

Three New Laws Affect Property Tax Payments

By CHUCK HASSEBROOK

The one-per cent increase in the state income tax rate and the one-half per cent increase in the state sales tax rate are not the only changes Nebraskans will find when they pay their 1978 taxes.

Three Bills passed by this year's Legislature will affect property taxes, and two of those bills may have contributed to the recently announced rise in the state's sales and income taxes.

The three bills are:

LB 518 — Introduced by Sen. Loren Schmit of Bellwood, which makes complete the previously only partial exemption from property taxation for farm machinery, farm inventories, and poultry, fish, and fur bearing animals by 1978, business inventories by 1979, and livestock by 1980.

LB 52 — Introduced by Sen. Gerald Koch of Ralston, which increases state aid to grades one through twelve education and changes the formula by which the aid is distributed.

LB 131 — Introduced by Sen. Richard Lewis of Holbrook, which penalizes counties which fail to assess taxable property at 35 per cent of its actual value.

Although most personal property taxes will be eliminated by LB 518, the lost revenues will have to be made up through sales, income and real estate taxes. This year the state will spend approximately $53 million See PROPERTY TAX, page 5.

THURSDAY was a red letter day for Carol Dohrman of Wayne. That was the day she became a naturalized citizen. The 36-year-old mother of three celebrated the occasion by proudly waving the American flag in front of her home.

Stars and Stripes Special To New American Citizen

That American flag hanging from the porch of Carol Dohrman's house means a lot more to the New Zealand native than it probably does to the average American citizen.

To Carol, who lives at 905 Lincoln in Wayne, those red and white stripes sort of signify her new freedom.

Thursday she became a full-fledged citizen of the United States — something she has longed for the past eight years, but in her opinion, was too stubborn to do anything about it.

For a long time, Nebraska required that all foreign persons living in the state must be a naturalized citizen in order to obtain a license to practice a profession, such as medicine. "I couldn't see that it made much difference to my job (physical therapist) if I were a citizen so I just decided to be stubborn and go to Iowa for my training," she quipped.

Like many of the states which surround Nebraska, Iowa doesn't require foreign-born persons to become U.S. citizens to obtain a license.

She returned to the Cornhusker state in 1971 and since has been working as a physical therapist in Wayne.

What made her decide to become a citizen? For one, Nebraska modified its law on licensing aliens, and two, she wanted to be able to vote.

The 36-year-old mother of three started on the paperwork to become a citizen about a month ago. It was last week that she and her three children, Kristy, Greg and Jack, headed to Lincoln for the ceremonies.

About 50 aliens took part in the swearing in process, including youngsters from Korea and others from Cuba, Germany, Holland, India, Phillipine See CITIZEN, page 5.

Drive Goal Set at $14,000

The Wayne recreation program will receive the biggest shot in arm this year if the United Way drive reaches its goal of $14,000.

The recreation program, which involves over 1,500 youths and adults in various recreation activities, was earmarked for $3,800, up $800 over the recreation board's request for the 1977-78 fiscal year.

The United Way board okayed the hike because, as board member Bill Dickey put it, "by far it is the best program (of the nine which UW helps to support) as a community outreach."

The $14,000 goal established by the board during Thursday morning breakfast represents a seven per cent increase over last year's total of $13,000.

Board president Dick Mantley, who was re-elected as head man for another year, said the new budget is in keeping with the current inflation rate and should be able again to be reached.

Funds for three other agencies also were increased while the amounts for one was decreased. The Prairie Hill Council for Girl Scouts asked for an extra $200, now making its amount $2,600. The Florence Crifflenton Home in Sioux City for unwed mothers asked for and got a $20 increase to $220. And the American Red Cross chapter in Wayne, which requested an extra $90 over last year's $100 donation, received the nod for $200.

Only one agency didn't receive the amount it asked for. The Mid-America Council for Boy Scouts was marked down $300 to $3,000. Four agencies, however, requested and got the same amount as the previous year. They are Salvation Army, $1,400; Wayne Senior Citizens, $800; Arthritis Foundation, $750; and Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, $300.

