Norfolk Man Charged With KXNE Burglary

Bond of $1,000 was set Friday morning for Franklin Pierce Jr., 20, of Norfolk, charged Tuesday with a Dec. 11 burglary at the KXNE television station 13 miles west of Wayne on Highway 98.

The charge was filed against Pierce Tuesday in Wayne County court and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Pierce was arrested Thursday and released Friday after posting 10 per cent of the $1,000 bond set by associate county judge Luverna Hilton. A date for a preliminary hearing to determine if Pierce should be bound over to district court to stand trial on the burglary charge will be set after a self-appointed attorney has been named to represent him.

KXNE engineer Maurice Heskett reported Nov. 10 that three rifles, two telescopes and accessories belonging to him and valued at $750 were missing from the station. A sheriff's office spokesman said at that time that a lock on the rear door to the station had been forced to gain entry.

November Is Busy Month For Police

Wayne police officers were busier in November than they were during the same month in 1975, according to a monthly report released by chief Vern Fairchild.

The total number of requests for police service in November was 160, compared with 127 in 1975.

The report indicates 39 of those calls were emergency 911 calls. Citizens have apparently become more aware of when the emergency number should be used. The report says 30 of those calls were justified for use of the 911 number, while in November, 1975, 29 such calls were made, with only 11 of those considered bona fide emergencies by the police department.

The police department is getting more use out of its teletype machine, receiving 2,080 calls in November compared with 1,695 in 1975. 418 teletype messages originated from the Wayne police department in '76 compared with 163 during the same month in '75.

The incidence of criminal complaints increased during the month, 26 this year compared with nine last year. Those complaints resulted in four arrests this year compared with two last year.

Number of traffic accidents were the same for November in both years. Officers investigated 16 accidents in 1976; 11 on public streets and five on private property. In 1975, 14 accidents investigated were on public streets and two on private property.

Officers were also busy ticking tickets during the month. Fines from 36 speeding tickets issued by city officers totaled $510 with three cases not yet heard at the time the report was issued.

Parking violations, 13 of them, comprised the next biggest category. Fines for illegal parking See WAYNE POLICE, page 10

Deflected Sunlight

EVER TAKE a close look at the shapes and designs the sun makes when it reflects off different objects? One Herald photographer did when he was scouting around Friday looking for some different pictures to take for the Monday edition. On the south edge of Wayne a group of oil barrels made for interesting shooting as the late afternoon sun bounced its rays off the drums. To add to the picture, the photographer used a special filter to create the starry effect.

Cost of Government Up in County

Are residents of Wayne County paying a high or low price for the operation of their local government?

Per capita, how much is it costing them, in state and local taxes, compared with the cost of other communities?

In Wayne County, as in almost every other area of the country, taxes have been rising sharply in recent years, in line with the mounting cost of government.

Providing the services that people want, such as better educational facilities, more police protection and improved health care, and meeting well-fare, transportation and other needs, has put most communities in a bind.

The net result, according to statewide figures compiled by the Commerce Clearing House, an authority on government finances, Americans paid an average of $664, in state and local taxes in fiscal 1975, an increase of $46 over the previous year. As recently as 1970, the average was $427. Thus, in five years, there was a jump of 55 per cent.

In Wayne County, based upon the report and upon data from other sources, such taxes amounted to approximately $620 per capita in the past year.

By way of comparison, the average throughout the State of Nebraska was $577 per capita, See COST, page 10

Herald to Skip Two Publications

The Wayne Herald will follow a modified publication schedule through the holidays and is asking contributors to observe the publication dates in submitting news.

Papers normally printed on Saturday for receipt Monday will not be published on Christmas Day or New Year's Day, which fall on Saturday this year.

In addition, the mid-week paper for Thursday, Dec. 30, which would normally go to press on Wednesday will be printed a day early next week. Persons having news for that issue of the paper are asked to submit it early.

WS' Graduate Programs May Lose Accreditation

A decision by a national accreditation organization to remove approval of the graduate teacher education program at Wayne State College has been appealed.

College president Dr. Lyle Seymour filed an appeal with the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) after he learned of the group's decision in October to deny accreditation to programs at WS which grant master's degrees in elementary and secondary education and in guidance counseling.

