

A handful of people attended the first organizational meeting for a Fraternal Order of Eagles (F.O.E.) club, or aerial, in Wayne Thursday night.

State Eagles president Robert Carlson explained the background and function of the organization and scheduled another meeting for Wednesday, Jan. 26.

Carlson said he was pleased with the interest shown. "I think the group of people who attended are interested, and from there, things can mushroom."

The state president said membership in the Eagles organization is open to anyone. Individual aeries set up an interviewing committee to consider membership applications, he said, and each individual club controls its own membership.

Membership in the fraternal order does not conflict with membership in a service organization, he continued, adding that many members of his home Eagles club also belong to a variety of service organizations.

"We are out to work with any other organization in town," he said. "Eagles club buildings are usually available to other organizations in town for their functions."

Carlson has purchased the building at 119 Main St., which formerly housed the county ASCS office. He said the building is available if a Wayne club is organized, but said it would be up to the club membership to decide if they want to purchase the building or set up elsewhere.

Membership fee paid annually is $15. A $10 charter fee is also paid when a club is organized, with the money returned for use locally after a club has been formally instituted.

Auxiliary memberships are also available with an $8 membership fee and $5 charter fee. Carlson said single women can join the auxiliary if they have a relative who is a member of the Eagles. Local club officers are president, vice president, conductor, two guards and a board of trustees.

"Citing some contributions made by the Eagles in Nebraska, Carlson said he now has six $1,000 grants to award to help retarded children, including one for West Point and one for O'Neill. All monies sent to regional offices are put into short term investments and later returned with interest to state organizations, Carlson said.

The F.O.E. motto is "People Helping People" and Carlson said that might be modified to "people having fun while helping people."

To be successful, a club must offer programs that entertain members, he said.

The Blair club offers dancing on weekends, with the program changing each week between music for "youngsters and oldsters," Carlson said.

The Columbus aerie has a teenage club, self governing under the direction of an advisor. He suggested that as the Wayne club gets on its feet, it would be possible to provide a teen club in the basement of the building.

"That will be up to you," he said. "This will be your club. We will help you get started, but the club membership will decide what is to be done."

He did suggest that regular membership should be restricted to persons old enough to purchase liquor under Nebraska laws. He said the club will seek a liquor license for on-sale service only. He also suggested that any youth activities be conducted in an area separate from the bar.

The organization was originally established in Seattle, Wash., in 1898, then called the Seattle Order of Good Things, later changed to the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Briefly covering the history of the organization, Carlson said five U.S. Presidents have been Eagles: Teddy Roosevelt, Warren G. Harding, Franklin Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy.

The F.O.E. was active in pushing through the Social Security Act. Carlson said, and President Franklin Roosevelt presented the fraternal order of the pens he used to sign the act.

President Lyndon Johnson also presented the order one of the pens he used to sign the Medicare Act.

During the 1940's the order raised $3 million dollars to provide medical, dental and educational aid for the children of Eagle servicemen who were killed. Later, after Congress enacted legislation to provide for those needs, the Eagles decided to use the funds to provide and benefits for families of volunteer and professional firemen killed in the line of duty. Benefits have now been extended to the families of law enforcement officers. The order supports four major national charities: the Jimmy Durante Children's Fund, the Max Baer Heart Fund, the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, and the Golden Eagles Fund, which provides aid for the aged.

In Nebraska, the Eagles also help support a boys ranch near Alliance.

In addition, Carlson said, the Eagles work along with other civic organizations to help provide financial support for activities such as the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. The state president and his wife, Elizabeth, and state membership chairman Floyd Rupert distributed membership application forms to persons attending the meeting. An initial membership of 50 is required to charter a club, Carlson said, and he prefers to sign 100 or more charter members.

The state Eagles president said he would continue to work with people in Wayne and in surrounding communities and rural areas to organize the club and more meetings will follow the one scheduled for Jan. 26.

Eagles Take First Step

Bingo Night Is Planned

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce president in 1977, Roger Nelson, presided over his first meeting, Wednesday, making a number of appointments for the year.

Gerald Bofenkamp, who is president-elect, is head of the internal affairs committee.

Other committee chairmen are: treasurer, Allan Wittig; conventions, hospitality, tourism; Dean Pierson, agribusiness, annual dinner, 4-H clubs; Darrell Moore and Steve Schumacher, band day, All Stars Basketball camp, flags; Glen Ellingson, education, urban affairs; floral, signs, Larry Johnson; legislation, transportation; Charles Surber, retail affairs.

Liaison representatives are: Ted Storck, City of Wayne and Dr. Neil Swanson, Wayne State College.

The Chamber's annual meeting this year will depart from the format of recent years. Instead of a dinner, the organization will sponsor a fun night with workers attending as the guests of their employers.

The event is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 24, at the city auditorium.

Bingo will begin at 7:30 p.m., with $200 in prizes given away. Lunch will be served at about 9:30, Nelson said.

The newly-seated president said the emphasis this year will be on Chamber members bringing their employees to the meeting for a night of entertainment. Tickets will be available to Chamber of Commerce members for $1 each.

Darrell Moore is chairman for this year's annual meeting.

Dixon County Extension Ballots Are in the Mail

Some Dixon County residents will be electing three persons in January to serve on the county extension board.

Mail ballots are being sent to residents in the three county supervisor districts involved, county agent Roy Stohler said. He said anyone not receiving a ballot should call his office at the Northeast Station at Concord. His number is 584-2261. Ballots will be counted Jan. 24.

Nominees, by district, are: —District I (Hooker and Newcastle townships) — Mrs. Wendell Briesch and Mrs. Jewell Schram.

—District III (Clark, Galena and the north two-thirds of Otter Creek Townships) — Mrs. Kenneth Pettit and Mrs. Richard Chapman.

—District V (Logan, Wakefield and the south two-thirds of Emerson Townships) — Mrs. Edmund Helthold, Mrs. Lloyd Roerber, and Francis Muller.

