Homecoming Is Underway

Wayne High School students will be busy today (Thursday) decorating windows in businesses as part of the traditional pre-homecoming activities.

Students are also wearing their clothing inside-out today as part of the festivities.

The annual snake dance will begin downtown at 2:30, proceeding to the school grounds where students will warm up their spirit during a bonfire rally.

The Blue Devil football squad faces Columbus-Lakewood Friday night. Homecoming king and queen will be crowned during the dance which will follow.

The dance will conclude a week of homecoming activities. High-school girls donned helmets and pads for a powder puff game. Monday was also hat day, while featured garb Tuesday was boots. Wednesday was the day for overalls.

Candidates for homecoming queen are Stephanie Dorcey Cary Kinslow, Barry Nelson, Becky Owens, Tammie Schultz and Pam Sutherland. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dorcey, Mrs. Bryan Hill, Mrs. Willits Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Kinslow, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Don Schultz and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutherland.

King candidates are Ralph Atkins, Mark Brand, Bryan Hill, Aaron Nissen, Rick Straight and Mike Wieseler. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Atkins, Dr. and Mrs. Irvin Brand, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hethold, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nissen, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Straight and Mr. and Mrs. Al Wieseler.

State Health Officials Say Flu Clinics Still Planned

Public Health officials in Nebraska said Tuesday afternoon they plan to go ahead with New Jersey "swine" flu immunization programs as planned.

Less than two weeks after the nationwide flu vaccination program began it was suspended in eight states after three elderly persons died within hours of taking the shots in Pennsylvania.

Officials of the Federal Center for Disease Control said there are no plans for a nationwide halt in the flu shot program because of the deaths, according to the Associated Press.

The New York Times reported that preliminary results of autopsies done Tuesday showed that heart attacks, and not allergic reactions, apparently killed two of the three people in their 70s shortly after they received the inoculations.

Health officials said that extensive use of flu vaccine over the past 20 years has shown that it has rarely, if ever, been responsible for severe reaction. Because the vaccine contains a

Cablevision Rates Increasing

Cable television customers in Wayne will be paying a dollar a month more for the service beginning Nov. 1.

The Wayne city council Tuesday night approved a request by Wayne Cablevision, Inc. to raise the monthly primary rate for a first outlet from $5.95 to $6.95.

Attorney Ken Olds, representing the company, told the council the rate hike is the first since February, 1973, and amounts to 17 per cent after a period of nearly four years without an increase. Olds cited increased expenses as the main reason for requesting the rate hike.

The rate hike applies to original outlets in houses and to the basic outlet for motel and hospital customers. It does not affect apartment rates, nor installation rates.

The council also approved a lump sum settlement for former city employee George Henderson, who was injured in a power line accident.

In other action the council:

- Approved requests for sign permits made by Lil' Duffer and Wittig's Food Center.
- Passed an ordinance prohibiting more than three persons in the front seat of a vehicle or obstructing the driver's view.
- Passed an ordinance permitting motorcycles to be driven two abreast in a single lane of traffic.
- Approved appointments to an airport zoning board, contingent on acceptance by the two appointees. Mayor Freeman Decker, named Dr. Ken Liska and Gary Pick to the board, being formed at the request of the airport authority. The Wayne county commissioners have a similar request under consideration. If the commissioners approve, the request and make the appointments, the two city and two county appointees will then elect a fifth member.

Open House Planned for Carroll School

The public is invited to attend open house at the Carroll Elementary School Monday evening, beginning at 7:30. Lunch will be served at the school, with music by school officers in charge.

Music booster officers for the 1976-77 school year are Stanley Hansen, president; Mrs. Bill Landanger, vice president; Mrs. Dennis Rohde, secretary; and Mrs. Dean Juncak, treasurer.

'Nuclear Attack' Is Planned But Most Folks Won't Notice

Sometime today (Thursday) the Wayne County sheriff's office will receive notification by radio of an impending nuclear attack, but most local residents won't be aware of it.

It's only an exercise, of course, one designed to test the efficiency of civil defense warning procedures.

Wayne County civil defense director Pat Hailey explained that about 700 counties in the 10-state region six Defense Civil Preparedness Agency will be involved in the test.

The warning exercise will be initiated by the National Warning Center at NORAD headquarters in Cheyenne Mountain at Colorado Springs, Colo. The warning will be passed through the civil defense communication channels to test the speed and efficiency of the system.

Civil defense officials in Norfolk will contact the sheriff's office by radio. The sheriff's office will then contact volunteers in the county, along with radio station KTCH which would also sound the alarm if the emergency were real. Civil defense sirens will not be sounded during the exercise. Hailey said, and for most local residents, the exercise will go unnoticed.

Hailey will complete a form detailing the amount of time necessary for the message to reach the radio station and civil defense volunteers. That and other information will be sent to NORAD for evaluation.

Open House Attracts Pilots, Sight-Seers

Sunday's weather was perfect for flying or observing outdoor displays, and both activities were popular during the open house at the Wayne municipal airport.

About 20 aircraft flew in from Des Moines, Harrison, South Sioux City, Creighton, Lincoln and Omaha and other locations, and 10 aircraft kept in hangars at the local airport were also wheeled out for display.

Movies about flying were shown in one of the hangars and airplane rides were available to the public through AIA's Air Service, operated by airport manager Al Robinson and Dave Howell.

It was all part of the local observance of General Aviation Month in Nebraska. The open house was sponsored by the Wayne airport authority in an effort to promote interest in general aviation.

One of the more unusual aircraft displayed, a National Guard UH-1H "Huey" helicopter, doesn't really fit into the general aviation category which excludes military and commercial airline flying, but the chopper was one of the most popular displays during the show.

A couple of aircraft belonging to local owners also attracted plenty of attention. Experimental airplanes belonging to Merlin Wright of Wayne and Frank Wickett of rural Laurel were a major attraction. Both open cockpit, fabric covered planes are specially aircraft designed for stunt flying.

Wickett has become something of a local legend, according to one visitor during the open house. The Duane Luff family lives just east of the airport and the Luff children first observed Wickett flying his black and yellow biplane shortly after seeing a movie about a barnstorming pilot. The Laurel pilot may be Frank Wickett or friends and family, but where the Luff children and their playmates are concerned, he's "The Great Waldo Pepper."

College Choir Will Join Omaha Opera Company

Participation in a full-fledged opera is certainly not common activity for the average college music student.

So it seems 30 members of the Wayne State College Choir are "not-so-common."

Their reputable music-making has led to an invitation to participate in "Aida," one of three productions of the Omaha Opera Company. Set for November 18 and 20, the production is professional with all leading-role singers imported from New York.

Wayne is the only college group represented in the opera, according to Dr. Cornell Runstad, director of the Wayne State College choir. He feels the invitation from chorus master Carol Bean is an honor and a rare experience for his group of students.

The Wayne State singers will augment the size of the regular chorus in the "Triumph Scene," an act needing scores of singers on stage.

"Because of the size and scope of 'Aida,' exceptionally large forces are required," explained Runstad.

The project now for the Wayne State group is memorization of Italian lyrics. And according to the choir director, five to seven trips to Omaha for rehearsal will precede the actual production.

Those selected from the Wayne State choir come from a wide range of Nebraska and Iowa locations. Participants are:

Sopranos — Claudia Mallett, Laurel; Anita Orman, Omaha; Roslyn Nyquist, Millard; Flor- one Huffman, Fremont; Victoria Rusek, Omaha; Cheryl Kopper- ul, Wayne; Deborah Cumberlin, Omaha; and Chong-Cha Kim, Norfolk.

Tenors — Robin Edwards, Grand Island; Kevin Johnson, North Bend; Rod Husky, Cook; James Conley, Cherokee, Ia.; Daniel Murphy, Stuart; Byron Hall, Omaha; and Frederick Cuva, Omaha.

Basses — Joseph Manley, Wayne; Merlin Lemcke, Emerson; David Bruzes, Pender; Steve Cacak, Bruno; Harold Grant, Omaha; Vicent Murphy, Waver; Jerald Hain, Ulysses; and Jerry Glaser, Omaha.

Senior Citizens Center Sets Moving Date

The Wayne Senior Citizen Center will be moving Oct. 22 and could use some assistance, center director Mrs. Eldon Bull said.

The center will be moved from its present location on Main St. to refurbished quarters in the basement of the city hall building at 306 Pearl.

The city will provide transportation and some manpower for the move, Mrs. Bull said, but some additional help will be needed.

Anyone interested in lending a hand with the moving chores should contact Mrs. Bull at 475-1360.

