Test Results Encouraging

Achievement levels of Wayne-Carroll students continue to exceed the national norm, according to the results of tests, distributed Monday night to school board members.

Students in grades five through eight are tested annually. The Wayne-Carroll systems receives test results, showing how local youngsters compare with the national average.

In general, the 1976 results follow the pattern of previous years, schools superintendent Francis Haun said, with the aggregate scores for Wayne-Carroll students averaging in the 54th to 72nd percentile nationally.

"We feel that in general we're doing well," Haun said. "When the average scores for the system are well above the 50th percentile in all areas, things can't be too bad."

Half the students in the nation who took the test rank below the 50th percentile, and half rank above, Haun explained.

Haun said results of testing for use of reference sources are particularly encouraging. Scores have been rising steadily the past few years for Wayne-Carroll students. Haun attributed the improvement to intensive work by school librarians to teach students to use the library resources.

Test results, with the skill listed first and then the percentile average for Wayne-Carroll students, are:

— Fifth grade: composite, 64; reading, 67; language arts, 59; mathematics, 58; social studies, 62; science, 62; use of sources, 69.

— Sixth grade: composite, 67; reading, 67; language arts, 65; mathematics, 63; social studies, 64; science, 76; use of sources, 73.

District court judge George Dittich Nov. 3 ordered a presentence investigation following a guilty plea entered by Clifford Hurlbert of Neligh on one charge of pig stealing.

Hurlbert had originally been charged with two counts of pig stealing, a felony, in connection with thefts from the Brian Kai farm May 12 and May 20. The charge stemming from the May 12 incident was dropped.

Dittich continued Hurlbert's $2,500 bond.

His brother, Terry Wayman, was sentenced to 24 months probation under the May 12 count and ordered to pay $45.50 in court costs.

The brothers were also both ordered to pay costs of court-appointed counsel. Both are from Pender and both were sentenced Oct. 6.

Smith is scheduled to be at the Wayne Vet's Club at 3:15 p.m. Accompanying him will be state commander Carl Schroeder and junior vice commander Wayne Anderson, as well as other VFW state officials.

Sperry said the visit will be informative and he hopes that as many local members and auxiliary members as possible will be at the Vet's Club to visit with Smith.

The visit by the national commander will follow closely that annual parade in Wayne today (Thursday), celebrating traditional Veterans' Day, Nov. 11.

Sperry said the parade will begin at 10 a.m. in front of L.I.J. Duffer at the corner of Seventh and Main Streets.

Included in the parade will be local VFW and American Legion members, members of the auxiliaries of both organizations, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and marching bands from the Wayne Middle and High schools.

Keynote speaker will be Bill Fagon, a retired Marine colonel and now a Wayne State College faculty member. The parade will halt for Fagon's address in front of the Vet's Club and will then resume, proceeding to the corner of First and Main Streets where it will disperse.

Wayne County Lagging State In Retail Sales Increases

New taxable retail sales in Nebraska totaled $1,638 for the second quarter period of 1976, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research.

The dollar volume of taxed sales represents a 12-per cent gain over the amount recorded during the corresponding period in 1975.

Retail commodity prices have increased about 4.8 per cent since the second quarter of 1975 and population has increased about one-half of one per cent. Thus, the real, or physical volume of aggregate and per capita sales exceeded that the second quarter by about 12 percentage points, a favorable situation, the Business Bureau said.

For Wayne County, the increase in retail activity was somewhat less than the state average, but the 14.2 per cent increase recorded locally was still enough to exceed increases accounted for by commodity prices. The average increase in retail activity in Planning Region 11, which also include Antelope, Madison, Pierce, and Stanton Counties, was 28.7-per cent, considerably above the 17 per cent state average.

Antelope was the leader in the region, recording a 38.7 per cent increase. Pierce County recorded a 33.2 per cent increase, followed by Madison County with a 29.7 per cent increase. Stanton County made the poorest showing in the region, increasing by 11.4 per cent.

Wayne County shows the least amount of increase in the region for 1976 to date, compared with the same 1975 period. Those percentages are: Pierce County, 44.6; Stanton County 34; Madison County, 28.7; Antelope County, 25.5 and Wayne County, 21.4.

Dixon County recorded a 26.1 per cent increase when the 1975 and 1976 second quarters were compared. The other counties in Region 25, Cedar and Knox, recorded 17.4 and 19.1 per cent increase, respectively. Regional average was 119.6.

Gas Rate Boosted

Peoples Natural Gas customers will be paying about five per cent more for gas effective Dec. 27.

The Wayne city council Tuesday night approved a rate increase requested by the natural gas distributor. Gas rates will increase by an average of 7.9 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Keith Mosley, manager of the Peoples Natural Gas district headquartered in Wayne, told the council in making the request that the company is seeking the general increase because operation costs have increased by about 15 per cent in the past year and because the company has spent about $178,000 in order to comply with federal pipeline safety regulations.

The rate hike is the second general increase in the past 10 years, Mosley said. The last general increase was granted in August, 1975.

Responding to a councilman's question, Mosley said the outlook for natural gas to residential customers in Wayne is good regarding supplies to established customers, but added that the outlook for potential growth is not good.

Mosley also revealed that while natural gas consumers cut consumption by about 10 per cent during the height of the so-called energy crisis in 1973, the average consumption per customer is now greater than it was before then.

The sheriff's department is also investigating vandalism which occurred at the rural District 75 school house last week. Vandals broke into the school either late the night of Nov. 4 or early the next morning.

Wayne-Carroll Board Sets RIF Policy

The Wayne-Carroll board of education Monday night approved a policy which will serve as a guideline if the school system is forced to reduce its teaching staff because of declining enrollment.

The reduction in force (RIF) sets forth six factors which will be given consideration in determining which teachers will be retained: performance evaluations, contribution to the activity program, program to be offered, areas of certification and endorsement which may be required to maintain accreditation, special qualifications, and state and federal regulations.

In the absence of those considerations, length of uninterrupted service will be the sole determining factor and part time employees will have the lowest priority for retention.

The policy also provides that teachers released because of a reduction in faculty will be considered "released with honor" so that termination will not adversely affect employment opportunities elsewhere.

Teachers terminated for reason of force reduction will be given priority consideration for substitute teaching opportunities.

Provisions also made for individual hearings with the board of education prior to final action on reduction in force termination.

The school board approved a change in computer services for the school district. A Sioux City bank now provides payroll com-

Municipal Taxi Proving Costly

The Wayne municipal taxi carried 87 passengers in October at a cost to the city of about $3 each.

Mayor Freeman Decker said Tuesday night that he is very disappointed in results of the taxi operation as revealed by a report prepared by city administrator Fred Brink.

Total income from the 82 fares transported by the taxi was $41. Labor costs for taxi operation during October was $286.20. Total cost of operation, including driver's salary and gasoline, but excluding vehicle depreciation, taxi license fees, and other expenses was $297.72. Net cost was $256.72, for an average loss of $3.13 for each passenger carried.

The average number of calls per day was six. Decker said that is below the summertime average and that while he has received inquiries from people anxious for the service to continue, he is disappointed in the use being made of the service.

Regional Foreign Language Project Financed by Grant

The Center for the Development of the Humanities at Wayne State College last week was notified that it will receive a $6,435 grant to plan a regional study program for foreign languages.

The grant, conferred by the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), in Washington, D.C., will be matched by $5,970 from WSC for a total amount of $12,405.

The grant closely follows a previous grant conferred to initiate a Midwestern culture program.

Beginning Dec. 1, the foreign language program will begin work to complete a regional community survey regarding foreign languages, to establish four workshops in different locations in the region, and to schedule a weekend seminar at WSC.