During Thursday's meeting, the board elected its newest member, B.J. Hirt, as vice president. The third new member on the board is Sandra Elliott. The trio replaces Bob Reeg, Laurel Franklin and Joan Potts.

Other members of the board are Steve Schumacher, Dave Ley, Kay Swerczek and Bob Bartlett. Secretary is Marilyn Carhart.

Musical Planned

The newly organized Wayne area chapter of United Cerebral Palsy will kick off its fund raising efforts with a children's musical next month.

Chapter president Mrs. Janice Predehoff said the play, entitled "Bumperton, Hopping, Snicker-ville," will be presented at the city auditorium during Wayne's annual Dog Days sale on Aug. 6. Advance tickets for the performance can be purchased from Mrs. Ralph Etter or Mrs. Gerald Dohrman.

Plans for the fund raiser were made when the United Cerebral Palsy chapter met Wednesday morning at Providence Medical Center. Dorothy Kabisch joined the chapter as a representative of the Wayne Woman's Club.

Cerita Richardson, a visitor from the Lincoln office of United Cerebral Palsy, showed a film on palsy victims and levels of achievement they can attain.

There will be a special meeting of the Wayne chapter, Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. at Providence Medical Center. Final plans will be made for the musical presentation.

Pioneer Farm Family Selected

A Wayne County farm family is to receive the Nebraska Pioneer Farm Award July 28 during the Wayne County Fair.

An engraved plaque and framed certificate will be presented to Darrell and Pearl Puckett of West Point who are descendants of a family that started a century of farm ownership when Wayne County was first being settled.

This unique award, co-sponsored by Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers, is made annually to owners of farms which have remained in the same family for one hundred years or longer.

The homestead right to the Puckett farm, located in John County, was taken out by John Russell on Feb. 1, 1875, in the State of Virginia. The land grant was signed by President Ulysses S. Grant. The Puckett family retains the original document.

Russell decided not to finish out the five years in residence on the land necessary to gain title under the Homestead Act, and on Feb. 15, 1877, relinquished his land rights to grandfather, David Herner. Russell had lived in a dugout home, but David Herner built a wooden house on the property.

Herner married Mary Eliza Beth Park, and they had one child, Nellie. She married Orval Puckett, and Darrell was their only child. He and Mrs. Puckett, the former Pearl Grieser, have four children, Mary, David, Paul, and Peggy. All four generations had lived on the farm until the Puckett family moved to West Point in 1972.

Concerned about soil conservation, the Puckett family terraced the entire 240-acre farm in 1939 and installed grassed waterways. In later years a dam was built to help hold water, and a windbreak was planted around the farmstead for livestock protection and to provide a wildlife habitat.

Clarke Kai is now farming the land, located in Leslie Precinct.

State Approves School Petition

A public hearing is set for July 28 for the Wayne County school reorganization committee to decide if rural District 83 will be allowed to dissolve and merge with Winside District 95R, Wayne District 17, and rural Districts 9 and 51.

The county committee had previously voted not to recommend in favor of the consolidation petition pending a decision by the state school reorganization committee. The state committee reviewed the petition July 8 and voted to recommend approval.

The July 28 hearing will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the county school superintendent's office on the second floor of the Wayne County courthouse.

People who wish to participate in the action will receive a complimentary ticket to the fairgrounds.

The auction begins at 4:00 p.m.

Commission Adopts Plan

The Wayne County joint planning commission Wednesday voted to adopt a final draft of the county comprehensive plan, and agreed to modify a minimum lot size provision made earlier in county zoning regulations now being drafted.

The comprehensive plan is not regulatory but is designed to serve as a reference source for planning in Wayne County over a 20-year period.

The planning commission will now forward the final draft of the plan to the Wayne County board of commissioners and to town boards of Winside, Carroll, Hoskins and Sholes. Those boards will then decide if they wish to adopt the plan. Such action will not commit the county or towns to follow any of the recommendations in the plan.

