Lions Club Will Mark 15 Years of Service

Members of the Wayne Lions Club will be busy during the next four or five days. They will sponsor their fifth annual flea market Saturday and Sunday and will celebrate their 15th anniversary Tuesday night.

Flea market chairman Charles Maier said it took like there will be a full house for the weekend event. A total of 65 tables had been reserved Monday, a record number of the flea market.

Exhibitors at the market will be displaying their wares from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday and from noon until 4 p.m. Sunday. Lions Club wives Saturday will serve a ham dinner in the Woman's Club room at the city auditorium where the flea market will be held, and will also serve refreshments Sunday.

A special table manned by Wayne Lions will emphasize the organization's concern for conservation of sight and hearing.

Members and wives Tuesday night will observe the 15th anniversary of the chartering of the Wayne Lions Club.

Charles Denesia, a charter member and club historian, said former Wayne resident Clifford Dahl was responsible for initial formation of a Wayne Lions Club.

Dahl moved to Nebraska after living in Van Nuys, Calif., where he was a Lions Club member. He moved to Wayne in 1948 and inquired about a Lions Club but found there was none. A couple of attempts had been made previously to form local Lions clubs but those organizations folded. Dahl began working in 1960 and through the spring of 1961 to organize a Wayne chapter and, with the help of Lions International representative A.T. Holcomb, was successful. The Wayne Lions Club was chartered Sept. 27, 1961, with 38 members.

Charter members still active in the Wayne club, in addition to Denesia, are George Goblirsch, William Kemp, Wes Pflueger, Alfred Koplin, Clarence Bolding and Richard Menel.

In addition, another 14 former Lions who signed the charter still live in Wayne. All living, charter members have been invited to attend the anniversary dinner Tuesday.

Dahl was the first president with Goblirsch serving as first vice president that year. The Norfolk Lions Club sponsored the new organization.

The club has completed numerous projects since it was formed 15 years ago. Sight conservation is the prime concern for the Lions International in October of 1962 the Wayne Club presented an eye bank kit to the Wayne Hospital in order that eyes for transplant can be removed from registered donors after their death. In 1963 the club donated $25 toward the purchase of glasses for a Carroll Youth and in 1964 made a donation to the Nebraska Lions Sight Conservation Foundation. Nebraska Lions clubs are responsible for the construction and support of the Eye Institute on the University of Nebraska Lions Sight Conservation Foundation. Nebraska Lions clubs are responsible for the construction and support of the Eye Institute on the University of Nebraska. The Wayne Lions have made a number of contributions to the institute. In 1973 the club sponsored a glaucoma clinic in Wayne.

Other projects have been community oriented have become focal institutions.

One of the first projects, began in 1962, was an outfield fence at the city baseball field. Construction was completed in 1963 and since then the club has maintained the fence and sold advertising for it. The club has at various times made repairs at the ball field and in 1965 completed installation of an electric score board.

Wayne Lions in 1962 joined fathers of Wayne Girl Scouts in putting a new roof on the Wayne Girl Scout cabin and have helped with repairs at other times since then.

The first Turkey Ticket sale was held in 1964 and the Lions Club has continued that project. The following year, club members voted to sponsor the Wayne Punt, Pass and Kick contest and the club also continues that project. In 1966 the first local Lions Club Talent contest was sponsored.

Another continuing project is the Lions Club Park located adjacent to the municipal airport east of Wayne on Highway 35. Work on the park began in 1969 after club representatives met with the city council to arrange for some excavation work. The club has since planted trees, built a shelter house, installed playground equipment and participated with the city in construction of a new septic tank which serves the park and the airport.

A pending improvement is construction of restroom and shower facilities. The clubs has voted to borrow up to $5,000 for the project.

In 1971 the club sponsored its first St. Patrick's Day dance and has continued the tradition. It has also sponsored an annual New Year's Eve dance to its list of activities.

The first flea market was sponsored in 1972 and the event has grown every year. The 1976 market, Saturday and Sunday, will be the biggest ever.

Three Named For County ASC Committee

Wayne County farmers have nominated three candidates for the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation county committee. ASCS director Ray Butts said Tuesday.

Nominees are incumbent Norris Hansen of Winside, Dean Owens of Carroll and Vernon Behmer of Hoskins.

Butts said Tuesday he has not yet been in touch with Behmer to confirm that he would accept the nomination. Ballots will be mailed Wednesday to farm operators in the county and should be returned by Dec. 6. Ballots will be counted and a winner determined Dec. 8.

Winner of the election will join two other county committee members. Alden Johnson of Wakefield and Ralph Olson of Carroll.

The county committee is responsible for overseeing implementation of federal agricultural programs in the county. The term of office is three years.

Ticket Sales Are Brisk For Elizabethan Dinner

Those planning to attend the Elizabethan Christmas Dinners at Wayne State should make reservations quickly, as a dropping ticket count indicates.

Only a handful of tickets remain for performances Dec. 11 and 12, but plenty are available for Dec. 9 and 10, one ticket count announced.

Featured singing hosts for the dinners are the Wayne State Madrigal Singers under the direction of Cornell Runestad, associate professor of music at Wayne. Through traditional song, the musicians revive the celebration of English Christmas customs as they turn into strolling carolers, give wassail toasts and commence to "deck the halls."

Adding further accent to the celebration are two Wayne State students posing as a herald and jester. They are Joe Manley of Wayne and Lance Clay of Ewa Beach, Hawaii, respectively.

Along with the music and merrymaking, a live course banquet coincides for hungry guests, complete with traditional roast beef, Yorkshire pudding and plum pudding for dessert.

The Elizabethan Dinners have catered food and song to over 800 diners since the tradition began at Wayne State five years ago. The Madrigal Singers have been an active group. Several matinee, banquet, and dinner performances are in the future for the musicians.

Members of the Madrigal Singers are Deb Crambliss, Omaha; Cheryl Kopperud, Wayne; Claudia Mallatt, Laurel; Victoria Rusek, Omaha; Lori Adams, Belgrade; Janelle Grot

Birthday Prize Is 'Timely Gift' For Wayne Woman

A timely surprise. That's what Joni Kumm thought of the $625 she won last Thursday night in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion in Wayne.

It will come in handy just in time for Christmas shopping, she commented.

Mrs. Kumm, who lives at 616 Logan St., won the top prize when it was discovered her birth date of Aug. 25, 1953 was the winning date drawn by Marion Froehlich of Wayne Shoe Co. and announced later that evening.

Mrs. Kumm, who was in Jeff's Cafe at the time of the drawing, is the second person in four months to claim the jackpot. On Aug. 5 Arnold Hammer of rural Wayne won the $450 prize when his date matched the date drawn at random by a member of participating Wayne merchants.

Again tonight (Thursday) some lucky shopper will have a chance to earn himself some extra spending money if his date matches the lucky date. If so he'll pick up a jackpot now worth $300, or $25 in Bucks if his birthday is the closest to the winning date.

No purchases or registration are necessary to be a winner. However, a shopper must be present in a participating store when the date is announced at 8:15 p.m.

Commissioners Will Consider Paving Project

The road between Sholes and Randolph might be paved if officials for the two communities and Cedar and Wayne Counties can reach an agreement on the project.

The Wayne County commissioners Tuesday discussed the proposed project during their regularly scheduled meeting. They will meet Dec. 7 in a joint session at Sholes with the Cedar County board of commissioners and the town boards of Sholes and Randolph to discuss feasibility of the proposed project.

If a decision is made to move ahead with the project, it would entail paving of about two and one-half miles of road in Wayne County.

The commissioners Tuesday also reviewed with a consulting engineer the state functional classification of Wayne County roads.

Roads are classified according to use for purposes of acquiring federal road improvement funds. The state requested the review of the Wayne County designations.

City Officials Will Tour City Electric Plant

Officials from a number of Nebraska communities will be touring the Wayne electric generating plant today (Thursday), Wayne city administrator Fred Brink said public utility supervisors from several cities will be attending a utilities section meeting of the Nebraska League of Municipalities in Wayne.

Following the 5 p.m. light plant tour the city officials will meet at the Wayne Vet's Club at 6 p.m. for a social hour, followed by dinner.

The Nebraska Public Power District will present a program about the Cooper nuclear plant, and a short business meeting will follow.

'So That's How'

VFW Leader Delivers Warning to Wayne Vets

Veterans of Foreign Wars national commander R.D. Smith delivered a short, but potentially important message Saturday to members of Wayne VFW Post 5291 Saturday.

Smith told the audience assembled at Wayne Vet's Club that a Senate study committee last summer had formed a plan to reorganize the senate, with one provision being the placement of the Veterans Affairs Committee under the Senate Human Resources Committee.

Smith said such a move would greatly weaken the Veterans Affairs Committee and urged local veterans to write to their state senators opposing the reorganization.

"If the Veterans Affairs Committee is weakened we will lose one-half of our support. When the House Committee goes, veterans' benefits will be gone," Smith warned.

Smith's visit to Wayne was brief because of a heavy winter schedule in Nebraska which included 40 communities. Arriving in Wayne at about 3:15 Saturday afternoon, Smith and state VFW officials accompanying him said their schedule called for them to visit Laurel, Hartington, Neligh and Albion before the end of the day.

State officials said the reception at the Wayne Vet's Club was the most elaborate of any in Nebraska that they had encountered.

Heater Missing

A space heater apparently was taken sometime over the weekend from a garage belonging to Don Christiansen, one mile west and about two miles north of Hoskins.

Christiansen discovered that the heater was missing Monday morning, a Wayne County sheriff's department spokesman said. It is valued at $150.

Man Is Injured In 1-Car Crash

A 26-year-old Wayne man was taken to Providence Medical Center unconscious when his car went out of control about 3:30 a.m. Wednesday and rolled over in a ditch about three and a half miles west of Wayne.

Listed in satisfactory condition is Kenneth Gatz Jr., who regained consciousness later in the hospital.

Gatz was driving a blue 1972 Ford Pinto when he apparently lost control, according to investigating officer deputy LeRoy Janssen of the Wayne County sheriff's office. Gatz, who was alone in the car, didn't appear to suffer any external injuries.

His car was a total loss.

WSC Professor Wins SBI Award

Dr. William S. Fagan, professor in the Wayne State College School of business administration, was selected as one of three winners in a Small Business Institute regional contest, according to Verne Burn, assistant regional director for management assistance, U.S. Small Business Administration's Kansas City regional office.

Dr. Fagan's suggestion was submitted in connection with a recent two day Small Business Institute meeting of 35 college and university representatives from the four-state region of Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. His suggestion is designed as a means of constructively improving the SBI program's overall operation in the future. Dr. Fagan was recipient of a desk set. The other two winners are Dr. Forrest W. Price, Fort Hays Kansas State College, Hays, Kan., and Dr. Joseph Barton Dobenin, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan.

Each SBI coordinator and assistant met at the Phillips House for the third annual Small Business Institute orientation and review, Nov. 3-4.