Counties included in the survey are Dakota, Thurston, Burt, Cuming, Wayne, Stanton, Pierce, Madison, Antelope, Knox, Cedar, and Dixon.

The largest number of greenbacks, $2,400 from NEH, will provide for the hiring of two outside consultants to plan, supervise, and evaluate area workshops. Local funds of $4,740 make up the salary figure for Wayne State faculty members involved in the program.

Under support personnel, Director of the foreign language project is Dr. Donald Schuller, chairman for the Humanities Center, also head of the division of humanities at WSC.

He and Dr. Irvin Brandt first sketched the proposal, submitting it to the foreign language department at WSC, the Humanities Center, college administrators and Mel Nielsen, foreign language consultant for the State Department of Education.

Brandt is vice-president for research and development at WSC.

A more formal proposal was then developed for further submission to the State Foreign Language Association.

Responsible for the encouragement of regional programs was Dr. Clarence Mondale of George Washington University, NEH consultant to the Humanities programs at Wayne State College. Mondale, who urged, the faculty in the program to involve themselves more deeply in regional concerns.

Through the foreign language project, the center intends to define the present state of foreign language instruction in the region. Other goals stress community involvement in foreign languages, the instruction of trends and offshoots in languages, plus the definition of community and educators' roles with foreign languages.

A grant application states that the foreign language proposal "is intended to bring together

National Guard Gets Refund

The Nebraska National Guard will be receiving a $9,310.77 refund from the City of Wayne for overcharges on electric bills over the past 11 years.

City administrator Fred Brink told the city council Tuesday night that Wayne National Guard administrative technician Dennis Spangler had been asked by the state adjutant general why electric bills for the Wayne armory were always the highest in the state, often twice as high as for other armories of about the same size.

At Spangler's request the city checked and discovered that an error had been made when the electric meter had been installed at the armory. The ratio of the gears inside the meter did not correspond with a rating printed on the meter casing, resulting in the armory being billed for more electricity than it was using.

City electric system supervisor Bill Mellor said a check of city records reveals that the meter was purchased by National Guard in 1965 and installed by the city.

Tricks and Traits Of the Gourmet

by Gus

The holiday season is a time when the good smells of bread and pies and cookies drift through the house and greet each caller who opens the door. From now through Christmas, the Wayne Herald will be helping mom dress up the house with holiday smells by printing favorite recipes of Gus Ward, a Wayne chef. In his first in a series of recipes, Gus proves there's more than one way to fix a turkey.

Roast Turkey Wayside Inn

Everyone has his own favorite turkey recipe, but I am partial to this one from the Wayside Inn which celebrates traditional Thanksgiving close to the scene of the original one. Fresh killed turkeys are best for flavor and moistness, but good quality frozen ones are good too. Long, slow cooking and frequent basting results in a beautifully browned bird with succulent flesh. By the way, the recipe is over 200 years old.

Ingredients
Turkey, salt, pepper, Wayside stuffing, butter, bacon, onions, cloves, celery, bay leaves, parsley, thyme, flour, cooked ham, cooked chicken, country sausage, day-old bread, eggs, sage, milk, marjoram and chicken stock

TURKEY

1. Preheat oven to moderate (325 F.)
2. Rub inside of a ready-to-cook 12 pound turkey with 1 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. pepper. Stuff body and neck cavities with Wayside stuffing. Truss legs and wings close to body. Rub skin with 1/2 cup butter and sprinkle with 1 tsp. salt and a little pepper. Place breast up in a shallow roasting pan and arrange 2 slices of bacon over the breast.
3. To roasting pan add 2 cups water, 1 onion stuck with 3 cloves, 1 stalk celery, 2 carrots, 2 bay leaves, 5 sprigs parsley and 1/2 tsp. thyme.
4. Cook turkey in moderate oven for 10 to 20 minutes per pound (13 to 14 hours), or until it is rich even brown, basting every 30 minutes with drippings in pan.
5. Place turkey on a large heated platter and serve with giblet gravy.

GIBLET GRAVY

While turkey is cooking, simmer the turkey giblets, neck and wing tips in 1 quart water for two hours. When turkey is arranged on serving platter, strain liquid in roasting pan and let fat rise to surface. Return 6 Tbs. fat to baking pan. Stir in 6 Tbs. flour and cook for five minutes, stirring in all the brown bits from bottom and sides of pan. Stir in 3 cups combined stock from giblets and liquid from basting pan (degreased) and cook, stirring until gravy is thickened and smooth. Add the chopped giblets.

WAYSIDE BREAD STUFFING

Makes 8 cups

1. In skillet melt 1/2 cup butter. Add 2 onions, chopped, 2 stalks celery, chopped, and cook over low heat for 10 minutes.
2. Add 1 cup finely diced cooked chicken meat, 1/2 cup country sausage and cook for five minutes longer, stirring occasionally.
3. Pour mixture over 6 cups day-old bread crumbs in large mixing bowl. Add 4 eggs, lightly beaten, 1 tsp. crumbled sage, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 1/2 tsp. thyme, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. marjoram and 1/2 tsp. salt. Mix lightly and stir in 1/2 cup chicken stock to moisten.

Defense, Defense

THE WILDCATS Saturday came up with their biggest defensive effort of the season when the home team held Peru to minus yardage throughout most of the contest. Helping to hold Peru steadily behind the line was defensive linebacker Dwight Lienemann (33) of Winside, who in this play bats down an aerial by Bobcat signal caller Mark Fletcher.

The average American in a lifetime of 68 years eats the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, 8 steers, and 4 calves.

Home Fiance Will Be Slugfest or Romp

Claw-Digging Cats Face Dakota State

An offensive romp or a defensive slugfest — one or the other is likely to result when Wayne State meets Dakota State in football combat Saturday afternoon. The Wildcat's final home game will start at 1:30 in Memorial Stadium.

If Wayne's defense mounts a claw-digging effort to equal last Saturday's blanking of Peru State, the second option could repulse Wayne fans. The Wildcats shoved Peru for minus 81 yards rushing and minus 27 on a total offense while the offense produced a 20-0 win.

That kind of performance could provide a new experience for the 7-2 Trojans of Madison, S.D., who have not scored less than 20 points all season. They have totaled 275 points, averaging 30, while opponent points add up to 159.

Major factor in the Dakota State attack is running back Jeff Rodman, who may or may not be healthy for the Wayne game. Two Saturday back, a 7-foot-2-inch Rodman was injured ankle took him out of the game in first quarter, and the Trojans lost to Dakota Wesleyan, 26-22.

Even with that brief duty, Rodman still ranked No. two in national NAIA rushing with a 148-yard average. No. one in scoring at 114 points. He also is a handy pass receiver and occasional passer. Last Saturday he played only briefly as Dakota State whacked Sioux Falls, 43-7.

A year ago when Wayne played at Dakota State, Rodman ran the first play 74 yards for a touchdown. But he finished with a 78-yard net and the team with 70 net. The Wildcats rolled up a 46-14 triumph.

Coach Del Stollenberg describes Rodman as a "Fine, fast and steady runner — but he can be stopped."

"Stop" was the word when Wayne met Peru's offense. Wildcat defenders sacked two Bobcat quarterbacks 14 times and allowed one rush as far as seven yards. On one series in the fourth quarter when Peru deployed the shotgun formation, Wildcats chased the quarterback for losses of 11, 12 and eight yards. Peru logged three first downs, all in first half.

Only once did Peru penetrate far into Wayne land — that time on a pair of passes reaching the Wildcat four. Two runs put Peru on the two. Then an incomplete pass. Finally, a fake field goal which became a pass into the end zone, batted down by Wayne defensive tackle Duane Carlson.