Third Baby Is a 'First'

ARRIVING FOURTEEN days after New Year's, Mrs. RaDelle Erxleben's third child was a first — a first-born at the Wayne Providence Medical Center this year, that is. Mrs. Erxleben gave birth to Cory RaDelle at 12:30 Friday afternoon. He weighed 8 lbs., 1 oz. at birth. Mr. and Mrs. Erxleben, who live in Wayne, have two daughters, six-year-old Tony and three-year-old Tara. Dr. Robert Benhack of Wayne was the attending physician for Mrs. Erxleben's third baby. Because young Cory is the first baby born at the Providence Medical Center this year, he will receive a number of gifts from local merchants.

WSC Schedules European Study Trips

Four European travel-study programs have been scheduled by Wayne State College for this summer. The programs, open to students and non-students at economical package prices, offer the opportunity to travel to one of four countries and earn college credit while doing so if desired.

The programs this year will run in June and July. Locales: England, Germany, Scandinavia and Spain.

Basic cost for the England, Germany and Scandinavian trips is $940, and the Spain trip is $880. This includes round-trip air transportation from Chicago; lodging; most meals; most entrance fees to historical and cultural sites; and domestic travel in Europe on coaches, boats, trains and airlines.

The curriculum of the Scandinavian program will be supplemented by lectures delivered by members of parliament; officials from the ministries of government; and leading professors from the universities. The Institute's academic sessions will be housed in Herning prior to traveling to the city of Copenhagen. After five days the group will visit Bergen, and view the fjords and glaciers on the trip to Oslo.

Emphasis in the German program is placed on giving a cultural understanding of Germany and its people through exposure to the German way of life and through visits to various cities.

The program of studies will take place in the Bingen area. The afternoons are free for sightseeing at Trier, St. Goar, Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Mainz, Bonn, Rudeshelm, Bad Kreuznach and a visit to a vineyard and winery.

The British program begins with seven days in Edinburgh, capital of Scotland, where participants will enjoy lectures on modern Scotland by leading figures in art, music, literature and history. Following will be two days in York, and then participants will have four to five-days free travel period, using British passes for unlimited free travel anywhere in the United Kingdom. The core of the trip is a two-week stay in London where much free time will be allowed for exploring and shopping. A superb theatre season will interest some, and countless museums, castles and courts are easily found. A series of lectures at the University of London helps complete the academic portion of the institute.

Side trips have been planned to such key sites as Stonehenge, Hampton Court and Canterbury Cathedral. Tour participants will visit Stratford, famous of William Shakespeare, and will receive tickets to two performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Swan Theatre.

Road Plan Hearing Set

The Wayne county board of commissioners will conduct a public hearing Tuesday at 2 p.m. regarding the proposed one-and-six-year road improvement plans.

The county is required to file the plans in order to receive funds from the state, allocated from various tax sources for road improvement.

The one-year plan covers fiscal 1976-77, which ends June 30. Many of the projects on the plan have been completed, according to Jim Koch of the county's engineering consulting firm. Major projects completed during the current fiscal year include an earth dam built to replace a bridge three miles west and four and one-fourth miles south of Winslow. Total cost for the project was $25,000 with the county and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) sharing costs equally.

The county and LENRD shared costs on a second $25,000 project, this one consisting of an earth dam replacing two bridges, two and one-half miles west and four miles south of Winslow.

Other projects on the plan for fiscal '76-77 include several grading and gravel projects.

A total of 20 projects are on the proposal for fiscal 1977-78, beginning July 1.

Major projects proposed are concrete paving for two miles of the Sholes-Randolph road inside the county. Cost estimate is $90,000.

Paving is also proposed for 1,800 feet of road connecting the Winslow cemetery with Highway 35. The county would pay $10,800 of the estimated $36,000 total cost. With "federal" off-system road funds paying the remaining $25,200.

Wayne and Dixon counties would share costs with the state for replacing a 185-foot bridge on the county line two miles north and two and three-fourths miles east of Wayne.

State funds would pay See ROAD PLAN, page 8

Cookie Sale Ends Sunday

Wayne County Girl Scouts are now busy selling cookies, but the sale won't last quite as long as a photo caption in Thursday's might have led readers to believe.

The Scouts are planning to wind up the door-to-door campaign Sunday, Jan. 23. The photo caption said Aug. 23, "Girls from Troops 191, 145, and 260 in Wayne and 188 in Winslow are taking orders for the cookies. Money from the See COOKIES, page 8

Scout Troop 174: Please Place Papers Early

Wayne Boy Scout Troop 174 will pick up papers Saturday beginning at 8 a.m. The Scouts are asking that all newspapers be bundled and placed curbside by 8 a.m.

A spokesman for the troop said there have been several calls during the past two months to pick up papers that were missed and it is believed that most return trips could be eliminated if papers are placed on the curb by 8 a.m.

"Twine for tying bundles is available at Carhart Lumber Co. or Gerald's Decalating, both on Main St. in Wayne.

Gerald Bofenkamp is chairman for the January paper drive and can be reached by telephone at 375-2120. Richard Berry is assistant chairman.

The troop has been picking up papers for a year now. Funds from sale of the papers have helped finance weekend camps and 10-day camping trip to Minnesota for 12 Scouts, last summer. The troop has also shared some of the funds with a Cub Scout pack.

County Officials: Avoid the Rush

Business has been slow at the Wayne County courthouse — at least slower than a couple of offices prefer.

County treasurer Leon Meyer Friday said that with the month half gone, only about 1,500 of the estimated 4,000 county drivers required to register motor vehicles in January have done so.

Meyer encouraged vehicle owners to start coming to now, instead of waiting for a rush with its attendant long waiting lines at the end of the month.

He reminded owners who have already received motor vehicle tax statements that they have only until the end of January to register. In past years, all motor vehicles were registered at the beginning of the year and owners had both the months of January and February to complete registration. The new staggered registration system changed that.

