Trash Volume Growing

How much trash, in the form of paper products, plastics, glass containers, food, metals and the like, do residents of a Wayne County generate in a year?
How much of it could profitably be recycled or converted into energy?
According to the Environmental Protection Agency, it is a growing problem. The nation's trash pile has been rising steadily and now amounts to more than 160 million tons of solid waste per year.

That is enough, it says, to fill garbage trucks, lined up bumper to bumper, three abreast, all the way from New York to Los Angeles.
The single largest component of this waste is paper and paper products, amounting to over 50 million tons. Discarded food is next, about 24 million tons. Glass, metals and plastics follow in that order.

Wayne County's contribution to this mountain of trash is estimated at 6,600 tons a year. The amount of food scraps in this discard, based upon the general average, is 940 tons annually.

It is in line with the EPA's finding that Americans generate close to 4.1 pounds of trash a day per person, or about 1,500 pounds a year.
For the local area, as well as for most other communities across the country, collecting and disposing of these waste products is a costly matter. For the large cities it is a major problem.

Clinic Set for Pork Producers

The basis for improved litter size, and reducing foot and leg problems in swine will be the topics of a pork producers' meeting Tuesday beginning at 1:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Dr. Dwane Zimmerman, professor of animal science from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will discuss the basis for improved litter size in swine. Dr. Zimmerman is widely known for his research in reproductive physiology of swine.

Bob Fritschen, district swine specialist, will present information on how to reduce foot and leg problems in swine.
The meeting is sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension Service and the Northeast Pork Producers Association. All pork producers and related industry associates are encouraged to attend. Lunch will be provided.

House, Auto Lost in Fire

A fire believed to have started in a garage destroyed a ranch-style house in Woodland Park, just outside Hoskins, early Thursday morning.
Volunteer firemen from Hoskins rushed to the scene about 11 a.m. to discover the garage, kitchen, living room and bathroom engulfed in flames.

According to the chief Herman "Dutch" Opler, the owner of the house, Carol Rotler, and her two daughters escaped from their bedrooms without injury.
Also lost in the fire was a 1976 automobile. The car, house furnishings and the house, which was insured, burned two weeks ago, were insured.
Firemen battled the blaze for two hours and spent another hour cleaning up before they returned to Hoskins.
Cause of the fire was not determined.

In some areas, small towns have joined together for a regional solution. They have built a common disposal facility to which each of them brings its garbage.
There it is separated, shredded and treated. The lighter, combustible material is used to heat or air condition buildings or is sold as fuel to utilities and the rest is disposed of in landfills.
This recycling and conversion pays off only for heavily populated communities or groups of smaller ones, according to the EPA.

Theoretically, it points out, if all solid waste in the United States were converted into energy it would be equivalent to about 219 million barrels of oil per year.
The potential in Wayne County, based upon full conversion of its 6,600 tons of disposables per year, is around 9,100 barrels.

Farm Incorporation Is Topic of Meeting

Farmers who are considering incorporating their farms can obtain information which will be of help in making the decision.
University of Nebraska-Lincoln economist Phil Henderson will discuss aspects of farm incorporation during a meeting Tuesday beginning at 1 p.m. in the district court room of the county courthouse.

Henderson will talk about corporations and the family farm, father-son agreements, partnerships, how to incorporate and advantages and disadvantages of incorporation.
Henderson also will discuss estate planning during an evening session beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus.

Pesticide Users Must Complete Training Class

Training sessions for commercial applicators of pesticides will be conducted March 9 at the Villa Inn in Norfolk, and March 10 at the Townhouse Motel in O'Neill.

Reservations at both locations will begin with registration at 8 a.m. and will conclude with the certification examination from 3:30-5:00 p.m.
A commercial applicator is defined as a person applying restricted pesticides to property other than his own for hire. There is no cost for this session and certification is good for four years.

Persons wanting to attend these early sessions are requested to pre-register at their local county extension agent's office. Applicators not able to attend are reminded that certification is not needed for another year, and that there will be additional sessions this fall and upcoming winter.
Persons attending are required certification of those people using restricted chemicals goes into effect Oct. 21.

Although the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has published only a tentative list of restricted pesticides, the general rules for applying pesticides as restricted are:
— Pesticides with "danger" and skull and crossbones as signal words on the label.
— Pesticides applied to water supporting fish and wildlife.
— Pesticides that may be carried off property by water.
— Pesticides applied to treated areas where wildlife may be exposed.
— All fumigants.
— Pesticides applied by aircraft.

'Aptitude' Is Key Word For Spelling Bee Winner

"Aptitude" was the key word for Kim Blecke Friday afternoon. She spelled the word correctly, demonstrating her aptitude for spelling and winning her first place honors in the Wayne County Rural Teachers Association spelling contest for the second year in a row.

Kim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Blecke, a District 32 eighth grade student, won the contest by spelling the word "aptitude" after other competitors had been eliminated. She received a trophy donated by the Wisner pharmacy and was presented a certificate for a $25 savings bond by Wayne Herald editor Kim Strayer.

Kim's win makes her eligible to compete in the Midwest Spelling Bee April 30 at the Hilton Hotel in Omaha.
Another District 37 student, Jeff Baier, placed second in the contest and received a $10 cash prize from the First National Bank in Wayne. Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Baier. Third place winner, receiving a dictionary from the Wayne County Store, was Mike Nissen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nissen and a student at the District 51 school.

The three prize winners were among 22 students who advanced to the final elimination of the contest, an oral spelling contest based on the results of a written test. Seventh and eighth grade students from 17 rural school districts took part in the competition.

Each of the 19 runners up in the oral contest received a $1 prize. The State National Bank in Wayne contributed $15 and Cal Conmstock of Wayne County Public Power contributed $5. Wittig's Food Center also gave a cash prize.
Other contributors included a

GOING THROUGH the final steps of the cardio pulmonary resuscitation course before the final exam Tuesday night are two members of the Wayne police force, Keith Adams, left, and Ron Wriedt. The pair along with 10 other members of the city and campus police departments, finished up the 11-hour course under the direction of Berniece Fulton. The course was sponsored by the Wayne County chapter of the American Red Cross. Also completing the course were police chief Vern Fairchild, Ron Pennerick, A.G. Surber, Ivan Creighton, Darel Soden, Rick Burt, Robert McClain, Robert West, Melvin Lamb and Bonnie Hintz.

