Wayne County Judge Steve Finn Thursday set bond of $5,000 each for two Wayne men charged with burglary, but he deferred taking pleas to allow them time to obtain counsel.

The court will appoint an attorney for Terry Biggerstaff, Darrell Allvin will retain his own attorney.

No date for entering pleas has been set.

The two men are charged with the April 2 break-in at Korn's NU Tavern in Wayne. They were arrested April 14. About $280 was reported missing following the incident.

The two men had not been jailed prior to the initial hearing Thursday. Following the hearing, Allvin posted the $5,000 bond set by Finn and Biggerstaff was put in the Wayne County jail.

Biggerstaff was arrested Wednesday for allegedly breaking into the Joynit at 112 E. Second St. in Wayne sometime overnight Tuesday. He has been charged with burglary in connection with the incident. Charges were also filed against a 14-year-old youth who will be tried in juvenile court.

Entry to the Joynit was gained by unhooking an inside door, a police report said. About $130 in checks and cash was reported missing. Mrs. Dennis Robinson discovered the break-in shortly before noon Wednesday. She and her husband own the business.

Two Wayne youths charged with damaging an automobile belonging to an Emerson youth both pleaded guilty Thursday in county court to destruction of property charges.

Michael Niemann, 16, and David Claussen, 18, each paid a $50 fine and $8 in court costs, were ordered to make restitution for the damage, and were placed on three months probation to the court.

Anyone looking for employment is invited to apply at the Nebraska Job Service office in the Wayne Chamber of Commerce building, but are advised that office manager John Kampert will be unavailable Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

However, anyone wishing to contact the office then can leave a message at the Chamber office.

Kampert will spend the three mornings each week calling on local employers to inform them of the services available through the office. Response from job applicants has been good so far, he said, and there is now a good file of job seekers. So many in fact, that more job orders are needed.

Job Listings Are Needed

A representative from the Norfolk Job Service office, of which the Wayne office is a satellite, said he thinks many local employers are unaware of the state provided placement service and he hopes that more listing for available jobs will be filed after the service is expanded.

"The office was set up as a service to the people in the Wayne area," he said. "To be successful, it must be used."

Pseudorabies Present, Not Widespread

Pseudorabies cases have been confirmed in swine herds in 28 Nebraska counties, including Wayne, during the first four months of 1977, according to a survey of five veterinary diagnostic laboratories.

Dr. David Swerczek of the Wayne Veterinary Clinic said the firm has had only one case reported so far this year.

He added that other veterinarians serving Wayne County may also have had cases reported, but said he doesn't believe the disease is widespread locally at this time. Occasional cases have been reported in the county in the past three or four years, he said.

About eight per cent of the 144 herds from which serum or tissues have been submitted to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Veterinary Diagnostic Lab Center for pseudorabies testing have proved positive, said Dr. Alex Hogg, extension veterinarian at UN-L.

The survey, which was conducted by Hogg and Dr. William Ahlschwede, UN-L extension swine specialist, also included diagnostic laboratories at Norden Laboratory in Lincoln, the University's North Platte Station, South Dakota State Uni-

The crepe paper poppies, hand-made in Veteran Administration hospitals provide needed therapy for hospitalized veterans as well as a means of earning a little money, a Legion Auxiliary spokesman said.

The artificial flowers are replicas of the poppies of Flanders Fields in France, where the flowers took root and bloomed on battle graves of World War I. The memorial poppies have been worn annually since "The Great War" as a symbol of remembrance.

"By wearing a poppy on Poppy Day, each American can honor the sacrifices made by our servicemen," the spokesman concluded.

The market data figures for Wayne County show that net incomes after taxes went from $5,449 per household in 1960 to $14,432 by the early part of last year. It was a rise of 168 per cent.

And, as their incomes rose, local residents substantially increased their consumption spending, except in periods of recession.

Their outlays in Wayne County's retail stores soared from the $1,381,000 level reported in 1940 to the more recent total of $23,181,000. The rise was 104 per cent.

Over the years, it is indicated, the pattern of spending by the average American family has undergone considerable change.

Despite steadily increasing prices, the proportion of income that must now be set aside for the basic necessities — food, shelter, household operations and clothing — is smaller than it was a decade or two ago, notes the Conference Board.

As a result, a larger percentage is left for discretionary spending. It is to be seen in the increased outlays for sporting goods, recreation, television sets, records, travel and the like.

Standard of Living Improving in Wayne County

Residents of Wayne County have come a long way in the last 15 years or so. They are earning much more and spending much more than they did then. Are they getting more for their money?

According to the latest figures, the average local family, often without realizing it, is enjoying a much higher standard of living than it did in 1960.