Now, if the license plate has a "1" tab on it, that means the vehicle must be registered during the first month—January. Vehicles will be registered throughout the month in which they were first registered.

Another indicator of when it is time to register is receipt of vehicle tax statement. Statements now are mailed shortly before the beginning of the month in which vehicles are to be registered. Meyer reminded vehicle owners to mail or bring in the statement when registering.

Business has also been slow for personal property assessors. One assessment office worker Friday estimated that less than 20 per cent of the people in Wayne County required to file personal property tax statements have completed the process. Statements must be filed by the end of February.

Assessors are available in the Wayne County courthouse from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. on all days between now and the deadline, except for Saturdays, and Feb. 11 and 21.

Assessors will also be available in other communities on the following dates: Carroll—today (Monday) and Feb. 1; Hoskins—Tuesday and Feb. 4; Winslow—Thursday and Feb. 3; Sholes—Friday and Feb. 2.

Help Available For Filing Aid Application Forms

The Nebraska Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA) will conduct a series of workshops for counselors and parents of high school seniors during January and February, including one Jan. 26 in Wayne.

The meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the North dining room of the Wayne State College student union, will be hosted by Doug Barry, WSC financial aid director; Mrs. Cathy Conway, Wakefield Public School counselor; Curtis Fries, Wayne-Carroll Schools counselor; and Lee Johnson, Winslow Public Schools counselor.

The workshop will be designed to help seniors and their parents complete forms required to determine eligibility for financial aid at secondary schools.

Out of Old

Nebraska's Fort Atkinson, the second U.S. military fort established west of the Missouri River, was once the nation's largest garrison. (The first was Cantonment Missouri built in the bottoms nearby.)

Although it was active only from 1820 to 1827, it was part of a chain of proposed military posts designed to maintain peace, protect the fur industry, and prevent British encroachment from the north. It was located near old Council Bluffs where Lewis and Clark first met with the Indians in 1804. It was abandoned in 1827 to be replaced by Fort Leavenworth in Kansas, 200 miles nearer already established settlements, but two of America's finest military leaders of the era—Generals Atkinson and Leavenworth—served there.

In 1808 at the age of 26, Henry Atkinson, son of a North Carolina planter who had served in the Revolutionary War, received a commission in a newly formed Army regiment. During the war of 1812, he was wounded in the leg, not in battle but in a duel with a captain. Atkinson was placed under arrest, but the captain was unarmed and charges were dropped. When placed in command of the 6th Infantry in 1815 Colonel Atkinson was not a battle-experienced officer but had a record of staff duty, administrative service as inspector general, and training experience as well as friendship with several influential generals. His abilities resulted in his being given command of the "Yellowstone Expedition," a grandiose plan to take an army of men to the mouth of the Yellowstone as warning to the Indians and the British fur traders.

On September 29, 1819, Colonel Atkinson and the men of the Yellowstone Expedition reached old Council Bluffs and were ordered to proceed no farther. Their journey upriver from St. Louis by keelboat had been long and perilous, but they immediately began preparations for winter with provisions made for possible attack by the sometimes-hostile Indian. Thus was established Cantonment Missouri.

Atkinson turned command over to Lieutenant Colonel Willoughby Morgan, returned to St. Louis and was placed in command of the right wing of the Western Department. At Cantonment Missouri more than 150 soldiers died during the winter of 1819-1820. When General Atkinson returned in June to determine the condition of the scurvy-ravaged troops, the Missouri River had forced the troops to higher ground, and the building of a new post of cottonwood logs and stone was in progress.

Nebraska

That summer General Atkinson and his troops began the first agricultural activities by white men in Nebraska, disproving the "Great American Desert" myth. After the completion of the post, the secretary of war directed that it be renamed Fort Atkinson as "signal tribute to the services of Henry Atkinson in furthering and stabilizing the military frontier."

After leaving Fort Atkinson, the general's duties were with Indian affairs and keeping order on the frontier. He was affectionately called "White Beaver" by the Indians. Atkinson selected the site for an Army Infantry school ten miles south of St. Louis—Jefferson Barracks—and was later quartered there, where he commanded the right wing of the Western Department as well as the Infantry School. He finally commanded troops in combat in 1832 in the Black Hawk War at the Battle of Bad Axe. He died of "bilious dysentery" in 1842, and is buried in an unmarked grave at Jefferson Barracks. He was survived by his wife and one son.

The Nebraska State Historical Society has completed a comprehensive archeological report on work carried out at the fort site for six field seasons starting in 1956.

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

By now it isn't any secret that Sen. Carl Curtis will retire following the end of his term in 1978. At the completion of his term he will have served 40 years in Congress. No other Nebraskan has served that long in Congress or in a statewide elective office.

Curtis defeated Howard Churchill of Fairfield and E.E. Jackman of Grant for the Republican party nomination in the now defunct Fourth Congressional District, Aug. 9, 1938. Curtis ran against Charles Biederup in the general election, 59,794 to 42,957. Both candidates claimed Minden as their home town.

That was the launching of Curtis' career in Congress. Detailing the next 40 years would take more space than is available here, but there are some points of interest.

Tough Competitors

In 1948, for example, Curtis successfully ran against Frank B. Morrison, who later became governor of Nebraska.

Curtis was one of six candidates in the Republican primary election of 1954. In retrospect, at least, the GOP primary slate for that year had an all-star cast. In addition to Curtis, the ballot included Robert B. Crosby, who later became governor; "Terrible" Terry Carpenter, for years one of the Unicameral's best known and most controversial senators; and David Martin, now a retired Third District Representative.

In four of Curtis' eight elections to the House of Representatives he was opposed in the general election by a Democrat for Curtis' home city of Minden. At the end of the senator's term, 10,739 individuals will have served in the House of Representatives and the Senate since Congress first convened in 1789. Curtis' length of service when he retires will be twenty-second from the top.