Conference Will Tell Story of Nebraska

A two-day conference on Nebraska history will bring in 17 history buffs and specialists from throughout the Midwest to Wayne State College March 3 and 4 to share their knowledge of Nebraska heritage with the historians who will present papers on several aspects of Nebraska history under the following topics, including Black heritage in Nebraska; governors, cattlemen, and farmers; minorities and public opinion; women in Nebraska's history; urban history; teaching and researching Nebraska history.

The papers should be appealing to both students and area folks, according to social sciences division head Clifton Ginn, noting that the papers are "types that everyone will find interesting."
Some of the presentations will include "North Platte Race Riot" by David Dales of Grand Island High School; "Anti-German Sentiment in the Nebraska Press" by Sandy Asher of Creighton University; and "Pioneer Women of Nebraska" presented by Dr. Herb Blakely of Dakota State College.

Legion Seeking Junior Lawmen

The Nebraska State Patrol and American Legion are again seeking applicants for the Junior Lawmen program, scheduled this year for June 6-10.
The program was started in 1968 as a way of introducing young men with an interest in law enforcement to the requirements for becoming an officer.

Any male high school junior in good physical condition is eligible to apply for the program through his high school guidance counselor. Deadline for applications is March 1.
Students selected for the program will attend the five-day training session at the State Patrol Training Center at the Lincoln Air Park. Expenses are paid by the American Legion.

During the session, officials for local, state and federal law enforcement agencies will give lectures on the requirements for becoming a law enforcement officer. Students will participate in a daily physical education program, take field trips to the State Capital, State Patrol headquarters, and the Lincoln-Lancaster city-county building, learn about State Patrol equipment including radar and VASCAR, participate in target practice, and take part in other activities typical of training received by law enforcement officers.

More than 300 students have completed the program since it was started.

Northeast Region Driest in 46 Years

The period from October 1976 through January 1977 was the driest in 46 years for Northeast Nebraska, according to the Conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.
The region received an average of .79 of an inch of precipitation during the four-month period — only 22 per cent of normal precipitation, and 2.86 inches below normal.

In January the region received .23 of an inch of precipitation, .41 of an inch below normal, and only 36 per cent of the normal amount.
The official weather observation station at Wakefield recorded .34 of an inch — .30 of an inch below normal.

Recorded amounts and the amount below normal for January recorded at other stations in Northeast Nebraska are: Albion, .42, 12 below normal; Hartington, .16, .47 below; Norfolk,

January was also colder than normal according to the report. The Wakefield station recorded an average temperature for the month of 11 degrees F. — eight degrees lower than the normal average temperature.
The average daily high was 23.3; the average daily low was minus 1.4 degrees. Highest temperature recorded was 45 degrees on Jan. 23. Low for the month, recorded Jan. 16, was minus 21 degrees.

Paper Drive Is Saturday

Wayne Boy Scout Troop 174 will be picking up old newspapers Saturday morning, Feb. 26. The scouts are asking donors to place bundles at curbside by 8 a.m. so the collectors can avoid making return trips along routes already covered to pick up bundles placed after the project begins.
Papers should be tied in flat bundles no more than 12 inches high. Twine for tying bundles is available at Gerald's Decorating or Carhart Lumber Co.

Doug Barry, its chairman of this month's paper drive and can be reached by calling 375-4690.
Proceeds from the newspapers, sold for recycling, help finance a variety of Scout activities through the year.

Northeast Feeders Elect Officers

Directors of the Northeast Livestock Feeders recently elected officers to head the association for the coming year.
Elected president was Cliff Baker of Wakefield.

Other officers are: vice president, Gerald Muller, Concord; secretary, Darrell Rahn, Wayne; treasurer, Norman Meyer, Wakefield.
Other directors now serving are: Rodney Lander, Pender; Werner Mann, Winfield; Ted Habrock, Emerson; Leon Bruns, Pender; John Kruse, Walthill; Art Greve, Wakefield; Richard Olesen, Waterbury; Larry Morgan, Dakota City; Harold Hermebrach, Pender; Rodney Bonderson, Emerson; Marvin Rasmussen, Hubbard and Dave Denker, Emerson.

Plans were made to increase membership for the coming year. Northeast Feeders are second in the state in number of members. However, there are many livestock farmers who still can join. The Feeders Association needs every farmer who wants to become a member, the newly-elected president said.

Open House Will Honor Doctor

Dr. Nguyen Huu Tien and his family will be the guests of honor Saturday, Feb. 26, during Laurel Day at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.
Wayne mayor Freeman Decker last week signed a proclamation declaring the special day in recognition of the contribution made by Laurel residents toward construction of PMC.

The event is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. and last until 5:30. Tours of the hospital will be conducted for visitors and a reception will be in the Chapel Room in honor of the Tien family.
The Tien — Dr. Tien, Mrs. Ha Tien, daughters Chau and Ngoc, and sons Anh and Dung — arrived in Wayne in 1975. Dr. Tien has since participated in medical orientation programs and recently successfully completed examinations required to receive a license to practice medicine in Nebraska. He is now completing an intern rotation in obstetrics-gynecology at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Sioux City.

Dr. Tien, one of the number of Vietnamese doctors who came to Nebraska in 1975, will begin his medical practice in Laurel July 1.

State Output Up Slightly

Real output in Nebraska at the end of 1976, a five per cent above the level of the same period of 1975, according to a report by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
While October's economy was above that of a year ago, agricultural economic output in Nebraska remained virtually constant over the three-month period, August through October.

