New Photo Studio to Open

A new photography studio will open in Wayne, hopefully around the middle of August, according to Larry Swanson of Norfolk.

Swanson, who is manager of the O'Neill Studios office in Norfolk, said the company will open a Wayne branch at 316 Main St. in the building which formerly housed the senior citizens center.

O'Neill Studios are owned by Bill and Chicki Artus of O'Neill with offices in Rapid City, S.D., Ainsworth, and Grand Island, in addition to Norfolk and O'Neill. Swanson said some remodeling must be completed before the Wayne office can open, but he hopes to open the studio sometime around the middle of August. The office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Swanson said. He said the studio will be open either five or six days a week.

Two-Vehicle Crash Injures Wayne Man

A Wayne man was taken to Providence Medical Center early Monday morning with facial cuts and a back injury following a two-vehicle accident a mile south of Wayne on Highway 15. Richard Korn, who is the volunteer fire chief, was reported in satisfactory condition after his car slammed into a trailer about 12:40 a.m. Monday.

According to investigating State Patrolman Dave Headley of Wayne, Korn was not rebound when he was blinded by oncoming headlights. His car started drifting left into the other lane where it struck a trailer attached to a pickup operated by James English of Beemer, English, who was returning home from a demolition derby at the Wayne County fair, escaped injury.

Wayne Farmer Is Winner Of Pork Producer Award

The Nebraska Swine Accrediting Agency presented four awards in Lincoln Tuesday at a luncheon during its 17th annual conference. SPF, or specific pathogen free, is a state program for raising swine free of certain disease. The Nebraska program, which began in 1959, now has 73 herds enrolled, making it the largest of the 19 states with such programs.

Rough Rider

"SNOOPY" GOT quite a ride Saturday, perched on his dog house in the back of this entry in the Wayne County Fair pickup pull. A number of local entries competed against pullers from throughout Nebraska and parts of Iowa in the event, a first for the Fair.

UN-L Production for Kids Five to 105

"This is a piece of fluff and meant to be," said Doug Anderson of his children's play "Bumpertop, Hopping & Snickerville" in an interview with Lincoln Journal entertainment writer Holly Spence.

The play, which will be performed in Wayne Saturday, is written entirely in different kinds of verse, from limericks to free style. "This makes the play move along so beautifully," Anderson said. The Wayne performance is being sponsored as a fund-raising effort by the newly formed Wayne area chapter of United Cerebral Palsy Association of Nebraska. The performance, being held in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce Dog Days promotion, will begin at 11 a.m. at the city auditorium.

Janice Prodehli, chairman of the local cerebral palsy chapter, said local businesses, including the Farmers' State Bank in Carroll, The Winside State Bank, the First National Bank, the State National Bank, the Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association, and the Columbus Federal Savings and Loan Association, Vakoc Construction, the Wayne Music Company, Coryell Auto Company, and the Wes Pflueger Insurance Agency, all of Wayne, contributed toward raising the expense money necessary to bring the show to Wayne. All proceeds from ticket sales will go toward purchasing orthopedic equipment for cerebral palsy victims.

The show will be presented by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Theater arts department chairman Rex McGraw. Previous engagements have included performances at the Lincoln Foundation Garden. Anderson, 24, is an Ohio native working on a master of fine arts degree in theater at UN-L. He has written about 10 children's plays but considered B. H. & S his most successful. It is filled with slapstick and pranks and participation where "The kids in the audience save the day." The 50-minute musical story uses a piano as an orchestra and uses short scenes that move quickly. WSC Professor At Oak Ridge Energy Seminar

Wayne State College math and science department professor Dr. J.S. Johar is among faculty members from 41 colleges and universities in 26 states attending a seminar which began Monday in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The two-week course, presented for the Energy Research and Development Administration by the special training division of Oak Ridge Associated Universities, is concerned with energy options for the future. The institute will present an overview of the nation's current energy problems and the various options for immediate and long-range solutions.

