

The Wayne High School band and several other Class A, B, C and D bands will compete Saturday in the Wayne State College Jazz Festival Competition.

The high school bands will vie for first and second place trophies in each class categories for excellence in solo performance, and Parkinson Outstanding Musician Awards in woodwind, brass and rhythm categories.

Beginning at 10 a.m. Class C and D schools will compete, starting with Stanton under the direction of Bernard Gordon. Sioux Center will lead off Class B competition at 1 p.m., while Class A and AA competition will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Ramsey Theatre is the center of activity for the Jazz Festival. The Wayne State College Jazz-Rock Ensemble will stage a performance in Ramsey Theatre at 3:30 Saturday, open to the public. Trophies and awards will then be presented at 3:45 in the same location.

Judging the high school bands this year are Marty Crandall of South Lake, Ia., and Don Schumacher of Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk. Dr. Ray Kelton, head of Wayne State bands, is festival director.

The following is the complete performance schedule for competition: Class C-D (schools less than 200) 10 a.m.; Stanton (for criticism only) Bernard Gordon; 10:20 a.m. Newman Grove, Douglas DeNis; 10:40 a.m. Verdigre, George Vondracek; 11 a.m. Coleridge, Jim DeFrain; 11:20 a.m. Elkhorn Valley, Darrel Nelson; 11:40 a.m. Anthony-Olo, John Weiffin.

Volunteer Help Needed For Easter Seal Drive

The Nebraska Easter Seal Society has initiated one of its first steps in the annual Easter Seal Fund Campaign, March 1, April 10, contacting Nebraskans by phone to see if they will volunteer in the Society's fund raising drive.

According to Luella Daniels, local county representative, residents of Wayne County will be contacted and asked to help by

City Will Test Civil Defense Warning Sirens

Wayne will participate in a statewide test of the civil defense warning system on March 15, according to Wayne County civil defense director Pat Hailey.

The city council Tuesday approved testing of the city's sirens.

In addition to the state wide test in March, sirens will be tested on the last Friday of each month, beginning Friday, Feb. 25.

A message from civil defense National Warning Center at NORAD headquarters in Cheyenne Mountain near Colorado Springs, Colo., will initiate the exercise over the National Warning System.

The system is made up of telephone "hot-lines" to states and local warning points. Wayne's civil defense sirens will sound at 1 p.m. on March 15. The first siren will be a steady tone signaling an impending natural disaster such as a tornado or flood. After a one-minute delay the attack signal, a three- to five-minute warring tone, will sound.

After the real emergency, this signal means go to the nearest public fallout shelter or to a protected place at home or work. Hailey said, the public is not expected to take any action during the test. The exercise is designed to familiarize the public with the siren signals, and to ensure that the sirens are working properly.

State Retail Sales Increase

Economic growth in Nebraska during the third quarter of 1976 was well ahead of growth during the same period in 1975, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research. Net taxable retail sales in Nebraska during the period totaled $1.641 billion, an 11 per cent gain over sales recorded for the comparable 1975 quarter. The 11 percentage points of increase exceeded the combined increase in the level of retail commodity prices—3.8 per cent—and population—less than one-half of one per cent. Therefore, the real, or physical, volume of aggregate and per capita sales exceeded that of the same quarter of 1975 by more than six percentage points. In Wayne County, the 1975 to 1976 increase of 15.9 per cent was greater than the state average and exceeded the average of 12 per cent for four counties in State planning for the same 1975 period. The percentage of increase for other counties in the region were: Antelope, 24.2;

HUD Again Rejects City Grant Request

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has again rejected a request by the City of Wayne for a grant under the Community Development Act to help finance a proposed project to cover an open storm sewer in the Roosevelt Park requests have been rejected twice before. City administrator Fred Brink said preliminary applications are graded on a point scale. A total of 55 points was needed before HUD asked for a detailed grant application.

Brink said Wayne's preliminary request received 52 points, but was awarded no points under a category for health and safety benefits. "We've sent them color photographs of the ditch running full of water, honestly think this is one of the most important projects for the city because of the hazard the storm sewer represents," Brink said, adding that he intends to contact HUD officials for an explanation of how they determine priorities for approving grant applications.

He was given permission to test the feasibility of city employees undertaking the project with available equipment. Brink was also given approval to meet with the Wayne County board of commissioners to see if action can be initiated for a paving project on Grainland Road between Blaine and Maple Streets. The city and county both included the project in their one- and six-year street improvement plans, proposed that each pay one-third of the project cost with owners of adjacent property paying the remaining one-third through a special benefit assessment.

Preparations Underway for Cancer Drive

Cancer Month doesn't begin until April 1 but volunteers are already making preparations for the Local Cancer Crusade fund raising drive. About 20 volunteers from six counties met Tuesday at Les' Steak House in Wayne to begin preparing for the drive. Pat Gustafson, a registered nurse with the American Cancer Society service and rehabilitation department, was guest speaker.

Hanging Death Ruled Suicide

The Wayne County sheriff's department was called early Wednesday morning to investigate the hanging death of Melvin J. Wert, 72, of Wayne. Mrs. Wert discovered her husband's body hanging by the neck in the basement of their home at 616 Douglas St. in Wayne. The report was received at 4:10 a.m. Wayne County attorney Budd Bornhoff said the death has been ruled a suicide.

The administrator obtained approval to have engineers determine costs for an armor coating project on South Douglas St. Properly owners affected by the proposed project objected to it during a hearing for the one- and six-year plan because of possible expense. Brink said he wanted to determine what costs would actually be and councilman John Vacko made a motion that engineers prepare cost estimates and a special assessment schedule so property owners would know what their share of expenses would be if the council should decide to go ahead with the project.

Legislative Report, Film Included on NRD Agenda

Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District director Val Peterson of Wayne will report on 18 legislative bills now before the Unicameral during a meeting today (Thursday) in Wayne. Peterson will join other LENRD directors for the meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Nebraska State College of Natural Science student union.

Lee Rupp, fishery biologist with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission Norfolk office, will narrate a slide presentation on stream flow in Northeast Nebraska. Wayne County agricultural extension agent Don Spitz will talk about the county's needs regarding natural resources planning for the county. Other reports will cover the district's participation as a friend of the court in ground water rights case involving a Madison County irrigator.

KWSC Tours Offered Today

Radio and television broadcasting facilities at Wayne State College will be on display today (Thursday) during an open house offered by KWSC-FM radio station and Cable Channel 10 TV.

Tours of the broadcasting department will be available from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and will feature new color television equipment and new radio studio equipment. The open house is sponsored by Leta Beta Sigma honorary broadcast fraternity. The equipment is located in the basement of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Deadline Is Closing Fast

With little time remaining before the deadline, between 150 and 200 Wayne County residents had not yet had personal property assessed for taxing purposes, county assessor Doris Stipp said Tuesday. Motor vehicles with a "2" sticker on the license plate should also be registered by the end of the month, Monday.

County treasurer Leon Meyer said vehicle owners should bring their tax statement and registration form along when registering vehicles. Tax statements for owners who will register in March will be mailed Monday, Mrs. Stipp said. Vehicles with license plates bearing the number "3" must register during March.

PMC to Honor Laurel Dier

Dr. Nguyen Huu Tien and his family will be the guests of honor Saturday during Laurel Day at Providence Medical Center (PMC) in Wayne.

PMSC to Honor Laurel Dier

Dr. Tien and his wife and four children arrived in Laurel nearly two years ago. The physician has announced plans to begin his medical practice in Laurel, July 1. He recently was one of several native Vietnamese doctors to complete licensing requirements to practice medicine in Nebraska.

Zoning Project Continues

Study of model zoning regulations will occupy most of the Wayne County joint planning commission's time Tuesday night during its regular monthly meeting, according to county clerk Norris Weible, who serves as secretary for the commission.

The commission will formulate zoning regulations which it will recommend to the county board of commissioners and the town boards of the three communities involved in the planning. Those governing bodies will then decide whether or not to reject or adopt the proposed zoning regulations. The City of Wayne previously completed its own comprehensive plan and zoning ordinance and had not directly involved with the county planning efforts, but does have a liaison member on the county planning commission.

Wisner Woman's Club Hosting District Festival

The annual District III Woman's Club's Fine Arts Festival will be hosted this year by the Wisner Woman's Club and the Wisner Junior Woman's Club on Saturday, March 5 at the Wisner High School.

Son Has Lead Is USD Play

Douglas Temme of Wayne has been cast as Patrick in the University of South Dakota-Springfield's annual spring musical production, "Mame," set for April 27-30.

"Mame" has had several incarnations, the first of which was Patrick Dennis's famous novel "Auntie Mame." The story went on to critical and popular acclaim as a movie by the same name. A non-musical dramatic version, again titled "Auntie Mame," was a huge success on the Broadway stage. The musical "Mame" came about after Jerry Herman added music and lyrics.

Mame Dennis in all the productions is an exuberant female of wild, exploratory spirit. Perfectly matched to the Roaring '20's and Depression '30's in which she lives; her philosophy is that "life is a banquet."