According to an article in The Sioux City Journal Friday, an evaluation team consisting of educators selected by NCATE and Wayne State will review information which resulted in denial of accreditation and determine if an error was made. That meeting is set for Jan. 24 and 25 in Memphis, Tenn. During the review process, the college will retain its accreditation for the affected programs.

Dr. Rolf Larson, NCATE director, was quoted in the article as saying that the accreditation teams has erred in the past. "We have done it sufficiently often that we are constantly attempting to sharpen our accreditation practices," he said.

According to Larson, NCATE has a membership of about 540 colleges which graduate about 80 per cent of the teachers in the nation. Each year the group reviews accreditation for about 80 colleges which graduate teachers.

In the article, Seymour said the college has received accreditation from NCATE since 1962. The latest accreditation approval was in 1973.

Seymour was quoted as saying "from the comments we received from the accreditation team, we thought there would be no problem with the re-evaluating accreditation. But the evaluation board apparently placed a different interpretation on the team's report."

Under the appeal process, a new evaluation board will be appointed to re-examine the accreditation team's report.

No reasons for the denial of accreditation was given by Seymour or Larson.

The Herald attempted to contact Seymour, but he was unavailable for comment.

Tennessee Man Charged With Allen Gun Theft

A Tennessee man has been arrested in North Carolina on a seven-count federal indictment involving theft of guns at Allen.

Donn C. Schultz, 23, of Kingsport, Tenn., formerly of Sioux City is charged with interstate transportation stolen firearms, interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle, and conspiracy in stealing 81 firearms, bayonets, and ammunition on Sept. 11, 1975, from the rural Allen home of John Wriedt.

Schultz's arraignment date was continued when he couldn't appear in Sioux City federal court.

TV, Movies Influence Christmas Gift Patterns

Electronics, in the form of television, movies and citizen band radio, has exerted quite a bit of influence on the toy market this year according to Wayne store managers interviewed Friday.

Hottest selling dolls this year are the Six Million Dollar Man and the Bionic Woman, popularized by television series of those names.

Larry Hintz, Gambles manager, said his store sold out the dolls a week after they were put on the shelf, and Diane Schermer, toy department manager at Gibson's Discount Center agreed that the Bionic Woman dolls have been a hot item. The Montgomery Wards catalog agency, has also had a constant stream of orders for the popular super hero dolls.

Television has also been responsible for some other hot selling items this year. Gibson's has had a run on Happy Days games, a spin-off from the popular TV series, and Sears manager George Gahl reports that Big Bird from Sesame Street, is also selling well.

One movie in particular has also given birth to an item much in demand among the younger set this year. Kids are just itching to see how good they are at hooking items from the mouth of a plastic shark. The game, of course, is "Jaws", a take-off from the book and hit movie of the same name. "Jaws games move out the door as fast as you can put them down," reported Al Voog, TSC owner. Every other store which offered the game has encountered similar success.

CB radios have taken the country by storm recently and their popularity extends to youngsters. Just about anything connected with CB, real or make-believe, is much in demand by kids this year.

"The CB Talkers went out so fast we couldn't believe it," Nuss said.

"And all-of the CB gear which youngsters will find under the Christmas tree isn't make-believe. Walkie talkies, sending and receiving on channel 14, are also selling well, Hintz said. Sears and Montgomery Wards also report ordering quite a few walkie talkies, and Hintz said the "10-4 CB Buddy" game is also selling well.

Decoraton Contest in Full Swing

Four judges from Wakefield and Winside will tour Wayne Tuesday night looking for houses with the best outside Christmas decorations.

The contest, held each Christmas season, is once again being sponsored by the Wayne Kiwanis Club.

Cash prizes totaling $50 will be awarded to the top three places. First place will receive $25, second $15 and third $10, according to Ken Liska, in charge of this year's contest.

All city residents are eligible to enter the contest. "In view of the energy situation, judging will not necessarily be based on amount of lights, but on all outside home decoration," Liska said.

Winners will be notified by phone and will receive their prizes during a dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Contracts Awarded for Laurel School

The Laurel Concord board of education Tuesday authorized contract worth $837,212 for construction of a new elementary school and gymnasium.

