Oakland, Pender Tabbed to Win Wakefield Meet

A total of 30 teams from 15 schools will be invading Wayne State's Memorial Stadium for the running of the second annual Wakefield High Invitational Track Meet today (Thursday).

Meet director Ernie Kovar believes the Trojans will have a tough time trying to repeat in both categories with the kind of competition lineup for this meet.

In the girls ranks, Kovar pointed out Pender as the team to beat. Although both clubs are heavy favorites to walk away with the team trophies, Kovar didn't hesitate to add that some of the other entries will provide some good competition.

Trojans Are Seventh at Plainview

Craig Gentzler of Plainview fired a four-over-par 40 Saturday to capture medalist honors and lead his club to first place in the 11-team Plainview Invitational.

Leading the Trojans of coach Lyle Trullinger was Tim Patterson with a 46. Patterson's hopes of winning a medal were wiped out in a playoff with four other golfers who were tied for 15th place.

Second for Wakefield was John Viken with a 47 followed by Lyle Borg with a 54 and Troxel Miner with a 54.

Individual Talent Brewing Among Wayne Trackmen

There's a lot of promise building up in Wayne High's dreams of producing individual talent these days, especially after the Blue Devils showings in Friday's Plainview Invitational.

Wacker in the 400 and 800, and freshmen David Blendern and Rick Johnson, both 440 and 800 men.

Wayne's schedule: April — 12 Wakefield, Hartington, Cedar Catholic, at Wayne triangular; 15 at Wayne State Invitational, 19 at Randolph Invitational, 25 at Wisner-Pilger Triangular, 28 at Wisner Invitational.

4 Young Matmen Finish on Top

Four young Wayne gradplers won their divisions Saturday during the Stanton invitational wrestling meet.

Wet Weather Wipes Out Wildcat Games

Weather wiped out a majority of Wayne State sports events in recent days; or if not weather, wet fields prevented playing.

Frosh Fill WH Roster

Freshmen fill the bulk of the roster for coach John Torczon's track team this spring.

Of the 14 who are out, nine are first-year track personnel, giving the head man a relatively young squad to work with.

WS Netters Finish 8th

Wayne State's tennis team had both good and back luck over the weekend.

Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 — the first home appearance — against Briar Cliff, then another meet today (Thursday) at the University of South Dakota.

Gals Tracksters Finish Second At Vermillion

Considering it's the first official year for women's track at Wayne State, the team is small and inexperienced, and it's the first year here for coach Baabi Wipso, a second place in an eight-school invitational isn't too bad.

In fact, considering it was the women's first meet, the rating didn't seem bad at all — but simply great. Wayne, collecting 44 points, finished behind host team USD, the Vermillion team collecting 70½ points.

With 34 points Northwestern rated third, followed by Westmar, 30; Sioux Empire, 20; USD of Springfield, 9½; Dakota Wesleyan, 9; and Huron, 3.

Picking up firsts for Wayne State were Jo Zoubek with a 16'10½" long jump, Cindy Keagle with a 5' high jump and Sally Schwede who ran the 440-yard dash in 62.9 seconds.

Julie Brinkman placed second in the two-mile, completing the circuit in 13:08.5. And Schwede earned the second in the 100-yard dash in 12.6.

Zoubek, Keagle, Schwede and Brinkman were also familiar names in the third place bracket. This crew ran the 440 in :56 for third, while Keagle also collected a third with a 15'7" long jump.

Zoubek, Schwede, Brinkman and a new name, Wanda Starr placed third in the 800 medley relay to add to Wayne honors.

Fourth places went to Donna Kelly running the two-mile in 13:21.1, Barb Bettin for 6.45 in the one-mile, and Starr, Bettin, Donna Kelly and Rocky Recker placed fourth for the 800 yard relay.

A fifth place went to Maureen Eiler in the javelin.

After an Easter rest, the women tracksters will be off for further competition Wednesday, April 13, at USD in Springfield.

Here's How They Finished

Four area track teams competed in the Plainview Invitational track meet Friday. Below are the results of how they finished in the standings and individual placings.

Wayne—Tied Randolph with 28 points for seventh place; Brad Emry won the triple jump at 42-4¾ and was second in the long jump at 19-4½; 800 relay team of Mark Brandt, Kelly Hansen, Terry Lessmann and Jeff Backstrom.

Wakefield Gals 3rd at Norfolk

Wakefield girls nailed down third place in the seven-team Norfolk Invitational Monday, despite near-blizzard conditions which reduced the number of teams entered in the meet originally scheduled for last Saturday.

4 Area Youths Win at Norfolk

Three youths from Winside and a Hoskins lad won their weight classes at the Norfolk Invitational Championship matches Saturday.

Winners from Winside were Danny Cole, a 112-pounder in the junior division, and Brian Foote (104) and Scott Mann (142), both in the senior division.

From Hoskins was 99-pound John Meierhenry in the junior weight class.

Other area youths who placed: Second — Brian Bowers (93), Winside; Gerald Monk (122), Winside; Scott Janke (135), Winside; Third — Mike Brudjigan (77), Hoskins; Duane Sueli (99), Winside.

The longest cave in the world is in Kentucky. It is the Flint-Mammoth cave system, 144 miles long.

Softball Squad

Splits With KS

Almost like a ditto of last week's performance, Wayne State's softball women played sharp ball for a first-game win against Kearney, but lost their power in the second for a top-sided loss.

The Wildkittens batted 11 hits for nine runs over the Kearney girls, who collected six runs in the first and fourth innings. But 'twas a different story in the second game, when the Wildkittens hit only three times, making their only run in the first inning.

That lone run kept Wayne ahead until the third inning when three hits produced four runs for Kearney. And then in the fifth "all went crazy" as coach G.I. Willoughby would say, when four hits by Kearney combined with three Wayne errors, resulted in the six more runs that gave Kearney the win.

Now with a 2-2 record, the Wildkittens are scheduled to play Northwestern Missouri State here today (Thursday), in a doubleheader beginning at 1 p.m.

The Monday the women will face Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College of Norfolk in a game beginning at 3 p.m. here.

Winning pitcher for the Wildkittens was freshman Pat Lenihan of Council Bluffs, a four-year softball player in high school. Winning catcher was Peg Yockey, a Wayne State junior from Central City, Ia.

Wayne State players with two hits each in the first game were Connie Kunzmann, Karen Heaney, Lori Mittelstadt, Donna Lueders, and Lenihan. Vicki Carsey hit once for the Wildkittens.

OL' UNCLE JED believes that the days of having good coaches stay in the high school ranks soon will become a passing fancy.

He bases his ideas on the growing number of coaches who are dropping out of the sports scene simply because of the hassle they have to put up with from the so-called "second guessers who know the sport a lot better than the coaches do" and the pressure of school board members who want a winning record in one season or the coaches resignation — whichever comes first.

Glancing over the past year, Uncle Jed didn't hold his comments just to the high school ranks. A number of college coaches also are jumping on the band wagon and calling it quits after trying moments they have had to go through. First on his list is Marquette University basketball coach Al McGuire, who made it official before the season started that this would be his last year. Coaching college ball is too much of a hassle, he pointed out.

Uncle Jed said he's like to focus in some of his talks about area coaches, but wants to mull over in his mind a while some of the things he wants to say in next week's column.

ALTHOUGH softball season doesn't get into full swing until later next month, avid fans won't have to wait that long to see or participate.