Temme, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Temme, rural Wayne, will sit with the university's symphonic band and concert choir tour of seven South Dakota high schools, the State Capitol and the USD-S Armory.

Just Us Gals Club Celebrates 15th Anniversary Friday

Members of the Just Us Gals Club and their families celebrated the club's 15th anniversary Friday evening in the Wayne Woman's Club room.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Temme, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Florine and Onar Baier.

Ten point pitch was played with prizes going to Mrs. Clara Spahr and Floyd Echtenkamp, high, and Mrs. Doug Spahr and Allen Shufelt, low.

The anniversary cake was baked by Mrs. Floyd Hupp and Mrs. Clara Spahr.

When the hits resonated the ancient Egyptians would toss into it written instructions about returning.

The 1977 theme is "Light of Our Soul." Art and crafts will be displayed in the gym and all entries must be in place by 9 a.m. to be judged, according to Mrs. Marcella Sullivan, district publicity chairman.

The sewing contest will be held in the home ec room. Entries for the sewing competition must be in by 9 a.m. A style show, with the contestants modeling their garments, will be held at 2 p.m.

Creative expressive contest, a five-minute extemporaneous talk on "Arise! Activate Dreams," will be held in a classroom near the main entrance. Essays and poetry contests will also be held during the day.

Mrs. Sullivan said club scrapbooks must be on display in the gym by 9 a.m. to be eligible for judging. Music competition will include vocalists and instrumentalists.

For early arrivals, the Wisner Junior Woman's Club will serve coffee and rolls. A noon lunch will be served in the cafeteria and reservations should be made with Mrs. Pat McGill of Wisner.

A special craft program is scheduled during the morning.

Women Get Shopping Tips

LAST WEEK'S SESSIONS on shopping practices, conducted at Winside by Anna Marie Kreitels for area home extension club leaders, attracted considerable interest. Representatives from the clubs received information about spending practices that they in turn will present to their club members. Similar meetings were conducted at Dakota City, Wall Hill, Concord and Coleridge. Miss Kreitels offered tips on shopping and told the women that spending more than necessary and spending for unnecessary items can be avoided if consumers become more aware of how to shop wisely.

The training session, entitled "Shopping Practices - Sinful or Sainly," introduced five comparisons shoppers can use to make consumer choices: prices and brands, prices and contents, prices and forms, prices and convenience, and prices and sources. The lessons also stressed the need for shoppers to determine if their buying habits are productive or wasteful, satisfying or unsatisfying?

Phi Mu Field Secretary To Visit WSC Campus

Mary Michael Voelkel, Phi Mu national collegiate sorority field secretary, will visit the Wayne State College Phi Mu chapter Feb. 27 through March 6.

During her stay in Wayne, Miss Voelkel will join the local chapter in marking Phi Mu's 125th anniversary, being celebrated nationally on March 4.

MARY VOELKEL

Founded on March 4, 1852 at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., the first college in the world chartered to grant degrees to women, Phi Mu is one of the oldest women's fraternities in the country.

Phi Mu ranks in the top five National Panhellenic Conference sororities in number of college chapters, adding approximately 2,400 new members annually for a total initiated membership of about 66,000.

Nationally, Phi Mu is known for its support of Project HOPE. Contributions to this project, since Phi Mu adopted HOPE as its social service project in 1963, are approaching the quarter million dollar mark.

Miss Voelkel is a 1975 graduate of Louisiana State University, where she was rush chairman and operations officer of Angel Flight, dqgm president, and vice president of Kappa Delta Epsilon, and president of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Miss Voelkel was on the Dean's List at LSU and is listed in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." Her other honors include Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Delta Pi, and Mu Sigma Rho.

30th Year Observed

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jenkins of Carroll honored their parents' 30th wedding anniversary Saturday evening by hosting a surprise reception for them.

Forty friends and relatives attended the social evening in the Jenkins home.

Lucille Richards and Melvin Jenkins, both of Carroll, were married Feb. 19, 1947, at the home of her parents. Their attendants were Don Davis of Carroll and Wilva Jenkins of Winslow.

The couple resided in Wayne for one year. Since that time they have farmed in the Carroll area. They have four sons, Garry of Schaller, Ia., Doug of Curtis, Ia. and Greg and Todd, both at home. There are two grandchildren, Scott and Valerie Jenkins, both of Schaller.

Daughter-in-law Mrs. Garry Jenkins of Schaller baked and decorated the anniversary cake for the Saturday event. Mrs. Jenkins cut and served the cake and Mrs. Ernest Eckmann of Hoskins poured.

Grace Church Joining in Service

Grace Lutheran Church of Wayne will join Lutheran Church Missouri Synod congregations throughout the United States and Canada in celebrating Lutheran Hour on Sunday, Feb. 27.

The Rev. John Upton, pastor of the local church, said the congregation will observe the day with special prayer and thanksgiving for this worldwide radio gospel ministry.

More than 1,100 stations, including Wayne Radio KTCH, carry the program in the United States and Canada.

The Lutheran Hour is sponsored by the International Lutheran Laymen's League, headquartered in St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Oswald Hoffmann has been the speaker on the worldwide and domestic English language program since 1955. In addition to the English language program, more than 50 stations in the U.S. and Canada also carry programs in several other languages, including Spanish, Finnish, Slovak, French, Japanese and Chinese.

5 Attend Club

Five members of the Sunny Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Alvin Reeg Saturday evening. The meeting opened with members singing "America."

Mrs. Gilbert Dangberg received the prize at pitch.

March 10, the group will meet with Mrs. Fred Heier at 2 p.m.

NAIA Tabs Robinson Among Best

Wayne State's Wayne Robinson has been named to the NAIA District 11 all-district basketball team.

Robinson, a 6-2 senior from Denver, was the only Wildcat to make the 10-member dream team which was selected by coaches from the 10-team collegiate district.

Repeat selections on this year's team are three-time member Loren Killion of Kearney State and twice honored Paul Bergman and Kert McKeone, both of Hastings. Killion and Bergman were unanimous choices for the all-district team.

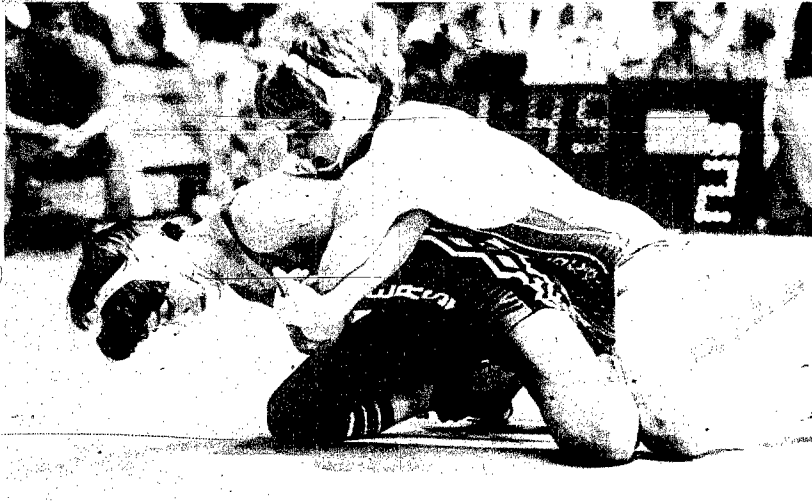

Playing from his guard position, Robinson has averaged 20 points per game, hitting most of his shots from 15-feet or better.

Also on the dream team are Mark Ahlquist, Midland; Steve Coon, Chadron; Frank Hogan, Doane; Tim Mohanna, Kearney; Dag Srouse, Peru; and Earl Westbrook, Concordia.

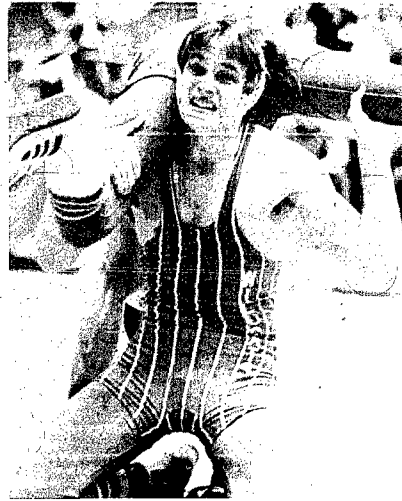

In addition to the top ten players selected, six others also received votes from the coaches, Greg Smith and Tim Williams.

both of Bellevue College, were nominated but couldn't be named to the team because Bellevue is an associate member of the NAIA. Also receiving votes were Randy Wenz and Tony Strong, both of Doane; Doug Sweeney, Hastings; and Tom Ritzdorf, Kearney.

AT ONE point in the finals of the 145-pound match, Winside's Brad Langenberg (top) had Rolife Trampe of Amherst face down on the mat, then he flipped his opponent over his shoulders in an attempt to get Trampe into a pinning position. Neither effort worked out

Bears Edging Closer to C Playoff Tilt

Only two teams stand in the way of Laurel making a return trip to the Class C regional playoffs in high school basketball.

