State High Court Asked To Settle Damage Claim

A Wayne County district court decision setting aside a judgment in a civil action will be appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The appeal was filed April 18 in behalf of Mrs. Merle Tietzort, who has been trying to recover damages which occurred more than four years ago when an automobile slammed into two greenhouses owned then by her and her husband.

The sound of twisted metal and breaking glass failed to awaken the Tietzorts on March 26, 1973, but a call from the police did. An auto driven by Gerald Rame had left the road and plowed right into two of the three greenhouses operated by the couple under the name Logan Valley Nursery.

The Tietzorts moved to Wayne in 1933 to operate the greenhouses for D. Hall. They purchased the greenhouses in 1948 and had been in business since then, retailing much of their product in Wayne, and wholesaling the remainder to garden centers in the region.

The Tietzorts filed an action in June 1973 seeking to recover. See COURT, page 10

Wayne Nurse Joins Husband As CPR Teacher

Mrs. Louise Jenness of Wayne is one of nine Northeast Nebraskans who recently became a certified instructor in basic cardiac life support.

Mrs. Jenness, a registered nurse at Providence Medical Center in Wayne, received her certificate Tuesday night and is now qualified to teach cardiopulmonary life saving techniques.

She will join other Wayne County instructors, including her husband Milton, in teaching the life support techniques to local residents. He was also an instructor-trainer in the instructor course completed by Mrs. Jenness. Standards for the course are approved by the American Heart Association and the American National Red Cross.

The life saving techniques used in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) are mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external chest compression, which provide vital oxygenation to the brain when a person has stopped breathing and their heart has stopped beating.

Bake-Off Nets $634

The Wayne County March of Dimes chapter auctioned off two dozen cakes Thursday night and netted $634.

A trophy for best overall cake in the second annual "Battle of the Batter" contest and auction went to Dave Ewing Jr. for his hobby horse-shaped cake. Ewing's entry was also the top money earner, selling for $75.

Gary Blecke's entry was the second highest earner, selling for $45. His entry "You can't Make a Silk Purse out of Sow's Ear," featured a happy porker about to gobble up an ear of corn, adorneed, appropriately enough, with corn candy.

Blecke, who runs a swine finishing operation, won a plaque for best occupational theme.

Roger Boyce captured the prize for best March of Dimes theme, his cake bearing the organization's symbol. His cake sold for $35.

The First National Bank was the successful bidder for Ewing's cake, the Black Knight Restaurant bought Blecke's prize winning entry and Triangle Finance purchased Boyce's cake.

March of Dimes chairman Merle Rise said money raised through the auction will be used to help pay for an infant warmer used by Providence Medical Center.

In all, 24 men donned aprons and took their turn at baking, Wednesday and Thursday at the People's Natural Gas office in Wayne, where the auction was held.

Coordinators for the event were Mrs. William Corbit and Mrs. Kenneth McQuistan. Mrs. John Mohr and Ted Blendenman, both of Wayne, judged the contest. Auctioneers were Stan Baier and Orville Lage, both of See BAKE-OFF, page 10

Wildlife Habitat Proposed Use for Railroad Lands

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) board of directors Thursday night discussed a proposal that part of the right-of-way property along the abandoned Wayne-Dakota City railway line be acquired for use as a wildlife habitat area.

The Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. has been granted permission to end service on the branch line and Wayne area residents have expressed an interest in obtaining some right of way property west of Wakefield not suitable for farming to be maintained as a habitat area, LENRD board member Bob Jordan of Wayne said.

Nebraska Game and Parks Commission representatives will be at the LENRD meeting to discuss the idea, Jordan said.

Also on the agenda for the meeting, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at the LENRD headquarters building in Norfolk, is discussion of a sandpit lake south of Pilger on Highway 15. A landowner has requested that the LENRD consider operating and maintaining the property for public use.

The board will discuss acquisition of a third area, Bremer Canyon in Stanton County.

The 200-acre area is one of two tracts in the Lower Elkhorn district with native horticulture. According to the agenda, the LENRD board of directors will discuss the purchasing the land and the possibility of receiving funds for the Game and Parks Commission for that purpose.

Middle School Concert Planned

The Wayne Middle School Spring Concert is scheduled to begin at 7:30 Tuesday night in the high school lecture hall.

Bands from the fifth grade and sixth grade, and a combined seventh and eighth grade band, will perform a number of selections including "You're a Grand Old Flag" and "British Grenadiers."

Laurel Student Receives Jaycee Scholarship

A 17-year-old Laurel High School senior is one of five students selected to receive a 1977 U.S. Jaycees War Memorial Fund Scholarship.

Lisa Anderson will receive one of the scholarships, awarded annually since 1954.

An officer in many clubs, including 4-H which she has been a member of for nine years, Miss Anderson has a 3.6 scholastic average on a 4.0 scale and ranks fifth in her class.

Other scholarship recipients hail from North Dakota, Massachusetts, Wyoming and New Mexico.

The scholarships, worth $750, are awarded through state Jaycee organizations. Criteria for selection include academic potential, leadership traits, and family service to the country and community.

County Population Down

Wayne County's population has dropped by more than 1,000 since 1970, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Bureau of Business Research, but the decline largely reflects a drop-off in college enrollment.