He had a fireworks day: sacking or helping to sack the quarterback eight times, making four solo tackles, seven assists. Defensive end Gary Krafcik rates mention for four tackles, one forced fumble, a blocked punt and five sacks or assists. Who else needs mention? Says Stollenberg: "You could mention anybody on defense."

How about Wayne's offense? Some mentionables there too: Like freshman tailback Bob Barry, who logged 78 yards running, scored one touchdown on a dandy six-yard run and had another TD erased by penalty.

And there was split-end Maurice Mintken who got his first touchdown pass since early season, a 32-yarder from Kevin Mahlberg. More important, it restored potency to Wayne passing which had gone two games without a completion. This time Mahlberg connected on five of nine for 83 yards. He kicked two extra points also.

Fullback Kirk Gardner had to settle for 23 yards rushing, including one yard for a touchdown. He had a 14-yard TD nullified by penalty, and another time he was catapulting for another score when Peru stripped the ball at the one-yard line.

The win put Wayne at 3-6 overall, 1-1 in Nebraska College Conference play, with a chance to share the championship by downing Kearney Nov. 20. Peru is 2-7 and 1-2.

Hopes Vanish For Regional Spike Title

All hopes of regional play vanished for the Wayne State volleyball girls this weekend.

A Saturday morning loss to Concordia — a final Wildcat win over Wesleyan nudged Wayne into third, leaving Kearney state defenders and Concordia with the top-honor battle.

Kearney defended well, sweeping Concordia with 15-4 and 15-0 scores. This first and second place pair now move on to regional play set for November 18, 19, and 20 in Brookings, S.D.

State tourney play started well for the Wildkittens. Finishing on top of their six-team pool, the Cats defeated Creighton twice Thursday and split wins with a powerful Midland Friday. They had no trouble defeating Wesleyan with 15-6 and 15-7 scores. Peru, they trumped twice; again wins were split with Chadron.

But the Concordia loss was the final zonker for the Wildkittens. See HOPES, page 5.

Dodge Nips Wakefield In Regional

Potent Dodge is on its way to the state Class C volleyball tournament in Scottsbluff.

The Pirates of coach Ruth Ruzicka posted their 18th win Saturday night by downing Wakefield in three sets to earn a berth in the state meet Friday.

Dodge, 18-1, will play Ulrica Centennial, 11-4, at 5 p.m.

Dodge opened to regional action at Norfolk High's auditorium with a 15-11 victory and closed it in the final set with a narrow 15-12 decision.

In between, Wakefield mustered its best showing of the night by jumping off to an 8-0 lead behind the serving of senior Mary Kober before the Trojanettes of Ernie Kovar sealed the win with a 15-3 victory.

"We couldn't be disappointed in the way we played. We may not have looked as good as we have in the past, but that may be attributed to the fine play of Dodge," Kovar pointed out. In the same breath, the coach added that Dodge fans said their team didn't look as good. "And I'd like to think that we had something to do with that."

A solid combination of spikes, sets and breaks kept the momentum in Wakefield's favor in the second set, but Dodge quickly turned the game around in the final match. The winners took a 6-0 lead before the Trojanettes battled back to take a 10-9 lead. Dodge then rattled off four straight points and went on to stake the victory.

Finishing the season with a 12-5 record, Wakefield has everything to be proud of about the way the team came through in the last part of the season, Kovar said.

For the night, Kober led point-makers with 11, followed by Lisa Paul with eight, Lynn Holm with seven, Robin Mills with five, Kathy Schwartz with three and Renee Wilson and Mary Ann Hansen with two each.

Holm was the top spiker for Wakefield with 10; Mary Prochaska had nine in sets, Kober had four, Mills two.

'Spotlighters' Ruining Hunting for Sportsmen

A large body of game law violators is already out in force in rural Nebraska, but even the cover of night will not always be able to hide their illegal activities.

These violators are "spotlighters," opportunists out to make a fast buck on the fur market by illegally bagging a few raccoons. And many deer also fall victim to their illegal tactics, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

High fur prices in recent years, particularly for raccoons, has prompted many to seek them the easy way, by hunting country roads from vehicles equipped with powerful lights. Their tactics are illegal in many ways, and unsporting in every sense of the word.

According to Carl Gertmann, chief of the Commission's law enforcement division, the typical spotlighter violates at least one, but more likely two or three laws in the course of an evening. Use of a light from a vehicle is illegal in itself, and the act of shooting the animal usually violates regulations or statutes on shooting from the road and trespass.

"The spotlighter is not the kind of person who is going to worry very much about asking permission or other property rights of farmers or ranchers. Since they're shooting in the dark, they can't have much idea as to the whereabouts of people, livestock, buildings, equipment and the like, and they don't seem to care much about safety, either. They're mostly interested in shooting the raccoon and highlighting it out of there as fast as they can."

WS Hosting State NAIA District Run

The official finale for Wayne State cross country is scheduled Friday noon when the Wildcats host the Nebraska NAIA District run. Starting point for the five-mile run will be about 200 yards northeast of Memorial Stadium.

Most of the state's NAIA colleges are expected to enter, which means another weekend of stiff competition. Doane and Kearney State the likely front runners.

Last Saturday Wayne runners made their debut in Central States Intercollegiate Conference cross country and found it fast, as coach LeRoy Simpson predicted. He also picked the winner correctly: Pittsburg State, which placed five in the first eight for a low 28 points. All five ran under 26 minutes on Kearney's five-mile course.

Wayne finished fifth, with 147 points, behind second-place Fort Hays State, 47; Emporia State, third with 73; and Kearney State, fourth with 94. Missouri Western entered one runner. Washburn and Missouri Southern did not compete.

Wayne's first finisher, Don Rinehart, came in 27th at 27:56.

TO ADD a little spice to the Wayne-Kearney football game on Saturday, Nov. 20, seven members of Wayne State's cross country team are going to run a relay race from Wayne all the way to Kearney, a distance of some 220 miles.

The jaunt will start Friday of that week and go 22 hours straight, according to runners Al Litke and Andy Myrba, who proposed the Big Race during Thursday's Second Guessers meeting.

The pair figures out two routes to travel: Take Highway 15 south to David City, turn west on Highway 92 to Loup City then head to Kearney; or head to Norfolk, take Highway 81 on a zig-zag to Fullerton, Loup City then Kearney.

If all goes well, runners should average six minutes per mile. They're not exaggerating. Right now everything looks good with the help of several Wayne and area businessmen who said they would help foot the bill for transportation and food.

Bob Carhart of Carhart Lbr. Co. in Wayne said his firm will furnish gas for cars needed to haul runners and Dan Gardner of Milton C. Wadsworth Co. of Wakefield said he would chip in too. Oh yes, big-hearted college basketball coach Jim Seward volunteered to supply the water.

To make the relay a success, both runners pointed out that they will need several more persons to help share the running load. Any volunteers?

WHILE FLIPPING television channels Saturday for college football I caught a glimpse of professional golfers making those easy-looking 40-foot birdie putts. Kinda nice to watch the pros sink those shots under the warm inviting skies. Kinda look me back to my high school days when the sport was just getting started at my alma mater.

One of my high school instructors once asked why more students didn't go out for the sport. It's the only one she knew of in which a player gets on a course to enjoy the good weather and gets out of classes to boot.

IN THE mood for jogging? If you're looking for a place to run there are two good spots in town. Both track facilities at Wayne High and Wayne State are open to the public free of charge. The only request made of those persons willing to make the long jaunts is that they don't wear spiked shoes.

At the new high school oval, the door is located at the northwest corner of the track. To prevent any bicyclists from entering with their vehicles, there's a special "Joggers Door" which allows one person in at a time.