Duane Hackmann, bureau research associate, noted that Nebraska's output index (physical volume) decreased from 136.3 in September to 135.1 in October. His report indicated that this decline should be viewed with extreme caution, however, because it is attributable to changes and revisions in data from the agriculture sector. The decrease was more statistical than substantive because of the data revisions.
Important changes in the index resulted from an updating of information concerning cash receipts from farm marketing organizations in a reported expenditure pattern of two large power stations under construction at Sutherland and Nebraska City. The power plant projects had pushed nonbuilding construction in Nebraska well above 1975, and residential construction continued to maintain a wide margin above year earlier levels. Residential construction appears to be benefiting from lower interest rates, and an exceptionally strong month into large mortgage institutions, the Bureau reported.
Nebraska's manufacturing sector showed a slight increase based upon tentative and incomplete information. The manufacturing sector, according to the report, indicated a slight increase from August to September with little change being recorded in October.
Output in Nebraska's distribution sector slipped slightly from August; retail sales in October 1976, Hackmann explained that the October to August decline should not be regarded as serious or an indication that retail sales are trending downward. For August, 1976, was an exceptionally strong month for retail sales in Nebraska. August's pace could not be expected to be maintained.

McDonald Store Has New Manger

Dale Boyle Friday assumed duties as manager of the J.M. McDonald store in Wayne, replacing Neil Dinges who is now manager of the company's Holdrege store.
Boyle lived in Farnam, Neb., until his freshman year in high school when his family moved to St. Diego.

Following graduation from high school there he served two years in the Navy before returning to Nebraska. He was employed by the J.C. Penney Co. in Gothenburg for a year and a half. He then worked for Part's Bookery in Lexington and other locations for 11 years.
In August 1958 he joined the J.M. McDonald Co. and has worked at Fremont and Norfolk and been a store manager in Hartington, Kans., and Smith Center, Kans.
Boyle has also been a high school football and basketball official for the past six and one-half years and has officiated more than 250 games, including four state football playoff games in the past two years.

Stroke prevention is possible

Stroke is not a disease that affects only the aged, nor is it a matter of fate. It is caused, in many cases, by specific risk factors — factors that can be identified and reduced.

Stroke can usually be avoided, but prevention comes only by knowing risk factors and warning signals.

About 200,000 Americans will die of stroke this year. A total of 1.8 million will be afflicted, many with crippling after-effects. Stroke occurs when oxygenated blood is blocked from reaching part of the brain, causing millions of brain cells to die; the result can be irreversible brain damage.

Many major strokes are preceded by "little strokes" or warning signals experienced days, weeks or months before the most severe event. Prompt medical or surgical attention to these symptoms may prevent a major stroke from occurring. The primary signal of stroke is a feeling of sudden, temporary weakness or numbness of face, arm or leg on one side of the body. Other signals include: temporary loss of speech or trouble in speaking or understanding speech; temporary dimness or loss of vision (particularly in one eye); unexplained dizziness or unsteadiness or sudden falls. Many fatal strokes could have been prevented if hypertension (high blood pressure), a leading cause of stroke, had been diagnosed and controlled.

"We know reduction of risk factors can help prevent stroke," said a local Heart Association source. "Take high blood pressure, for example. Nowadays it can be controlled. VA Hospital research showed significant reduction in stroke deaths in cases where high blood pressure was controlled. And data from lengthy studies on residents of Framingham, Mann, has supported the theory that early detection of high blood pressure, and its control, is the key to stroke prevention."

Although high blood pressure is the most significant risk factor, it is essential that high levels of cholesterol in the blood and excessive smoking are major factors, along with overweight, lack of exercise, stress, and diet high in cholesterol and saturated fats.

Because stroke has hit young men and women, even children, it is essential that blood pressure checks, proper diet and heart-healthy living begins at an early age. That's why the local Heart Association stresses public and medical education on stroke prevention — particularly high blood pressure control.

Information about stroke warning signals and reduction of risk factors will be handed out by local volunteers in the Heart Campaign in February. — American Heart Association.

STRAY Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

I want to offer a belated "thank you" to Ted Storck for my selection last week as Citizen of the Day. Thought I'd see you before now. Ted, to thank you in person. I have to check out a rumor about my selection for the honor. It has been suggested that I was nominated by a committee of Vernon Russell and Aaron Butler and I want to find out if that's true.

Bicentennial Who's Who
Congratulations to Dale Stoltenberg of Carroll for his nomination by the Merit Publications Board for his biography to appear in Who's Who in Nebraska in the Bicentennial edition.

His name was chosen from a group of native Nebraskans who demonstrated outstanding achievement in their field of endeavor. Stoltenberg is agriculture representative and assistant vice president of the First National Bank in Wayne.

A Fine Year
It was my pleasure Wednesday to meet

Pat Ross, president of the B.F. Goodrich rubber company, in town for a dinner sponsored by Swede Fredrickson.

We chatted for a few minutes about the winter in Ohio—hasn't hit Goodrich headquarters city of Akron as hard as other parts — before turning to discussion of dry conditions which have persisted here the past three years.

"It's a bad time we had a good year," I observed.
"Not a 'good year,'" Ross replied with a smile. "A fine year."

Popular Profession
Journalism is apparently becoming increasingly popular as a career field for students entering college. According to a report I received this week, there are now 928 journalism majors at UN-L and some 200 students were turned away from journalism classes this semester.

The report, by the way, was about Areas of Excellence at UN-L. The school has held the distinction since 1974, which happens to be the year I finally left. Hope there isn't any connection there.

Other Areas of Excellence include animal science, chemistry, crop physiology, life science, and non-traditional education.

Dust off Shoes

I hope everyone gets their dancing shoes dusted off in time for the Lions Club Annual St. Patrick's Day Dance, March 19. Tickets purchased in advance will cost $2.50 — not $2.40 as was reported in the last issue of the Herald (the type gremlins are at it again.)

Litter bill would tax manufacturer, retailer, wholesaler

By JOHN R. MURPHY
Senator, 17th District

It is a generally conceded fact that there are two things in this life that are certain: death and taxes.

Last week the legislature advanced LB 220 which provides for cleaning up litter across the state. The bill is supposedly patterned after that used by the State of Washington. The bill provides that manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers would pay a tax amounting to $150 per one million dollars in sales of certain specified items.

