Laurel Youth Attends Conference

Dixon County 4-H'er Vern George was among more than 125 conferees attending the 1977 American Farm Bureau Federation's Youth Leadership Conference at Tan-Tar-A Lodge in Osage Beach, Mo. April 27-29.

George, a junior at Laurel High School, was second runner-up at the State Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar in Aurora last month. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold George of Dixon.

The conference annually attracts outstanding teenagers from throughout the nation and provides education, information and motivation for the young men and women. Representative government, the economic system, farm-to-table food industry, agriculturally-related career opportunities, citizenship and responsibilities are stressed.

Speakers and conference directors included the Rev. Charles Willey of Moline, Ill., Greg Classen of Kansas State University, and Mike Jones of the Indiana Farm Bureau.

Workshop leaders were Mrs. Frances Hall, National Live Stock and Meat Board; Mrs. Alice Smith, Chicago Department of Health; Mrs. Mary Orogge Keding, the Milk Foundation; Claude de St. Paer and Jerry Cordrey of the American Farm Bureau Federation; and Scott McKain, youth member of the board of directors of the National Safety Council.

Wayne Library Receives Funds

Wayne Public Library received a state aid grant of $892 last month from the Nebraska Library Commission. The grant will be used to purchase new equipment, books, cassettes and film strips for the library.

This is the third year the Wayne library has participated in the state program, which began in 1975 for financial aid to public libraries. Wayne is one of more than 200 public libraries in Nebraska to receive monies this year.

Mrs. Kathleen Tooker, public librarian, said in 1976 the library received $628 for audio-visual aids, art prints and reference materials. A grant of $738 was used for reference works and carpeting in the multipurpose room downstairs in 1975.

State funds totaling $200,000 to be administered by the Nebraska Library Commission have been earmarked for grants to public libraries. These monies are intended to help libraries achieve the Standards of Public Libraries in Nebraska. The Standards list minimum requirements for library services to a community, including recommendations for number and kinds of books and materials in a collection, hours open to the public and means of financial support. Libraries are expected to strive to achieve minimum standards by 1978.

RECEIVING the top instrumental and vocal awards during Tuesday night's Wayne High music banquet were Roger Wacker, left, and Jo Jo Quimpo. Wacker was named the outstanding senior instrumentalist and Quimpo was selected as the best vocal student.

Top Vocal and Instrumental Students Named

Wayne High senior Roger Wacker and American Field Service student Jo Jo Quimpo from the Philippines were named as the top instrumental and vocal members of the Wayne High music department Tuesday night during the music banquet at the high school commons.

Wacker, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wacker of Wayne, will have his name engraved on the John Philip Sousa plaque as the outstanding senior band member. Jo Jo will have his name added to the plaque for outstanding senior vocal student.

Pins and certificates also were presented to those students who earned honors at the District III music contest. They were: Superior ensembles — Flute

Three More Allen Teachers Have Resigned

Three more teachers at Allen schools have handed in their resignations, bringing the total number of teachers who said they would not return next year to six.

Latest to announce their resignations are kindergarten teacher Barbara Ranschau, first grade teacher Mrs. Cliff Jorgensen and third grade teacher Pat Von Minden. The trio formally announced their quitting during Monday night's school board meeting.

The three join Jim Koonitz, Lorna Stamp, Daryl McGhee and superintendent Virgil Ferguson who previously made public their plans to leave the school system.

Man Receives Second, Third Degree Burns

A 93-year-old Wayne man is reported in stable condition at Providence Medical Center after he received second and third degree burns over the upper half of his body Monday evening.

Jack Skeahan of 1121 Pearl St. sustained burns to the chest, face and arms shortly before 7 p.m. when a stove burner he was attempting to light exploded and caught his clothes on fire, according to police reports.

Skeahan's daughter, Mable Springsteen who lives with her father, rushed to call her neighbor, Bernice Fulton for help. After extinguishing the fire, Mrs. Fulton called police.

Paper Drive Is Saturday

Boy Scout Troop 174 will hold its monthly paper drive Saturday, starting at 8 a.m.

Persons donating old newspapers are asked to tie them into bundles and place them along the curb.

Minimum Lot Size Issue Stirs Debate

The Wayne County joint planning commission agenda for Tuesday night included discussion of minimum lot sizes for rural residences but because of public interest in the issue, the commission did more listening than talking.

State planning consultant Dave Wright opened the meeting by explaining the logic behind the commission's consideration of including a minimum lot size in zoning regulations it will recommend for adoption by the county.

The commission feels it should not encourage non-farm development in agriculture zones, Wright said, but at the same time doesn't want to completely close the door. A minimum lot size for non-farm rural residences is the tool which will determine just how wide open that door will be.

Douglas Clark, Madison County zoning administrator, explained that except for agricultural land near communities, a 40-acre minimum lot size is in effect there.

Reason for the relatively large lot size requirement is to preserve agricultural operations, Clark said. He also pointed out that before the regulation went into effect, some rural subdivisions had been the cause of problems including the placing a heavy financial burden on rural school districts.

Clark said Madison County strictly enforced the regulation and plans to stick with it, although some amendments have been passed and others are being considered to clarify the regulation.

Contractor Robert Vakoc said planned unit development should be allowed in rural areas if the rural subdivisions will provide their own facilities and are compatible with surrounding agricultural uses.

Wright said that is an acceptable approach and could be handled through amendment in the zoning code to allow for changes in zoning.

Vakoc said requirements should be established so permission for rural development doesn't become based on personality and politics.

Realtor David Ewing said a restrictive lot size requirement such as 40 acres should not be See LOT SIZE, page 12

Education Leader to Speak

The Nebraska Commissioner of Education will be the speaker at Wayne High School commencement exercise May 23 at Willow Bowl on the Wayne State College campus.

As Education Commissioner, Dr. Anne Campbell is executive officer of the State Board of Education and is administrative head of the professional, technical and clerical staff at the State Department of Education. She is responsible for ensuring that Nebraska school systems are operated in compliance with education laws.

Dr. Campbell received her master of science degree from WSC in 1959 and earned her doctorate at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1969. She has received numerous honors including the Wayne State College Distinguished Service Award in 1962.

In addition, she was awarded an honorary doctorate degree from Midland Lutheran College and was cited as Woman of the Year in 1973 by the Omaha World-Herald.

Graduation ceremonies will begin at 7 p.m. High School principal Don Zeiss said 79 students will comprise this year's graduation class.

DR. ANNE CAMPBELL

Project Success Receives Grant

The Wayne-Carroll school district has received a $36,672 grant from the Nebraska Department of Education to help implement Project Success in a number of Nebraska schools.

The grant was approved April 15 upon the recommendation of education commissioner Anne Campbell, according to a Department of Education release.

Project Success, which will be in its seventh year with the beginning of the fall term, was developed by the Wayne-Carroll school system to aid students with specific language disabilities (SLD). The project includes a total language arts program for all grades, an adaptive physical education (motor perception) program, and provides alternative teaching methods at all grade levels to meet the individual needs of SLD students.

Since it was first developed, Project Success has been adopted, with the assistance of the local school district, by schools in North Carolina, Illinois, Colorado and Iowa. In addition, literature on the project has been distributed upon request to schools in all 50 of the United States.

The Nebraska Department of Education grant, provided by Title IV of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will be used to help implement Project Success in Fremont public and parochial schools and in Central City, Stanton, Homer and Waterbury, according to Wayne Middle School principal Richard Metteer.

Metteer said the grant is for an 18-month period and will be used mainly to finance summer school sessions this year and next year. Sessions will be conducted both for SLD students and to train teachers in Project Success methods. Three-week summer sessions will be conducted in Wayne and South Sioux City.

Board Appoints New Member

Glenn Olson of Wakefield has been appointed to the Wayne County fair board to fill the unexpired term of Alden Dunklau who died while in office.

County fair secretary Marilyn Kock said about 18 months remain on the term. There are a total of 15 members on the fair board.

Chamber, 'Industries' Join Forces

Directors of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries, Inc. meeting in joint session Tuesday decided the two organizations will join together to hire a secretary to serve both organizations.

The two groups will seek to hire a secretary with training in community development and promotion to handle expanded responsibilities and duties for the two organizations.

Current Chamber of Commerce secretary Howard Witt has agreed to continue in that post until arrangements are complete. A joint committee of the two organizations will meet to work out details for the new position.

The Wayne Industries Board Tuesday approved a $4,500 budget to compile a brochure which will be mailed to industrial prospects in an effort to promote the community.

Wayne Industries announced that it is also beginning a membership drive. Local residents will be contacted by mail and in person and invited to join the corporation, organized to promote industrial growth in the community.

Wayne Industries earlier this year voted to become a non-profit organization. Prior to that time it was legally organized as a profit making organization which sold stock. Members were entitled to one vote for each share of stock. Under the new arrangement, each member will be entitled to one vote.

President Dean Pierson said the membership drive is being conducted in hopes of involving a greater number of people in promoting the growth and development of the community.

WSC Commencement Speaker:

'Nebraska Not Meeting Responsibility to Education'

"Nebraska has not lived up to its total responsibilities to the colleges," said Allan Ostar, executive director for the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, at Wayne State College commencement exercises Sunday.

The keynote speaker pointed out that of 12 Midwestern states, only three fell behind the appropriation increases necessary to keep pace with inflation and enrollment. "And Nebraska fell the furthest," Ostar said.

From data collected by M.M. Chambers and the National Center for Educational Statistics, Ostar noted that in 1970 Nebraska appropriated $891 per student.

"In 1976 the state appropriated the same amount," Ostar compared. "Adjusted for the rate of inflation and enrollment, this is a 31 per cent decrease in appropriations per student."

Nebraska ranks 32nd in the nation concerning higher education expenditures, Ostar pointed out. He said that per $1,000 of personal income $17 goes for higher education expenditures in Nebraska.

The executive director said that just as state colleges have responsibilities to the taxpayers, "the taxpayers have a responsibility to the public colleges as a responsibility."

"The responsibility is to support the colleges with tax dollars at a level which allows the colleges to perform their missions — to offer opportunity for citizens and to offer service to their regions. They must support the colleges so that these colleges can offer a quality education to the sons, daughter and people of all Nebraska."

State colleges cater to the needs of the public according to Ostar, through three missions. The first, he said, is "to develop the student's potential as an active and able citizen."

This mission leads to another, he said, which is "to provide the community, the region, and the state with graduates who are prepared and qualified to serve the health, social and business needs of the people."

The third state college mission, which should grow in importance to Ostar, is "to serve as a center of practical expertise for the region."

He said that because of the changing nature of a technological society, the number of new high school graduates will decline, but the number of adults requiring college programs will increase greatly. He said the trend has already begun with a 63 per cent hike of 24 to 34 year old students enrolled in college between 1970 and 1974.

Reasons cited for adult enrollment included: to advance professionally; to make mid-career changes; to keep up with new developments in jobs, to start careers after absences from the job market; and to engage in personal fulfillment experiences during lengthening leisure periods or retirement.

Outreach programs, according to Ostar, will provide logical assistance through the state colleges for understanding and resolution of complex problems ranging from energy use to environmental preservation.