Tonight (Thursday) the 16-5 Bears will tangle with Crofton in semifinal action of the Class C-6 District tournament at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. A win here would put the Bears in the finals Friday night against the winner of the Hartington-Randolph match.

During regular season play, Laurel has posted wins over Crofton and Hartington, but has had its share of problems with Randolph. The Bears beat the Cardinals by 20 during the conference tournament, but have dropped a pair of games to the Cards during the season.

What will the Bears need to win tonight and Friday? Good scoring and the same kind of defense they used to blast Wakefield in the second night of district play Tuesday.

Laurel broke away from a 30-22 halftime lead with a 16-point, third-quarter scoring burst. That offensive output wasn't the greatest the Bears have shown in one quarter, but their defensive play was.

Laurel held the Trojans scoreless in the third frame for a comfortable 47-22 margin going into the last frame.

It wasn't until 13 seconds into the final frame that Wakefield got into scoring action when the Trojans high pointmaker, Val Johnson hit from inside.

The first half was a tight game. The Bears held a two-point edge, 14-12, after the first quarter and went up eight points at the half.

Laurel used its same run-and-gun tactics to hand the Trojans their 13th loss in 17 games. Bob Dahlquist led the trio of players who scored in double figures with 13 points while Cleve Stolpe had 11 and Gordie Kardell 10. For Wakefield, Johnson had 20 points.

Revised Record Creates Tie for First in A Loop

A revised record for one team in men's A league recreation basketball resulted in a two way tie for first place in the seven-team loop.

Team 3 now holds a 6-3 mark, the same as Team 4. Helping to make that tie possible was a 67-63 win by Team 5 over Team 4 during league play Monday night.

Mark Fieer ripped the cords for a record-setting 33 points as the victors chalked up their fourth win in nine outings. The winners blew the game open with a 22-point output in the second quarter to forge a 32-24 halftime command. Team 5 finished up the game with another 22-point performance, this time nailing 14 points from the charity stripe. Mike Hansen led that barrage, making all seven attempts.

Teams 2 and 6 are tied for third place with 4-5 marks. Team 2 moves into a tie after defeating Team 7, 75-73. Rick Mitchell and Tyler Frevert combined for 41 points to guide the winners. Mitchell had 23 and Frevert collected 18.

Team 6 dropped a two-point ball game to Team 3, 76-74, despite a 29 point spree by Breck Giese and 22 by Earle Overin.

Team 1 is in fifth place with a 4-4 record followed by Team 5 at 2-5 and Team 7, 2-6.

Wednesday night's schedule: 6 p.m. Teams 5 vs 3; 7, 6 vs. 2, and 9, 7 vs. 1.

Also scoring:
Team 5 — Roger Langenberg 10, Mike Hansen 9, Doug Sturm 8, Shane Giese 7; Team 4 — Mike Meyer 20, Mike Lidie 17, Marty Hansen 12, Gary Munter 10, Les Echtenkamp 4.
Team 3 — Rob Mitchell 20, Mike Creighton 19, Tim Robinson 15, Maurice Boeckenhaur 7, Bob Nelson 6, Dave Anderson 5, Mark Schram 4; Team 6 — Todd Surber 14, Tim Johnson 5. See REVISED, page 8

145-Pound Senior Crowned D Champ Langenberg Wins State Title

Winside High's Brad Langenberg continued his team's long standing history of producing a state champion by winning the 145 pound weight class in the finals of the Class D state tournament Saturday in Lincoln.

The senior matman who carried a 25-6 record into the finals against junior Rolife Trampe of Amherst, 23-9, sealed the championship medal with 32 seconds remaining in the third period by scoring one point for an escape to break a 2-2 deadlock and win the match, 3-2.

The win capped a long season for the Cat Grappler who had to be a state favorite in the eyes of his coach Ron Peck after performing so well against Class B and C matmen during the season.

Langenberg has faced the No. 2 powers in both classes, Bob McQuire of Class B's Wisner Pilger and John Schulte of Norfolk Catholic. Although he came out on the short end, both times Langenberg has wrestled well, the coach added.

The win helped to shore up Winside's third place finish in the 39 team Class D standings. The Cats collected 91 points to trail title winner Amherst with 116 1/2 points and second place

Elm Creek with 105.

Boistering Winside's showing were five Wildcats who placed among the top six in their weight divisions. Winning third was 185-pound senior Bryan Svoboda who decided Jay Sharpe of Harrison, 4-1. Fourth place went to 155-pound Neil Wagner who lost to Steve Phillips of Cambridge, 2-0.

A pair of Winside men taking fifth were 112 pound Tom Anderson and 126 pound Kevin Cleveland. Anderson won 4-3 over Gary Breinig of Oxford and Cleveland beat Tom Gross of Cambridge, 7-5.

Ninety-eight pound Rick Bowers lost his bid for fifth when he was pinned by Andy Winholz of Axtell in 4-0.

Rec Board Agrees To Change Dates

The city recreation board Monday night agreed to change the date for the billing of out-of-town families who participate in city recreation-sponsored activities.

Effective this year, families will be billed $10 from Aug. 1, 1977 to July 31, 1978. In the past, the billing dates have been Jan. 1 to Dec. 31.

The $10 fee covers adults playing volleyball and basketball, and for their youngsters participating in all youth activities, except swimming.

In other action, members discussed purchasing 15 new football helmets for the youth football program. They also talked about sponsoring a wrestling program for fifth and sixth grade boys.

Wayne Grappler Lands 5th Place In State Meet

Wayne High's 119 pound entry in the state tournament, Kirk Echtenkamp, captured fifth place in the Class B matches Saturday.

The salty junior handed Charles Arevalo of Boys Town a 7-0 thrashing to claim fifth.

Echtenkamp lost his bid for the championship finals Friday night to Andy Girard, 6-5, forcing the Wayne grappler to battle it out for third place Saturday morning. The road to victory wasn't any easier Saturday as Echtenkamp lost that round.

"A gentleman is one who never hurts anyone's feelings unintentionally..."
Oliver Herford

Only rarely does anyone deliberately set out to hurt another person's feelings. People who do so are soon left with no one who will associate with them and are thus deprived of vicarious and hurt feelings that occur so often are the result of unthinking remarks, which are just as capable of hurting as those which are planned.

Gentle people, men and women, give some thought to what they say before they say it. When their comment might hurt feelings, they leave it unsaid.

When tragedy strikes, your first call should be to us. We can advise you and relieve you of many of the details which must be handled promptly.

Report Shows: Game Violations Are on Upswing In Nebraska

Nebraska conservation officers were busy last year, according to Carl Gellmann, chief of law enforcement for the Game and Parks commission. A total of 3,314 arrests were made for 3,477 separate hunting, fishing, boating, trapping and miscellaneous offenses, up from last year's total of 3,220.

Leading the list were 1,363 hunting violations. Close to 400 were for hunting with the aid of artificial light attached to a vehicle, and having a loaded shotgun in the vehicle was the next highest with 348 violations.

A total of 1,111 fishing violations and 887 were for fishing without a permit. Possession of under-sized game fish was the next most common offense, with 79 violations.

In 403 boating offenses, 259 were for not having enough life jackets.

Miscellaneous offenses totaled 573 arrests, of which 196 were for driving or parking in a restricted area, and 115 were for littering.

A breakdown of arrests by age shows that over 50 percent of the violators were from 16 to 23 years old. Generally speaking, the number of violations decrease as age increased.

Violators paid out a total of $123,457 in fines, court costs and liquidated damages. Of this amount, only the liquidating damages totaling $15,325 were returned to the game fund.

According to Gellmann, over 97 percent of arrests resulted in convictions, a factor he attributes to "the high efficiency of the officers, and the excellent cooperation of Nebraska's prosecutors and courts."

League Winner Wildkittens Aim for State College Title

After claiming the CSIC conference crown this weekend, the Wayne State basketball Wildkittens are on the prowl for another title now, this time over nine Nebraska schools in state competition.

The women's basketball team, seeded second after host team Midland, is scheduled to play 8:30 p.m. Thursday against the Doane-Peru winner.

A win for the Wildkittens will mean action against the Creighton-Kearney winner at 4 p.m. Friday. A loss and the Wildkittens play at 10 a.m. Friday. Finals are scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday in Fremont.

Should Wayne meet number one seeded Midland, experience at least will back the Wildkittens. At home Wayne defeated the Midland gals 72-56 in December. But a January contest on Midland's stomping grounds showed Midland the victor, 93-67.

Seeded third in the tournament is Kearney, followed by fourth-positioned College of St. Mary. Other teams entered are Wesleyan, Chadron and Concordia.

Three days on the road did not seem to hamper the playing ability of the Wildkittens last weekend as they picked up three conference wins and first place conference title.

Friday the Wildkittens blasted Washburn 74-48 in a game where everybody played and everybody scored, in Emporia Saturday, the Wildkittens dominated again, finishing 73-59.

Two Wildkittens hit their all-time highs in scoring Sunday for the final conference win over Missouri Western. Pat McKay of Knoxville, Ia., dunked 32 points, and Julie Brinkman of Rolfe, Ia., tied the scoring boards for her 20-point high. Early foul trouble allowed leading conference scorer Connie Kunzmann only seven points in the final game.