Dr. Fagan's job involves liaison for some 30 college business graduate and undergraduate counselors, who provided consulting services to 11 area small business owners this year. "Overall, we are most pleased with the results," said Dr. Fagan.

Nationally, the SBA program includes approximately 385 colleges and universities, and is entering its fifth year of operation. During the first year, a prototype program was developed at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas. Locally, both Kansas State University at Manhattan and Wichita State University were pilot projects and are now beginning their fifth year of participation.

There were 780 cases consulted with 36 schools participating in Region VII in FY 1976. These SBI teams of 3 senior students work with individual small business owners.

The 39 participating SBI schools in 1977 include, in Nebraska: Chadron State College, Creighton University, Doane College, Hastings College, Kearney State College, Midland College, Peru State College, University of Nebraska at Lincoln and at Omaha and Wayne State College.

Farmers, Businessmen 'Cross Bridge' at Dinner

Nearly 400 businessmen and farmers got together for dinner in Wayne Saturday night for the annual Wayne Chamber of Commerce Farmers Appreciation Night Dinner.

Guest speaker Warren Cook of Norfolk cited the dinner as an example of "crossing the bridge" to understanding, a step he said is vital for American farmers today.

The dinner is sponsored annually by Wayne businessmen to show their appreciation for farmers in the Wayne business community.

Cook, who is associate manager of the Livestock Marketing Association of Kansas City, Mo., and is president of the Livestock Market Digest, told the audience that in his opinion, farmers haven't done a good job of telling their plight and must start doing a better job of merchandising their products.

Farmers and businessmen aren't that much different anymore, in Cook's opinion — must try to understand each other's problems, the speaker said.

There is no long-term plan for agriculture, Cook said. Quoting the late Congressman Jerry Linton of Missouri, Cook added that 80 percent of the laws passed in the United States are stop-gap measures.

"We're always playing catch-up."

Farmers now need to come up with a plan for the future and part of the plan will entail making the public aware of farming problems.

"We haven't done a very good job of convincing Mrs. Consumer about the how and why of what we (farmers) need," Cook continued.

It is also important that the public start thinking as individuals, Cook said. He pointed to a recent bond issue in Norfolk which lost by six votes as an example of the importance of the individual.

Dr. Ken Lisika was master of ceremonies for the dinner, which began at 7 p.m. in the Student Union on the Wayne State College campus.

The dinner was preceded by a social hour at the Wayne fire station. Chamber of Commerce secretary Howard Witt said about 460 tickets were distributed for the dinner and estimated attendance at about 390.

Journal Reports State Taxes Lower Than Most

Residents of Nebraska enjoy a lower state and local tax levy, as well as a higher per capita income, than do the citizens of most neighboring states, according to a report in the November issue of "Business in Nebraska."

"Business in Nebraska" is a monthly publication of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Bureau of Business Research. The tax effort report was written by Dr. Donald E. Pursell, Director of the Bureau.

Dr. Pursell describes the tax effort as being synonymous with tax levy, the amount of taxes paid annually.

Citing figures recently compiled by the Tax Foundation, Dr. Pursell wrote that Nebraska's 1973 state and local taxes were $731 for every man, woman, and child in the state. This figure is $137 below the national average with 35 states having higher tax levies than Nebraska.

"Taxes, of course, are a relative matter," said Dr. Pursell. "The income capacity of the state's citizens to pay taxes is also important."

"Therefore, in order to put Nebraska's tax situation into perspective, it is necessary to compare Nebraskans per capita state and local taxes, as well as per capita income, with similar data from other states."

The report compares Nebraska's state and local tax effort with that of six surrounding states: South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, and Wyoming.

These states serve as valid comparisons because they have economic and demographic bases similar to Nebraska. TAXES, page 5

Dress Rehearsal

Mrs. Mabel Sorensen gave the program, entitled "The Good Old Days."

Next meeting will be a 2 p.m. Christmas party Dec. 13 with Mrs. Robert Bentback.

College One-Acts Open This Weekend at WSC

The Wayne State College Theatre Department is in its final week of rehearsal for four one-act plays, under the direction of theatre majors at Wayne State College.

The plays will be staged Nov. 20 through the 23rd in the Menagerie Room of the Student Union building. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Nov. 20, 22 and 23rd, and 2 p.m. Nov. 21. Reservations for the one-acts can be made at the Theatre Office in the Fine Arts Center. Students and faculty members will be admitted free with identification.

Directing the "Tonight at Eight" presentations will be Lori Adams, Juli Burney, Lonnie Beardshear and Kat Good.

Miss Adams will direct Harold Hinters' absurd play, "The Room." A native of Belgrade, Miss Adams has her roles in 11 Wayne State productions, including leads in "A Streetcar Named Desire," "Lysistrata," "I Never Saw Another Butterfly," "Rain" and "Lovers." She has also held positions as technical director, stage manager and assistant director.

Miss Adams spent last summer in Hagerstown, Ind. with the Nettlecreek Players, appearing in "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Godspell." At present, she serves as treasurer of Alpha Psi Omega and Drama Club. Also a member of Cardinal Key, Miss Adams will graduate in May with a teaching degree.

Cast in lead roles for "The Room" are Wayne Hendricks as Bert Hudd, Kerry Gallagher as Rose Hudd, Joe O'Brien as Mr. Kidd, Russell Herman as Mr. Sands, Dawn Hartung as Mrs. Sands and Dave Heste as Riley. The assistant director is Julie Grant.

"Tonight at Eight" presentation also includes "The Importance of Being Earnest," directed by Juli Burney of Hartington. Miss Burney, a junior theatre and speech major, will graduate from Wayne State next May. She has been active in theatre since coming to Wayne and has held many different technical positions, including house manager, technical director, costume mistress and props mistress.

She has held roles in "A Streetcar Named Desire," "Rain," "Lysistrata" and various one-acts. Miss Burney is currently president of Drama Club and Speech Club and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega and Cardinal Key. She plans to work towards her master's after graduation.

The cost for "The Importance of Being Earnest" includes Gordon Krenz as Lane, Tracy Harrison as Algernon, Moncroft Mike Mahon as John Worthing, Jackie Melsel as Lady Bracknell, Jenni Snook as Gwendolyn, Melodee Winger as Miss Prism, Deb Bowen as Cecily, Mark Adamson as Rev. Chasuble and Don Hasenkamp as Merriman. Hasenkamp is also assistant director.

Lonnie Beardshear will direct "The Lesson," assisted by Deb Mayberry. Members of the cast include Kathy Hatterman as the maid, Lori Essman as the pupil and Lance Clay as the professor. Beardshear, of Washington, D.C., is a senior at Wayne State majoring in theatre and broadcast. He has been involved in numerous productions at Wayne as light and sound technician, and has held roles in "Macbeth" and several one-acts. Prior to coming to Wayne, Beardshear worked with the National Theatre Company and in the

Woman's Club Learns About Old Style Cooking

Wayne Federated Woman's Club members met Friday afternoon at the Woman's Club room with 33 members and three guests attending.

Mrs. Richard Lesh had the program on culinary arts. She told about the old style methods of preparing and cooking food, and showed her collection of antique kitchen utensils.

Entertainment was provided by members of the Methodist women's choir, including Mrs. Al Ehlers, Mrs. John Nigh, Mrs. Darrel Fuelberth, Mrs. Richard Keldel, Mrs. Jim Marsh, Mrs. Kenneth Edmonds and Mrs. Bill Wilson. They were accompanied by Mrs. Alfred Morris.

During the business meeting, it was announced that the Woman's Club craft show will be held Feb. 12 at the city auditorium.

Mrs. Charles Maier is chairman for the Woman's Club fund raising pie social which will be held today (Thursday) from 3 to 9:30 p.m. in the Woman's Club room.

The Woman's Club will remember two residents of the Wayne-Care Centre at Christmas time. Members voted to send a $15 donation to Care.

Serving at Friday's meeting were Mrs. Raymond Schreiner, Mrs. Robert Vakoc, Mrs. Carl Nuss and Mrs. Fred Dale.

The next regular meeting will be Dec. 10 at 2 p.m. at the Woman's Club room for a Christmas program.

Christmas Luncheon Planned for Dec. 1

At their Nov. 10 meeting, members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Women made plans for the Christmas luncheon to be held Dec. 1 at 1 p.m.

Twenty-two members turned out for the meeting Wednesday. A thank offering program was presented by the Faith and Life committee. Mrs. Jewell Schock, a delegate to the state LCW convention, gave a report on her trip.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Stanley Nelsen, Mrs. Anita Bush and Mrs. Jack Langemeier.

Lots of Things to Buy

IT WAS A GOOD DAY Saturday, in more ways than one, for members of the Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary. The weather cooperated nicely and hundreds of area shoppers, top photo, turned out for the auxiliary's annual fall bazaar at the city auditorium. After browsing the tables, many shoppers enjoyed a lunch of homemade soup, sandwiches and desserts which were served by auxiliary members in the Woman's Club room. In the bottom photo at left, Maria Sandahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sandahl of rural Wakefield, is already looking towards the next table as she hands mom her latest purchase. Bottom right photo, women shop the ever popular gift table. Winners of drawings for three stadium blankets during the day were Mrs. Robert Vakoc and Mrs. Lester Hansen, both of Wayne, and Mrs. Shirley Baird of Winside. As in past years, proceeds from Saturday's sale will be used to buy equipment for the Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Harriers Will Run To Kearney

There's pure joy in running if you're a cross country type. That's the belief of Wayne State's cross country team which has finished its season but still wants to run. What do they have in mind? They plan a relay run from Wayne to Kearney Friday and Saturday, arriving in time for the Wayne-Kearney football game at 1:30. Originally the runners intended to simply run for fun. Then they told the Wayne Second-Guessers Club their plan, and the club's project chairman, Dan Gardner of Wake field, began thinking. Why not make it a benefit for some cause?

Before long, Gardner had arranged with Hinky Dinky Stores to meet the Wayne harriers en route, and the company agreed to contribute to the muscular dystrophy fund if the team finished its run. So the plan works this way: The team will leave Wayne at 9 a.m. Friday, taking a turn around the college track first, run to Norfolk on Highway 35, visit Hinky Dinky about 12:30; go to Columbus on Highway 81, stop at Hinky Dinky about 5:30; proceed to Grand Island along Highway 30, arrive about midnight and see HARRIERS, page 5.