Topics covered include not only currently available energy sources such as fossil, hydro, and nuclear fuels, but also prospective resources such as solar, geothermal, and thermonuclear energy and breeder reactors.

Included in the seminar are tours of energy facilities including the Bull Run steam plant of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and two model energy-efficient houses being tested at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Kimball Man Seeks Nomination For Governor

A Kimball insurance and oil man announced Tuesday his candidacy for the Nebraska gubernatorial nomination.

Stan Juelifs, president and chairman of Stanco Petroleum, Inc., and owner of Panhandle Agency, Inc., said he is seeking the Republican party gubernatorial nomination.

The 48-year-old Nebraskan was born on a ranch in Morrill County and raised on a farm near Potter. He now lives in Kimball. He made an unsuccessful bid for a Unicameral seat in 1972. He and his wife have three children.

Puppet Play Planned
Wayne area youngsters are invited to stop at the Wayne State College Willow Bowl after lunch Aug. 11 to meet with some of their favorite storybook characters.

Five short puppet plays, including "Little Red Riding Hood," will be staged by students of Dr. Helen Russell's elementary school speech class to illustrate how the puppet plays can be used as teaching aids. Elementary teachers in the area may also be interested. No admission will be charged. The 1 p.m. program will last approximately one hour.

Midwest Culture Day Will Focus on Poet

The public is invited to attend the John G. Neihardt Conference on Midwestern Culture being held in conjunction with the annual Neihardt Day activities this year. The events are set for Saturday on the WSC campus and Sunday at the Neihardt Center in Bancroft.

The conference is funded in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, and possibly will become an annual event.

Proceedings will be videotaped by KWSC, the WSC television station, and by a Sioux City television station and will be edited for educational media. The conference will focus on the evolution of midwestern culture with special emphasis on the role of the American Indian and the philosophy of the late John G. Neihardt, Nebraska poet laureate and author of "Black Elk Speaks."

Housing is available on the WSC campus for Friday and Saturday nights, at $7 per night.

Registration will be limited for the Saturday program and banquet, and may be handled by mail, directed to Dr. Donald Schultz at WSC, or in person in the foyer of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center after 8 a.m.

The Saturday program, scheduled to begin at 8:45 a.m. and run until 6 p.m., will be held at the KWSC television studio in the WSC Peterson Fine Arts Center. Dr. Ed Elliott, vice WSC vice president for academic affairs; Marie Vogt, Neihardt Foundation executive director, and Dr. Donald Schultz, WSC chairman of humanities, will welcome guests and participants. The program will include the presentation of poetry and papers by scholars from throughout the Midwest who have written on the conference theme: "Crazy Horse — the Myth and the Reality." Panel discussions, set for 10 a.m. and 1:30 and 4 p.m., will feature area citizens in discussions of community, ecology and literary heritage. A presentation on historical societies will be held during the afternoon.

The banquet at Les' Steak House will begin at 7:30 p.m. Speakers will be Loran Schmitt, Nebraska State Senator from Bellwood and Reuben Snake, representative of the Winnebago Indian Tribe.

The Neihardt Center in Bancroft opens at 10 a.m. Sunday. Center personnel, volunteers and Neihardt Foundation members will be on hand to answer questions about the center audiovisual area, library and memorial, the Sioux Prayer Garden, Neihardt's study and poetry, selected from the conference program at WSC Saturday will be read.

The Neihardt Foundation report will be given at 2:45 p.m. by Dr. L.B. Eggerman of Bancroft, Neihardt Foundation president, and will be followed by the presentation of the Diercksen Award by Gerald Schmidt of the Bancroft Community Club.

Jana Barker Competing For Young Career Woman Title

A dispatcher for the Wayne Police Department has been chosen by the Wayne Business and Professional Womens Club (BPW) to represent them in the Young Career Woman program. The program is sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women and was developed to honor successful young career women.