School district voters last June approved an issuance of up to $850,000 in bonds to finance the construction.

Low bidders in five categories received contracts, according to schools superintendent Jim Lofquist.

Categories are: general construction, RaDec Construction Co. of Hartington, $463,600; mechanical, Shanahan Sales and Services of Valparaiso, $150,478; electrical, Triaelectric Co. of Bloomfield, $59,000; educational equipment, Western Laminates Co. of Omaha, $12,631; carpet, Baldwin Carpet Inc. of Omaha, $11,600.

Other alternate costs raise the total to $837,212. Lofquist said.

Construction will begin in the spring, he said, with a target completion date of April 1, 1978.

The old school will be razed, he said, and in its place a corridor will connect the high school and new elementary school.

November Was Cold Month

Northeast Nebraskans have been enjoying unseasonably warm temperature during the past week, but the month of November was colder than usual, according to figures supplied by the conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Temperatures recorded at Wakefield during November averaged 6.1 degrees colder than normal. Normal temperature is defined as the average monthly temperature from 1941-70.

The average daily maximum temperature recorded at the official weather observation station in Wakefield was 45.3 degrees. Average daily minimum was 16 degrees. Average temperature for the month was 30.7 degrees.

High for the month came on Nov. 1 at 66 degrees. Lowest temperature recorded at Wakefield during November was eight degrees below zero, on the 29th.

Precipitation in November was lighter than usual. The five one-hundredths of an inch recorded at Wakefield was 77 one-hundredths below the normal for the month.

Average precipitation for the entire 14-county Northeast division was two one-hundredths of an inch, 78 one-hundredths of an inch below normal for the month, and amounting to only three per cent of the precipitation the region normally receives in November.

Wayne Driver Injures Woman

A rural Wayne man was the driver of a pickup which struck a 59-year-old South Sioux City woman in South Sioux Thursday.

James Dorsey, 67, was traveling on Dakota Ave. when Iva Roloff was crossing the street after the light changed. Ms. Roloff suffered head injuries and was taken to a StouX City hospital for observation.

Dorsey was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

County Welfare Director: We're Here to Help People In Need

Many older Nebraskans would probably be happier in foster care homes than they are in nursing care facilities, Wayne County welfare director Thelma Moeller said Tuesday.

As president of the Nebraska Association of County Welfare Directors, she might be in a position to get that idea across to state officials.

Miss Moeller became president of the state organization Dec. 2 at the state county officials convention in Omaha. As president of the welfare directors association, she is a member of the Nebraska Department of Welfare directors' advisory board.

The 196 Midland College graduate said one of the concerns expressed by welfare directors at the state association meeting was that many elderly persons now living in nursing homes would probably be happier if they could live in a family environment in foster homes.

Adult foster homes are licensed by the state of Nebraska for a specified number of people. Miss Moeller said many elderly persons when they are no longer able to take care of all of their own needs. Maybe it becomes a little difficult to handle cooking chores or housekeeping becomes a bit too much.

They don't, however, need the total care provided by a nursing home. They can take medication on their own, and are capable of day-to-day chores such as dressing and bathing.

That type of person needs to feel some independence, Miss Moeller said. They enjoy the family atmosphere of a foster home.

There are also some benefits for the taxpayers. The state pays $185 a month for room and board for elderly welfare recipients living in foster homes. Nursing home costs run from about $330 to $370.

Miss Moeller said many people aren't aware of the adult foster home program. The social service office in Norfolk is responsible for licensing in Northeast Nebraska.

During the next year, Miss Moeller will act as spokesman at the state level for the state's county welfare directors. One expected change in the state welfare system, which she said is generally favored is relieving counties of medical expenses for welfare recipients.

All welfare recipients are entitled to treatment under the Medicaid program. Counties now pay 20 per cent of those medical costs. Miss Moeller said medical costs can be a hardship for counties near the 14.28 mill levy limit. She believes legislation will be introduced in the Unicameral to relieve counties of the obligation. Such a move would be favored by the welfare directors association.

Wayne County now pays about $3,000 a month in medical costs for welfare recipients.

In addition to Medicaid, Miss Moeller works with four public assistance programs: aid to dependent children (ADC), aid to the aged, blind and disabled, services to crippled children, and food stamps.