Starting Friday of next week through Sunday there will be a men's slow pitch tournament at Winnebago. Entry fee is $40 per team. Send your money to Frank Smith, Box KK, Winnebago, 68071. Rain date is April 22-24.

PENDER has turned down an offer to join the Dodge County Baseball League, keeping the area team in the eight-team Northeast Nebraska Baseball Loop.

No official word yet from Harrington, Laurel or Coleridge about their plans to enter the NENBL. Educated guess by league secretary Merlin "Lefty" Olson is that defending champion Harrington may return to the South Dakota Lewis and Clark circuit while Laurel and Coleridge lean towards the Tri-County League. Already committed to the Tri-County loop is Crofton, which accepted last Friday.

grade girls practice from 1 to 2:30, eighth grade from 2:30 to 4 and senior high girls from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Rest of the week's schedule: Monday—7-8th grade boys practice from 4 to 6 p.m.

Tuesday—6th grade boys from 4-6.

Wednesday—7-8th grade girls from 4-6.

Thursday—5th grade boys from 4-6.

Friday—open date.

The practice schedules will change in the last week of May for the summer programs, said recreation manager Hank Overin.

Freshmen and sophomores planning to play in Pony and Midget Leagues will practice on Monday and Tuesday nights from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

NU Tests Show Colostrum Is Good Low Cost Feed

Thirteen years of research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln has proved that a substance once thought to be virtually worthless can provide a nutritional cornerstone to a simple, low cost feeding program for dairy calves.

The garbage can to feeding pan phenomenon involves a liquid called colostrum, a specialized secretion of the cow's mammary glands that is produced during the first three to four days after calving. Compared to normal milk, it is considerably higher in total protein solids, antibodies, vitamins A and D, and trace minerals, although unacceptable for sale to humans.

During the last five years, more than half of the nation's dairymen have switched from feeding newborn calves milk or milk replacers to colostrum, according to Dr. Foster Owen, UN-L extension dairyman and project director.

He said that trend was spurred by the periodic release of results from a recently completed study, the first comprehensive research of its kind. Findings show that a typical dairyman using the new system can save as much as $40 for each calf raised from birth until weaning, he said, an 80 per cent savings over conventional methods.

"The new plan is a much simpler and more economic system, both in terms of feed costs and labor convenience," Owen said. "It involves only one-half as long a period of liquid feeding, one-fourth the labor of liquid feeding and requires the use of no salable milk or purchase of milk replacers."

Dubbed the Nebraska Plan, the new method involved feeding seven pounds of cold colostrum, thawed to 35-45 degrees F. after being stored in a freezer, once daily to newborn calves until they reach 21-days-old, when they were abruptly weaned.

Owen said the new plan compared favorably with a standard feeding plan tested during the project, which involved feeding regular herd milk that must be warmed to 90-100 degrees F. and fed at a rate of three and one-half pints twice daily until calves were weaned at 42-days-old.

Owen said the colostrum plan "could be utilized by virtually every dairy farm" to help achieve modern feeding program requirements.

"The chores of calf feeding have become a much greater concern as herds have grown larger and disease problems have become more serious," he said. "Most of the recent changes (in feeding) have been toward minimizing disease problems during the first several weeks after calving, simplifying and reducing the labor requirement and doing these things at the lowest cost."

The animal science professor said the simplified calf-starting plan "does not sacrifice performance for economy."

Tests on 80 Holstein cows at the animal science department's Dairy Research Center at the Mead Field Laboratory showed that using colostrum produced calves whose growth, reproduction and first lactation performances were equal to those of calves produced by the conventional method, Owen said.

The long-term study found: —Body weight gains of calves were nearly identical at six, 12 and 18 months of age, but were slightly greater for the Nebraska Plan cows at 24 months (17 pounds heavier) and at calving time (20 pounds heavier). Generally, winter heights were comparable and researchers found that weight gains were slightly higher for calves fed once instead of twice daily.

—Reproductive performance, which includes the number of breedings per conception and at calving, was similar among calves fed by the two methods. Females on the Nebraska Plan averaged 2.48 breedings per conception and were 30.7-months-old at calving while cows on the standard plan averaged 1.44 breedings and were 30-months old.

—Milk yields for the first 305 days lactation for cows raised on the two plans were comparable, with animals on the Nebraska Plan averaging 611 pounds more milk. The amount and percentage of fat in the milk of cows fed under the two systems also were similar.

—Death rates among animals in the two plans were similar, with six of the 41 calves on the Nebraska Plan and five of 39 heifers on the standard plan dying of various causes.

The most promising side effect of the new feeding method, Owen said, was that in some test feeding the colostrum diet reduced the incidence of scour cases in half, most likely because of the beneficial impact of gammaglobulins in the intestines.

"There has been a trend toward reducing the period of liquid feeding, mainly to reduce labor and feed costs, but also because evidence suggests that calves are less inclined to be digestive upsets after weaning," he said. "Extensive research has found that calves can be weaned at three to five weeks of age without jeopardizing health or limiting ultimate body size."

"As soon as we get calves off liquid diets, we almost do away with scour problems," he added.

Owen said UN-L tests and routine feeding have found that about 99 per cent of the calves are able to convert from a liquid to dry feed at 21 days of age, "with no adverse effects." He said there appear to be "no benefits" achieved by gradually withdrawing liquid feed instead of abruptly weaning cows.

He said the average calf consumes about a pound a day of dry feed at 21 days and twice that by 26 days of age.

"We recommend weaning calves routinely by age," he said. "Only those few calves that have encountered problems in the early weeks of raising and are notably weak or sick should be allowed liquid feed for an additional period."

Owen said dairymen also may want to delay weaning if calves are subjected to very low temperatures near zero degrees F., until they are able to consume two pounds of starter feed daily as an energy reserve.

Researchers also found that feeding colostrum cold had no detrimental effect on performance, and can save time and reduce the chance of burning the calf's mouth, he said.

"Under normal conditions, we recommend that liquid feeds for replacement calves raised indoors or outdoors during warm weather be fed either cold or warm, whichever is more convenient," he said.

Owen warned, however, that producers feeding calves outside during cold months when temperatures are lower than about 20 degrees F., should warm the liquid diet to between 35 and 40 degrees.

He said perhaps the most practical method of utilizing the Nebraska Plan on dairy farms is to allow the calf to nose its mother during the first day of life, then pen the calf separately, collecting colostrum from the mother when she goes through the milking parlor.

The ideal situation would be to milk out the required amount and feed the calf through a nipple dispenser for three feedings because calves often won't drink enough colostrum free-choice from the dam, Owen said.

Research has indicated that calves separated from the dam their first day of life do not absorb antibodies from colostrum into the intestinal tract as well.

Colostrum collected from the cow then should be placed in separate plastic containers and stored in a freezer, Owen said, rather than letting it sour for five to 25 days at room temperature before feeding it, as some British scientists have proposed.

"When stored at room temperature, protein breakdown begins at about three to four weeks and the possibility of contamination by harmful bacterial, although remote, is considerably greater," he said. He said some calves may refuse the sour colostrum, especially during the warm months of the year.

Owen recommended feeding no more than seven pounds of colostrum daily to Holstein calves, or about eight per cent of their body weight, which he said can help avoid diarrhea and increase consumption of dry feed.

He said other dairy cattle breeds should use a slightly lower level of colostrum.

