to some of our top reporters in the nation's Capitol?

This is a sign of the times and these are the days when we really need the help of the business community to make America work. If men who carry the free enterprise banner refuse to stand up and be heard, who will?

Give us the right to practice your right!

Methodist Church Observing Double Anniversary

The 95th anniversary of the organization of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne, and the 75th anniversary of the church building, will be observed Sunday, Oct. 17, with a worship service, potluck dinner and program.

The Rev. Kenneth Edmonds, pastor of the Methodist Church, said all former members and friends of the church are invited to take part.

Speaking at the 9:30 a.m. service will be the Rev. Robert Townsend of Hastings. Townsend's father, the Rev. Lewis F. Townsend, was minister at the Wayne church from 1925 to 1927.

The first parsonage was held in the fellowship hall at 12:30 p.m., followed by a program at 2. Pictures and other mementos of the church will be on display and special recognition will be given to members of 50 years or more.

Methodist worship services were first held at the courthouse in LaPorte in 1881, and were conducted by the Rev. I.H. Skinner of Wisner.

When the townsite was moved to Wayne, Methodists opened service in the fall of 1881 with the Rev. W.H. Carter coming from Wisner.

In September of 1882, the Rev. Dugald C. Winslow was appointed to the Wayne-Wakefield charge. Services were held at Wayne Sunday afternoons, first in the Lutheran Church and later in the Baptist Church.

Services were shifted to the courthouse in 1884 under the ministry of the Rev. H.G. Piffenger, who was the first resident pastor of the Wayne church. When the courthouse burned down in July of that year, members of the church purchased a lot at the edge of town, where the present church stands. Fund raising began for the first building.

The new church was a frame structure built by volunteer labor.

The first parsonage was built in 1884 while the Rev. William Gorst was minister. The site was the home of 614 Pearl St. Because it was too far from the church and town, the parsonage was sold in 1890 and a house south of the church was purchased.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

the present organ, which was installed in 1939.

Changes were made in the parsonage in 1905. The home which had been purchased was moved and the present parsonage was erected at a cost of $3,367.

The church underwent some major changes in 1930 when the three branches of Methodism united. Further changes were made in 1968 when the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church united.

In 1951, the church began a three-year remodeling program, which included the building of the church parlor, fellowship hall, kitchen and stage, rewiring of the building, repainting and converting the basement into classrooms, and remodeling of the front of the church. Total cost of the program was $85,000.

Pastors who have served the United Methodist Church are the Rev. Dugald C. Winslow, 1882-84; H.G. Piffenger, 1884-86; William Gorst, 1886-91; H. Gregor Millard, 1892-97; Thomas Bithell, 1897-1902; C.N. Dawson, 1902-04; Thomas J. Wright, 1904-06; E.C. Horn, 1906-07; Charles F. Sharp, 1907-09; J.L. Kirkpatrick, 1909-10; Wm. Gorst, 1910-13; P.R. Glotfelty, 1913; J.C.L. Myers, 1913-14; A.S. Buell, 1914-17; David W. McGregor, 1917-19; William Kiburn, 1919-22; John Grant Shick, 1922-25; L.F. Townsend, 1925-27; W.W. Whitman, 1927-31; Harold C. Caspey, 1931-34; Fay Charling Mills, 1934-36; Carl Bader, 1936-40; Victor West, 1940-48; E.E. Goley, 1948-50; Albert B. Gray, 1950-57; W.F. Simmes, 1957-64; Cecil Bliss, 1964-70; Frank Kirtley, 1970-74.

Rev. Edmonds has served the church since 1974.

Wausa Plans Swedish Feast

Residents of the Wausa community are planning to hold their annual Swedish smorgasbord on Tuesday, Oct. 26, at the community auditorium.

The smorgasbord, prepared from recipes handed down through generations, will feature authentic Swedish dishes, including such favorites as ostkaka, meatballs, homemade breads and cheeses. Genuine old-time Swedish congeniality and atmosphere will be enhanced by the colorful costumes of the waitresses.

Mrs. Dwan Kumm, publicity chairman, said serving will be done through advanced ticket sales only. Serving times are Group 1 — 5 to 5:45 p.m.; Group 2 — 6 to 6:45 p.m.; and Group 3 — 7 to 7:45 p.m. Tickets, at $3.75 each, may be ordered from G. E. Gunderson, Wausa, Nebr., telephone 586 2266. Individuals should specify the hour or group they would prefer.

The annual affair is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Anderson.

Quester Meet In Liska Home

Confusable Collectables Questers Club met in the home of Mrs. Ken Liska last Monday evening with 15 members and one guest, Mrs. Tim Boyle, attending.

The program for the year was discussed. Officers are Mrs. Charles Maier, president; Mrs. Walter Moller, vice president, and Joy Hein, secretary-treasurer.

Monday evening's program, "Czech History," was given by Mrs. Alex Liska. Mrs. Liska showed pictures of their trip to Czechoslovakia and displayed articles which her great grandmother brought to the United States from Czechoslovakia.