There is an encouraging note, according to the study, the county's population took a healthy jump between 1975 and 1976, the first increase in Wayne County during the 1970s.

Figures cited by the Bureau of Business Research are estimates covering the 1970-76 period.

The 1976 estimate indicated Wayne County may be experiencing some rural population growth in the Norfolk area in the southwestern portion of the county.

Future estimates for Wayne County should be monitored closely to determine whether the population increase shown from 1975 to 1976 was temporary, or the signal of a more lasting trend, according to Vicki Stepp, Bureau of Business Research senior demographer.

Population in Wayne County recorded during the 1970 census was 10,400. The estimate for 1976 is 9,211.

Dakota County is the most rapidly growing county in Nebraska, according to the estimates. Rapid population growth was also estimated for three other Northeast Nebraska Counties: Stanton, 16 per cent, Madison, five per cent, and Platte, 4.9 per cent, compared to the state's 4.5 per cent population increase from 1970 to 1976.

Dixon County continued a 1960s trend of population decline into the 1970s, but at a slower rate of decline.

Pair Repeat as 4-H Speech Winners

A pair of top award winners in the 4-H district speech contest last year did it again this year.

Mike Rethwisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Rethwisch of rural Wayne, won the senior boys division with his purple-ribbon talk, "Water, Water, Who's Got the Water?" Cindy Bull who received a purple ribbon for her speech, "Going, Going, Gone," which won the senior division. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Bull of Wayne.

Both 4-H'ers will represent Wayne County at the district Timely Topics speech contest at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk on Saturday, May 7.

Thirty-three Wayne County 4-H'ers, including fifteen giving a contest speech for the first time, participated in the competition Tuesday at the Student Center at Wayne State College.

Other purple ribbon winners in the senior division were Kris Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Wayne; Cindy Gnirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gnirk of Hoskins; and Marvin Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hansen of Wayne.

Diane Lindsay, Terri Melena and Anita Sandahl each received a blue ribbon. Red ribbons were awarded to Gloria Hansen and Barbara Gnirk.

Receiving purple ribbons for their speeches in the Junior division were Judy Bauermeister, Dawn Droeschler, Patty Gnirk, Jane Hirt, Blaine Johns, Todd Manulak, Barbara Svoboda, Barbara Wichman and Bruce Wischman.

Blue ribbons were awarded to Debby Bull, Kathy Gnirk, Dale Hansen, Trudy Hansen, Shelly Krusemark, Joan Loberg, Shaun Niemann, Steven Rethwisch, Randall Runquist, Karen Sandahl and Duane Svoboda.

Daniel Mundt, Kim Schlueter and David Schlueter participated in the contest for participation ribbons only.

All participants who received a purple ribbon in the contest are members of the newly organized Wayne 4-H Ambassador Club, sponsored by the Wayne County Farm Bureau. Members of the club will receive a special medal, plus special recognition from the Wayne County Farm Bureau. The Ambassador club members will also be given an opportunity to give their talks at meetings and organizations. Any organization wishing to have a couple of the Ambassadors speak at their meeting should contact Don Spitzke, Wayne County agent at the Extension Office.

WSC Students Elected in Model UN

With two Wayne State College students elected to high positions and four WSC resolutions making it to the top, the school's contingent, fared well for a third time at the National Model United Nations Seminar in New York City.

Dave Ryan of Plattsmouth, representing the nation of Qatar, was elected as chairman of the Arab League while Don Toply of Clarkson, representing Cuba, was elected as Rapporteur of the Committee on Palestinian Rights.

Four resolutions written by WSC students were incorporated into final resolutions that passed in the final General Assembly session held in the United Nations Building. The resolutions dealt with Palestinian rights, apartheid, neo-colonialism, and decolonization of the Falkland Islands.

A record, more than 1,200 students from throughout the nation represented 136 nations in the simulated UN sessions. Conducted by students from the School of International Affairs at Georgetown, the UN program put WSC in international competition with such schools as Princeton, John Hopkins, UCLA, and Penn State.

The only other Nebraska college represented in the week-long UN seminar was Creighton University of Omaha.

Allen O'Donnell, who sponsored the trip with William Hagerman, commented that the program modeled after the actual UN procedure is "the See MODEL UN, page 10

Siren Test Is Friday

The City of Wayne Civil Defense Sirens will sound again Friday, date for the monthly testing of the sirens authorized by the city council.

The test will begin at 1 p.m., according to police chief Vern Fairchild, assistant Civil Defense director.

Sirens will be tested in the following sequence: tornado warning, both high and low pitches for three minutes; a one-minute pause; fire signal, high and low pitches alternating every 10 seconds for three minutes; one-minute pause; attack, both high and low pitches, on for 10 seconds, off for 10 seconds, continuing for three minutes.

Fairchild said the public should immediately take shelter upon hearing either the tornado or attack signals, except during tests.

Job Well Done

RURAL MAIL carrier Robert Johnson was cited by the U.S. Postal Service for outstanding performance in aiding a rural patron. Johnson, who has been a rural carrier for the past 28 years, saw and reported a fire near a barn on the Gary Sievers farm northeast of Carroll on March 24. "His attentiveness and prompt action saved the barn which contained Sievers' hogs," said postmaster Betty Kavanaugh during a presentation Friday of a Certificate of Awards for Superior Achievement. This is the second such award Johnson has received. Several years ago he was noted for helping save most of the contents of another rural patron's home which was burning. Present for the ceremony were Mrs. Johnson and Kenneth Eddie, Wayne County commissioner and mayor of Carroll.