The amount of colostrum produced by the mother may be five to 20 per cent less than the level required if dairymen feed it to all of their calves, Owen said. However, many do not raise their bull calves, he pointed out.

The level of colostrum supplied should not be increased during the pre-weaning period because it may reduce consumption to starter feed. Owen also noted some tests have shown the liquid can be diluted by one-third with equal parts of water and milk, but urged producers not to add any water for dilution on top of the recommended seven pound daily level.

Owen said a starter diet of corn, oats, soybean meal, minerals, vitamins, antibiotics and molasses was used during the tests until the animal was six weeks-old. The diet then was shifted to a grower ration of primarily corn and soybean meal.

"We think we've very well established that this method of starting calves can be effectively used and provide excellent replacement heifers, yet is simpler and considerably less expensive than usual methods," he said.

Joy Folk Touring in May

THESE YOUNG PEOPLE make up the Joy Folk group at Wayne State College. Under the direction of campus pastor Paul Reimers and his wife, Glynis, the students "witness and share the joy of Christ with singing" as Joy Folk member Ray Hill related. The group performs throughout the Midwest and will begin a tour in early May visiting Colorado and making performance stops at high schools and colleges along the way. The group recently presented a St. Patrick's Day concert in Wayne State's Ramsey Theatre.

HEALTH TIP

Diabetes is a treacherous disease because it develops slowly. The Nebraska Medical Association says it is often unrecognized or neglected and can lead to complications, such as heart and blood vessel changes and damage to the eyes.

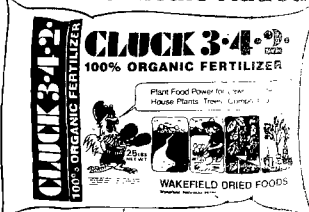

Diabetes is characterized by the inability of body tissues to utilize sugar and starch, both for immediate energy needs or to store for future needs. To utilize these foods, the body must produce insulin. In diabetes, too little effective insulin is present.

Diabetes cannot be cured since the insulation-producing mechanism will never again produce normally. Diabetes, however, can be controlled by medical management. Many diabetics can manage their problem by diet alone. The doctor may be able to adjust the kind and amount of food intake to match this patient's insulin production and still provide enough calories to maintain normal weight and physical activity. Patients with more severe diabetes will need to take insulin to make up the deficiency.

Regular exercise is an important part of managing diabetes. It helps to use up sugar and thus reduce the insulin needed.

The clues to successful control of diabetes are early detection, understanding rather than fear and a well-managed balance between food intake, physical activity and medication. The Nebraska Medical Association points out that ignorance of proper self care is the greatest single hazard of diabetes.

It will then be up to the commissioners to decide what to do with the recommended zoning code. If as recommended, adopt it with modifications or not adopt zoning regulations at all.

The issue of minimum lot sizes for rural residences appears to be one of the stickier problems which the planning commission must face in formulating zoning regulations. Two issues are: to impose little restriction on rural housing development by setting minimal standards for lot sizes, or to discourage rural development almost completely by requiring lots so large — say 40 acres or more — so as to put rural living beyond the reach of all but the wealthy or those who intend to farm the land they purchase.

Some proponents of the larger lot theory have cast an eye at neighboring counties where lack of zoning regulations in the past has resulted in helter skelter development of rural subdivisions, resulting in problems for local government in providing protective services.

At the same time, supporters of regulations for minimal lot sizes claimed that restrictive zoning ordinances passed later have prevented development on some marginal farm land which they said probably would have been better suited for residential development.

Local building contractor Richard Carman objected to the idea of a 10-acre minimum lot size which had been kicked around by the planning commission, saying he thinks people should have the right to live where they want to and land prices will prevent many people from buying enough property to build a home in the country if the minimum standard of lot size is set too high.

"When someone says 'if you're wealthy enough to buy 40 acres, come out and live with us,' I have to question it," Carman said.

Glenn Olson, a farmer in southwest Wayne County, said however, that people who build a home in the country in order to be away from an urban setting should have some assurance that a town environment won't be brought out into rural areas when someone who builds a 10-house subdivision across the road from them.

Dave Wright, consultant from the State Office of Planning and Programming, said the planning commission will probably take action on the lot size issue at the May meeting in order to stay on schedule and the commissioners invited the public to attend the meeting and offer comment. The meeting is scheduled for May 3 at 8 p.m. in the district court room of the county courthouse in Wayne.

Responding to a question from the audience Tuesday night, Wright said that while zoning regulations will affect how land can be divided and for what purposes, they won't dictate what practices can be applied to land zoned for agricultural use. That is primarily a management decision, he said, and not within the jurisdiction of the planning commission.

Workshops Planned Disability Determination Requires Joint Action

Two continuing education workshops will be offered under industrial technical education at Wayne State College during April weekends.

April 8 is the deadline to register for "Small Engine Theory," a workshop, scheduled for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 15-17.

The enrollment will be limited to 20 for the "Beginning Photography Workshop" scheduled for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 22-24. No pre-registration deadline has been stipulated for this course.

Offered for one credit hour, "Small Engine Theory" will cover tune-up and maintenance of small two and four cycle engines. A course description says that "emphasis will be on fundamentals and service of the ignition system, fuel system, and valve train. Special attention will be given to adjust and test engine units."

"Small Engine Workshop" will be taught by Randy Shaw, assistant professor of industrial education. Participants are required to bring safety glasses and "one or two small engine units in need of servicing if they are available."

Hours for the course will be 7-10 p.m. Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Location is Room 138 in the Benthack Hall of Applied Science.

Taught by Dennis Linster and Gerard Van Roekel, "Beginning Photography" will cover basic camera use, films, developing, contact printing, and enlarging. Composition and camera use fundamentals will be stressed in this class which will also give special attention to the stabilization process of developing contact sheets and enlargement.

Students are expected to bring an adjustable camera to the workshop. A material bill will be determined at the end of the workshop, in addition to the tuition fee.

Location for this workshop is Benthack Hall.

Cost for both workshops is $17.50 for Nebraska residents and $29.50 for non-residents. First time Wayne students are required to pay a $10 matriculation fee.

Dormitory rooms will be available both weekends on Friday and Saturday nights for people who need lodging arrangements. Rates are $5 a night per person.

The decision on whether or not disabled people are eligible for social security disability benefits is a joint effort of the Social Security Administration and the Nebraska Disability Determinations Unit, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

To get benefits, a disabled worker must have worked long enough and recently enough in jobs covered by social security. "Most workers need six and one-half years of covered work with five years of it in the 10 years before they became disabled," Branch said.

"Although for workers disabled before age 31, the requirement decreases with age as to little at one and one-half years of work."

"The work record is verified by social security," he said.

Under the law, social security disability payments can be made to eligible workers and their families if the worker is severely disabled and not expected to be able to do any substantial gainful work for a year or more.

"Medically, that means a physical or mental impairment that is expected to last, or has lasted, for at least 12 months—or is expected to result in death," Branch said.

The actual decision on whether or not a worker is disabled within the meaning of the social security law is made in Lincoln by two disability evaluation specialists, one of them a doctor, according to Branch.

In most cases they reach a decision based on the medical reports from sources listed by the worker—the doctors, hospitals, and other institutions that have treated the disability. The worker is responsible for charges, if there are any for these reports.

"Or they may need additional medical information, tests, or examinations to make the decision," Branch said.