Pig Theft Charges Result In Probation for Brothers

Charges of pig theft, a felony, have resulted in 24-month probation periods for two Pender men.

Morris Wayman, 20, and his brother, Terry Lee Wayman, 17, were apprehended June 4 and charged with taking pigs from the Brian Kal farm. The young Wayman was charged with one count of pig theft stemming from that incident. His brother was charged with stealing pigs from the Kal farm on May 12 and May 20. In addition to the count for the June 4 theft.

Terry Wayman was sentenced to 24 months probation and ordered to pay $45.50 in court costs, plus the fees for court-appointed counsel.

Morris Wayman, sentenced under the May 12 count, also was placed on probation for 24 months. Both men will reside in

"MAYBE SOMEDAY..." might be the thoughts of Marc Rahn as he sits at the controls of a UH-1H helicopter on display Sunday during the open house at the Wayne municipal airport. Marc is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Rahn of Wayne. The helicopter was flown in by Nebraska Army National Guard warrant officers Paul Thompson and Jeff Warren, both of Lincoln.

Barn Destroyed

A barn belonging to Melvin Manz on the south edge of Dixon was completely destroyed by fire Sunday morning.

The blaze was discovered around 11:30 a.m. by a passerby while the Magz family was in church.

Losses include 500 bales of hay, two sows, ten pigs and some tools.

State Aid Voting Clash Continues in Campaign

A candidate for the 17th District legislative seat Friday re-nounced claims that information contained in his political advertising is misleading.

Aaron Butler of Wayne Friday said he was surprised to read objections to his advertising registered by incumbent senator John R. "Bob" Murphy of South Sioux City.

The controversy centers around legislation designed to increase the amount of state aid to public schools. Butler's advertising claimed "The bill needed 30 votes to pass. It got 29. Your Legislator (Murphy) voted against this tax relief. His vote would have made the 30..."

Murphy last week said the advertising was misleading because the final vote was 28 to 19 against the override (including Murphy), and two abstaining. The Legislative Journal substantiates Murphy's figures on the final vote.

Butler Friday said his advertising did not refer to the final recorded vote as noted in the Legislative Journal. The candidate said that at one point during the voting the tally stood at 29 to override, 18 against, and two abstaining. Butler said that Senator Governor Koch to the final would-have voted in favor of the override, making the 30 votes needed to override. If any of the 20 senators voting against or abstaining would have changed their vote. Because none would change, Butler said, Koch voted against the measure, yielding the final 28-19-2 tally.

In a letter received Tuesday by the Wayne Herald, Butler said it was Senator Leslie Stull, not Koch who changed his vote, lowering the final total to 28.

"I told you Koch was the singe vote there. I had him in mind because he was one of its sponsors. But he did not change from 29 to 28. It was Leslie Stull, not Koch, who changed his vote, lowering the final total to 28.

According to a Lincoln Journal article dated May 23, 1975, Ulica Sen. Douglas Bereuter and Alliance Sen. Leslie Stull were the two senators abstaining.

When the tally first registered on the electronic voting board, Stull was with state aid supporters and Bereuter was the sole legislator not voting.

Wayne Driver Escapes Injury

A car operated by Dennis Lipp of Wayne sustained moderate front-end damage Sunday night when his southbound auto struck and killed a yearling on Highway 15, about seven and a half miles north of Wayne.

According to investigating trooper Dave Healdy of Wayne, the mishap occurred about 8:55 p.m. when the calf apparently strayed and started to cross the highway. Lipp escaped injury.

Shortly after midnight Sunday, Rudolph Wagner of Pender was traveling south on Highway 16 when his vehicle hit a deer.

Healdy reported that Rudolph swerved to miss two other deer before he struck the third. His car also sustained moderate front-end damage.

The accident happened about 10 miles south of Wakefield.

Stars Are Out At Wayne State

The stars are out on the Wayne State campus.

But not outdoor in doors, in the Fred G. Dale Planetarium at Carhart Science Hall.

Beginning Wednesday one of the most popular of past programs, "Sun, Stars and Seasons" will return for a 7:30 p.m. showing. Under the direction of Carol Rump, Wayne State professor, "Seasons" explains the cause of seasonal change.

Through pictures and music the show celebrates the events of the four seasons as experienced in this area.

This first in the seventh season of public star shows may be viewed every Wednesday at 7:30 with Sunday showings at 3:30 p.m. also. Final date is November 21.

Organizations and school groups interested in special showings of "Seasons" and other available shows should contact Carl Rump at the college for reservations.

Other shows ahead for the Fred G. Dale Planetarium: "Star of Christmas," December 19-19; "The Archival Project," March 20-April 27.

Wakefield Girl Is Countess For Ak-Sar-Ben

Barbara Jean Brownell of Wakefield is one of 16 countesses who were chosen to take part in the 1976 Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. —The seven-days-and-nights-of pageantry and parties begins with the Ak councillors' gala this Sunday and culminates with the Coronation and Ball Oct. 22 and 23.

Miss Brownell, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Brownell of Wakefield, this fall begins a career in education as a library-media specialist for the Henderson schools in a Mennonite community near York.

Miss Brownell said she eventually hopes to get into educational administration, the field in which she earned a master's degree last spring from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Miss Brownell, as an undergraduate at UNL was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority and was involved in Panhellenic activities. She also served on the Chancellor's Administrative Task Force, on committees for the Teachers College, was administrative assistant to the president of Associated Students and was a member of Tassels and Mortar Board.

The countess, who has studied abroad, plays piano and guitar, golfs, and enjoys tennis and bridge. Among her hobbies are crafts and family genealogy.

Two Couples Making Wedding Plans

Cindy Thomas

The engagement of Cindy Thomas to Richard Krause has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas of Hoskins. Miss Thomas graduated from Winside High School in 1976 and is employed at Dale Electronics in Norfolk. Her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Krause of Hoskins, is a 1971 Winside High School graduate and is engaged in farming. Plans are being made for a Dec. 5 wedding.

Leah Moomaw

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moomaw of Wayne announce the engagement of their daughter, Leah Kathleen Moomaw, to John Ray Agler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Agler, also of Wayne. Miss Moomaw, a graduate of Ozark Bible College, is employed at Good News Productions in Joplin, Mo. Her fiancé attended Nebraska Christian College and is engaged in farming near Wayne. An April wedding is being planned.

Granddaughter Wed In October 9 Rites

Audrey Armfield, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Armfield of Omaha and Paul Paulman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Paulman Sr. of Sutherland, exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday at the home of the bride's parents.

Among those attending the wedding ceremony were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. C.D. Ankeny and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Chambers, all of Dixon.

Dr. Robert Simpson of Omaha officiated and Dr. Deborah Croker of Madison was pianist.

Usher was Ted Armfield, brother of the bride. Candles were lighted by the junior bridesmaid. —The honor attendants for the couple were Margaret Ankeny of Dixon and James White of Sutherland; junior bridesmaid was Megan Paulman of Sutherland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a princess-style, floor-length gown of white satin brocade with a beaded collar. Her headpiece was a single row of white satin leaves. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath.

Her attendants wore floor-length dresses of light blue, crepe knit. The maid of honor had a corsage of blue silk roses and baby's breath, and the bridesmaid carried a basket of carnations and baby's breath.

A small reception preceded a buffet supper honoring the newlyweds. The four-tiered wedding cake was baked by the bride.

Following a trip to Kansas City, the couple will reside at 505 S. 40th St. in Omaha.

Wildcats Head into Rugged Panther Country

What's in an athletic nickname? Maybe more than usual when the Wildcats of Wayne State stalk into the Panther country called University of Northern Iowa. They'll clash at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Cedar Falls, Ia.

So what's the relative stature of Wildcat and Panther? UNI plays in the North Central Conference, generally rated just a notch below the major leagues of university athletics.

Last year in football UNI placed second in the NCC. This year it is 2-0 after two conference road games and 4-1 overall. Actually, the Panthers lost two games, but regained one by forfeit after St. Cloud State had to give up four wins because of ineligible players. UNI lost to St. Cloud, 27-21. In other games, UNI lost to Northern Michigan, last year's NCAA Division II champion, 41-7; defeated Nebraska-Omaha, 44-12; North Dakota, 24-22; and Augustana, 7-6.

How did Wayne land on the UNI schedule? Late in August Mankato State abandoned its entire football program, including an Oct. 16th date at Northern Iowa.

UNI officials noticed Wayne's open date late-16th and invited the Wildcats to play, with a substantial guarantee. Wayne officials considered it worthwhile to accept, though mindful of what appeared to be a mismatch. As it turns out, Wayne has a 1-4 record.