Next Questers meeting will be announced.

Homemakers Told Economic Pressure Affecting Families

Modern economic pressures are drastically affecting the nature of families in the 70's, according to a keynote address delivered last Wednesday at the annual Homemakers Day at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Mercedes Bates, vice president of the Consumer Center and Betty Crocker Kitchens of General Mills, Inc., delivered the address to an estimated audience of 150 homemakers and home economists.

In her address, Ms. Bates emphasized the "cautious and fearful" attitude which has sprung up in families facing modern inflation, economic uncertainty and unemployment. "Money has become a major source of tension in the family," she said.

Families are also experiencing an "eroding sense of self sufficiency," Ms. Bates noted. "People who have generally prided themselves on taking control of their own destinies are now beginning to doubt whether they can." This is especially true with poor and young families, she said.

According to a recent survey conducted by General Mills, 65 per cent of American families indicated that inflation is having a serious impact on their family life. In addition, 56 per cent felt insecure about the own long range economic future, she reported. One out of two fears the U.S. is heading for depression.

"The 50's and 60's left us ill prepared for this period," Ms. Bates told the audience of home makers. "What used to be luxuries to the average family are today necessities."

At the same time, the study found that most American families feel secure about themselves, reported Ms. Bates. "Ninety two per cent still rate the family as their most important personal value," she said.

Some important intangible benefits also are coming out of the current economic hardships, she said. "No one family member is asked to do without any more than another," she said, "and parents don't feel they have to sacrifice as much for their children, which is more healthy."

There's also a sense of relief from turning away from waste, according to Ms. Bates. Families have become more careful shoppers, they're spending more free time at home and they're preparing things which they would have normally thrown out, she said.

"Parents are no longer trying to hide monetary concerns from children. It used to be that the family could feel freer about discussing sex than money," she said, "which ill-prepares a child to take on financial responsibility."

In the future, Ms. Bates sees a growing "return to the basics," including cooking and gardening. In addition, she said, some of the habits adopted by families in an effort to economize will continue, helping conserve resources in times when conditions are better.

Wakefield Honor Society Plans Tapping Ceremony

The public is invited to attend the 34th annual National Honor Society tapping ceremony to be held this Thursday at 2:30 p.m. in the Wakefield High School auditorium.

Ten new members from the junior and senior class will be chosen for initiation. Students are selected for membership in the NHS on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Following the prelude, by Susan Miller, the welcome will be given by Lynn Holm, president pro tem. Tamara Carlson will give the history of NHS and Mrs. Mary Ellen Sundell will talk about the meaning of NHS.

Others participating in the program will be Renee Wilson, who will explain the importance of Character Lynn Holm, explaining the goals of scholarship, Jackie Kraemer, who will clarify the significance of leadership, and Pam Nicholson, who will instruct in the meaning of service.

The high school octet will sing "Man and His World" preceding the tapping ceremony. Following the induction of new members, the ceremony will conclude with a violin solo by Tim Prochaska and "The Master's Touch," read by Brenda Oberg.

A banquet honoring the initiates will be held in the evening at the Town Cafe in Wakefield. Honorary members of the Wakefield chapter of NHS will be guests. Suelien Sundell, a former Wakefield graduate and NHS member now attending Nebraska Wesleyan University, will speak.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and installed at the evening meeting and entertainment will be provided by 1975-76 NHS members.

Parents Invited To Have Lunch With Youngsters

Today (Monday) marks the beginning of the school year. School Lunch Week Schools across the country are planning special events to bring to the public's attention the hot, nutritious meals served daily to school-age children.

David Luff, principal of the Elementary Schools in Wayne and Carroll said the school is inviting parents to participate in the lunch program by enjoying a meal at the school with their child any day this week.

Luff said parents who would like to join their youngster for lunch should phone the school one day in advance, before 11 a.m. Cost of the meal is 70 cents for adults. The menu for the week is published elsewhere in today's Wayne Herald.

Telephone number at West Elementary School in Wayne is 375 3854. Parents of youngsters attending Elementary School at Carroll should phone 585 4454.

Band Will March In Two Contests

Wayne Carroll Music Boosters held their first meeting of the year last Monday evening at the high school auditorium. The meeting was conducted by president Mrs. Robert Carhart.

It was announced that the marching band will participate in marching contest at Wisner on Oct. 23 and in the Pershing Marching Contest at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln on Oct. 30.

Music instructors, who were introduced at the meeting, are Roy Dalton, high school band leader, Larry Stratman, high school and middle school chorus, and Keith Kopperud, middle school band.

Kopperud presented the sixth grade band in several numbers and Stratman directed the stage choir. The induction with several band members performed marching drills for the parents.

Co-chairmen of the refreshment committee were Mrs. Lloyd Straight and Mrs. Neil Dinges.

Boosters will meet four times a year. The group's next is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 6 at the high school auditorium. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Herman Wacker, chairman.