The disability evaluation specialists decide whether or not workers can be expected to do their usual work or any other work for which they're qualified. Age, education, training, and previous work experience may all be considered.

Conditions ordinarily considered disabling under the social security law include severe heart disease, progressive cancer, a severe mental illness, permanent kidney failure, and loss of major function of both arms or both legs.

The social security law is a comparatively severe definition. "People can be eligible for disability benefits under some other programs but still be ineligible under the social security program."

The worker is notified of the Nebraska Disability Determinations Unit's social security disability decision in an explanatory letter.

"If benefits are to be paid, the letter tells how much a month they'll be and when to expect these reports."

"Or they may need additional medical information, tests, or examinations to make the decision," Branch said.

the first check. If the worker is found ineligible, the letter explains why and tells how the decision can be appealed.

"The Nebraska Disability Determinations Unit also considered whether or not vocational rehabilitation services might help a disabled worker get back to work," Branch said. "The services include counseling, teaching of new skills, training in the use of prostheses, and job placement."

BUSINESS NOTES

W.M. Ferguson, president of Columbus Federal Savings, has announced that the firm's application for a branch office in Fremont has been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington, D.C.

Ferguson said Columbus Federal hopes to open the new branch office in Fremont later in the year, depending upon construction time for the new building. The firm is presently building new branch facilities at Seward, and also has branch offices in York and Wayne.

Families

around that point for some time, in marked contrast to earlier years, the latest report, however, shows a rate of only 1.8.

In Wayne county, on the basis of the latest figures, households are somewhat larger than in most communities, reflecting the birth rate prevailing in recent years. The average, locally is 319 persons per 100 households.

In other parts of the United States, by way of comparison, the average is 296 per 100 households. Throughout the West North Central, it is 310.

The figures show that families in the local area are a little smaller than they were some years ago. In 1960 there were 348 persons in every 100 households, as against the 319 per 100 today.

Although the nation's fertility rate is below the replacement level of 2.1 children a family at the present time, the real end of natural population growth cannot be expected until that rate has been maintained for a long time, because of the number of girls who are approaching child-bearing age.

Not until every girl now born completes her child-bearing years and she and her daughters have held to the 2.1 rate, would births offset deaths on a permanent basis.

FAVORITE Easter Menus

While the children are busily engaged in the traditional Easter egg hunt this year, the adults can enjoy an informal buffet breakfast. Concord Pastry Rolls — made the night before while the children were coloring eggs — can be warmed in the oven when you return from church and served hot with additional grape preserves. Chilled Sunrise Grape Drink makes a refreshing beverage to accompany the pastries. Both recipes use delicious concord grape products whose deep purple color is traditional for Easter.

Sunrise Grape Drink combines flavorful grape drink with pineapple-orange drink and peach nectar for a nutritious morning refreshment. The recipe for Concord Pastry Rolls uses the convenience of grape preserves and refrigerator rolls with orange peel, sugar, cinnamon and walnuts. This combination of Sunrise Grape Drink and Concord Pastry Rolls makes a glorious springtime breakfast treat for family and friends.

Sunrise Grape Drink

(Makes 5 Cups)

- 1 can (6-oz.) undiluted frozen Concord grape Drink concentrate
- 1 can (6-oz.) undiluted frozen Pineapple-Orange Drink concentrate
- 1 can (12-oz.) Peach Nectar
- 3 cups Water
- Crushed Ice
- Orange Slices

Combine grape drink, pineapple-orange drink, peach nectar and water. Blend well. Serve over crushed ice. Garnish with an orange slice.

Concord Pastry Rolls

(Makes 8 Rolls)

- 1 package (8-oz.) Refrigerator Crescent Dinner Rolls
- 4 teaspoons Concord grape Preserves
- ¼ teaspoon Orange Peel, grated
- 1 Egg, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup Sugar
- ½ teaspoon Ground Cinnamon
- ¼ cup Walnuts, chopped
- Concord grape Preserves

Unroll dough, separate into 8 triangles. Blend 4 teaspoons grape preserves and orange peel. Place about ½ teaspoon preserves along widest end of triangles. Roll up tightly, rolling toward point. Brush rolls with beaten egg. Roll in mixture of sugar, cinnamon and walnuts. Place on baking sheet, point side down.

Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 13 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot with additional grape preserves.

Mandarin Orange Salad

- 1 can Mandarin Oranges
- 1 box Orange Gelatin
- 1 cup Orange Sherbet

Drain oranges, reserving juice. Add water to reserved juice to make 1 cup. Dissolve gelatin in the boiling liquid. Cool. Add sherbet as it begins to thicken. Add oranges and mold.

Baked Boneless Smoked Ham

Place a 7 to 10-pound boneless smoked "fully-cooked" ham on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until thermometer registers 140 degrees; allow approximately 15-18 minutes per pound.

To glaze the ham, slowly heat ½ cup apple or currant jelly and 1 teaspoon of lemon juice, stirring until smooth. Brush warm glaze over ham during last 15 to 20 minutes of baking.

Impossible Pie

- 4 Eggs
- 1 cup Coconut
- ½ cup Margarine
- 2 teaspoons Vanilla
- ½ cup Flour
- 1 cup Sugar
- 2 cups Milk

Blend ingredients in blender 30 seconds. Pour into deep 10-inch greased pie pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. It will form it's own crust, crunchy topping and custard filling.

Big Bunny Cookies

- 2½ cups sifted Flour
- 1½ cups sifted Confectioners Sugar
- ½ teaspoon Salt
- 1 cup Butter or Margarine
- 1 Egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons Milk
- 1 teaspoon Vanilla
- 1 teaspoon Orange Extract
- Ornamental Frosting (prepared or favorite recipe)