Leigh Jean Koinzan of Elgin

earned the highest grade point in the graduating class. Her 3.99, based on a perfect 4.0 scale, was earned with a business major under the bachelor of science program.

Others graduating summa cum laude were Deanne Hey, Omaha; Ruth Lange, Crofton; Fred Robertson, Schuyler; Rose Murphy Vodvarka, Wayne; and Linda Elsberry Petersen, Norfolk.

Wedding Rites Unite Wageman-Meyer

St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Pender was the scene of the wedding April 23 uniting in marriage Karlene Wageman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wageman of Emerson, to Mark Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Meyer of Wakefield.

Guests, registered by Angie Rouse of Wakefield, were ushered into the church by Dean Wageman of Emerson and Merlin Felt, Garry Roebber and Terry Borg, all of Wakefield. Holly Meyer of Wakefield and Debra Wageman of Emerson lighted candles and the Rev. Kenneth Foss of Pender officiated at the double ring rites. Keith and Tim Boeckenhauer sang "If," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Norman Meyer. All are of Wakefield.

Maid of honor was Karen Woodward of Wakefield and bridesmaids were Suzanne Wageman of O'Neill and Jeanne White of Plainview. Byron Roebber of Wakefield was best man and Chuck Wageman of Emerson and Larry Siebrandt of Wakefield were groomsmen. Wendy Zurber of Omaha was flower girl and Shawn Meyer of Wakefield was ring bearer. The bride appeared at her father's side in a floor-length gown of white silk organza, styled with an A-line skirt which swept into a chapel-length train. White floral lace and seed pearls highlighted the bodice, V-neckline and sleeves. Her veil was trimmed in seed pearls and lace to match the dress, and she carried a cascade of pink and blue tipped roses, rainbow colored carnations and ribbon.

The bride's attendants wore identically styled polyester dresses in floor length designed with lace accents on the sleeves and V-neckline. The maid of honor's dress was in blue, and the bridesmaids' dresses were pink and green. They wore flowers in their hair to match their dress, and carried nosegays with matching ribbons. The bridegroom's attendants wore navy blue tuxedos with ruffled shirts to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wageman wore a mint green dress in floor length. Mrs. Meyer selected an aqua dress, also in formal length. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Meyer of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zurber of Omaha greeted the guests at the reception which followed in the church basement. Gifts, carried by Michelle Meyer of Wakefield and Julie Wageman of Emerson, were arranged by Linda Grandfield of Carroll and Deb Borchholz of Wayne.

Flowers were pinned on by Melia Hefti of Wayne and Julie Siebrandt of Wakefield. Mrs. Bud Boeckenhauer of Wakefield and Mrs. George Albracht of Thurston cut and served the cake. Mrs. Raymond Brandstetter of Meadow Grove and Mrs. Gilmore Sabs of Carroll poured. Punch was served by Debra Domsch and Kathy VanderVeen of Wakefield. Waitresses were Pam Wage-man of Pender, Diane Swanson of Henning, Minn., and Judy Whitner and Jane Whitner, both of Petersburg.

The couple are at home at rural Wakefield. The bride, a 1976 graduate of Wakefield High School, is in the licensed practi-

'Gifts to Claim' Theme For May Fellowship Day

All Wayne church women are invited to the annual May Fellowship breakfast Friday at St. Mary's School Hall, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Theme for the day will be "Gifts to Claim."

The breakfast is sponsored by Church Women United of Wayne.

Since the first May Fellowship Day in 1933, it has been traditional for church women to come together on the first Friday in May to emphasize the creative and healing relations that are possible among people in the 2,000 communities where Church Women United is organized in local units.

The theme for this year's service, "Gifts to Claim," carries the strong implication of the freedom to choose. This year's May Fellowship Day celebration centers on three — the gift of extravagance; the gift that enables persons to risk vulnerability; and the gift of mutuality.

Women attending Friday's services will explore ways of relating to other human beings in new ways; finding that the church, the neighborhood, the town or the international community have greater possibilities for relationships. These explorations will emphasize awareness of underlying values and choices.

Retired Teachers Schedule Meetings

The Wayne Area Retired Teachers Association is planning a meeting Monday morning at 10 at the State National Bank conference room.

The South Sioux City Area Retired Teachers Association will meet May 16 at the Paddock in South Sioux City for a 1 p.m. luncheon. Officers for 1977-78 will be installed.

The David Diedikers

Two spiral candelabras appointed the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne for the evening wedding April 22 of Tami Anderson and David Diediker. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ole Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Don Diediker, all of Laurel.

Father Thomas McDermott officiated at the double ring ceremony and Joe Nuss and Sheryl Anderson, both of Wayne, sang "The Wedding Prayer," "I'll" and "One Hand, One Heart," accompanied by Mrs. Ole Mallatt of Laurel. Candles were lighted by Chuck Hirschman and Greg Pippitt, both of Laurel.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, appeared in a silhouette gown of white China silk. The floor-length fashion featured an empire waistline, bib bodice, and Cluny lace at the Victorian neckline and tapered sleeves. Her long white veil was edged in lace and attached to a silk bow headpiece. She carried a cascade of daisies, miniature carnations and yellow roses.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. David Norris of Norfolk, who wore a blue floor-length gown of polyester double-knit which featured a hooded jacket in coordinating pastel colors. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Tom Anderson, who wore a pink gown, Kari Diediker, sister of the bridegroom who wore yellow, and Tammy Tuttle, dressed in green. All are of Laurel. Each carried a multi-colored nosegay.

Don Diediker Jr. of Laurel was best man, and groomsmen were Tom Anderson and Todd Anderson, both of Laurel, and Steve Diediker of Hinton, Ia. The men wore brown tuxedos with shirts to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

Ushers were Alan Pippitt, Greg Pippitt; Chuck Hirschman and Ken Diediker, all of Laurel. Angie and Amy Newton of Laurel were flower girls.

Mrs. Anderson wore a light blue polyester crepe dress with silver accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Diediker selected a floral crepe dress with a chiffon jacket. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Murray of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Newton of Laurel served as hosts at the reception in the Laurel city auditorium following the ceremony. Mrs. Steve Diediker of Hinton, Ia. and Carol Diediker of Sioux City registered guests and Mr. and Mrs. Todd Cunningham and Jenny Brandow, all of Laurel, arranged gifts.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. George Blomberg of Albert City, Ia. and Mrs. Mary Bollhoefer of Haverhill, Ia. Mrs. Maurice Carr of Wayne and Mrs. Reuben Burrows of Albert City poured. Punch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Vodavka of Wayne.

Waitresses were Deb Urivler and Kathy Wendel of Laurel, Julie Buryanek of Westfield, Ia. and Nancy Buryanek of Hawarden, Ia.

Diedikers are making their home at 504 1/2 Oak St., in Laurel. The bride, a 1976 graduate of Laurel High School, is a student at Wayne State College. The bridegroom graduated from Laurel High School in 1973 and is employed at The Wayne Herald.

April Wedding

NOW AT HOME at 314 E. Fourth St., Apt. 7, in Wayne, are Mr. and Mrs. David Graverholt. Mrs. Graverholt, nee Tami Linn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Linn of Laurel. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carsten Graverholt, also of Laurel. The couple's wedding was April 16 at the Laurel United Lutheran Church. The bride is employed at the First National Bank in Wayne and the bridegroom works at Carhart Lumber Co., Wayne.

The Rev. Kenneth Edmonds of Wayne officiated at the double ring ceremony. Pam Gowen of Omaha and Larry Johnson of Wayne sang "The Wedding Song," "For Baby" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Linda Badford of Wayne.

The couple's honor attendants were Janeen Berg of Omaha and Doug Clough of Hooper. Bridesmaids were Myrna Wacker of Norfolk and Jane Gubbels of Omaha, and groomsmen were Brent Pedersen of York, the bride's twin brother, and Mark Wacker of O'Neill.

Candles were lighted by Jennifer Johnson and Lori Johnson, both of Wayne, and ushers were the bride's brothers, Randy Pedersen of Grand Island and Terry Pedersen of Fremont.

Flower girl was Jill Lutt of Wayne and ring bearer was Joel Pedersen of Grand Island.

The bride wore a formal gown of white Guiana jersey, styled with a low round neckline edged in fine Venise lace. A sculptured Venise lace bib on the bodice was accented with seed pearls, and a row of matching trim encircled the high rise waistline. A band of Venise lace edged the long bell sleeves and the hemline of the A-line skirt, which swept into a chapel-length train. She wore a cathedral-length veil of nylon illusion. Vertical bands of Venise lace cascaded from the headpiece which was covered with matching lace and seed pearls.

The bride's attendants wore polyester dresses in powder blue with pastel flowers. The floor-length fashions were styled with stand-up collar, empire waistline and elbow-length bell sleeves. They carried nosegays of pastel spring flowers.

The men in the wedding party wore powder blue vested tuxedos with matching velvet trim, and white ruffled shirts trimmed in blue.

Mrs. Pedersen wore a floor-length pink knit gown with silver accessories.

Susan Klima of Lincoln registered guests, and gifts were arranged by Becky Hutson, Jan Berge, Diane Zechmann and Deb Frecks, all of Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Huston of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomsen of Wakefield served as hosts to the reception for 160 guests, held at the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

Concord Church Hosts Workshop

Lutheran Women's Missionary League members from the Wayne zone met at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Concord April 26 for the annual Christian growth spring workshop. About 96 were registered.

Theme for the workshop was "Take Time in 1977."

The Rev. Paul Fredrich, zone counselor, opened with devotions. Mrs. Ervin Kraemer accompanied group singing, and zone president Mrs. Marvin Victor extended the welcome.

Mrs. Ronald Holling, Wakefield, presented a Bible study on the Third Person and Mrs. Marlin Schuffler and Mrs. Harlin Ruwe, both of Wayne, led a Bible quiz on the Old Testament.

Reports were given by district Christian growth chairman Mrs. W. Stigg of West Point and district president Mrs. Ray Prochaska of Wakefield. Convention reports were given by Mrs. Prochaska and Mrs. Gertrude Heywood.

The zone Christian growth committee, including Ruth Ebmeier of Laurel, Mrs. Herman Stolle of Concord and Mrs. Rose Mitchell of Dakota City led discussion on ideas for society Christian growth. An article, entitled "Take Time," was read by Mrs. Stolle and Mrs. Mitchell.

Lunch was served by the host church.

Mrs. Doescher New President Of Acme Club

Fourteen Acme Club members met Monday for a 9 a.m. breakfast in the home of Mrs. Mabel Soransen.

Mrs. Clarence Preston gave the club's yearly history and, together with Mrs. Camilla Liedtke, read poems about each member. Clothing articles were taken to the meeting to give to Region IV.

Mrs. Leslie Doescher was elected president for the 1977-78 club year. Other officers are Mrs. Jessie Hamer, vice president, and Mrs. Lyle Skov, secretary-treasurer.

Monday's breakfast was the group's final meeting of the season. Meetings will resume in September.

Mrs. Randy Pedersen of Grand Island and Mrs. Terry Pedersen of Fremont cut and served the cake. Mrs. Robert Rogge of Lincoln poured and Sharon Pedersen of Morris, Minn. served punch.