Whatever the matching, Wayne players anticipate these novelties: their first time to play in a domed stadium, first time on artificial turf, first football encounter with UNI.

Wayne and UNI have met several times. UNI won two of three basketball games since 1970, in swimming the Panthers — a national power — have been among the few teams to beat Wayne.

Wayne also has played football with at least three North Central foes, Augustana, Morningside and the University of South Dakota. Most of these were Wayne losses.

Back in their own Nebraska competition last Saturday the Wildcats found Chadron State a bit too much, losing 34-29. Chadron's Eagles, like their nickname, mastered the air while the Wildcats ruled the ground.

Wayne rushed 233 yards, biggest total of the year, passed for 54, while Chadron flew 197 yards by the pass and managed only 31 on the ground.

Curiously, Chadron fullback

Bob Houston scored three times by runs of 28, one and eight yards — more than the team netted after 10 losing plays. The other Eagle touchdowns came off passes when quarterback Brad Fuitts hit split end Bill Ryan on a 63-yarder and flanker Dale Drabola for 30 yards, both in the second quarter.

A neutral observer would have to say the Wildcats and Eagles put pizzazz into their battle. Twice Wayne tied the count, at 7-7 and 14-14. After trailing at the half by 27-14, the Cats pulled within five points late in fourth period.

Turnovers and penalties — many of them coming off aggressive play — turned the tide several times. And when all factors go onto the scales, it appears the game's outcome tipped on one Wildcat penalty.

This occurred with two or three seconds left in first half.

Stalling: Seeds, Trees Available

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission is giving away a number of seeds, trees and shrubs for the 1977 spring planting season.

Available to rural landowners is a choice of either a bundle of 100 Cedar and 100 Ponderosa Pine, or a bundle of 50 Cedar, 50 Thuja, 50 Chokeberry and 50 American plum. According to Clayton Stalling, wildlife manager for Northeast Nebraska, there is no cost to the receiver; however, he must promise to maintain and protect the trees and shrubs from grazing and other destructive practices for at least ten years.

Also available is a 50-pound bag of sweet clover which will plant approximately five acres. Stalling indicated that any silt will qualify except those within the limits of cities and towns. Farmers must agree to grow the clover for two years, through the spring of 1979, but longer periods are encouraged. Clover may be planted with certain crops, such as oats; where the crop stubble will be left standing after harvest and the ground is to be rested until the Spring of 1979.

Plants and seed will be shipped directly to the cooperators in time for spring planting. Anyone interested should contact the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, Box 934, Norfolk.

Winside Blanks Wakefield JH

Winside junior high graders blanked Wakefield Tuesday, 28-0.

Quarterback Brian Foote scored three touchdowns and passed for another to lead his team to its first win of the season.

Foote put his club on the scoreboard with an eight-yard pass to Ted Risor in the second quarter. Foote again scored in the second period on a three-yard, quarterback sneak.

Tom Koch went 30 yards in the third period to setup Winside's third TD and Barry Bowers broke for 35 yards to set up the team's final touchdown in the last period.

Winside JVs Fall

Scoring twice in the last five minutes of the ball game, Coleridge reserves Monday defeated Winside, 14-8.

After scoring its first TD, Coleridge came back 30 seconds later to score with the help of an intercepted pass.

Monday Winside takes its 0-3 record to Wausa.

HOT PURSUIT was the name of the game for Wayne State's defense as the Wildcats held Chadron runners to only 31 yards Saturday. Leading the Cats again was senior Gary Krajiček (89) as the defensive end created havoc all day with the Eagles' quarterback Brad Fuitts (12). An example of the hot pursuit early in the game shows Krajiček (top) and partner Bill Hughes (91) give chase. Both teams eventually went to the air game to score. Right, Tom

Prep Picks: Upsets, Surprises Marr Grid Selections

By BOB BARTLETT
Surprise! That's probably the best way to describe some of the outcomes of last Friday night's prep football games for several area football teams.

Perhaps the biggest surprise was Laurel's 3-0 victory over what was considered a tough Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference club, O'Neill.

Other upsets which surprised at least two area football coaches were Winside's 12-6 loss to Ponca and Wakefield's 16-8 defeat at the hands of Bancroft.

First-year head coach Joe Boyle of Laurel said that he win wasn't as big a surprise as most Bear fans would think. He remarked after the game that he was confident his team could win if it held O'Neill scoreless in the first quarter: The team did just that.

Both Winside coach Ron Peck and Wakefield's John Torczon felt their teams had excellent chances of winning, but the victory just wasn't in the cards.

Two other area clubs which fell by the wayside were Wayne, a 21-0 victim of Madison, and Allen, which lost 6-0 to host Newcastle.

For a change of pace, four area teams will be at home, including Wayne and Allen which play before homecoming crowds. Wayne entertains Columbus Lakeview and Allen host Coleridge. Neligh comes calling at Winside and Creighton visits Laurel.

The only away match finds Wakefield traveling to Stanton.

I'll have to be a bit more careful in trying to pick prep winners this week after my predictions went awry last week — zero for five. That leaves my record at 16-11.

After a closer look, I'll pick (winners in boldface):
Lakeview over Wayne — Devils have scored only one touchdown in last three outings. Don't know how they're going to manage after injuries took their leading rusher Mark Brandt and quarterback Vic Sharpe out of the game.
Neligh over Winside — Neligh is a power-packed ball club in that tough NENAC league. The Warriors shouldn't be any less tougher when they tangle with Winside.
Coleridge over Allen — The chance for coach Cliff Jorgenson to get his team off a winning skid was last week against Newcastle. Trying to start one now is a little tough.
Wakefield over Stanton — The Mustangs finally broke into the win column Friday with a victory over Clarkson. The win streak shouldn't last too long as Trojans should bounce back from last week's homecoming loss to Bancroft.
Creighton over Laurel — Two surprises in one week would be too much of a shock.

I'm Merle Hansen.
Did you know that about 2/3 of the medical student education is paid for by taxpayers and yet 3/4 of the graduate doctors leave the state? Still we find that out-state Nebraska has 2 fewer doctors than 4 years ago, 15 counties without doctors, 10 counties with only 1 doctor, and 20% of out-state doctors are over 60 years of age.
The Board of Regents govern the Medical Center. I'd use my influence on the Board to try to bring better medical care to out-state Nebraska.

Turnovers Halt Wayne Reserves Against Norfolk

Norfolk stopped Wayne's rushing game and kept it on an early Blue Devil turnovers Tuesday to hand the reserves their first loss, 28-15.

Wayne coughed up the ball on a fumble and pass interception in the first five minutes of the game to set up two Norfolk touchdowns for a 14-0 first period lead.

A Tom Ginn to Mark Heithold pass in the second frame covered 86 yards and gave the locals their first points of the game. Al Nissen made the PAT good for a 14-7 ball game.

Aided by a pass interference play and a 17 yard aerial from Ginn to Rick Johnson, Wayne marched 67 yards in the final period before Johnson bulled over from three yards out for the score. Ginn completed the two point pass play to Denny Ahlvers.

Wayne gave up the ball a total of nine times, including two sure scoring drives when Norfolk intercepted passes in the end zone.

Leading rusher for Wayne was Brian Haun with 42 yards, followed by Roger Daniels with 23. In the air, Heithold had 86 yards. Haun 40.

Monday the reserves take their 3-1 record to South Sioux City.

LOOKING AT this week's games... I decided to ask the trio how they would pick the outcome of area prep football. Ray is going with Columbus Lakeview over Wayne, Coleridge over Allen, Wakefield over Stanton, Creighton over Laurel and Neligh over Winside.

JUDGING BY the size of the crowd Monday night, high school students eager to make money for a class project want to watch on the idea of sponsoring girls' flag football games.

I FIGURED THAT Wayne last week would break its three game losing skein by beating Madison. Wakefield would overcome Bancroft during the Trojans' homecoming, Winside would top Ponca. Allen would chalk up its second victory against previously winless Newcastle and O'Neill would handle Laurel.

Some of the varsity football coaches and their assistants were impressed with the 'girls' speed and their cleverness in designing plays.

I stuck around for first-half action as

Laurel Spikers Face Bloomfield

Laurel will take its 5-7 record against NENAC loop foe, Bloomfield tonight (Thursday) when the Bees invade the Bears' auditorium.

Coach Dwight Iverson's Laurel team will enter tonight's match fresh off a two set loss to tough Osmond of the Lewis and Clark Conference Tuesday night. Osmond overcame the Bears, 15-7 and 15-13, to up its record to 11-7.