But the post from Everly, Ia., displayed her usual two-figure scoring Friday leading with 18 points and Saturday contributing 14.

McKay followed with 16 points Friday and 12 Saturday. Brinkman led scoring over Emporia Saturday with 15. Peg Langei, a freshman from Remsen, Ia., also hit double figures with 10 points.

Two Wayne starters, Lori Langei and Lori Mittelstadt, were out of weekend play because of injuries.

The wins upped the Wildkitten's season record to a final 21-5. The final conference record for the women figured up to 13-1, their only loss to Fort Hays State 88-69 Jan. 21.

Youngsters Win 2

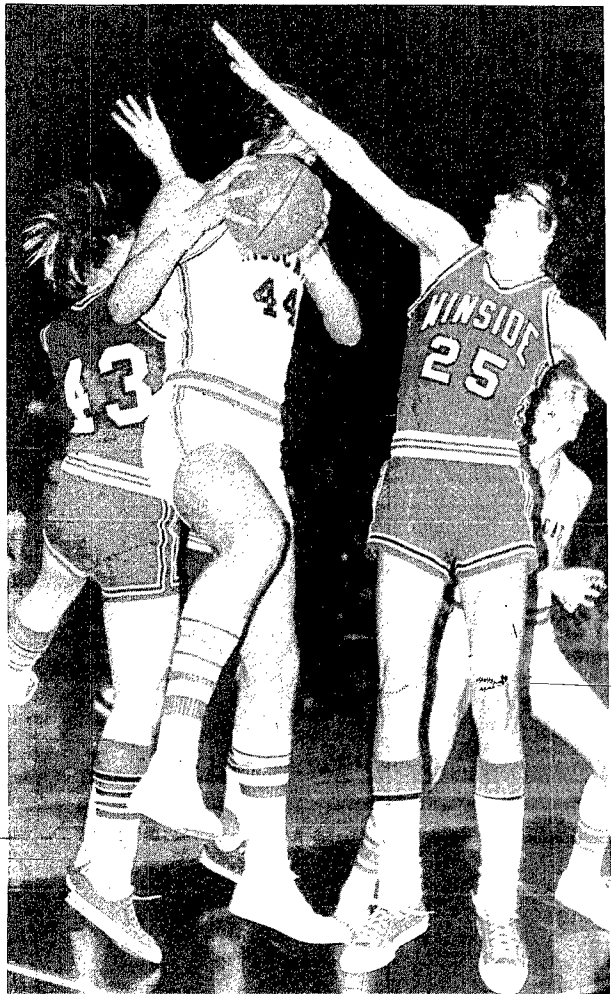

Wayne held Walthill scoreless in the third period Saturday before the fourth and fifth grade basketball team posted an easy 25-17 win.

Steve Overin led the winners with 16 points, including 12 in the third period to lift the locals out of a 14-13 halftime deficit to a 25-14 cushion.

Also scoring for Wayne were Chris Wieseler with 4, Doug Doeschler and Ted DeTurk with two each and Todd Dorcay with one.

In the sixth grade contest, Wayne nipped Walthill, 18-17.

Todd Schwartz had 10 points to lead Wayne while Jeff McCright had four and Shawn Niemann and Chad Janke had two each.

HARTINGTON'S big 6.8 center, Dan Lucht (44) fends off two Winside players as he pulls down another carom in Class D district action at Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. Surrounding the big guy are Bob Petersen (43) and Chuck Mann (25). For a complete story on the results, turn to page 8.

Robinson's 26 PowersCats Past Peru

Wayne State's basketball scoring ace Wayne Robinson swished 14 points in the first half against Peru Tuesday.

Then came halftime, and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity announced its annual selection of Wayne State's Outstanding Athletes of the Year, male and female, the selections based on nominations by coaches in each sport.

The male winner: Wayne Robinson. The female winner: Connie Kunzmann.

They share several distinctions — both basketball players, both team leaders in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage. One thing they did not share Tuesday night, however. The women cagers were not playing, but the men had another half to go.

And Robinson plunged into the remaining time with gusto — adding another dozen points for a 26 total, so added luster to his Outstanding Athlete honor. No matter that he fouled out in his final home game for the Wildcats with five minutes to play. He got a standing ovation.

The senior from Denver scored 29, 27 and 26 points in the last three games, leading the season to 584 points, average of 20.1. And 12 for 16 field shooting against Peru raised his percentage to .511. His scoring pace puts him near the top of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference.

Miss Kunzmann is at the top of CSIC women's scoring with her 538 total and 20.7 average. Her rebounding, 365 for a 14 average, also leads the league, as does her field goal accuracy of 56 per cent.

The Wildcats, who lost by 101-90 at Peru last month, found the Bobcats formidable through the first half. In fact, Robinson's over-average scoring made the difference in the 43-37 half score.

Thereafter, the Wildcats gained steadily, but it was well after mid-half, Wayne leading by 15 or so, that coach Jim Seward began dipping deep into his bench. Then he ran all his troops into the fray, and it was 5-5 senior Reggie Baderes — always a crowd favorite — who sank the final basket putting Wayne over the century mark, 101-76. For that he got a lusty roar from fans.

A dozen Wildcats scored. Mark Olsen hit 18, Lennie Adams 15, Dale Meyer and Gary Rauch 9 each, Baderes, Joe Peitzmeier, Gary Billings and Ed Goggan all 4. Bob Kelly and See ROBINSON, page 8

Gals Rally for 24-23 Lead But . . .

Second-Half Blair Press Cripples Wayne

Blair erupted for 33 of its 56 points in the second half Monday night, then combined that scoring feat with a wicked man-to-man full court press to squelch Wayne gals, 56-39, in the opening round of the Class B district tournament at Wisner Pilger.

Led by 5-8 junior Laurel Stricklett with 15 points in the third quarter, the Bears broke away from a three-point deficit early in the third period to grab a 42-30 cushion going into the final stanza.

Blair let up on the press midway through the fourth period, but didn't give up harassing the Blue Devils when they were in scoring distance.

The closest the locals came in the fourth was nine points on the second of two free throws by the Devils' leading pointmaker, senior Julie Overin.

Overin, who finished the game with 13 points, got the Devils off to a good start in the first half. She connected on two baskets as Wayne trailed 15-10 after the opening period, then helped to rally Wayne in the second half with six points for a 24-23 Wayne lead.

Junior Sydney Moxley, who was right behind Overin with 10 points, scored six in the first half but had trouble finding the basket in the last two periods.

"We just ran into a buzz saw," admitted Wayne mentor Curt Frye. "Blair's a good basketball team, but we didn't handle the ball as well as we should have."

Frye said turnovers caused by Blair's press in the second half resulted in the loss. "If (the press) shouldn't have bothered us. We've seen it before. Blair was using a trap press in the corner and we should have gone up the middle."

The loss ends Wayne's season

Energy Vital To Farm Technology

Something's got to give in the present energy condition, and it may be technology if some changes aren't made, according to Dr. William Splinter, chairman of agricultural engineering at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

To retain the present level of technology which enables each farmer to feed 50 others, efficiently in farming and forest management systems must be improved and fuel sources other than petroleum and natural gas must be found, Splinter said in a presentation to the American Association of Agricultural Science in Denver.

Splinter said the key to the American food machine is utilization of fossil fuels through mechanical systems to magnify productivity. With finite energy resources and increasing pollution, "great stress will be placed on the American food machine," he said.

The total energy expenditure for food and fiber in the United States is 22 per cent, Splinter said. He recommended that governmental action should protect this percentage from "diversion to other, less essential purposes."

"Those who would propose that we return to a man-animal based agriculture ignore the fact that man of animal used for physical work is an inefficient machine," he said. "The work a man can do in a 10-hour day can be obtained from the drawbar of a tractor for 2.8 cents worth of diesel fuel at 40 cents per gallon," Splinter said.

He recommended soil planting as opposed to conventional plow-disk planting, cutting the energy required to pump water for irrigation and using a combination of natural air and heated air for grain drying.

Second-step recommendations include substitution of coal and coal products for gasoline or diesel fuel and development of wind and solar energy.

"The long term choice is simple, either develop alternative energy sources for agriculture and forestry in the United States and throughout the world or we will be forced to revert to a much simpler social system and economy, with many potentially hazardous consequences," he said.

Land Use Issues Are Focus of NRD Workshop

A workshop arranged in cooperation with the Community Resource and Research Center of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln will be held Tuesday from 1 to 3:15 p.m. at the West Point city auditorium.

Sponsored by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, the Cumings County Extension Service, and the Northeast Nebraska Extension Service, the workshop will deal with "Land Use Planning for Local Control: Overview: What are the Primary Issues?"

The workshop is open to the general public. Among the questions to be addressed at the workshop will be: What is land use planning? Who makes the decisions concerning land use issues? How do laws that regulate water affect you?