3-7 Cats Face 8-1 Kearney

There's Still Hope for Share of NCC Crown

One game does not necessarily make a season. However, for Wayne State's football Wildcats a victory over Kearney State Saturday would salvage the wounds, frost the cake, turn lead to gold — whatever image you want to choose. Its season finale for both in a 1:30 shoot-out at Kearney, and the outcome will say something about the Nebraska College Conference title. A Wayne win means a 2-1 tie with Kearney. The reverse means Kearney retains its crown while Wayne, Chadron and Peru share the remains at 1-2 each. Call it a tie for second, or last.

straight game, Wayne also faces a dangerous runner. Last week it was Jeff Rodman. No. three rusher in national NAIA charts, who gained up 141 yards in Dakota State's 24-14 win here. This week Wayne's foe is Dave Burke, who traveled the identical distance, 141 yards, in Kearney's 21-0 trouncing of Northern State last Saturday. Burke leads Nebraska NAIA college rushers with a 106 average. His 959 total 15 five yards short of equalling the combined yardage of Wayne's top two runners, Bob Barry with 490, Kirk Gardner with 474. Defensively, Wayne enjoys a small statistical edge, with the Wildcats yielding a 235-yard total offense average, Kearney, 261. But on offense, the Antelopes are far out, leading the state on a 343-per game pace while the Wildcats rate ninth at 208. The Cats improved their rushing image against Dakota State, with a season-best 252, led by Barry's 98. The Trojans netted only 138 on the ground, less than Rodman's 141 net. Small consolation, however, after the Trojans scored on three shockers — a 47-yard pass on their first play, a 50-yard pass in their second series, and a 76-yard Rodman run in the first series of the second half. Aside from this triple whammy and a field goal. See NCC CROWN, page 5

Young Cagers Start Practice Next Week

It's time to switch from football to basketball for youths participating in city recreation programs. Boys in grades three through eight and girls in grades five through eight will begin practices next week at the city auditorium. There's still time to sign-up for those youngsters who haven't done so. Just stop by the auditorium during the designated hours. Schedule:

- Boys
 - Seventh-Eighth — Monday and Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m.
 - Fifth-Sixth — Tuesday and Friday from 4 to 6 p.m.
 - Third-Fourth — Saturday from 9:30 to 10:45 a.m. for third graders; 10:45 to noon for fourth graders.
- Girls
 - Eighth — Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 3 to 4:30 p.m.
 - Seventh — Saturday from 1:45 to 3 p.m.
 - Fifth-Sixth — Saturday from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m.

Laurel Looks Strong With Entire Varsity Returning

Laurel High teams have always carried the tradition of being a basketball powerhouse in Class C and this year doesn't appear to be any different. The only new wrinkle is that the girls could be sharing the spotlight with the boys. The entire varsity squad from last year's initial 9-4 campaign will add considerably to coach Everett Jensen's hopes of producing not only a contender in the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference, but also a leader in this part of the state.

PATTI STARK

CHERYL ABTS

Everett isn't hiding the fact that seven letterwinners are molding what could be a NEN leader. However, he doesn't want to do the talking. He prefers his girls do it on the court. Back are seniors Patti Stark, Paula Buss, Kelly McCoy, Jean Erwin and Roxanne Gads, and juniors Cheryl Abts and Elaine Guern. Stark and Buss carry the heights of 5-9 each, but Everett doesn't feel size should make a difference in this the second year of the girls sport. Jensen does expect to get leadership from Abts and Gads, who last year averaged nine and seven points per game. Team wise, Laurel averaged 34 points an outing, one area the coach hopes to improve with the help of a pressing defense. "We'll use a fullcourt press some of the time and hope for the steal and easy points," Jensen noted. "The coach realizes that trying to pick a starting five from his letterwinners isn't going to be an easy task. In addition to the seven are 23 other hopefuls, including 10 freshmen. Both Jensen and assistant Doug Siepkas are putting their girls through extensive practices in an effort to make the selections by the Dec. 4th starting contest at Crofton. Crofton and O'Neill look to be the teams to beat for the NENAC crown, but Jensen isn't counting out his club. "The girls are excited about the season and I don't see why we couldn't be in the conference race," he added.

City Cage Program Slated To Begin

Adult recreation basketball gets into full swing next week for men 18 and older from Wayne and the surrounding area. Beginning Monday at 7 p.m., in the city auditorium. A league ball starts winter play when recreation manager Hank Overin holds the first of two scheduled sessions. The early starting time is for persons who didn't play last year and veterans whom Hank didn't call during the week. The second session starts at 8:30 for persons Hank contacts. A League basketball, Overin explained, is for younger men who are high school graduates and older who like a faster and more competitive pace. On the other hand, B league basketball, which starts Wednesday of that week, is for those persons who prefer a slower pace and want to play the sport more for recreation and physical exercise. Again the times are the same: 7 p.m. for beginners and 8:30 for veterans who have been contacted by Overin. To play in recreation basketball, a player needs a pair of tennis shoes and cutoff jeans or shorts. Shower facilities will be furnished. There is no fee for local players to participate, but players from outside Wayne will have to pay $10. The fee also entitles a family member to participate in other city recreation sports such as adult volleyball, youth baseball and the like. Every player who enters recreation ball will get a chance to play in every game, Overin pointed out.

Part of Jensen's optimistic outlook stems from the fact that Laurel this fall finished with a 9-9 record in volleyball, the best shooting in the history of the sport at Laurel. The coach believes that winning attitude will carryover to this season. Following the Dec. 4th opener, Laurel takes on Allen Dec. 7 on the Bears' home court. The last time these two teams met See LAUREL, page 5

Lewis and Clark are Walthill, Wausa, Osmond and Hartington. Rest of the season includes battles with Norfolk Catholic, Randolph and Pender.

BEST WAY to describe Laurel's football schedule for the 1977 season is tough. Might say that the Bears are jumping from the fryin' pan into the fire with their state of nine head-knocking grid clubs.

A BIG thank you to Laurel High School and to the persons responsible for the great dinner during last week's football banquet at the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse.

IF NEBRASKA's football team doesn't set any records this year, it's for sure its fans will. Nearly 18,000 followers will be making the trek to Hawaii for the game on Dec. 4 between the Big Red and the Rainbows.

ART BY Wayne State College seniors Harry Gray and Jim Auck, shown above, is on display this week in the foyer of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center on the WSC campus. A Sunday afternoon reception began the show. Included in the senior art display are paintings, drawings, pottery and some other art works. Gray is a Winnebago High School graduate and will graduate in December, 1977. Auck will graduate in August, 1977, and is a native of Fargo, N.D. Their art will be on display through Nov. 26.

Attorney: Tax Reform Act Will Please Some

The major changes in this year's federal tax reform act involves gift and real estate taxes, a Wayne attorney told members of Wayne Kiwanis Club Monday.

Persons whose estate is valued under $200,000 will benefit from the new tax laws concerning estate and gift taxes, said Duane Schroeder of McDermott and McDermott. But persons whose estate is over that amount won't necessarily be happy with the new laws, he added.

Police Blotter

About 6 p.m. Monday a car operated by Patricia Purcell, 606 Douglas, struck the rear end of a vehicle operated by Matthew Davis, rural South Sioux City, when the Davis car was eastbound on Highway 35 on the edge of Wayne. Davis had slowed for oncoming traffic when the mishap occurred.

An exit sign behind Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association was damaged before 11:40 a.m. Sunday when an unknown vehicle ran over it.

Twenty minutes earlier Eldon Sperry, 525 E. 61th, reported that some reflectors had been stolen from his property and that a car had driven over his lawn.

Three panels of glass in a shed behind Karel's, 113 Main, were reported damaged about 3 a.m. Sunday.

Friday afternoon about 5:15 a car operated by Jonelle Welch, 1102 Main, hit the rear end of a car operated by John Swenson, Wayne, when the Swenson vehicle slowed to make a turn on the 100 block of Main.

Thought for Today
By Brian McBride

"The private and personal blessings we enjoy — of immunity, safeguard, liberty and integrity — deserve the Thanksgiving of a whole life..."
Jeremy Taylor

Human nature being what it is, we tend to take our good fortune for granted. And most of us enjoy very good fortune, indeed. Count your blessings and consider that few people in all of history have "had things so good" as what we enjoy in this country today.

In every field... our standard of living, our medical health, our political freedoms... we have so much to be thankful for that a lifetime of Thanksgiving is barely enough. Every day should be Thanksgiving Day.

We're thankful for the opportunity we've had of serving this community with an essential service and for the friends we've made while doing so, in past years.

Study Shows County Population Not Getting Any Younger

The Wayne County population has been undergoing a change in the last few years. It has stopped getting younger.

Back in 1960, for every person in the area who was older than 27.2 years, there was one who was younger.

That was the median age locally, as determined by the 1960 Census.

Also, it was found, the median age was moving downward, year by year, which meant that the population as a whole was getting younger. It continued in that direction until 1971, when it reached its lowest point, 24.0 years.

From then on, the age level has been on the rise. According to the latest figures from the Department of Commerce, the median age in Wayne County is now approximately 24.2 years.

In the rest of the United States, by way of comparison, the reports place the median at 28.8 years. It is 28.6 years in the State of Nebraska.

Several explanations are given for the change. One is that people are living longer these days than in earlier years, giving added weight to the upper end of the age scale.

Another is that there has been a marked drop, locally and elsewhere, in the birth rate. The trend, among today's young people, is toward smaller families.

Currently, the figures show, 41 percent of the married women in the 20 to 24 bracket are childless, compared to 24 percent in 1960. Statistically, it appears that the average wife plans to have 2.17 children in her lifetime, down from 2.4 in 1970.

The Population Reference Bureau attributes this, in part, "to a realization by younger married couples that rearing children in this complicated and expensive world presents big problems."

The general effect of the lower birth rate shows up in the Census Bureau's so-called "fertility ratio," which refers to the number of children under age five per 1,000 women of child-bearing age.

In Wayne County, in 1960, this ratio was 453. It is now estimated at 224.

Compared with many sections of the country, some of which have a ratio of no more than 100, the local figure continues to be relatively high.

Repair Work On Tombstones

Repair work on tombstones damaged last week in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne is progressing rapidly, Wayne Monument Works reported Tuesday.

Most of the stones have been set upright and those not chipped have been reset permanently.

Repairs on chipped or cracked stones will have to wait until temperatures are warm enough to allow use of a special cement.

Caretaker Ralph Miller discovered the damage last Tuesday morning, Nov. 9. Initial estimates of damages to 38 stones which were overturned was $1,000 to $1,500.

The Greenwood Cemetery Association decided in a meeting Friday to establish a fund which will accept contributions to be used toward the repairs. Donations can be left at The Wayne Herald, The First National Bank, the State National Bank, Jeff's Cafe, or with association secretary Henrietta Hurstad at 529 Nebraska St.

Homeowners Still Eligible For Payments

People can own a home and still be eligible for federal supplemental security income (SSI) payments, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over, blind or disabled.

"Limited resources means possessions worth up to $1,500 for one person living alone and $2,250 for a couple," Branch said. "But a home doesn't count as a resource." He added, "The Federal Government doesn't put limits on the homes of people because they get SSI payments."

Other possessions that aren't counted as resources, depending on their value, may include a car, personal effects, household goods and life insurance policies.

People can get information about applying for SSI payments by calling or writing any social security office. The Norfolk social security office is at 1310 Norfolk Avenue. The phone number is 371-1595.

The amount of SSI payments people get depends primarily on other income they might have. People with no other income at all living in their own household can get a federal payment of as much as $167.80 a month for one person and $251.80 for a couple. People with some other income may get reduced payments.