This tax would be repetitive at all three levels on the same item. It further provides that each of these entities shall report any pay quarterly to the state, the tax due. This would be in effect a subsidiary sales tax and will cause many who are not currently submitting sales tax reports and almost all who are, to prepare another separate and distinct tax report.

This is unfortunate, inasmuch as the law will generate less than $400,000. Meanwhile, it will probably cost those who must report an additional $400,000 to segregate their reporting procedures to file the required forms, to make the necessary payments and to be subject to rules and regulations.

Ultimately, you, the consumer, will pay both the tax and the cost of these procedures in increased prices, regardless of how the tax is levied and collected. If we are to be our brother's keeper, let's support the bill and let the state do the general fundings that are collected under our current taxing procedures.

The penalty in this bill would be a fine of $10 for littering. The present penalty is $25 to $100. Thus, the real culprit in this whole thing has his life made easier by reducing the potential penalty. A good deal of the failure under the present law also lies with the general public who are reluctant to report and prosecute those whom they see creating litter. The law is there, it simply lacks enforcement.

The other principal provision of this bill is that the state will annually provide several million litter bags for automobile use and install in convenient highway locations and public parks, containers of a uniform design. However, individual retailers will be required to purchase and install similar containers in their area of business operations and parking lots. The individual operator will, in addition, be required to provide for the collection and disposal of materials placed in his containers.

This is a further expense that will not be covered by the tax provision but will be visited upon the individual. The original provisions of the bill required that this tax be levied on such items as groceries, tobacco products, soft drinks, newspapers, and paper products, metal and plastic containers.

Amendments on the floor got to the silly stage as additional products found along the roadway were added to the bill such as refrigerators, bedsprings, old tires, automobile parts, and the like. There is another bill that has not been heard in committee yet, commonly known as the "bottle bill" that would impose a punitive tax on non-returnable containers in order to force all dispensers of beverages to use a returnable container. The advocates of this bill asked that the legislature bracket (hold) the current proposal until such time as their bill was placed on general file, so that the two might be discussed at the same time and possibly bring about consolidation of the better points of each. Their attempt to bracket this bill gained little support. The current proposal before us has the support of organized labor, who see the "bottle bill" as a possible deterrent to the manufacture of cans in Nebraska.

LB 220 also has very strong support from the beer and beverage industry. They are not at all anxious to inherit the additional tax, which would be imposed on them by the alternative proposals contained in the "bottle bill" — and I can scarcely blame them for that. There has two more stages of consideration, select file and final reading and I still am in hopes that the abortive tax provisions in LB 220 will be removed. Last week the legislature met and sure enough, it would appear that your taxes are going up. Hopefully, the death rate won't go up too.

Out of Old

The Nebraska State Historical Society Museum in Lincoln is now exhibiting some unusually fine examples of woodwork and working tools from its collections. The display should be of interest not only to the master craftsman and the novice woodworker but to the general public as well.

Wood has been used for making both functional and decorative objects since the beginning of civilization, and Nebraska craftsmen, amateur and professional, have long worked in wood as a hobby and to produce necessary furniture. During the 19th century when the production of wooden furniture was becoming mechanized, the hand-crafting of wooden objects such as toys, hunters' decoys, carousel figures, tavern signs, ships in bottles, and butter stamps continued.

Scroll or fret saw work (cutting designs with a fine hand saw) became a popular gentleman's hobby during the 1850's. During the 1860's lumber yards stocked walnut boards, especially cut 1.4 and 1.2 inch thick. A beautiful cathedral clock made by John Larnphshire in 1885 is displayed in the Pioneer Gallery at the State Historical Society. Both men and women made plant hangers, what not shelves, pen holders, letter racks, and other ornamental items for household use and for gifts.

Pyrography, the art of burning designs into wood, was popularized about the turn of the century, and items to be assembled and decorated could be purchased in kits. An F.F. Rick and Co. Catalog (Buffalo, N.Y., 1909) lists wall plaques, trinket boxes, chairs, fern stands, magazine racks, sewing tables, and piano benches in kit form. Included with the display of pyrographic art is a 1904 pyrographic outfit from the Flemish Art Co. is packed in a wooden box which the owner decorated. A wooden burnt bench represents the intricacies of this form of art.

Carving — an art as well as a wood-working technique — ranged from the whittling of chains to the carving of mantle pieces of master craftsmen. Carvings on exhibit include a walnut plaque designed by Mrs. Anna Field Cameron, which was commissioned by the State of Nebraska and then displayed in the Woman's Building at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893; an ornate Barometer case made by Carl Gloe as a Civil Works Administration project in 1934; and Keats W. Lorenz's carving of a covered wagon and oxen which was used to make the bronze casting of the official Milestone Marker at 10th and O Streets in Lincoln. Master carver Lorenz carved the doors of the Senate Chamber in the State Capitol, as well as numerous pieces for churches and residences, and created the designs for castings of bronze and plaster used throughout the Midwest.

Inlay work consists of building up a piece out of many small pieces of wood or of creating an intricate design by carefully fitting the cut pieces of wood in place. A wooden fruit bowl made by Lincoln cabinet maker William Stoll and an inlay library table made by Frank A. Ordens, an Omaha cabinet maker, exemplify this technique. Ordens, a Swedish immigrant, began work on the table in 1888 and completed it in 1930. Using magazine illustrations, particularly of children, as a guide, Ordens' table is a 42-year work of art. The lower shelf of the table depicts a horse-racing scene. Other large furniture exhibited include a settee made by Leonard Wiegand, a pioneer settler of the Knox and Cedar County area, and a pedestal table made in 1897 by Frank Taylor from a walnut tree on his Johnson County farm.

A model of the three-masted clipper ship Arabia, made by Julius Hoga of North Platte who sailed on the ship from New York to San Francisco, 1889-1890, is an unusual example of fine hand-craft. Hoga's model, almost six feet in length, two feet in width, and four feet in height, is accurate in detail, fully rigged with canvas sails and ropes of thread.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

CUMING County Schools received $155,194.21 in state apportionment and county grants and line money last week according to a report released by Cuming County Superintendent Margaret Graves. This figure is nearly twice the amount received last year, but about the same as amounts distributed two years ago.