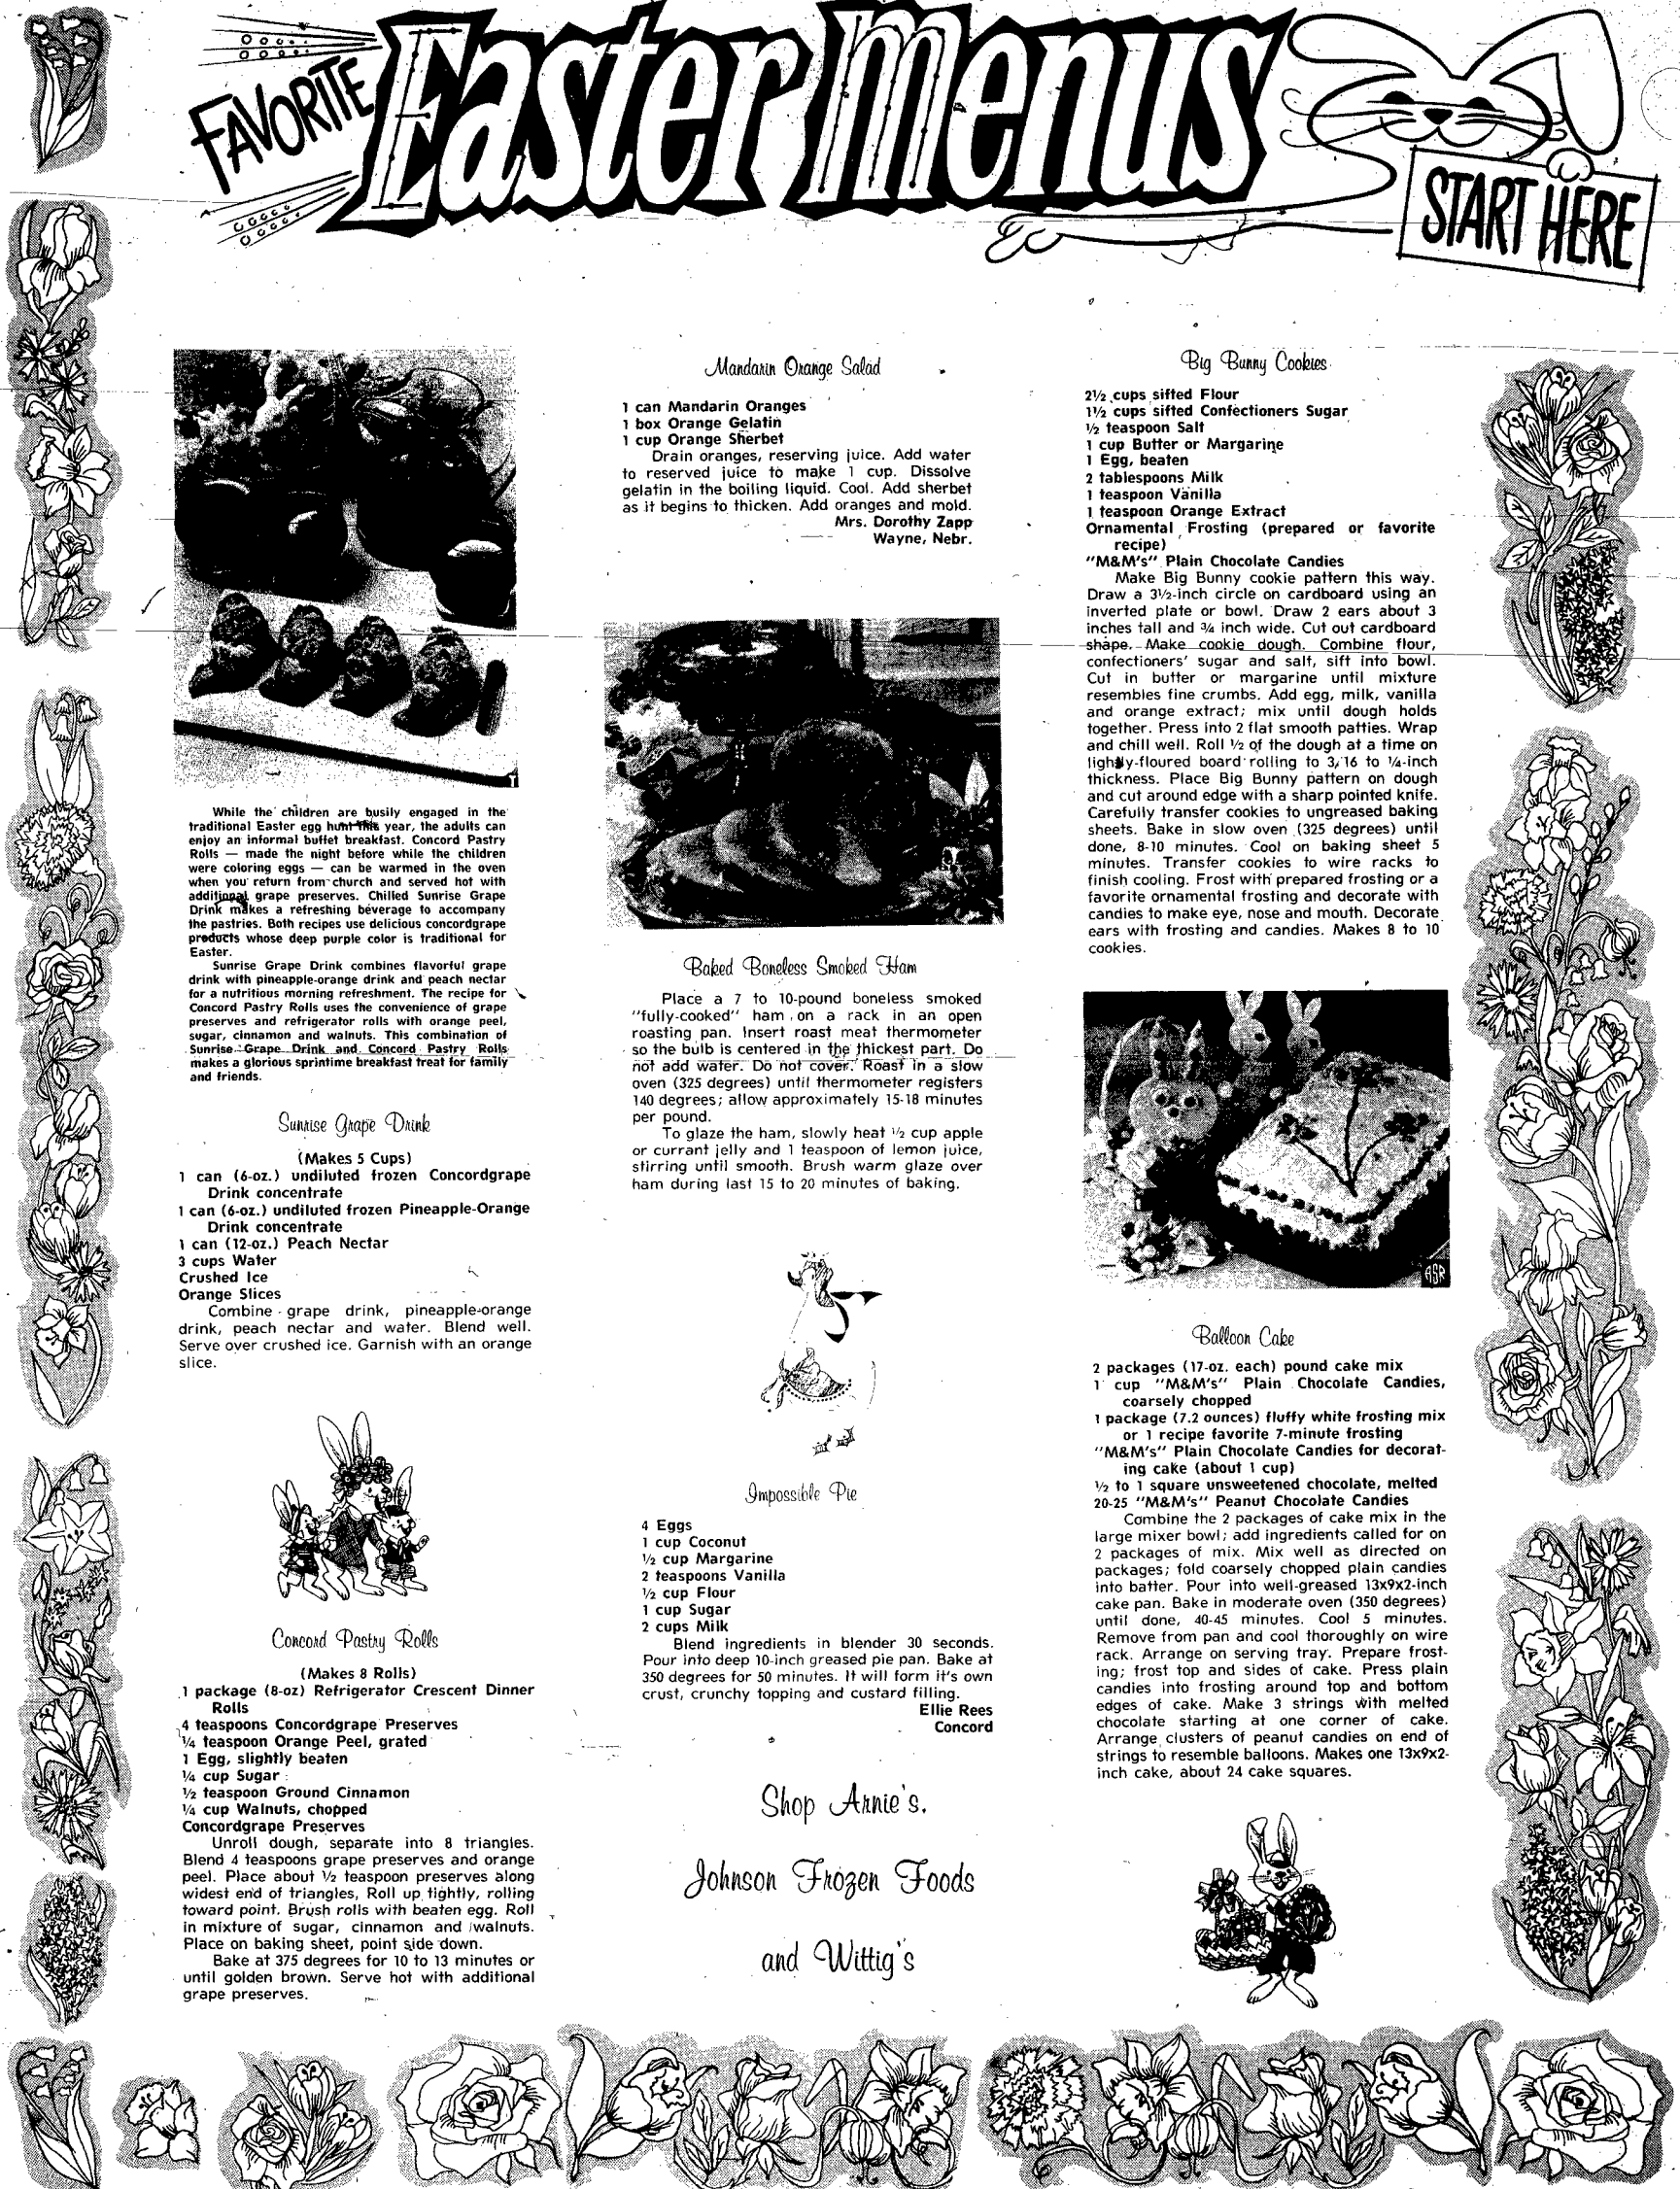

"M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies
Make Big Bunny cookie pattern this way. Draw a 3½-inch circle on cardboard using an inverted plate or bowl. Draw 2 ears about 3 inches tall and ¾ inch wide. Cut out cardboard shape. Make cookie dough. Combine flour, confectioners' sugar and salt, sift into bowl. Cut in butter or margarine until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Add egg, milk, vanilla and orange extract; mix until dough holds together. Press into 2 flat smooth patties. Wrap and chill well. Roll ½ of the dough at a time on lightly-floured board rolling to 3/16 to ¼-inch thickness. Place Big Bunny pattern on dough and cut around edge with a sharp pointed knife. Carefully transfer cookies to ungreased baking sheets. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) until done, 8-10 minutes. Cool on baking sheet 5 minutes. Transfer cookies to wire racks to finish cooling. Frost with prepared frosting or a favorite ornamental frosting and decorate with candies to make eye, nose and mouth. Decorate ears with frosting and candies. Makes 8 to 10 cookies.

Balloon Cake

- 2 packages (17-oz. each) pound cake mix
- 1 cup "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies, coarsely chopped
- 1 package (7.2 ounces) fluffy white frosting mix or 1 recipe favorite 7-minute frosting
- "M&M's" Plain Chocolate Candies for decorating cake (about 1 cup)

½ to 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
20-25 "M&M's" Peanut Chocolate Candies
Combine the 2 packages of cake mix in the large mixer bowl; add ingredients called for on 2 packages of mix. Mix well as directed on packages; fold coarsely chopped plain candies into batter. Pour into well-greased 13x9x2-inch cake pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until done, 40-45 minutes. Cool 5 minutes. Remove from pan and cool thoroughly on wire rack. Arrange on serving tray. Prepare frosting; frost top and sides of cake. Press plain candies into frosting around top and bottom edges of cake. Make 3 strings with melted chocolate starting at one corner of cake. Arrange clusters of peanut candies on end of strings to resemble balloons. Makes one 13x9x2-inch cake, about 24 cake squares.

WSC Singers
Prepare Songs For Easter
Music for the Easter season, a longer Brahms choral piece, and shorter hymns, folksongs and spirituals will highlight the annual spring concert presented by the WSC concert choir and Madrigal Singers.

The concert will be presented April 13 in Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center at 8 p.m. Dr. Cornell Runestad will conduct.