The planning commission is now working on the second phase of its task, drafting proposed zoning regulations for the county. The commission had previously agreed tentatively to incorporate in the regulations a requirement that a minimum of 25 acres be required to build a home in rural zones in the county.

A provision was added Wednesday which would exempt existing farmsteads from the rule. A farmer who decided to build a home in town, for example, could sell his farmstead home and buildings without regard for the minimum acreage requirement.

A 10-acre minimum lot size was set for agriculture zones within one mile of the corporate limits of the four communities involved in the zoning projects.

Planning consultant Dave Wright of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development said communities which adopt zoning regulations will have jurisdiction of the one-mile area and will have the option of changing the requirement.

Wayne previously has adopted a comprehensive plan and a zoning code. As a first class city under Nebraska statute, it has jurisdiction over property within two miles of its corporate limits.

All zoning regulations adopted by the planning commission at this time are tentative. The commission after compiling a complete set of regulations will conduct a public hearing on the zoning code before finally adopting it.

The final draft as approved by the planning commission will then be recommended to the county commissioners, who must also conduct public hearings before making a decision on adopting the code. The commissioners have the option of rejecting the recommended zoning code completely, or of amending it as they see fit.

Home Ec Judge

ONE OF THE Wayne County 4-H'ers who participated in the home economics judging contest Thursday at the Wayne city auditorium was Becky Glassmeyer, who is busy here marking answers for one of the displays. Results of the contest will be released this week.

'Kill the umpire' has tragic ending

The following article appeared in a column by Bill Conlin in the Sacramento Union.

Donald Jensen was struck on the head by a "throwing bat" while umpiring a Little League game in Terry, Nebr., last. He slumped off the blow, and finished working the game, but that night he went to a hospital with head pains. While being kept overnight for observation, the umpire wrote the following letter to parents of Little Leaguers everywhere.

I am an umpire. I don't do it for a living, but only on weekends for fun. I've played baseball, coached it, and watched it. But somehow nothing takes the place of umpiring. Maybe I feel deep down that I am providing a fair chance for all kids to play the game without disagreements and arguments. But there is one thing that bothers me about my job. Some of you folks don't understand why I'm there.

Some of you feel I am there to exert authority over your son. For that reason, you often yell at me or encourage your son to yell when I make a mistake. How many of you really understand that I try to be perfect? I try not to make a mistake. I don't want your son to feel he got a bad deal from an umpire.

Yes, no matter how hard I try, I can't be perfect. I counted the number of calls I made in a six-inning game today. The total number of decisions, on balls and strikes or safes and outs, was 746.

I tried my best to get them all right, but I'm sure I missed some. I could have missed eight calls today and still got about 95 per cent right. In most occupations that percentage would be considered excellent.

Let me tell you more about my game today. There was one close call that ended the game. A runner from the home team was trying to steal the plate on a passed ball. The catcher chased the ball down and threw to the pitcher covering the plate. The pitcher made the tag and I called the runner out.

As I was getting my equipment to leave, I overheard one of the parents comment, "It's too bad the kids have to lose games because of rotten umpires. That was one of the loudest calls I've ever seen."

Later, at the concession stand, a couple of kids were telling their friends, "Boy, the umpires were lousy today. They lost the game for us." Well, I heard that and I felt terrible. Those kids had made a lot of mistakes which had cost them runs.

A parent or adult leader who lets a child blame his failures on an umpire is doing the worst kind of injustice to that youngster. That irresponsibility is bound to carry over to future years.

As I sit here writing this letter I am no longer as upset as I was this afternoon. At one point I wanted to quit umpiring behind the plate for a pitcher who pantomimed his displeasure at any close call.

One could sense that he wanted the crowd to realize that he was a talented player who was doing his best to get along, but that I was a black-hearted villain who was working against him. This kid continued for two innings, at the same time yelling at his own players' mistakes.