The workshop is one of many held throughout the state during the past three years as a part of Nebraska's effort to encourage research and education in rural development. These workshops are supported by Title V of the Rural Development Act of 1972. Title V is administered by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Finding the Problems

A professor of animal science from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Dr. Duane Zimmerman, conducted a pork clinic Tuesday afternoon at the Northeast Station. About 75 area pork raisers attended the meeting which focused on improving litter size and reducing foot and leg problems.

1.5 Million Cattle on Feed
Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,500,000 cattle on feed on Feb. 1, up 17 per cent from last year and 42 per cent from 1975, according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. However, the current inventory is seven per cent below the record level set in 1975.

Total Down in Seven States
Cattle and calves on feed Feb. 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 7,867,000 head, down six per cent from a year ago but 30 per cent more than Feb. 1, 1975. The number on feed Feb. 1 was lower than a year ago in five of the seven states. January placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states totaled 1,369,000, slightly less than January last year but 19 per cent greater than January 1975. Placements were above last year in three of the seven states.

Feed Cattle Marketed During January
Totalled 1,002,000, up 10 per cent from 1976 and 17 per cent larger than January 1975. Marketings were equal to or exceeded January of last year in six of the seven states.

Other Disappearance
Totalled 107,000, compared with 90,000 in January a year ago.

The nutritional requirements of cattle increase during lactation. Energy needs increase 50 per cent after calving while calcium, phosphorus and vitamin A requirements double.

The cow's ration should gradually be increased during the three or four weeks before calving to achieve a higher level of nutrition by the time the calf is born. The amount of total protein should be increased slowly so that at calving time the cow receives about two pounds per day from both feed and protein supplement.

Cows fed a corn stover and hay ration probably will need additional feed to meet their energy requirements. Cattleman feeding corn stover on a free-choice basis and 5-10 pounds of hay daily per cow should consider either increasing the amount of hay to 10-15 pounds daily or supplementing with three or four pounds of grain per head per day.

Equipment such as calf puller and chains for assisting cows with difficult births should be cleaned and placed in a convenient location. If there had been scour problems in the past, washing and spraying with a cleaning or disinfectant compound and purchasing scour vaccines should be considered.

Disease Problems of Swine
Here are ten steps that can be taken in preventing diarrhea in baby pigs that have just been weaned.

—Have veterinarian check pigs for hemoglobin level. It should be nine grams per 100 ml of blood if it is low, give 100 mg or iron one week before weaning. Feed clean sod to pigs before and after weaning.

Cattle Prices: Like Father, Like Son?

This year's cattle prices may be a case of like father, like son. Feeder cattle prices should begin increasing "in the near future," if fed cattle prices improve as expected, and could be higher than fed cattle prices for most of 1977, according to Dr. Allen Wellman, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension agricultural economist.

He said if favorable feeding margins and prospects for adequate feed and forage supplies materialize by mid-1977, feeder steer prices could reach $50 a hundredweight. Calf prices probably will continue to be stronger than yearling figures because of smaller supplies, and may reach a third quarter price of more than $50, he said.

Wellman said fall prices will depend upon feeder cattle supplies, but are likely to average higher than 1976 amounts.

But the agricultural economist said feeder cattle and calf prices "will not rise sufficiently to halt the cattle herd liquidation that is in process."

"Prices improved somewhat in 1976, but all calculations seem to indicate that calf and yearling and heifers remaining outside of feedlots last year.

"Adequate feed and feeder cattle supplies, coupled with some improvement in fed cattle prices, appear sufficient to support some increase in 1977 placements — possibly up five to six per cent in the first half (of the year) and perhaps somewhat more after mid-year," Wellman said.

WAYNE ARMY National Guardsman Mike Fluent (right) performs a communications check on a fellow Guard soldier during training at Camp Roberts, Calif. Fluent and 14 other men from the Wayne armory completed their two weeks of annual training Saturday. The National Guard hopes that providing a training period in the winter will help Guardsmen who have problems attending the normal summer training because of occupational commitments.

Guardsmen Earn Praise

About 750 Nebraska Army National Guardsmen including 15 from the Wayne Guard unit Saturday completed two weeks of annual training at Camp Roberts, California.

Members of the First and Second Battalions of the 134th Infantry arrived at Camp Roberts Feb. 5 and 6. The Guard is experimenting with a winter camp in response to Guardsmen who find it difficult to leave jobs and professions during the summer months.

Camp Roberts is located midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles in the middle of one of California's major agricultural areas. The camp is a California Army National Guard training facility and is the host for units in Washington, Oregon and other states for their Annual Training commitments.

Major General David Grange Jr. last Monday reviewed the Nebraskans during an Army training evaluation program—a test that determines readiness in case of emergency.

General Grange is in charge of the readiness training for 10 states including Nebraska. The University of Nebraska at Omaha alumnus is stationed in Denver Colorado. After viewing the troops from Nebraska he said, "I'd like to take this opportunity to single out the Nebraska Army National Guard as the epitome of what an Army unit should be. This includes the individuals, the units, and the Brigade. The men of Nebraska have a fine tradition to uphold."

Materials Available

For Wildlife Week

The week of March 20-26 will be National Wildlife Week, and information kits are now available for elementary school instructors and youth leaders, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The kits, provided by the Nebraska affiliate of the National Wildlife Federation, are available free of charge from the Commission's Lincoln office. This is the 40th consecutive year that the Wildlife Federation has sponsored Wildlife Week and this year's theme is "We All Need Clean Water."

Instructors and youth group leaders wanting materials for use should request a Wildlife Week Teacher's Kit by writing the Game and Parks Commission, Box 30370, Lincoln, Ne. 68503.

Centre Generates Sizable Amount Of Fed Dollars

Few persons know it, but Wayne Care Centre is one of the few businesses in the city which brings federal dollars into Wayne, according to Centre director Tim Boyle.

Speaking to Wayne Kiwanis Club Monday, Boyle pointed out that a large number of patients at the Centre receive federal Medicaid, which helps pay the costs of room and board.

To get an idea of how much money the Centre generates in Wayne, Boyle pointed out that annual salaries total about $210,000 which generates about $1 million in trade.

Boyle, who took over as director about a year ago, noted that the Centre is licensed to take care of 103 patients. The average cost per patient per day runs between $14 to $15, he added.

During a slide presentation about the Centre, Boyle explained that the building, located at 918 Main, is divided into eight sections and each section has its own fire protection system.

In addition to individual rooms, the Centre also has separate laundry and kitchen facilities as well as a recreation area, treatment room and court yard.

To many persons overlook the Centre as a possible place for elderly to stay for a short period while relatives, who normally take care of them, visit others or take a vacation, the director said.

Prior to Boyle's presentation, members of the chapter elected Dan Sherry, lieutenant governor-elect from Division Four of the Nebraska-Iowa District, and Deryl Lawrence, chapter president-elect, to attend the International Kiwanis Convention the last part of June in Dallas.

High School Musicians Attend Honor Festival

Musicians from 30 high schools and three states performed in a grand finale concert Saturday night as the crowning event of the Second Annual High School Honor Band Festival at Wayne State College.

Another featured event was a 1 p.m. performance by the WSC Jazz-Rock Ensemble.

Guest conductor for the festival was Dr. Hugh McMillen, director of Bands at the University of Colorado and head of the wind and percussion division there.

The high school musicians, from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota, spent the day auditioning and rehearsing under McMillen's direction.

WSC president Dr. Lyle Seymour presented the welcome at the finale concert Saturday night. The WSC Brass and Percussion Choir opened the concert followed by a selection by the college Clarinet Choir on the direction of Dr. Jay O'Leary.

Local students participating in the clinic and concert include David McElroy of Laurel.

Favorite Homer Rolls In D Play Over Allen

District favorite Homer rolled to its first win in Class D action at Wakefield Monday night by trouncing Allen, 62-41.

Ranked eighth in the state with a 13-4 record, the Knights broke away from a narrow 28-24 halftime lead to pour it on the Eagles.

Despite the loss, Allen mentor Jim Koontz pointed out that his 4-14 quint ended the season with its best showing in three years.

"I'm well pleased with the progress of the season. We came a long way this year. Only two years ago we didn't win any ball games and last year we were 1-18, but we seldom even close," Koontz said.

Against Homer, Allen shot 45 per cent from the field, making 18 of 39 shots, and stayed close to the Knights on the boards, trailing 31-29 in caroms.

Senior Denny Uhl, the only starter who leaves the squad, led the Eagles from the floor with 16 points. Bart Gloch was second high with 12.

Savory Pork Chops

Apples rise to the top making this a very attractive dish. Surprising, too, when the thick succulent pork chops are revealed underneath.

- 6 Pork Chops, 1-inch thick
- ½ teaspoon Salt
- 3 large Baking Apples, peeled and sliced
- 1 medium Onion, chopped
- Two 10¾-ounce cans Spaghetti Sauce with Mushrooms

Quickly brown chops on both sides in hot skillet. Arrange in single layer (or overlap slightly) in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt. Cover with apples and onion. Pour sauce over all. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 minutes more. Makes 6 servings.