Curtis has served as the ranking Republican member of four full Senate committees: Rules and Administration, Aeronautical and Space Sciences, Agriculture and Forestry, Finance.

The senator represented the President at presidential inaugurations in Nicaragua and Argentina in the fall of 1976 headed a Presidential mission to the People's Republic of China.

New Address

Incidentally, address for many members of Nebraska's congressional delegation have changed. Addresses are:

—Sen. Curtis, 2213 Dirksen Office Building.

—Sen. Edward Zorinsky, 1407 Dirksen Office Building (temporary).

—First District Representative Charles Thone, 2433 Rayburn Office Building. Zip code for Senate addresses is 20310. Zip code for House office buildings is 20515.

Thone maintains a district office in Lincoln. Address is 211 Anderson Building, Lincoln, Neb. 68508. Telephone number is (402) 471-5175. Thone's Washington number remains (202) 225-4806.

Plenty of Papers

I received an interesting request last week. The East Branch Citizen, published in Downingtown, Pa., asked for a copy of the Herald, explaining that they are trying to obtain one issue of every non-daily newspaper in the nation.

Sounds like quite an undertaking and I wish them well.

Signature Needed

A personal note to "Young Adult."

Your letter is interesting and I'll be happy to publish it, but first I must have a signature. The letter can be published without revealing your identity.

What Do You Think

The South Sioux city council has distributed a questionnaire to its citizens. It might be interesting to see how Wayne residents feel about the same questions. They are:

—What are the most essential services of this city?

—What are the least essential services of this city?

—If the city was given an outright grant for $100,000, how would you suggest it be spent?

—If the city had to reduce spending by $100,000, how would you suggest that the reduction be made?

—What do you really like about this community?

—What really bugs you about this community?

Record Price

Richard Orr, rural affairs editor for the Chicago Tribune, recently reported that 40 acres of land in Livingston County, Ill., sold at auction for $4,675 an acre. That may have been a record price for farmland in Illinois, Orr said, and perhaps in the Midwest.

OBSERVATIONS

Participation wanted

We agree with an idea expressed at last week's council meeting by Wayne Mayor Freeman Decker. It is certainly too bad that so many citizens don't take any interest in local government until after an action has been taken.

Decker cited as an example the city's electric rate structure. There was ample publicity ahead of time so that citizens should have had a fair idea, at least, of how the increase would affect them.

A couple of citizens, much to their credit, did attend meetings and comment. Everyone else waited until after they received their first electric bill to become concerned.

We're neither defending nor condemning the rate structure, and we certainly support the right of citizens to lodge after-the-fact complaints. But it is so much more effective to make opinion's known to law-and-policy-makers before action is taken. It is a simple fact that it is much easier to affect policy before it is formally adopted than afterward.

Council meetings and agenda items are publicized in advance, both in legal notices and in news articles. It seems only logical that citizens concerned about how the city is run would get into the habit of checking the agenda before each meeting, deciding if there are any items they might wish to comment on or become informed about, and then show up at the meeting.

A common complaint today is about government, particularly at the state and federal level, infringing more and more on private life. Unfortunately, considering the lack of participation in local government, where participation is most encouraged, it is easy to see why government has been able to extend its control. —Jim Strayer.

A LONG established industry in Ponca recently underwent a change in management. As of Sept. 1, 1976, Tim Schram became the new owner and manager of Schram Lumber Co., located in the east end of town. Schram purchased the company from his father, Westley Schram.

THE CITY of Pierce has hired a second full-time policeman. He is Tom Nesbitt, 21. Nesbitt is a native of Fullerton and has had about two years experience in law enforcement. He attended the University of Nebraska-Omaha for two years.

A BEFORE-school raid by Madison city police and a sheriff's deputy netted seven juveniles and an assortment of equipment for using marijuana. The raid took place Jan. 5 with the police acting on a tip from an unidentified informant. Names of the seven, all students at the Madison High School, were not released. The youths were not officially charged, but will take the Drug Chemical Dependency Program course for the next six to eight months.

REV. KENNETH Marquardt was installed as pastor of United Lutheran Church in Laurel at services held Jan. 9. Pastor Marquardt comes to Laurel from Minneapolis, Minn., where he had served First Lutheran of Crystal since 1967.

COACH BERNARD "Beanie" Cooper

DESPITE the extremely cold weather the past few weeks work continues on the new Wakefield Junior-Senior High School buildings. Workmen have been laying bricks inside a portable shelter avoiding the cold. Dr. Gary Bennerotte, superintendent, estimated that approximately 20 per cent of the building has been completed.

WAYS to cut the cost of the service can also be introduced. I would think that a person such as the city administrator would be capable of instituting ways to reduce the cost rather than just pass it on to us, "the taxpaying public."

A simple reduction here and there would add up after awhile. I can suggest a way to start this positive program rolling.

Past data should be available to intelligently estimate meter readings on every other month's billing. This could reduce the cost of meter reading in half. Other utilities do it—yet I've never noticed reductions suggested by our present city administrator. Certainly he can handle a small problem such as this can't he?

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

The automobile industry has some solid support from sources which normally disagree with many of its opinions, says the Automotive Information Council.

It's all because the manufacturers today are testing 1978 model year cars when there is a chance there won't even be a 1978 model year. Backers of the industry's appeal for a relaxation of emission standards for 1978 include some departments of the Federal Government as well as the United Automobile Workers of America (UAW).

The big battle between the Congress should come to a head in the early stages of the 99th Congress. A decision will have to be made quickly because the introduction of 1978 models is a matter of months away.

Some circles have reported that Leonard Woodcock, UAW president, declined a job offer from the new administration because he wanted to see the emissions standards of the Clean Air Act eased for 1978. The union, of course, is rightfully concerned about loss of jobs—and so are a lot of other people whose income is related to automotive sales levels.