The SSI program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Barbara Winters of the Norfolk Social Security office will be at the senior citizens center in Wayne Tuesday from 9 a.m. until noon.

chairman for the dorm council. She is a member of the women's basketball team, and plays in intramural sports. She also is a member of the Inter-varsity Christian Group.

Susan Rutar of Omaha, Neb. Miss Rutar's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rutar of Omaha. With a French major and English minor, Susan is a member of Wayne State. Present activities include French-Club, pledge trainer for the Chi Omega Sorority, captain of the Wildkittens drill team and she has also been selected Gold Rose of Alpha Beta Sigma Fraternity and White Rose of Sigma Tau Gamma. Past activities include student representative for the Student Activities Board, dorm council and French Club vice president.

Linda Buckles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Buckles of Erickson, Neb. Home economics and business are the major and minor of Miss Buckles. She is a junior at Wayne and involved in the following activities: chapter correspondent for the Chi Omega Sorority, cheerleader, "Madame" Days Homecoming Committee, vice president of the Home Economics Club, vice president of Nebraska Home Economics Association (Student Member Section), vice president of Pan Hellenic Council, and intramural sports.

ALLEN NEWS / Club Sponsors Tour

Mrs. Ken Linafelter 635-2403

Members of the Elk Home Extension Club sponsored a visit to the Springbank Township Library Tuesday for all kindergarten through fifth grade students. Purpose of the visit was to acquaint the students with the library and how to check out books.

Club members met last Friday afternoon with Mrs. Larry Lanser. The lesson, "Be Your Own Best Friend," was given by Mrs. Duane Koester and Mrs. Norris Emry. Mrs. Ken Linafelter was named club president for 1977.

It was announced that the club planned to help with Honey Sunday sales on Nov. 14.

Next regular meeting of the club will be Dec. 3 with Mrs. Rose Day. Christmas luncheon and cookie exchange.

Community Service

Churches of the Allen community will sponsor a joint Thanksgiving service on Wednesday, Nov. 24, at 3 p.m. with the Rev. K. Waylen Brown of the Friends and United Methodist Churches delivering the message. Each church will present special music.

Mrs. McCaw Hostess

The Allen Community Extension Club met with Mrs. Earl McCaw last Friday afternoon. Thirteen members and a guest, Lori Schroeder, attended.

Mrs. Ernest Stark presented the lesson, "Be Your Own Best Friend." Tentative plans were made for lessons and programs for the coming club year.

Hostesses Friday were Mrs. McCaw and Mrs. Clarence Wilson.

The December meeting will be a 12:30 p.m. potluck luncheon on the 10th in the extension club room.

Auxiliary Meets

Floyd Gleason Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary met Nov. 8.

The auxiliary has given the book, "Need a Lift," to the Allen school. It was voted to order the magazine, "Firing Line," for the high school library.

Thanks was expressed to auxiliary members who helped serve coffee and cookies at the recent parent teacher conferences in Allen.

The unit voted to send $20 to Gifts For Yanks.

It was announced that Len. Von Minden, a junior auxiliary member, will compete in the National Miss Teenage America contest in Tulsa, Okla. Nov. 20-27.

Wayne 'Aida' Company Ready For Production

After weeks of memorization and a series of rehearsals in Omaha, 29 Wayne State music students will finally make their debut in the opera "Aida," a production of the Omaha Opera Company.

Under the direction of Dr. Cornell Runestad, associate professor of music at Wayne, the students have spent memorizing Italian lyrics since the third week of school. The students will perform in the "Triumphal Scene," a scene requiring 125 persons on stage.

"Aida" has the largest cast ever in Omaha Opera Company productions.

Upon request of the Khedive of Egypt, the play was written by Verdi in honor of the opening of the Suez Canal. Major roles for the Omaha production are played by stars from German and New York City opera companies.

The plot of "Aida" deals with the heroine "Aida," an Ethiopian slave, daughter of the King of Ethiopia. Through the warring battles of Egypt and Ethiopia, "Aida" sees her father again and finds her true love, the story resulting in a typical opera ending.

The Wayne students are Egyptian nobility in the play under the "general people" cast. The score they sing is "The Chorus of People."

Besides their participation in the "Triumphal Scene," nine Wayne State students have also been selected to sing in Act I with a group of actors portraying ministers and captains.

They are: Joseph Manley, Huskey, Kevin Johnson, North Bend; Dan Murphy, Stuart; Robin Edwards, Grand Island; Merlin Lempe, Emerson; Harold Grant, Omaha; Steve Placek, Bruno; Jerry Glaser, Omaha; and Vincent Murphy, Waverly.

Others from Wayne State in the opera are: Claudia Mallatt, Laurel; Anita Orman, Omaha; Roslyn Nyquist, Millard; Florence Huffman, Fremont; Victoria Rusek, Omaha; Cheryl Kopperud, Wayne; Deborah Crumbly, Omaha; Janelle Groffahn, Schaller, Ia.; Laura Hansen, Omaha; Martha Prochaska, Wakefield; Julie Grant, Omaha; Alyson Toyne, Glidden, Ia.; Brenda Pedersen, Emerson; Jana Rutledge, York; Rod Huskey, Cook; James Conley, Cherokee, Ia.; Byron Hall, Homer; Frederick Cova, Omaha; David Braze, Pender; and Jerrold Hain, Ulisses.

CARROLL NEWS / Mrs. Ed Fork — 585-4827

'Thanksgiving' Theme for Dinner at Club

"Thanksgiving" was the theme for the Carroll Woman's Club dinner Thursday afternoon. Twenty-four members and guests Mrs. Stella Freed of Holdrege and Mrs. Elmo Jenkins of Greeley, Colo., were present.

Preceding the dinner, the group sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

The business meeting was conducted by the vice president, Mrs. Robert L. Jones. Mrs. Robert Johnson gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Merlin Kenny read the treasurer's report. Roll call was a "Thanksgiving" quotation.

Following the flag salute, Mrs. Lee Jordan accompanied for group singing of "The Battle Hymn Republic," led by Mrs. Edward Fork.

Members voted to give gifts to the Randolph Manor and the Wayne Care Centre at Christmas. Mrs. Mary Roberts and Mrs. Edward Fork will be in charge of purchasing gifts. The club will send $7 to the Wall Street Mission in Sioux City to provide a family of four with a Thanksgiving dinner.

Mrs. Robert L. Jones closed the meeting with a Thanksgiving poem.

Mrs. Ralph Olson and Mrs. Lloyd Morris were in charge of the Thanksgiving program, which included poems, readings and closing prayer.

Serving on the planning committee for the Thanksgiving dinner were Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Martin Hansen and Mrs. Lena Rethwisch.

Next meeting will be Dec. 9 for a Christmas program and $1 gift exchange. Members are asked to bring fruit, cookies and other goodies, and a decorated container to pack Christmas boxes for the golden age and shut-ins of the Carroll community.

Women Meet for Dinner
United Methodist Women held their November meeting last Wednesday following a no-host Thanksgiving dinner with husbands as guests. About 30 attended.

Mrs. Walter Lage conducted the meeting. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Merlin Kenny and Mrs. Ann Roberts.

Mrs. Charles Whitney reported on the district convention of United Methodist Women which she attended at North Platte in October. Mrs. Whitney was a delegate from the Carroll church.

The group voted to send a Christmas gift to the Wayne Care Centre and to the Randolph Manor.

It was announced that installation of officers of United Methodist Women will be held during workshop services on Dec. 12. Christmas boxes will be given to the golden age and shut-ins of the congregation in charge of the project are Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Wayne Hankins, Mrs. Perry Johnson, Mrs. Walter Lage and Mrs. Earl Davis.

Mrs. Merlin Kenny and Mrs. Stanley Hansen had the lesson, "World Thank Offering." Serving were Mrs. Marjorie Nelson, Mrs. Jay Drake, Mrs. Walter Lage and Mrs. Frank Cunningham.

Next meeting will be a Christmas party and $1 gift exchange on Dec. 9.

Husbands Are Guests
The Congregational Women Fellowship met Nov. 10 following a no-host dinner with husbands as guests. Mrs. Frances Axen had devoting.

Mrs. Robert L. Jones presided. Mrs. Lynn Roberts reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Frank Vlasak read the treasurer's report.

Hostess Honored
Guests in the Lem Jones home Saturday evening for the hostess' birthday were the Owen Jenkinsons of Norfolk, Mrs. Will Davis of Stromsburg, the Wayne Imels of Winside, Mrs. Robert Haberer, Jay and Jill, of Crofton, Mrs. Bob Newman and Ryan of Wayne, the Clarence Hoemans of Hoskins and Cora and Merlin Jenkins and Tom Morris, all of Carroll.

The Edward Forks were visitors Friday evening.

Hayrack Ride
School District 75 students and patrons held a hayrack ride Nov. 5 with students, teachers and parents of the Sholes School as guests. Gene Rethwisch drove.

The group returned to the William Macklin farm for a winter roast.

There are eight pupils in District 75, taught by Mrs. David Jager.

Corn Production Up
Corn production, as of Nov. 1, was 1.4 billion bushels, 3.3 per cent above Oct. 1 according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Total production would be one per cent less than last year but 28 per cent greater than the 1974 drought crop and generally turned out better than expected prior to harvest. Yield was forecast at 80 bushels per acre down five bushels from last year but two bushels above the previous forecast.

This compares with the 1971-75 average yield of 87 bushels and the record level of 104 bushels achieved in 1972.

Irrigated corn production was forecast at 397.8 million bushels, eight per cent above 1975 and 27 per cent above 1974. Yield is forecast at 112 bushels per acre compared with 113 bushels last year, the 1971-75 average of 113 bushels and the 1972 record high of 124 bushels.

Sorghum Grain Production Up
Production of sorghum grain was forecast at 106.6 million bushels, up eight per cent from last year and three per cent from last year. Yield was forecast at 27.7 bushels per acre, down three bushels from 1975 but four bushels above the October forecast. This compares with the 1971-75 average of 28 bushels per acre and the record of 33 in 1969.

Soybean Production Down
Soybean production was forecast at 20.4 million bushels, down five per cent from last month and 38 per cent from last year. This could be the smallest production since 1971. The forecast yield of 20 bushels is seven bushels below last year, eight bushels below the 1971-75 average yield, and 12 bushels below the record level achieved in 1969 and 1972. Yields did not materialize as well as expected.

Other Crops
Dry bean production is forecast at 2.7 million bushels, five per cent above 1975 but eight per cent below 1974. Sugar beet production is forecast at 1.6 million tons, down nine per cent from last year's record production. Fall potato production is forecast at 1.1 million cwt, down 10 per cent from last year.

Nebraska Cattle on Feed
Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,360,000 cattle on feed on Nov. 1. This is an increase of 11 per cent from last year and 20 per cent from two years ago.

Marketing of live cattle during October by Nebraska feeders totaled 270,000, up 15 per cent from last year but down five per cent from two years ago. Placements of cattle into feedlots during October totaled 490,000, a 22 per cent increase over last year and up 24 from two years ago.