Big Rush

ONRUSHING Wayne linemen make a good attempt at blocking a Gary Rosenbeck punt in the first half of action Saturday. Among the steady stream of Cat defensive players are Dave Carper (86) and Ray Wagner (20).

Dalton, Pigg, Saunders Scoop Up Awards

Dalton, who led rushers this season with 291 yards on 124 carries, was named the Most Valuable Player on offense and winner of the Senior Price award.

Pigg, who was a standout on defense, earned the Most Valuable Player on defense. Saunders earned the Most Improved Player award for his performance on the line.

Parents of the award-winners are Mrs. Joyce Dalton, Mrs. Darlene Pigg, both of Laurel, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Saunders of Dixon.

A total of 27 players and managers were presented letter awards for their play on this year's 4-5 club. Coach Joe Boyle made the presentation with the help of his staff. Afterward, the coach introduced guest speaker John Dornan, head football coach at Morningside College in Sioux City.

Dornan spoke about the North Central Conference, of which his team belongs, and told the audience of about 125 that a lot of good players on his club have been recruited from eastern Nebraska.

Receiving their monograms were: Senior — Dwight Anderson,

Calvin Bingham, Mike Dalton, Tim Harrington, Gordon Kardell, Keith Knudsen, Garth Paulsen, Dennis Stindlar, Cleve Stolpe, Doug Thompson and student manager Dan Hanson.

Juniors — Randy Bloom, Toby Cunningham, Mike Martin, Klyde Matthews, Scott Pigg.

Freshmen — Paul Guern, student manager Doug Lufe.

Hank Needs Those Uniforms

All youths who participated in city recreation football this fall are asked to turn in their gear this week or next.

Coach Hank Overin requests the youths to have their uniforms cleaned and turned in to him at the Middle Center, located above the fire hall on the 100 block of Second Street.

The Middle Center will be open tonight (Thursday) and Friday from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 1:30 to 5 on Saturday. Next week the Center will be open Monday through Friday from 4 to 6.

Youngsters planning to play recreation basketball when it starts Saturday, Nov. 20, must have their uniforms returned or else they won't get to play, Overin emphasized.

Geltmann said.

Geltmann's conservation officers made spotlighting a risky business last year with the use of aerial surveillance. An airborne officer can easily pick up the spotlight beam of light, and direct officers on the ground to the scene for the arrest. One airplane can very effectively patrol several counties. Such aerial patrols will again be used this fall and winter, he said.

The spotlighter should not be confused with the legal raccoon hunter, who pursues the critter's mainly for the sport behind a pack of highly-specialized coon hounds. Most of these coondog men are respectable sportsmen who get permission from landowners and observe other laws.

For most of them, the satisfaction of seeing their dogs work, not the money from sale of furs, is the real motive for their activity. Though they may legally take raccoons, they often call their dogs off once the animal is freed so that he can be run another night.

Raccoon hunters on foot can legally use flashlights and other hand held battery-powered illumination, but lights attached to or used from vehicles are specifically prohibited by law. Anyone seeing such activity should get a good description of the vehicle, note its direction, and notify a conservation officer or sheriff's department immediately.

Tied in the number two position with 15 correct picks were Bill Woehler, Terry Lessmann, Jerry Malcom, Eldin Roberts and Dean Schram all of Wayne; Curt Saunders of Dixon, Scott Kardell of Laurel, Joe Coble of Wakefield and Karmon Frahm of Hoskins.

Theater Seminar Means Trip to New York City

Came up with $50 by November 20 and $100 by Christmas and you just might be off to New York City.

New York City Theatre Seminar, a Wayne State travel study program, offers six days in the big city, free entertainment, lodging and two undergraduate or graduate credit hours.

Participants will leave Wayne State Dec. 26, returning Jan. 3. In New York, they will be able to view at least three Broadway plays, operas, symphonies, art museums, and ballets.

Places of interest include the Radio City Music Hall, the Rockefeller Center, and more. One highlight of the trip is the celebration of New Year's Eve on Times Square.

Directing the holiday seminar for the third year are Dr. Gilbert Vaughan, professor of English at Wayne State; and Helen Russell, who has been theatre director at Wayne for the past 18 years. Dr. Russell has been a professional actress and director in summer and winter stock theatre.

To assure participation, a $50 deposit is required by Nov. 20. The remaining amount must be paid sometime before Dec. 15. Price for residents including tuition is $208, for non-resident $232.

Those who want to go for no credit may do so for the total cost of $184.

New York City Theatre Seminar is open to everyone, not just college students, and Dr. Vaughan encourages anyone interested to attend. Those taking the holiday trip for credit will be required to write papers following the trip. Some reading may be required.

For further information, contact either Gilbert Vaughan, Humanities Buildings, Room 213 or Dr. Helen Russell, Fine Arts 11, Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebr. 68787. To register, contact Don Keck, director of continuing education at WSC.

WSC Is Host For Junior High Orchestra Clinic

Wayne State College played host Saturday to nearly 100 musicians from five junior high orchestras during the event Junior High Orchestra Festival.

Michael Palumbo, WSC music instructor, was guest conductor for the day. Bonita Day, director of the Wayne Middle School orchestra, was coordinator for the festival.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., the bands rehearsed together, resulting in a mass concert at 7 p.m. Selections included "Salute to Handel," "Camels and Kings," "Hopak," by Mousorgsky and "Cherish" by Muller.

Palumbo said the day was a fine opportunity for the orchestra members to participate in a mass concert. Some schools, he stated, only have nine or ten members in their junior high bands.

The largest group represented hailed from Blair, under the direction of Jerry Kinney. Other schools and directors were Columbus, Jane Zumpfe; Fremont, Alice Johnson; York, Carol Baker; and Wayne, Bonita Day.

BB Practices Will Be Held At Allen Gym

All basketball practices for youths in junior high and high school will be held at the Allen High gymnasium this year, the board agreed during Monday night's meeting.

According to superintendent Virgil Ferguson, members declined not to use the facilities at Waterbury because of increased rental costs. Ferguson pointed out that the present high school facilities will be enough because practice times will be rotated for high school girls and boys workouts. Practices for junior high youngsters are held during school time.

In other board action, members: Accepted a bid of $75 from Kenneth Johnson of Allen for a radial saw.

Changed the date of next month's school board meeting from Dec. 13 to Dec. 6 due to a scheduling conflict with basketball. The meeting will start at 7 p.m.

Agreed to sell several school typewriters. For more information contact business instructor Ron Wecker at the school.

Adult Fellowship Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Morris were in charge of devotions and the program when the Adult Fellowship met Sunday evening at the Zion Congregational Church. About 35 attended.

Seasons of the year were depicted in readings and songs. A surprise birthday party honoring Mrs. Frances Axen, mother of Pastor Gail Axen, was held at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Lem Jones accompanied group singing. Mr. and Mrs. Rees served, and Mrs. Axen was presented a cash gift from the group.

Adult Fellowship members will Christmas-carol for their next meeting, on Dec. 12.

Weekend Guests The Don Stollenberg family, Bellevue, were weekend guests in the Allen Stollenberg home.

Sunday afternoon guests in the Allen Stollenberg home, honoring Don's birthday, were Mrs. Robert Peterson and the Dale Stollenberg family.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church (G. W. Gottenberg, pastor) Sunday—Worship: 9:30 a.m.; Sunday school, 9:50.

Neihardt Center Curator Relates Tales of Poet Laureate's Life

He started college at 14, graduated at 16. For tuition he rang the bell in between classes. He barely stood five feet tall, but his muscles were mighty in that small frame and in his time he did flip a few men.