Office Closed But Pledges Still Accepted

The Wayne Hospital Foundation has closed out its office at the Wayne Chamber of Commerce but provisions have been made for accepting the balance of funds pledged for construction of Providence Medical Center.

Foundation secretary Kenneth Olds said the pledge service committee decided it could no longer justify the expense of maintaining the office. Pledge payments will be received by Olds and pledge service committee treasurer Joan Lage at the First National Bank, or Robert Jordan at the State National Bank.

Pledge checks can also be mailed to Box 1, Wayne.

About $84,000 of the original $870,000 in pledges remains to be paid, Olds said, adding that the foundation still has some indebtedness to pay.

CINDY BULL

MIKE RETHWISCH

By JIM STRAYER

A final decision has not been made but it is likely that room rates at Providence Medical Center will increase in the near future, hospital administrator Sister Therese Koch said Thursday.

Authorization for the rate increase must come from the Beneficent Sisters' hospital governing board but Sister Therese said it appears rising costs of operation will dictate an increase to $70 a day from the current $60 rate.

PMC has operated at a loss since it opened its doors to patients Sept. 1, 1975, and while that is normal for a hospital during its first few years, Sister Therese said, higher than expected operating costs, particularly for utilities, have aggravated the situation.

Total operating expenses for 1976 was about $809,000. Of that amount, some $130,000 was for plant operation alone.

Utility costs have put a big bite on many budgets and PMC is no exception. The hospital contracts for steam heat and chilled water with Energy Systems in Wayne, a division of Northern Natural Gas.

When the hospital was under construction, it was anticipated that annual cost of the service would be about $36,000. Actual cost in 1976 was closer to $90,000.

During the winter of 1972-73, Energy Systems paid 12.16 cents a gallon for No. 2 heating fuel. The price now is 39.45 cents a gallon. The price of natural gas has increased from just under 50 cents to nearly $1.38 per thousand cubic feet in the same period.

An increase in electric rates in Wayne has also affected the PMC financial picture. The price of hospital supplies increases by about 10 per cent a year and hospitals experience the same rising food prices as other consumers. Sister Therese pointed out.

The hospital is now conducting a study of ways to save energy and reduce utility costs.

Talking about hospital costs in general, Sister Therese said expenses have continued to increase in recent years for a number of reasons. A better educated public is demanding better and additional services and Medicare regulations have dictated hiring of more and better qualified personnel. The proportion of unskilled workers have declined and more in-service training is provided for staff members.

Personnel costs for hospitals are high compared with many businesses because of 24-hour a day operation, according to a study by the American Hospital Association. Personnel account for about 60 per cent of the hospital's operating costs while personnel costs amount to about 25 per cent of operating expense for most industries.

"We must maintain our staff 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, regardless of the number of patients." Sister Therese pointed out.

Looked at another way, hospitals operate 168 hours a week, more than four times the operating time for a 40-hour a week industry.

According to the AHA study, hospitals generally employ five workers for every two patients. The PMC staff includes 13 registered nurses; two licensed practical nurses, 15 nurses aids, an X-ray technician, two medical technologists, a physical therapist, an inhalation therapist, and office workers, housekeepers, kitchen workers and consultant services of a registered dietitian.

Providence Medical Center offers nursing services in two patient wings with access from a central nurses station. In addition, the special care unit is directly open to the nurses station on one side, and the nursery on the other.

The hospital has two complete rooms in its surgery suite, one for surgery and one for delivery. Both have modern equipment including piped-in oxygen, nitrous oxide and vacuum. The recovery room is also part of this suite.

The intensive care unit, located directly off the nurses station, has the latest cardiac monitoring equipment and an endovascular system for efficient nursing services for the critically ill.

The nursery provides constant and direct supervision by nurses. An islette See HOSPITAL, page 10

OBSERVATIONS

City in court—again

The City of Wayne is in court again, this time over its disapproval of a claim submitted by the Nebraska Municipal Power Pool for membership dues.

Council members said they did not think the claim should be honored because the NAMPP had not completed projects it promised when soliciting memberships.

We don't pretend to know who is right and who is wrong in the case. We will let the courts decide that.

We do know, however, that the council took the action to disallow the claim after then city attorney Budd Borrihoff said he thought it was a valid claim.

It isn't the first time the council has asked for an attorney's opinion, then gone its own way when the opinion wasn't what members apparently wanted to hear.

We are reminded of the story about the tycoon who said he didn't hire lawyers to tell him what he couldn't do, he hired them to tell him how to get done what he wanted to get done.

Which makes one wonder if the council really needs an attorney. With so much legal talent sitting on the body, it might be as well to save the taxpayers some money and do without.

That isn't to say the council doesn't have the right to take action contrary to its attorney's opinion. But experience has taught us that lawyers are ill advised to argue questions of law with a lawyer.

Perhaps they are right, but it will be interesting to see how the most recently filed litigation involving the city comes out—Jim Strayer

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

The spare tire is on its way to the automotive archives, according to the Automotive Information Council. It may be a while before the long sought goal of eliminating the fifth wheel and tire on all cars is accomplished but the trend is definite.