Such is the case in most areas of the country, according to a study made by the Conference Board. It finds that family incomes, over the long run, have more than compensated for the rise in the cost of living, despite the fact that inflation has boosted prices so much during the period that it takes nearly $18 to buy what could have been bought for $10 previously.

Locally, as in other communities, the ability to cope with the higher costs has been due in part to the fact that wages and salaries have also been rising. The other major contributing factor has been the influx of large numbers of married women into the labor force, and the additional paychecks they have brought home.

OBSERVATIONS

A good decision

The Food and Drug Administration, Consumer Product Agency and Environmental Protection Agency Wednesday made an announcement with which we heartily agree.

Many actions taken by those agencies in the past have seemed like unnecessary meddling to us, but the decision to ban fluorocarbon aerosol sprays is a good one.

The action is being taken to protect the earth's ozone umbrella which filters cancer-causing radiation from the sun.

Scientific studies have found that fluorocarbon breaks up the ozone layer high in the earth's atmosphere. Ozone reduces the amount of ultraviolet radiation reaching the earth from the sun. That radiation is suspected of increasing the incidence of skin cancer.

If we don't take steps now to halt the use of fluorocarbons, future generations may have to pay the price.

The action shouldn't have a very significant impact on anyone. Many people in the past couple of years have started cutting back on the use of spray cans. Consider for example, the emphasis on stick deodorants and "pump" hair sprays in product advertising.

Spray cans were sort of fun when they first came into general use, and then they became a habit. Americans love convenience in packaging, like pop-top cans and those nifty little packages of sugar you find in many eating establishments. Spray cans, we can live without, probably, in fact, much better than we can with them. — Jim Strayer.

Apparently the "hard times" theme of the gathering was not rigidly applied to food, and failed to dampen the enthusiasm of those attending. "The large hall was filled at an early hour and all remained 'til late but none departed unsatisfied. All reserve was cast to the winds and everybody went in for a good time."

Government slowing home ownership

By CHARLES THONE
First District Representative

Americans bought homes in record numbers last year and show every sign that they will again this year, despite all that government can do to hinder them.

Of course, the fact that the federal government is the chief cause of inflation and purchase of a home is the ordinary citizen's best means of hedging against inflation helps to explain why everyone who can manage a down payment is buying a home.

Because I believe that home ownership adds to the morality and stability of America, I am introducing a bill to make it easier for people to save for housing down payments. The bill will introduce will allow a family, or person to establish an individual housing account which will be federal tax free income. Up to $2,500 per year or a total of $10,000 may be put into such an account. The principle and interest from such an account could be used only for a down payment on a home. This bill is necessary because government has done so much to make home buying difficult. For one thing, federal, state and local governments took only 24 per cent of national income in 1948. By 1955, this had grown to 30.9 per cent, to 34.4 per cent in 1966, to 39.3 per cent in 1970 and to 48.3 per cent in 1975.

Federal deficit spending not only caused the prices of houses to go up but also caused mortgage interest rates to increase. Whereas the average interest rate on homes purchased in 1955 was 4.8 per cent, it was 8.25 per cent in 1976. The annual interest paid on a mortgage by a new home buyer was $446 in 1955, $911 in 1965, $2,668 in 1975 and $3,022 in 1976.

Environmental controls and impact statements and delays caused by the regulatory review process have helped push the cost of a typical developed lot from $5,000 in 1970 to $10,800 in 1976.

Each family purchasing a home has a stake in our capitalist system. The family that owns its own home is not only more stable but also is a greater advocate of freedom and responsible government.

To encourage home ownership, we

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Tuesday's city council agenda was a long one and a number of items deserve comment:

Change Needed

The council indicated it will consider action in response to a request by downtown merchants to be allowed to display wares on the sidewalks in front of their stores.

Mayor Freeman Decker made a good point when he said it would be better to change the ordinance prohibiting sidewalk displays than to direct police officers to ignore it.

There should always be room for good judgment in law enforcement, of course, but it isn't fair to expect officers to ignore an ordinance completely for a single group.

It appears the council will pass a new ordinance allowing sidewalk displays, within limitations which will leave plenty of room for pedestrian traffic. That will be a solution to the problem, and a good one.

Disturbing Procedure

We've been disturbed lately by a procedure becoming common with at least some members of the council. That is making a formal request to be excused from the council on an issue because of a supposed conflict of interest, then retaining the councilman's seat and not only participating in discussion of the issue, but in at least one instance Tuesday night, dominating it.

We aren't concerned about the so-called conflict of interest in this case, particularly since the councilman involved raised the question of cost of the project under discussion.