His mother sawed for the founder of Wayne State College, James Madison Pile. Often she did chores for her son when he was inspired to write. The son changed his middle name from Greenleaf to Gneisenau. Plus he invented the word "buckaroo."

These factual "habits" and others were related Sunday night in a presentation by John Lindahl, curator of the John G. Neihardt Cultural Center at Bancroft. They could only apply to one man, the late John G. Neihardt, Nebraska's poet laureate.

The presentation was sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta, an English honorary at Wayne State College.

Lindahl, who received his master's degree at WSC, returned to talk about Neihardt's life, citing all kinds of details and stories about the renowned poet.

One such story involved a tombstone cutter, a judge, and an evangelist. Back when Neihardt was a boy, he used to polish stones for a tombstone cutter. One day an evangelist set up a tent in back of this locale and he began to preach. The wind began to blow then, harder and harder, but the preacher told his followers not to fear that God would not let his tent fold. As soon as every one cleared out, the tent did fold and caught on fire.

Urged on by the tombstone cutter and a judge friend, young John commenced to write a poem entitled "The Tent" in which he made fun of the preacher and the fate of the tent. To this day no copies of this poem can be found, Lindahl notes. (Persons are even uncertain of the spelling.) Back in Neihardt's day the poem was a scandal.

Lindahl also related stories of Neihardt and his Indian friends, described his works, and told of Neihardt's wife and dog, two great loves in his life.

The curator was amazed that a copy of "Divine Enchantment" was on display at the WSC event. Of the 500 copies printed, all but about one dozen were burned, because Neihardt in his younger years disliked his first endeavor. His feelings changed years later, but few books remain.

WSC keeps this and other Neihardt works in the U.S. Conn. Library archives.

Lindahl said the book "Black Elk Speaks" was significant because it was the first time while man understood the Sioux Indian. He said this book is not in play form in Wayne, N.J., and will possibly be made into a movie in the near future.

The John G. Neihardt Cultural Center in Bancroft will officially close beginning Nov. 15. Persons who are interested in viewing the Center should contact Lindahl at 648-7682 or 648-7422.

The curator also noted that a historic Neihardt-Cavett interview will be shown on educational television, Sunday, Nov. 28, at 10:30 p.m.

ing, tipping over desks and burning the American flag. The lock on the front door was broken and four or five windows and screens were damaged. Inside, desks were overturned and glass in front of a propane heating stove had been broken as well as stove grates. The school's American flag had been tossed into the stove and burned. Thieves broke into the school in February, but school officials reported that nothing was missing following the vandalism incident.

The sheriff's department is also investigating a theft of tools which occurred overnight Sunday. Missing from an irrigation well drilling rig in a field three miles north of Carroll and one-quarter mile south were a pair of half-inch-drive air impact wrenches, a quarter-inch drive electric drill, a small jigsaw, assorted hand tools, and an undetermined amount of gasoline taken from a truck and two barrels. Estimated value of the property taken, belonging to Ross Lawrence, is about $200.

Charges were filed Tuesday in Wayne county court in connection with an incident which occurred about 1:30 a.m. Friday in the alley adjacent to the Wayne Herald building.

According to police reports, Tim Johnson of 108 Pearl saw three men throwing paper bundles stacked next to the Herald building at 14 Main St. When Johnson told the three to quit, two of the men allegedly assaulted him.

Charles L. Menke, 20, of Carroll, and Gary L. Vraspir, 19, of Emerson were both charged with littering and assault in connection with the reported incident. Douglas Lienemann, 20, of Randolph was charged with littering.

to the improvement district. The council also discussed alternatives for resurfacing Main St. outlined Monday by Roads Department engineer Tom McCarthy.

Brink said McCarthy has told him and council members that the state would pay for the center 24 feet of the street if an asphalt overlay were applied. Brink said that would break down to about 50 per cent of the cost of resurfacing the street.

The state would pay about 70 per cent of the cost of completely reconstructing the street, but it would become a four-lane thoroughfare, eliminating parking on Main St.

The council also discussed a proposal for operation of a private landfill operation. The city landfill is fast running out of room and it is expected that an alternative means of disposal will be needed by next summer.

Advertisements for proposals for operation of a landfill by a private operator had been placed in several newspapers. The only such proposal received was by Vernon Russell, operator of Wayne Refuse Service, and a city councilman.

Russell's written proposal states that he will operate a landfill if the council would pass a resolution that the city not to operate a landfill for 10 years. Rates were not set forth but would "be compatible with Norfolk, contingent upon traffic flow and availability of land."

The council's decision is needed within 60 days if a landfill is to be in operation by July 1, the proposal said.

Russell said he is not asking for a contract and his operation would not be considered under a city franchise. Other operators would be free to open private landfills. He added that he hasn't decided what rates would be but said he would study traffic flow and make a determination if the city "decides to get out of the landfill business."

He also said he "wouldn't become disinterested if the city controls landfills rates."

The council is also considering installing a transfer station to compact refuse into containers which would be transported to Norfolk. Russell predicted that rates by himself and other commercial haulers would increase by at least one dollar a month for residential customers, regardless of which alternative is selected, because of increase disposal fees. Commercial haulers now pay a flat $100 annual charge for use of the city landfill. Use fees based on volume would be necessary for either transfer station or private landfill.

Ron Roberts of Norfolk provided cost estimates for installation of a transfer station. A building to house the compactor would cost about $43,000 and the compactor would be leased under a lease-purchase agreement for 10 years at $657 a month.

No action was taken on either the private landfill or transfer station proposal.

Peterson Reflects on Life of Physicist

Former Nebraska governor and ambassador to Denmark and Finland, Val Peterson was the main speaker Friday for the banquet of the National Convention of Lambda Delta Lambda at an event hosted by Wayne State College.

Speaking on the "Life of Niels Bohr," Peterson of Wayne told of his personal experiences with this Danish physicist who founded the modern theory of atomic and nuclear structure.

"This man lived a dangerous life during World War II," said Peterson of Bohr, who fled dictatorship during the war, finally landing in the United States. Peterson related stories of the man including one of Bohr's name change. It seems upon reaching the U.S., for protection's sake, Bohr's name was changed to Baker.

Not remembering his American name, would say he was Niels Bohr even to people that were not supposed to know.

He was a "typical Danish boy, but not very typical when he hit the university," related Peterson.

According to the former governor, Bohr went through Copenhagen University "like lightning."

Peterson reminisced about Bohr's wife and family. He ran into Bohr's younger sons in Greenland, he said.

During the war the physicist helped scientists escape from dictatorship, said Peterson. He was also a charitable and sensitive man, Peterson added. Bohr immediately started campaigns to restrain the atom bomb as a weapon, noted the former ambassador.

Peterson who was Civil Defense administrator during the Eisenhower administration, said that Bohr visited him often. Describing the scientist, Peterson said, "Bohr was a modest, quiet man, not always the most diplomatic, and he had a 'bit of ginger in him'."

Peterson stressed that Russia's extensive civil defense program may be a determining factor in a possible third world war. He feels that the subject of civil defense in the United States is not stretched away in a cubby hole.

Comparing the United States to Sweden, Peterson said that current in the Swedish people who where to go in case of an atomic problem, responding to a question concerning the dwindling concern with civil defense shelter buildings, Peterson stated that two false assumptions by the government caused the decrease.

One was the nuclear war would be total destruction and nuclear war is so horrible that no one would begin this type of war.

Peterson stressed that the United States should be strong militarily and not cut down on the defense budget. He said concerning civil emergency in structure in the United States, "The American public is properly instructed, they will respond affirmatively." The problem is language.

(Continued from page 1) educators and citizens in a consideration of the role of the foreign language in the schools of northeastern Nebraska.