County welfare offices act mainly in a referral capacity for aid to the aged, blind, and disabled, and services to crippled children programs. Applications for the first are referred to the Social Security Administration office in Norfolk. Eligibility is determined there. Recipients receive payments under the supplemental security income program.

In instances where supplemental income payments do not meet needs of blind, aged, or disabled adults, the state also provides some assistance. Persons qualifying for the aid are also eligible for medical care, Miss Moeller's office handles about 80 such cases.

Eligibility for services to crippled children is determined at the State Welfare Department office in Lincoln. The program provides assistance for single persons less than 21 years old with orthopedic problems, cerebral palsy, heart disease, cystic fibrosis, mental conditions, hearing impairment or some other problems.

Eligibility and amount assistance is based on the family's ability to pay for needed care.

County offices deal directly with food stamp and ADC programs. Families in which children are deprived of financial support from parents, either because the parent is not in the home or is disabled, or eligible for ADC assistance, based on income.

The basic allowance is $270 a month for a mother and child, plus $42 for each additional child. Other income can be deducted from the payments.

The ADC case load in Wayne County averages about 70 to 75 with about $2,000 in state and federal money disbursed monthly. County funds do not contribute to ADC payments.

Food stamp eligibility is based on a combination of income, expenses, and number of people in the family. Mandatory deductions such as taxes and social security are made from income, plus other allowable expenses, a 10 per cent work allowance, not to exceed $30 and 30 per cent of income if housing cost exceeds 20 per cent.

The final adjusted income is used in See WELFARE, page 11

Heritage Tapestry is on Display

The handwoven needlepoint tapestry which is the Bicentennial project of the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs is now on display in the front window of Christian Photo Studio in downtown Norfolk, according to Anna Marie Krefels, area home extension agent at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station, Concord.

On Jan. 8 the tapestry will be placed in the J.C. Penney Store window at the Sunset Plaza, Norfolk.

The display shows landscapes, fauna and flora, politics, agriculture, history, industry and people, all stitched in needlepoint to form the tapestry of Nebraska's heritage. The tapestry features about 11,700 yards of yard formed into nearly 1,400,000 individual stitches covering 120 square feet of display space.

Miss Krefels said the tapestry is a collection of 94 handwoven squares. Each of Nebraska's 93 counties is represented by a square symbolizing their industry, history or landscape. Home Extension Clubs in each county were given the responsibility for selecting the design and working the needlepoint square for their county.

WAYNE'S TOM GINN (55) and Wisner-Pilger's Phil McGuire (22) got to the ball at the same time Friday night and the result was a jump ball during the Blue Devil-Gator clash. Watching the action are Wayne's Tim Koll (55) and Gator Jeff Beckman (44). The host Gators won the contest 73-60.

Blue Devils Give Up Ball 23 Times

Hustling Wisner Whips Wayne, 73-60

By DAN VODVARKA
Pressured into 23 turnovers by a hustling bunch of Wisner-Pilger Gators, Wayne dropped a 73-60 decision on the road Friday night.

The invading Blue Devils were just unable to cope with Wisner-Pilger's continuous full court press as the winners gradually pulled away after a low-scoring first period. Now at 1-4 on the year, Wayne will return to action Dec. 28 at 8:30 p.m. against Ord in the Wayne State Christmas Holiday Basketball Tourney. West Husker Conference foe Wisner-Pilger jumped to 3-2 with the victory Friday.

The contest opened with both ball clubs having all kinds of trouble finding the bottom of the hoops as neither team scored until Wayne's Aaron Nissen hit a jumper with 4:29 to go in the opening quarter. Neither ball club did much scoring in the opening period as the hosts led 8-6 after eight minutes and Wayne finished the first quarter by hitting on only three of 19 shots from the field.

Slowly pulling away from Wayne in the second quarter, the hosts moved to a 10 point lead before Wayne trimmed the Gator advantage down to six with just 1:30 to go in the first half. But in the remaining 90 seconds of the half, Wisner ran off eight straight points and finished the half with a safe 32-20 lead.