Mrs. Isadore Grossman

Sauerbrout With Spareribs Alsatian

- ½ pound Bacon, cut up
- Four 1-pound cans Sauerkraut
- 2 large Onions, finely chopped
- 10 Whole Black Peppers, crushed or ground
- 8 Whole Cloves
- 2 lengths lean Spareribs, cut into pieces of 3 ribs each
- 1 cup Applesauce
- 2 tablespoons Sugar
- ¼ teaspoon Caraway Seeds
- 2 large Carrots, quartered
- 2½ to 3½ cups Chicken Broth+
- 1 tablespoon Butter
- ¼ cup Lemon Juice

Cook bacon slightly in 6-quart enamel baking pan. Rinse kraut with cold water. Drain. Put half of kraut, half of onions, all of pepper and cloves into baking pan. Lay half of ribs over top. Spoon applesauce over ribs. Sprinkle with sugar and caraway seeds. Add rest of kraut, ribs, onion and all the carrots. Pour broth over all. Dot with butter. Heat until steaming. Add lemon juice. Cover and bake at 250 degrees for 2½ to 3 hours. Cover may be removed during last ½ hour of baking. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

+Amount depends on how much moisture you like. The larger amount makes it very moist. Use homemade or canned broth.

Mrs. Alfred J. Piatt, Jr.

Oven Fried Chicken Breasts

- 1 Egg
- ½ cup Milk
- ½ teaspoon cracked Black Pepper
- 1½ cups Corn Flake Crumbs
- 2 teaspoons Beau Monde Seasoning
- 1 teaspoon Green Onion Flakes
- ½ teaspoon Garlic Powder
- 2 large Chicken Breasts, boned and halved+
- ¼ cup melted Butter

Beat together egg, milk and pepper. Combine crumbs and seasonings. Dip chicken in egg mixture, then in crumbs. Arrange in shallow baking pan. Drizzle with melted butter. Bake at 400 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes, or until brown and tender. Makes 4 servings.

+This can be made with an average size cut-up frying chicken.

Mrs. Raoul Panteleoni

Dressed Up Round Steak

- 2 pounds Round Steak, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons Flour
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- ¼ teaspoon Pepper
- 3 tablespoons Lard or Drippings
- 1½ cup Carrots, grated
- ¾ cup finely chopped Onion
- 1 Beef Bouillon Cube
- ½ cup Hot Water
- 5 cups Dry Bread Cubes
- ¾ teaspoon Sage
- ¾ teaspoon Marjoram Leaves
- ½ teaspoon Salt
- ¼ cup Water

Cut round steak in 5 or 6 serving-size pieces. Combine flour, 1 teaspoon salt and the pepper; dredge meat and brown in lard or drippings. Remove steaks from frying pan and place in 12 x 8-inch roasting pan or baking dish. Add carrots and onion to pan drippings and cook for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water. Add bread cubes to vegetables in pan and sprinkle with sage, marjoram leaves and ½ teaspoon salt. Stir in bouillon until thoroughly combined. Form dressing in 5 or 6 mounds and place one on top of each piece of steak, pressing together. Add ¼ cup water, cover tightly and bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour 30 minutes or until meat is tender. 5 to 6 servings.

Fruited Pork Chops

- 4 Pork Chops, 1-inch thick
- ½ cup Shortening
- 1 cup Flour
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- ¼ teaspoon Pepper
- ¼ teaspoon Paprika
- 1 cup Water
- 1 unpeeled Apple, cored and cut into ¼-inch rings
- ½ cup Raisins
- ½ cup Brown Sugar
- Water

Brown chops on both sides in shortening over medium heat. Remove chops. Rub mixture of flour, salt, pepper and paprika over chops. Return to skillet and brown again on both sides. Pour off drippings. Pour 1 cup water around chops. Top each chop with apple ring. Fill center with raisins. Sprinkle with sugar. Cover and simmer 2 hours. The cooking makes a delicious sauce. Baste every 20 or 30 minutes with the sauce as it forms. Every 30 minutes, add about ¾ cup water. Makes 4 servings.

Legislative bill deals with a wide range of water problems

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — The Legislature's Public Works Committee has received a lot of advice in recent days on how to deal with a wide range of water problems.

The committee introduced several water proposals this year, including LB313 which sets priorities for water use.

Committee chairman Maurice Kremer, Aurora, said the intent of the measure is to generate ideas on what considerations should be taken into account when determining priorities.

The bill suggests the preference list should be retained. That would place water for cattle ahead of irrigation in the priorities.

Cecil Brubaker, attorney for the Metropolitan Utilities District at Omaha, didn't like the idea of putting livestock ahead of municipal water use. "That could cause some problems for cities," he said.

He described the measure as "a step backward" and claimed it would not provide the flexibility needed to handle the variety of Nebraska water situations.

Pat Patiz of Lincoln, a representative of the Nebraska Water Resources Association, told the committee some of the water-related bills introduced this year are in direct opposition.

She said her organization is not interested in "piecemeal" legislation and urged the committee to carefully consider all the bills before deciding on the course of action.

Warren Patefield, chairman of the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, said the many unanswered water questions need an interim study.

Kremer replied he was happy to hear that recommendation but wondered who would conduct the study and how much money should be allocated for it.

He was told the studies should be under the guidance of the Public Works Committee and that they probably would not be exceptionally expensive.

Another bill heard by Kremer's unit proposed merging the Water Resources Department and the Natural Resources Commission.

Sponsor of the measure, Sen. Donald Dvorak of Columbus, was told combining the agencies could lead to difficulties because one is a planning body and the other is administrative.

Dvorak said he was frustrated because many streams are going dry and there doesn't seem to be any solution in sight.

He said, "I'm disturbed by the philosophy of letting persons use public water until all of it is gone" and added he would like to find out if something can be done to remedy the problem.

Dvorak said he had been advised an application for a stream pumping permit had not been refused for five years and no such permits had been withdrawn in three years.

Water Resources Department spokesmen told him issuance of a permit only means the holder can use surface water if it is available.

State Aid Bill
 For the third consecutive year, Ralston Sen. Gerald Koch has succeeded in getting his bill calling for increased state aid to schools out of committee for full debate in the Unicameral.

The past two years, Koch steered similar bills to passage, only to see them fall under vetoes by Gov. J. James Exon, who has promised the same fate awaits this year's measure, if it is approved by the lawmakers.

The proposal would increase state aid, currently $55 million, by $20 million annually until it reaches 40 per cent of the public schools' operational costs.

Before the Education Committee sent the bill to the legislature, Koch said he knows he will have to get 30 vetoes or face failure again because it takes 30 ballots to override a veto.

Sen. Thomas Fitzgerald of Omaha told Koch he believes the strength will be there to get the bill into the statute books this year. One reason for his thinking, Fitzgerald said, is the number of new senators who can be expected to favor the higher aid.

Last year, committee chairman Frank Lewis of Bellevue recalled, "six to eight Omaha senators would not back the bill." Some of them are not in the legislature this year.

Malpractice Law
 The attorney general's office, in an appeal filed with the Nebraska Supreme Court, said the controversial 1976 medical malpractice law was unconstitutional on several counts.

A brief filed with the high court asked that a Lancaster County District Court decision upholding the act be overturned.

Attorney General Paul Douglas pointed to six areas in which the law allegedly runs contrary to the Nebraska or U.S. Constitution, or both.

For one thing, Douglas challenged provisions requiring a medical review panel examine malpractice claims before they are taken to court. That, according to the state justice department, denies Nebraskans full access to the courts, as well as the right to a complete jury trial and equal protection under the law.

In addition, the brief said, that section of the statute intrudes on authority meant only for the courts.

Cited as another flaw in the law was the part that limits liability of health care providers to $500,000. The brief said that gives health providers special privileges not permitted in the Constitution.

Patrol Attorneys
 Nebraska lawmakers recently refused to kill a bill under which attorneys assigned to the State Patrol could help prepare drug and narcotics cases but could not prosecute them.

In its original form, the bill called for transferring the attorneys to the attorney general's supervision. Sen. Lorán Schmit of Bellwood, who authored the legislation which led to assignment of attorneys to the patrol several years ago, said he wanted to make sure they stayed there.

Schmit said he wants to have experts available so drug and narcotics cases are not dismissed on legal technicalities which could have been avoided.

Sugar beet industry needs answers

The sugar beet industry in Nebraska and throughout the United States is in serious trouble and the agricultural economy of the state and the nation can't afford to lose its domestic sugar production.

Richard W. Blake, executive vice president of the National Sugar Beet Growers Federation, compares the present domestic sugar crisis to that of the early 1930's, which resulted in the Sugar Act which he says served domestic sugar producers well until it ran out in 1974.

Since 1974, growers have operated without government marketing orders or production controls. Imports are now regulated under a presidential proclamation, with a non-restricted import quota of about seven million tons and an import duty that was increased to 1.8 cents per pound from .625 cents last September.

U.S. sugar prices dropped from $16.60 per cwt. on July 4 to $8.90 per cwt on Sept. 9. There has been some recovery with the price up to $11.50 on Jan. 21. New Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has established a task force to study sugar and sweetener policy and to make recommendations aimed at improving conditions for U.S. sugar producers.