The award, presented by Mayor Mose Kneiff, was made under the auspices of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Neu, representing 30 area counties, was one of four district winners in the state. One state winner will be selected for the national contest.

THE Dakota and Thurston County Agricultural Societies have approved August 17-21 for the 1977 Greater Sioux Land Fair and Rodeo. In a recent combined meeting of the two boards, they also approved the contract with the

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Those old Sherlock Holmes movies always had the hero operating in a thick London fog and it wasn't too many decades ago that Pittsburgh dropped its reputation as the "smoky city" for the more favorable title of "steel city."

London and Pittsburgh really don't have a great deal in common. However, they did use similar methods to rid themselves of fog, smog — or whatever was soiling the buildings and spoiling the health of their citizens.

It may surprise a lot of Americans to learn that clean air laws were introduced in London in the thirteenth century. The word "smog," according to the Automotive Information Council, was coined by the Smoke Abatement Society of London more than 70 years ago.

Numerous Americans can recall when "A Foggy Day in London Town" was more than just a song. It was just about 22 years ago when a black smog terrified Londoners. Only two years earlier a killer blanket claimed over 4,000 lives in a single week.

By October of 1955 London was much less a foggy town. Today, 80 per cent more sunshine beams on the city than before 1955. The city fathers attacked the problem at its core. The burning of untreated coal was banned and that eliminated the tons of soot and ash that had speckled over the city for centuries.

Like London, Pittsburgh traced its problems to commercial and domestic coal furnaces. In London, the city was a victim of particulates and oxides of sulfur that darkened its statues and buildings and did nothing for its tourist and convention bureau.

The interesting point is that the sources of the soot and fog in both cities were stationary, not mobile. Neither one nor Pittsburgh made any serious effort to restrict or restrain automobile or truck traffic.

Just recently at an environmental meeting attended by nearly all the nations of Europe plus Australia and Japan, the question of more stringent automotive controls came up. The Government of England led the fight against tighter standards and scored a near unanimous victory. The victors questioned the official need to penalize the automobile.

One economic drawback. Americans visiting London have stopped buying bottled fog to take back home.

OBSERVATIONS

Where does the money come from?

We received a "Proposed Economic Stimulus Plan" memorandum from the White House Media Liaison Office. At least one provision of the plan is particularly disturbing.

The provision: "The plan revises the counter-cyclical revenue sharing program to provide more funds to state and local governmental units. The amount spent will rise if unemployment increases, and decline as unemployment drops."

In other words, the fewer people employed, the more money spent by the government. An obvious question is left unanswered: Where will the money for increased revenue sharing come from.

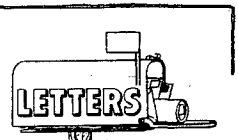

One source would be through increased taxes. Increasing government spending during times of high unemployment, however, would mean the increased tax load would be shared by fewer workers, making it excessively burdensome.

The other answer is the old government standby: When you need more money, borrow it. Government borrowing reduces the amount of credit available to private enterprise for expansion, drives up interest rates, and increases the national debt.

One out of nine tax dollars paid already go to pay just the interest on governmental debts. Closing the ratio further through increased debt isn't going to help the economy.

Where private finances are concerned, times of tight money dictate reductions in spending. Carter proposes to reverse that principal as a partial remedy for the nation's economic woes. — Jim Strayer

We ALL need clean water!

Did you ever stop to think how important clean water is? My Uncle Thaddeus, a college lecturer of great renown, tells me that water is the basis for every living thing. Clean water, that is! Polluted water isn't good for anything. It can carry diseases harmful to all creatures, and it keeps us from having fun. Try to unscramble the words to find out some of the things we use clean water for.

Thursday night the Trojans fell to what Coble called "a fine ball club" in Emerson-Hubbard. The invaders took a 40-18 half time lead and were never caught.

Steve Bett led the winners with 26 tallies while Rick Clements had 11 points and Dave Henney 10. Jones led Wakefield with 11 points while Johnson had 10.

Sports

Cat Tracksters Tripped In First Indoor Meet

Wayne State's tracksters fell a little bit short in their first indoor action of the 1977 spring season Thursday as the invading Cats fell to Midland, 70-56 in a dual meet.

The LeRoy Simpson coached Cats racked up five first place finishes with Kevin Peterson at Jackson winning the pole vault at 13 feet 6. Merlin Lamm of Nehawka taking the long jump at 21 feet 10. Chip Hagerman of Ainsworth winning the 100-yard dash in 10.06. Don Rinehart of Iowa City winning the 800 in 2:06.3, and the Wildcat mile relay winning in 3:42.8.

Despite the loss, coach Simpson said he feels this year's

Langenberg Remains As Area's Last Hope

Senior Brad Langenberg of Winside survived Thursday and Friday's stiff competition in the state high school wrestling championships in Lincoln to be the only area wrestler left with a chance for an individual championship. Langenberg, at 145 pounds, pushed his personal record to 25-6 with three straight wins in the annual state meet and was scheduled to wrestle Saturday night for a state championship.

medal. Thursday in his opening round match, Langenberg defeated Bob Dubs of Hyannis 3-0. Friday, the Wildcat wrestler pinned Doug Rose of the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped in 2:20 and then topped Kim Yang of Harrisburg, 3-2, in the semi-finals.

Although the Wildcats entered Saturday's action with Langenberg in the finals and possibly five other wrestlers in the consolation rounds, the Cats still trailed tough Amherst for the Class D team title. As of late Friday night, Amherst held a healthy lead over the second place cats.

Winside High had one wrestler still in the tourney Saturday as Kurt Echtenkamp pinned Peterson of Gordon in 2:53 in Thursday's action but lost on Friday to Andy Girard of Alliance 5-2 to get into the semi-finals of the consolation bracket. Wayne's other entry, Terry Hamilton at 98 pounds, was dethroned in the first round by Sunderman of Plattsmouth, 4-2.