Leading pointmakers for Laurel were Roxanne Gade with seven and Patti Stark with six. Laurel's B team also fell, this time in three sets. The scores: 15-12, 15-17 and 15-9. The B team was led by Roxie Kraemer with 10 points and Jan Cooper with nine. The reserves are 4-5.

The freshmen team came out on the winning side, 15-13 and 15-6, for its third win against three losses. Valerie Tuttle had a big night serving with 18 points.

Ponca Downs Allen, 32-24

Ponca's Curt Botherff ramblod for the touchdowns in the second quarter to help dump host Allen 32-24 Monday in a junior high football clash. The contest finished up Allen's young Eagles season at 2-2.

In the contest, Botherff scored on runs of 39, 44 and 25 yards in the second period to help the invaders to a 24-8 halftime lead. The 175-pound eighth grader ran for a total of 269 yards in the contest.

Allen scored in the first quarter when Scott Carr found yardage on a 39 yard run and Rob Linafelter scored the PAT on a run.

Allen scored in the final period when Randy Smith ran for a 24-yard touchdown and Frank Lanser got the PAT. Lanser closed off the scoring with a 15-yard touchdown run and Smith got the PAT.

On the afternoon, the Eagles led the way with 98 yards. Allen coach Jim Koontz lauded the center for an outstanding season at quarterback for the young Eagles.

Coed Post Wins

A homecoming day v ball round robin resulted in a pair of wins for Wayne State and two Missouri teams Saturday.

With a two game par, the Wildkittens "de-spiked" Washburn and Emporia with 15, 7, 10 and 10, 13, 16-14 scores respectively.

Missouri-Western took a turn over the female cats in a two-game match, 15-11, 15-3. Washburn could not manage a win anywhere. This Missouri foe remained in the lower brackets throughout the day, down to Missouri Western, Emporia and Wayne.

In another match Emporia defeated Missouri Western, 15-7, 15-5.

Off to Crele today (Thursday) the Wildkittens will see victory ball action against a Nebraska pair this time, Doane College and Peru. Game time 6 p.m.

Loses License

A 19 year-old Wayne man, Daniel Harms, was one of 130 Nebraska drivers to lose his license in September under the state's 12 point revocation system according to the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Allen Spikers Push Loop Record to 3-0

Allen pushed its Lewis and Clark east division record to 3-0 with a spiker victory over host Newcastle Tuesday night.

The Eagle varsity volleyballers took a 15-7, 6-15, 15-8 win to move their overall record to 5-3 on the year. Tonight (Thursday) the Eagles will host Homer, also undefeated in the Lewis and Clark east, in the crucial conference battle.

Allen coach Steve McManigal lauded his spikers for vast improvements in their spiking game Tuesday and has special praise for the floor play of Kathy Malcolm and Peggy Taylor. June Stapleton led the winners with a dozen serving points while Lori Erwin had a

The Eagles stilled on the ground, a yard from a touchdown, lapped ace kicker Chad Emanuel to try a field goal. It was a fairly sharp angle, and he missed. No time left on the clock.

But Wildcat defense, sturting to ruffie Chadron, jumped off side. Since a half cannot end on a defensive penalty, even with time gone, Chadron had one more chance and elected to try a touchdown, for about half a yard. Success, as Houston scored. Emanuel kicked, but missed the point.

Final margin for Chadron: five points.

Fullback Kirk Gardner of Wakefield scored Wayne's first and last touchdowns, both from one yard out. Tailback Mike McMahon, Gretna, tallied from eight yards in the second quarter. Both backs ran 19 times, Gardner going 70 yards, McMahon 58. Tailback Bob Barry, Battle Creek, logged 63 on 14 carries.

Senior Bill Koll enjoyed one of those rare thrills all defensive players yearn for. He pirated a pass and ran 30 yards for his first collegiate touchdown, in fourth quarter.

Pierce Spikers Defeat Winside In Three Sets

Battling to three sets, Pierce volleyball team overcame Winside Tuesday night to hand the Wildkittens their eighth loss against three wins.

Both varsity teams split after two sets, Pierce taking the first 15-13 and Winside coming out 16-14. In the final set Pierce prevailed 15-13.

Again Paula Hoernann led Winside in spiking. Coach Kathy O'Connor also lauded the work of sophomores Kathy Thomas and Brenda Voss who came off the bench to play a fine game.

In other action both Winside's junior varsity and freshmen teams fell. The JV's lost 15-4, 11-15, 15-13 and the freshmen went down in two sets, 15-1 and 15-7. Both teams are 3-5.

WS Harriers Host NCC Meet

Defending champion Wayne State will host to the Nebraska College Conference cross country meet Friday.

All four state colleges are expected to send teams to the starting line at noon, with Kearney State the probable favorite to win the five-mile race. In earlier meets the Antelopes have finished ahead of the others.

Last Saturday, Wayne defeated Westmar in a dual here, 23 to 38. South Dakota Springfield entered a partial team.

Westmar's Mike Hildreth won the five-mile tour in 26:13. Mike McGuire of USD-5 finished second at 26:40; Jerry Sanders, Hart, Wayne, fourth, 27:05; Virgil Tjensdame, USD-5, fifth, 27:16.

Business notes...

Wayne Care Centre manager Timothy Boyle attended the 29th annual convention of the Nebraska Health Care Association in Omaha Oct. 5-7.

"One Out of Many", the theme of the convention, emphasized that each employe and resident of care centers is an individual with special needs, interests and abilities.

Guest speakers included Sen. Carl A. Curtis and Representatives Virginia Smith and John McCotlister, and Omaha mayor Ed Zorinsky.

Other speakers included Dr. Charles Cone, director of counseling at William Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., and John Tate, nationally known anti-union lawyer from Lincoln; Frank Gerlach, wage and hour divisions; U.S. Department of Labor; David Schmidt, Kansas City management consultant; Bruce Thevenot, government relations director for the American Health Care Association; David Gerig, a foreign correspondent.

In addition, staff workshops were held for nurses, activity coordinators, food service workers and housekeeping workers.

Grand Prize Worth $550

The grand prize in this week's Birthday Bucks raffle is $550 as a result of no one claiming the top prize last Thursday night.

Some lucky shopper tonight (Thursday) can win the top prize simply by matching his birth date with the date drawn at random by a member of the Wayne business community and announced at 8:15.

Last week Dennis Mitchehl came the closest to winning the prize when his birthday of Sept. 18, 1948 was the closest to the winning date of Aug. 27, 1948, drawn by Ruth Eliotson of Coast-to-Coast store in Wayne.

Mitchell, who is employed at Carhart Lumber Co. in Wayne, will receive the $25 consolation award which can be spent just like cash in any participating business.

Trojan Royalty

REIGNING as king and queen over Wakefield High's homecoming Friday were Dan Byers and Denise Greve. The couple were named during ceremonies at the elementary school auditorium where last year's king and queen, Steve Greve and Lori Magnuson, presented the pair their crowns. Names as first attendants were Brooks Myers and Lynn Holm. Second attendants were Greg Simpsch and Mary Kober.

OBITUARIES

Marion H. Glass

Funeral services for Marion H. Glass of Norfolk, were to have been held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Bethany Presbyterian Church in Carroll. He died Sunday in a Norfolk hospital at the age of 56.

The Rev. Gale Axen officiated and burial was in the Bethany Cemetery, also near Carroll.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glass, he was born July 25, 1920, in Wayne County. He married Eva Jones in Carroll on May 11, 1944. The couple farmed in the Carroll-Windsor area for many years. They had lived in Norfolk for the past year.

He is survived by his widow, Eva of Norfolk; four daughters, Mrs. Larry Peterka of Yankton, Mrs. Mickey Topp of Winslow, Mrs. David Dahl and Miss Stacey Glass, both of Norfolk, and four grandchildren.

Ora Owens

Ora Owens of Carroll died Sunday at the age of 84. Funeral services were to have been held today (Thursday) at the Bethany Presbyterian Church in Carroll at 2 p.m.

The Rev. Gale Axen officiated and pallbearers were Ivor James, Elmer Jones, Owen Jenkins, Dave Morris, Clifford Rohde and Donald Leldman. Burial was in the Bethany Cemetery near Carroll.

Ora Owens, the daughter of Edward and Mary Jane (Williams) Davis, was born May 17, 1892, in Carroll. She attended rural grade school and graduated from high school in Carroll in 1909.

She taught rural school near Wales, Ia., and near Carroll. She was united in marriage to Owen Owens on Feb. 26, 1919 in her parents' home near Carroll.

The couple farmed near Carroll for many years. She was an active member of the Presbyterian Women's Association, a Sunday school teacher and a past elder of the Bethany Presbyterian Church.