Waitresses were Jodi Frese, Jodi Frevert, Kim Blecke and Karla Frevert, all of Wayne, and Jane Pedersen of Morris, Minn.

Grenzes will make their home at 5411 S. 86th, Court 1, in Omaha. The bride, a 1974 graduate of Wayne High School, will graduate in June from the Nebraska Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Omaha. The bridegroom, a 1972 graduate of Stanton High School, graduated from Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk in 1975 and the California College of Mortuary Science in Los Angeles in 1976. He is employed at Crosby-Kunold-Burket Funeral Chapels in Omaha.

Cats Jump From Fryin' Pan to Fire at Colorado Invitational

They have been in the fryin' pan all season. Now the 16-23 Wayne State baseball Wildcats will be in the fire.

Beginning today (Thursday) the Wildcats will go against Iowa State, Colorado University and Denver University, in the three-day Colorado Invitational at Boulder.

As if that's not enough, they will return home for a Sunday doubleheader with Central States toughie Missouri Western, owner of a 28-16 record about a week ago. That twin bill, starting at 1:30 on the college diamond, will finish Wayne's scheduled play before the Cats host the Nebraska NAIA district playoff May 12-14.

For coach Larry Schultz, the Colorado tournament takes him to home country. He is a native of Brush, has two degrees from Northern Colorado and another from Colorado. In addition, he served as an assistant coach at CU and coached two Boulder-based semipro teams which regularly finished high in national tournaments.

But Schultz expects no buddy-buddy stuff back in homeland. It happens that all four teams in the tournament possess losing records — none intending to make matters worse. Iowa State already has beaten Wayne twice, coming from behind to win, 6-5, on a batch of bad Wayne luck in the opener, then taking the nightcap, 5-0.

Schultz ventures a guess that Denver may be the top contender, but he also thinks the Wildcats can, with good luck, make it a battle. They play Iowa State at 10 a.m. and Colorado at 3 p.m. today, Denver at 10 a.m. Friday. Third place will be settled in a 10 a.m. Saturday game, followed by the championship at 12:30.

Last Saturday, the Wildcats fattened batting averages with a 14-2 and 9-6 wins at Peru State. Most of them climbing to season highs, topped by the .342 of left-fielder freshman Steve Kleinsmith. Next is sophomore Brian Polberg, batting .316 between stints at either first or third base.

Steve Russell ranks third at .305, Don Hasenkamp, .289; Mike Soderberg, .266;

Kevin Mahlberg, .252 — just under the team's season high, .254.

Russell pitched the whole first game at Peru and did his own batting — with a home run the first time up. Then in the second game he did the same — homer first time up, to make his total eight.

Hasenkamp also homered once in each game. Mahlberg and Paul Mallette added first-game round trips.

Second-game victory went to Jim Auck, a third-inning reliever, who was relieved by Roger Saul in the fifth. Deway Edgar, the starter, maintains the lowest Wildcat ERA at 1.96, though he has a 3-4 record. Neil Blohm's ERA is 2.76, with a 2-2 record. Saul, 3.20, and 3.3, has the most innings pitched, 45.

Jim Auck owns the best record at 4-2, despite a 5.23 ERA resulting from frequent relief jobs in hot situations. He's played in 12 games, top on the team.

Wins at Peru lifted Wayne to 4-2 in the Nebraska College Conference.

Coach: Defense Looks Pretty Good

After battling rain and wet fields off and on for three weeks, Wayne State gridders battled each other to cap spring football practice Friday.

It was offense versus defense in the intra-squad clash, as coaches chose to split the team that way instead of using two complete units. Shortage of defenders pretty much dictated the decision.

But the defenders — if not numerous — were stubborn and appeared to have the better of it as they limited offensive efforts to one touchdown.

Coach Del Stoltenberg sized it up this way: "We thought the defense looked pretty good. Oh, they had a few breakdowns, but generally we were pleased."

On the one scoring drive, Stoltenberg said, the offense put together an impressive series of plays, including a couple of good passes and a fine run by tailback Bob Barry, the team's rushing leader last fall as a freshman.

The touchdown came on an off-tackle plunge by tailback Mick Stillwell. He played tight end last year, but requested a shift to a running back job where he played in high school.

Stoltenberg called the scoring thrust "just good execution all the way. The defense obviously didn't do a few things quite right, but they didn't give that touchdown away. The offense earned it."

Freshman Mark Mintken and Mike Herman shared quarterback duties. Kevin Mahlberg, junior QB, is playing baseball so skipped football drills.

Stoltenberg said all the 1976 lettermen he expected to play this spring turned out — and the old standbys came up to expectations.

Four WS Clubs Head for Kansas

Wayne State athletes will compete in four Central States intercollegiate conference tournaments this weekend — track at Emporia, Kan., golf and women's softball at Topeka, Kan., and tennis at St. Joseph, Mo.

The men's track team has had more than week to practice without meet interruptions, but coach LeRoy Simpson expects competition to be formidable down in Kansas country, where track has been strong for decades.

The Wayne women's track team decided to skip CSIC competition this year, the first for Wildcat tennis in this sport.

Wildcat tennis gained a third-place tie in the Nebraska NAIA district tournament Friday-Saturday in Fremont. Doane took the team title with 101 points. Kearney scored 94, Wayne and Concordia both 30, Hastings 12, Midland 9, Dana 3.

Erwin, Koester Qualify For State Girls Track

A freshman and a senior will represent Allen High at the state girls high school track meet in North Platte, May 13-14.

Freshman Stacey Koester, who has never finished below first during the season, won the high jump despite wet weather with a mark of 4-9. She along with veteran Lori Erwin, who finished first in the 880 and mile, will make the long jaunt across state with their coach Steve McManigal.

Lori, who was second in Class D at state last year and fifth in all classes in the mile, ran a 5:35 mile and a 2:39.2 half mile to take home first-place medals. As a team, the Eagles were third with 47 points out of a field of 14 teams. Waterloo won with 59 points and Homer was second with 52. The Eagles were in second most of the day until the final event when McManigal couldn't come up with an 880 relay team: "We just ran out of girls," he added.

Results for other Allen girls who placed:

FIELD
Long jump — 2 (tie) Erwin, 15-1 1/2; 6 Koester, 13-11.

80-yard hurdles — 5 Erwin, 15.1
880 — 5 Susie Erwin, 2:39.9
Mile relay — 3 Allen (Darcy Harder, Sharon Peterson, Cheryl Koch, Colleen Johnson), 4:39.8 (school record).

Balanced Hitting, Sharpe's Pitching Lifts Devils, 15-7

Balanced hitting throughout Wayne's lineup coupled with strong relief pitching by Vic Sharpe produced Wayne's eighth win of the season Monday when the Blue Devils outlasted host Hooper-Logan View, 15-7.

Wayne, 8-2, belted out a total of 12 hits, including three hits each by Ginn and catcher Kevin Murray. Murray rapped a two-run triple, a double and single in four at bats and Ginn had a pair of base hits and a double in five times at the plate.

Both are within an eyelash of each other in batting averages each hitting above .350. That gives coach Mike Mallette a See WAYNE, page 5

Langenberg Leads Winside Jr. High

Triple winner Lori Langenberg again led Winside Junior high girls to a meet win, this time it was the Winside Invitational-Friday.

Langenberg won the 100, 220 and ran a winning leg on the 880 relay team to lead Winside to a 95-point total, 10 points better than second-place Hartington with 85 points. Allen was third with 80 points followed by Osmond with 50 and Ponca with 40.

Results for Winside and Allen See LANGENBERG, page 9

Allen's eight-run explosion in the second inning capped by a three-run stint in the sixth prompted coach Gary Troth to officially label his club "The Spoiler" in Northeast Nebraska high school baseball.

The title aptly applies when you consider that Troth's club is only the second team this year to hand tough Bancroft a defeat, 11-9, Monday.

Allen's show at the plate with nine hits had a lot to do with the Eagles' fourth win in eight games, especially in the sixth frame when Allen drove in three runs on three hits for a 11-6 cushion.

But the big break was due to Bancroft's bad luck on the mound. Starter Tim Wegner walked five Eagles in the second and his replacement gave up two walks and a two-run base hit to Kevin Hohenstein to account for Allen's 8-0 lead.

The Bulldogs rallied with one run in the third, three in the fourth and two in the fifth to tighten the game before Allen unleashed three runs in the sixth.

Starling pitcher Brad Chase started off with a single, stole second and scored on a ground rule double by Hohenstein. Hohenstein went to third on Bart Gotch's sacrifice and scored on a three-bagger by Todd Ellis. A fielder's choice by Kenny Ho-

BY THE GRAPEVINE: Former Wayne State Little All-American defensive end, Stan Lewis, has signed as a free agent with the Washington Redskins. Following graduation in 1975, Stan was drafted by Cleveland.

"OBVIOUSLY some people aren't happy with what is going on and when you've got that situation, best to get out," said Winside High wrestling coach Ron Peck of his wanting to step down as head grappling coach.

Peck, who has coached the Wildcats to two successive district championships while his teams placed second and third in state, said that he told the school board he doesn't want to coach next season if members can come up with a replacement.

The second-year head man expressed the same feeling following last year's stint, but kept on because no one would replace him.

Sloux Falls Sunday.

ABOUT TWENTY players reported for the first workout of the Wayne town team last week, giving second-year manager Don Goeden a good nucleus to work with.

Among those out are returning veterans Mike Creighton, Lyle Bitvens, Mike Meyer, Fritz Weible, Bob Nelson, Terry Luft, Steve Hix, Larry Raabe and Jake Munter. Rest of the roster includes Marv Beemer, Doug Sturm, Gary Wagner, Ray Wagner, Mark Lowe, Maurice Mintken, Randy Workman, Mike Sharer and Randy Luft.

Wayne opens its season on Sunday, May 22.

LOOKING DOWN the road, plans for an eight-team town team tournament are rapidly beginning to take shape. The invitational, which will be spread out over four days beginning June 22, hopes to attract some of the top teams in this part of the state.

Members of the Wayne Baseball Association are working with Goeden to get town team baseball up to the caliber of, say, the Pioneer Nite League which really drew the talented players and the fans.

One thing they hope will draw the top teams is the $500 first-place prize, $200 for second and $100 for third. More later.

Now It's Off To Topeka for Wildkittens

After bowing out of the Nebraska college women's softball tournament last weekend, Wayne State's Wildkittens face another challenge this weekend in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference tournament in Topeka, Kan.

Judging by reports from some other CSIC teams, competition will be stiff. Wayne women will take a 10-12 record into battle following a double loss in the large college division of the Nebraska AJAW tournament in Omaha. They went scoreless, 6-0, against UN-Omaha in the Friday first round, then lost a 7-6 decision to Kearney State Saturday.

Five errors and ineffective batting (two hits) doomed the Wildkittens in the UNO game and although Karen Doeschot's pitching gave up only four hits to the Lady Mavericks.

Against Kearney, starter Pat Lenihan stymied the Antelopes for four scoreless innings, gave up one run in the fifth, then got in trouble in a three-run Kearney sixth. Doeschot relieved in the sixth and went into the bottom of the seventh with a 6-4 Wayne lead.