It would seem more proper, however, had the councilman not asked to be excused from the council, but had participated in the discussion, as he did anyway, and then, if a conflict of interest were involved, had abstained from voting as he also did anyway.

Our recommendation is that, in the future, if a council member does wish to be excused from discussion on an issue, he or she leave the council desk and take a seat in the audience until that issue is concluded.

Get Going on Project

The downtown improvement committee and Bruce Gilmore's engineering firm have done a good job of coming up with some ideas for beautifying the business district when it is renovated. We're pleased with the idea of alley-way mini-parks, if the projects are kept simple and relatively inexpensive.

We would also like to see the pedestrian street lighting proposal reconsidered, but do recognize that opponents have some viable arguments.

Whatever is done, we urge the council to work to wrap up the planning so the project can be advertised for bids and started this year.

The two paving projects approved by the council will be a needed improvement to the community. The two councilmen representing the ward involved did a fine job in promoting the interests of their constituents.

Backed Down

It was gratifying to see the State Department of Roads make amends regarding a letter received previously, tying state participation in the improvement of traffic signals in Wayne to a compromise on the speed limit on Highway 35 in front of the High school.

There "apparently" was a misunderstanding, according to follow-up correspondence received on the matter, but we're willing action taken by Sen. Bob Murphy in response to a request by city administrator Fred Brink had more than a little to do with clearing the air.

Brink's name was mentioned in a presentation by Wayne Industries president Dean Pierson. Brink received some much deserved recognition for his help in showing industrial prospects what Wayne has to offer.

Wayne Industries itself deserves some laurels. As Pierson pointed out, 17 industrial prospects looked at Wayne last year, and one is now getting ready to go into operation sometime in July.

One for 17 would mean banishment from the basketball court, but where industrial development is concerned, it's pretty darned good. The trick is to keep attracting fresh prospects, and it looks like the Wayne Industries board intends to do just that. They have asked for some additional support in their efforts. Looks like it would be money well spent in the long run.

Winside teacher replies

Dear Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to reply to the letter published in the last issue of your paper.
The letter asked many questions about the Winside School, its students and faculty. I would like to ask a few questions in response:
—How many times have you appeared in the superintendent's office to state your grievances?
—How many times have you talked to the building principal about the problem?
—How many times have you appeared at a school board meeting to make them aware of the issues you are concerned about?
—Have you spoken face to face to the teacher and explained your feelings?
—Why try to destroy a school system's reputation over an incident that perhaps could be handled by a sensible talk directly with the people involved?
From the tone of the letter, I feel that it is an attempt to solicit support for a sad tale of woe, rather than to confront the issue face to face, directly with the people involved.
I have taught in the Winside Schools for many years. I feel we offer our students an excellent opportunity to learn. I am astounded that two of the district's parents are so concerned about attending conferences in such a manner and intentionally or unintentionally, as the case may be, jeopardize the work and efforts of so many teachers who conduct themselves and their classrooms in a very dedicated and professional manner. — Ruth Puls, first grade teacher.

'Mom' says thanks

Dear Editor:
I wish to thank Chamber of Commerce members, judges, my daughter Julie and everyone who made it possible for me to be "Mother of the Year," 1977.
God bless you all. Everything was very much appreciated. — Mrs. Ervin Hagemann.

Wayne

Dear Editor:
The board of directors of the Wayne Housing Authority wishes to thank the stage choir for its part in entertaining the Villa Wayne residents at the luncheon May 6.
The residents there were most appreciative of their efforts and have so stated the same to the directors. In this day of so much questioning about the so-called "generation gap" it was refreshing to see the very evident pleasure which was shown by the members of the singing group in their efforts to please.
Our understanding is that their director is leaving the teaching profession — we certainly wish him the best of success in his new field, and tender our grateful thanks for his part in the evening. — The directors of the Wayne Housing Authority, George Macklin chairman.

JUVENILE petitions are pending in Cuming County Court against a 15-year-old Beemer youth who admitted to having placed a stick of dynamite in another youth's locker at Beemer Public School. Quintin Peitz, Cuming County Deputy Sheriff, reported that about 40 sticks of dynamite and a half dozen blasting caps were later confiscated from an old barn, after the youth directed authorities to the location. He also confessed to having set off a stick on the evening of Oct. 22, 1976, that shook the village.

A SURVEY now being taken in Pierce could lead to the development of a low-income housing project designed to assist elderly persons on low fixed incomes. If enough interest is shown, it is possible that an apartment complex of 12 or more units could be built.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

The energy package proposed by the Carter Administration is going to intensify the need for trained auto mechanics; the Automotive Information Council predicts.