The Easter music will be Cantata No. 4, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death." Accompanying the choral forces will be instrumentalists from the WSC Orchestra, directed by Michael Palumbo.

The Brahms "Song of Fate" will feature the concert choir and pianist James Koudelka, a junior from Battle Creek.

Shorter pieces will include spirituals, hymns and folksongs and will feature Cheryl Koppe-rod, Wayne, and Claudia Maitiati, Laurel, as soloists.

At standard temperature and pressure, equal volumes of all gases contain the same number of molecules.

CAROLYN FILTER $25 Awarded in Birthday Bucks

Carolyn Filter of Wayne is the latest winner in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion, sponsored by participating Wayne businesses. Mrs. Filter, 822 Walnut, won the $25 consolation award last Thursday night when her birth date of May 31, 1943 was the closest to the winning date drawn by Gerald Bonkamp of Gerald's Decorating Center. The winning date was June 5, 1943. She was shopping at Bill's G.W. Had her date matched the winning date, Mrs. Filter would have won the $750 grand prize. As a result, the top prize is up for grabs again tonight (Thursday) when another lucky winner will be announced at 8:15. To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating store when the date is called. No purchases or registration is required.

FARM PAGE

Just Horsin' Around

SPRING-LIKE weather last week invited a lot of people to enjoy the welcomed warm weather by taking walks or just having fun playing. Not to be excluded are these three horses located on a farm just south of Concord on Highway 15. Wayne Herald photographer Bob Bertlett happened to catch the three playing as he drove back from an assignment in Laurel Thursday. At first the horses started chasing one another inside the fenced corral. Next thing, they were flinging their hooves in a playful game of tag.

U.S. Tractors Powerful, Foreign Makes More Efficient

The average American tractor is 1.8 times more powerful than tractors of foreign manufacture, according to Nikolai A. Rudakov, research assistant in the Department of Agricultural Engineering at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Rudakov, who has an advanced engineering degree earned in Moscow, Russia in 1960, has been in the U.S. since 1973. Rudakov said he heard of the Nebraska Tractor Test Lab long before he knew about Lincoln, the University, or even the state.

The test is the only one of its kind in the U.S. The yearly test summary is sort of a world-wide consumer report and many countries will not import a tractor that has not been run through the UN-L test. The official test, its required for all farm tractors of 20 h.p. and up, sold in Nebraska and was established by state law in 1919.