For two innings the manager watched this. When the kid returned to the dugout to bat in the top of the third, the manager called him aside. In a voice that I was able to overhear, he said, "Listen, Son, it is time you made a decision. You can be an umpire, an actor, or a pitcher. But you can be only one at a time when you are playing for me. Right now it is your job to pitch. And basically you are doing a lousy job. Leave the acting to the actor, the umpiring to the umpires, or you won't do any pitching here."

Needless to say, the kid chose the pitching route, and went on to win the game. When the game was over the kid followed me to my car. Fighting to keep back the tears, he apologized for his actions and thanked me for umpiring the game. He said that he had learned a lesson that he would not forget.

I can't help but wonder how many more young men are missing their chance to develop into outstanding ball players because their parents encourage them to spend time umpiring, rather than working harder to play the game.

STRAY Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Bartlett really did it this week. Leaned back in his chair (a position to which he is not unaccustomed) and broke the back off it.

Figured I had him where I wanted him. With no back rest, I looked like he would have to stay hunched over his typewriter all day or risk a bad back.

Unfortunately, he figured out how to fix it.

Addition to Staff

We have a welcome addition to the news staff for the remainder of the summer. Mark Cramer, son of Herald publisher Al Cramer, is working with us as a fledgling reporter-photographer, so many of our readers will have a chance to meet him, as he covers various upcoming events.

Historic Issue

Thursday's Herald was historic in a small way. It was the first issue printed following the addition of a fourth unit to our printing press. Each unit can print four pages, so we can now publish a 16-page section, or, as in Thursday's issue, 12 pages with one color in addition to black.

Fun Festival

Looks like quite a line-up again this year for the Winside Old Settlers Picnic. I'm particularly looking forward to a new event, the "Anything Goes" contest. There have been several in the area recently, but so far, I haven't made it to any. Sounds like fun.

I am also pleased to note that "Young Country" will be back this year for the dance Thursday night. Let's all keep our fingers crossed and hope we don't have a repeat of last year when the power went out. See you all there.

Who Was That Bearded Man?

Kay and I will attend my 10-year class reunion in Fairbury on Saturday. She figures about six people, the only classmates I've seen in the past seven years, will recognize me. She's probably right, considering what my yearbook picture looked like. Would you believe, as late as 1967, a short, I mean short, crew cut, and no facial hair at all. Come to think of it, remembering back 10 years, it might be just as well if no one does recognize me.

The biggest problem with being an editor is, you can't get away with a darned thing. Guess that's only fair because from time to time the profession calls upon us to point out what we perceive to be the error of other folks' ways.

This week, I had one of my own errors pointed out to me, and I guess I must confess to feet of clay. I sure was squirming when asked why, after all of the Herald's support of the downtown improvement project, we had weeds growing between the cracks in our sidewalks.

Thought I'd weasel out at first. "Oh, those aren't weeds. Those are just temporary sidewalk plantings until the new sidewalk and planters are done."

They wouldn't buy my explanation, though, and I had to own up to being negligent, and spent part of the afternoon pulling weeds.

There was one bush I sort of miss, but in all honesty, it was getting a bit large. It's hard to describe just how large it was, but we sure notice the loss of the shade on the south side of the building.

The new sidewalks should eliminate a lot of problems with weeds, but until then, we'll try to do a better job. Hope everyone else will, too.

Weekly gleanings.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Fuel economy may be the automotive order of these times but convenience features still attract the new car customer, says the Automotive Information Council.

The companies can be counted on to produce their share of devices in the upcoming 1978 model year that add to driving pleasure. Some of these luxuries eventually furt out to be motoring aids that pay off in a variety of ways — safety, fuel economy, savings.

Automatic speed controls are one example. Steady speed does make the cars more fuel efficient and in this day of the 55 mph limit, a driver doesn't have to take his eyes off the road to check the speedometer.