Because of dwindling fuel supplies, we will be driving smaller cars and owning them for longer periods of time as production costs continue to rise. That may not mean fewer cars on the road. A study by the Motor and Equipment Manufacturers Association forces a range of 175 to 185 million vehicles in 1990 compared to about 135 million today. Also, the number of licensed drivers is expected to reach 162 million, up 37 million from this year.

Just keeping all those people in all those cars will be task of Alpine proportions. It has been estimated that one mechanic is available today for every 100 cars on the road. That ratio easily could go to one to 150 before 1990.

The number of miles that those cars will be driven will depend to a large extent on the availability of fuel. But even if mileage declines, the need for replacement of parts and service could increase. Frequent short trips with considerable stop-and-go driving are tougher on an engine, brakes and other parts than long distance driving.

Gasoline prices, for certain, are on the rise with no end in sight. While the higher fuel costs may not force too many motorists out of their cars, they will be more concerned about economy. Tuneups will be performed by a huge army of do-it-yourselfers but the strain on service facilities will be greater.

As automakers strive to make their products more energy efficient, they also have to be concerned about reducing their emissions. That combination alone means that vehicles will be more complex. The repairmen will have to be even more expert at their work. Electronics are the wave of the future. Already, we have seen electronic control of fuel and air mixture, fuel injection and next year, fuel metering will be introduced.
A young man, or woman, looking for a career with stable employment, good earnings and unlimited opportunity would be wise to look at the auto mechanic field — as an employee or eventually as the proprietor of a repair firm. The light for mechanics is bright green.

New Senior Center Ready for Visitors

Members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center and their director, Mrs. Jociell Bull, are looking forward this week to showing off their new, remodeled center, located in the basement of the city hall building at 306 Pearl St.

Senior citizens will be conducting tours through their new facilities during open house Thursday from 2 to 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend anytime between those hours. There will be refreshments of coffee, punch and cookies from 3 to 9, and a door prize will be awarded.

A ribbon cutting ceremony at 2 p.m. will officially dedicate the center, which opened at its new location on Oct. 21 of last year. Cutting the ribbon will be Dave Howard, executive director of the Nebraska Commission on Aging.

Also attending the ribbon cutting will be Wayne mayor Freeman Decker, city administrator Fred Brink, and a retired employee of the Nebraska Commission on Aging, Rus Sommers.

Both Sommers and Howard will address the group following the ribbon cutting. Sommers is scheduled to speak first on "Responsibilities of the Aged to Others." Howard, speaking immediately afterward, will talk about "Responsibilities of Others to the Aged."

The Wayne Senior Citizens Center, formerly housed at 316 Main St., is open each weekday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for all Wayne area residents who are 55 years of age or older.

The first center for Wayne's elderly opened its doors on July 1, 1969. The center was started with the assistance of VISTA workers from the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency in Waltham.

Within a few years, during which time the original membership nearly doubled, it became obvious that a new center would be needed to provide space for weekly activities. The center now has a membership of about 445, most of whom are between the ages of 75 and 97.

The building which now houses the new, spacious Senior Citizens Center, formerly served as Wayne's Hospital. When plans for a new hospital were completed, the city agreed to move its offices into the first floor of the old hospital building and undertake extensive remodeling in order to provide space in the building for the city administrator, city police department, offices for the mayor and city engineering consultants, city council meeting room, and the Senior Citizens Center, which occupies the entire basement of the building.

Much of the work of remodeling the new center was done by its members. Persons taking part in the activities at the center say the best thing about their new "home" is all the space.

The new facility includes a reading and music room, a craft room, a pool room and woodwork shop, a main party room, large kitchen and an office for the director.

Persons who are in wheelchairs or who have difficulty climbing steps can use the ramp which is located on the west side of the building, and then take the elevator to the basement.

Director Bull said there are many more elderly persons in Wayne who could be taking advantage of the center and she invites them to visit the center and see what it offers.

Weekly activities include a Spanish class, taught by Mabel Sundell, a knitting and crochet class with instructors Gale Bathke and Nellie Brockman, a bridge class, taught by Joy Hein, and bingo. Mrs. Bull said many persons come in to spend their time playing cards and table games, watching television and visiting.

Fees are charged the people using the center and they are welcome to stay as long or as short as they want, she noted. The center is funded by the City of Wayne.

Sermonettes and sing-a-longs at the center are conducted once each month by local ministers. A potluck dinner is held each month, followed by a program, and Ann Waggoner, assistant public librarian, visits once a month to show films and talk about library books, which can be checked out at the center.