Using data compiled in the tests, Rudakov compared 75 tractors of foreign manufacture with 261 of domestic manufacture. Although American tractors were more powerful, foreign tractors proved more efficient in fuel consumption than their American counterparts at all percentages of their workload — even when tractors of similar horsepower were compared.

Rudakov attributed this to design emphasis stimulated by the high cost of fuel in European countries. Most of the important tractor test data were computerized, and Rudakov said this made comparisons possible involving many computations which would be laborious and time-consuming otherwise.

As an example, Rudakov cited the calculation of horsepower, resulting in a factor of weight per horsepower. From this data, a buyer can determine whether his tractor is more or less powerful than the average for its weight. Summaries of the test data on all tractors are available from Dr. Louis Leviticus, engineer-in-charge of tractor tests, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583. The title of the latest publication is "Nebraska Tractor Test Data 1977" and the cost is $1.

Lee Rupp, fishery biologist with the Norfolk office of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, pointed out problems created by overappropriating streams with surface water irrigation permits. Rupp noted that even though most streams have appropriation permits for three to five times as much water as the streams carry, the Department of Water Resources is continuing to issue even more permits to compound the problem.

Glenn Spreeman, Lower Elkhorn NRD, assistant manager, reported that details of the irrigation hotline scheduling program were being completed so crop water use information for Irrigation Scheduling will be available by June 1. The next board of directors meeting is set for April 28.

Farm Family Honored

The Jim Warner family of Allen has unanimously been elected to membership in the Ayrshire Breeder's Association, according to national secretary David Gibson Jr.

The association is dedicated to the preservation of official records for the Ayrshire breed, which originated in Country Ayr in Scotland and is famous for its ability to maintain high quantity and quality milk production.

Warner's son Jack, a senior at Allen High School, Friday received a Stater Farmer Award at the 49th Future Farmers of America state convention.

Warner was also chosen as Northeast Nebraska star Farmer. Mr. and Mrs. Warner were also honored at the FFA convention. He received a plaque as an Honorary State FFA member, and Mrs. Warner received a plaque recognizing her as mother of a Star Farmer.

Daryl McGhee and Tom Wilms are Allen High FFA instructors.

NRD Continuing Preparation for Irrigation Hotline

Reports on stream flow problems in Northeast Nebraska and the irrigation hotline scheduling program were presented to the directors of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District at their meeting in Norfolk, Thursday.

Lee Rupp, fishery biologist with the Norfolk office of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, pointed out problems created by overappropriating streams with surface water irrigation permits.

Rupp noted that even though most streams have appropriation permits for three to five times as much water as the streams carry, the Department of Water Resources is continuing to issue even more permits to compound the problem.

Glenn Spreeman, Lower Elkhorn NRD, assistant manager, reported that details of the irrigation hotline scheduling program were being completed so crop water use information for Irrigation Scheduling will be available by June 1.

The next board of directors meeting is set for April 28.

If you are going to gain on weeds, you have got to make some headway in licking the seed problem.

Some weeds produce thousands of seeds, but that is not all the problem. Wild buckwheat can produce nearly 12,000 seeds from a single plant; green foxtail, 34,000; lamb'squarter, 72,000 and pigweed, 117,000. Some very large pigweed plants may produce more than two million of these shiny little black seeds.

Shattercane seed can remain alive in the soil for 12 years. Field bindweed has been stored in the soil for 50 years and some seeds were still alive. Pigweed has a tough seed coat, it will withstand equivalents of 1,000 pounds per square inch pressure.

The above two paragraphs are a good reason for contacting the Wayne County noxious weed board and have them come to your farm with their portable seed cleaner and clean your oats and soybean seed. Russell Lindsay, Jr. is the weed superintendent.

2, 4-D
Cold temperatures will not deteriorate the active ingredient in any of our commonly used herbicides including 2,4-D. Low temperatures may cause separation of the ingredients through crystallization or separation of liquids. If this has occurred placing the container in sunlight at room temperature and rilling the containers periodically will constitute the formation. The herbicide will not have lost its effectiveness as a result of the low temperature storage.

Delay Grazing Bromegrass

Pasture
Grass roots reserves below the ground determines how much top growth can be harvested from a brome grass pasture. Now that we have improved moisture, fertilized bromegrass pastures should make a rapid growth. Grass roots grow first; then the tops. You should delay pasturing until early May. This is especially important if the bromegrass had been pastured last fall. Fall grazed pastures do not build up root reserves. The lack of root reserves will delay spring growth requiring that spring pasturing be delayed.

Proper bromegrass pasture management requires that a continuously grazed pasture be stocked so that no more than 50 percent of each year's growth is used.

Goos pasture management practices will result in a minimum of weed growth. But if weeds are present it should pay to use chemical weed control.

Temperature Control Is Pig Production Factor

Of all environmental factors, temperature appears to have the greatest impact on a pig's metabolism throughout his life and should receive much attention from producers, according to Dr. Bobby Moser, University of Nebraska-Lincoln animal science professor.

He said temperature control is especially important for baby pigs, as their vulnerability to cold and damp conditions is increased by sparse amounts of hair, low subcutaneous fat and thin skin, resulting in an inability to control body temperature efficiently.

blood glucose decline, he added. "If a newborn pig is allowed to nurse, not only will they receive needed nutrients, but the heat generated by the process of digestion will aid them in keeping warm," he noted.

Moser said the lower critical temperature of the newborn pig is about 86 degrees, which gradually declines as the pig grows. For maximum survival of newborn pigs, he said, supplemental heat that creates a floor temperature of 90 degrees should be provided.

More Teachers Needed For Voc-Ag Classes

Not enough students are graduating from the agricultural education program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln to fill the vacancies for vocational agriculture teachers in Nebraska.

This conclusion is the result of research involving 227 agricultural education graduates, according to Wayne Oberg, instructor of agricultural education at UN-L.

The demand for teachers far surpasses the supply of trained personnel," he says. "Each year agricultural education graduates have had many opportunities from which to select a job."

Association, or Federal Land Bank

Oberg points out, has Nebraska had a sufficient number of graduates to meet the needs within the state. "With increased enrollments and a broadened curriculum at the secondary school level, multiple-teacher departments become a necessity," he says.

The starting salary for a vocational agricultural teacher is around $11,000, Oberg says. Of the 227 graduates from the fall of 1970 to the spring of 1976, 37 per cent of the graduates became voc-ag instructors, while 29 per cent entered the farming or ranching business. Twenty per cent entered agriscience, the Farmers Home Administration (FHA), The Production Credit

Producers attempting to wean pigs at three instead of the traditional six weeks of age should maintain a higher temperature of about 80 degrees for the weaning stress, he said. Temperatures then can be reduced gradually to about 70 degrees by the time the animals reach 40 pounds, he added.

"Mortality during this (early weaning) period has been reported to be as high as 10 to 12 per cent, and weight gains are minimal," Moser said. "These pigs are weaned at or close to the period when they have lost their maternal immunity to disease and have not yet established sufficiently active resistance of their own to infection."

Plants Adjust During Drought

Some plants may "remember" their first experience with drought and then become more efficient in avoiding water loss, says Dr. Charles Sullivan, a USDA-Agricultural Research Service plant physiologist stationed at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Sullivan and graduate research assistant Norma Norcio's studies found that a water conservation mechanism seems to develop in some drought-stressed sorghum plants. These plants could be differentiated from those lacking the mechanism by retention of a proportionately higher level of the biochemical abscisic acid after rewatering, according to the study.