In the coming months there will be announcements of the usual galaxy of fresh comfort and convenience items. Some '78 owners will be able to push an instrument-panel button and see a number that tells them how many miles they can travel on the fuel that's left in the tank. Under 50 miles, the numbers will start appearing automatically and decrease as the fuel is consumed. The electronic device will even adjust for highway and city driving.

A feature that could be more important as a safety addition than a convenience item is a heated side view mirror. It gets its warmth from the same electrical source as the rear window defroster and even includes an outside temperature gauge.

Strictly convenience is a built-in button on the driver's sun visor to open the garage door electrically. A minimum amount of wiring will be necessary on the garage door motor. In essence, it gives the owner a second frequency. The control that comes with the unit can be stored in the glove compartment.

Most companies are offering electronic controls under the hood that provide more precise timing of fuel flow into the carburetor, firing of the engine and more.

The computer in automobiles has been a little slow in arriving but there's a lot coming up in the next few years. In the words of Charles H. Norwood, marketing plans manager for Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company:

"The era of the black box is here."

OBSERVATIONS

Being present is not enough

Democratic process means much more than the right to vote.

It includes, meaningfully, the right to help shape the questions on which votes are taken, the right to contribute opinion, to help select candidates for offices and to advance to higher rungs on the ladder of decision yourself.

Democracy is nourished by people-participation — and no other diet will do. Its strength is in the broad and varied collection of many minds and talents and viewpoints. Its weakness is in the reluctance of far too many to contribute, and to contribute again and to keep on contributing.

There are those who view the vigorous clash of opinion as dissension — something to be avoided in deference to the peace and quiet of easy agreement. They are wrong. The rubbing together of differing ideas to polish well-rounded solutions need not spell disorder. This is the heart of participation — it underscores the real nature of democracy, and proves the equality of the participants.

Democratic institutions today need new stimulation for this process, and nowhere is the need more clearly evident than in the ranks of cooperatives.

Fading interest in cooperative annual meetings is an eloquent signal of disinterest. And the common alibi — "I'm satisfied, and everything is going right" — simply is not valid support for failure to be present.

And simply being present is not nearly enough either.

It is not the body of the members that is sorely needed, but the mind. Members simply must share the burden of obligation to their cooperatives as they share the rights and benefits that proceed from them. They must stir the interest to watch the affairs of their enterprises, to assess the worth of their past and to think productively about their future.

Having thought carefully about things like this, they must pass on the product of their thinking so that it becomes part of the collective basis for sound decision.

That is democracy. — Eugene R. Clifford, director, Information-Education Cooperative League of the USA

Midgets Close in on First In Ralph Bishop League

Pending the outcome of final league games tonight (Monday), Wayne Midgets seemed assured of at least a share of first place in the Ralph Bishop League.

The locals helped to shut the door on second-place Wakefield by blanking host Laurel, 7-0, to take a one-game edge in the standings, said coach Hank Overlin following the win Friday night.

Laurel Ends Marathon With Solo Run in 11th

In an 11-inning marathon contest Friday night, Laurel Juniors scored one run in the bottom of the 11th to sneak out a hard-fought 5-4 victory over Wayne.

Pitcher Gordie Kardell drove in the winning run for Laurel on a base hit to score left fielder Ron Gadeken.

At the outset of the game, it looked like the locals would take

The top of Wayne's batting order, Kevin Murray, Doug Carroll and Sharpe, each scored a run. Sharpe was the last man to cross the plate thanks to a wild throw.

Laurel cut the gap with two runs in the third on a run-scoring single by Mike Dalton and a passed ball. In the fourth, Laurel tied the game at three apiece on Gadeken's base hit to score Mike Martin.

Both clubs again deadlocked in the sixth with a run each. First baseman Larry Creighton was safe on first via a fielder's choice and stole second before he came home on Aaron Nissen's base hit.

Wayne Juniors also fell victims to Wisner in a makeup game Thursday night. The visitors erupted for seven runs in the sixth frame for a 14-2 win. Doug Carroll took the loss on the mound.