Persons with birthdays may celebrate at the center during the monthly dance and sing-a-long. The Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne comes to the center twice each month to conduct Bible study.

Educational programs are always on the calendar. Currently being presented are films by the Wayne police department dealing with fraud practices commonly used on the elderly.

Ready to perform for area organizations and groups is the center's Bobbles and Bubbles band, which travels to the Wayne Care Centre each month to entertain residents. Care Centre residents are also included when Senior Citizen Center members get together to bowl.

Elderly persons who like to visit interesting places are often invited to join Senior Citizens on chartered bus trips. Excursions have included the Grotto at West Bend, Ia., the Corn Palace at Mitchell, S.D., a tour to Abilene, Kan., and a trip to Minden to see the lights at Christmastime. Each year Senior Citizens board a bus to attend Friendship Day in Sioux City and a Senior Citizens Extravaganza in Lincoln.

Services which are available to the Wayne community through the Senior Citizens Center include information and referral services, a Meals on Wheels program, and a telephone reassurance program. A dietician from Providence Medical Center and a representative of the Social Security Office make monthly visits to the center.

Mrs. Bull said the local center also participates in the reading program of the Nebraska Library Commission. A talking book machine is available at the center for persons who have difficulty reading. Mrs. Bull said persons who have trouble reading, can obtain a talking book machine free of charge by contacting her.

The director noted that the Senior Citizens Center is always interested in working with all age groups in the community.

A good example of community and college involvement is G.I. Willoughby's group and recreational leadership class at Wayne State College which sponsors about three parties each year for the senior citizens. Wayne State practicum students, instructed by Dr. Ralph Barclay, spend a semester working with senior citizens at the center for 10 hours each week for college credits.

Youngsters also enjoy working and entertaining members of the Senior Citizens Center. Piano students of Mrs. Marcela Uken visit the center each June, July and August to perform. Each Christmas, center members entertain students of the special education class at Wayne Middle School for a Christmas party.

An active Senior Citizens Center demands an active director. Mrs. Bull has filled that position since Wayne's center opened its doors in 1969.

A native of Texas, Mrs. Bull moved to Wayne with her husband in 1948. She graduated from high school and from a business college in Wichita Falls, Tex. She took training in re motivation of elderly people at the Norfolk State Hospital in 1966 and has been working with the elderly since then.

She serves on the Nebraska Senior Citizens Council and was appointed by the governor to be one of 12 persons from across the state to serve on the Nebraska Commission on Aging. In addition, she represents the commissioners of Wayne County on the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency's board of directors, and last year represented low income persons.

Mrs. Bull has taken two gerontology courses through the Nebraska State Extension, University of Nebraska-Omaha, and Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk. This fall she will teach a post retirement course, which she piloted last year. The course, which runs for 10 weeks, is designed to prepare persons for retirement.

A Lot More Space

IN CONTRAST to the lack of space at the old Wayne Senior Citizens building, members now have plenty of room to enjoy various crafts and activities in the center's new facility in the basement of the city hall building. In observance of Older Americans Month, Wayne area residents are invited to visit the center during open house this Thursday from 2 to 9 p.m. There will be a ribbon cutting ceremony at 2 p.m., followed by talks from representatives of the Nebraska Commission on Aging. # District 1 Loaded with Scoring Punch — 133 Runs

Just about everything came in wholesale lots — everything but consistent pitching — in the first five games of the Nebraska NAIA district baseball tournament in Wayne.

Almost overlooked in the avalanche of runs, hits, and extra bases and errors was the fact that Wayne State and Kearney State reached the championship finals Saturday afternoon.

After recording 133 runs and other statistics in proportion, official scorekeeper Jeff Olson of Wakefield declared he wouldn't mind a pitchers' duel. He had that in the tourney opener, a 4-2 Kearney win over Midland Thursday.

Then came these astonishing scores: Wayne beating Dana, 22-21; Dana over Midland, 21-16; Thursday; Kearney over Wayne, 12-11 in 10 innings; and finally, Wayne downing Dana, 17-7, Friday.

In that spree there were so many oddities it is difficult to select a logical order or reporting. Perhaps best to quote the comment of one spectator: "A good field goal kicker could have won any of those games."

Oddest of the oddities would have to be Wayne's 22-21 comeback conquest of Dana. Wildcat coach Larry Schultz said he never saw anything like it.

His 6-11 led by 6-4 after the third inning. Half an inning and 21 batters later, Dana had 15 more runs. No less than five Wayne pitchers in that top-of-the-fourth debacle allowed six solid hits and 11 walks.