Area Coordinator Attends Workshop

Gertrude Vahlkamp, area coordinator from Wayne, was one of several Nebraska representatives who attended a conference workshop for the North Central Special Olympics Region last week in Des Moines, Ia.

Other states represented at the meeting were Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin. The meeting was sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

It was announced that the Nebraska state special olympic games will be held in Wayne next May. No date was set for the area special olympics. Fargo, N.D. will host the North Central special olympic games on Aug. 4 and 5.

Four Visitors At Pla-Mor

Guests at Pla-Mor Bridge Wednesday evening were Mrs. John Dall, Mrs. Ed Weber, Mrs. Linda Trubb and Mrs. Gordon Wagdan.

The meeting was held with Mrs. Chris Tietgen. Prizes were won by Mrs. Harold Stipp and Mrs. Dall.

Mrs. Bob Vakoc will entertain the group at 8 p.m. Oct. 20.

Fete Held for Recent Bride

Recent bride Mrs. Larry Creighton, nee Kimberly Schrieber, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bride's shower Sunday, Oct. 3, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, near Wakefield.

Creightons were married Sept. 24 at Immanuel Lutheran. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schrieber of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Creighton of Wayne.

Fifty guests attended Sunday's fete. Decorations were in orange, brown and yellow. Mrs. Doug Mau assisted the honoree with gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Arnold Roeber, Mrs. Melvin Samuelson, Mrs. Don Sherbahn, Mrs. Betty Lessmann, Mrs. Marvin Nelson and Mrs. Leon Husmann.

Wildlife Booklet
Now Available to Hunters, Anglers

A detailed rundown of how hunters' and fishermen's permit fees will be used to finance Nebraska's new Wildlife Habitat Plan is available in a full-color publication entitled "Wildlife Habitat - A Plan for Nebraska."

The 16-page Game and Parks Commission publication also appears in the center section of the October issue of NEBRASKA and Magazine.

The Habitat Plan revolves around significant increases in Nebraska hunting, fishing and trapping permit fees, which go into effect on Jan. 1. After that date, a $7.50 Habitat Stamp will also be required of hunters and trappers.

The permit increases and the Habitat Stamp are expected to generate over $2 million annually, which will be used to establish, protect or improve wildlife habitat in the state.

The brochure explains how some of the money will go into landings for habitat improvement through the Natural Resources Districts. It outlines plans to purchase or lease wetlands, wooded areas and other habitat, and it explains proposals to improve habitat on lands already in public ownership. Any purchases would be on a strictly a willing-seller basis.

Wildlife numbers have been dropping rapidly in Nebraska in recent years, largely due to declines in habitat brought on by increased urban development and changes in agriculture. It was apparent at the Wildlife Habitat Conference 1975 that an aggressive program was needed if the trend toward habitat destruction was to be reversed. The Unicameral later concurred when it passed LB 861, "The Habitat Bill," which created the Habitat Stamp, fee increases, and required the Commission to submit its long term habitat program for Appropriations Committee approval.

The pamphlet explaining the habitat plan is available at the Game and Parks Commission office in Norfolk. It can also be obtained by writing the Game and Parks Commission, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln, Nebr., 68503.

Ley's 3rd Leads Devils in Loop
X-Country Meet

Jon Ley's third-place finish Wednesday at the West Husker Conference cross country meet led Wayne to a second-place finish among four teams.

Running over the two and a half mile course at Stanton, Ley completed the jaunt in 14:38. Jeff Backstrom was eighth with a time of 15:20, improving 30 seconds from his previous run. Si Prather garnered 13th with a time of 15:39 and Kurt Powers was 16th with a time of 16:26. Byron Wacker's time of 16:47 landed his 17th position.

Wayne's top three athletes who meet the West Husker Conference will be eligible for the state meet on Friday, Oct. 22, at Kearney. At Albion, medals will be awarded to the top 10 runners and the top two teams.

BLASTING THROUGH a gaping hole in Bancroft's defensive front line, Wakefield's Brooks Myers (22) finds daylight for a sizeable gain early in the first half. The Trojans failed to muster a scoring drive in this series, but later produced a 62-yard scoring march and scored on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Todd Swigart before Swigart connected with Myers for the two-point conversion.

Bancroft's Duo of Plambeck, Wagner Spoil WH Homecoming

By BOB BARTLETT

Defensive, halfback Steve Plambeck weighs in at only 160 pounds, but the fleetling junior proved Friday night that he's big enough to shatter Wakefield's homecoming hopes.

The 5'11 scrapper, who kicked a 25-yard field goal and booted an extra point, one-handedly grabbed a Todd Swigart pass in Bancroft's endzone with seconds left in the game to halt the Trojans' last ditch effort to pull out a tie in the Bulldog's win.

The interception stopped the Trojans on a third down and four yards to pay dirt after Swigart had connected for two passes to Jeff Simpson who put the Trojans at Bancroft's three yard line.

Wakefield's last drive was set up by a Bancroft fumble at the Bulldog 27 yard line where line men Craig Nelson pounced on the pigskin with 1:49 left to play.