In the second half, Wayne never got any closer than eight points as the Gator's constant defensive pressure took its toll. With 1:00 left in the third period, Wisner-Pilger's Tim Harder converted on a three-point play and pushed the host's lead to 50-34. Midway through the final quarter the winner's lead eventually ballooned to 19 points.

Entering the game with a 23-point average, Wayne's six-foot-five center Tim Koll had troubles getting to the ball all night and set out most of the second half with foul trouble. Koll finished the contest with 10 points while Mike Wieseler led the losers with a dozen tallies.

Despite the loss, Wayne coach Bill Sharpe made good use of his bench as all 14 Devil varsity players saw action and 12 found their way into the scoring column. The winners showed a lot of scoring balance as George Korbel threw in 14 points, Mark McGill had 13, Jeff Beckman 11 and Phil McGuire 10.

Wayne won the battle of the boards with a 44-39 rebounding edge, but the Gators also had trouble hanging on to the ball as they were charged with 20 miscues. The winners hit on 29 of 69 shots from the floor while Wayne hit on 24 of 73 shots.

The most exciting contest of the night was in the opening battle as the Wayne JVs notched their first win of the year in an overtime game 46-44. In the overtime, Jon Ley hit two quick buckets to give Wayne a four-point advantage but the hosts rallied to tie in the closing seconds. With only :04 remaining, however, Wayne's John Keating drove the baseline and hit a layup to win the contest. Al Nissen led the winners with 13 tallies.

Anderson Letters At Kearney State

Kearney State sophomore Mike Anderson of Winside was one of 57 players who were recommended to receive a varsity football letter.

Head coach Claire Boroff said that 13 seniors, 21 juniors, 15 sophomores and 8 freshmen competed in the number of games required, and will receive the letter if they pass their first semester college courses. The Antelope, 9-1 for the 1976 season, were champions of the Nebraska College Conference and tied for the top spot in the newly formed Central States Intercollegiate Conference. They were ranked seventh in the NAIA Division I national rankings in mid November.

Free Throws by Guern, Erwin Lift Laurel Past Wayne

Laurel cashed in on three of four three throws in the last 19 seconds Thursday night to hand Wayne High girls their second loss, 36-33.

Making those crucial points for the Bears' first win against one loss were Elaine Guern and Jean Erwin. Guern made the first of two shots and Erwin, who grabbed the rebound and was fouled, made both of her shots.

The locals took an 11-8 first period led but behind 17-13 at the half when the Blue Devils failed to control the boards and allowed Laurel to reel off seven of its nine points in that frame.

Junior Cheryl Abts put her team in front early in the period with a basket for a 12-11 count. Abts' shooting kept the visitors in front until the third period when Wayne tied the match at 25-all.

Jensen went to work on the boards, blocking out Wayne's chances of pulling down the caroms.

Abts was the leading point maker for both clubs, sinking eight baskets for 16 points. Wayne had two players in double figures Peg Pinkelman had 15 and Sydney Mosley 14. However, the Devils could only get one other player into the scoring column while Laurel balanced its scoring with five other players.

Pirates Nip Bears, 52-51

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Monday, December 20, 1976

Emerson Reigns in Physical Bout With Laurel

By BOB BARTLETT
Two winning streaks came to an abrupt halt Friday night and both belonged to Laurel.

After posting 45 straight victories over a three-year span, the junior varsity suffered its first setback, 51-40, and in a barnburner, the varsity lost its first match in four outings, 52-51 at Emerson-Hubbard.

The heartbreaker had to be the final contest, pitting two unbeaten Class C clubs in a very physical battle which saw only nine personals called in the first half.

The Bears took the brunt of the punishment, losing 6-2 senior Tim Harrington early in the fourth quarter when he and an Emerson player collided near Laurel's basket.

The floor grapping, Harrington fell to the floor grabbing the forward head to cover a deep gash which sent blood streaming across parts of the court. His condition wasn't immediately known.

Harrington was instrumental in gearing up the Bears after they fell behind by as many as seven points in the third period. The senior threw in six of his eight points in that frame to help whittle the Pirates' lead to 41-36 going into the final frame.

Playmaker Steve Bell recharged the home team by putting in three of five free throws and scoring a two-pointer to finish the night with a game-high 17 points. With 2:09 left in the game he sank his only bucket to put his team ahead 49-48.