But the Wildcats, ignoring odds against beating a 19-6 deficit, chipped away till a five-run eighth tied the count at 21. At this point Schultz brought Neil Blohm from center field to relieve seventh-pitcher Dave Kuhl. Blohm responded by retiring three straight Vikings with smoking speed and curves.

Bottom of the ninth: Brian Polberg figured the game was old enough at near four hours. Leading off, he slammed a home run, and Wayne beat the comeback odds.

Dana logged 20 hits at 45 at-bats, Wayne 13 in 38. Both committed three errors.

What happened next? More of the same in the Midland-Dana losers' battle for survival. Dana jumped by 8-2 in three frames. It was 10-10 after the fifth, Midland up by 15-12 after the sixth, then Dana tying at 16-16 after the seventh. Finally the Vikings added five in the eighth, so finished their second 21-run game of the day. Both teams hit 16 times.

So ended 10 hours of baseball Thursday.

the lead-trading script Friday. The Cats, up by 2-0 then down by 3-4, scored seven in the top of the seventh and looked firmly in charge, 10-4.

Kearney added three runs in the eighth and ninth — cashing two Wildcat fielding delays that cost double plays by a split second.

Tied 10-10 after the ninth, Wayne retaliated when Don Hasenkamp's double sent Paul Mallette home — to a rhabarb collision with catcher Brad Stallings. Plate umpire Hank Overin ruled Stallings dropped the ball as Mallette slid in. Stallings and all the Antelopes protested.

During the ensuing argument, Hasenkamp made a dash to third, but was tagged for what looked to be the second out. However, Wayne coach Schultz had noted a time-out had been called before the Hasenkamp out.

Suddenly the homeplate rhabarb sprouted all over the infield as both teams milled around. Eventually it was established that umpire Rich McGill had granted the time-out on request of a Kearney player. Result: Hasenkamp went back to second. And stayed there, stranded.

Bottom of the tenth started with a Dave Pratt double, following his two previous homers. A walk, a single, another walk and single gave Kearney two runs, a 12-11 win, and ticket into the title game Saturday noon.

Bancroft Holds 2-game Edge, But

Will Third Time Be a Charm for Mike's Devils?

Wayne High baseball coach Mike Mallette is banking on the old adage that "third time's a charm" when his Blue Devils face Bancroft today (Monday) for a trip to the state Class B, high school baseball tournament at Ralston.

The Bulldogs already own a pair of victories over the locals in regular season play, 4-2 and 5-4, but now it's time for Wayne to turn the tables, Mallette figures.

"We've been playing good ball during the district tournament so I think we'll be ready for Bancroft," Mallette pointed out.

After posting two tournament wins Tuesday and Wednesday, the 11-2 Devils face Bancroft at 4 p.m. at the city ball park for the right to appear in the Class B state meet on Tuesday, May 24.

Wakefield hurler Brad Jones had a count of three balls and two strikes on Carroll before Mallette called time for a strategy meeting. Mallette told Carroll not to swing at the next pitch unless it was a strike ball to keep the squeeze play alive.

Despite the loss, which is only Wakefield's third of the year against six wins, Jones had a good day on the mound by also tossing a smoke-filled three-hitter.

With one away in the opening frame, Wayne's Tom Ginn managed to get to third on a Wakefield error before the Trojans knuckled down to put out the next two Wayne batters.

In the third inning, Jones and Sharp teamed up to stop

Wayne's first scoring threat. Dean Carroll, who was on third, scrambled for home plate when Jones let go a wild pitch that went past Sharp. In a disputed call, Jones made the tag out at home plate.

Wayne advanced to the semifinals Tuesday with a 12-2 lopsided win over Hooper-Logan View. Meanwhile, Wayne's opponent, Bancroft, drew a bye in the first round and Wednesday ripped Homer in a slugfest, 14-7.

Terry Bargmann got the win for Bancroft after Tim Wegner came in the last two innings to quell Homer's scoring.

Dave Jenkins, who took the loss for the Knights, blasted a three-run homer down the sideline to trim Bancroft's lead to 9-7 after four and a half frames.

In that game, Jenkins gave up a total of 13 hits, including doubles by Wegner and center fielder LaMont Pagals.

BOTH OF Wayne's 880 and 2-mile relay teams will be heading for the boys state track meet at Omaha Burke High Friday and Saturday, after the squads landed second place in their district. On the 880 team are, top from left, Mark Brandt, Terry Lessmann and Brad Emry. Not in either picture is Kelly Hansen. Below, the two-mile team are, from left, Dave Hamm, Jeff Backstrom and Jon Ley.

It's almost a sure bet that Mallette will go with his strongest pitcher, senior Doug Carroll, (3-0), after Carroll gave up only three hits Wednesday during the Devils' 1-0 squeaker over Wakefield in the semifinals.