That turnover, one of nearly a dozen in the contest, looked to be the break the Trojans needed in the scoreless second half which saw both teams being plagued by interceptions and fumbles.

"It's a game of mistakes, and we made more than Bancroft," said Wakefield member John Torzon after his club gave up the ball six times — three on interceptions and three on fumbles.

Bancroft's Jerry Bring recovered a Brooks Meyers' fumble on the Trojans' 26 yard line to set up the Bulldogs' first score.

After a 15 yard penalty against Bancroft, quarterback Terry Bergmann moved his team down to the 25 yard line where the game's leading rusher, Jim Wagner, took a pitchout from Bergmann, raced around right end and cross grain through Wakefield traffic in the middle where he burst into the endzone. With 6:12 left in the opening frame, Plambeck, put the ball through the uprights for a 10-0 lead.

Fumbles again struck coach Ferguson's Trojans when Myers coughed up the ball on Wakefield's 41 yard line and Bancroft's Norman Slama recovered.

A motion penalty put the Bulldogs back another five yards, but Bergmann got his offense running again to move the ball down to the 11 yard line. On 4:24 in the game, a 50 yard Wakefield punt ended the contest.

Guessers' Pick

SENIOR defensive end Gary Kraiczek Thursday, 200, named the Week to his performance against Midland Saturday, Oct. 2. The 6.3, 195 pounder led the Wayne State crew with 15 take-downs and six quarterback sacks as the Wildcats held Midland to only seven yards rushing. He also had two interceptions, one by Mrs. Richard Kraiczek of Gretna. Gary was an All conference player in high school.

Clock Runs Out For Winside '11'

Winside ran out of time and luck Friday night and fell to Lewis and Clark Conference foe Ponca 12-0.

With 2:30 left in the ball game, Ponca drove for the go ahead touchdown. But Winside, which had lost four of eight fumbles during the contest, didn't give up as the Wildcats drove to the Ponca seven-yard line (just to watch the clock run out) as the Wildcats came up one time-out short.

Winside's desperate race with the clock was highlighted by two Cliff Tillemas to Wayne Smith strikes which covered 24 and 22 yards respectively.

An early Winside fumble on its own four-yard line set up Ponca's first score. Ponca scored in the second quarter on a TD pass from Jim Calvert to Kevin Grossvenor. The invaders knotted the score in the third quarter when Mitch Pfeiffer highlighted a 55-yard drive with a three-yard punt for six points. Ponca's winning score came late in the game as Calvert hit Brian Voss on a 14-yard scoring strike.

Winside coach Ron Peck called the game a hard-fighting contest which anybody could have won. But, the Wildcat coach pointed out, the loss of four fumbles was "the old ball game."

Pfeiffer turned in a good night for the losers as he ran for 133 yards on 27 carries. Neil Wagner led Cal defenders with 15 tackles while Brad Langenberg had 12 stops and Bill Thomas 10.

Friday the 3-3 Cats will host Neligh.

Fumbles Cripple Devils In 31-0 Loss

Host Madison capitalized on three of five Wayne fumbles Friday night for easy six-pointers and a 31-0 West Husker Conference victory.

"The win pushed the Dragons' record to 4-1 in the conference — a half game behind league leader Emerson Hobbard which is undefeated in four loop matches. Meanwhile, Wayne slumped to a 1-4 record, 0-2 in the conference, for its worst mark in 11 years.

After an exchange of fumbles sandwiched between a Wayne interception, Madison got the ball on the Blue Devils' five-yard line where quarterback Jerry Schmidt took the ball in for the first TD of the night. The two-point conversion was good and Madison led 8-0 after the first period.

Wayne's defense held the Dragons on the Devils' 18 yard line in the second period, but the hosts still got on the board via a field goal for an 11-0 halftime command.

In the second half the Devils coupled up the ball once each in the third and fourth periods before Madison reserves scored the final six-pointer in the last period to wrap the victory.

"We had some outstanding plays one or twice, then we just didn't do anything," said coach Ron Carnes. Carnes blamed the Devils spurring plays on several varsity players who "are slacking off."

"The key to rebuilding the club perhaps will be bringing up some underclassmen and give them a hand. Carnes reflected.

Some of the seniors are trying hard, the coach went on, but others are giving up a little early. "We'll probably have to make some changes, but we'll also have to get more confidence," Carnes said.

In addition to losing the game, the Devils temporarily have lost the services of senior running-back Mark Brandt, who suffered an elbow injury, and junior quarterback Vic Sharpe, who hurt his left knee. Both are questionable for Friday's homecoming game against Columbus Lakeview, the coach noted. Brandt, who exited the game in the first quarter, gained 36 yards. Sharpe went the distance until late in the fourth period when his injury resulted in a turnover.

Loading rusher for Wayne was senior workhorse Mike Wieseler who had 59 yards. He also picked up 93 in the air for a total of 150 of Wayne's 226 yards for the night.