Cattle in Seven States
Cattle and calves on feed Nov. 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 7,392,000 head, down four per cent from a year ago but seven per cent more than Nov. 1, 1974.

The number on feed Nov. 1 was above last year in two of the seven states and unchanged in one state. October placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states totaled 2,303,000, less than one per cent above a year ago but 25 per cent more than the same month in 1974. Placements were above last year in three of the seven states.

Feed cattle marketed during October totaled 1,487,000, 14 per cent more than 1975, but two per cent below two years ago. Marketings were above October 1975 in five of the seven states.

October placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states totaled 2,303,000, less than one per cent above a year ago but 25 per cent more than the same month in 1974. Placements were above last year in three of the seven states.

Feed cattle marketed during October totaled 1,487,000, 14 per cent more than 1975, but two per cent below two years ago. Marketings were above October 1975 in five of the seven states.

The club has sponsored countless other projects, offering help when needed and contributing to funds to a variety of local and state organizations, including a $2,000 contribution toward construction of Providence Medical Center.

Current president Dale Stoltenberg will be master of ceremonies for the anniversary celebration Tuesday night at the Wayne Vets Club.

Club member Gerald Bofenkamp, president-elect of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, will extend the welcome. The Wayne High School Swing Choir will provide entertainment.

Following a roll call of charter members, Wes Pflueger will introduce guest speaker Keith Polk, a member of the Norfolk Lions Club which sponsored the chartering of the Wayne Club.

Nebraska assessors want increased exemptions for the elderly

CAPITAL NEWS

LINCOLN — County tax assessors say Nebraska's homestead exemption for the elderly should be increased.

That word came through to the Unicameral's Revenue Committee in no uncertain terms during a recent hearing. Persons over age 65 are now eligible for up to a $15,000 exemption or their homes.

But the assessors note that all 93 counties are either in the process, or have already completed, mandatory real property re-evaluations and those new values are substantially higher than the old ones.

Ruby Hays, the Furnas County assessor, said in her county the exemption from the property tax should be increased to $20,000. Otherwise, she said many of Nebraska's elderly who have not had to pay property taxes from their social security money will all of a sudden get a tax bill.

Fritz Meyer, Lancaster County assessor, said a more realistic exemption for Lancaster County would be in the $30,000 to $40,000 range.

He said that in Lincoln in particular older homes are owned by the elderly. In fact, he said, "80 to 90 per cent of our elderly are living in these older homes. New values being placed on those homes, Meyer said, are 80 to 160 per cent more than they were.

The revenue committee members have also been asked to save the state some money by not investing anywhere from $30,000 to $100,000 in a study of Nebraska's taxes.

Bill Harris, a Lincoln businessman, said the so-called "tax profile" the committee is thinking about "is a waste of tax money."

"It would be a meaningless statistical exercise" which would still leave unanswered the basic question of tax equality, he said.

The committee has been thinking about getting a full picture of just what the situation is. Once that is done, senators would theoretically be able to figure out the impact of future tax proposals as well as achieve a balance in the kinds of taxes imposed that would be fair to all.

Harris said there is no form of taxation that is completely fair and whether it is fair for even one person varies from year to year.

"A farmer's tax load may look fair in the year when he makes money, but not when he doesn't," he said.

In other words, Harris told the committee, taxation remains generally a political question that only senators, not statisticians, can answer. He said the senators, right now, could do a bigger favor by not having the study and saving the money.

Two firms have appeared before the committee to present proposals on how it would be done and how much it would cost.

Court Gets Death Cases

The Nebraska Supreme Court now has under advisement the cases of four of five men sentenced to die in the electric chair for murder.

The case of the fifth man, Westley Peery of Lincoln, is still awaiting oral arguments before the court.

At issue is the constitutionality of the law.

It is being challenged on appeal by attorneys for Erwin Charles Simants of Sutherland and John Rust, Rodney Stewart and Richard Holtan, all of Omaha.

The last person executed in Nebraska was Charles Starkweather, in 1959.

Paul Snyder, assistant attorney general, said during oral arguments before the supreme court that similar laws in Texas, Florida and Georgia have been upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Former Gov. Frank Morrison, Douglas County Public Defender, took the challenge, side by side with the Nebraska law is too vague to be valid.

He noted that the law requires a judge or panel of judges to weigh aggravating against mitigating circumstances.

That, said Morrison, "is so vague it is subject to a diversity of interpretations."

Simants was convicted of first degree murder for the deaths of six members of the Henry Kettle family of Sutherland. Rust was convicted of killing Michael Kellog of Omaha during a gun battle with Omaha police. Stewart was convicted of killing Daniel Evans and Holtan was convicted of murdering Lawrence Loder of Omaha.

Simants' attorney, Leonard Vyhnaek of North Platte, said the man should not have been sentenced to die.

"He was a public menace, more like a public nuisance, perhaps," he said.

The attorney is seeking a reduction to a life sentence.

Commissioners to Hawaii

Members of the Nebraska Public Service Commission have gone to Hawaii to attend a national meeting.

Some of the trip was to be paid by the taxpayers.

Initial estimates placed that taxpayer cost at a minimum of $4,000. That was figuring that four of the five commissioners would go as would the commission's executive secretary.

Commissioners who signed up for the trip included Jack Romans of Ord, Duane Gay of Columbus, Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont and James Munnely of Omaha. Robert T. Marland of Lincoln decided not to go because his term in office ends in January.

Gay said the meeting will give the commissioners a "chance to get to know what's going on nationally." He said he is especially interested in the latest on interconnecting private equipment with telephone company equipment.

The meeting is that the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners.

Gay said the convention was packed with business sessions, including 12 speeches, another 12 panel discussions, 15 committee reports and four legal reports.

The association says its purpose is to improve the quality or effectiveness of public regulation in America.

Speakers for the event included Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, a congressman and representatives of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Energy Research and Development Administration and Federal Power Commission.

The actual amount of money the state will pay won't be known until sometime this week.

Nebraskans must face water problems

Many Nebraskans, possibly a majority, are having a hard time facing up to the fact that there is a critical need for some practical and perhaps even drastic water conservation measures.

Just as motorized America hasn't admitted that there is an end in sight to relatively cheap and plentiful supplies of energy, similarly Nebraskans are inclined to postpone water supply and conservation remedies until crisis situations develop.

Legislative hearings this year have served to pinpoint problem areas and undoubtedly there will be some legislative proposals in the next session to tighten up and refine some of the soil and water conservation legislation that is already in statute form. A number of the Natural Resources Districts, particularly those in which water shortages have developed in the last couple of dry years, have been holding public meetings to assess the viewpoints of the people most affected and to get their suggestions as to remedies which they are willing to apply.

A good example is the series of meetings held by the Upper Republican Natural Resources District serving the Dundey, Chase and Perkins county areas. Deep well irrigation development began in that area in the 1950's and has had rapid expansion since that time. A water study report presented and the WRD meetings stated that water levels in that area have declined as much as 16 feet since 1952, that the flow of streams have dropped as much as 19 per cent and artesian wells have ceased to flow.

Primarily that is wheat and cattle country with very low average annual rainfall. Irrigated crops were at one time limited to the Frenchman Valley with water rights dating back to the 1890's for its relatively small flow. The Emery Dam stabilized the flow for irrigators, but the supply was limited and inadequate in many years even before deep wells and center pivot systems began pulling from underground reserves to produce corn on uplands that in former times were not considered suitable for summer fallow cropland, let alone irrigated crops.

Result has been that the stream flow of the Frenchman River has been declining and the water rights of surface irrigators have already been infringed. The Resources District meetings give farmers and ranchers opportunity to tell the facts as they obviously are and to make recommendations to their own representatives on those district boards who understand all sides of the situation and can do something about them.

The Frenchman Valley is not the only problem area by any means as Nebraska farmers and ranchers well know. Streamflows on creeks and rivers have been declining in many parts of the state. Artesian wells have stopped flowing and sub-irrigated meadows in many of the headwaters of those creeks and rivers have simply been drying up. Irrigation wells dating back 30 years have had to be deepened and even domestic water wells have failed during the irrigation season. Water specialists say that some areas could be without water by the year 2000 if the trend continues.

Many farmers and ranchers are questioning the wisdom of installing expensive irrigation systems on tight sandy upland soils that are poorly suited to such development and are taking precious water supplies from better, already developed cropland.

Not subject to yes indeed, but one that should be settled before wells and irrigation canals are empty. The Natural Resources Districts are the logical place to begin, among the people who are to be the most affected. — M. M. VanKirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau.

OBSERVATIONS

Airport improving

Credit is due for advances made at the Wayne airport during the past year or so.

Airport manager Al Robinson has made tremendous strides in increasing utility of the airport and statistics prove his success.

All hangar space available is taken, more flights are being logged in and out of the airport, and the increase in instruction hours of flying and numbers of people receiving private pilots' licenses points to increased interest in flying.

Robinson has done a commendable job of overseeing the day to day operations of the airport.

At the same time, the members of the airport authority are contributing to the usefulness of the facility through the policy they set. Most visible achievement to date was the announcement last week that a radio beacon would be installed, giving the airport all weather capability by providing for instrument landings.

The addition of the radio beacon is expected to greatly increase utility of the airport and will mean Wayne will be listed on maps used by most professional pilots.

Hopefully, the airport authority will continue on the course it has taken so far, one of the fiscal responsibility coupled with consideration of long range plans for improving the airport.

The importance of a viable airport may not be immediately apparent, but continuing development will make it one more item which sets Wayne apart from other communities of similar size. — Jim Strayer.

Alternative suggested to Medicare

What would you think of a man who put his cash on a table outside his front door before going to bed, then complained loud and long on discovering it missing the next morning? Not very bright, right?

Well, what about the people who establish a government program that invites fraud, and then spend their time bewailing the fraud instead of correcting the program?

The Medicare/Medicaid programs are the government's first major ventures into national health care. Medicare pays bills for Social Security recipients, while Medicaid takes care of the poor.

When these programs were proposed, clear-eyed realists warned that they would be a bottomless hole into which the government would have to pour increasing amounts of money, that the initial cost estimates were far too low; that such projects virtually guarantee bureaucratic inefficiency and waste.

Proponents of the programs accused the opponents of being heartless cads who didn't care if the old folks and the poor died in the streets for lack of medical care, etc., etc.

Since we are a nation both compassionate and optimistic to a fault, the programs were passed over the objections of the heartless cads. And what happened?

Medicaid alone now costs over $15 billion a year for the federal government's share, which is 2,000 per cent more than originally estimated by its sponsor, Sen. Ribicoff (D-Conn.), and 900 per cent more than the government predicted at start-up time. Medicare/Medicaid combined is expected to eat up $38 billion in federal funds this fiscal year. And the news is full of stories about fraud.

The liberals' reaction to all of this has been typical: Blame the greedy doctors for the fraud, hire more bureaucrats to write more forms, and — based on the impressive record of the present program — recommend an even bigger, more expensive national health care program, embracing everyone.