Other Winside wrestlers in the semi-finals of the consolation round Tuesday were Tom Anderson at 112 pounds, Kevin Cleveland at 126, Rick Bowers at 79.71 with five minutes left — at a frantic pace that saddled four lchabods with four fouls each. Two of them later fouled out, including Dave Hull, who departed with 21 points, right on his average.

The lchabods, desperately trying to improve their 7:10 conference record, chipped Wayne's lead to 83-80 before Roberson added six more points to spark a Wildcat surge.

Besides Robison, the chief contributors to Wayne's revival of a smooth 1851 break offense, which had been futile in two conference losses the previous weekend — were Mark Olson, who hit 20, Lennie Adams with 16, Dale Meyer with 9 and Gary Billings with 8, all over their averages.

Wayne To Host Regional Game

District tourney winners Cron and West Point will meet in a girls' regional playoff game Thursday in Wayne.

The two Class C girl teams will play at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Wayne high gym for the right to go to the state girls' basketball tourney March 3 in Lincoln.

Loop Races Boiling

Two victories by Emporia Saturday night, then a final CSC game at Missouri Western 3 p.m. Sunday.

Whatever the outcome of the women's Central States schedule, the Wildkittens will head into the Nebraska college women's basketball tournament in Fremont this week. With No. 2 seeding behind No. 1 Midland, Wayne girls will play first at 8:30 p.m. Thursday against the Osage Peru winner. A win will put them into a 4 p.m. Friday game against the Kearney Greyhound victor.

The women's championship date, with Emporia Saturday night, then a final CSC game at Missouri Western 3 p.m. Sunday.

Cats Sweep At Washburn

The Wildcats suppressed Washburn 94-86, after the Wildkittens downed Washburn's Lady Blues handily, 74-48, at Topeka, Kan.

That lifted the Cats to 8-5 before their Saturday night encounter at Emporia State, which had dangerous Missouri Western as its home foe Friday night.

The Wildkittens meanwhile climbed to 11-1, still leading the conference. They also had a date with Emporia Saturday night, then a final CSC game at Missouri Western 3 p.m. Sunday.

Bears Gear Up For Districts

enter play in the Class C district tourney at Wayne State College when they face Wakefield at 5 p.m.

Friday night the invaders had trouble with Pierce through the first three quarters as the hosts trailed by only a single point going into the final quarter of the game. But Laurel rebounded with a 21-10 fourth period to notch the win.

Balance scoring did the trick for the winners as Cleve Stolpe led Laurel with 14 points while Gordie Kardell and Tim Harrington had 13 each and Mike Martin flipped in a dozen more.

Greg Warlike led the losers with 13 tallies while Mark Weber had 12.

Overtime Win Keeps Team 4 First

It took an overtime decision Wednesday night for league leading Team 4 to maintain its hold on first place.

Led by hot shooting Sid Hillier with 26 points, the winners outgunned Team 5, 54-52, for Team 4's seventh win against two defeats.

A 17-point effort in the fourth quarter by the winners forced the game into extra play. Team 5 jumped off to a 25-18 halftime command and stayed out in front, 38-31, at the end of three quarters.

Junior High Splits

A quick Emerson-junior high team used a second-half pressure defense to overcome Wayne, 37-30, Thursday at the city auditorium.

The locals shrugged off the press in the first quarter to take a 14-4 lead, but couldn't control Emerson's defense in the last three periods.

Perry Nelson led local scoring with 13 points followed by Todd Davies with six, Eric Brink with four and two each for Kevin Echtenkamp, Jim Sperry and Todd Pfeiffer, and Pat McGrig.

Rivers Drying Up

A feature on the drying-up of rivers and streams in northeast Nebraska last summer will be presented Thursday on the Game and Parks Commission's Outdoor Nebraska television show.

The weekly television series is aired statewide on the Nebraska Education Television Network each Thursday at 8 p.m. and repeated each Saturday at 4 p.m.

Fisheries biologist Lee Rupp from the Commission's Norfolk office will appear on the show and present a slide series documenting the loss of water and fish populations in some 21 rivers and streams. A show of winter wildlife, previously scheduled for Feb. 24 will be aired at a later date.

Newcastle Nudges Allen for District Title

By BOB BARTLETT

Six-foot junior Valerie Zerbe of Newcastle made her presence known Thursday night both on the boards and from the field. Time and time again the Red Raiders' star blocked Allen's attempted shots and crashed the boards for the rebounds to hold off the never-dying Eagles...

41-40, in the finals of the Class D district girls basketball tournament at Homer. Zerbe used all of her big frame in the last seconds of the game to tip the ball into the basket after taking a lob pass from her teammate and score Newcastle's winning points in the closing seconds to nail down the tournament win.

Zerbe's final two points of her 16-point total came at the line where she converted both shots of a two-shot try after Allen's leading pointmaker, senior Lori Erwin, made a last-second attempt to block Zerbe's shot. With just 17 seconds left in the game, Zerbe put her club ahead by the final margin before the Raiders' defense went to work to prevent Allen from pulling out the game.

Neither club showed much offensive attack in the opening quarter as Newcastle took only a 7-4 lead. Both teams picked up the scoring pace in the second frame when Lori Erwin scored 12 of her team's 14 points to keep the Eagles within striking distance at the half, 22-18. Allen's stiff man-to-man pressing defense in the third quarter started to take its toll as the Eagles' coach Steve McMannigan forced Newcastle to turn the ball over and allow Allen to cut the lead.