One reason for going with four tires is ancient in automotive annals—more room for luggage. The second and much more important point is the current need to reduce total car weight. By federal order, the car companies must produce automobiles in the 1978 model year that will give them an average of 18 miles per gallon on their total output. Weight reduction is the shortest route to better fuel economy.

At least three tire makers have disclosed programs that either may lighten the spare or get rid of it.

Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. has just received a go-ahead from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for its Tempa-Spare, a temporary tire that weighs 17 to 20 pounds less than the conventional tire and rim. It stores fully inflated but takes only half as much storage space. The temporary tire is just that. Inflated at 60 pounds per square inch, it will give a comfortable ride. Its tread is 2,000 miles, so the motorist should have the regular tire repaired or replaced.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. is testing a tire that will run "flat." Actually, it is a tire with a tough molded fiberglass structure. When the tire flattens, that inner structure supports the "flat" and the car for about 50 miles at nearly legal expressway speed. The driver will know he has a problem because the tire will thump. The tire has two built-in flat spots so the motorist will be aware of the need for a repair.

B.F. Goodrich announced a self-supporting tire at the convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers in Detroit in March. It will run without air, thanks to a self-supporting inner structure. Goodrich said its tests showed the tire ran for more than 45 miles at 45 miles per hour. The Goodrich concept would require some type of a warning device to let the motorist know that one of his tires was rolling without air.

Auto company researchers have talked about a light on the instrument panel to alert motorists when tire pressure is low. When can we expect a new kind of spare or no spare at all? Sooner than you think. Possibly, in the upcoming model year.

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Kids can be disarming at times. During a recent weekend in Lincoln, my youngest niece who has a propensity for zeroing in on any available dirt, stomped into my sister's house with mud all over her nice, white sandals.

Using a vernacular expression, sis exclaimed, "You little turkey."

To which her offspring replied, "Gobbie, gobbie, mommy." (That'll teach you to buy all of those educational toys.)

Poor Turnout

The turnout for the Nebraska Bar Association meeting on the state judicial system was disappointing, but not surprising. Only a couple of people showed up, outside of some county officials. My theory for the poor showing: Most people don't know enough about the court system to have any idea if anything is wrong with it, and most don't care enough to find out—until they become entangled in it.

On the positive side, some comments worthy of consideration were offered by those individuals who did attend, both public and private.

Terribly Ponderous

The system can be terribly ponderous. While it isn't practical to set hard and fast rules for how soon cases must be heard, it does seem reasonable that some guidelines could be set which would speed up the judicial process while still allowing judges flexibility. Case load and merits of individual cases, of course, have a profound effect on how soon cases, both civil and criminal, can be heard, and a speedy trial isn't always to the benefit of the accused.

At the same time, it often seems that cases are delayed without any really good reason.

No Cause for Alarm

The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that corporal punishment in schools does not violate constitutional guarantees against cruel and unusual punishment.

I can't find any fault with the decision. Some fears have been expressed that teachers will take the decision as a declaration of open season on students.

I don't see much danger in that happening, certainly not in local school systems. Sure, there are undoubtedly some bad apples among teachers, as there are in any profession. For the most part, however, in my view, teachers are a pretty dedicated bunch of individuals. Also, policies set by school boards will still govern the use of corporal punishment and I suspect more than a few across the nation will continue a ban on the disciplinary measure.

But so far as the principle goes, it has always seemed strange to me that a society which places ever increasing responsibility for the upbringing of its young people on the schools has exhibited a decreasing willingness to allow teachers to discipline those same children. The Supreme Court decision isn't a panacea for schools where a disciplinary problem exists, but the principle is an acceptable one.

Audible Program

We were finally able to get some pictures of the Wayne High building and construction class in the last issue of the paper, although not as many as we would have liked to.

I've been impressed with the class, taught by Mike Mallette, which gives students some on the job training in the building trade. It's a good program, which I understand is becoming increasingly popular.

Out of Old

The Fort Niobrara and Rosebud Reservation photographs of John Alvin Anderson have long been known to the public. Anderson was a talented frontier photographer, not only in his mastery of the skills required to operate the unwieldy photographic equipment of his day but also in his artistic representation of the vanishing way of life of the Brule Sioux.

Henry W. and Jean Tyree Hamilton of The Sioux of the Rosebud from the Nebraska State Historical Society Library includes an account of Anderson's life, and reproductions of many of his remarkable photographs.

Born in Stockholm on March 25, 1869, Anderson emigrated with his family to the United States in 1870. The Andersons lived on Long Island and in Pennsylvania before settling in the early 1880's on a Cherry County homestead near Fort Niobrara. To help with expenses John did carpentry work in Valentine, the new town near the Anderson homestead.

Just how young Anderson became interested in photography is not known, but by 1885 he was taking pictures for the army at Fort Niobrara. Later he apprenticed himself to W.R. Cross, a commercial photographer who had established a studio at Fort Niobrara about 1884. For a short time in 1888 the two men worked together at Fort Meade in western South Dakota, but soon Anderson was back at Fort Niobrara, where he began working as a civilian photographer with the Army and established his own studio for commercial work. As far as is known, his pictures of the great snow drifts at the Rosebud Agency, he also spent a great deal of time photographing the Brule Sioux, doing formal portrait photographs and scenes of reservation life.