World sugar production has soared since the shortages and high prices of three years ago and now there is an over supply. In addition, corn syrup and other sweeteners have been edging into the market, especially in the beverage industry.

Blake declares that if the nation abandons the domestic sugar industry it could face a situation similar to the present heavy reliance on imported oil.

He says if the present crisis is allowed to continue, even the most efficient sugar beet growers will be forced to curtail production and notes that once sugar factories close, it is a historic fact that they remain closed.

Recently Great Western Sugar Corporation announced that it is closing three of its Colorado sugar processing facilities. It gave as its reason decreasing sugar beet acreage in North Central Colorado, the impact of urbanization and the capital requirements needed to convert two of the plants to coal from natural gas. Once closed, it is unlikely they will ever be reopened. One may be sure that Western Nebraska sugar beet growers have not missed the implications of those Colorado closings.

The sugar beet industry has been a bulwark of the Western Nebraska agricultural economy for more than 70 years, a stable dependable crop for the growers and generating millions of dollars in "spinoff" in jobs, sales and equipment and financing, especially in those communities where processing plants are located.

Loss of the nation's domestic sugar industry is not just idle chatter. Hawaii's once-famed pineapple industry has moved to the Philippines.

Sheep, lamb and wool production has dwindled to the point that the nation is largely dependent on imports. Potato production in the state is mainly confined to large contract growers. The dairy industry is a declining factor in the state's agricultural production.

There are some pluses of course... soybeans and milo have emerged as major crops of the last 25 years. But the point is that the decline and loss of any crop or segment of the livestock industry reduces the versatility and options of the state's and nation's agricultural potential. There must be some answers to the domestic sugar situation and they must come quickly enough to save the industry.

— M. M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau.

REVOLUTIONARY investment

It's been 200 years since Americans were first asked to take stock in America. And take stock they did. Our brand-new citizens invested over $27,000,000 in their new country's fight for freedom. And it sure paid off.

Today, over 9 1/2 million modern Americans invest in their future as well as their country by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds are safe, dependable, and profitable. And when you join the Payroll Savings Plan, saving becomes automatically regular, too.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds. They're a revolutionary way to save.

New E-Bonds pay 6% interest which held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Business leader rips gas price controls

One-and-a-half cheers for the plethora of new programs for energy conservation.

If "conservation" means the elimination of waste, I am wholeheartedly in favor of it. But if conservation is another chapter in the best selling and now discredited book, "Limits to Growth," then let me off at the next stop.

We have a temporary energy supply problem and conservation is unquestionably one of the best ways to cope with it. But this shortage is almost entirely of our own making. There is still enough petroleum and even enough natural gas in the ground to supply our needs for years. If we are willing to pay the costs of getting it out.

Farther into the future there will be plenty of energy available to us. Our coal will last hundreds of years. Long before that runs low we will develop practical solar and hydrogen fusion power, both of which are virtually limitless.

The important thing to remember is that shortages in a free market economy are always relative. As a useful commodity grows scarcer, its price gradually rises. This price increase has two vital effects. First, it reduces waste; the higher-priced resource is reserved for higher-valued uses. Second, it stimulates the search for substitutes by attracting investment capital.

Rarely does the original substance run out completely. Rather, it grows so costly that people eventually turn almost entirely to substitutes, while the original is all but forgotten. For example, few people today would think of petroleum as a substitute for whale oil, yet that's how the petroleum industry got started.

In the absence of government interference, these changes occur smoothly and gradually. Consumers have plenty of time to adjust to price increases.

Now look at the other side of the coin. Suppose the government prevents the price of a commodity from rising to reflect its increasing scarcity — which is exactly what has happened in the case of natural gas. Then the incentives are all wrong. People continue to use the substance wastefully, because it's cheap. Producers have no incentive to increase production. Investors have no incentive to look for substitutes.

Once government starts down this path, though, changing directions becomes progressively more difficult. The gap between the controlled price and the true market value of the substance grows so large that removing the controls would cause an immediate... and politically dangerous... jump in price. To avoid that development, the government begins creating a bureaucratic tangle of rationing schemes, tax surcharges and product specifications to substitute for the consumption-discouraging effect of a price increase.

These alternatives to a price increase do discourage consumption, if they are sufficiently rigorous. But they do nothing either to increase production or to promote the development of substitutes. You might say it's a philosophy of half a loaf is better than no.

Unfortunately, this new conservation bandwagon seems to be more of a distraction than an aid to understanding the underlying economic principles which determine our real opportunities. For that reason, I will not climb aboard.

Richard Lesher, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Wayne writer laudes Diamond's brilliance

Dear Editor:

It is, indeed, a rare circumstance to find a musical presentation on weekly TV that stands "head and shoulders" above the rest. But the Neil Diamond Special "Love at the Greek" taped at the Los Angeles Greek Theatre reached a new highwater mark for a rock star's performance.

The 60-minute music explosion was filled with a happy medley of high impact rock and the warm, sensuous, purity of ballad. Throughout his performance of standards as well as recent songs, Neil Diamond's understanding and love of people radiated with massive penetration engulfing both the theatre crowd and television viewing audience.

If you missed this truly extraordinary performance, you missed one of the Rock Era's super stars whose music, words and delivery reign pre-eminent in a world of much mediocrity in composition.

I realize The Wayne Herald does not feature a concert performance or recording evaluation section in its semi-weekly publication, but I feel this Neil Diamond Special was so dynamic that it must be saluted. — Roger R. Nelson.

'No one ignored'

Dear Editor:

I have been soliciting funds for attorney's fees for a suit against Emphysis, Inc. Only investors who purchased stock worth $1,000 or more have been contacted.

My intention has not been to ignore other stockholders but everyone could not be contacted, because of the large number of investors. We are fighting for anyone who invested.

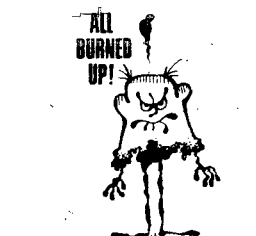

Response has been tremendous and we now have sufficient funds for attorney's fees. — Andrew Mans.

Thanks for prize

Dear Editor,

I want to thank The Wayne Herald for the good coverage of the Wayne County Spelling Bee, and the $25 savings bond. Also thanks to the Wisner Pharmacy for the very nice trophy.

OBSERVATIONS

Better system needed

A report made Tuesday night by the Wayne city administrator points out one of the problems with federal grant programs.

Fred Brink reported that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) had again turned down a request by the city for funds under a Community Development Act to finance a project to enclose a storm sewer in the Roosevelt Park area.

The rejection followed submission of a preliminary application. Requests were graded on a point scale with 55 points the total necessary to "make the cut" and be asked to submit a detailed application.

The storm sewer project received 32 points. It received no points under the category for health and safety benefits, despite the fact that photographs were included of the open ditch flowing full of water.

We admit to bias in favor of our community, but we have no knowledge of what other communities which were accepted on preliminary application. But we do think it is absurd that a HUD official did not think the project warranted any consideration for its health and safety benefits.

An open ditch which flows full following rain (perhaps HUD foresees continuing drought) represents a clear safety hazard and should have received at least some consideration on that point.

Therein lies the problem with the system of sending tax dollars to Washington and having them redistributed by bureaucrats. They don't know what our needs are. We do.

A better system would allow us to spend our own tax dollars. — Jim Strayer.

Grand Prize Edges Closer To $700 Mark

The amount of this week's grand prize is edging closer to the $700 mark, thanks to no one claiming the top prize last week. Tonight (Thursday) that amount grows $25 to $650 and is free to anyone shopping in the downtown area whose birthday matches the date drawn at random and announced at 8:15. Last week Mrs. Kenneth Hamer of Wayne missed winning the big amount by 17 days. Her birthday is July 25, 1940. The date drawn by Gerald Botgenkamp of Gerald's Decorating Center was July 8, 1940. Mrs. Hamer, who was in the Black Knight at the time of the drawing, won the $25 consolation prize because her birthday was the closest to the winning date. To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating store when the date is announced. No purchases or registration is necessary to be a winner.

Qualifications

For Benefits Are Explained

Most men and women who reach 62 in 1977 can collect monthly social security checks if they've worked as little as six and one-half years in jobs covered by social security, according to Dick Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk. People earn retirement benefits by credit for work covered by social security done in or after 1937, the year social security started. The work credit is measured in calendar quarters—January-March, April-June, July-September, or October-December. "Most employees get credit for a quarter of work if they've paid $50 or more in that quarter for work covered by social security," Branch said. "Most self-employed people get social security credit for four quarters in any year their annual self-employment net income is $400 or more."

Most jobs and self-employment are covered by social security. "To be eligible for social security retirement benefits," Branch said, "you need, at a minimum, quarters of work equal to the number of years between 1950 and the year you reach 62. So, if you reach 62 in 1977, you need 26 quarters—or six and one-half years—of work credit."

Eligible workers can start collecting their full social security retirement benefits at 65 or reduced benefits at 62. Dependents can also get payments based on the worker's earnings record.