She is preceded in death by her parents and one infant daughter. Survivors include her widower, Owen; four sons, Orvid of Lincoln, Hayden of Fenimore, Wis., Lowell of Greenbelt, Md., and Stanley of Ralston; one daughter, Mrs. Jack (Mary Faith) Tiedgen of Adams; 17 grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Fern Jenkins of Norfolk and Mrs. John Owens of Wayne.

Fantasy Landscapes

On Display at WSC

The artist who created "Fantasy Landscapes", the current art show on the Wayne State campus, was honored at the reception Sunday in the North-strand Visual Arts Gallery.

Over punch and cake, Tricia Smith, UNO professor of drawing, chatted with visitors, describing her colorful collection.

"Friday is the final day to view 'Fantasy Landscapes.' Open to the public, the show is located on the second floor of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Sponsored by the Visual Arts Gallery committee, the mid-westerner's work is also supported by the Wayne State Foundation.

Q. What exactly is influenza?
 A. Influenza is a respiratory disease caused by a virus. There are two main types of influenza virus — A and B. Each type includes various strains. Type A epidemics are generally more frequent and severe. From time to time, new virus strains develop. When this happens and if the strains are quite different from previous ones, they may cause epidemics because people have not had any previous exposure to them and consequently have no antibodies against them.

Q. How is influenza spread?
 A. When a person has influenza, or is just coming down with it, the fluids in his nose and mouth contain viruses. They are expelled into the air when he sneezes, coughs, or talks. Then they get into the noses and mouths of other people and cause disease in the susceptibles.

Q. How serious a disease is influenza?
 A. For most people, influenza is a moderately severe illness but not a serious health threat. Complete recovery can be expected within a week. For certain high-risk groups it is a serious problem, and the disease or its complication may be life threatening. Among these at high risk are the elderly and all persons suffering from certain chronic illnesses including heart disease, respiratory disease and some others.

Q. What are the symptoms of influenza?
 A. The symptoms of influenza often come on suddenly and may include some or all of the following: fever, chills, headache, dry cough and soreness and aching in the back and the limbs. Fever seldom lasts more than several days although the patient may continue to feel weakened for several days to a week or more.

Q. What is the significance of the swine flu virus?
 A. The newly identified swine virus, designated as Newswine 76 (HswN1), represents a major change from viruses which are currently circulating in the human population. Since it has the capacity to spread from person-to-person, it could spread rapidly as a pandemic strain and cause extensive illness and death. Although an influenza virus of swine has been known as the cause of illness in swine for many years, the H1N1 outbreak in the United States since about 1930 of person-to-person transmission of a human influenza virus related to that of swine.

Q. What relationship does this swine virus have to the 1918 influenza pandemic?
 A. Influenza viruses were first released later in October. Recommendations of inoculating persons under 18 years old will not be available until later in the month and children will not be immunized at the Oct. 20 clinics.

Flu Clinic

Anyone receiving the inoculation must first sign a consent form and persons 18 years old must have their parents' consent forms for both monovalent and bivalent vaccine are available in Wayne at the post office, the library, Benhack Clinic, Dr. Wiseman's clinic, Dr. Koeber's office, The First National Bank, the State National Bank, Wayne Federal Savings and Loan, Wayne State College dormitories, and the senior citizens center.

Forms are also available in the Winslow State Bank, in the Farmers State Bank in Carroll and in the Commercial State Bank in Hoskins.

Persons having questions after receiving their form should contact Mrs. Robert Benhack at 375-2416 or Mrs. C.F. Maynard at 375-2297. Mrs. Maynard, Federal Reserve Bank, is in charge of coordinating the clinic, said it will speed up the inoculation process if persons would have the forms filled out before they go to the clinic.

Baccalaureate, Commencement Dates Changed

The Laurel-Concord board of education and the local municipal association have changed the dates for baccalaureate and commencement.

The new date will be Sunday, May 22, 1977. Baccalaureate will be held at 2:30 p.m. and Commencement will be held at 8 p.m.

The board of education and ministerial association decided to try this on a one year basis and will then evaluate its isolated from man in the early 1930's. We can only speculate about the characteristics of the viruses prevalent before that time. Testing of blood of individuals who were living in 1918 shows almost all have antibodies to swine-like virus. This suggests that a virus of this sort may have caused the 1918 pandemic. Such antibodies are also found in many persons over the age of 50, suggesting that a swine-like virus was widespread in human populations, perhaps up to 1930.

Q. Can I get flu from the vaccine?
 A. The flu vaccine contains a virus that has been killed. The vaccine stimulates the production of antibodies in the person, without causing the flu. Thus, no one will get flu from taking the vaccine.

Q. Can some people get other allergic reactions to flu shots?
 A. Because the virus used in making the vaccine is grown in eggs, people who are highly allergic to eggs should not take it.

Q. What can an individual who is allergic to eggs do for protection?
 A. First, check with a physician to be certain that the allergy is the type that would prevent you from being immunized. Persons known to be hypersensitive to egg protein should be given a skin test or other allergy-evaluating test using the swine influenza vaccine as the antigen. Many of those who are allergic may be safely vaccinated under the care of a physician experienced in dealing with allergies. Even if an individual cannot take the flu vaccine, he will get some benefit from less mass vaccination program. This is so because the unvaccinated will be living in a more protected population and therefore will be less likely to be exposed to the disease.

Q. Are there any special recommendations on swine flu vaccination for pregnant women?
 A. The Public Health Service Advisory Committee on Immunization Practice states that women who are pregnant should be considered as having essentially the same balance of benefits and risks regarding swine vaccination and influenza as the general population. The Committee noted that while physicians generally avoid prescribing unnecessary drugs and biologics for pregnant women, it is not necessary to avoid them why the swine influenza vaccine, which is a killed virus vaccine, should not be given to pregnant women.

Q. How would you go about such a widespread immunization program?
 A. The nation has never attempted an immunization program of such scope and intensity. It will require a major effort by both the public and private sectors. Essentially, the plan relies on the Federal government for its purchasing power, technical leadership, and coordination, on State and local health agencies for their experience in conducting systematic immunization programs, and on private health care sector for its extensive medical and other health-related resources. The strategy is to tailor the approach to the opportunity and need — using mass immunization techniques where appropriate, but also using delivery points already in place, such as physicians' offices, health department clinics, and community health centers.

Q. Will the influenza vaccine make it?
 A. Most people will have no side effects from the vaccine. About three per cent may experience some minor discomfort for a short period, such as low grade fever. No serious side effects developed among the more than 5,000 persons who participated in field trials for the swine flu vaccine. Extensive country during the fall of 1957. In early September, the highly populated areas of the East were hit. About the same time, outbreaks were reported in New Mexico, Utah and Arizona. During October, the epidemics seemed to progress toward the central and northern areas of the country, although the southeastern states were involved relatively late. The epidemic reached its peak in late October. A second wave of deaths reached its peak in late February 1958, but epidemics had greatly decreased in frequency by then. In the U.S., the fall and winter waves are thought to have caused nearly 70,000 deaths. It is estimated that about 45,000,000 cases of influenza occurred in this

Q. What about the spread of the Hong Kong strain?
 A. The first recorded epidemic of this pandemic strain occurred in Hong Kong in July 1968. It spread rapidly to the Far East, India and northern Australia by early fall. Despite documented introductions of this strain into many parts of the world, only the United States reported major nationwide epidemics for the fall and winter of 1968-69. It was a year before Europe, Northern Asia and many other parts of the world were to feel the full effect of pandemic Hong Kong influenza. In the United States, the first outbreaks in the civilian population developed in Puerto Rico and Alaska in late September and early October. California recorded the first civilian outbreak in the continental U.S. in the third week in October. Additional outbreaks were soon reported from four additional western states and Hawaii, but outbreaks did not occur on the East Coast until mid-November. The Southeastern and South Central areas were the last to experience outbreaks, and by December 28 the influenza outbreak had involved all 50 states. An estimated 33,000 deaths were caused by the 1968-69 Hong Kong epidemic in the United States. Approximately 50 million persons in this country were affected by this disease. The cost to the nation for this one epidemic year has been estimated at $3.8 billion.

Q. The most severe influenza pandemic in recent years was the Asian flu of 1957-58. How rapidly did it spread, and how many people were afflicted with the disease?
 A. Beginning in central China in February 1957, the Asian strain of influenza virus rapidly spread to Hong Kong, Taiwan, Singapore and neighboring countries. By June, reports of influenza-like illness came from Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, England, the United States and the Midwest. In the United States, the first case was involved first with an outbreak beginning in June, Louisiana and Mississippi experienced

The Disease
 Influenza (flu) is caused by viruses. When people get flu they may have fever, chills, headache, dry cough or muscle aches. Illness may last several days or a week or more, and complete recovery is usual. However, complications may lead to pneumonia or death in some people. For the elderly and people with diabetes or heart, lung, or kidney diseases, flu may be especially serious.