In 1883 Anderson bought an interest in the Jordan trading post. Two years later, on October 13, 1895, he married Myrtle Miller at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and brought her to the Rosebud Agency, where they were to live and work for 42 years among the Brule Sioux.

After several years of ranching, Anderson operated the Sioux Indian Museum at Rapid City, South Dakota, where he displayed his photographs and collection of Indian artifacts. The latter was sold to the U.S. Department of the Interior in 1938, though his photographs were in his possession when he died on June 26, 1948, at Atascadero, California.

The article, "John Alvin Anderson," Nebraska History, Winter, 1970, explains the acquisition by the Nebraska State Historical Society of some 350 original Anderson photograph negatives. Certain photographs were known from pictures already in Society collections and from other prints left by Anderson; others had not previously been identified as his work. The photographs are an invaluable record of Anderson's skill as a photographer and of the declining years of the Brule Sioux.

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

Schram-Harral Vows Spoken

Cheryl Schram became the Bride of Steven Henry Harral in 3 p.m. rites April 16 at the Southminster United Methodist Church in Lincoln. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Schram of Wayne, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Harral of Lincoln. The Rev. Norman Kauble officiated at the double ring rites. Kathy Cool and Cathy Wolf sang "The Wedding Song" and "Follow Me," accompanied by Mrs. Marge Underwood. All are of Lincoln. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride appeared in a formal gown fashioned of jersey knit in the traditional white. The fitted bodice was styled with a sheer yoke applied with silk daisy pattern Venise lace and outlined with a double band of narrow lace trim. Lace was repeated on the high collar, front bodice and waistline. The bodice was completed with long, tapered sleeves trimmed with lace. Dainty lace appliques highlighted the A-line skirt which swept into a cation-length train. Her gown was complimented with a veil of sheer illusion bordered with narrow lace trim, falling to a fingertip length from a frame headpiece of open work Venise lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Jane Mau of Lincoln. Her gown was a sleeveless green knit with a nylon cover-up in floor length. Best man was Ed Keel of Hickman, and ushers were Mark Schram of Wayne, brother of the bride, and Doug Harral of Lincoln, the bridegroom's brother. Escorting the couple's mothers were Monte Schram of LaVista and Mark Harral of Lincoln. The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo with a white shirt and his attendant wore a white tuxedo, and light green shirt. Flower girl and ring bearer were the bride's twin niece and nephew, Melissa Mau and Jason Mau of Lincoln. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Schram chose a floor-length peach knit with a lace jacket, also floor length. Mrs. Harral wore a blue metallation polyester dress in floor length, with a jacket. A reception was held at the Arapahoe Village Apartment club house in Lincoln following the wedding. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Schram of Norfolk. Wayne's Second Loss Means...

'We Have to Play Headsup'

Wayne coach Mike Mallette wasn't kidding when he said area high school baseball teams aren't going to be easy pickins' for his defending Class B state club.

"Baseball teams around here are tough and there's no easy breather for us. We're just going to have to play headsup all the time," Mallette pointed out after his Blue Devils suffered their second setback of the young season.

Delivering that loss for the second time was a young, but salty crew from Bancroft, this time by the score of 5-4 in a game Friday at the city ball park.

Mallette concedes that Bancroft's bats had a lot to do with their win, but so did Wayne's momentary lapses on defense which aided the Bulldogs.

The Devils looked like they had the game in control with a three-run spurge in the fourth for a 3-2 command. First baseman Vic Sharpe hit a towering triple to deep center field to score two runs with just one away. He then came home on Doug Carroll's squeeze bunt.

Bancroft, which used three hurlers to quell Wayne's hopes, shut off the Devils' hitting until the bottom of the sixth when the hosts produced two hits — but no runs. Meanwhile, Bancroft tied the ball game with a solo run in the top of the fifth and took over the lead in the top of the seventh with a two-run single off reliever Carroll on the middle.

"They (Bancroft) have been getting the good hits a couple of times so I decided to put Doug in the game," Mallette explained about replacing starter Tom Ginn. "Plambeck (who was at bat) is a good curve ball hitter and Doug was planning to jam the ball inside, but the ball went down the middle."

The locals threatened to score in the seventh with runners on first and second with two outs. Center fielder Aaron Nissen, who was three for four at the plate, blasted a double to drive home pinch hitter Al Nissen and put Jeff Dion on third, before Terry Bargmann retired the side with a strikeout.

Following a home game Saturday with Wakefield, the Devils will host Allen today (Monday) and venture to Boys Town in Omaha for a doubleheader Wednesday.

Prather's 36 Pilots Golfers In Triangular

SI Prather turned in his first par round of 36 in high school competition Tuesday to lead Wayne High to a triangular win over West Point and Madison.

The senior veteran picked up a pair of birdies on the first and fifth holes, parred five holes and played bogie golf on the third and eighth holes.

As a team, the Blue Devils played one of their best games, averaging 41 strokes per player for a four-man total of 164. West Point finished second with 169 and Madison had 171 at the Wayne Country Club.

Bob Bornhoff fired a 40 to finish second low for Wayne while Mark Gansbom had 48 and Doug Pierson, who bridged No. Three, has a 45.