The locals hold a 13-1 league record, including a 7-2 win Thursday night over Wisner. Winning pitcher Tom Ginn (6-1) and shortstop Dennis Carroll each connected for two hits in three at-bats to lead the Midgets.

Sports

GOING INTO the final regular-season game tonight (Monday) Wayne Midgets lead the Ralph Bishop League with a 13-1 record. The locals picked up two wins last week to remain at least a game ahead of second-place Wakefield.

Blevins' Homer Sparks 14-6 Upset of Newcastle

Sparked by Lyle Blevins' two-run homer in the fourth, Wayne came up with seven big runs on seven hits in that frame to upset second-place Newcastle, 14-6.

Thursday night at Newcastle. Wayne batters connected for 14 hits in the nine-inning marathon contest which gave the locals their fifth league win in 12 starts.

The team's leading hitter, shortstop Terry Luff, banged out a trio of triples in six at bats to lead the barrage of Wayne hits.

Wayne started its scoring in the second inning with five runs on four hits. The team continued with a seven-run fourth to put the area club in front 12-0 before Newcastle, which now drops a half-game below second-place Wakefield, got on the board with three runs via a pair of doubles and two walks off Blevins.

The final blows for Wayne came in the seventh on Larry Raabe's two-run single to finish the night battling 5-0.

"There's no real secret to the win," said left fielder Steve Hix. "We just hit the ball in the right spots and they didn't."

Blevins got a rest in the seventh when Dave Hix came in to finish the game.

The win puts Wayne two games out of possibly making the four-team playoffs scheduled to start Sunday, July 24.

So far Homer Wakefield, Newcastle and Allen look to be the favorites to make the playoffs. Homer still leads the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League with an 11-0 record.

Allen is fourth with a 7-5 mark. League secretary Merlin "Lefty" Olson pointed out that both Allen and fifth-place Pender have makeup games to finish before the playoffs can start.

If both lose, those losses could open the door for sixth-place Wayne.

Wakefield Moves Up to Second in Standings

Leadoff-hitter Mike Soderberg scored three of Wakefield's four runs Thursday night to lead his club to a 4-3 nipping of visiting Dakota City and help his team move up to second place in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League.

Soderberg, who was batting .500 for the night along with teammates Keith Siebrandt and Eaton later scored on a hit by Barge.

"I think we're pretty lucky to someone beat Newcastle," said player-coach Max Gross of his team's move up from third to second in the standings after Wayne knocked off second-place Newcastle, 14-6.

Gross also credited the defensive play of third baseman Paul Eaton who "kept us in the game by making several fine stops," including setting up two double plays.

With only three games left in the season, Wakefield seems to have been assured of a berth in the four-team playoffs, scheduled to start July 24.

5 Home Runs Lift Laurel '9' Past Orchard

George Schroeder's pair of home runs and solo shots by John Abts, Nick Danzo and Bob Weisenberg capped Laurel town team to 11-5 whipping of Orchard Thursday night.

Schroeder started the parade of circuit hits in the two-run second inning. Weisenberg and Abts each connected in the three-run third before Danzo banged one in the fourth and Schroeder crashed his second over the fence in the fifth.

Brad Erwin (3-1) went seven frames on the mound, striking out seven, before player-coach Jerry Schroeder called on Jerry Stanley to finish the game.

"We're trying to get geared up for the playoffs," Schroeder pointed out about his switch in pitchers.

The Tri-County League playoffs start Aug. 1 with all nine teams involved in the series, Schroeder noted.

Tuesday night in a makeup game, Laurel ran into buzz-saw Wausa, 12-2. "We seemed to be hitting the ball at them while their hits just dropped in to score runs," the coach said.