Jana Barker, 23, of Wayne, will represent the local BPW Club during District III competition at Wayne on Sept. 23. She will compete at the district level with representatives from clubs in Fremont, Norfolk, Omaha and Madison.

Judging is based on speech presentation, personal accomplishments, group interaction and personal interviews.

Winners at the district level will advance to the state contest. Once a candidate is selected at the state level, all competition ends. At the national level, each Young Career Woman representing her state federation will be honored.

Miss Barker, who has been a dispatcher at the Wayne Police Department for the past year, is the daughter of Mrs. Glennadine Barker of Wayne. She is a 1972 graduate of Wayne High School. Miss Barker graduated cum laude from Wayne State College in 1974 with a B.A. in elementary education and German. She served as president of German Club in college, and was a member of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary and Alpha Mu Gamma foreign language honorary.

Following her graduation from college, Miss Barker taught rural school for one year near Rushville. She returned to Wayne and began working as a clerk dispatcher for the Police Department in August of 1976.

She is a member of the United Methodist Church in Wayne and enjoys reading, sewing, cooking and traveling.

Miss Barker became a member of the Wayne Business and Professional Womens Club during a dinner meeting July 26 at Les' Steakhouse. Gladys Koester of Allen is also a new member of the club.

Guests at the July meeting were Betty Carr of Allen and district BPW director Olive Sorenson and district secretary, treasurer Vera Hopper, both from Fremont.

Vera Hopper spoke to the group about the individual development program, which the Wayne club will consider in its program for the next club year. District Director Olive Sorenson told about BPW and plans for the district fall board meeting which will be in Wayne on Sept. 25.

Marge Matsen, treasurer of the Wayne BPW, received a note from the state federation stating that Wayne was the first club in the state to equalize in membership.

This is the second year in a row the Wayne BPW Club has received the honor.

Mrs. Janice Precehl, BPW president, said the next regular meeting of the club will be in the fall.

Monson Family Singers Performing at Laurel

The Monson Family Singers, well-known recording stars of gospel music, will appear in concert Saturday evening at 8 at the Lions Club Park in Laurel.

Prior to the concert, a 6:30 p.m. family picnic will be held at the park in honor of the Monsons. Hot dogs, drinks and watermelon will be furnished. Families may bring additional picnic foods if they wish.

All youth groups in the area are issued a special invitation to attend Saturday night's sing-a-long.

The Monson Family Singers, consisting of six teenage brothers and sisters, have traveled extensively in 17 states in the Northwest and Midwest, performing on television and radio, and in youth camps, churches, auditoriums and high schools.

The Monsons are best known for their sincere and wholesome style of presenting the gospel in music. Over a seven-year period, they have received recognition in national talent competition, performed with top musical groups across the nation, and recorded long-play stereo albums.

Paul Koesters Mark Golden Anniversary Sunday at Allen

Guests from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota attended the open house reception honoring the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koester of Allen, held Sunday afternoon at the Allen School auditorium.

The event was hosted by the couple's children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Koester, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Koester and Mr. and Mrs. Larry McAfee, all of Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Roberts of Boise, Idaho.

Guests were registered by Helen Anderson of Wakefield and gifts were arranged by Erma Koester and Margaret Isom.

Larry Koester served as master of ceremonies for the afternoon program, which included songs and poems by the couple's children and grandchildren.

Glennis Swift gave the history of the family and introduced them through prose. Introduced during the afternoon was Mrs. Koester's brother, Earl Black and Koester's sisters and brother, Martha Mortenson and Helen Anderson, both of Wakefield, Patience Isom of Duvall, Wash., and Sophia Lockwood and Oscar Koester, both of Allen. Phone calls were received from another brother of Koester, Herb Caldwell, Idaho, and from sister-in-law Mrs. Alice Koester of San Diego, Calif.