In reserve play, Wayne and Madison tied with 206 apiece and West Point had 224. John Keating led the quartet with a 45, including a birdie on No. 16, followed by Dave Claussen with 47 and a pair of 52's for Doug Rose and Scott Kudrna.

Wayne's Crew Runs Away With Title

Like their male counterparts, Wayne State's Wildkittens made their home track debut a victory Thursday. They won the women's division of the Wayne State Invitational, by a wide margin over 12 other teams.

The Wildcats, however, ran into much stiffer competition, finishing seventh among 16 teams, including most of Nebraska's top track squads. The previous Saturday Wayne thincats had won a five-team meet which was not only their 1977 home debut, but their first home meet in eight years.

In women's competition, three Wayne girls claimed firsts. Sally Schwede of Norfolk won the 400-meter run in 1:01.29. Cindy Keagle of Wakefield took the high jump with a 5.0 leap. Jo Zoubek of Norfolk copped the long jump with a distance of 4.968 meters. That's 16.3 feet.

The Wildkittens scored in 12 of 13 events, and at least two placed in five events, a good show of depth for coach Baabi Wispe's 14-woman crew.

Wayne totaled 111 1/2 points, well ahead of runnerup UNI Omaha's 74. Concordia scored 48, Northwestern 46, Westmar 41, Sioux Empire 32 1/2, Peru 32, Doane and Hastings 14 each, Chadron 11, Platte 7, South Dakota-Springfield 2, Southeast C.C. 1.

On the men's side, Kearney State blitzed the field, 71 1/2 nearly doubling the 77 1/2 by second-place Doane. Hastings came in with 68, Buena Vista and Midland 33 each, Northwestern 30, Wayne 29, Concordia 18, Morringside 18, Westmar 18.

Sioux Empire 13, Peru 9, Southeast 8, Platte 6, Dana 0.

Top placers for Wayne, both thirds, were Jerry Kruger with a 6.4 high jump and Don Rinehart with a 51.72 time in the 400 dash.

Possibly the most notable performance was a 6.9% winning high jump by Tim Mohanna of Kearney. Vic McGuire of Doane came close to that with 6.8, good for second.

Metrics caused one bit of confusion. Five women took off to run the 3,000 meters. They would, according to the event clerk, run 8 1/2 laps of the 400-meter track. About the time they had gone seven laps, one coach declared 8 1/2 laps was one too many, but nobody took time to figure it out.

So the girls chugged on for 8 1/2 before some mathematician computed that seven times 400 would be 2,800, and half a lap more, 3,000. Conclusion: the runners went 3,400, with Kit Sundling of Concordia lapping everybody for a time of 13:13.46. Earlier she had won the 1,500 in 5:18.59.

Wayne had three entries among the five in the 3,000 — er, 3,400 — with Donna Kelly placing second at 14:15.56.

It was a big meet, with 29 teams competing. Although records are not available to prove it, that likely is the most teams and athletes ever to compete in a Wayne collegiate track meet.

Pair of Victories Boost Wildkittens

Two wins were ego-boosters as well as record-boosters for the Wayne State Wildkittens Friday when they defeated low Central Community College at home. The Wildkittens were a hitting bunch, collecting 13 hits in the first game and 14 in the second.

They also narrowed their errors down to two in the second game, the narrowest number this season.

Now with a 4-8 record, the Wildkittens will face a tough rival, Kearney, at 4 p.m., today (Monday) on the Wayne State diamond.

Peg Yockey and Karen Heeny were the main forces behind the bats Friday against the Iowa girls. Yockey had two hits in the first game, and a double and single in the second. Heeny lived the team with a homer in the second game plus another hit, and three hits in the first game.

The 10-run ahead rule applied in the Wildkittens' second win when a run in the second inning, four in the fourth, and eight in the fifth placed the women ahead of the Webster City girls, 13-2.

Winning pitcher for the Wildkittens in the second game was Karen Doeschel.

Pat Lonhan was the winning pitcher in the first 11 1/2 games. The scoring sequence showed Wayne with a run in the second, four in both the third and fifth, and two runs in the sixth inning, low Central scored two runs in the second inning, one in the fourth and three in the fifth for six total points.

Coach G.I. Willoughby thought the Wildkittens played a "considerably better" ball game and was pleased with the low error count. She said the two wins were needed at this time to start the girls on the winning road again.

WH Golfers Land Tenth At Albion

Wayne High golfers fired an 18-hole total of 381 Saturday to finish 10th out of 12 teams at the Albion Invitational.

SI Prather paced the locals with rounds of 42 and 47 for an 89. Bob Bornhoff followed with 43-48 for a 91 while Jay Stojtenberg had 48-49 for a 97 and Doug Pierson shot a pair of 52's for 101. Fifth man on the team whose score wasn't used was John Keating with a 106.

Albion won its own meet with a 330, five strokes ahead of Ord with a 335. Schuyler, led by Curt Benesch with his hole-in-one on the par three, 145-yard second hole, came in third with 345 followed by O'Neill with a 351, Neligh with 356, Aurora with 361, Columbus Scotus with 362, Seaward with 369, Central City with 364, Wayne, Norfolk Catholic with 388 and David City with 420.