Property Tax

replacing revenues lost to local governments due to the partial personal property tax exemption that was passed in 1972. Under the total exemption authorized by this year's legislation, that cost will be $70 million by 1980. In the long run, however, the new bill may save the state money. Under the partial exemption, as the amount of personal property grew and as county assessors raised valuations to take advantage of the state pay back, the cost of the reimbursement grew rapidly. The $53 million figure projected for this year is nearly twice as much as was expected when the exemption was made law in 1972. Under the new bill, the amount of relief money to be reimbursed to local governments is permanently limited of the $70 million figure.

Although that $70 million ceiling will prevent increases in the cost of the exemption to the state, it will probably force real estate taxes higher. Since $70 million will cover only approximately 85 per cent of the cost of the total exemption, the other 15 per cent as well as future increases in local spending will have to be absorbed primarily by higher real estate taxes. The bill also provides that counties will receive additional state money beginning in 1978 to replace revenue that was lost several years ago when business inventories stored for shipment out of state were exempted from taxation. This will benefit primarily counties with major manufacturing and warehousing business.

How LB 518 effects your tax bill depends on whether you save enough through the exemption to pay the possible increased real estate, sales and income taxes. Rural areas generally benefit most from the exemption because of the large amounts of machinery and livestock owned by rural taxpayers. Much of the exemption, however, goes to large farms and businesses. According to research done by a legislative aid, the 33 per cent of Wayne County's non-farm businesses with the most exempted personal property receive 88 per cent of the business relief and the two per cent of the farms with the most exempted personal property get 10 per cent of the farm relief.

Another bill passed by this year's Legislature, LB 33, increases state aid to education by $20 million annually for three years, or until the state is paying 40 per cent of the cost of grade one through twelve education, which ever comes first. It is unlikely that increasing aid by $20 million annually will bring the state's share of the cost of education up to 40 per cent, or that the increased aid will lower statewide property taxes. Education costs have been rising by $10 million annually so that $20 million increase in aid will probably only slow the statewide rise in property taxes. Individual districts, however, may receive very large or very small increases in state aid, depending on how they are affected by changes in the distribution formula. The new formula eliminates incentive aid, which was awarded to schools with teachers who further their education. This year a greater share of the state money (50 per cent) will be awarded on a per pupil basis. The other half will still be distributed according to an equalization formula which sends money to districts with high mill levies due to small amounts of taxable property per student. Because of the large values of taxable property in rural areas, most equalization aid goes to urban areas. One change which will affect some rural district provides that districts with populations of less than four persons per square mile will qualify for more equalization aid. Sparsely populated districts were eligible for extra equalization aid in the past, but a requirement that such districts be located in sparsely populated counties has been dropped. Hence, some districts in rural counties with population centers should get more aid.

Increasing the state aid to education will push more of a burden on sales and income taxes. Next year's $20 million increase will account for four per cent of the state's 1978 budget.

How will the new law affect schools in Wayne County? Estimates by the State Department of Education show that if the new bill were in effect during the 1976-77 school year, schools in Wayne County would have received 141 per cent more aid than they actually did. Schools in Wayne County would have received $207 per student as compared with a statewide average of $240 per student.

Since equalization aid is distributed according to the valuation of taxable property in districts, counties must assess taxable property uniformly for the formula to work as intended. Currently, valuations vary widely. Therefore, the Legislature passed LB 131 which reduces the personal property tax reimbursement to counties who fail to assess property at 35 per cent of its actual value. When the new assessments take effect for the 1978-79 school year, the amount of state aid received by individual districts could change substantially.

The bill also provides that local governments must give public notice if they increase their budgets by more than seven per cent or by more than the average yearly increase in their budget over the prior three years, whichever is greater. In 1975, the latest year for which Department of Revenue statistics are available, the Wayne County government levied 17 per cent more taxes than in 1974. The tax outlook for 1978 shows that most personal property taxes have been eliminated but state sales and income tax rates will rise. And, unless your school district receives an unusually large increase in state aid due to distribution formula changes, or your county receives a large reimbursement for revenue lost several years ago when business inventories stored for shipment out of state were exempted from taxation, your real estate taxes will probably be higher.