Sullivan said three genotypes of sorghum were tested. (A genotype is a group of individuals sharing a specified genetic makeup, or the genetic constitution of an individual or group). The genotype not classified as drought-tolerant "remembered" the drought and did not open its stomata (or leaf pores) completely after exposure to drought conditions; the other two genotypes tested were classified as drought-tolerant. They opened their stomata completely with watering after drought exposure.

The first genotype had higher levels of free abscisic acid after rewatering than the drought-tolerant classified genotypes.

Sullivan said research has been conducted on sorghum and other crops in New Zealand and California. "Some of their reports concluded differently than ours," he said.

It is possible to add abscisic acid to plants artificially, according to Sullivan. "Others have shown that spraying (with abscisic acid) increases the concentration in plants and may trigger stomatal reaction," he said.

"It is our conclusion that nature may adjust for drought,

NLN Works to Improve Local Library Services

The ultimate goal of all the libraries in Nebraska is "library service to all Nebraskans" according to Charles Stelling, director of information services at Wayne State College.

Month after month, the Northern Library Network gets closer to this goal as they tally up accomplishments in monthly meetings. Representing 18 Northeast Nebraska counties, members consist of public librarians, school and college librarians, library users and trustees, and special people representing library and media.

Last month this group met at Wayne State College in a type of "in-between" meeting according to Stelling. For the first time about a year ago, while at the same time took a look ahead at future projects in Nebraska libraries.

Library happenings. Emphasized are services available, library financing, and library cooperation.

Stelling said that Nebraska is one of the few states that already has held a Governor's Conference. The director said the conference is part of the long work prior to a Presidential Library Conference, scheduled in 1979.

Library persons throughout the nation have been pushing for this conference, stated Stelling, to develop a nationwide network for library and informational services, to better serve U.S. citizens.

Seventeen library persons looked over the new OCLC pilot project during their meeting at Wayne State. Stelling also announced that interviews are in process for an OCLC project coordinator.

Other upcoming projects discussed were publicity plans for libraries in the Northern Library Network and an outreach program, an effort to identify people who do not have access to libraries.

A representative to the projects committee reported that a pilot program had been developed in Hartington with the initiation of a county library to service and receive assistance from smaller area town. A similar project is in the discussion stages for low income counties including Knox, Cedar, and Dixon.

An itinerant librarian was another possibility discussed by NLN members. This person would service libraries throughout the area, helping them to understand interlibrary loans, and assisting in references and workshops.

The NLN group is also considering the possibility of creating a large print circulating collection for people unable to read small print in books, and the creation of circulating reference materials.

According to follow-up conference chairman Stelling, the conferences are a result of the Governor's Conference on Library and Information Science, held in April 1976.

The follow-up sessions, according to Stelling, are designed to keep people informed on library budget workshops and Governor's follow-up conferences were discussed by members along with upcoming projects.

Budget workshops in Pender, Neligh, and Columbus have dealt with how to develop a budget and how to justify it to the city council. Through the workshops several library persons are learning for the first time about a library budget form to request money from the city government. This form, required by law, was developed in 1969.

Governor's follow-up conferences have been held in two county segments in the following towns: Elmwood, West Point, Albion, Neligh, Hartington, Plainview, Columbus, and David City.

According to follow-up conference chairman Stelling, the conferences are a result of the Governor's Conference on Library and Information Science, held in April 1976.

Youngsters Invited to Hunt Easter Eggs

The Winside Federated Woman's Club will sponsor an Easter egg hunt this Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the city park.

Divisions are—preschool through kindergarten; first and second graders; and third and fourth graders.

Chairmen are Mrs. Donovan Leighton and Mrs. Robert Krafcik.

Friday in the church basement. Thirty-seven women took part in the quilting and a cooperative lunch was served at the close of each afternoon.

Women will quilt again today (Thursday) at the church.

Eldon Thies home to honor the confirmation of Linda were the Arland Thieses, the Herb Willis family, Gib Thies and Paul Willis. Joining them for the afternoon were the Terry Thies family and Alvin Thieses. Evening guests to honor Linda were the Richard Janssens, Becky, Mindy and Mark, and the Dale Behrens.

28. Story hour for Winside children will be held at the local library in June.

Large print Reader's Digest books are now available at the library. A complimentary subscription to the Moody Monthly magazine has been received from the Moody Institute. Other courtesy books are "Eckankar — The Key to Secret Words" by Paul Mitchell from the Eckankar International Office at Menlo Park, Calif., and "Shoppers' Guide," a 1974 yearbook of agriculture, courtesy of Congressman Charles Thone. A handbook for coin collectors has also been received.

U.S.D.A. NEWS

Nebraska pork producers has 2.9 million hogs and pigs on hand March 1, according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

This inventory number is seven per cent above a year earlier and 14 per cent above two years ago. Breeding stock is up only slightly from last year while market hogs are up nine per cent.

Pig Crop up 10 per cent
Farrowings during the December 1976-February 1977 quarter totaled 1,038,000. This first quarter pig crop is up 10 per cent from a year ago and 24 per cent above two years ago.

Farrowing Intentions Are Same
Intentions of Nebraska pork producers are to farrow 205,000 sows during the March-May quarter, unchanged from last year but 28 per cent above 1975.

Nebraska pork producers as of March 1 intend to farrow 155,000 sows during the June-August quarter. This would be unchanged from the third quarter of last year but 24 per cent above the comparable period two years ago.

Nebraska Cattle up 15 per cent
Nebraska cattle feeders has 1.5 million cattle on feed on March 1, up 15 per cent from last year and 56 per cent from 1975. However, the current number on feed is three per cent below the record set in 1973.

Marketings during February by Nebraska cattle feeders totaled 320,000. This is up 23 per cent from 1976 and 28 per cent from 1975. Placements of cattle into feedlots during February at 305,000 are up 16 per cent from last year and 124 per cent from two years ago. Although marketings and placements are up substantially, they are below previous record highs for the month.

Cattle in Seven States Down
Cattle and calves on feed March 1 for slaughter marked in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 7,546,000 head, down seven per cent from a year ago but 29 per cent more than March 1, 1975. The number of calves on feed was 100 per cent more than a year ago in five of the seven states.

February placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states totaled 1,361,000, four per cent fewer than February last year but 69 per cent greater than February 1975. Placements were above a year ago in two states.

Feed cattle marketed during February totaled 1,566,000, up two per cent from 1976 and 19 per cent more than February 1975. Marketings were above last year in four of the seven states.

Other disappearance totaled 117,000, compared with 118,000 in February a year ago.

Happy Birthday, Wendi

THERE'S A celebration of sorts going on at Wakefield Health Care Center today (Thursday) as the staff marks the birthday of one-month-old Wendi Rae Karmann. The two-pound, six and a half ounce daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Karmann of Dixon has captured the hearts of this community. Wendi was born three months premature at 1:24 a.m. on March 7, weighing only two pounds, four ounces. She dropped down to just under two pounds before she started gaining about a half ounce every day. At the time of her birth Wendi measured only 15 inches. According to Elvera Borg, director of nursing at the center who is holding the baby, Wendi is becoming more active every day. Already she has fingernails and hair, and probably by the time she reaches five pound, she'll be ready to go home with her parents.