The controlling questions, according to the application, concern the current role and future direction of foreign languages in these schools.

Step one in the project, the survey, is to identify foreign languages taught and spoken in schools, regional opinions of foreign language value, and types of foreign language instruction of interest to the public.

The four workshops will involve 20-25 persons each, conducted by public school teachers and WSC instructors. Consultants will be on hand to evaluate the sessions.

Involving approximately 30 representatives, the one-day seminar is designed to "bring together a regional understanding of the present and potential future roles of the foreign languages in northeastern Nebraska," the grant application specifies.

Any person in the foreign language projects in addition to Dr. Schultz are: fiscal agent John Struve; WSC business manager; resource personnel including Dr. Maria Grovas, Spanish; Janet Schmitt, French; Carol Lafon, French; and Dr. Robert Zahniser, German (all WSC faculty members).

however, that Americans are not properly instructed, Peterson noted.

The convention also featured a planetarium show, business and committee sessions, reading of students' papers, and election of officers.

First prize winner was Julie Wells of Kearney State College with her paper "Mechanistic Theories of Retrodels Alder Reaction." Second place went to Kathryn A. LaBloom, a student at Wayne, for "Head and Body Scanners — Computerized Axial Tomography."

Russell Rasmussen, professor of chemistry at Wayne, retires as president of the LLD Grand Council. His successor is Dr. James Swanson of Kearney State College. Dr. J.S. Johar, WSC professor of chemistry, will continue with his position as treasurer.

President of the WSC student organization, the Beta chapter, is Dale Hochstein of Wyolet, Neb.

More than 40 persons represented the following colleges in the LLD Convention: Wayne State College, Kearney State College, Peru State College, Yorkton State and Mount Marry Colleges of Yorkton, South Dakota and Dickinson State College of Dickinson, North Dakota.

Plymouth Rock wasn't always as solid as it looked.

When the pilgrims first landed here from jolly old England, things weren't so jolly. There was sickness and disease. Starvation. And rough winters to fight. But it was worth it because those early Americans were planting the seeds of freedom in this new land. Today you can help those seeds continue to grow by buying United States Savings Bonds.

Take stock in America.
200 years at the same location.

through the Payroll Savings Plan. All you do is arrange to have a little set aside from each paycheck to buy Bonds. It's safe, automatic, and no struggle at all. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's one investment that really is as solid as a rock.

United States Savings Bonds pay 7% interest when held to maturity of 30 years (4 1/2% the first year). There is no limit on the number of bonds you may buy. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Guarantees may have hidden dangers

One of the most over-worked expressions these days is, "Farmers are entitled to a guarantee of their costs of production." It sounds good and no one can argue with that conclusion. Every farmer and rancher is indeed "entitled" to recover his cost of production plus a profit. The catch is, how can it be guaranteed to him and what will be the consequences of such a guarantee? Through 40 years of farm programs, that has been the problem and the answer is no nearer solution than it has ever been. The simplistic answer has been to establish a high non-recourse government loan rate, which in effect establishes a minimum market price. In practice, it also sets a maximum price. Farmers should refresh their memories as to what happened with this theory in the 1930's, the 1950's and the early 1960's. The loan rate often exceeded the market price for grain, so the government ended up with excessive supplies of wheat and feed grains on what it was paying storage that at one point was costing taxpayers over $1 million per day. There was a minimum activity in the nation's cash grain and futures markets and the main export market was in giveaway programs to needy nations financed by U.S. taxpayers.

With the high loan rates went acreage controls, and from this came the complaints and jokes about "paying farmers not to raise crops." Did it save family farms as some people today claim? Hardly. The 1950's and 1960's saw the greatest exodus of farmers from the nation's farms in all our agricultural history. Reductions in acreage helped the large operators who could best afford to take land out of production. With their lower per unit costs, the loan rates were an incentive to produce. For the small farmer, the cut in acreage actually worked against his need to grow and expand to cope with inflation. Total production was not controlled despite acreage cuts. Farmers found they could take their poorest land out of production and by applying more fertilizer and improved farming techniques could increase their yields and actually boost production. So the surpluses continued to mount and sooner or later the government had to put that stored grain onto the market. It won't keep forever. A Nebraska wheat grower recently said candidly: "If they guarantee us $3 per bushel for our wheat, everybody will be growing more wheat." Most economists now figure production costs of wheat at more than $3 per bushel at today's inflated input costs. And most wheat growers assessing that grower's statement would answer to the current problem of large supplies of grain and lower market prices. There is another question... "Who would establish a cost of production figure and on what basis?" In the past, loan rates and acreage allotments have been set on historical statistics from past years, a policy of looking backward rather than to the future. Would consumers stand hitched for a government established loan rate that guaranteed every farm producer his costs of production? Not likely. Remember the food boycotts of 1973? "Guaranteed costs of production" has a nice lulling sound, but it has not worked. Government cannot permanently guarantee one segment of our people a better life through assistance than another. Cattle producers who have taken their lumps for the last three years are culling their herds, managing their own business, and will save their industry. Government management is not the answer: If it were, the Soviet Union with the world's largest land mass would not be importing grain to feed its own people. There should be a lesson in that fact for U.S. producers and consumers alike. — M. M. Vankirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau.

Put the genie back in the bottle?

Suppose your friendly local fairy god-mother appears and presents you with two identical boxes. One, she says, contains the secret of great wealth and abundant food for the world's hungry. The other contains a deadly plague... You may choose to open either of the boxes, or may leave them both sealed. What would you do? Scientists doing advanced research in biology today face a choice similar to the one described above, although not quite so simplified. These scientists have learned to take genetic material (DNA) from one kind of cell, or organism, and implant it in another. Since it is the genes that give to all living things their biological characteristics, such experiments could produce organisms custom-tailored to do what we want them to do. In terms of potential significance, this newly discovered skill has been compared to splitting the atom. Some possible benefits: Bacteria or viruses designed to compensate for a genetic deficiency or correct certain types of disease. New, more effective, and less expensive drugs. Self-fertilizing crops. More efficient production of protein.

Vastly more efficient industrial processes. New and more efficient ways to produce energy from sunlight. The catch is that the same techniques needed to accomplish these wonders might also — by accident or design — bring forth new diseases to which there is no natural resistance. This specter of uncontrolled plague is so frightening that many laymen and even some scientists advocate a total ban on all gene-transplant experiments. These fears need to be taken very seriously. But I don't think we can or should put this genie back in its bottle. Even if we could successfully suppress research in this country, we don't have such control over what happens elsewhere. A better approach is to permit the research to proceed, but only under the most carefully controlled conditions. We have, after all, evolved effective techniques for handling very dangerous disease organisms. These same safety procedures should be required for any experiments that have the potential to produce new diseases, whether of man, animal, or plant. What about the "mad scientist" who cooks up a monster in his basement?

That is a possibility, just as it is possible for a terrorist group to put together an amateur atomic bomb. A ban on legitimate research, however, would not eliminate either possibility, while it might well leave us less able to cope with the consequences. The suppression of learning, too, has the potential to destroy a society. For several hundred years after the fall of the Western Roman Empire, Arab scientists continued and improved upon the work of the best Greek thinkers of the ancient world. In astronomy, medicine, mathematics, physics and chemistry, they were far ahead of the Europeans of the Dark Ages. Then, muslim leaders decided for religious reasons to discourage further scientific inquiry. The Christian world came close to making the same mistake in the Seventeenth Century, when Galileo caused a flap by daring to proclaim that the earth is the center of the universe. I hope we don't make another stab at it today. Fear of the unknown is sometimes well founded, but it is seldom allayed by enshrining ignorance. To repress the inquiring mind is to deny the essence of humanity. — Richard L. Leshner, President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 years ago
Nov. 14, 1946: Northeast Nebraska early Sunday began digging out of a blizzard that covered the area Saturday and brought recollection of the Armistice day storm on 1941. Carroll Legion Post will sponsor a coyote hunt next Sunday. Several coyotes have been sighted in the vicinity. Winside defeated Carroll in a first basketball game of the season, 39-13. Royald Beau D., senior yearling, raised by Leland Herman, Wayne, was champion sale bull at International Polled Hereford show, Baton Rouge, La., last week. The animal sold for $5,500.