It is unlikely that you have adequate natural protection against swine flu, since it has not caused widespread human outbreaks in 45 years.

The Vaccine
 The vaccine will not give you flu because it is made from killed viruses. Today's flu vaccines cause fewer side effects than those used in the past. In contrast with some other vaccines, flu vaccine can be taken safely during pregnancy.

One shot will protect most people from swine flu during the next flu season; however, either a second shot or a different dosage may be required for persons under age 25. If you are under 25 and a notice regarding such information is not attached, this information will be provided to you wherever you receive the vaccine.

Possible Vaccine Side Effects
 Most people will have no side effects from the vaccine. However, tenderness at the site of the shot may occur and last for several days. Some people will also have fever, chills, headache, or muscle aches within the first 48 hours.

Special Precautions
 As with any vaccine or drug, the possibility of severe or potentially fatal reactions exists. However, flu vaccine has rarely been associated with severe or fatal reactions. In some instances people receiving vaccine have had allergic reactions. You should note very carefully the following precautions:

- Children under a certain age should not routinely receive flu vaccine. Please ask about age limitations if this information is not attached.
- People with known allergy to eggs should receive the vaccine only under special medical supervision.
- People with fever should delay getting vaccinated until the fever is gone.
- People who have received another type of vaccine in the past 14 days should consult a physician before taking the flu vaccine.

If you have any questions about flu or flu vaccine, please ask.

REGISTRATION FORM

I have read the above statement about swine flu, the vaccine, and the special precautions. I have had an opportunity to ask questions, including questions regarding vaccination recommendations for persons under age 25, and understand the benefits and risks of flu vaccination. I request that it be given to me or to the person named below of whom I am the parent or guardian.

INFORMATION ON PERSON TO RECEIVE VACCINE			FOR CLINIC USE
Name (Please Print)	Birthdate	Age	Clinic/Ident.
Address	County of Residence		Date Vaccinated
Signature of person to receive vaccine or Parent or Guardian			Date
			Manufacturer and Lot No.

Don't Forget Your Form

When you go to get your flu shot, you will have to sign a consent form, according to regulations. The form used is reproduced below. The actual form for the monovalent vaccine is white. A similar blue form has the word "bivalent" substituted for "monovalent." Forms are available in Wayne at the post office, the library, Benhack Clinic, Dr. Wiseman's clinic, Dr. Koeber's office, the First National Bank, the State

National Bank, Wayne Federal Savings and Loan, Wayne State College dormitories, and at the senior citizens center. Forms are also available at the banks in Winslow, Carroll and Hoskins. Completing the form in advance will save time during the clinics. Questions should be directed to Mrs. Robert Benhack at 375-2416 or Mrs. C.F. Maynard at 375-2297.

$50 Awarded

The 4th Wayne Herald weekly contest resulted in a dead heat. Two Wayne State College students, each residents of Morey Hall, tied with 15 of 20 correct picks.

They also picked the exact same tie breaker score of 20-7, Wayne State over Chadron. (Actual Score, 29-34). There were four other entries tied for second with 14 correct picks. The Oklahoma vs. Texas game scored incorrect because of a tie.

Richard Buntgen, Room 223, Morey Hall and Rick Heffner, Room 215, Morey Hall were each awarded a $25 Gift Certificate redeemable at one of the merchants listed below who sponsor this contest.

State Aid

It would have paid all by $2,297 of that amount into the state in additional income and sales taxes as its share of the tax increase needed to raise the additional state aid funds.
Butler said approval of the additional state aid funds "need not have involved an increase in state taxes." There are some 20 bureaus in the state government which have outlived their usefulness, he said, and cuts could have been made in their budgets to compensate for the additional state aid to education.
Butler declined to name any of the agencies because of the identities of people working for them.
Butler also said "some of the Democrats" in the non-partisan legislature would have voted to override the veto, but did not do so because they wished to support the governor. Butler declined to give any names "because they are running for office this year, too."

Al's Air Service made airplane rides available for a fee during the afternoon and about 50 people took advantage of the opportunity.
Moss shown in a hangar also promoted the cause of general aviation and Al Robinson provided some facts about the industry.

General aviation accounts for 80 per cent of the traffic at airports with control towers and instrument landings. In addition, general aviation aircraft accounts for 62 per cent of the air miles flown annually in the United States.
Airlines carry more total passengers, but general aviation carries more than 193 million.
The majority of general aviation flying, about 72 per cent, is for business purposes. Training and proficiency flying accounts for about 23 per cent, with sport and recreation flying making up the remaining five per cent. General aviation consumes about one-half of one per cent of the fuel consumed in the United States, Robinson said.

How did the fire start?
If every family will practice fire-prevention, remove newspapers and rubbish; have the furnace and pipes cleaned; see that hot pipes and chimney are insulated from combustible partitions and ceilings; plan with your children how they can escape from each room in the house - then one or more fire tragedies with loss of life may be avoided this winter.

Drive chairman John Nigh encouraged those attending the breakfast to bring for individual contributions of $5 to $10 to make this year's drive a success. Nigh emphasized that the sooner the workers contact those persons who haven't already donated, the quicker the drive will meet its goal.

Contributions from faculty members and employees of Wayne State College have gone way over the expected goal to give this year's United Way of Wayne fund drive a big boost towards its $13,000 goal.

As of Wednesday morning, a total of $17,725 had been collected from the college, representing 144 per cent of the projected $12,500 goal set at the beginning of the campaign four weeks ago.

Total amount collected for this year's drive reached $5,742.50 during Tuesday's breakfast meeting at the WSC Student Union, confirming UW officials' belief that this year's goal can be achieved.

Campaign captains are canvassing the business district and workers began this week to visit residents for their contributions.

Contributions from Wayne businesses are just short of 40 per cent of the needed $9,000. However, Nigh was optimistic that total will be reached soon.

So far $343 has been collected from teachers and employees of Wayne public schools, representing 69 per cent of the projected $500 goal. Local and county government employees have donated $114, or 22 per cent of the $500 goal, forecast to help meet this year's $13,000.

THREE BOY SCOUTS from Belden who received Scouting's highest honor Sunday were, from left, Charlie Vogel, David Fuchs and Todd Boling.

The town of Belden may be small, but when it comes to producing Eagle Scouts, it is no slouch. Three members of Troop 263 were presented Scouting's highest honor, bringing the total to nine scouts from the Northeast Nebraska community who have earned the honor.
Receiving the Eagle award were Charlie Vogie, David Fuchs and Todd Boling during a Court of Honor at the Union Presbyterian Church in Belden.
A 17 year old junior at Laurel High, Charlie is a member of the local school basketball team. He also serves as senior patrol leader for his troop and is an Ordeal member of the Order of the Arrow. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Vogie, Charlie belongs to Immanuel Lutheran Church in Coleridge.
David, 15, is a sophomore at Randolph High where he has lettered in band and wrestling.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride
"Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever. Do noble things, not dream them, all day long..."
Charles Kingsley

When credit is given for good intentions, all of us can be Saints. There is no harm in dreaming... planning the noble things we intend to do someday. But, if the program ends with mere dreaming, nothing worthwhile has been accomplished. Good people, who make no claim to being clever, are the salt of this earth. They do the "noble" things... the acts of friendship, help for those who need encouragement... instinctively, without thought of praise or any gain except their own satisfaction in practicing the Golden Rule. Most families come to us as a result of a recommendation from a family we have already served.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 years ago
 Oct. 17, 1946: Milton B. Childs, superintendent of the Humboldt, Nebr., school has been chosen registrar for WSTC succeeding Dr. E. J. Good, who went to La Grande, Oregon. A crowd estimated at more than 500 gathered at the Wayne municipal auditorium Friday evening to welcome the state Republican caravan at a big party rally. Showers, gas stoves and electric refrigerators for the Quonset huts being constructed at east Seventh for housing married college veterans, arrived last week.

25 years ago
 Oct. 11, 1951: Jack Langemeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Langemeier, Wayne, exhibited the Grand Champion steer at the Ak-Sar Ben Livestock show last week. This gives Wayne the championship for the third time in four years. Dean Nuernberger returned Thursday to his home in Wakefield from Europe where he had been attending school near Paris this past summer. One thousand people were present for morning and afternoon services when St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Winside, observed their 60th anniversary Sunday. All services were held in the Winside municipal auditorium. Rev. H. M. Hilpert is pastor.