Freshman Guern Boots Winning Goal for Bears

Freshman kicker Paul Guern booted a 26-yard field goal with nine minutes remaining to give Laurel a sweet 3-0 upset win over highly-rated O'Neill Friday night.

The winning points were set up when Mike Martin pounced on his second fumble recovery of the evening, putting the ball on the Eagles' 14-yard line before Laurel moved the ball to the nine.

The field goal attempt was the Bears' second of the night after Laurei's Cleve Stolpe tried from the 18-yard line but missed late in the third period.

Winside Snaps Losing Streak

Winside snapped a three-game losing streak Thursday night with a "two of" victory over visiting Hartington High.

The Wildcats of coach Kathy O'Connor dumped Hartington 16-14 and 15-13 to up their record to 3-7.

Leading the victors were Barb Peter with 18 serve points and Paula Hoemann, who did an excellent job of spiking, the coach noted.

In junior varsity action, Winside fell 15-9 and 15-5 for a 3-4 record. Also carrying a 3-4 mark is the freshman team which was victorious, 16-14 and 15-3.

Laurel Varsity Bows to Pierce

Laurel's varsity "dropped below the .500 mark Thursday night when host Pierce knocked off the Bears in three sets for Laurel's sixth loss against five wins.

Laurel fell behind 4-15 in the first set and played ball in the second to win 16-14. Pierce made the winning edge final with a 15-6 decision.

In junior varsity and freshman action Laurel came out on top in three sets each. The JV's evened their record at 4-4 after scores of 16-14, 12-15 and 15-11. Cindy Schaar, Roxi Kraemer and Jan Cooper were singled out by coach Dwight Iversen for their play.

In freshman play Valerie Tuttle led her team to its second win in the five outings, 15-7, 4-15 and 15-11.

Aids Wisner over Wayne Letdown in Final Sets

It's not a case of overconfidence, reflected Wayne coach Mavis Dalton on her team's loss Thursday night to visiting Wisner-Pilger. The team's able to get up for the first set, but just has a let down the last two sets, she observed.

That's been the story the last three ball games, the coach went on after the Blue Devil volleyball team lost its fourth match in 10 outings.

Newcastle Wins Field Position Battle Over AH

In a battle for field position, Newcastle won out 6-0 over invading Allen Friday night.

The win moved Newcastle to 3-3 on the year overall and more importantly it pushed the Red Raiders out of the cellar of the Lewis and Clark Conference east division with a 1-3 mark.

For the Eagles of Allen, the loss meant a 1-5 mark on the year and a tie in the conference with the Raiders at 1-3.

Friday will be homecoming for the Eagles as Cateridge invades.

The only score of the night in the Newcastle Allen fight came in the second quarter as the "reds" held the "Eagles" deep in their own territory and forced a punt. The Allen punt went only six yards and moments later Newcastle drove in for the only score of the game on a one yard plunge.

The Eagles didn't see midfield during the first half and never drove beyond the Raider 30 during the contest.

Brent Chase led the losers on defense with 13 tackles and he ran for 46 yards. Lynn Smith helped out on defense for Allen with 11 stops.

Youngsters Invited To Spook Party

Club members of the Wayne State College Wednesday evening. Thirty-four members and 10 guests were present. Mrs. Dale Miller, club president, gave the welcome.

Presentation of colors was given by members of Girl Scout Troop 108. Taking part in the ceremony were Ronda Peck, Missy Jensen, Michele Gable and Trisha Topp.

Mrs. Paul Reimers introduced foreign students attending Wayne State College, including Cyril Lurley of Liberia, Africa and Shem Viedel and Charles Kagochi, both of Kenya, Africa. The youths spoke of their native land, followed with a discussion period.

Mrs. Miller presided at the business meeting and announced that the annual Halloween Party, sponsored by the Woman's Club, will be held Sunday, Oct. 31, at the city auditorium. Mrs. Allen Schran is chairman. Hostesses will be Mrs. Lester Grubbs, Mrs. Sam Colvin and Mrs. Robert Krack.

Mrs. N.L. Ditman, program chairman, told the group that a quilt show will be presented at the Woman's Club meeting on Nov. 3. The public is invited to attend.

Delegates attending the district convention at Madison last Thursday were Mrs. Dale Miller and Mrs. N.L. Ditman.

Next meeting will be Oct. 12. Mrs. Allen Koch and Mrs. N.L. Ditman.

Employer Contribution Rate Cut Is Possibility

The State Department of Labor will conduct a public hearing Dec. 3 to set unemployment contribution rates to be paid by employers next year. State Labor Commissioner Gerald Chizek said Friday there is a possibility that Nebraska employers will not have to pay as much in unemployment contribution next year.

Chizek emphasized, however, that the reduction in rates is only a possibility. His comments followed a Labor Department advisory council meeting during which the latest figures indicated unemployment benefit payouts through July were running $2 million behind one year ago.