Carroll, who with the help of Wayne's defense never let Wakefield runners beyond second base, drove in the only run of the game with a sacrifice bunt down the third base line to score center fielder Aaron Nissen from third base.

With one out in the bottom of the sixth, Nissen singled, stole second and raced to third when the put-out throw from catcher Dean Sharp went over second base into center.

Wakefield girls Wednesday ran away with the team title at the non-qualifies meet at Winside.

The Trojanettes of coach Ernie Kovar won five individual events and swept all three relays to rack up 151 points. Wynol was a distant second with 79 followed by Winside with 62, Osmond 48, Hartington High 19, Clarkson 15, Allen 10, Stanton 9 and Coleridge 6.

The meet was open to underclassmen and athletes who didn't qualify for the state track meet.

Joni Bowers, who claimed one of two Winside firsts, set a school record in the preliminaries of the 80-yard hurdles with a time of 12.5.

Cline Tabbed As FB Coach At Wayne High

Former Wayne State assistant football coach Stewart Cline has tentatively been named as head grid coach for Wayne High School.

Cline has signed a contract subject to school board approval, superintendent Francis Haun said.

A native of St. Joseph, Mo., Cline, 38, replaces Al Hansen who officially stepped down last week after a 10-year stint at the helm.

Cline began his football career at Savannah High School in Savannah, Kan., where he earned all-state, all-district and all-conference honors as fullback. In addition to football, Cline also was named all-district and all-conference in basketball and track.

Carr's Trip to State Ends 7-Year Dry Spell at Allen

Freshman Greg Carr has ended a seven-year drought at Allen High School by being the first person since John Warner to qualify for the State Class D track meet.

Carr qualified by finishing second Wednesday in the long jump with a 19-2 1/4 performance during the district meet at Tekamah-Herman. Carr's mark was shy of his overall best of 20.8.

The last time Allen qualified an athlete was in 1970 when Warner earned a berth in the discus. However, a motorcycle accident canceled Warner's trip to state.

As a team, Allen collected 12 points to land 10th among 15 schools in the meet. Cedar Bluffs won the team title with 111 1/2 followed by Bancroft with 63 1/2, Waterloo with 58 1/2, Decatur with 51 1/2, Beemer with 45, Nebraska Deaf with 39, Winnebago with 37, Homer with 27 1/2, Coleridge with 22, Allen, Brownell-Talbot with 14, Newcastile with 14, Rosalie with 10, Snyder with 9 and Prague with 6.

Also scoring points for Allen were: Steve Johnson, sixth in the discus at 109-11; Rich Stewart, third in the two mile with a time of 11:02, and the two-mile relay team of Stewart, Keith Brenlinger, Kevin Kraemer, Lee Hansen with a time of 9:35.6.

"Track is on the upswing now," pointed out head coach Ron Wecker of his kids' performances. "We've been scoring in every meet with a team that has no senior members. We're going to be tough the next couple of years," he added.

Mosley Wins Long Jump

Leapin' Lizards, Sydney Mosley did it again!

The Wayne High junior, who set a district long jump record two weeks ago, continued her winning form Friday at the girls state meet in North Platte with a mark of 17-9/2 to outdial second place, Jeanne Rempe of Albion by four and a half inches.

Mosley's first put Wayne in a tie with Schuyler for second place in the Class B teams standings with 10 points each. Gering leads the pack with 16 points.

5 Area Schools Keep Same Class

All five area high schools will stay in the same classification next fall, according to information released Tuesday by the Nebraska School Activities Association.

Wayne resumes its Class B role while Laurel, Wakefield and Winside are Class C and Allen is Class D. Enrollment figures for the school are: Wayne, 314; Laurel, 168; Wakefield, 114; Winside 111, and Allen, 88.

In the Husker Conference, three schools are changing their status. Hooper-Logan View and North Bend of the East Husker are moving down from Class B to C for 1977-78, and Madison of the West Husker is going up from C to B.

Homer, of east division of the Lewis and Clark Conference, is advancing from D to C.

NAIA

(Continued from page 4) had pitched nine innings with steady control, but fired near the end. Schultz repeated his Thursday decision — called Blohm from centerfield to pitch relief in the tenth. Russell moved to first, his usual place when not pitching.

But when Blohm, lacking adequate warmup, loaded the bases with one out. Schultz sent Russell back to the mound. He threw one pitch, and it went for the winning single. Ironically, Blohm was the loser because he put the winning runner on base in a one-third inning stint.

The loss put Wayne into a survival follow-up game with Dana. Result: a 21-hit Wildcat barrage, a 17-7 win, and a second crack at Kearney for the championship Saturday.