Undoubtedly there have been some greedy doctors. But, not all of the big medical payments being publicized in the media are the result of fraud — although the stories often manage to imply that through guilt-by-association.

Nor is all of the fraud limited to the private sector. The New York Times of Nov. 9 carried a very revealing story headlined: "Millions in Medicaid Overbillings Laid to New York City Hospital." That is, to hospitals owned by the city and run on a "non-profit" basis. I'll give anybody long odds that New York isn't the only place it's happening.

The sorry record of this government aid program provides an instructive comparison to the superior incentives and efficiency of the private sector.

Very simply put, the private sector functions on the assumption that you are the best guardian of your own money. If you want medical care and you have to pay for it, then you will be sure you really need it, and doctors and hospitals will unreasonably high charges, and demand that you get what you have paid for. (Granted such analysis is sometimes difficult for the layman, which is an argument for improving private-sector competition in the medical field.)

When the government pays the bills, however, nobody has an incentive to watch expenses. The patient knows it isn't his money. The doctor knows it isn't the patient's money. And the hospital knows it isn't the patient's money. And the hospital knows it isn't the patient's money. Under those circumstances, even the most conscientious individual isn't apt to err on the side of frugality.

Ah, but what about the people who can't use their own money because they can't have enough? The best solution would be for the government to pay private health insurance companies to take care of the indigent on a fixed-cost contract. Their record for efficiency is far better than the government's.

The problems of Medicare/Medicaid are caused not by too much private enterprise, but rather, by not enough of it. — Richard Lester, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Man is basically a social creature who lives his life in fellowship with others. At no time does he need an expression of this supporting fellowship more than at the time of mourning. Jesus said, "Blessed are they who mourn for they shall be comforted." He certainly was referring to the comfort afforded by our relatives and friends as He was of God's supporting presence.

Young Trees Are Susceptible To Sunscald

Young deciduous trees which have not developed a tough outer bark are susceptible to sunscald during the winter months.

Sunscald damage appears as splits and cracks that typically develop on the south side of the tree. Sunscald damage occurs when the sun heats bark on a day when temperatures are below the freezing point to a level where tissues expand and cellular activity begins.

At sunset or when the sun is obscured by clouds, there is a rapid temperature drop and tissues quickly contract. This expansion-contraction process results in the outer bark splitting.

To prevent this damage, wrap the trunks of smooth bark trees such as apple, aspen, locust, maple, mountain ash and white pine with a light colored tree wrapper. Another method is to paint the trunks with a white water base latex paint that is lead-free.

Farmers Appreciated Here

NEARLY 400 farmers and businessmen got together for dinner Saturday night during the annual Wayne Chamber of Commerce Farmers Appreciation Night dinner. Guest speaker, shown here during his presentation, was Warren

Cook of Norfolk. Also shown at the head table are Wayne mayor Freeman Decker and (facing away from camera) Roy Hurd, Chamber of Commerce president.

Gingham Gals

The Gingham Gals 4-H Club met last Monday evening in the Russell Lindsay home. New officers installed are Anita Sandahl, president; Diane Lindsay, vice president; Terri Melena, secretary; Shelley Emry, treasurer; and Karla Ohe, news reporter.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Roll call was naming a favorite subject in school. Members discussed a Christmas Party and decided to remember their adopted grandparents at Christmas time by having an old fashioned Christmas party at the group's next meeting.

Two new members, Susan Hirt and Krista Ring, were initiated into the club. Members received their yearly pins and certificates. Demonstrations were given by Terri Melena and Diane Lindsay.

Lunch was served by the Lindsays and the Melenas.

Floor Flushing System Has Proven Efficient

The time for a swine waste management system first installed more than 10 years ago "has finally arrived," according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural engineer.

Norman Teter, Extension livestock systems specialist, said the over-the-floor flushing systems "look good enough for me to think that next year, a lot of buildings will have them installed."

He said the system's introduction will follow the acceptance design pattern earlier seen in such innovations as the free stall housing of dairy cattle, the herringbone milking parlor, the warm room brooding of chicks and the artificial drying of peanuts.

"First, there are a few attempts at innovative designs, usually at an experiment then several adventuresome farmers take up the idea to field prove it," Teter said. "Finally, the idea becomes the style, followed by a time when some go back to the previous way of building."

Teter said the flushing process has proved workable in all types of swine housing.

"Slats are preferred in farrowing houses, but flushing under the slats is used successfully," he said. "Slats do not seem necessary and in fact may serve to decrease the efficiency of the system in nurseries and finishing houses."

Several devices can be used in the flushing system to release a big dose of water in a short time. Teter said, including, a dosing siphon, tilting buckets, drum trap dosing siphons, triggered gates and rotating dump tubes.

He said the dosing siphon, used in many systems, features an air pressure dome in a tank, but no moving parts. When the tank's water fills to a level to compress the air enough to blow water from a trap underneath it, the whole tank siphons out into the flushway, Teter said.

Flushways are kept to a maximum width of 30 inches to keep the water stream from "excessive meandering," he said. Teter said a channel system that wide requires about 75 gallons of water for each flush.

"In finishing houses, we sometimes use parallel 30-inch flush channels, using a dump of 150 gallons for a maximum of 120 feet in length," he said.

Teter said flushing frequency depends upon weather conditions, floor slope and the condition in the house.

"When the flush water is recirculated, a flushing frequency of four hours is used," he said. "But with fresh water flushing, the frequency often is limited to twice a day to reduce water use."

Teter said a two-stage handling system is needed to accommodate the flushing process—a first stage concrete settling tank and a second stage lagoon, into which the first stage overflows, containing reasonable clear water that can be recycled through the flush tank and flushway.

The (first stage) settling tanks usually are designed to be pumped every 90 days to avoid too much cost, while the first stage lagoon is designed to hold nearly two cubic feet of water for every pound of hog, plus 180 days of waste storage," he said.

Teter said the type of first stage handling system depends on the farm situation.

"The man who has a furrow type of irrigation system may prefer lagoons because they can be used as water storage reservoirs for fertilized irrigation water," he said. "But the man who is dryland farming may choose to use a liquid manure wagon to take the more fertile sludge from a settling tank, which also conserves more nitrogen than the lagoon."

Specialist Provides Checklist

With winter fast approaching, Nebraska cattlemen have quite a checklist of seasonal things that should be done, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension livestock specialist said this week.

Dr. Paul Guyer said South Dakota cattle producers and some Nebraska stockmen do not have enough winter feed in sight. He urged those that do to notify ASCS offices of available supplies for sale and whether they would be willing to keep cattle during the winter.

Guyer ticked off these other management practices:

- Treat cattle grub and lice soon if this task is not done already.
- Plan to avoid losses from nitrate poisoning in the case of millet, sudangrass and cans.
- Shape feedlots for good drainage and fly control.
- In handling new cattle: Move newly-acquired animals from point of purchase to the feedlot as soon as possible.

- Feed new cattle good quality alfalfa hay or medium quality alfalfa on arrival. If they've been on the road less than 10 hours, give them water; if more than 10 hours, hold off water for about two hours to allow time to get some hay in the digestive system. If calves are not accustomed to bunks spread hay on the ground.
- Work calves within 24 hours of arrival. Vaccinate for IBR, blackleg, and other diseases as recommended by a veterinarian. Worm cattle if they have come off short grass or from the South.
- Add protein supplement the second day. Grain also may be added, but don't overdo it or they will go off feed.
- Keep calves in the lot for 5-10 days for close observation. Sort

- Catch sick calves early. All calves with temperatures more than 103-104 degrees must be treated. Treat an obviously sick animal for at least three successive days.

KNOW YOUR FRANKS
 When is a frankfurter not a frankfurter? The label on frankfurter package will tell a great deal about the product you're buying.

Packages labeled "frankfurters," "wieners" or "hot dogs" must contain no by-products, according to a federal government regulation.

Other hot dogs which contain edible by-products such as heart and tripe must state so on the label. The package then will read "franks with by-products" or "wieners with variety meats."

If binder materials are used in the product — such as nonfat dry milk or soy flour — this must also be included on the label. The package will say "beef frank with soy flour added" or "hot dogs with by-products including nonfat dry milk."

Consumers can readily tell the ingredient which predominates in the product by noting which ingredient is listed first. Like other grocery items, ingredients must be listed in decreasing order with the item making up most of the product named first.

The edible by-product, variety meats, nonfat dry milk or soy flour are all good, nutritious foods. They will not materially affect the nutritive value of the franks. All meat franks are usually higher in price.

WINSIDE NEWS / Winside Trinity Lutheran Observes 75th Anniversary

Trinity Lutheran Church of Winside observed its 75th anniversary last Sunday. Dr. Reuben Swanson of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Synod, was guest speaker at the morning worship service. The Rev. Otto H.F. Mueller and the Rev. Wallace Wolf, former pastors of the Winside church, extended greetings.

A cooperative dinner, served by members of the congregation at the city auditorium, was attended by 215 members and guests. The afternoon program was attended by about 250 persons.

Special music was presented by the Sunday school, women's choir, men's group, league group and the old-timers choir. Poems were read by Mrs. Howard Iversen and Mrs. Leo Jensen. Dale Miller presented the history of the church.

A time of sharing was given by the Rev. Otto H.F. Mueller of Freeport, Ill. The Rev. Paul Reimers, present pastor of the Winside church, extended greetings from area sister churches and former members.

Warren Holtzrow of the United Methodist Church and Rev. G. W. Gottberg of St. Paul's Lutheran Church extended congratulations on behalf of each church.

The closing message was given by Dr. Swanson.

Men of Trinity Lutheran Church assisted in arrangements for the dinner and program at the auditorium. Decorations were in the fall motif.

The anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Deak

Janke, was served by Mrs. Dale Krueger and Mrs. Paul Zoffka. Bars, coffee and coffee were also served in the afternoon.

This and That...
 from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Now is the time to plow next year's site for tree planting. If the land is plowed now, there will be plenty of time for the vegetation to decompose and make a better tree planting job possible next spring.

Land plowed in the fall will absorb more moisture. By next spring, the soil will have settled and will pack tighter around the tree roots, as compared to spring-plowed land.

Many older windbreaks in the county need additional tree plantings to make them more effective. The trees are older and have lost their lower limbs which permits the wind and snow to go through the windbreak and the snow to drift in the wrong location. You can benefit from the effectiveness and increase the life of your windbreak by adding one to three rows of red cedar to your present windbreak.

You should order your trees now while we still have a good selection to choose from.

Pruning Roses in Fall
 Be careful about pruning roses in the early winter. If they are pruned severely, cold weather may kill them.

Fall pruning should remove only enough wood to eliminate damage from wind, snow and ice. Wait until spring to prune roses back for flower production.

Weak roses should be pruned hard. Hard pruning of strong roses is suggested if large flowers are desired. Hybrid Tea roses should be pruned so three to five canes are left. Weak ones should be pruned so each cane is six inches high. Strong Hybrid Teas should be ten inches tall before pruning.