The current contribution tables are based on a 12 per cent reserve ratio, compared with the 8.5 per cent reserve ratio of last year. This year's change was the first since 1967.

Arabian Nights, Puppet Style

PUPPETS OF ALL sizes, shapes and character, including the ones shown above, were included in the performance of the Pickwick Puppets at Wayne State College. It was an unusual crowd for the college as a handful of college students, faculty members and other adults sat amid rows and rows of wiggy children. With the flowing musical background of "Scheherazade" by Korsakov, the puppets spun a tale of the "Arabian Nights," narrated by the nearly life-sized puppet Scheherazade, relating the tales to her Sultan husband. The king, tired of women, had been deceived when his first wife ran away with another man. To avoid the dawn beheading, Scheherazade would tell a portion of her tale each night. The plan worked, the story grew more interesting, the Sultan's hate turned to love, and Scheherazade kept her head.

Tax Council Outlines State Amendments

Voters will be marking their ballots for or against a number of amendments to Nebraska's constitution during the general election Nov. 2. The Nebraska Tax Research Council outlines the proposed amendments and arguments pro and con, in its September newsletter.

Amendment 1 — To change the date when the legislature meets in regular session and when the terms of members shall commence.

This proposed amendment would set the second Monday in December following election as the first day state senators take office. Legislative sessions would commence at 10 a.m. on the second Monday in December of each year, commencing this year for purposes of organization and introduction of bills.

The session in even-numbered years would run for 90 legislative days and bills pending at the end would be carried over until the next session. In odd-numbered years sessions would run 60 legislative days unless extended, with no carry-over bills.

Proponents of the amendment says it would modernize procedures and help bring Nebraska into the 1980's. They say that many delays now experienced at the start of a legislative session would be alleviated. This would be in two principal ways. First would be election of committee chairmen permitting them to organize in the interval before January. Second, it would permit introduction of bills and set them for hearing, making them available for discussion with constituents in the interval between December and January. This time would supposedly operate to sift out the bills, making more time available in the principal session.

Opponents of the amendment say the same benefits can be gained by less rules under the present constitution provision. They contend that the session would extend somewhat farther into the summer but claim this would be minimized by greater efficiency.

Amendment 2 — To authorize the lieutenant governor to exercise the governor's line-item vetoes of appropriation bills on an item-by-item basis and to allow the legislature to consider appropriation items individually for purposes of approving or overriding the governor's veto.

By an amendment adopted in 1972, the governor was given the power to line-item veto appropriation bills. The legislature now has the power to override the veto of an appropriations bill, but must do so in its entirety after line-item veto or reduction, rather than overriding vetoes of individual items.

Proponents claim this amendment would permit the legislature to pinpoint the attention on individual items vetoes or reduced. They say this would focus attention and would save time over the present requirement of reconsidering the entire appropriation bill. It would also eliminate the necessity of accepting all or nothing regarding line-item vetoes. Proponents claim it would provide greater flexibility in making decisions.

No arguments have been submitted against the amendment in committee hearings or in legislative floor debate, the Tax Research Council said.

Amendment 3 — To eliminate the requirement that every bill be read at large before the vote is taken on final passage.

This amendment would retain the provision that every bill and all amendments be printed before final passage but would eliminate the necessity for reading at large. It would also retain the requirements that every bill be printed and read by title upon introduction, that a bill contain no more than one subject, and that all bills and resolutions be signed by the lieutenant governor or the speaker.

This same amendment was rejected by voters in 1970, receiving about 42 per cent of the vote.

Proponents argue that the provision for reading at large is no longer necessary. When it was passed, many legislators were unable to read, and bills at that time were written in longhand, often making them difficult to read. Also, there was no availability for providing sufficient copies of measures. Proponents argue that the reading at large requirement serves no useful purpose now and takes up as much as 25 per cent of the legislative session's time. Final reading would still be optional.

Opponents argue that on occasion errors in bills are noted during the reading of the final printing of the bill. The ability to read and correct those errors before passage justifies the time spent.

It also argues that the final reading helps slow down and twice per cent of the total real estate valuation within the prescribed area.

Amendment 4 — To provide that the lieutenant governor shall be removed as presiding officer of the legislature and to remove the reading of the speaker shall preside; and to provide for the signing of bills.

This amendment would eliminate the provision that the lieutenant governor shall preside over the legislature but shall vote only in case of a tie. It would also eliminate the provision for the lieutenant governor to be elected on a partisan ballot.

Another point argues by proponents is that the lieutenant governor can be of more assistance to the governor if relieved of duties with the legislature.

Opponents claim that having a presiding officer not a member of the legislature frees all elected members for full participation in debate, floor votes, and committee activity. They also assert that a voting presiding officer from the membership would be more susceptible to unintentional bias while presiding.

Amendment 5 — To provide that the legislature may authorize a political subdivision to issue bonds for the funding of redevelopment projects which shall be paid by property taxes on new valuations.

The amendment would allow the legislature to authorize by general law political subdivisions to incur indebtedness for the purpose of acquiring and redeveloping substandard or blighted property in a redevelopment project.