She had two out when Kearney loaded the bases. Then disaster: an outfield single which would have scored one run turned into an error scoring three. That sent the Wildkittens home.

UN-Lincoln won the large school division shutting out UNO twice Sunday. Midland won the small-school division.

CANNING
If you're thinking about trying your hand at canning this year, make sure the equipment you're using is right for the job. One of the most frequent mistakes made in canning is in selecting the processing equipment. The type you choose depends on what foods you want to can. Low-acid vegetables, meat, poultry and fish require processing (cooking in the jar) in a pressure cooker. Acid foods, including all fruits, tomatoes, sauerkraut, pickles or foods to which vinegar has been added, use the boiling water bath method. Open kettle canning is not recommended since there is a danger of contaminating food while packing it into the jars. Use the open kettle methods only for such foods as jellies, jams and preserves that you seal with paraffin. These foods also may be processed in the boiling water bath. The pressure cooker must be equipped with an accurate pressure gauge or weight to register the amount of steam pressure in the cooker. The lid must lock or seal to prevent escape of steam and the canner must have a safety valve and steam valve that can be opened or closed to permit venting. The rack to hold jars should be at least one-half inch off the bottom of the canner. A boiling water-bath canner is frequently sold under the name of "cold pack" canner. It can be made at home using any large kettle or pall that is deep enough to permit water to cover jars at least one inch over the top, plus room for boiling. It also should have a rack similar to the pressure canner and a tight-fitting cover. If you're using a pressure sauce pan, or the small kettle-type cooker for four to six pints, make sure it's equipped with a gauge or weight to properly register steam pressure. It also should be sufficiently deep to permit the use of pint jars.

Mrs. Hannah Kelly and Francis, Winnetoon, spent the weekend in the Gary Farrnes home.

Contract Club
The Contract Club met the evening of April 27 in the Lloyd Behmer home.

Guests were Mrs. Carl Troutman, Mrs. Twila Kahl, Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer, Mrs. Wayne Imel and Mrs. E.T. Warnemunde.

Club prizes went to Gladys Gaebler, high, Mrs. C.O. Witt, second high, and Mrs. J.G. Sweigard and Minnie Graef, average. Guests prizes were won by Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer and Mrs. E.T. Warnemunde.

Iowa Guests
The Harry Jacobsens, Avoca, Ia., were last weekend guests in the Otto Field home. The Jacobsens visited in the homes of Mrs. Harry Suehl and Mrs. Fred Damme on the afternoon of April 24.

Garage Damaged
A fire early Sunday morning did moderate damage to a garage and its contents owned by Ed Niemann of 220 W. Second St. in Wayne. Wayne volunteer firemen fought the blaze for about an hour and a half. The alarm was turned in at about 3:45 a.m. According to fire chief Dick Korn, cause of the fire is still under investigation, but it is believed to be the result of spontaneous combustion. Fire damage was confined mainly to the roof where firemen had to chop several holes to extinguish wood shingles burning beneath asphalt shingles. Most of the contents sustained smoke damage.

Winside Board
Okays Fireman

A new member was added to the Winside Volunteer Fire Department and a razing permit was okayed Monday night, both by the Winside town board. Named to the fire department was Charles Weible, owner of Charlie's Bar. Receiving the razing permit was Ray Jacobson, owner of Ray's Locker. According to a Winside official, Jacobson plans to tear down a building east of his business.

Laurel '9' Falls

After holding a 3-0 command Monday, Laurel fell behind 4-3 to lose to Homer. No other information was available.

OBITUARIES

Matthew Creighton

Graveside services for Matthew Scott Creighton, four-month-old son of the Larry Creightons of Wayne, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Greenwood Cemetery with the Rev. Ronald Holling officiating. He died Monday at the Beatrice State Developmental Center.

Matthew Scott Creighton was born Dec. 13, 1976, in Wayne. He is survived by his parents, the Larry Creightons of Wayne, and grandparents, the Ivan Creightons of Wayne, and the Elmer Schreiber of Wakefield.

Jerry Hofeldt

Jerry Hofeldt of Eureka, Calif., died recently in a car accident. He was the grandson of the Harry Hofeldts, Carroll. Jerry was preceded in death by his father, Virgil, in 1975. Survivors include his widow, and one son, his mother, Lucy Hofeldt, and a brother, Terry, all of California, and his grandparents, the Harry Hofeldts.

Wayne Scout Sells 301 Tickets

DARRIN BARNER

Darrin Barner, a member of Cub Scout Pack 175 of Wayne, sold the most tickets in the Diamond Dick district for the Scout-O-Rama at Norfolk last Saturday.

Darrin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Barner, sold 301 tickets for the event. In addition to receiving several prizes for selling the most tickets, Darrin was awarded second place in the pinewood derby race.

About 15 boys from Pack 175 attended the Scout-O-Rama. The Wayne booth received a ribbon of participation, and was awarded a first place plaque for having the best totem pole.

The next pack meeting will be May 17 at the West Elementary School for a physical fitness program.

Richard Baler conducted a Webelos campout last month at Ike's Lake. Seven boys and four fathers attended.

County to Seed Some Roadsides

The Wayne County board of commissioners Tuesday approved an agreement under which the State Game and Parks Commission will provide grass seed for planting along road rights of way.

The program is designed to provide habitat for wildlife. Seed will be purchased locally and the county reimbursed by the Game and Parks Commission. The county will be responsible for some limited mowing.

Bill Martin of Norfolk, Department of Economic Development fund representative, also informed the commissioners that funds are available through the federal Environmental Development Administration for various uses including public works and industrial development.

Allen Board Okays Work On Main Line

The Allen town board Monday night okayed the installation of a two-inch water main to the patrons living in the east portion of town.

The main, which received emergency approval, will replace a one-inch main which is insufficient to do the job, according to an Allen official.

Cost of the project, which will be completed by Chase Plumbing of Allen, is estimated at $4,600.

In other action, the board:

- Hired Todd Ellis to mow the city and park grounds and village right of way on the east hill at the cost of $30 per mowing.
- Issued building permits to Dick Heaton for a dwelling, Marvin Oswald for a garage and Irwin Durant for an extension to his garage.
- Started annexation proceedings to property belonging to Charles and Lail Fiscus in order to install a water line. The annexation includes about an acre of land.
- Okayed Darwin Rubcek to continue working for the village until regular maintenance main LeRoy Roberts is able to return. Roberts was hurt when a loader he was operating tipped over at the village landfill.

approved on a case-by-case basis, he said.

Felix Dorcy disagreed, saying rural areas need some protection against over development and recommended a minimum lot size requirement of one to five acres.

Most of the rest of the audience concurred with that recommendation, but at least one farmer in the audience, Glenn Olson, said he would prefer a 40-acre minimum.

"I don't want to see helter skelter housing developments all over the county," he said. "People create problems, they don't solve them."

Ewing said he cherishes property rights and that too many rights have been taken away from the public. "Don't make it (lot size requirement) so large that we will have lost one more right," he admonished.

The question was also raised if the lot size requirement would apply in cases where a farmer wants to sell a farmstead but retain adjacent farm land. Wright said it will be up to the planning commission to decide the answer while formulating zoning regulations.

The commission took no formal action on the matter but discussion revealed a diversity of opinion among the planners.

Some indicated they favor a large minimum lot size while others favored a requirement as small as five acres. An informal poll seemed to indicate the commission might consider a compromise of 10 acres, but no final decision was reached and the issue will be taken up again at the next meeting scheduled for June 7.

Wright also informed the commission of legislative action which might affect the planning commission. Wright is a comprehensive planner with the State Office of Planning and Programming. The Appropriations Committee of the Unicameral has shifted the appropriation for planning functions from the SOPP to the Department of Economic Development, effective July 1.

Wright said that in addition to shifting the function from one department to another, the committee also has cut the appropriation. That will have the effect of reducing from seven to three the number of state consultants available to assist Nebraska counties with planning functions and will leave only two planners, Wright and another man, to work directly with county planning commissions.

The county contracted with SOPP for consulting services in connection with planning. Terms of the contract have been met, Wright said, and he will continue working with the Wayne County planning commission, but the legislative action could result in a reduction of planning services to the commission.

IT'S MOTHER'S DAY

So, We've Selected These Tasty Treats to Brighten Her Day!

Apple Cherry Punch

Dissolve 1 envelope cherry sugar-sweetened soft drink mix in 1½ quarts water with ice in a pitcher. Add 2 cups apple juice. Makes 2 quarts or 16 servings.

Clown Cake

Prepare 1 envelope whipped topping mix as directed on package, increasing vanilla to 1 teaspoon and beating in ¼ cup sugar. Then beat 2 minutes longer, until fluffy. Tint one third of the topping pink with red food coloring.

Cut a triangle from a cooled, baked 9-inch square cake by making a diagonal cut from center of 1 edge to center of adjacent edge. Place larger cake on a large tray; place triangle at short edge to make peak of clown's hat. Spread pink topping on face area, making 2 deep swirls for cheeks. Place 2 marshmallows on face for nose. Spread white topping over hat area and the marshmallows; sprinkle with flaked coconut, using about one and one-third cups. Decorate with large gumdrops, blue crystal mints and split red gumdrop strips.

Captain's Chocolate Squares

Crust:

2 cups crushed crunchy-sweet Peanut Butter Cereal (about 4½ cups uncrushed)
One-Third cup Butter or Margarine, melted
2 tablespoons Sugar

Filling:

One 8-oz. pkg. Cream Cheese, softened
½ cup Milk
¼ cup Sugar
1 teaspoon Vanilla
One 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Semi-Sweet Chocolate Pieces, melted
1 cup Heavy Cream, whipped

For crust, line 9-inch square baking pan with aluminum foil, extending ends over edges of pan; grease lightly. Combine crust ingredients; mix well. Reserve ¼ cup; press remaining crust mixture onto bottom of prepared pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 10 minutes. Cool.

For filling, combine cream cheese, milk, sugar and vanilla; beat until light and fluffy. Add chocolate, mixing until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Spoon over cooled crust. Sprinkle with reserved crust mixture. Cover with aluminum foil; freeze until firm, at least 4 hours. Remove from pan by lifting ends of aluminum foil. Let stand about 10 minutes at room temperature; cut into squares to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Lazy Cinnamon Crunch Cake

Cake:

2 cups Complete Pancake Mix
3 tablespoons Sugar
½ teaspoon Cinnamon

1 cup Water

Broiled Topping:

½ cup Shredded or Flaked Coconut
½ cup Brown Sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup Chopped Nuts

¼ cup Butter or Margarine, melted
2 tablespoons Milk
½ teaspoon Cinnamon

For cake, combine pancake mix, sugar and cinnamon. Add water; mix well. Pour into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) for 20 minutes.

For topping, combine all ingredients; mix well. Spread evenly over hot cake. Broil about 5 inches from heat until topping is golden brown and bubbly, about 2 minutes. Makes 9-inch square coffee cake.