An 18-month study by the President's Energy Resource Council concludes that auto exhaust standards for 1978 and beyond can be relaxed without adverse effects on the public health. The ERC report notes that prospects for reduction in air pollution are excellent because newer and cleaner cars are replacing older models.

Other government agencies concerned with the nation's fuel supplies and our dependence on foreign oil are worried that the tough 1978 standards might have to be achieved at the expense of fewer miles to the gasoline gallon. That's another story because the government also wants the average car of a company's total production to get 20 miles to the gallon in 1980; 27.5 mpg by 1985.

Arguments that some foreign producers can meet the tough '78 standards already have been refuted. Volvo showed off a new type of catalytic converter on a test car designed to meet California standards. It was generally acclaimed in that state until Volvo itself pointed out that the system is virtually untested, especially on its more popular car lines. Volkswagen said it cannot comply with next year's requirements. The industry is hopeful that EPA will be allowed to certify the 1978 cars off 1977 standards and also get some needed relief in the immediate years ahead.

Consumer questions electric rates

Dear Editor:

Recent city council meetings have had discussions on the price of electricity in Wayne. One individual has stated that his bill will be several thousand dollars higher this year than last.

Perhaps we could be further enlightened as to what per cent increase this amounts to. It sounds like a lot, but maybe a reasonable percentage increase. Also to be considered, has to be the number of kilowatt hours consumed during the two periods.

In any event, we doubt that his percentage increase will approach the level that we pay at home since the latest increase in rates. In this particular case, our rates are up from four cents a kilowatt hour to over nine cents a kilowatt hour since the latest increase. In other words over a 125 per cent increase. One reason for this is use of electricity has been cut—yet the cost has been more in dollars. The front end load pricing method is the big factor here. This affects every user and is disproportionately very high when compared to the charges of other towns in the area. Imagine 36 cents per kilowatt hour in Wayne! That's what we pay for the first 10 kilowatt hours — 3.60.

It seems that we in Wayne can say we are number one when it comes to charging excessive rates for electricity.

Encouraging conservation is still another method. This could be done by reversing the rates now used. Charge more for higher than average use and less for lower than average use. The latter can be considered essential and necessary and home owners shouldn't be charged excessively high rates. In effect, subsidize larger users. Much of the electricity used by large users is wasted and will continue to be until they are charged accordingly.

Ways to cut the cost of the service can also be introduced. I would think that a person such as the city administrator would be capable of instituting ways to reduce the cost rather than just pass it on to us, "the taxpaying public."

A simple reduction here and there would add up after awhile. I can suggest a way to start this positive program rolling.

Past data should be available to intelligently estimate meter readings on every other month's billing. This could reduce the cost of meter reading in half. Other utilities do it—yet I've never noticed reductions suggested by our present city administrator. Certainly he can handle a small problem such as this can't he?

Gals Chalk Up Fifth Straight Win

Wayne Captures Stanton Tourney

Curt Frye isn't the kind of a coach who dwells on the past, but if the head man of girls basketball at Wayne High could have his wishes, he'd turn back the clock to the beginning of the season.

That's when his Blue Devils lost their first four games—something the head man is sure his girls could correct now, especially after winning five straight.

The latest victory came Thursday night when the high-flying Wayne team blasted Stanton 16 to win the seven-team Stanton tournament.

"We're a completely different ball club than we were at the first of the year. It's almost like coaching two completely different ball clubs," Frye smiled after his team brought home the school's first-ever tournament trophy in girls basketball.

Defense was the key to the lopsided victory. Wayne used a tough hustling press to keep Stanton shooting from the outside and, consequently, the missed shots fell into the hands of Wayne players.

Stanton felt the effects of the Devils' defense early in the game when Wayne held Stanton to only two points while the Blue Devils had eight. Ahead 19-12 going into the third period, Wayne again used a stiff press to score eight points and hold Stanton scoreless.

Offensively, team leaders Sydney Mosley and Peg Pinkelman kept their club ahead throughout the contest. Mosley, who was being triple-teamed, got off 11 points, and Pinkelman was one point behind at 10. Mosley also was the leader on the boards, pulling down 16 of the team's 37 caroms.

Frye complimented Stanton as

Stanton	2	10	0	4	—	16
Wayne	8	11	8	10	—	37

Wayne	FG	FT	F	P	T
Sydney Mosley	5	12	1	11
Peg Pinkelman	5	0	3	10

a fine shooting ball club going into the second match between the two teams. "They have several fine shooters from the outside and we knew we had to stop them." Leading Stanton scoring was Mary Jensen with five points.

The first-year head man is hoping that when South Sioux City comes calling Tuesday night at the Wayne gym, the Cardinals will be double-teaming either Mosley or Pinkelman. "Because we're a more balanced scoring club, we can burn them someplace else," Frye pointed out.

Missouri Guns Down Wildcats

Two gunners combined for 57 points to shoot down Wayne State's basketball Wildcats 95-87 here Friday in their first encounter with Missouri Southern State.

Russell Bland, 6-10 and 240-pound tower, hit 30 points and grabbed 13 rebounds while Roland Martin, 6-6, added 27 points and 10 caroms to give the Lions more than enough life.

For Wayne, Mark Olsen had his second big night of the week with 25 — he hit 29 at Hastings Tuesday — and Wayne Robinson scored right on his average 18 to keep the Wildcats alive. Matter of fact, the Cats stayed within winning distance until exactly one minute from the end when they trailed 91-87. After that, Martin and Bland each added a pair of glitters as the Wildcats tried to break up a keep-away game.

The first half had fans edgy, with 14 changes of lead and 10 tie scores. A last second shot lifted the Lions to a 45-43 half. Wayne tied immediately after the intermission, but equality ended shortly when Southern started a climb that stretched leads up to nine points at times.