With 5:30 into the third period Lori intercepted a Newcastle pass on the Eagles' side of the court and passed the ball to sister Susie who turned around and sank a six-footer from the side of the key to put Allen in front for the first time, 23-22. Midway in the fourth quarter, the game was tied at 32 all when Allen's Grace Luschen sank both ends of a one and one. The area club kept its scoring momentum when Erwin, who finished with a game high 23 points, cashed in a two-shot foul and Susie scored a basket for a 36-32 margin with just over three minutes to go. Erwin's pair of free throws resulted when Newcastle's 5-4 sparkplug both on offense and defense, Shell Chase, exited the game with her fifth foul and nine points. The see-saw battle started up again when Zerbe started hitting from under the basket. Her latest two-point try came with 2:30 showing on the clock to put Newcastle in front again, 37-36. Peg Taylor chipped away at the Raiders' three-point spread with her first basket of the night for a 39-38 Newcastle lead. With 44 seconds left in the game Lori Erwin went to the foul line where she made both shots for a 40-39 Allen lead. Allen got off two shots before the buzzer sounded, but both missed their targets. Credit for Newcastle's win also has to go to the defensive efforts of 5-3 junior Shelly Dougherty whose thefts and bad gering man-to-man playing caused Allen to cough up the ball in its own territory and allow Newcastle to score. Both clubs went into the finals as two of the top 10 rated Class D teams in the state. Newcastle was ranked fourth and Allen cracked into the top 10 for the first time with a No. 10 rating. The loss ends Allen's season with a 13-3 record.

UNO Prevails in Double Dual

UN Omaha wrestlers took a stern test of their national ranking when they visited Wayne State Tuesday night. First they survived a challenge by Westmar, winning by 18-16 after trailing all the way to the heavy-weight match.

Then the Mavericks defeated Wayne, 25-15, on a series of narrow decisions which overcame two pin victories by Wildcats Dana Fernau at 118 pounds and Kirk Hanson at 156. As usual in most recent meets, Wayne had to forfeit at 190.

Westmar handled Wayne with ease, 31-9, after building up a 22-0 lead. Hanson and 177 pounder Dwight Lienemann were Wayne's only double winners. Lienemann, not feeling up to par, still came through with a come from behind 11-8 decision over Westmar's powerful freshman Mark Thorpe, an Iowa high school state champion, as Lienemann was in Nebraska. Against Omaha, the Winside sophomore gained a 3-0 decision over Dave Christian, who lost to Thorpe, 3-0.

The only other winner for Wayne was heavyweight Kevin Kane, who edged Westmar's Bob Wisnowsky, 7-1. The Wildcats, now 8-16 in duals, will host another double dual Tuesday afternoon against Yankton and Concordia. That's the last home action for Wayne before NAIA district combat Feb. 25.

Having Only 4 Doesn't Hamper Team 6 in Win

Having only four players in city recreation A league basketball Monday night apparently didn't stop Team 6 from pulling out an overtime victory.

Led by Breck Giese with 30 points and Earle Overlin with 28, Team 6 overcame the odds to take an 84-82 victory and boost its record to 3-4 in the seven team league.

Surprisingly, the winners were in front through three quarters before Team 7 tied the match at 77 all, sending the odds to extra time. Todd Surber, who had 20 points for Team 6, got seven of those points in the extra period.

In other action, Team 4 kept its two game edge over Team 3 for first place in the league by beating Team 2, 87-78.

Bears Ousted In C Finals

Laurel girls blew a five point lead with three minutes left Thursday night to lose the Class C district final to Crofton, 44-42, at Wausau. No other information was available.

Wakefield Nips Winside by One

Wakefield scored 16 points on 13 Winside turnovers in the second quarter of Monday night's Class C district girls basketball at Wausau and from there went on to post a 37-36 victory over the Wildcats.

Second Quarter Press Stymies Allen, 71-49

Host Emerson Hubbard stung Allen with a tough full court press in the second quarter and went on to coast to a 71-49 win Friday night, Feb. 11.

The loss ends Allen's regular season with a 4-13 mark. The Eagles will open D-4 district play at Wakefield Monday, Feb. 21 at 6:30 p.m. against Homer.

Wayne's eighth grade girls waltzed past visiting Emerson Sacred Heart, 26-4, Thursday in a game played at the city auditorium. Emerson scored its only points in the third quarter. The program is sponsored by the Norfolk based Lower Elkhorn NRD, the Cuming and Madison County Extension Services, and the Northeast Nebraska Extension Service. All arrangements are in cooperation with the Community Resources and Research Center of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

 2. WHO HAS THE AUTHORITY TO CONTROL LAND USE TODAY? — Don Nelson, Director of the State Office of Planning and Programming.

LOWER ELKHORN NRD INVESTS OVER $44,400 IN WILDLIFE HABITAT PAYMENTS IN 1976

The Lower Elkhorn NRD Directors approved payments totaling over $44,400 at their January Board Meeting. The habitat payments were to provide incentives to landowners who had over 1,800 acres under contract with the Lower Elkhorn NRD.

The Directors also approved an expansion of the habitat program to cooperate dollars with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission funding under the Wildlife Habitat Bill passed in the 1976 Legislature.

The Game and Parks Commission will be sharing the cost of the expanded program on a 75-25 per cent basis with the District. With more dollar capability, the NRD wildlife habitat improvement program will continue with the present Lands for Wildlife option plus an oats and clover option.

- Listed below are the rules and regulations of each option:
- PRACTICE A
Establishing Habitat for Wildlife
- Marginal lands now in crop production should be placed under vegetative cover to benefit wildlife and to control erosion.
1. The program will be on a contractual basis between the landowner and the NRD on a three-year term.
 2. The number of acres will be minimum of 10 acres and a maximum of 60 acres per cooperater with a maximum of four tracts.
 3. The following cover types qualifying are: sweet clover, native grasses, orchard, grass, intermediate wheatgrass, vetch, alfalfa, red clover. Seeding rates will be in accordance with SCS minimum standards.
 4. NO CRAZING WILL BE ALLOWED DURING THE CONTRACTUAL PERIOD.
 5. CONTROL OF NOXIOUS WEEDS MAY BE DONE BY CLIPPING OR SPRAYING BETWEEN JULY 15 AND AUGUST 15 WITH PRIOR APPROVAL BY THE DISTRICT. Hand control is approved at any time.
 6. A payment of $25.00 per acre for the life of the contract to be paid annually in the month the contract was initiated. Contracts may be entered into during the months of February, March and April.
 7. Public access will be made available only if the landowner so desires. An additional payment of $2.50 per acre will be allowed for a total of $27.50 per acre per year.
 8. LANDS APPLICABLE MUST BE CROPLAND CONVERSION. Lands previously seeded to approved vegetative cover crops will not qualify.
 9. If transfer of ownership occurs during the contractual period, the contract becomes void. If the new owner desires to continue the contract, a new contract may be prepared equaling the remaining years of the contract.
 10. If a cooperater wishes to be released from the provisions of the contracts, the District will require forfeiture of all payment received thus far.
 11. Non-compliance with any elements of this contract without specific written permission of the District will require forfeiture of payments received on that tract.
 12. A maximum sign-up of 1,000 acres on first come-first served basis each year.