Floribunda roses should have one-third to one-half of the cane removed. Climbing roses should be pruned after spring flowering. All canes that flowered should be removed because they will not bloom again.

Everblooming roses should be pruned late in the dormant season. Everblooming roses flower on the new spring growth. The laterals should be cut back to two or three buds. Some of the old canes should be removed each year. All surplus shoots should also be removed.

HOLIDAY HINTS FOR

Thanksgiving

Roast turkey for Thanksgiving dinner is as American as the Fourth of July.

PERFECT ROAST TURKEY

Prepare the Turkey:

Thaw bird if frozen. Let it thaw unwrapped in refrigerator 2 to 4 days, depending on size. Or if package is watertight, place it under running cold water until bird is pliable, 2 to 6 hours. Rinse inside and out with cold water, drain and pat dry with paper towel. Stuff if you wish. Shake bird to settle stuffing, but do not pack it. Truss turkey, brush with fat.

To Roast Turkey:

In Open Pan: Place breast side up on rack in shallow pan. Do not cover pan or add water. Cover turkey loosely with foil; then press the foil tightly at ends of drumsticks and neck; do not let foil touch top or sides of bird. Cook in slow oven. (325 degrees); lift foil to baste occasionally with fat (optional). This way of cooking gives the most attractive roast turkey for carving at the table. When turkey is two thirds done, cut band of skin or cord that holds drumsticks against turkey. This shortens cooking time by letting heat penetrate to inside of thighs. If you use a meat thermometer, insert it now and continue roasting.

In Covered Pan: Some cooks like to omit the foil and cover the pan with a lid. Turkey cooked with a cover goes to cook so it will brown. The type of pan affects the roasting time. Turkey roasted in a shiny, light-colored pan may take as much as an hour longer than one cooked in a dark enameled or dull metal roaster.

In Foil: This is a good way to cook large turkeys, 16 to 24 lbs., for church or other community meals when carving is done in the kitchen. The high temperature shortens cooking time.

Place turkey breast side up in center of wide, heavy foil that's at least 12" longer than the bird. (For big bird, put two widths together with drugstore fold and press to make leakproof seal.)

Bring one end of foil up over turkey, then bring up other end, lapping it over first end by 2 to 3". Fold tightly. Fold foil down snugly over greased breast and legs. Press remaining sides up to hold drippings. Package will not be airtight.

Place wrapped turkey in shallow pan without rack. Roast in very hot oven (450 degrees). Remove pan from oven 30 to 40 minutes before turkey should be done (see Roasting Guide for Cooking Turkey in Foil). Slit foil open and fold away from turkey to edge of pan. Insert meat thermometer if you use one. Return to oven until done.

To Insert Thermometer: Push it into thickest part of inside thigh muscle; do not touch bone. (If you roast a stuffed turkey, you can place bulb of thermometer in the center of the stuffing. Turkey is done when temperature reaches 165 degrees.)

TESTS FOR DONENESS:

1) Always make the pinch test: Protecting your thumb and forefinger with paper or cloth, pinch thickest part of inside thigh muscle; do not touch bone. If done, meat will feel very soft and you can move drumstick up and down easily.

2) Turkey should be done when thermometer reads 185 degrees.

If you do not use a thermometer, test for doneness at least 30 minutes before approximate timetable indicates turkey will be done. If you do not stuff turkey, it cooks a little more quickly. Allow cooked turkey to stand at room temperature about 20 minutes. This makes carving easier.

TURKEY GRAVY

Remove turkey from roasting pan. Pour drippings — fat and meat juices — into pint measuring cup. Skim off fat.

Return 3 tablespoons fat and 3 tablespoons flour to roasting pan; blend thoroughly.

Cook slowly, stirring over low heat to brown fat and flour slightly.

Add water, milk or giblet broth to meat juices to make 2 cups liquid. Add to fat and flour.

Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Simmer about 5 minutes. Season. Makes 2 cups.

Fresh Cranberry Chutney Mold

This fall the most bountiful harvest ever of fresh, ripe, plump and pliant cranberries will be in markets. These marvelous native berries can be used in so many recipes from soups, to stews, for relishes and sauces, breads, pies and cakes. Take advantage of the pick of the crop and buy a quantity now and freeze what you don't use at once. To freeze, simply pop unopened bags or boxes tight into the freezer. When ready to use frozen cranberries, just follow the directions for any fresh cranberry recipe.

For a hostess who wants to be carefree, serving her guests buffet style makes good sense. Consider a sparkling Cranberry Chutney Mold to compliment a curried chicken or lamb in a chafing dish. Fresh cranberries can also be used decoratively in glass containers to add colorful adornment to your gracious table setting. A really festive and elegant touch.

CRANBERRY CHUTNEY MOLD (Serves 8)

- 1 pound (4 cups) Ocean Spray fresh or frozen fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
- 2 cups sugar
- 4 cups water
- 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 bottle (1 pound, 1 ounce) India mango chutney, chopped
- 2 cups finely chopped celery
- 2 can (11 ounces each) mandarin oranges, drained

Combine cranberries, sugar and 2 cups of water. Simmer 10 minutes. Mix gelatin and remaining 2 cups water. Stir gelatin mixture into hot cranberries. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in chutney, celery and oranges. Pour mixture into a 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. To unmold, dip mold into lukewarm water for a few seconds, tap to loosen and invert onto platter. Garnish with bite-size greens, orange slices and celery curls if desired.

SWEET POTATO PECAN CASSEROLE

- 5 large Sweet Potatoes, cooked and mashed (about 2 cups)
- 1 cup Milk
- 3/4 cup Brown Sugar
- 4 slightly beaten Eggs
- 1/2 cup Butter
- 1/3 cup broken Pecans
- 1 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon Mace
- 1/4 teaspoon Salt

Mix well. Pour into greased 2-quart casserole. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Turn oven to 375 degrees and bake 30 minutes more, or until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PUMPKIN CREAM PIE

- 1 baked 9-inch Pastry Crust
- 1 envelope Unflavored Gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold Orange Juice
- 1 pound can Pumpkin
- 1/2 cup Sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon Nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon Cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon Ginger
- 1 pint Vanilla Ice Cream

Soften gelatin in orange juice. Heat pumpkin, sugar and spices thoroughly. Stir. In softened gelatin until dissolved. Cool. Meanwhile, spoon ice cream into bowl to soften slightly. Beat until smooth. Add cooled pumpkin mixture and beat until well blended. Pour into crust. Chill at least 2 hours. Serve with whipped cream.

Santa Claus Ready for Mail

The Wayne Herald received a telephone call from a jolly old gentleman at the North Pole last week. He said his name was Santa Claus and he asked if the Herald would once again collect his letters from children in the Wayne area.

We told Mr. Claus we would be glad to collect his mail, and to make sure he sees all the letters, we will print them in the paper in plenty of time before Christmas.

Mr. Claus said he would read each youngster's letter and do the best he could to make them happy on Christmas Eve. However, he told us that his elves were very busy with the orders and he might have to make substitutions.

So boys and girls, get your letters in early so Santa and his elves will have plenty of time to make enough toys to go around. Letters should be addressed to Santa Claus, The Wayne Herald, 114 Main Street, Wayne, Nebr., 68787.

Make Your Own Turkey Roll

With food prices an ever-increasing concern to the consumer, today's homemakers are always pursuing ways of economizing.

One way to save this holiday season is to prepare your own turkey roll. Finished rolls contain both light and dark meat for easy slicing. Turkeys which are over 20 pounds are preferable for use.

With a little experience—the homemaker can debone and prepare a roll for roasting in as little as 20 or 30 minutes.

The following steps will lead you to a turkey roll ready to eat.

1) Tools needed include a roll of butcher twine, boning knife, poultry awl (a small pointed tool) and a whole turkey.

2) The first step is to make a long incision down the back of the turkey, and pull it back cutting with boning knife as required. Repeat this step on the other side of the bird.

3) Remove wings by exposing ball sockets and cutting from turkey body leaving as much meat as possible. Save wings for other turkey dishes since they are not used in a boneless roll.

4) Cut skin away from drumstick and thigh. Cut skin away from underside of drumstick. Rolling is made easier with ample skin.

5) Pull drumstick and thigh away from turkey body until hip joint pops out. With knife cut meat down to hip joint, pull drumstick and thigh from turkey body, tearing "oyster" meat on back free from the carcass.

6) Sever drumstick and thigh by cutting diagonally at joint. Remove bone from thigh. Set drumstick aside for other turkey dishes.

7) Starting just behind the "oyster" cavity separate meat from carcass. Follow contour of the body cavity and slice breast meat from both sides of body cavity.

8) With meat sliced at both sides, cut through cartilage at keel bone removing meat from carcass in one piece. The meat should now be in one piece with skin attached—

9) Spread out deboned breast meat and insert thigh meat in center groove. Pull skin over top of meat just as you would wrap a package.

10) Sew roll using the poultry awl. Pull the awl back through meat bringing butcher twine through holes. Cinch up-tight with butcher knots and repeat stitches. Most rolls take between six and 10 stitches. Roast at 340 degrees F. for 2 to 2½ hours depending on size. Cook to an internal temperature of 180 degrees F. using a meat thermometer. The roll may be sliced by hand of machine either warm or cold.

Nebraska Economy Shows Little Change

Nebraska's economy was virtually unchanged from June to July. This is the third consecutive month (May-July) that little trend has developed in Nebraska's economy.

Although the economy has illustrated little growth in the past few months, it has leveled and maintains the physical volume of output at a high plateau. More evidence is required before it can be determined if growth will resume or if a decline in economic activity is likely, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln, College of Business Administration publication.

Wasting in "Business in Nebraska," Duane Hackmann, research associate in the Bureau of Business Research, noted that increases in the construction, manufacturing and government sectors just offset a decline in the distributive sector. The agricultural index remained at its June level.

The July figures together with revised data for June, indicate that the basic trend of Nebraska's total real output shifted from gradual growth, which began in the latter months of 1975 and extended through April, to a plateau.

The greater depth of the recession nationally in the early months of 1975 combined with the rapid growth of the national economy in the first quarter of this year has caused year to date growth in the national index, about 5.2 per cent at the end of July, to surpass the 3.5 per cent figure for the state, as measured by the Bureau of Business Research's index of business activity.

Construction represents one of the stronger sectors of the Nebraska economy. Nebraska's index of construction activity continued to climb from its April low. Compared to the United States, construction activity in Nebraska is faring above national levels. The residential construction component continues strong in Nebraska. This sector has lagged until recently and is now in a sharp upswing.

Revised May and June data for manufacturing indicate that real output in Nebraska remained nearly constant from April through June rather than declining slightly as was previously reported. Although the data for July are subject to revision, output will probably prove to be at or above the June level. Revised data for the national manufacturing sector indicate gradual growth from April through June.

Following an impressive increase in June, Nebraska retail sales dropped back to their May level—still 4.5 per cent above last year's July level after adjustment for price increases. The June-to-July declines in retail sales caused a small drop in the index for the distributive sector, but this will be partially offset by an upward revision in wholesale trade employment received too late to be incorporated in the index.