Polynesian Prize Beef Salad

12 ounces Beef Salami
1 cup Mayonnaise
1 tablespoon Lemon Juice
1 tablespoon Soy Sauce
1 teaspoon Curry Powder
1 can (15½-oz.) Pineapple Chunks, drained
2 cups Red Apple, cubed
1 pound Seedless Green Grapes, halved
1 cup Sliced Celery
1 can (8-oz.) Water Chestnuts, sliced
½ cup Cashew Nuts, halved
Lettuce Cups

Cut salami in slices ¼-inch thick; cut in bite-size wedges. Combine mayonnaise, lemon juice, soy sauce and curry powder. Toss together salami, pineapple chunks, apple, grapes, celery, water chestnuts and nuts. Fold in mayonnaise and chill. Serve in lettuce cups. 6 servings (approximately one and one-third cups each).

Tropical Fruit Loaf

2 cups All-Purpose Flour
1 cup Sugar
2¼ teaspoons Baking Powder
½ teaspoon Salt
1 cup Bite-Sized Wheat Cereal, crushed to ½ cup

One-Third cup Nuts, chopped

1 Egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons Vegetable Oil
2 tablespoons Water
1 can (8-oz.) Crushed Pineapple, undrained
½ cup Mashed Banana (1 large banana)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease an 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan. In large bowl, thoroughly mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in cereal and nuts. Combine egg, oil, water, pineapple and banana. Add to dry ingredients all at once. (Mixture will be stiff.) Stir just until moistened. Turn into pan. Bake 70-75 minutes or until tester inserted in center comes out clean. Let cool 15 minutes before removing from pan. Makes 1 loaf.

Strawberry Kuchen

One-Third cup and ½ cup Sugar
2½ tablespoons Cornstarch
1 teaspoon Lemon Juice
1½ cups Sliced, Fresh Strawberries (about ¾ pint)
2½ cups Bite-Sized Rice Cereal, crushed to Two-Thirds cup
5 tablespoons Butter or Margarine, softened
¼ cups Milk
1 Egg
¼ teaspoon Almond Extract
One and One-Third cups All-Purpose Flour, sifted
4 teaspoons Baking Powder
½ teaspoon Salt

Combine one-third cup sugar and cornstarch. Add lemon juice and strawberries. Stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Heat and stir over medium heat until mixture becomes very thick and clear. Set aside. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Grease a 9-inch round pan. Combine cereal and butter. Beat in milk, egg and almond extract. (Mixture will be lumpy.) Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and ½ cup sugar. Add to liquid ingredients. Stir until moistened. Pour into pan. Drop strawberry mixture by teaspoons over top of batter. Cut through with knife 2-3 times. Bake 25-30 minutes or until top is golden brown. Cool. If desired, pipe glaze over top of cake.

GLAZE: Combine 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar, 1 tablespoon warm water, ½ teaspoons light corn syrup and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Makes 1 coffee cake.

Override attempt expected on veto of Murphy bill

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN — Describing the bill as a "flagrant attempt of the legislature to overreach its legitimate constitutional legislative authority," Gov. J. James Exon vetoed a measure aimed at mandating compliance with every state law. According to terms of the proposal, the governor said, executive officers of government would be directed to "violate their oaths to uphold the Constitution."
 Before the bill, sponsored by South St. Louis City Sen. John Murphy, was passed by the legislature and sent to Exon for his signature, it triggered extended debate in the Unicameral.
 Those supporting the legislation argued directors of state agencies were duty bound to implement state laws even if the attorney general issued an opinion the laws were unconstitutional.
 Opponents charged the bill would upset the division of power among the three branches of government and probably was in violation of the Constitution.
 In his veto message, Exon said: "It is true that the Supreme Court is the final arbiter of the Constitution, but that does not mean the legislature should do whatever it wishes until the court says no."

 The governor added: "In all, the bill is conceived and in accord to our constitutional principles. It should be quietly laid to rest."
 Burchach Departs
 To longtime legislative observers it seemed a shame that former Sen. Jules Burchach of Hartington severed his connection with the legislature on a bitter note.
 Burchach, who served 20 years as a legislator before deciding not to seek re-election last November, was advised recently his job as executive director of the Legislative Council would be abolished June 30.
 The council's executive board voted recently to eliminate the budget for Burchach's position next fiscal year. That hurt, he admitted, adding he was especially disappointed that board chairman, Sen. Richard Marvel, at hearings, voted with the majority against funding the executive director's position.
 Burchach didn't wait around long after he received his bad news. He packed his belongings and left several days later. He said he will not return to the Unicameral in any capacity and will not run for any office.
 While serving in the legislature Burchach ran twice for governor and once for lieutenant governor.
 He was Unicameral Speaker the two years before his retirement and had a reputation as a ramrodder who could get things done in the legislative chamber.

Budget Boost Requested
 Gov. Exon will ask the legislature to boost the University of Nebraska's budget $168,815 to a statewide attack can be made on what he called "the worst swine killer and threat to the midwestern livestock industry in the last decade."
 Exon said he will ask the legislature to appropriate the additional money in order to triple the capacity of the university's veterinary science department for testing and tracking down the swine killer.
 The virus spreading across the Midwest and infecting swine is called pseudorabies. The disease is harmless to humans but can cause 100 per cent death loss in pigs under two weeks of age, Exon said.

 He said 14 Nebraska counties had confirmed cases of the disease and another 44 had the potential for an outbreak.
 State veterinarian Norman Kruse said emphasis will be placed on quarantines and on the movement of swine into the state. He said it is not known how the virus is transmitted but it appears hogs are the most susceptible to it. Cattle and sheep can also be infected, he said.
 The governor said Nebraska is attacking the outbreak as a state problem and added it is not known if federal aid would be available if it were needed.
Tax Relief
 Preliminary approval has been given to the bill that would eliminate the personal property tax over a three-year period.
 If it becomes law, the measure would wipe out the tax on farm equipment next year, on business inventories in 1979 and on livestock in 1980 when the state's contribution to the personal property tax relief fund would reach its statutory ceiling of $70 million.

 The governor has indicated he will sign the measure if the legislature approves another bill that would put a limit on local government spending.
 While working on the second bill recently, the lawmakers voted to penalize counties which fail to meet a proposed Jan. 1, 1978, deadline for reappraising property by withholding part of their allotment from the relief fund.
 The legislation, which has received first-round approval, would also place a seven per cent lid on budget increases for all subdivisions of government. Another provision calls for a governmental subdivision to hold a budget hearing if an increase of more than seven per cent is thought necessary.
 Chief sponsor of the spending limit bill is Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook. He said the legislature is using the budget lid and withholding tactics to force counties to reappraise property.

Doyle Resigns
 Tom Doyle, director of the State Department of Roads for more than six years has resigned effective June 3 to become executive vice president of Ready Mixed Concrete Co., and Lyman-Rickey Sand & Gravel Corp. in Omaha.
 Before becoming state engineer, Doyle was state labor commissioner from 1967 to 1971.
 He has been mentioned from time to time as a possible candidate for governor in the next election.
 Gov. J. James Exon, is announcing Doyle's resignation, said Doyle would receive a "very substantial raise" in his new job.
 The state director of roads position carried an annual salary of $29,700.
 The new director will be David Coolidge of McCook, a district engineer who has been employed by the Roads Department for 40 years.
 Coolidge, who is 66, has headed the McCook district office since 1948.

Property tax load determined locally

Taxes on Nebraska farm real estate increased 16 per cent in a single year, from 1974 to 1975, according to a recent report by the Economic Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
 This represents a total dollar rise from $115.5 million in 1974 to $134.1 million in 1975. The jump in farm real estate taxes in the state between 1970 and 1974 was 48 per cent and the 1975 total represented a 160 per cent increase over the $51.6 million levied in 1960.
 Of the four states in Region VII, Nebraska had the largest percentage increase in farm real estate taxes between 1974-1975 and Kansas had the smallest with three per cent. The average tax per acre in Nebraska in 1975 was $2.88 as compared to $2.48 in 1974. Iowa's average was $6.40 per acre in 1975 as compared to $5.67 the previous year. Missouri's average per acre was $2.34 in 1975 as compared to $2.20 in 1974. Kansas' per acre average was $3.35 in 1975 as compared to $3.03 in 1974.
 Average figures merely show a trend, and that trend is definitely up by a substantial percentage. Actually, there is tremendous variation in the amount of local taxes levied. One of the major factors is whether the land is located in a school district with a high mill levy. If a farm is located in a high school district serving a city which is growing and having to build new facilities for an expanding school population, the property tax per acre may be many times the statewide average.
 There are classic examples in which a landowner may find that taxes on one of his quarters in one district may be as much as $1,500 while a similar quarter across the road in another district may be $500. The two pieces of property might be equally productive otherwise.

 Inflation has forced up the operational costs of schools, county government and all other local governmental agencies dependent principally upon local property taxes. There is currently much controversy over the wide variation in property tax valuations between the various counties of the state because of multi-county taxing districts such as the community technical college districts and natural resources districts. A two-mill levy by a technical college district naturally will collect more money from a county which has had a reappraisal of its real property in 1975 than one which hasn't had a general reappraisal since 1957.
 Senators in the Nebraska legislature arguing the merits of legislation to set up a system to force counties to bring valuations up to date and keep them current have readily agreed that the present property valuation situation in the state is a "mess." It is creating inequities not only in the matter of multi-county taxing districts, but in state aid to education equalization distribution formulas.
 Nebraskans griping about the growth of their property taxes however, should keep some basic facts in mind when they ask for remedies and these include:
 —Our property taxes are determined by our local taxing agencies and the size of the budgets in dollar amounts that our school boards, county boards, et cetera, request each year. If these budgets are increased, the mill levies have to be increased to fund them.
 —Increasing valuations does not automatically increase the tax take. One mill levied on $1,000 of assessed valuation produces $1 in tax revenue. If a county's valuations are high, then it takes fewer mills to fund what the local taxing agencies request in their budgets. If the county's valuations are low, then it takes more mills to produce the same amount of revenue.

 —Our property taxes are local taxes. Since 1967, state government has been forbidden by constitutional amendment from levying property taxes and must depend on income and sales taxes for its main source of revenue.
 —If we ask for more in local public services, then we should expect to pay more in property taxes. — M.M. Van Kirk, Nebraska Farm Bureau.

Government contributes to Health costs

For many years now the federal government has been complaining bitterly of the rapid increase in health-care costs. And for just as many years, the government has itself been a major factor in causing those increases.
 Any competent economist could have told us — and many of them did — that massive doses of new money would raise costs faster than quality. And that is exactly what has happened.
 In 1965, our national health care expenditure was about $40 billion a year. Today, the figure is nearly $140 billion — $638 per person. That's an increase of 250 per cent. Yet, the cost of living has not risen by 250 per cent since then. The population has not increased 250 per cent. And we are certainly not 250 per cent healthier.
 What factor can we find that has increased by at least that much? The answer, of course, is government spending on health care. Since 1965, public spending has risen by 519 per cent.