For whatever it's worth: the four teams in five games scored 133 runs, 123 hits in 405 at-bats, 21 doubles, six triples, 22 home runs — and committed 38 errors.

Plenty of Questions

STUDENTS from the Santee School near Niobrara visited Wayne Tuesday to see the Wayne State College planetarium and tour The Wayne Herald. Here, editor Jim Strayer fields questions about the newspaper. A group of students from Winside and Wakefield also toured the Herald Tuesday.

Extra Workouts Pay Off For Trojan High Jumper

Twice-a-day workouts for senior Brooks Myers has paid off for the Wakefield High product Thursday when he placed second in the triple jump and earned a ticket to state.

Myers, who works out before school starts and later in the afternoon, went 42-10 during the Class C-3 district meet at Norfolk — two inches short of tying Mike Melstrick of Norfolk Catholic for first place.

A point leader for Wakefield all season, Myers collected all of the Trojans' 18 points by placing third in the high jump at 5-10 and fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 16.2. "Brooks' double workouts paid off because he wanted it," reflected coach John Torczon. "He's beat a lot of kids who were more talented but they were just too lazy," he added.

Myers is the third triple

jumper from Wakefield in six years to go to state and he's the fourth high jumper in the past five years to clear six feet.

Wakefield finished ninth in the 14-team standings while two other area clubs, Laurel and Winside, were 12th and 13th respectively. Laurel, behind the leadership of miler Mike Dalton, collected 11 points. Winside failed to score.

Dalton was third in the mile with a time of 4:47. No other results were available from Laurel coaches.

Myers is the only area Class C entry going to the state meet at Omaha Burke Friday and Saturday.

Last year he came to Wayne State where he is expected to earn his master's degree.

Cline and his wife, Martha, have one child, Ellen, 7.

About the changes in the fall program, Cline said he plans to work the offense out of a wing-T formation and use an odd-man line and plenty of stunting on defense.

"I'm aware that Wayne has a strong football tradition and that they have experienced a lot of success under Hansen. I feel a strong obligation to continue that football excellence," Cline said.

Exercises in Economics

$1 spent away from home

... gets you about 67¢ worth of goods and 0¢ worth of community upkeep in your community.

Total cost . . . . . $1.00

Total value received . . . . . 67¢

$1 spent in your home area

... gets you about 67¢ worth of goods and about 33¢ worth of community upkeep in your community.

Total cost . . . . . $1.00

Total value received . . . . . $1.00

But that isn't all

When you spend $1 away from home, the 33¢ worth of home community upkeep and maintenance costs it would have paid for if spent here, remains to be paid . . . probably by you . . . through higher taxes or higher prices. Then your total cost for 67¢ worth of goods adds up to $1.33.

A highly questionable bargain.

Theme for the meeting was "Mission Possible."

Following morning registration, the women were presented a program of songs, devotions and special selections from the various groups.

Following lunch, served at the Woman's Club room, women returned to the church for a presentation of the mission project, "Good News, Productions," presented by Mrs. John Agler, who was recently associated with the mission.

The meeting concluded with a short business session during which each group told of the work they accomplished during the past year. A fellowship hour followed with cookies and punch being served.

Pseudorabies

Hogg said symptoms of pseudorabies include central nervous system signs such as shaking and convulsions. Other signs are fever, vomiting and diarrhea in pigs, he said, adding that older pigs may cough and have nasal discharges.

"Because the signs of pseudorabies are similar to other diseases, a veterinarian should be called when pseudorabies is suspected or there is any cause for doubt," Hogg said.

The Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, veterinarian urged producers to:

- Not bring feeder pigs into a farrowing operation.
- Blood test newly acquired breeding stock at the time of purchase and again after 30 days of isolation on the farm of destination.
- Discourage all forms of people and vehicle traffic from entering hog pens or buildings.
- Not run swine with or across the fence from cattle or sheep.
- Use the two boot system: one pair for town, livestock markets and other errands and another pair when working with hogs. He said boots should be disinfected frequently.

Ahlschwede encouraged producers to buy breeding stock and feeder pigs directly from other producers, co-ops or testing stations that can assure pigs are free of pseudorabies because infection points are widely scattered and the disease likely is present at collection points. He said transporting infected and carrier pigs probably is the biggest single factor in the spread of pseudorabies over large geographical areas, with farm-to-farm spread aggravated by animals feeding on dead pigs or tissues.

He said the best sanitation practice once pigs have arrived is to burn, render or bury dead pigs, both those known to be from infected and uninfected herds, to prevent contamination of other farmyard animals.