Patricia Spangler of Wayne is one of 41 non-commissioned officers who graduated Saturday from the first Nebraska Army National Guard Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Academy at Camp Ashland.

Mrs. Spangler, wife of Wayne armory administrative technician Dennis Spangler, is a Specialist 4 with HHC, 1st Battalion, 134th Infantry (Mechanized) at Omaha.

The 15-day NCO academy began Oct. 30 and was designed to provide formal education in personnel management.

Nebraska adjutant general Major General Francis Winner spoke briefly at graduation ceremonies and 67th Infantry Brigade commander Brigadier General George Fairfield extended his congratulations.

Three Seniors Display Art

Three Wayne State students recently had art on display in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center at Wayne State College.

The artists were Karen Meyer of Wisner, Celeste Torczon, Bridgeport, and Carol Henkel, Fairmont. The art show fulfilled a graduation requirement for the senior art majors.

Included in the show were works in pottery, wood sculpture, and drawings.

Miss Meyer carries a triple major in art, elementary education, and special education. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer plan to graduate in May 1977.

Mrs. Torczon is married to John Torczon. She graduated from Bridgeport High School in 1966. At Wayne she carries an art major with a Spanish minor. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Henkel, Carol is a 1972 graduate of Fairmont High School. She is an art major at Wayne.

Just Like The Indians

INDIAN STARTED making it long before it was popular. Now children in Mrs. Kenneth Hamer's fourth grade class at West Elementary School are trying their hands at preparing Johnny Cakes, better known as cornbread. There's really not much to it, admits their teacher who is helping the youngsters learn about some of the Indian customs and cookings used in the early pioneer days. Most of the 29 students were anxious to pit it last week and help prepare the fresh bread. Top, students from left, Stacy Mencl, Denise Ahlvers, Rebecca Schmidt, Carolyn Luschen, Jane Hirt and Laura Struve start the mixing process, then, bottom right, Carolyn, Jane and Laura watch Mrs. Hamer add some more ingredients.

Former Governor Given AASCU Alumnus Award

Former governor and ambassador Val Peterson Friday received the national Distinguished Alumnus Award of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) for "serving with distinction at the local, state, national, and international levels of government and politics." Peterson, a graduate of Wayne State College received his award before an audience of 250 state college and university presidents at the annual meeting of AASCU in New Orleans. In presenting the award, Emerson Shuck, president of AASCU and of Eastern Washington State College, said that the expertise and dedication which Peterson gave to each facet of his impressive career "presents a model of public service to those who aspire to the selfless offices of government and politics."

administrative assistance to President Eisenhower, and as the U.S. representative to various NATO meetings.

Shuck also commended Peterson for sharing his professional experiences and increasing the caliber of government service by returning to Wayne State College to serve as a Distinguished Professor of Political Science and Public Affairs.

Since his return to the college three years ago, Peterson has lectured, counseled students, and has been instrumental in developing a Public Affairs Institute at Wayne State College.

The AASCU Distinguished Alumnus Award is presented each year to a state college or university alumnus whom the Board of Directors believes has enriched the American experience in art, public service, statesmanship, education, or industry.

Previous recipients of the award include President Lyndon B. Johnson, NBC chairman Julian Goodman, author James Michener, Leslie Warner, chairman of General Telephone and Electronics, and Philip Sanchez, U.S. Ambassador to the Honduras.

Recipients are selected from among the alumni of the 324 member institutions.

Test Results Encouraging

Achievement levels of Wayne-Carroll students continue to exceed the national norm, according to the results of tests, distributed Monday night to school board members.

Students in grades five through eight are tested annually. The Wayne-Carroll systems recently tested results, showing how local youngsters compare with the national average.

In general, the 1976 results follow the pattern of previous years, schools superintendent Francis Haun said, with the aggregate scores for Wayne-Carroll students averaging in the 54th to 72nd percentile nationally.

"We feel that in general we're doing well," Haun said. "When the average scores for the system are well above the 50th percentile in all areas, things can't be too bad."

Half the students in the nation who took the test rank below the 50th percentile, and half rank above, Haun explained.

Haun said results of testing for use of reference sources are particularly encouraging. Scores have been rising steadily the past few years for Wayne-Carroll students. Haun attributed the improvement to intensive work by school librarians to teach students to use the library resources.

Test results, with the skill listed first, and then, the percentile average for Wayne-Carroll students, are:

— Fifth grade: composite, 64; reading, 67; language arts, 59; mathematics, 58; social studies, 62; science, 62; use of sources, 69.

— Sixth grade: composite, 67; reading, 67; language arts, 65; mathematics, 63; social studies, 64; science, 76; use of sources, 73.

— Seventh grade: composite, 62; reading, 66; language arts, 64; mathematics, 58; social studies, 68; science, 63; use of sources, 67.

— Eighth grade: composite, 61; reading, 66; language arts, 60; mathematics, 55; social studies, 60; science, 68; use of sources, 69.

Third Man Pleads Guilty To Charge of Pig Theft

District court judge George Dittich Nov. 3 ordered a presentence investigation following a guilty plea entered by Clifford Hurlbert of Neligh on one charge of pig stealing.

Hurlbert had originally been charged with two counts of pig stealing, a felony, in connection with thefts from the Brian Kai farm May 12 and May 20. The charge stemming from the May 12 incident was dropped.

Dittich continued Hurlbert's $2,500 bond.

Two other men had previously been sentenced in connection with related incidents of pig theft. Morris Wayman, 20, was sentenced to 24 months of probation, ordered confined in jail on weekends from Oct. 8 until Dec. 11, for a total of 20 days incarceration, was fined 200; ordered to make restitution in the amount of $849 for half the amount of the stolen property, and ordered to pay $41.50 in court costs. He had been charged with three counts of stealing pigs from Kai, for incidents on May 12, May 20, and June 4. He was sentenced to one count only.

His brother, Terry Wayman, was sentenced to 24 months probation under the May 12 count and ordered to pay $45.00 in court costs.

The brothers were also both ordered to pay costs of court-appointed counsel. Both are from Pender and both were sentenced Oct. 6.

Eleven to Be Inducted into Honor Society

Eleven Wayne High School students will be inducted into the Wayne chapter of the National Honor Society Monday night during a dinner at Les' Steak House.

The students include seniors Janet Baier, Cindy Bull, Joani Isom, Ron Koch, Bill Marr, Aaron Nissen, Brenda Wittig, and juniors Kelly Frevert, Lori Johnson, John Keating and Susan Rethwisch.

In addition to the induction, new officers also will be installed. Serving as president of the 1976-77 school year is Aaron Nissen. Vice president is Mark Brandt and secretary-treasurer is Stephanie Dorcay.

To be accepted into the society students must maintain a grade average of B or better and must show the qualities of leadership, character and service, determined by their teachers.

About 50 parents and their youngsters are invited to the 7 p.m. dinner.

THIRTY-EIGHT memorial stones knocked over by vandals sometime Tuesday morning. The senseless drive cost over $1,500 for repairs.

Vandals Tip Tom In Greenwood

Caretaker Ralph Miller Friday discovered that sometime overnight Monday the normal peace and serenity of the Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne had been disturbed by someone who toppled 38 tombstones.

Police reported that some stones were chipped or broken and said estimated damages amount to from $1,000 to $1,500. A partial list of stones toppled includes the following full or single names: Thompson, Ar-

Granquist, Ole a. Quist, Ringer Kruse, Perry E. W. Ste. stones), Maria Orvil M.

National Commander Will Visit Wayne Post

Wayne Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 5291 Saturday will be host for a visit by national commander R. D. Smith.

Wayne post commander Eldon Sperry said the event will be the first time Wayne has been visited by a VFW national commander.

Smith is scheduled to be at the Wayne Vet's Club at 3:15 p.m. Accompanying him will be state commander Carl Schroeder and junior vice commander Wayne Anderson, as well as other VFW state officials.

Sperry said the visit will be informal and he hopes that as many local members and auxiliary members as possible will be at the Vet's Club to visit with Smith.

The visit by the national commander will follow closely that annual parade in Wayne today (Thursday), celebrating traditional Veteran's Day, Nov. 11.

Sperry said the parade will begin at 10 a.m. in front of Lil' Duffer at the corner of Seventh and Main Streets.

Included in the parade will be local VFW and American Legion members, members of the auxiliaries of both organizations, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and marching bands from the Wayne Middle and High schools.

Keynote speaker will be Bill Faigon, a retired Marine colonel and now a Wayne State College faculty member. The parade will halt for Faigon's address in front of the Vet's Club and will then resume, proceeding to the corner of First and Main Streets where it will disperse.

Flea Market

Will Emphasize Sight Saving

Exhibitors from as far as Vermillion, S.D., and Storm Lake, Ia., have already reserved tables for the Wayne Lions Club flea market Nov. 20-21, chairman Charles Maler said, and more reservations are expected.

Last year a total of 42 tables were reserved for the event, but the number could go higher this year. Last week 29 tables had already been spoken for.

Anyone wishing to reserve a table should write to Maier at 322 Oak Drive, Wayne.

Exhibitors will display their wares in the Wayne city auditorium from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 20, and from noon until 6 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 21.

Sight conservation is one of the primary interests of the Lions International organization and the Wayne chapter will emphasize that during the flea market. Public admission will cost 25 cents and each person attending will receive a miniature white cane.

Persons attending the flea market can also stop in for a bite to eat. The Lions Club wives will be serving meals in the Women's Club room at the auditorium.

Wayne County Lags In Retail Sales Inc

New taxable retail sales in Nebraska totaled $1,438 for the second-quarter period of 1976, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research.

The dollar volume of taxed sales represents a 17 per cent gain over the amount recorded during the corresponding period in 1975.

Retail commodity prices have increased about 4.8 per cent since the second quarter of 1975 and population has increased about one-half of one per cent. Thus, the real, or physical volume of aggregate or capita sales exceeded second quarter by percentage points. In this situation, the Bus' said.

For Wayne County, the increase is somewhat lower, but still a gain.

retail activity in Region 11, which Antelope, Madison, Stanton, and Lincoln counties consider, per cent state.

Antelope region, increases of a follow.

Gas Rate Board

Peoples Natural Gas customers will be paying about five per cent more for gas effective Dec. 27.

The Wayne city council Tuesday night approved a rate increase requested by the natural gas distributor. Gas rates will increase by an average of 7.9 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Keith Mosley, manager of the Peoples Natural Gas district headquartered in Wayne, told the council in making the request that the company is seeking the general increase because operation costs have increased by about 15 per cent in the past year and because the company has spent about $178,000 in order to comply with federal pipe safety regulations.

The rate hike is the general increase in 17 years, Mosley said.

Responding to a question, Mosley said he would look for natural gas rates to be regulated by the state.

The council gave approval engineering studies to be made in order to provide estimates of the cost of proposed rate increases on Main Street formed downtown district.

The action is a "preliminary" step for curb area.