 Thanks largely to this kind of "help," our present high health care costs are likely to double by 1982 — just five years from now.
 The National Chamber of Commerce and the American business community are just as concerned about these cost increases as the government. Business is a major consumer of health care services, through employee health insurance plans, industrial medical facilities and taxes.
 Businesses need and want healthy employees with healthy families. But that objective does not exclude asking whether the money we are spending on health care is being spent wisely.
 Indeed, some health-care experts are beginning to wonder if more money — from any source — can buy more health. Lester Breslow of U.C.L.A., Walter McMerney of Blue Cross, and John Knowles of the Rockefeller Foundation have all recently pointed a finger at life style as the real major health problem today.

 As Dr. Knowles put it: "The individual must realize that a perpetuation of the present system of high-cost, after-the-fact medicine will only result in higher costs and more frustration. The next major advance in the health of the American people will result only from what the individual is willing to do for himself."
 There is, fortunately, a growing realization in Congress and the Administration that the country simply can't pay for any more massive government programs. That realization hasn't grown enough yet — as a look at the federal budget shows — but it has grown enough to scuttle any immediate efforts to launch a federal national health care plan. Only a few diehard idealogues are still pushing that one. That's the good news.
 The bad news is that the government has a curious view of "cost containment" in the health care field. The Administration is toying with the idea of putting a lid on the industry's prices, while continuing to increase its costs with such things as minimum wage hikes. I call this the "King Canute school of economics, in memory of the monarch who ordered the tide not to come in. — Richard Leshner, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

OBSERVATIONS

A question of compromise

Discussion of a proposal to set a minimum lot size for non-farm residences in rural Wayne County stirred considerable, and healthy, debate Tuesday night at a meeting of the county joint planning commission.
 The question at hand is: How much land should a person be required to buy in rural areas in order to build a home which will not be connected with a farming operation?
 There are two extreme positions: 1. Make the requirement so restrictive, say 40 or more acres, that building a non-farm home in the country is prohibited for most practical purposes. 2. Impose no restriction, allowing unlimited development.
 Proponents of minimal or no restrictions argue that property owners should be free to do what they want with their land. Proponents of the prohibitive restrictions argue that farm land should be preserved exclusively for agricultural purposes and protected from encroachment by development.
 Both arguments are valid, to a point, but we feel an acceptable compromise between those two extremes should be reached.
 From the time when humans first banded together, no rights have been absolute. People within a society are interdependent, and that interdependence requires that someone give up some rights. Government, presumably, exists to provide a somewhat equitable compromise in relinquishing of rights for the good of society.
 We agree with an opinion expressed during the planning commission meeting that government has often infringed on rights in cases where it was unnecessary, but we disagree with the opinion that Wayne County doesn't need zoning at all.
 One participant in the discussion said the county has changed little in the past 50 years and said there is nothing to indicate it will change much in the future. Therefore, the argument goes, zoning isn't needed now, so why do it?
 That's the old "head in the sand" philosophy of government. Wait until a problem develops and it is too late to take effective action. Then try to solve it.
 Can't happen here? Maybe not, but it has happened in other locations in Nebraska. It is our understanding that farmers in Box Butte County rejected county planning and zoning. It was, they said, an infringement on their rights.

Then, when coal began moving by rail through Nebraska, and the buildup of rail yards turned Alliance into a boom town, a housing shortage occurred and rural developments began springing up. Rural property owners began clamoring for controls, but they had rejected the tool for control — zoning.
 Can't happen here? Probably not, but why take the chance?
 Regarding the "extreme" philosophies concerning minimum lot sizes, a prohibitive requirement isn't needed to protect agriculture. People who work in town and prefer to live in the country should have some opportunity to do so, so long as development does not interfere with farming.
 At the same time, uncontrolled development can create some problems. Sure, we Midwesterners are rugged individualists who believe in doing our own thing. And that might be all right, except that those rugged individuals still demand government services. That, coupled with scattered development can cause problems.
 Take for example, what happens when a cluster of homes is allowed to develop on rural property. A concentration of population means more youngsters who need to be educated. The value of the residential development property, because of its small size, could be disproportionately small in relation to the percentage of demand for education contributed by residents. Result: the farm owner pays higher taxes on his property.
 We would also argue that proper zoning should accommodate a variety of life styles. Shouldn't the person who builds a home in the country to get away from urban life have some assurance that a high density rural residential development won't spring up next door? Again, there can be no absolute guarantee, but zoning, in a sense, is the art of compromise, and an attempt should be made to satisfy, at least partially, not only those persons who hold one or the other of the extreme opinions on the issue, but those somewhere in the middle.
 Whatever is decided certainly won't make everyone happy, and probably won't be completely acceptable to many. But a minimum lot size requirement somewhere in the middle of the proposed scale is the best way to give the most people an answer that is at least partially acceptable. — Jim Strayer.

BUSINESS NOTES

A panel of judges, including White House consumer affairs official Frank McLaughlin and Whirlpool consumer affairs executives, have determined that Charles Refrigeration and Appliance Service in Wayne is one of the best appliance service companies in the nation.

That is their considered opinion as the judges of the Whirlpool Corporation Performance Plus II contest. Designed to recognize and honor Whirlpool Tech-Care service companies which excelled in customer service during 1976, the Performance Plus II competition was open to 5,500 Tech-Care service companies in the United States.

Guy Turner, Whirlpool director of consumer affairs, explained that the company sponsored the second annual competition to reward deserving companies and determine the quality of plus services technicians perform for their customers.

Winners were selected on the basis of each company's service efforts over and above the standard qualifications of warranty coverage, parts inventory control, service training, consumer complaint handling and quality control.

Charles Refrigeration and Appliance Service received a certificate of recognition for its "total commitment to complete customer satisfaction" and its "plus performance record of solving difficult service problems with unusual versatility."

Martin and Clarice Blohm of Allen have announced they will open the Country Girl Bridal Salon at the junction of Highways 20 and 9 four miles north of Allen.

The business, now under construction, is scheduled to open in June.

Manager, Larry Hintz, and employees Darold Kraemaer and Kathy Thompson of Gamble Store in Wayne, have successfully completed an extensive training program on electronics, including CB radio, stereo systems, tape recorders and TV.

The comprehensive program utilizes a combination of training techniques including cassette tapes, learning booklets and color microfiche. The latter is a new process which condenses 98 pages or images into a single four inch by six inch microfiche film.

Attendance at the convention topped 1,250 persons which made it the largest in Pamida's history and among the largest retailer convention in the mid-west. Management of 197 Pamida-owned and operated Gibson Discount Centers from 13 states divided their attention between merchandise buying and meetings.

During the last year, Pamida opened a total of 30 stores, of which 13 were in new communities and 17 were relocated to new, larger buildings. A similar program of growth will be followed in the coming year.

Terry Lutt, dealer service representative from Red Carr Implement of Wayne, attended the Agricultural Products Service School sponsored by Owatonna Manufacturing Company, Inc., Owatonna, Minn.

A total of 13 dealership representatives from Missouri, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Oklahoma, Alberta Canada and Nebraska attended the sessions directed by key personnel of the Agricultural Division of the manufacturer.

German Club Gives Awards

A $25 award from the Wayne State College German Club has been given to a Wayne State sophomore from Plattsmouth and freshman from Omaha, both judged the best intermediate German students at WSC.

Dave Ryan of Murray, a 1976 graduate of Plattsmouth High School; and Merrie Storms, Omaha, a 1976 graduate of Burke High School, were awarded the scholarship on the basis of academic performance in their German classes.

The son of Richard and Annmarie Ryan, Dave is a sophomore at Wayne, majoring in math and business.

Miss Storms, a freshman, majors in German. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Storms of Omaha.

Jeff Salak, president of the German Club, announced the winners last week on the Wayne State campus. The club was assisted by Dr. Robert Zahner, associate professor of German, in determining scholarship recipients.

Within the U.S., carrots are chiefly grown in California, Texas and Arizona.

Data Is Needed For Application

People who plan to apply for supplemental security income payments (SSI) can save time by first getting together some information about themselves, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled. People can get information about applying for the payments by calling or writing any social security office.

"When applying" Branch said, "it's a good idea to have with you as many of the following as possible: a checking account statement, if you have one, to show how much you have in the bank, any savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, automobile registration cards, last year's income tax return, W-2 forms, and evidence of all other income."

It may save time, too, according to Branch, if people applying for SSI payments know how much cash they have on hand and know the value of their car, if they own one.

"You should also have your social security card," he said. "Disabled or blind students 18 to 22 should have school identification card, tuition receipts or similar evidence of school attendance."

The supplemental security income program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The Norfolk social security office is at 1310 Norfolk Avenue. The phone number is 371-1595.

Beekeeping Is Beneficial

Beekeeping, a practice dating to the ancient Egyptians, may be a practical hobby for city and rural dwellers alike, according to Dr. Dave Keith, Extension entomologist, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Nebraska, which has a large commercial honey industry, also produces several agricultural crops which require pollination, a process aided by bees, according to Keith. Garden crops such as cucumbers, melons, squash, gourds and berry fruits also require pollination. Most city ordinances do not prohibit beekeeping within city limits, but it is wise to inform neighbors, although bees are generally "extremely safe," according to Keith. Beehives must be registered and inspected under state law and usually cost about $10.

Minimum Stocks Predicted for Soybean Crop

By Sept. 1, soybean stocks will likely be drawn down to minimum operating levels — 65 million bushels — compared with 245 million bushels on Sept. 1, 1976, according to a summary issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on April 27. Soaring soybean prices have failed to curb demand.

Soybean crushing and exports from September to April exceeded 1975-76 by two per cent, despite a 13 per cent less supply. By April 1, disappearance of 910 million bushels from a 1,510-million-bushel supply left 600 million bushels in stocks — one third below a year earlier.

Also on April 1, farmers intended to plant 53.7 million acres of soybeans, 11 per cent more than they planted in 1976 and 6 per cent more than they intended on January 1. In view of soaring bean prices, farmers may revise their intentions upward again before plantings.

Economists from USDA projected 1977's soybean harvest at between 1.4 and 1.6 billion bushels, depending on final planted acreage and yields. Even with a 1.6-billion-bushel harvest, soybean supplies would remain relatively tight through the 1977-78 season.

Irrigators

Face Special

Problems with

Soil Erosion

Conserving soil resources under irrigation is becoming more difficult as center pivot irrigation systems are installed in rougher terrain and areas of higher rainfall, a University of Nebraska Extension agricultural engineer warns.

Nebraska farmer-irrigators are caught on the horns of a dilemma — the need to achieve stability of income and assurance of profit through irrigation, and the risk of ruining soil resources and destroying long-term stability in situations where severe soil erosion is a by-product of irrigation. That's the analysis of Ron Gaddis, who comments that "traditional" center pivot experience does not contain all the answers to the problem of irrigation-induced soil erosion.

Early development of center pivot irrigation in Nebraska took place in the more feasible soil and terrain situations, Gaddis said. But the success of center pivot irrigation, and the pressure of three dry years, has stimulated installation of the "circles" in more and more marginal situations and in some cases, an operation is doomed to failure before the start. Some irrigators are developing rougher terrain but don't recognize the limited factors, he added.