It wasn't too much longer before an out-of-bounds call against Laurel caused coach Joel Parks to jump off the bench in protest and be satiated with a technical. Bell missed the first attempt but sank the second for a 50-48 score and gave Emerson the ball.

With just over a minute and a half left six-foot senior Garth Paulsen knotted the game at 50-48 with his outside sinker. But senior guard Ron Duncan culled off Laurel's short-lived lead with a basket for a 52-50 count with 46 seconds showing.

The clock ticked down to four

AS THE score between Laurel and Emerson tightens in the last period, Bear head man Joel Parks (left) calls time out to regroup his quint as they head down the stretch of one of the top Class C ball games in the area Friday night. Re-

seconds when Emerson's Ed Casey was called for a foul against 6-6 junior Bob Dahlquist.

With a steady eye on the rim, Dahlquist banked in his first shot for his 17th point and nearly made the second only to have the ball glance off the glass and bounce off the rim.

Remarkably only nine fouls were called in the first two periods in what coaches and fans agreed was a physical contest.

Laurel was charged with six fouls, of which three were assessed to the Bears' floor general Cleave Stolpe. The 5-9 senior exited the second period and that's when Emerson erased a 12-10 first-period deficit for a 25-24 lead at the half.

Stolpe's ball handling gave Laurel the quick points on fast breaks and forced Emerson to guard him closely with the Pirates' light man-to-man coverage.

Similarly, Laurel used a man-to-man defense in an attempt to slow Emerson's fast-breaking club.

Final statistics show the Bears' had the edge on the boards 29 to 20. Mike Martin led Laurel with eight while Dave Heeney led Emerson with 10.

maintained their appeal, particularly Monopoly and Bingo. Nuss said he also sold quite a few Battleship games.

Nuss added that he has just about been cleaned out of paint-by-number sets and said jigsaw puzzles and magic sets are also popular. A basketball goal set which mounts on a platform should give quite a few youngsters some shooting practice, too, if sales at Ben Franklin are any indication.

Voog said TSC has sold a number of tricycles and Sherry at True Value said Big Wheel sales have been good, too.

Sleds have also been popular, including both the traditional steel runner models as well as the new plastic "snow boat" items.

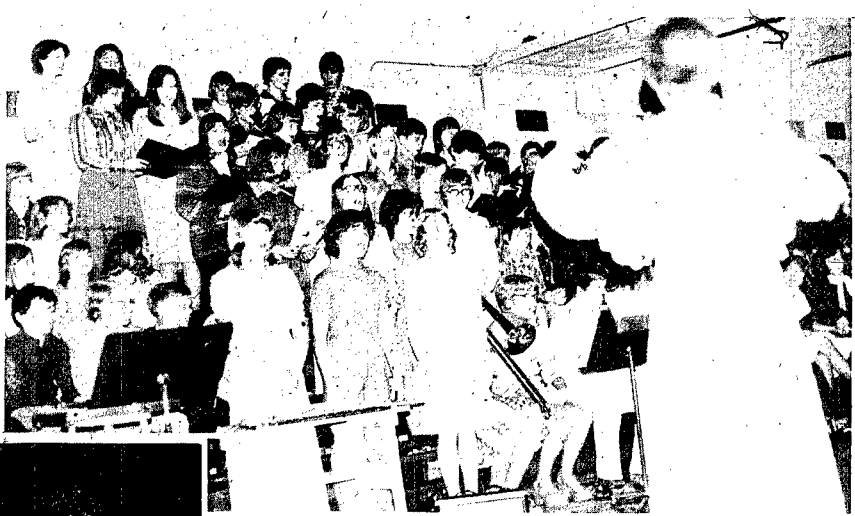

Coast to Coast has found that other items designed for fun in the snow are also popular. Ruth Elftson said "fun skis" and poles have been moving well. The most popular winter item, she said, is a snow block maker designed to help youngsters build their own igloos.

With only a few days left until Christmas, quite a few parents will probably be looking for those last-minute items, and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln has offered some tips to help in selection.

Children's play is more than just amusement, UN-L said. It is their way of exploring the world and finding out what makes things tick. Toys can be stimulating and should be chosen with care.