In that span, a rash of fouls called against the Cats gave Southern opportunity to cash 20 of 23 shots. For the game they hit 23 of 26, one of the few times this season Wayne foes have prevailed at the foul line. But the Lions also outgunned Wayne from the field, 36 to 33, thanks mainly to Bland's 60 per cent accuracy (12 to 20).

By contrast, Southern defense forced some off-balance Wayne shots which missed. Rebounds came out in Wayne's favor, 46-45.

The loss put Wayne at 8-5 overall and 1-2 in Central State play going into Saturday's conference match with Pittsburg See MISSOURI, page 5

slow start

The new year is off to a discouraging start for Wayne State wrestlers, with three dual losses.

Kearney State, in its 1976-77 debut Tuesday night, beat the Wildcats, 36-12, in Kearney. Winners for Wayne were Dan Fernau, 118-pound freshman in his first college match; Kirk Hanson, 167 and Dwight Liemann, 177.

Last weekend, South Dakota State blitzed the Wildcats, 46-33, Liemann getting the only Wayne win, at 190 pounds, Friday at Brookings. Then Saturday afternoon at Sioux Falls Augustana whipped the Cats, 51-0.

Athletes of the Week

Awards for "Athlete of the Week," go out to three area stars who were instrumental in team victories.

They are 6-4 junior center Val Johnson of Wakefield who poured in 29 points against Oakland-Craig to lead his club out of a two-game losing slump; to beat the Knights 59-50. Senior 185-pound grappler Bryan Svoboda who produced Winside's only victory in the finals of the Wildcats' 16-team invitational to give his team a narrow one-point victory for the championship trophy. And for the girls, Allen pointmaker senior Lori Erwin wins her second straight accolade this time for her career-high 31 points was enough to sink Pender, 55-54.

The awards, which usually are announced in Thursday's edition, were delayed until the weekend paper because of lack of room.

Laurel Rally Falls Short

Lack of consistent scoring stopped Laurel High girls from pulling off an upset of undefeated Newcastle Thursday night as the Bears came up five points short, 37-32.

Trailing 8-4 at the end of the first period, Laurel cut the lead to 15-13 at the half but couldn't put together an offensive showing in the third period and fell behind 27-17. The Bears outscored Newcastle 15-10 in the last period.

"Actually we were running around like we didn't know what we were doing out there," said a disgruntled coach Ev Jensen. "We're up one game and down the next... until they get their consistency, that's the way things are going to happen," he added.

None of Laurel's changes in game plans worked during the first three periods. In the final period the Bears used a man-to-man defense which turned the tide and allowed Laurel to come within four points.

Valerie Zerbe again was point leader for Newcastle with 16 points as she guided her team to its sixth win.

Smooth Allen Roms Past Ponca, 47-12

Allen High girls put together the kind of game coach Steve McManigal has been looking forward to all season—a smooth running offense and a strong defense.

The Eagles used that combination Thursday night against visiting Ponca for a 47-12 drubbing and the club's fifth win against two losses.

The Erwin sisters, Lori and Susie, led Allen with 20 and 11 points respectively as Allen rolled to a 20-1 first period lead and glided to a 33-5 halftime score.

Allen shot just under 50 per cent from the field and pulled down 42 rebounds, including 12 by career leader Stacey Koester. Allen split in two earlier games. The junior varsity fell 13-12 and the junior high team won its first game of the season, 34-16.

In the junior high game, Lisa Erwin led scoring with 12 followed by Beth Stalling with 4, Diane Walsh with 4, Collette Kraemer 4, Beth Williams 2, Sharie Jones 2, Dawn Kliver 2, June Luschen 2.

Wildkittens Post Victory Over Loop Foe

For Wayne State's basketball women, the Central States Intercollegiate Conference may be some something of a cakewalk if their first victory tells anything.

The Wildkittens whipped Missouri Southern, 85-46, here Friday night — and did it with subs playing a considerable part of the time. Even so, Connie Kunzmann found time to score 30 points and grab 16 rebounds for Wayne.

Performance like that explains why Kunzmann dominates almost all CSIC statistics. She leads in scoring average and rebounding averages and she also has highest game totals for points, field goals, free throws and rebounds. In all of them, she is far above the next high scorer with Lori Lange second high at 17 and Julie Brinkman hitting 11 (63 per cent from the field).

For Southern, it was the first defeat in four games. For Wayne, the record climbed to 8-4 before a Saturday evening date with Pittsburg State women, preceding the Wayne Pitt men's game in Rice Gym.

When it was done, every Kitten got into the game, and nine scored with Lori Lange second high at 17 and Julie Brinkman hitting 11 (63 per cent from the field).

For Southern, it was the first defeat in four games. For Wayne, the record climbed to 8-4 before a Saturday evening date with Pittsburg State women, preceding the Wayne Pitt men's game in Rice Gym.

Vranica Sinks 30 for Mustangs

Stanton Nips Wayne, 51-50

By DAN VODVARKA

Five-foot-ten senior Dave Vranica came through with some clutch shooting as the invading Stanton Mustangs rallied for a 51-50 win over Wayne Friday night.

The host had the last shot of the game as Wayne had the ball out of bounds with 14 left on the clock. In the final seconds of the contest, however, the Devils could only get off a 20-footer by Doug Carroll which missed the mark. The loss dropped Wayne to 2-7 on the year while Stanton pushes its season's record to 7-3.

After a trip to Bloomfield Saturday the Devils will return home Friday to face Hartington

C.C.

The story of the ball game pretty well centered around the play of Vranica as he rattled the Mustangs in the early going when it looked like Wayne would blow the contest wide open and then flipped in six of the winners' final eight points to win the contest. In the opening moments of the game, Wayne rushed ahead to a quick 10-1 lead. But, with Vranica throwing in eight unanswered points, the Mustangs quickly caught up and the contest remained close the rest of the way.

With 16 points in the first half, Vranica hit his first two field goal tries of the second half, but then sustained a minor leg injury during the third period.