25 years ago
Nov. 8, 1951: Saturday's violent wind storm tore the Coed theatre sign from its mooring above the theatre building's marquee. Several television aeriels in the city also suffered damage by the high winds. Conry Munson, and Emil Miller and Elton, Wakefield, returned Monday from a deer hunting trip in Wyoming with a total of three. The Wayne Blue Devils pounded out a 37-14 victory over Wisner Friday night in their final Husker conference game for the western crown. The victory kept Wayne's undefeated string intact at eight games.

Accidents unnecessary

Motor vehicle-railroad train accidents continue to be a problem in Nebraska. Last year, 138 of these accidents occurred in Nebraska causing the death of 20 people and personal injury to 49 more. The Nebraska Highway Safety Program notes that 82 per cent of the drivers involved in motor vehicle-train accidents resided within 24 miles of where the accident occurred. Not only were these drivers operating their motor vehicles in relatively familiar surroundings, but it is also a fact that a majority of these accidents (64 per cent) occurred during the day between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Another fact remains... these accidents can and could have been prevented. Safety programs, highway department, and railroad companies have marked public railroad crossings with warning devices for the driver's protection. It is the responsibility of the driver to demonstrate good driving habits by being extra cautious as these grade crossings.

Preventing railroad grade crossing accidents is the responsibility of the motor vehicle driver. Trains cannot yield to the motor vehicle. Here are a few safety tips when driving through railroad grade crossings: Expect a train on any track at any time. Never get trapped on a crossing. Wait on the approach until you are sure you can clear the crossing. Watch out for the second train. When the last car of a train passes do not start up until you are sure no train is coming on another track. Never race a train. You may never have another chance if you lose. Watch for vehicles that must stop at crossings. Be prepared to stop when you are following buses or trucks. Remember it is not only against the law to disregard these signs and rules, the penalty for losing a contest with a train is very often your life. — Nebraska Highway Safety Program.

DON C. SPITZE
WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

The Wayne County 4-H council is busy planning for next year. At the October meeting they used a "brain storming" technique and came up with a dozen or more projects they were interested in.

First I'd like to explain how "brain storming" works. Some one acts as recorder and writes on a blackboard ideas as quickly as the group gives them. Ideas must be very short and no one criticizes or makes remarks no matter how ridiculous they may seem. It's important the ideas be spontaneous and the faster the ideas are presented the better. In five minutes time there should be a couple dozen ideas or more written on the blackboard.

The next step is for the group to discuss and evaluate each idea. Some of the ideas may prove impractical, some ideas may need to be combined with others, or one idea may lead to a better one.

The 4-H council has used this technique a number of times and never have failed to come up with really good ideas in a short time.

Planning for Next Year

Here are some of the ideas the 4-H council will be working on during 1976 and 1977. Cindy Bull and Judy Temme will be exploring the possibility of the 4-H council sponsoring an exchange program with 4-H'ers in another state. Judy and Cindy were on the 4-H Washington Citizenship trip this past summer and stayed with some families in Maryland. They would like to invite these same 4-H'ers back to Wayne County this next year.

George Biermann, Gerald Pospisil, Mike Finn and Dwight Anderson will work on a committee to recommend changes in the livestock showmanship contest at the County Fair.

Judy Temme, Cindy Bull, Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen and Mrs.

J.J. Liska will serve on a committee to recommend changes in the method of awarding Home Ec Trophies.

Both of the above committees will also have some additional 4-H'ers and leaders.

The entire 4-H council will be working as a committee to improve the rest of the awards program. The Council has already "brain stormed" some ideas on the awards program that look quite promising.

More on the 4-H Council
Being on the 4-H Council is no easy job since they meet once a month for the regular meeting plus numerous committee meetings. Members must make a lot of decisions that will have a major effect on the over 360 members and 140 leaders.

Dress Review Medals
For years we have had an award for 4-H'ers in clothing called Dress Review Medals. This award was based on how they did in Style Review during activities held before County Fair. This award hasn't caused us any problem in past years because it's always been girls modeling their own clothing they had made.

This year we had several boys winning top honors in this division. Blaine Johs of Wayne and Randy Kleensang of Hoskins won this award because they exhibited mens clothing they had made themselves. I contacted our State 4-H Office about this and have since awarded the boys tie tacs and have assured me that in the future this award will no longer be called Dress Review, but some name that would be proper for either boys or girls.

4-H Leaders Banquet
The Banks of Wayne County will again honor the 4-H leaders of Wayne County in a banquet to be held at Wayne State College, November 30th. Dr. Bill Caldwell, State 4-H Director will be the featured speaker.

Norfolk Is Host For LENRD Awards Dinner

"Water, Water, Mine or Ours" is the title of a panel discussion at the fifth annual awards banquet of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, 7 p.m., Nov. 14, at Kings Ballroom in Norfolk.

Paul Fischbach, extension irrigator, Jim Cook, legal counsel for the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, and Richard Halin, director on the board of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District will be answering questions from the audience on increasing irrigation efficiency, groundwater laws and the place natural resource districts have in managing groundwater.

Awards in three areas will be given. Seven area families will be honored as Conservation Picture Award winners. Two district one progress, and one community award winner in the Marc Cox Conservation Award Program will be recognized.

In the Future Farmers of America honors program, four outstanding FFA'ers will receive $500 scholarships. The outstanding FFA chapter in the district will be named.

Tickets are available from the Lower Elkhorn NRD Directors, local SCS offices or NRD offices in Norfolk or Clarkson.

Dairy Herds Receive Awards For Production

John Anderson received honors Friday during the third annual Nebraska State Dairyman's Association awards banquet.

Anderson, a rural Wayne dairy farmer, received an award for his dairy cow which produced more than 4,000 lbs. butterfat.

Other Wayne-area dairymen received awards for herd production. Silver awards, for herds averaging 500-549 lbs., went to Stanley Bates, Lawrence Sprouls, Jack Langemeir and Vi-Jan Farms, all of rural Wayne.

Anderson received a bronze award for herd production averaging 450-499 lbs. of butterfat.

Lincoln's Carl Ossenkov and Sons' Holstein herd was honored at the banquet in Columbus as the first Nebraska herd to average more than 700 lbs.

Think It Will Work?

IT'S NO secret that Nebraska fields are parched for moisture. Joe Mundell (inset photo) Saturday decided that anything is worth a try so he disc'd this plea for relief

Soil Test Recommended For Fertilizer Program

Today's farmer has several options when planning a fertilizer program for next year's crop, according to district extension agronomist George Rehm.

These include doing what the neighbor suggests, using the same fertilizer program as last year, guessing at what is needed and following the recommendations based on the results of a good soil test.

Of these four options, Rehm said, only one — the last one — can lead to optimum and efficient use of fertilizer for 1977. Rehm points out that many years of university research have clearly shown that the nutrient content of soils varies from farm to farm and field to field. So, if a neighbor's fertilizer program is used, it may be too much or too little for the field across the fence.