- PRACTICE B
YELLOW SWEET CLOVER OR RED CLOVER PLANTING WITH OATS
- Under this rotational encouragement practice, yellow sweet or red clover is seeded on cropland as a companion crop with oats. Following harvest of the oats the cover must remain undisturbed through the second crop season of the contract period. The contract period is from March 1 for two full years. A cooperater may participate with additional acreage each year as fits his crop rotation pattern thus providing nesting and year around cover on different portions of the farm while simultaneously serving to add nitrogen and improve soil properties.
1. The program will be on a contractual basis between the landowner and the NRD on a two-year term.
 2. The number of acres will be a minimum of 10 acres and a maximum of 50 acres per cooperater with a maximum of four tracts.
 3. Yellow sweet clover or red clover is to be planted as a companion crop with oats. Following the harvest of oats crop, the clover is to remain undisturbed through the second year following seeding.
 4. At least ten pounds of clover (PLS) is to be planted with each acre of oats.
 5. Only the oats head may be harvested. The stubble is to be left standing with the clover. No oats straw may be removed. No grazing is allowed.
 6. Weeds may be controlled by clipping only from July 15 to August 15 with prior approval of the District. Hand control is approved at any time.
 7. A maximum of 2,000 acres may be signed up by the District each year on a first come-first served basis.
 8. Payment — One payment of $25.00 per acre will be paid at the end of the two (2) year contractual period. Failure to comply with the above provisions will void the contract and payments for each violated tract will be negated. Public access limited to foot traffic may be allowed at the discretion of the landowner. An additional $2.50 per acre will be allowed per acre if the landowner accepts this option.
 9. Under either practice option, if the Game and Parks Commission is unable to fulfill its financial obligations under the contract as required by law, the contract shall become null and void and the District shall not be liable for any obligations of the Game and Parks Commission.

Three economists will spend a day at Wayne State College March 3 for a National Dividend Plan Seminar co-sponsored by the WSC social science division and the National Dividend Foundation.

tion speak on economic matters throughout the country in an attempt to build public support.

According to Clifton Ginn, acting head of the WSC social sciences division, the NDP seminar topic is "a proposal to take the national government's revenue that comes from corporate taxes, and redistribute this directly to registered voters."

The proposal would eliminate a governmental decision concerning expenditure of the revenue, Ginn explained.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., the day-long seminar will include a commentary by Allen, presentation of NDP by Gainsbrugh, and speech by Dr. Buxton. A film on economy, "The Incredible Bread Machine," will also be shown in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Location of all activities

CHECK THAT SLOW COOKER

Consumers should check their slow cookers to make sure they reach safe cooking temperatures.

Because a crock-pot is a low temperature appliance, it may hold food for long periods of time favorable to bacterial growth. The Food and Drug Administration recommends food be heated to 165 degrees F. within four hours and that all food reach this temperature before serving.

Consumers can test the safety of their slow cookers by filling it with water and heating on a low setting for eight hours. At the end of that time, check the temperature with a candy or deep fat thermometer. The temperature of the water should be above 140 degrees F. at the end of four hours and between 180 degrees to 200 degrees F. after eight hours.

If your crock-pot doesn't reach these temperatures, it should be returned for repair or replacement.

The chances for bacteria growth can also be reduced by browning or boiling the food before cooking on slow heat; or by cooking on high for one hour.

However, it doesn't matter

WSC President Explains Credit Transfer Policy

The new credit transfer policy at Wayne State College was the topic of a student colloquium at Northeast Technical Community College (NTCC) Wednesday.

Dr. Lyle Seymour, Wayne State College president, spoke to the group of NTCC students, telling them, "The objective of the institution is not to deter people's paths, but to set up realistic ways in which they can accomplish the goals that are set up for an institution. We at the institutional level are trying to set up realistic ways to accomplishing what is in your best interest. If we ever lose that objective, then we are not viable institutions. We have to have that as the first objective."

Seymour explained that WSC set up a policy a few years ago which maximized transfer. However, the WSC president said, it turned out that certain objectives set in the four-year institution were not always being met by people who transferred from NTCC and other two-year schools. In an attempt to coordinate these efforts, WSC altered the portion of the transfer policy stating that the Associate of Arts Degree would automatically meet all general education requirements. Seymour told NTCC students, "We have people that have gone two or three years (at WSC) who have not met all general education requirements. We now reserve the right to review the sequence of courses that anyone has had, our students or anyone who is transferring to us." He further emphasized, "We have always, and will continue to accept all work that is done at two-year schools, and students will transfer in with junior standing."

According to Seymour, students will transfer in with all credit hours earned, but whether they're accepted in specific programs will depend on the program selection and how well it coordinates with the sequence of courses designed by WSC faculty and student committees.

In the question-and-answer session following, Seymour explained to NTCC students, "If you've started a program, now, and do not alter it, you will continue under the rule we adopted the past; that is, you will have junior standing and all general education requirements completed. The change will be in our 1978-79 catalog, so those students who start at (NTCC) in the fall of 1977 will be under the new rule because they would not be transferring to Wayne until two years after the policy change becomes effective."

Seymour explained that Wayne State College is also in the process of preparing a transfer articulation manual, by major, which will be available to NTCC students and staff. The manual will allow them to determine what sequence of courses will best interface with the majors at WSC, the manual will be specifically designed for NTCC, and will be available by April 1, 1977.