"Quarters of work credit help determine eligibility for social security retirement benefits," Branch said, "but they don't affect the amount of your monthly check. Your monthly payment—or your family's payment—is based on your average earnings covered by social security over a set period of time."

"You can find out how much work an earnings are credited to your social security record free of charge," he said. "Call any social security office and ask the people there to send you a Request for Statement of Earnings postcard."

Bowers Observe Anniversary, Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers celebrated their wedding anniversary and Peggy's 19th birthday with a dinner Sunday in their home.

Guests for dinner included Peggy Bowers of Norfolk, the Fred Eckerts of Wayne, Lori Lackas, the Robert I. Joneses and the Tom Bowers.

Afternoon guests were the Don Harmer family of Carroll, the Herb Willis family of Winside, the Leland Schlole family of Creighton and the Marvin Eckert family of Pierce.

The Loyd Heaths of Belden spent last Wednesday evening in the Bowers home, and the Darrell French family and the Ronald Reeses were Saturday evening visitors to honor the occasion.

Delta Dek Meets

Mrs. Esther Batten was hostess Thursday for the Delta Dek Bridge Club. Guests were Mrs. Doris Harmer, Mrs. Merlin Kenny and Mrs. Lynn Roberts. Prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Vlasak, Mrs. Charles Whitney, Mrs. Lynn Roberts and Mrs. Otto Wagner.

Mrs. Perry Johnson will be the March 3 hostess.

Meet for Supper

The Pitch Club met at the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse in Laurel Friday evening for supper, followed with cards in the Don Davis home.

Prizes were won by Lem Jones, Mrs. Clair Swanson, Edward Fork and the LeRoy Petersons.

Friday's supper and card party marked the last meeting of the season.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Charles Whitney was hostess for a birthday party last Tuesday, honoring Mrs. Ann Roberts. Ten women were present.

Bingo served for entertainment, and a cooperative lunch was served.

Extension Club

The Hillcrest Home Extension Club met with Mrs. Esther Batten last Tuesday. Vice president Mrs. Frank Vlasak conducted the meeting. Roll call was answered with a memorable family experience.

Reading leader Mrs. Lloyd Morris told of economical and social change, and health leader Mrs. Frank Vlasak spoke about kidney ailments.

The group discussed the state convention, which will be held at Norfolk in June. Mrs. Robert I. Jones presented the lesson, "Enriching Relationships."

Mrs. Robert I. Jones will be the March 15 hostess and Mrs. Leo Jordan will have the lesson on shopping hints.

World Day of Prayer

World Day of Prayer will be observed March 4 at the Carroll Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Mrs. Milton Owens is general chair.

man for the event and Mrs. Esther Batten is secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Gordon Davis is representative for the Methodist Church. Mrs. Glenn Dowling is representative for the Congregational Church and Mrs. Clifford Lindsay for the Presbyterian Church.

Theme is "Education For All Life." The Congregational women will be in charge of coffee.

All are women are invited to participate.

Here's one way to soften your hard winter gas bill.

Peoples "Winter of '77" Even-Payment Plan.

It lowers your high winter gas bills instantly by spreading some of the cost over into warm weather months. Instead of big gas bills now and small ones later, you'll pay even, average-sized monthly bills from now until early summer. Any adjustments for over-payment or under-payment will be made in June.

There's no charge for the use of this plan. It's a service for our residential customers who need help now.

Technology Helping Fight Drought

Recent technological advances in irrigation, agronomy and agricultural meteorology may help farmers minimize the effects of drought, according to Dr. Norman Rosenberg, University of Nebraska-Lincoln professor of agricultural meteorology.

Rosenberg summarized several areas of the new technology in a paper presented Monday to the Symposium "American Droughts" at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Denver. He listed advances in irrigation, plant breeding, soil conservation, windbreaks and other approaches.

—Irrigation reduced the effects of the droughts of 1974 and 1976 on Nebraska corn production. The growth of irrigated corn acreage made up for the very low dryland yields in terms of total state wide production. However, dryland yields were very low and raise serious questions about the future of non-irrigated corn production if the dry weather continues.

Rosenberg said, continued expansion of irrigation will depend upon the availability of replenishable, surface and ground water supplies and the rising costs of electricity, diesel fuel and natural gas needed to provide energy for pumping and water distribution.

He recommended "drought proofing" irrigation systems be allowing for easy movement of the systems to "permit supplemental irrigation over large areas, rather than intense irrigation on selected fields alone." He also suggested using irrigation during non-growing seasons to replenish depleted soil moisture in unirrigated fields.

—Plant breeders have attempted to introduce stress-tolerance or stress-avoidance characters into new varieties, Rosenberg said. He cited short plant stature as one example of a character which can minimize water stress by reducing the exposure of the crop to strong drying winds. Reduction of crop potential for full production when conditions are good is sometimes a drawback for such characters, he said.

"Biophysics can provide some guidance to the design and architecture of crop plants adapted to survive moisture shortage and, no less importantly, to make optimum use of water in the production of photosynthate when water supply is better," Rosenberg said. Unified programs of identification of stress-tolerant or stress-avoidant morphological and physiological traits; discovery of genetic variability for these traits and incorporation of desirable traits into varieties by teams, have been recommended, he said.

—Soil conservation to prevent water and wind erosion has been in practice since the drought era of the 1930's, Rosenberg said. Contour and terrace farming methods capture and store water; strip cropping, fallowing and stubble-mulch techniques reduce wind erosion damage and improve soil moisture supply, Rosenberg noted.

A recent innovation is minimum tillage, which leaves residues of previous crops on the surface and opens only small strips for planting, he said. Minimum tillage relies on applications of chemical herbicides rather than plowing and mechanical tilling to suppress weed competition. Water is conserved in the soil and energy and machinery wear are reduced, Rosenberg said. However, reliance on herbicides does raise environmental questions, which must be solved, he noted.

—Tree windbreaks "have played an important role in providing drought protection," but current land values and irrigation development costs jeopardize shelterbelt plantings, Rosenberg said.

New techniques using tall perennial grasses in strips and interillage of short and tall crops or varieties also modify the drying effects of the wind, he said.

Farm Mishaps Claimed 21

There were twenty-one tractor and farm machinery deaths in Nebraska in 1976.

County extension agents in Northeast Nebraska have designed a special tractor safety and operation training for youth 14 to 16 to be held on March 12, 19 and 26 at the Northeast Station near Concord from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The training is open to all youth in Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Cedar and Wayne Counties. County extension agents should be contacted by March 7 for registration. The fee is $4.

The training will provide information in tractor and machinery safety, daily maintenance, operations, hitching, and laws and regulations.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreifels

CLOTHING OUTLOOK FOR 1977

Clothing prices are expected to increase in 1977, but probably not as much as prices of most other consumer items.

Last year the average consumer spent $345 on clothing and shoes. That was an increase of 5.2 per cent or about $18 per person over the 1975 clothing costs. A similar rate of increase is expected in 1977.

About half the increase in clothing expenditures can be attributed to higher prices. The other half is due to an increased level of buying. Clothing items most affected by price rises in 1976 were footwear, followed by men's and boy's clothing, then women's and girls' clothing.

The energy crisis has also had an impact on the cost of clothes. As the price of petroleum oil continues to rise, so do the prices of everything made from petroleum based chemicals, including clothing.

Clothing manufacturers are trying to cut operation costs in order to stabilize clothing prices. This will have an effect on clothing marketed in 1977. For example, there will be less trim, embroidery and elaborate handwork on garments. There will be fewer styles, colors and assortments from which to choose. Garments are expected to become simpler in construction.

Anyone who wears a hard-to-find size will probably have even more difficulty shopping for garments in 1977.

The trend toward the natural look of wool and cotton is expected to continue but prices will be much higher. The demand for cotton and wool is exceeding supplies.

Siouxland Beef Days, scheduled for March 11 & 12, 1977, at Sioux City's KD Stockyards Station, is featuring Feedlot Management Day on March 11, and Cow-Calf Day on March 12. Speakers and their topics for Cow-Calf Day include: Dr. Donald Clanton, Director of Beef Cattle Research, University of Nebraska, North Platte Station, "Developing the Replacement Heifer"; Dr. Marvin Skadberg, Extension Economist, Iowa State University, "Marketing vs. Selling Feeder Calves"; Dr. J. Coleman Hensley, II, President and Chief Operations Officer, Indentronix, Inc., Santa Cruz, Calif., "Potential for Electronic Animal Identification." Forty commercial exhibits will be on display throughout both days. The event will end on March 12 with the IBIA performance Tested Bull Sale at 4 p.m. Nancy Degner, Home Economist for the Iowa Beef Industry Council, will hold a beef cooking school at 1:30 p.m. on March 12 for women.

Peppy Pals
The Wayne Peppy Pals 4-H Club met its regular meeting in the home of David Garlick the evening of Feb. 9. Nine members were present to answer the roll call by naming a project with which each was having problems.

Blaine Johs demonstrated "The Laws of Motion," and David Garlick presented "Rocketry."
The next meeting will be March 9 at 7 p.m. in the home of Shelli Schroeder.