The Mustang sharpshooter, however, later shook off the injury and sparked Stanton's last minute rally. Vranica finished the night with 30 points to lead all scorers.

Wayne put on its best show of the night midway through the third period as the Devils ran out 10 straight points to lead 40-35 going into the final eight minutes. Doug Carroll came off the bench in the third quarter to get six clutch points in the Wayne rally.

Wayne still led, 48-42, going into the final four minutes of the contest but six clutch points by Vranica and a last minute bucket by Mike Marotz iced the win for Stanton.

The two ball clubs were very even in field goal shooting as Wayne hit on 21 of 59 tries from the floor and the invaders connected on 19 of 53. In the turnover department, however, the Devils were guilty of 23 miscues while Stanton committed only a dozen mistakes.

Tim Kott led Wayne with a dozen points and 16 rebounds while sophomore Tom Ginn was next in scoring with nine points. No one but Vranica neared double figures for the winners.

The story was just the opposite in the JV clash as Wayne was going away 80-36 leading the 11 Wayne scorers were Al Nissen with 14 points, Brad Emry with 12 and Tom Ginn and Dean Carroll with 10 points each. The JV record is now 3-4.

Walthill Gets by Wakefield, 58-48

By BOB BARTLETT

The surprise during Friday night's Wakefield-Walthill cage contest wasn't Walthill's victory, but the strength Wakefield displayed to hold the quick Bluejays to a 10-point victory.

The state's third-ranked Class C coach handed the Trojans of coach Joe Coble a 58-48 defeat only after the Jays used a tenacious man-to-man defense to break away from two one-point leads late in the third quarter.

Behind the scoring of 6-6 Val Johnson with 17 points and the playmaking of 5-10 guard Brad Jones with 16, Wakefield nearly wiped out an 11-point, first-half deficit to twice close to within one point of the Jays.

Johnson popped in a pair of shots under the basket for a 29-28 Walthill lead and Jones came back with a 10-foot jumper to make the score 31-30 before the Jays' effective press caused Wakefield to give up the ball and result in a 40-32 lead going into the last period.

"Walthill's pressure bothered us all night long," pointed out Coble. "They're an awful quick club, but I have to add that I think we handled their press well," he added.

Walthill used its notorious speed and quickness to jump off to a 12-3 first-quarter lead — a lead which later proved to be the turning point in the ball game. Leading by 8-3 with less than 30 seconds left, Walthill intercepted two Wakefield passes and turned them into buckets.

Both clubs shot about even percentages from the field the rest of the game. Wakefield had the edge 40 per cent to 38 for Walthill.

Wakefield used a zone defense to keep the smaller Bluejays outside, but the Trojans couldn't contain the blazing shooting of team leader Donny Archer with 14 points, Eddie Stansberry with 13 and George Looft with 12. Most of those Walthill points came on the last break following one of Wakefield's 21 turnovers.

"I'm real pleased with the effort our team put out tonight. We held this Walthill club to about 17 or 18 points below what it averages a game," Coble pointed out.

Wakefield's reserves also dropped their contest, 41-32, Von Portwood was the leader for the Trojans with 11. In the freshmen contest, Barry Jones hit 17 points to lead Wakefield to a 41-32 victory.

Also scoring for Wakefield were Rick Guy with 12, Tom Preston and Von Portwood with six each, Larry Soderberg with three and Scott Hallstrom with two.

Team 4 Overcomes Halftime Deficit To Win No. Five

Team 7 built up a 28-23 half-time lead, but couldn't hold on in the second half as undefeated league leader Team 4 came from behind to notch its fifth win, 47-44, Wednesday night.

The winners outscored Team 7 14-7 in the third period and 10-9 in the last stanza behind the marksmanship of Dan Johnson, who finished with 18 points, Dick Sorenson with 12 and Wayne Wessel with 10.

In other men's city recreation B league games, Team 3 overcame Team 1 by two points, 57-55, and Team 5 handed Team 6 a three-point setback, 60-57.

Howard Peters ripped the cords for 17 points in leading Team 3 to its third win against one defeat, giving his club sole possession of second place in the seven-team loop.

Third place belongs to Team 5 with a 3-2 mark, while Team 5, which was led by Dave Krusemark with 16 points, is fourth with a 2-3 mark. Teams 1, 2 and 7 are tied for fifth with 1-3 records.

This week's schedule finds Team 6 versus 4 at 7 o'clock; 7 versus 3 at 8, and 1 versus 2 at 9.

Also scoring: 4—Bill Dickey 3, Cap Peterson 2, Phil Griess 2; Team 7—Randy Shaw 11, Bill Corbit 10, Curt Frye 8, Bill Woehler 7, Hank Overin 6, Darrell Moore 2.

Physical Ponca Hands Allen 57-45 Setback

A physical Ponca club muscled its way to a 74-51 clipping of Allen Friday night during a Lewis and Clark Conference battle at Allen.

Led by Kevin Harder with 21 points and Brian Voss with 18, Ponca canned over 50 per cent of its shots from the field to hand the Eagles their ninth loss, in two games.

Harder pumped in 11 points from the inside and Voss added six more from the outside to guide Ponca to a 22-15 first-quarter lead. Voss continued his torrid shooting from the outside by contributing six points each in the second and third frames to give the Indians a 42-38 margin going into the fourth period.

Sizing up his team's loss, coach Jim Koontz pointed out that "Ponca is very physical and we're not able to cope with the physical aspect of their game."

The turning point for Allen came in the third period where Allen could muster only nine points while Ponca dropped in 21. "It must be the case of third-quarter blues," Koontz added.

Allen shot 37 per cent from the field and lost the edge on the boards to Ponca, 42-36. Putting down a team-high 10 rebounds for Allen was Ted Ellis.

Tuesday night Allen hosts Westfield, Ia.

Winside Falls

Winside just couldn't contend with the board play of Coleridge Friday night as the Wildcats bit the dust 51-31.