Gaddis said he has looked at a plan for one proposed system crossing a couple of canyons 50 feet wide and 40 feet deep and another where a 1,070-foot diameter pivot drops 215 feet from one end to the other, with some parts of the field 35 per cent slope, and the average slope equaling 10 per cent in one direction.

In some cases, the answer may be a difficult, unpopular, but necessary answer: "do not irrigate," Gaddis said. New methods and approaches are being studied which may yield answers to erosion problems associated with irrigation, but in the meantime, there must be more selectivity in recommending center pivot irrigation sites, the UN-L specialist maintained.

"The criteria for a go-ahead decision must be more refined than is sometimes jokingly said, 'with the pipe drag the ground between the towers?'"

—Wheel track erosion.

—Rainfall erosion where terraces do not exist.

—Erosion associated with runoff toward the outer end of the pivot.

Runoff under the outer towers of a center pivot is more likely to occur in areas where the system is climbing the grade and excess water is running back on wet soil. The goal of the center pivot design is to apply the same water depth to the whole circular area under the towers. The ring-shaped areas under each tower are larger and larger in moving from the inside (the center of the pivot) to the outside. Sprinklers on each of the towers must apply increasingly more and more gallons per minute as the areas become larger in order to achieve equal water application throughout the whole field.

While there are three approaches in nozzle variation used to achieve the same depth of water applied, "with the present technology, we cannot increase the spread of the water rapidly enough to keep up with the increase in gallonage needed to water the increased area near the outer end of the pivot," Gaddis said.

When the soil is dry at the beginning of the irrigation operation, the intake rate is rapid, but as more and more water is applied, the intake rate settles down to some constant value. "If you apply water faster than the soil can take it in, then you have either runoff or standing water.

The length of time any one particle of soil is under the pivot pipe decreases toward the outer edge of the pivot, Gaddis explained. "A soil particle near the pivot might get a good wetting, but could be flushed out of place near the 10th tower. This can be avoided partially by using sprinklers to spread out the water."

What it amounts to, Gaddis said, is that water application near the pivot "resembles a slow, gentle shower," while near the outside, the soil gets a "quick dousing." While the system is designed to apply the same overall depth of water, the length of time a pivot system has to apply water does change in moving toward the outer towers. And, the spread of water does not increase rapidly enough, meaning the soak time may be too short.

Assuming a fairly uniform soil water intake rate in a field, at some point, the intensity of the simulated rainfall from the system may exceed the soil's intake ability — usually near the outer towers. In a flat field, this could mean standing water; on a sloping field, runoff, resulting in wasted water, eroded soil and lost fertilizer.

There are several things irrigators can try, Gaddis said. In all cases, crop needs will need to be checked against the approach.

—Speed up the system, which will decrease the duration of the "rainstorm," making it necessary to increase the number of revolutions.

—Pump fewer gallons and renoze the system if necessary.

—Limit the length of the system if possible in order to not over-reach the soil intake rate.

—Change the pattern of nozzling.

Applications Are Due For Seed Certification

Due dates for field inspection applications have been set by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.

Due dates for various crops are:

May 20 — Wheat, oats, barley, rye, bromegrass, wheatgrass and crownvetch.

June 15 — Hybrid corn and turfgrass sod.

July 1 — Warm-season grasses, all sorghums, field beans and second crop alfalfa.

August 1 — Soybeans, millet, sudan and third crop alfalfa.

Growers are instructed to use a separate application for each variety and each class. When making application, the form must be filled out completely and accurately. The application should be accompanied by a registered or foundation seed tag (this verifies the source and class of the seed planted) with a check enclosed to cover the inspection fee. A fee schedule is printed on the back of the application and can be turned in the Nebraska Handbook of Seed Certification Standards. If unforeseen circumstances, such as hail or drought, occur an applicant may cancel his application anytime before the field is inspected. In such a case, all but $1 of the fee will be refunded.

Growers who have seed eligible for recertification are encouraged to make application for all of their eligible acres, as the need for increased production will create demand for high quality seed of most crops.

Field inspection application forms and further information about certification are available from all county extension offices or from the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, Keim Hall, East Campus, Lincoln, Nebr.

Moisture Check May Help Predict Yield

Farmers who take time to check subsoil moisture before planting dryland corn can get some idea of expected final yields. This suggestion comes from Dr. Phil Harlan, Extension land use specialist at the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Stored moisture can be determined by digging a post hole and multiplying the wetted thickness by 2.25 inches of available water per foot for most soils, according to Harlan. "A medium textured soil, which most of ours are, hold about two and one-fourth inches per foot. These are the silt loam and silty clay loam soils," he said. Sands have about one-half that amount and sticky clays contain about three-quarters that amount, he noted.

According to Harlan, there is a strong correlation between stored moisture and yields for dryland corn, although, he adds that "we are eternal optimists" in hoping enough rainfall will occur during the growing season to finish up the crop. If irrigation is not available.

If growers are short of subsoil moisture, Harlan said, a researcher in Missouri, E.C. Runge has made estimates of yield reductions for Nebraska.

In the Northeast Nebraska growers can expect 140-133 bushels per acre for 12 inches of stored moisture, 118-117 for eight inches of stored moisture and 68-61 bushels per acre for four inches of stored moisture with normal rainfall, according to Runge's figures.

Runge's predictions for south east Nebraska are not as good, because of higher temperature expectations, Harlan said. "Predictions for Lincoln and Fairbury are nearly the same, running 127 bushels per acre for 12 inches, 100 bushels for eight inches and 38-36 bushels per acre for four inches of stored water."

For those who do not have 12 inches of stored moisture, Harlan recommended reducing the yield goal, which means slightly lowering plant population and fertilizer requirements.

Loan, Purchase Rates for Oats Have Increased

The 1977 county loan and purchase rates for oats will result in an increase of 27 cents per bushel over the 1976 rates for all counties, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

The new rates reflect the national average loan rate of $1 per bushel, announced April 4. There are no adjustments in the county-to-county and area-to-area relationship from those in effect for 1976.

The 1977 crop county loan rates are for oats grading No. 3. The schedule of premiums and discounts for 1977-crop oats is unchanged from 1976.

Copies of 1977-crop oats county loan rates as applicable are being sent to States and will also be available from the Grains, Oilseeds and Cotton Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Sometimes farmers report that they smell ammonia in a field as much as 48 hours after application of anhydrous ammonia. What causes this?

When direct ammonia losses from soil occur generally one of the following is the cause:

- Faulty application equipment.
- Incomplete closure of the injection channel.
- Application is made too near the soil surface.
- Faulty application equipment may be associated with gaseous leaks very near the soil surface.
- one knife running shallow while others run at the correct depth, or unequal distribution of ammonia to each knife making the application through one knife excessively high.
- Incomplete closure of the injection channel is usually a factor of soil moisture conditions could be described as a moist, friable soil which readily closes behind the applicator knife with or without the aid of closing devices. Ideal conditions for disking or plowing are also the best conditions for application.

callion of anhydrous ammonia. If knife slits do not close properly the cause is probably high soil moisture.

Shallow application will allow some gaseous ammonia to be absorbed very near the soil surface. Some of the ammonia is retained in the soil moisture which upon drying will loose ammonia.

Ear Ringing May be a Warning

Research has shown that noise can damage the hearing of a farm operator. Ordinary conversation is rated at 60 decibels, an open car window near the ear rates a 95, a shotgun blast measures 130 and a jet with afterburner is 160 decibels.

Hearing loss caused by noise does not respond well to hearing aid treatment and is usually not improved by surgery. The best treatment is prevention. Various types of ear plugs and ear muffs are available.

While it is difficult to measure sound levels the operator might experience hearing deterioration through the following danger signals:

- If ears ring or you experience head noises for a few hours after you get off the tractor after a days work.
- If, after a day's work on the tractor, speech seems to be muffled when others try to communicate with you.

Alfalfa Weevil Serious Pest

The alfalfa weevil has recently become a serious pest of alfalfa in Northeast Nebraska, according to John Witkowski extension research entomologist at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

The adult egg laying form, a weevil, migrates to alfalfa fields in early spring and begins to lay eggs in plant stems. Eggs usually hatch over about a 30-day period beginning in very late April and the small inconspicuous white to yellow worms with black heads move to the alfalfa tips and begin to chew on the foliage. The larvae (worms) turn progressively greener as they mature and after a three to four week feeding period they are about three-eighths of an inch long and green, with a distinctive white stripe down the middle of the back. After a feeding cycle is completed the larvae fall to the ground where they form loosely woven cocoons of silk and bits of plants and emerge as adults 10 to 14 days later.

The first indications of weevil damage are small holes eaten in the leaves at the growing tips in May and June, Witkowski said. Damage is most severe to the first cutting or to the regrowth of the second crop. Producers are urged to scout their fields every week beginning in May and up to first cutting and initial regrowth. Sample by randomly grabbing a handful of individual alfalfa plants in several locations in the field and count the damaged plants against the total plants, the entomologist said, thereby arriving at a percentage of plants damaged by the weevil.

If 30 to 40 per cent of the growing tips show weevil feeding damage and the field is not within 10 days of harvest, an insecticide is recommended. "However, if you are within 10 days of first cutting it would appear more economical to take an early cutting as soon as possible," Witkowski said.

Care Suggested For Pine Trees

Most of the pine trees in the area need preventive treatment now, according to district forester Richard Garit.

The Austrian, Ponderosa and Mugho pines are susceptible to damage from Pine tip blight and pine needle cast.

Both diseases of pine can be controlled with spraying of a Bordeaux mixture. Apply one spray the last week of April, and the second spray, two weeks later. Use the Bordeaux mixture at a standard rate. The tips of all branches need thorough coverage.

Humid weather will cause an increase in the diseases. Either disease can result in tree losses if it is present for several years in the trees.

Lack of Funds Hampers Laurel

Lack of funds was the reason the Greater Nebraska Health Systems Agency last week turned down a project application from the Village of Laurel to build a nursing home, according to Dave Felber, chairman of nursing home advisory board.

The only alternative left, Felber pointed out, is to come up with a different route of funding. "Hopefully, we'll know more this summer," he added.

Voters in Laurel earlier turned down a bond issue to build the home.

Good as New

WHEN LANCE DeWald found a child's picnic table abandoned near his family's home northwest of Wayne, it was in pretty sad shape. So the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean DeWald decided to fix it up. The first step (above) was to remove some of the old, splintered boards, with a little supervision from his younger brothers Jay, three, and Heath, two. Then he sawed new lumber to the right dimensions (right), painted the table red, white and blue. The DeWald's also have a daughter, Jodi, five.

Shopping at Gamble Store in Wayne turned out to be a good bargain for a Wayne man.

Floyd Andrews of 220 E. Fourth was in Gamble's Thursday night when the winning Birthday Bucks date was called. The date didn't match his birth date, but it was close enough that Andrews pocketed $25 in Bucks as the consolation prize.

Andrews was born on July 21, 1904, winning date was July 5 of that year. If his date would have matched the winning date drawn at random by Keith Droscher of Surber's Clothing, Andrews would have won $750.

Any shopper can be a winner by just being present in a participating Wayne business tonight (Thursday) when another drawing will be held at 8:15.