20 years ago
 Oct. 18, 1956: Wayne county's annual American Legion and Auxiliary convention will be held at the Winside Legion Hall next Thursday night. County Commander Harvey Podal announced today that Wayne Prep's FFA livestock judging team was awarded a blue ribbon at the District III contest last Tuesday at Winside.

Scribner—Louis Lull was the top individual in the senior division. Other members of the Wayne team are Merle Roebber, Howard Fieer and Johnny Mohr.

15 years ago
 Oct. 12, 1961: Dean Townsend, 12-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes, Wayne, was one of the finalists in the thirteenth national Pillsbury baking competition last week. Dean entered the competition with a lemon-coconut-molasses cake, and for his received $100 cash plus a $200 wardrobe certificate, in addition to transportation and accommodations. Full accreditation was voted the Master's Degree program at Wayne State Teachers College by the executive board of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, according to word received Monday from Robert F. Sullivan, associate secretary of the NCA.

10 years ago
 Oct. 13, 1966: Main Street parking in Wayne is becoming more limited. The city council has banned more marking in certain areas. Also on the agenda at Tuesday's meeting was information on proposed improvement at the Wayne Country Club. A new administrator has taken over duties at the Wayne Hospital. He is Charles Thomas, who took over the position Oct. 3 coming here from LeMars, Ia. Two graduates of Winside High School last year volunteered for induction this month. They are Keith Gamble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gamble, Wayne, and Bob Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wagner, Winside.

Who's feeding golden egg goose?

How much money can our society afford to devote to welfare, or "income transfer" programs? In an election year, that's a subject sure to be debated with much more heat than light.

It's unfortunate that emotion clouds the issue, because the issue is important — perhaps crucial — to the future of our economy, and there are scientific ways of looking at it.

One of the best income transfer primers I've seen appeared in the Spring, 1976, edition of The Public Interest quarterly. It was an article written by an economist, Edgar K. Browning, and entitled "How much more quality can we afford?" In spots it's heavy going, but any reasonably intelligent person should be able to understand it, and any citizen who wants to be well informed ought to make the effort.

Browning makes two points that will startle some casual students of the subject.

— Income statistics based on money income alone tend to exaggerate the extent of poverty, since many low-income families now receive substantial amounts of aid in the form of "in-kind" subsidies (such as food stamps, Medicaid and housing allowances). While in-kind transfers per person rose from $42 to $657 between 1961 and 1973 — or 1,464 per cent — cash transfers rose only 172 per cent.

A tendency to look only at money income causes some welfare theorists to state that the distribution of income in the U.S. has not changed significantly since World War II. But, says Browning, "When in-kind transfers... are counted as income, the average poor family in 1973 had an income that was approximately 30 per cent above the poverty line. In terms of the average income of officially poor families, there is practically no poverty — statistically speaking — in the United States today, and indeed, there has not been for several years."

(Remember, Browning is speaking of averages. If you have no doubt that there are individual cases of hardship resulting from the way the welfare rules are drawn and for various other reasons.)

— We may be nearing the point where the costs — in productive incentives — of transferring additional income will cripple the economic growth rate, resulting in less total wealth to be divided by anyone's formula.

In support of this point, Browning states that "marginal tax rates" are already between 35 and 50 per cent for middle income and upper-income families, if local, state and federal taxes are counted ("Marginal tax rate" refers to the rate that applies to the next dollar you earn).

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Automakers are making no secret of their plans to trim the poundage off of future models.

A major reason for lopping off the poundage is a Federal order which calls for an average miles per gallon figure of all the cars one company produces. The Feds are asking for an average of 27.5 miles per gallon of gasoline by 1985. To meet it, one manufacturer says all of us must be buying subcompact or smaller-sized passenger cars.

Many factors enter into the miles per gallon record of any automobile. Not everyone drives in the same manner. Some of us have a heavy foot, like to zip off when the signal light switches "green." A steady foot on the accelerator on four lane highways will give better gas mileage. If the Environmental Protection Agency hasn't told you already, there is a whole of a difference in gas consumption between city and highway driving.

The American Automobile Association, coming up with some cost figures on how much it takes to run your car, says weight is the most important factor in how many miles a car gets per gallon of fuel. For every 100 pounds of weight that is added to your car there is a fuel penalty of one to two per cent, according to AAA. So, it figures that a 2,500-pound car (mini-size) would consume 50 per cent less fuel than a 5,000-pound station wagon.

Telling an owner of a perfectly good full-sized or intermediate car that he is going to get better gas mileage on his next product really doesn't do much for him at the present time. There are some sound suggestions that can save fuel now.

One is very simple. Obey the 55-mile per hour speed law. The difference between 55 mph and 70 mph can be substantial.

Under-inflated tires cost you money on two fronts. On poorer gas mileage; two, shorter tire life which begins with more wear on the tire edges. If you over-inflate, gas mileage is better but it wears out the center of the tread a lot faster. Spark plugs, fan-belt timing, carburetor, distributor points all influence economy. The magic word is tune-up, and it can work wonders when it comes to lowering the energy appetite of the family car.

OBSERVATIONS

Now is time for action

Most people in the Wayne area agree that it would be beneficial if more industries would locate here, but the actual task of attracting firms to add to the industrial base is usually left up to a relatively small group of hard-working individuals.

Now everyone interested in enhancing employment opportunities has a chance to help. An advertisement run on the classified ad page of recent issues of the Wayne Herald asks for applications for work in a manufacturer interested in locating in Wayne.

A front page story noted that the firm is a Nebraska-based electronic component manufacturing firm, which will remain unidentified until it has reached a decision about where to locate. O'Neill is also in the running.

The firm would employ 80 in its new plant, 40 each on day and night shifts. It takes little imagination to see what 80 new jobs would mean for the community and surrounding area.

Response to the advertisement is one of the factors which will be considered in determining where to locate the plant. If the people of Wayne and the surrounding area are really serious about wanting industry to locate here, now is the time to do something about it. Anyone interested in employment should write to Box ABC, c/o The Wayne Herald, 114 Main St., Wayne, NE 68787 — Jim Strayer.

Nebraska farmers 'miracle workers'

Expansion of irrigation and the tremendous gains in productivity of Nebraska farmers in the past 20 years has saved the economy of Nebraska in the three years of a drought cycle which corresponds roughly to that experienced in the mid-1950's.

Climate-wise, the years 1954-55-56, correspond roughly to the low precipitation period experienced by the state's farmers and ranchers in 1974-75-76. These have been tough years of survival for many farmers and ranchers, and the latest cycle has been complicated by inflated production costs and an extremely adverse cattle market situation.

But, it is noteworthy that despite the adversities of weather, inflation and some other factors, over-all production of crops and livestock has been maintained at relatively high levels. Nebraska has escaped the huge reductions in output that accompanied other drought periods.

For example, in 1956, the state's farmers harvested 5,312,000 acres of corn for a production total of 116.8 million bushels. In 1975, they harvested 5,920,000 acres for a production total of 503.2 million bushels. And, the estimate for the 1976 corn crop is for around 483 million bushels.

The big difference has been that today's crop is worth $4.50.

In 1955, Nebraska farmers marketed million head of cattle for $1.5 billion. Hog marketings in 1955 yielded $142 million as compared to $483 million in 1975.

Total farm income in Nebraska in 1955 amounted to $1.02 billion as compared with $4.3 billion in 1975 ($2.3 billion from crops and $1.9 billion from livestock.)

If Nebraska farmers who produced 116.8 million bushels of corn in that dry year of 1956 had been told that they would produce approximately 483 million bushels under similar drought conditions in 1976, they would have scoffed at someone having a "pipe dream."

The figures do not mean that farmers and ranchers are getting rich, far from it. Spiraling production costs continue to gobble up profits. But the comparisons do reflect miracles achieved by Nebraska agriculture and reason for continued optimism in the future. — M.M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation.

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Deadline for all legal notices to be published by The Wayne Herald is as follows: 5 p.m. Monday for Thursday's newspaper and 5 p.m. Thursday for Monday's newspaper.

Every government official or board that handles public money, should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it showing where and how each dollar is spent. We hold this to be a fundamental principle to democratic government.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met per adjournment with all members present. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper on Sept. 30, 1976.

The following reports of fees collected during the month of Sept and remitted to State and County Treasurers were approved as follows:

N. F. Weible, County Clerk — $1,615.35
John Ostrander, C.D.C. — $100.00
Don Weible, Sheriff — $300.00

The Quarterly Fee Report of Leon F. Weible, County Treasurer, was examined and approved.