The amount of plant nutrients removed from the soil varies with crop yields. The dry weather of the past three years has, in some cases, produced a buildup of plant nutrients in the soil. If this happens, fertilizer rates for crop production in 1977 can be reduced and this can save money for farmers. Carryover can only be measured by testing the soil for the needed nutrients. This fall would be an excellent time to collect soil samples. Rehm said. The majority of the field work has been completed and there is still time to collect these samples.

Soil samples sent to the Soil Testing Laboratory of the University of Nebraska are processed and results should reach the farmer approximately 10 days after the samples arrive in Lincoln.

Rehm concludes by reminding farmers who wish to collect samples this fall that the sample boxes and easy-to-follow instructions can be picked up at either the local extension office or the Northeast Experiment Station.

Farm Energy Project Okayed

Cedar County has been selected as the site of a low-energy agriculture research and demonstration project involving 50 family-size farms and funded by the Community Services Administration.

The project involves direct farm applications of solar heating of buildings and drying of grain, wind generation of electricity, methane gas generation, minimum tillage, and other energy-saving alternatives.

Details of the national project were announced today by Arthur T. May of Winnebago, president of the Center for Rural Affairs. The center, headquartered in Walthill, is sponsoring the project, which has received an initial 15-month funding grant of $129,452.

Cost-sharing will be available to farmers participating in the project to assist them in adopting energy-saving innovations. They also will participate in a special energy-agriculture educational program this winter and receive on-farm technical assistance from project staff members throughout the year.

May said farmers selected for the project will work out an energy program for their farm and adopt two or more energy-saving practices for their operation for the coming year. Their homes also will be weatherized to save energy.

"The project thus will emphasize the total family expenditure for energy, both by increasing on-farm energy production and by adopting energy-conserving practices," May explained.

"Both will be done without decreasing total crop and livestock production or reducing the level of home comfort."

Only innovations that are of demonstrated technical feasibility will be used in the project. Many are theoretically feasible for farm operations but have never been tested on working commercial farms, he said, and few have been tested specifically for adaptability to small farm operations.

Working Wives Can Collect Disability Pay

Some working wives who become disabled don't apply for social security disability payments because their husbands are still working and they think that makes them ineligible, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

"Under the law," Branch said, a wife and her children can get social security disability payments on her work record regardless of her husband's earnings.

"The children can get payments until they're 18, or 22 if they're full-time students in school and remain unmarried. A working wife facing a long-term disability should get in touch with a social security office without delay to get information about applying for disability benefits," he said.

Social security pays monthly benefits to eligible workers under 45 and their families if the worker is severely disabled and not expected to be able to do any work for a year or more. Payment generally starts with the 6th full month of disability.

To be eligible for social security disability payments, most workers need at least five years of work under social security in the 10 years before they became disabled. For workers disabled before 31, the requirement ranges down to as little as one and one-half years of work, depending on age.

Wakefield Lass Reigns as 1976-77 Pork Queen

Reigning as the 1976 queen of the Northeast Pork Producers Association is a 16-year-old Wakefield girl.

Gloria Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hansen, was crowned by the presiding pork queen Naomi Beckmann of Rosalie at the conclusion of the annual banquet dinner Sunday night at Wayne State's Student Union.

Miss Hansen was chosen among the six candidates vying for the honor of a three-member panel of judges. Selected as runnerup in case Miss Hansen isn't able to fulfill her duties was 17-year-old Deb Sebade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sebade of Emerson.

Also vying for the title were Tami Peters, Marjean Sunderman, Susan Coulter and Penny Roberts. Parents of the young misses are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peters of Walthill, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Sunderman of Pender, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Coulter of Winside, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Roberts of Wakefield.

The selection of the winner was based on speeches by the girls given Sunday afternoon before Judges Mrs. LeRoy Wolfe of Hartington, Mrs. Burt Gatzmeyer of Bancroft and Henry Kumpost of Pierce.

Preceding the crowning were presentation of awards and trophies to 4-Hers and pork producers whose entries ranked high at a recent hog show in Pender and county fairs.

Winning the Pork Chop Award presented to an active member of the Association was Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Wensstrand of rural Wakefield. The Wensstrands, who farm 320-acres with their three children, farrow 75 sows twice a year, noted director Michael Albrecht as he presented the award.

The Pork Booster Award went to the Pender Times for its coverage of NPPA activities, Albrecht added.

Guest speaker Gary Thies of Mapleton, Ia. outlined his recent trip to South America in slide presentation after entertaining an audience of about 230 with some of his jokes.

During the three-hour dinner, members elected board of directors from the four counties. Named to the posts were Norma Wichman of Wayne County, Francis Lussier of Dakota County, William Borg of Dixon County and Mike Albrecht of Thurston County. Albrecht is the only incumbent on the 12-member board. Giving up their seats are Robert Hansen of Wayne County, Wayne Lamprecht of Dixon County and John Kayl of Dakota County.

Receiving awards in the order they finished were: Crossbred — Jerold Meyer, Wayne; Connie Meyer, Wayne; Wayne Meyer, Pender (2); Purebred — Pat Finn, Carroll (2); Robert Hansen, Wakefield, Gloria Hansen, Wakefield.

Crossbred Carcass — Ron Wensstrand (2), Russell Stolze, Waiter Albrecht, Jerold Meyer, Larry McQuistan, Jim Fuchser, Jim Albrecht, Terry Albrecht, Scott Stolze.

Purebred Carcass — Amy Finn, Carroll; Pat Finn, Carroll; Lloyd — Roeber, Wakefield; Emmett Albenusis.

Girls Showmanship — Amy Finn, Carroll; Susan Dzuris, Dakota County; Annetta Fritsch, Dixon County; Cheryl Fuller, Thurston County. Special Pork Award — Gloria Ann Navrkal. Judging — Senior Division FFA — Doug Roeber, Emerson;

Junior Division FFA — Charles Urbancak, Pender; Senior Division 4-H — John Fuchser, Pender; Junior Division 4-H — Wes Hermebrach, Rosalie. 4-H Carcass Champions — Mike Finn, Wayne County, and Annetta Fritsch, Dixon County.

EXTENSION NOTES
By Joycelyn Smith

CROWNED QUEEN of the Northeast Pork Producers Association Sunday night was Gloria Hansen, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hansen of Wakefield. Named runnerup was Deb Sebade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sebade of Emerson. The pair were among six Northeast Nebraska girls vying for the 1976-77 title.

WINNING THE NPPA's Pork Chop Award was a Wakefield couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Wensstrand.

MAKE SURE HOLIDAY MEALS ARE SAFE
It's one thing to overeat and feel "stuffed" after a holiday dinner. But some illnesses after the feast may be brought on because the food was not handled properly.

Preparing large quantities of food always ups the chances that food handling practices may be less than adequate. When this happens the result can be a case of food poisoning.

Remember the following tips for safe holiday food handling.

Roast turkey or other poultry is perishable food. Always thaw frozen poultry in the refrigerator. If you must thaw it more quickly, put it in a waterproof plastic bag, seal tightly and defrost in cold water. Thawing frozen poultry at room temperature gives bacteria a chance to grow. This is especially true with large frozen turkeys because of the length of time it takes to thaw them completely.

Always cook turkey thoroughly to an internal temperature of 180-190 degrees F. Never partially cook it and finish cooking it later. Bacteria can survive in partially cooked poultry.

Cook poultry stuffing completely. It's safest to cook it separately from the turkey. If you must cook stuffing inside the turkey, cook until the stuffing reaches at least 165 degrees F. Never stuff turkey the night before cooking. If you use commercially frozen stuffed poultry don't thaw before baking; put it directly in the oven. Refrigerate turkey leftovers immediately after the feast. Remove all stuffing and store separately.

Remembering these tips will help make your holidays more festive.