The color of a toy doesn't have to be the same as a similar object in the adult world. Too many colors can be confusing and incompleteness in detail can even be a challenge to a child's imagination.

Durability, of course, is important. High price isn't necessarily a guarantee of quality, but at the same time, an expensive toy which will last a long time can be the best buy in the long run.

For infants up to one year, proper gifts are playthings to chew, squeeze or drop. They should be washable and unbreakable, and in a variety of materials, shapes, textures, colors and sounds. Too much variety, however, can be overwhelming for a tot.
Toddlers have very short interest spans and like things they can push or pull, load and unload, and pick up.

Older children like toys with big movements to exercise their growing muscles but also need small toys to help develop body control and dexterity.
Toys help a child grow physically, emotionally and mentally. Be a wise shopper, UN-L said, and choose a toy that can help children develop.

which was $34 more than in the prior year. In the West North Central States as a whole, it was $810.

In some states, faced with special local conditions, such as unusually heavy welfare costs, the tax load was much heavier than in others. The range was from a high of $1,025, in New York, which was the only state above $1,000, to a low of $405 in Arkansas.

On an overall basis, state and local taxes in the past year reached a record total of $14.5 billion. This was twice as much as was collected in 1968.

In Wayne County, the tax burden came to approximately $4,456,000.

In many areas of the country there has been growing resistance recently to higher taxes. It has forced a reduction in spending for capital improvements and, in some cases, a cutback in existing services.

added up to $50 with one case dismissed and two yet to be heard. Fines resulting from 24 other citations totaled $190. Total number of citations for November was 73, compared with 32 for the same month in 1975. Fines for the '76 citations add up to $760 with 11 cases to be heard at the time the report was compiled, and two cases dismissed.

Activity decreased greatly in one area of police activity. Police impounded 26 vehicles in November, 1975, while only two were impounded in 1976.

License Examiners

To Be Absent Jan. 5

Drivers who were planning to renew their operator's license Jan. 5 at the Wayne County courthouse had better rearrange their schedule, county treasurer Leon Meyer said.

Wednesday, Jan. 5, would be the normal day for license examiners to be at the courthouse, but examiners across the state will participate in a training session that week and will not be available. The regular Wednesday schedule for Wayne County will be resumed the following week.

Welfare

(Continued from page 1) determining eligibility for food stamps and the amount the family will pay for the coupons. The number of persons in the families determines the value of coupons received.

Some older persons with fixed incomes are long-term recipients of the aid, but Miss Moeller said that in Wayne County, among young people, receipt of both ADC and food stamp assistance is usually temporary, during a period when the help is needed. Many recipients are able to get themselves "back on their feet" and the aid is then no longer needed.

Food stamp assistance in Wayne County reached its peak in March 1971, records show, with 171 cases registered and about 425 persons benefiting from the help. Value of stamps disbursed then was $11,194, with recipient paying $2,300.

The picture has changed considerably since then. Now there are only 72 cases on file, benefiting 47 people. Value of food stamps issued monthly is about $2,000 and recipients pay about $1,000 for the coupons.

Miss Moeller, who became Wayne County director in 1972, said part of the drop in numbers of food stamp recipients locally can be attributed to smaller enrollment at Wayne State College, and a smaller population in the county.

Tighter controls have also been initiated in recent years. All income and expenses used in determining eligibility must be verified, she said.

"I hope the smaller number of food stamp recipients is a good sign," she said. "I hope it means that the need isn't there."

The director said she encounters considerable negativism regarding welfare programs. "I'm sorry to see that," she said. "Yes, we all know there are people getting welfare who don't need it, but there are also people who need help who aren't getting it."

The negative attitude towards welfare "pretty much extends across the nation," she said, fueled by reports of massive fraud. That isn't as much of a problem in a rural state like Nebraska, she said. In fact, to date, a major case of fraud in the state is yet to be discovered.

Closer relationships between welfare directors and clients in rural areas help minimize the chance of fraud, Miss Moeller said. At the same time, she said, fraudulent claims are possible and anyone aware of such a case should notify her office.

"People in need of assistance are also urged to contact her office," Miss Moeller said. "We're here to help people and I hope that people who need it will feel they can take advantage of the assistance available."