Proponents argue that this would allow the legislature to authorize a new method of financing redevelopment by local government. They say it would permit redevelopment of blighted areas better than usual urban renewal methods.

Proponents further say this would permit rebuilding of areas in an effort to prevent the rises of crime, vandalism and law enforcement costs, and at the same time to help contain urban sprawl. The only way now to finance redevelopment is through a general property tax limited to 75 of one mill. Federal funds for that purpose are no longer available.

Opponents argue that the proposed system does not provide for any increase in the available tax base until the tax allocation bonds have been retired, thus causing taxpayers outside the project area to indirectly subsidize any increased service to the area.

They also state that if new business investment does not occur or is inadequate, and the tax rate does not reach its projected level, then the tax increment will not be realized and funding of the project can become a liability. They suggest that safeguards will be necessary if the amendment is approved, including a limit on the amount of bonded debt equal to one per cent of the total real estate valuation within the prescribed area.

Amendment 6 — To permit wholly owned or controlled by the state or any political subdivision for nonsectarian service for handicapped children.

Proponents say the amendment would benefit public and private school systems by providing service for handicapped children on a more logical geographic basis requiring less transportation and making fuller use of the various school facilities. They also argue that it would make available better education benefits to greater numbers of handicapped children.

They cite recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court stating that tax support of parochial schools does not violate the U.S.

Constitution so long as it is not in support of courses in religion.

Opponents argue that the amendment would erode the principle of separation of church and state and that Nebraskans have already expressed themselves on similar issues by turning down similar proposals relating to transportation of students.

Amendment 6B — To permit financial aid for non-sectarian purposes to students attending postsecondary institutions not wholly owned or controlled by the state or a political subdivision (hereon) and to prohibit the expenditure of public funds added to funds received from the federal government, for sectarian purposes.

The amendment would allow the legislature to provide loans or grants to students attending postsecondary education institutions not controlled by the state or political subdivision if the aid is limited to nonsectarian purposes.

Proponents argue that this contemplates aid for students rather than for the institution.

Opponents argue that the amendment would erode the principle of separation of church and state and that the public has previously expressed its opinion of similar matters.

Amendment 7 — To provide that governmental subdivision may sell or finance real and personal property as prescribed; to provide that governmental subdivisions may issue revenue bonds to acquire and develop property for commercial or business enterprises, and to provide exceptions.

Proponents argue that the amendment would provide commercial and business enterprises with financing advantages not now available to manufacturing and industrial enterprises in the absence of private financing.

Opponents argue that the amendment is too broad, that it provides an exception to the pay-as-you-go concept in Nebraska, that it could put municipalities in the development business, that it would erode private investment sources, and that someone would be picking up the bill for an advantage to one business segment.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreifels
SEWING METRIC

Body measurements like 85-67-90 might shock you, but you'll still be a size 12. It's just that measurements are by the metric system.

What will be the effects on sewing when measurements go metric? The changes will begin when you choose a pattern. You'll use a metric tape to find your measurements, then look on the size chart for the pattern size that most closely fits your measurements. Instead of inches, the tape and chart will be labeled in centimeters.

You'll still use the pattern envelope as a guide to determine how much fabric to buy, instead of being given in yards, fabric lengths will be listed in meters. Fabric widths will be given in centimeters instead of inches.

You'll also use the metric system when sewing your garment. A 1/4" seam allowance will be labeled 1.5 centimeters. Working with metric measurements will become simple when tapes, gauges, and rulers are labeled in centimeters instead of inches. Zippers, trims, elastic, button sizes and other notions will be labeled in centimeters.

The most difficult part of changing to metric will be learning to estimate new distances. For example, if a piece of fabric is 75 meters long and 115 centimeters wide, is that enough for a pantsuit or just enough for a skirt. These judgments come only with time and practice.

Nearing Completion

WORK ON one of three road dam projects between Winslow and Hoskins is underway on the Howard Wither farm about four miles east of Hoskins. A construction crew last week was nearing completion of the project which is scheduled to be completed by Friday. Two other projects will be farms owned by Don Langenberg and Lyle Maroz. Total cost of the three projects is about $60,000 and will be funded by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District, Wayne County and the farmers involved, according to Arnold Marr, director of Wayne County Soil Conservation Service.

Doane Musician Is Inspiration

For several Wayne State music students Stewart Newbold was an inspiration.

He took an instrument and made it sing.
His fingers, agile, flew over such pieces as "Sonata Opus 10, No. 7" by Brahms; "Two Romances" by Robert Schumann; and "Abyss of the Birds" by Olivier Messiaen.
And the result was a beautiful type of music.

Stewart Newbold claims he is the only clarinetist in the U.S. who uses his instrument as a sole means of living.

Sponsored by the Reader's Digest Association and under the Doane College Affiliate Artists Program, Newbold visited Wayne last week holding an "Influence" and evening performance for students and citizens.