Frank Brather, Chairman of the Wayne Municipal Airport Authority, met with the Board to discuss the request of the Airport Authority, which asked the County Commissioners to appoint two Wayne County citizens to a five member Airport Zoning Board. The Board of Commissioners has agreed into consideration and, after some study by them, will take action at their next meeting on Oct. 19, 1976.

A motion was made by Edellis to approve of the agreement between the State of Nebraska and the County of Wayne on the Winside County Road Project. The motion was seconded by Burt and roll-call vote resulted in all Ayes.

The following claims were audited and allowed. Warrants to be ready for distribution on October 15, 1976.

Don't worry if your evergreens are dropping their needles. Fall is the season for evergreens to shed their old needles. The trees tend to look spiky as the needles turn yellow brown.

The needles that turn brown and naturally fall off are two, three or four years old. These needles are located nearest the center of the tree. The younger green, healthy needles are located on the outside or at the ends of branches.

This needle browning is apparent for only a short period of time as the rain or wind will knock these needles to the ground and the tree will again appear normal.

If upon inspection of the trees, you notice your needles or needles that are only partially brown you may have a disease or insect problem.

Soil Sampling Your Lawn and Garden

Do you have areas in your lawn where nothing seems to grow? Is your garden still unproductive even after many hours of hard work?

The best method of determining your lawn or garden fertilizer needs is by a soil test. Soil samples can be taken with a spade or soil probe. Sampling depth of approximately six inches is adequate.

One soil sample consisting of several soil cores from a lawn or garden area is usually adequate. Try to avoid getting undecomposed organic matter into the sample such as leaves or dead grass. Scraping the top layer of organic matter away, then probing the soil will result in a more representative sample of soil.

The soil samples can be brought into the Extension Office where they will be sent to the laboratory at Lincoln for complete analysis. Recommendations then will be sent to you as to what fertilizer you should use.

Applying Mulch

A mulch can be applied too early in the fall. Plants go through a hardening off process (get ready for winter) during the fall. Excessive soil moisture levels and a corresponding increase in soil temperatures may slow down the hardening off process. Because mulches conserve soil moisture they may also slow down the hardening off process.

The main objective of a winter mulch in your garden is to modify soil temperatures during the winter. This is accomplished because the mulch aids in the retention of soil water.

Perennial plants should go into the winter with a moist soil. However, the winter mulch and additional soil water should be supplied after the first hard frost in the fall.

Save mulching material such as leaves, newspaper, straw, peat moss and well rotted animal manures until later in the fall growing season. Mulch your perennial garden plants after the leaves turn color and drop.

Taking Shape

ONE OF several downtown businesses in Wayne which are taking the first steps to remodel is Allied Lumber Co., on South Main. Manager Tom Ortmeier said the project involved repainting the building and touchup work, including new signs on the front and side of the building. Putting up part of the sign are employees Steve Joy, left and Pat Albert. The other half of the sign rests on a flatbed truck.

Government Regulation Is Prime Meeting Topic

Government regulation and interference in the agricultural market place will be the controversial theme of one entire day of the Midwestern Conference on Food and Social Policy to be held later this month in Sioux City.

The three-day conference to be held Oct. 21, 22 and 23 will present a rare opportunity for farmers, consumers and the so-called middleman to compare notes on some of the 'gut' issues facing modern agribusiness with public and private policy makers and scholars.

The subject of government controls on agriculture will take up the entire last day of the conference on Saturday, Oct. 23. The chairman of the Republican Conference Committee in the U.S. House of Representatives, Congressman John Anderson of Illinois, will be the featured speaker at the noon luncheon that day. He is expected to

COMPUTERS HIT THE SUPERMARKET

Computerized cash registers that blink digital printouts of purchases are showing up in some clothing and department stores in Nebraska. This computerized check out system is now moving into the supermarket.

You may have already noticed a series of lines and bars on labels of many food products you buy. This labeling system is part of the Universal Product Code, a standard computerized system for coding food products.

The UPC label consists of two parts: A series of parallel bars and numbers that give the identification of the manufacturer, and a second section that gives the number of an exact item and a package size. So each item has its own identification.

Instead of clerks manually punching up the price of each food product on the cash register, the items will be passed over a scanner and the price will be recorded on the computer.

The computer is hooked up to a cable system which would convert the information into the price and print it on the sales slip.

For the grocer, the UPC system means a speedier check out and improved accuracy. The system can also be programmed to keep the store's inventory, and might even be capable of reordering particular items.

For the consumer, the code will give a better record of the items purchased and their cost. A typical sales receipt would show the brand name of the product, which items were taxable, and would automatically weigh produce, showing the weight of the product on the receipt.

If five cans of corn were purchased at a sale price of five for one dollar, the system would punch out 22 cents for each can the first four times, and 12 cents for the last time, to make up the difference.

The computer could also be programmed to run a separate total of items that could be covered by food stamps, and will show the amount of change to be received. Even trading stamps could be automatically calculated and dispensed by the new computer system.

describe ways government bureaucrats, and red tape interfere with the efficient production and distribution of food.

The issue of federal grain inspection will be the subject of a panel discussion earlier in the same day. Iowa Sixth District Congressman Berkeley Bedell, a strong advocate of grain inspection reform, will lead the panel discussion. The panel will include the Washington bureau chief of the Des Moines Register, James Risser, who broke the story about grain inspection scandals several months ago. E. W. Cook, the president of one of the major grain export companies, Cook Industries, will present his views which are expected to be in contrast to the story about grain inspection scandals, several months ago. Waldstein, president of Stalcup Agricultural Service, Inc. of Storm Lake, Ia. Waldstein is an advocate of more comprehensive grain inspection controls. Current federal government policy on the subject will be outlined by Leslie Malone, Chief, Inspection Branch, Grain Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The registration fee for the entire three-day conference, which includes all sessions and five meals, is $47. Those interested in attending just one day of the conference may pay a $5 registration fee for each day they will be attending. This fee does not include any meals.

Registration opens the afternoon before the conference begins (October 20) at the Hilton Hotel in downtown Sioux City. Registration will continue at the hotel throughout the conference. All day sessions will be held at the Hilton. No registration is necessary for the evening sessions which will be held at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City.

The Midwestern Conference on Food and Social Policy is sponsored by Morningside College, with a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities and in association with the Iowa Humanities Board, Iowa Beef Producers, Inc. and KCAU TV.

Homecoming College Style

A car operated by Emma Beler, rural Wayne, struck a vehicle driven by Shirley Fredrickson, rural Wayne, about 3:50 p.m. Tuesday on Pearl Street between Second and Third.

Sunday morning about 3:20 police were summoned to Karels, 113 Main, where a door frame had been reported damaged. No signs of forced entry were found.

A orange colored farm gate was reported missing about 1:10 p.m. Saturday from Sherry Boy, Inc. 116 W. First. No value was given.

Two screens were removed from the north side of the ASCS office, 120 Logan, Friday.

A No Parking sign was reported stolen from the corner of 10th and Winson about 1 p.m. on Wednesday of last week.

MAKING HIS bid for Nebraska's senatorial seat is Omaha mayor John Zorinsky who was in Wayne Monday to speak to members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club. Zorinsky outlined some of his proposals he would like Congress to look at.

including setting up a committee of cattle ranchers and feeders to come up with solutions to problems for the agriculture producer. Following his talk, Zorinsky, right, chats with Kiwanian Ray Schreiner.

Democrat candidate for the U.S. Senate, mayor Ed Zorinsky of Omaha said Monday he favors appointing a committee of cattle ranchers and cattle feeders to help find possible solutions to the growing problems facing farmers. About $164 billion of American money goes to 154 foreign nations to help them, but there aren't any funds or programs to help the American farmer, Zorinsky told members of the Wayne Kiwanis Club. "The farmer is caught between two of the worst worlds, instability of market prices and inflation," he said adding that "we better start covering the production cost of farmers, if agriculture is to stay alive in this country." Zorinsky went on to say that he favors halting investment of U.S. tax dollars into foreign countries to help the American farmer. Turning to the embargo of American grains shipped to foreign countries, the mayor pointed out that President Ford has the authority to call a lift on an embargo anytime he feels it may hurt the economy. Other topics Zorinsky touched on: -School busing - He opposes mandatory school busing to obtain equal education because it is "utter foolishness." He reasoned that a family moved to a certain location mainly to be near a school for the sake of their children. Most parents do not want to have their children driven to another school. -National health insurance - Zorinsky doesn't favor it because he feels private insurance companies can do a much better job at a lower price. -Right to work law - Supports it. -Use of nuclear energy - A