"Scoring by all the teams wasn't great," commented coach Harold Maciejowski. "There were quite a number (of players who) were in the 80's and high 80's." Mac pointed out, adding that the golfers were having problems with the poor shape of the greens as a result of winter kill.

The coach noted that as a result of winter kill, Albion closed down its course following the invitational for a two-week period.

Winter kill also has been cited as the reason the Bloomfield Invitational will be altered Saturday. Instead of teams playing on original greens, the club will set up temporary greens.

WITH HIS — arm stretched out over his head like he's ready to take off, Wayne State freshman broad jumper Merlin Lahm leaps in hopes of placing and giving the Wildcats the needed points to stay in the men's division of the Wildcats' Invitational.

John Viken was second low for coach Lyle Trullinger's team with a 50 followed by Troxel Miner with a 54 and Lyle Borg with 55.

'Safety Record Is Improving For Boaters'

The safety record of Nebraska boaters is steadily improving though the rate of improvement is much too slow, according to Bill Janssen, Game and Parks Commission's boating safety coordinator.

Last year, with 41,290 motor boats registered, there were 24 accidents with nine injuries and four deaths. When the state's boating program was launched in 1960 with just one third the number of boats, the toll was higher. There were 28 accidents, 15 injuries and seven deaths that year.

Janssen expects boating registrations to increase by about 2,500 this year. "We should have roughly 43,700 power boats licensed in Nebraska this summer. But experience tells me that some of these people will not be around for 1978. Over the years, we average about six deaths per year from boating accidents."

The sad part is that even these comparatively few accidents could be avoided in most cases. Records show that most of these injuries and deaths result either directly or indirectly from the violation of a boating law, from failure to follow a simple safety rule, or from lack of common sense," he said.

Janssen also noted that boaters would be much safer if they wore life jackets at all times, instead of just keeping them somewhere in the boat. In many cases, boaters keep their life jackets stowed under seats, or even under the lock and key in some out-of-the-way compartment. This fulfills their legal requirements, but renders the life jackets useless in a sudden emergency.

Nebraskans can brush up on boat safety rules and boating laws with the 1977 Boating Guide, published by the Game and Parks Commission. A copy is sent to each boater with his new boat registration, and additional copies are available from Game and Parks Commission office in Norfolk.

REDUCED TILLAGE DOUBLES IN FOUR YEARS

The use of reduced tillage has increased to 20 per cent of all row crops in 1976. The USDA predicts that by the year 2000 nearly all row crops will be produced under some form of reduced tillage.

Reduced tillage and its accompanying reduced time and costs has resulted in many new implements that fit a broader range of needs. You have a better chance than ever of finding a system that fits your needs whether you want to cut out one trip or several.

Some tools are specially designed to do all primary tillage in one pass; others to go from a rough field into a smooth firm seedbed in one pass. Several manufacturers are building a tools incorporating disc blades, chisel plow, and field cultivator or S-fines to take care of all primary tillage needs in one pass.

Other options are the addition of heavy duty finger tines to discs or chisel plows to level and letter soil into a firm, mulched seedbed.

If you still feel a need to plow, harrows with PTO powered tines stir the soil into a relatively smooth seedbed with tines settled below the rougher clods on the surface where they should be. Other possibilities for cutting trips are applying an hydros ammonia with chisel plows or finger tines behind a heavy disc.

These are only a few of the reduced tillage options open to you. What ever route you choose, new tillage implements will help you increase your profits.

Remember that planting later than May 20 can cost you up to three bushels per acre! Timeliness is important, more trips cost you time and time is money!

Most farmers were off to an early start on field work in the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District until welcomed and needed snow and rains began to replenish topsoil and subsoil moisture reserves.

The moisture was badly needed following three droughty years. Some area farmers are beginning to have mixed reactions to more moisture, sure it is needed but they sure would like to get field work done so crops can be planted on time.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD suggests that an alternative to a half dozen trips over the field before planting that just maybe two or three

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK

MAY 15-22, 1977

May 14-22 has been set aside for Resources Stewardship Week, an annual observance of thanks for the blessings of the nation's bountiful natural resources.

The theme of "Resources Stewardship Week" 1977 is a message from the Psalms: "O give thanks unto the Lord; for He is good; and His mercy endureth forever."

We save, We protect only those things that We cherish. And it is only after We cherish something that We give.

may be all that are really needed to get ready for planting.

Remember too that all that tillage work may cost you up to two inches of precious moisture that you will need this summer for top yields especially under dryland. But if you have an irrigation system, moisture conservation does not affect you. Right? Wrong.

Moisture loss costs you money because replacing that inch or more of moisture lost in heavy tillage will cost you $150 to $200 in fuel alone on a quarter section center pivot!

Reduced tillage reduced three important items for you to consider:

- 1) Wind erosion — crop residue provide protection.
- 2) Moisture loss — you work the ground less.
- 3) Water erosion — more water soaks in to do your crop some good.

Reduced Tillage does not reduce one thing and that Profit is in your farming operation.

Model UN

best route for students to learn international relations, negotiations, and arbitrations by actually doing it."
The associate professor of political sciences at WSC noted that several colleges or college student governments sponsor students financially for the UN experience. It is looked upon in the same regard as a sports or debate event, he said, "A true academic competition."
O'Donnell also noted that members of Public Affairs Student Organization, now veterans of the UN program, may sponsor a Model United Nations program at Wayne State College for area high school students.