His afternoon recital was an informative performance. After a demonstration in playing, Newbold answered questions, speaking mainly to music students.

In the evening the young artist entertained over 100 persons in Ramsey Theatre. His rendition of "Abyss of the Birds" was particularly striking to the audience. Originating in a Nazi concentration camp, the song's up and down and eerie tones created an audience hush and lonely feeling.

A clarinet was first placed in Newbold's hands in the third grade, but a serious undertaking of the clarinet was not considered until his senior year in high school.

The clarinetist feels a "course of events" led to his present day talent. A pole vaulter and track man, the athletic teenager was injured in a skateboarding mishap. His knees were no longer good, but he realized his fingers on the clarinet were Newbold studied four years in the Curtis Music Conservatory after an impulsive audition following high school. His entire family — ten children included — is musical.

His mother, Newbold says, never had the opportunity to study music, but can polish a difficult piano waltz through "A lot of time and energy," is a clarinet profession prerequisite, the young artist claims.

With several recitals and performances behind him, a London performance, record cutting session, and a New York debut at Carnegie Hall, are future events for the dedicated clarinetist.

Currently musician in residence at Doane College, Newbold is available for area performances. For further information contact Newbold's accompanist and coordinator of the program, Philip Jones of the Doane music faculty.

WSC Student Will Teach In-Service Day

On Thursday and Friday, Oct. 14 and 15, an in-service seminar will be held for all secretarial and clerical personnel at Wayne State College and others interested.

The sessions have been scheduled for 12:30 to 5:00 p.m. each day. The seminar is being planned and conducted by Miss Catherine Cook, a senior honor student in business, as part of her honors program.
Miss Cook will graduate in December with a bachelor of science degree in business with emphasis in executive secretarial science.

The purpose of the seminar is to stress self-improvement in office procedures and public relations. Along with several faculty members from the WSC division of business, speakers will include Larry Bruss, service adviser for Northwestern Bell, and Mrs. Katie Bourn, assistant general manager of Plecton Corporation, Overton.

Miss Linda Briesse, a senior majoring in business education, will also assist with a portion of the seminar.
The seminar is scheduled to take place in the administration building, room 302. Anyone who is interested in attending any part of the seminar should contact Miss Cook at the registrar's office in the administration building.

Winside Grad Joins Senate At NTCC

WS Theatre Department Opening New Season
The Wayne State Theatre Department, under the direction of Dr. Helen J. Russell, will open the 1976-77 season Sunday, Oct. 17, with "Rain," founded on the classic short story, "Miss Thompson," by Somerset Maugham.
Rehearsals are underway now for the show which will run two evenings and an afternoon in Ramsey Theatre at the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Curtain time is 2 p.m. Sunday Oct. 17 and 8 p.m. nightly Oct. 18 and 19.
"Rain" centers around the life of Sadie Thompson, played by Kerry Gallagher, who is a convicted prostitute, and the Rev. Davidson played by Steve Placko, a missionary who hides all his faults behind the word of God. Davidson is supported in his reformation of Sadie's sins by his over righteous wife, who is played by Kal God.
"Playing the Role of Dr. McPhail, who provides relief to Sadie through his friendship, is Hal Grant. The leading cast is rounded out with the character of Mrs. McPhail, played by Lori Adams, who is torn between her loyalty to her husband and Mrs. Davidson.
This play was first performed in the Garrick Theatre in London in May of 1925.
Reserved seats will be available for "Rain" beginning Oct. 11 through the 16th from noon to 5 p.m. at the box office. Phone reservations will also be taken during these days. For further information the box office number is 375-2200, extension 234.
Tickets will be $2 in advance and $2.50 at the door. Students and faculty members will be admitted free with identification and should reserve tickets in advance.

Therapy
She added that she believes it is important in educational physical therapy that physically "normal" students be exposed to the handicapped. "Kids are very accepting of the handicapped if given a chance," she said. "Acceptance of the program has been tremendous. Mrs. Dickey said, "Parents have been very cooperative. It's a service which can be a real financial burden if not offered through the schools. Parents of handicapped children want the service, and they will get it."

CONTEST RULES

One football game has been placed in each of the 20 ads on this page. Indicate the winner by writing in the name of the winning team on the proper line on the entry blank. No scores. Just pick the winners, or ties. In case of tie, write "tie". Use the entry blank below or a reasonable facsimile.

Pick the score of the "Game of the Week" and enter that score in the appropriate blanks. The correct closest score will be used to break ties, and will be used only in the case of ties.

One entry only to each contestant, but members of a family may each submit an entry. Entries should be brought or mailed to The Wayne Herald office not later than 5 p.m. Thursday, or if mailed, should not be postmarked later than 5 p.m. Thursday. You need not be a subscriber of the Herald to be eligible for prizes.

The Winners will be announced weekly on the Thursday sports page of The Wayne Herald. There will be duplicate prizes awarded if winning scores are identical. Employees of the Herald and their immediate families are ineligible. Judges' decisions will be final in every case.