Cemetery Association Sets May 29 for Ice Cream Social

The Bethany Cemetery Association met at the Congregational Church Sunday evening.

Plans were made for the annual ice cream social, which will be held at the Presbyterian Church fellowship hall on May 29 at 6 p.m.

G.E. Jones, who has served as treasurer of the association for 31 years, declined re-election. Keith Owens was elected new treasurer. Re-elected to office were: Enos Williams, president; Lloyd Morris, vice president, and Lem Jones, secretary. Lloyd Morris will again serve as caretaker of the cemetery. Plans were made to paint the fence.

evening with all but one member attending.

Carl Peterson opened the meeting with prayer. Edward Fork reported on the last meeting and John Peterson read the treasurer's report. Fork served lunch.

Officers were re-elected to serve another year. Vice president is Murray Leicy.

Sunday's meeting was the final meeting of the season. Host for the next meeting, in September, will be the Rev. G. W. Gotlberg.

25 Attend Dinner

About 25 persons attended a dinner April 27 at the fellowship hall preceding the Congregational Women's Fellowship meeting.

Mrs. Lynn Roberts presided. Reports were given by secretary Mrs. Ron Edie and treasurer Mrs. Frank Vlasak. Mrs. Vlasak had devotions taken from the book of Luke.

Sewing packets and used clothing were prepared to be sent for the overseas clothing drive.

A dinner will precede the next meeting, May 11. Mrs. Fred Eckert will have devotions.

Son Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Isom and Lori of Gowrie, Ia. entertained friends and relatives in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Isom of Carroll Sunday, following the graduation of their son, Ed, from Wayne State College.

Attending were Randy Hascall and Dick Buntgen of David City, Chuck Fuhrer and Barb Soukup of O'Neill, Todd Harrison of Norfolk, Dale Jacobs of Fremont, Mrs. Gilbert Foote, Kelly and Ryan, of Winside, and Mrs. Lynn Isom, Mrs. O.J. Jones and Mrs. Duane Granfield, Cindy and Shelly, all of Carroll.

Fellowship Meeting

The Adult Fellowship met at the Congregational Church Sunday evening with 20 attending. Keith Owens presided and Mrs. Enos Williams reported on the previous meeting.

The Rev. Gail Axen was in charge of devotions and presented a Bible quiz. Serving were Mrs. Esther Batten, Mrs. Etta Fisher and Cora and Merlin Jenkins.

Mrs. Greveson will be speaker at the next meeting, slated for June 12. Mrs. Greveson, originally from South America, is married to a farmer and resides near Stanton.

There will be a cooperative lunch. Coffee chairmen will be Mrs. Erwin Morris and Mrs. G.E. Jones.

Trail Ride Held

Thirteen persons participated in a trail ride sponsored by the Carroll Saddle Club Sunday evening. Afterward, a wiener roast was held at the arena. Coffee chairman was Mrs. Ronald Kittle.

WAYNE COUNTY native Grant Tietgen checks out a customer for the final time before retiring from Safeway.

Tietgen began his career as a grocer in Wayne. He and Mrs. Tietgen plan to return to their home town to retire.

'Good Old Days' Took Lots of Work

Grant Tietgen is a Wayne County native and he and his wife will retire here. Tietgen started his career as a grocer in Wayne. The store and photo appeared in the Frontier and Holt County Independent when Tietgen retired and are provided courtesy of the Independent.

Most folks grocery shopping head their shopping carts through the big, wide aisles to produce in refrigerated cases or past shelves of canned goods without a thought of what it was like in the "good old days."

But for Grant Tietgen the modern stores are full of memories of his early days in the business. Tietgen retired this month after 29 years with Safeway, the last three spent in O'Neill as second assistant manager.

Take the produce cases, for example. Grant's first promotion was to that department as manager before he was promoted to grocery manager and then assistant manager at Wayne.

"We had what we called dry display racks," he said. "We put out the produce and then had to keep the produce fresh for the customers."

"The reserve coolers were refrigerated, but... in 1948 the display cases were not that way because refrigeration was not that common. But we had good quality and the customers accepted the situation until we got more refrigeration."

"It was a job keeping the produce wetted down but we had a good turnover in our produce and that helped. We put the produce in the coolers at night and took produce out of there for the dry displays. It was seven or eight years after I got there before we got the cooler displays."

"Ice cream was another problem in the early days although the price today is the same as it was nearly 30 years ago, despite changes in facilities.

"Our space was so limited that when we got a truck with ice cream in that we put it on special," he recalls. "We put the ice cream on display in the aisles and put dry ice on it to keep it cool during the day. At night we put it in the freezers."

"Meat counters in the old days were pre-cut and the customer selected a cut of meat from the display case and it was weighed and wrapped while they waited. "There's been a lot of changes over the years," he said. "Back when I started we worked six days a week until the job was done."

That, he added, meant working late Saturday nights even though Safeway stayed open until 10 p.m. Their competition stayed open until 2 a.m.

"Saturday was the big night because farmers came to town that night and would buy their groceries and then go off to the movies and get a late night snack before picking up their groceries which were lined up inside the store."

"After we closed we had to wait for the late farmers and clean up the store. Sometimes I would get home in time to take a nap before going to church Sunday morning."

Early stores were mostly run with male help, partly because of the rigors of the job which included unloading semis by hand. This was later changed with the use of conveyor belts and today with pallets so the time to unload a semi was cut from 18 man hours to about one man hour today.

"We didn't have many parking lots at the stores in the early days, either," Tietgen said, "so it wasn't uncommon to carry groceries two or three blocks to cars for customers."

But even with the hard work, there was time for a good time during the early years, he recalls, a time that he still fondly remembers with the manager of the Safeway store, Gil Gramberg.

Gramberg started working for Safeway a few years before Tietgen came to the chain from another grocery store and the two used to have races Saturday as they checked out customers. "Trying to see which one could check out the most customers and ring up the most money."

One thing Tietgen misses the most about his early days in the grocery business is the feeling of working to satisfy the customer. Today the government is sleeping in more and more grocers. "Worry more about satisfying the government than they do the customer."

Police Blotter
Clete Sharer, 1112 Maht, reported about 12:30 p.m. Monday that someone took his citizens band antenna valued at $20 from his car.
Police investigated a possible disturbance about 8 p.m. Sunday in a parking lot on the 500 block of Main. A parked car owned by Eldon Bareiman, 615 W. First, was struck by a pickup operated by Marshall Russell, Wayne. The accident happened about 8:55 a.m. Saturday in a lot behind Eldon's Standard, 50 Main.

The mower that gives you quick starts, quiet operation and years of dependable service.

21' SOLID STATE pushable. Model 7286. With catcher.
Finger-tip starting with solid state electronic ignition... no points or condenser to replace. A simplified carburetor with 1/3 fewer parts, eliminates adjustments. Up-front discharge where grass is cut. Lightweight and easy to replace. A mechanical interlock system prevents the mower from starting with the drive engaged for added safety. With finger-tip, 6-position height adjustment.

21' SOLID STATE self-propelled. Model 8235. With catcher.
All the great features of the solid state pushables, but the LAWN-BOY pushes itself! The shock-dial gear drive applies power to the rear wheels where it belongs. No belts or pulleys to adjust or replace. A mechanical interlock system prevents the mower from starting with the drive engaged for added safety. With finger-tip, 6-position height adjustment.

21' SOLID STATE self-propelled self-discharge electric key start. Model 8236E.
The ultimate in mowing convenience! It gives you all of the LAWN-BOY advanced engineering features PLUS automatic-type starting. The key turns it on, off or safely locks it. The sealed nickel-cadmium battery pack never needs attention and LAWN-BOY has a BUILT-IN ALTERNATOR that recharges the battery as you mow. The best of the pushable and self-propelled LAWN-BOYS, plus self-charging electric start.

120 Attend Spring Rally at Hoskins

One hundred and twenty persons attended the spring rally of the Lutheran Women's Missionary Society at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins Saturday.

The Rev. Wesley Bruss had charge of the devotional service at 10:30 a.m. A noon dinner was served in the school basement.

Speaker for the afternoon service was the Rev. Delbert Begalka, director of the mental retardation program at Belle Plaine, Minn. The home in Minnesota is owned and operated by an association of Wisconsin Synod Lutheran congregations and provides a home for 128 aging Lutherans and 47 mentally retarded adults.

Pastor Begalka is a licensed nursing home administrator and a member of the American College of Nursing Home Administrators. He has served as chaplain at the home for three years and is responsible for developing the mental retardation program.

During the group's business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Gary Raebke of Omaha, three new mission projects were chosen, including the Mission for the Blind, KMA radio program at Shenandoah, Ia., and the Nebraska Lutheran High School at Waco.

Mrs. Raebke was re-elected president of the LWMS. Others elected were Mrs. LeRoy Kitchmann of Stanton, treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Guillaume of Sioux City, spiritual growth, and the Rev. Wesley Bruss, spiritual growth pastor.

The Rev. Richard Schiewe conducted the closing devotions, followed with lunch.

Towns represented at the meeting were Sioux City, Omaha, Stanton, Norfolk, Hadar and Hoskins.

Attend Scout-O-Rama
Cub Scouts Den 4 and Webelos Den 7 of Pack 269 attended the Diamond Dick Scout-O-Rama at Norfolk Saturday.

Cub Scouts had a booth featuring their wood and soap carving projects. Webelos displayed their matchstick homestead.

In the pinewood derby race, Ronnie Haferer and Kurt Davids placed first; Paul Davids, second; Chris Olson, fourth, and Kerry Lee, sixth.

The pack is dismissed for the season and will reorganize in the fall.

Garden Club
The Hoskins Garden Club met with Mrs. Frieda Meierhenry Thursday afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Clifford Bossard of Tilden and Mrs. Edwin Brogie.

Vice president Gladys Reichert opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "Spring Rain." Members sang "The Little Brown Church in the Willowood," followed with another poem by Miss Reichert, entitled "Kneeling in the Garden."

Eleven members responded to roll call with an Easter poem. The hostess conducted the comprehensive study on vegetable gardening and conducted two contests.

The annual birthday party was observed and a gift exchange was held. The hostess served ice cream and cake, which was decorated in the club's colors of yellow and green.

Members are planning a tour of Norfolk for their next meeting, on May 26.

Afternoon Club

United States, or one out of every 10 persons, are alcoholics, he pointed out. "It's not a moral problem, although it does involve moral situations," he said.

Alcoholism is a chronic, progressive and incurable disease, Rev. Upton went on. The treatment, however, is simple: don't drink.

Rev. Upton was pronounced an alcoholic at age 26. Now, five years later, he still maintains that he's an alcoholic, the only difference is that he hasn't had a drink since.

"To an alcoholic, one drink is too much and 1,000 drinks isn't enough," he said.

Upton: Alcoholism Is Chronic, Disease

"My name is John. I am an alcoholic."

John, as his parishioners know him, is the Rev. John Upton of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

His confession to members of Wayne Kiwanis Club Monday wasn't anything earth shattering in this community of about 5,000. It was just a way Rev. Upton used to introduce himself to the club and prepare members for a talk about alcoholism.

"I suspect it's one of the largest problems in the coun-