The invaders from, Coleridge ruled in the rebound department to the tune of 42-26 in pulling away to the 20-point victory. Six-foot-four John Leapey led the winners with 15 points.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 0-7 on the season with a trip to Beemer on Friday next on the schedule.

Down 14-9 after one quarter, the Wildcats never could get back into the game. Coach Sam Colvin pointed out that one of the Cats' biggest problems was their failure to connect on one-and-one free throw situations. The Cats hit on seven of 17 free throw tries.

Leading Winside in scoring was Chuck Mann as he hit for seven points. The losers shot 26 per cent from the floor and were charged with 21 turnovers. Coleridge hit on 33 per cent of its shots and committed 18 miscues.

Wakefield Nets First Mat Win

Wakefield grapplers chalked up their first dual victory of the season Tuesday night by whipping visiting Hartington High, 45-12.

The win was a relatively easy one, pointed out coach Lyle Trullinger, but a welcomed relief after Saturday's Winside High Invitational.

Saturday night the Trojans take their 1-2 record back to the mats when they host Osmond.

Helpful Transaction

DOUG BARRY, Wayne State College director of financial aids, accepts a handful of bills from Charles Kay, executive secretary of the Wayne State Foundation. The money represents a recent $20,000 contribution by the foundation to the National Direct Student Loans Program. The money will alleviate a cash flow problem, according to Barry, allowing WSC students to receive full loans instead of being subject to anticipated 30 per cent reductions. Currently 300 WSC students receive National Direct Student Loans, says Barry. The contribution will be returned to the Foundation prior to June 30 as funds become available.

Placement Bureau Report

WSC Graduates Finding Jobs

A majority of recent Wayne State graduates are employed full-time, earn substantial incomes and rate their overall experiences at Wayne State College on a high level, a recent survey by the Wayne State placement bureau reveals. The survey co-ordinated by Deryl Lawrence, Director of Special Services was directed to graduates of December, 1975, April 1976, and August 1976.

The second comprehensive study of these graduates, the survey quizzed graduates on employment status and classification, incomes, degree of satisfaction with present jobs as well as expectations of future prospects. Two-hundred-and-six baccalaureate and masters graduates responded, 105 (60 per cent) of the 176 teacher education graduates and 60 (39 per cent) of the 154 non-teaching graduates.

Concerning full-time employment, 93 (89 per cent) of the 105 responding teacher education graduates reported being employed full-time (84 in teaching positions and nine in non-teaching positions). The few remaining were either enrolled in graduate school or employed part-time. Only one reported "being unemployed and seeking a position."

With no "unemployables" listed, 46 (77 per cent) of the 60 responding non-teaching graduates reported being employed full-time. Graduate school and part-time work account for the remaining non-teaching graduates.

Among the masters degree recipients "unemployment" was also not on the list. Thirty-seven (90 per cent) of the 41 masters graduates reported being employed full-time, two were in graduate school and two more were working part-time.

The salary bracket fluctuated considerably for all bachelors and masters' degree graduates. The annual gross income for full-time education-related jobs held by teacher education graduates ranged from $6,000 to $10,800 and averaged $8,538.

Salaried teacher education graduates obtaining non-teaching positions averaged $7,259. With a low of $4,000 and a $13,500 high, salaries averaged $8,949 for non-teaching graduates with full-time jobs. Those with masters' degrees earned from $9,500 to $17,000 (averaged $12,009) with their full-time jobs.

Concerning job satisfaction, 81 per cent of all bachelors' teacher education graduates and 80 per cent of the masters' graduates reported that satisfaction with their present jobs was either "excellent" or "good."

Only four per cent of the bachelors' or "unsatisfactory" category. Master candidates said "good" or "excellent" at a 95 per cent rate, with only one rating this item "poor."

Rating the caliber of instruction in major areas as "good" or "excellent" were: 70 per cent of the non-teaching graduates, 87 per cent of teacher education graduates, and 90 per cent of masters' graduates.

Non-teaching graduates were less satisfied with present jobs. 78 per cent rating positions "excellent" or "good" with 11 per cent rating jobs as "poor" or "unsatisfactory". Ninety-three per cent of those graduates, however, reported that prospects for the future looked bright, no one rating prospects "poor" or "unsatisfactory".

College experiences and caliber of instruction in major areas were also high on the survey. Ninety per cent of the graduates, 87 per cent of the teacher education graduates and 84 per cent of the non-teaching graduates indicated beneficial college experiences at Wayne.

Only one non-teaching respondent placed this item in the "poor" or "unsatisfactory" category. Master candidates said "good" or "excellent" at a 95 per cent rate, with only one rating this item "poor."

Hot Springs Left Behind For Cold Nebraska Winter

Before coming to Wayne, Peter Van Aasdall counseled students in kindergarten through the eighth grade in Thermopolis, Wyo., a town known for its hot springs.

Van Aasdall is the new assistant professor of counseling and psychology at Wayne State College. His classes deal with community service counseling, teaching methods, adolescent psychology, and guidance counseling.

Years of educational background and counseling work in varied age groups give Van Aasdall a background for his new teaching position. After receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Colorado, the professor worked as a teacher in sixth grade in Westford, Mass., and later in Englewood, Colo.

Further education followed. Van Aasdall received his master degree in counseling at the University of Denver, then began counseling at the secondary level in Lusk, Wyo.

Then it was on to his elementary counseling position in Thermopolis and the wrap-up of his educational career, receiving his doctorate from the University of Northern Colorado this winter.

Outside of his teaching profession, Van Aasdall enjoys hiking, swimming, reading and listening to records. In Thermopolis, he served as a cub scout master.

He has also been in the National Guard and is a member of professional educational organizations.

Van Aasdall and his wife Barbara, a former school teacher, reside at 110 1/2 Pearl in Wayne. They have two sons, David, eight, and Steven six.