The National Collegiate Conference Association, sponsor of the event, presented O'Donnell with a certificate for Wayne State's three years of participation in the UN program.

With one visit being the normal procedure, UN participants this year visited the United Nations Building three times during the week. Most sessions were held in the Slater Hillton where the groups stayed.

James Linn, the American Ambassador from the General Assembly, spoke to the group during an opening session at the UN. A diplomats reception was held at the UN and the final Model UN session was held at the United Nations Building April 18.

Sir Brian Ughart from Britain, the undersecretary general of the UN for political affairs, was also a featured speaker during the UN simulation.

Many WSC students were involved in resolution writing, according to O'Donnell.

Other students attending the seminar and their committee roles were: representing Cuba — John Schueth, Grand Island, Vice Chairman, Political and Security Committee; Dave Baker, Hastings, Conference on Commodities; Martin Schmitt, Wayne, chairman, General Assembly Plenary; David Highfield, Plattsmouth, Economic and Social; Marilyn Stroman, Stanton, Commission on Human Rights; Donna Roberts, Wakefield, Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural; Alan Matrice, Sioux Rapids, Iowa, International Economic Cooperation; Dan Tegly, Clarkson, Palestinian Rights; Bill Zegers, David City, Special Committee of 24; Sheryl Wenzel, Sioux City, Iowa, Conference on Science and Technology; John Thomas, Decatur, Organization of American States; and Deana Jones, Auburn, Structure of the UN.

Representing Qatar — Dan Huebner, Missouri Valley, Iowa, International Economic Cooperation; Nicki Newman, Concord, Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural; Val Wagner, Creighton, Conference on Commodities; Karen Heinicke, Seward, chairman, General Assembly Plenary; Paul Smith, Omaha, Vice-chairman, Political and Security; and Dave Ryan, Plattsmouth, Conference on Science and Technology.

Besides work with the UN program, students had the opportunity to see a special Greenwich Village Broadway play "The Club," a musical satire on turn-of-the-century attitudes of men toward women. Six male roles in this production were played by women.

Hagerman, assistant professor of communication arts at WSC, took a group of students through CBS and NBC and the entire Wayne State crew took in New York's array of sight-seeing attractions.

Further complicating the case is the fact that the car involved was leased from Bill Smith Motors of Norfolk. The company's insurance carrier was Farmers Insurance Group.

It appears from the case file the problem in settling the suit isn't a question of whether or not Mrs. Tietzort is owed damages, but who will pay them.

In various petitions filed in connection with the case, Cavner claims he had rented the car and then returned it and that it was subsequently leased to Ranne in his own behalf. He also denies that Ranne was Cavner's employe or agent.

The insurance company claims its coverage of Bill Smith Motors specifically excludes liability for leased autos. And Ranne, apparently, has never responded in the case at all, although a summons was supposedly served him in North Dakota through the Nebraska Secretary of State's office.

A judgment was awarded Oct. 8, 1975 and a garnishment issued against Farmers Insurance Group to pay the damages. The company successfully appealed the decision and the judgment was set aside March 2 of this year.

An appeal was filed in Mrs. Tietzort's behalf in hopes that the State Supreme Court can finally settle the matter.

Hospital

and infant warmer add to the care available.
The X-ray department has both diagnostic and fluoroscopic units and a large image intensifier. Automatic processing enables the radiologist to view films in 90 seconds.
The PMIC lab provides test results to aid physicians in making diagnoses and the hospital also has a well equipped physical therapy department run by registered physical therapist.

In addition, the hospital operates an ambulance service and provides other services such as pre-natal care classes.
Room occupancy has been less than optimum, Sister Therese said. It is generally conceded in the medical care industry that an occupancy rate of 75 per cent is needed to operate on a break-even basis. Occupancy at PMC in 1976 was 44 per cent.
"That is why it is so important to keep our people in need of hospital care in Wayne," she said.

Additional physicians in Wayne and the surrounding area would also help increase the hospital occupancy rate, Sister Therese said, and she believes this is important to the future of the hospital and local health care services.

Despite some difficulties encountered so far, it is thought that a combination of increasing room rates to $70, which Sister Therese said is comparable with other regional rates, and a hoped-for higher occupancy rate, will put PMC in the black.

about $16,000 in damages to the greenhouse and their contents. The two structures which were damaged had to be torn down.

Mr. Tietzort died in November 1973. Mrs. Tietzort continues to operate a remaining greenhouse, but has been unable to settle her husband's estate pending the outcome of her lawsuit.

"I think he would still be alive if we could have settled this," Mrs. Tietzort said. "He was a worrier."

Named in the original action filed in Mrs. Tietzort's behalf are Jerald Ranne and Gerald Cavner.

According to the petition, Ranne was the driver in the mishap, and the petition alleges he was negligent in that he was driving too fast and was under the influence of alcohol.

Ranne was convicted of driving while intoxicated in connection with incident, in Wayne County court on May 17, 1973.

Ranne, a North Dakota resident, allegedly was an employe of Cavner, who supposedly operated Salesway Co. A Council Bluffs, Iowa, address is listed for Cavner in the case filed, and an Omaha address is listed for Salesway Co.