Martha Mortenson and Patience Isom cut and served the anniversary cake. Bonnie Black and Sophia Lockwood poured and Earlene Anderson of Wakefield and Kathleen Lee of Allen served punch.

A dinner was held Sunday evening at the Village Inn in Allen for Mr. and Mrs. Koester.

Iowa Resident Feted at Wayne

Karen Echtenkamp of Jefferson, Ia. was guest of honor at a bridal shower in the Warren Austin home, Wayne, Sunday afternoon.

Twenty-two guests were registered from Sioux City, Waukegan, Winslow, Norfolk, Carroll, Coleridge and Wayne. The bride's chosen colors, yellow and green, were used in decorations and refreshments.

Carol Sjovall assisted with gifts and Jane Austin served punch. Hostesses were Pearl Benjamin, Carol Sjovall and Jane and Leora Austin.

Miss Echtenkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Echtenkamp of Wayne, and Phillip Kendall of Jefferson, Ia. will exchange wedding vows in a ceremony Aug. 13 in Jefferson.

Hoskins Congregation Meets for 75 Years

The Rev. Emil Boelling of Norfolk was guest speaker during worship service Sunday commemorating the 75th anniversary of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, located near Hoskins.

About 500 members and former members of the congregation attended the celebration.

Rev. Boelling, a former pastor of the church, was also present when the church celebrated its 25th and 50th anniversaries.

Ladies of the congregation served a noon dinner following the worship service.

Mrs. Emma Meyer was recognized during an afternoon vespers service: Mrs. Meyer, 88, is a former member of the congregation and was the oldest person attending Sunday's observance. Bill Gosch and Alfred Albers were the oldest members present.

Speaking during the afternoon service was Dr. Fredrick Neldner, president of the Nebraska District. The Rev. Jordan Artt, pastor of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, read the church history.

Pastor Artt stated that members of the first confirmation class, in 1904, were Emma Lehman, Karl Voecks, William Voecks, Maria Lehman, Fred Lehman and Louie Schomberg. Pastor at that time was the Rev. F.W. Rex.

Arthur Morike was the first infant to be baptized and Franz Weither and Anna Noeremberg were the first couple to be married in the church. The first funeral service was conducted for Herbert Julius Noeremberg, infant son of Albert and Maria Noeremberg.

Lunch was served at the close of Sunday afternoon by ladies of the congregation.

Zion Lutheran Church was organized on July 20, 1902. The congregation met at the District 77 schoolhouse until 1903 when members moved to the present church site and built their first building, a schoolhouse.

The schoolhouse served the congregation's educational and worship needs until 1913 when the present church structure was built and dedicated.

Daughter Gets Certification

Debbie Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Holmes of rural Emerson, recently received word from the Institute for Certifying Secretaries in Kansas City, Mo. that she has passed the examination required for certification as a Certified Professional Secretary.

This was Debbie's first attempt at the exam, which consisted of two days of testing in the areas of environmental relations, business and public policy, economics and management, financial analysis, communications and decision making, and office procedures.

Debbie is a 1977 graduate with highest honors from the University of South Dakota with a B.S. degree in office education.

She is employed as an executive secretary at the office of Stewart, Hatfield, Klass and Whicher lawyers in Sioux City.

Students Give Music Recital

Piano, guitar and accordion students of Patricia Schumacher and Mrs. Janice Predohl were presented in a recital Sunday evening at the Woman's Club room in Wayne.

Performing for family and friends were guitar students Jeff Baier, Thad Schumacher, Mark Hanson, James Predohl, Michele King, Mark Doring, Valerie Tuttle and David Sedivy, and pianists Leigh Anna Johnson, Cara Dahlquist, Rochelle Dahlquist and Vincent Predohl. Vincent Predohl also played the accordion.

Historical Society Preserves Past

Local and area residents looking for interesting sites to visit during the summer months are reminded that the Wayne County Historical Museum is open each Thursday evening and Sunday afternoon.

Persons visiting the museum tonight (Thursday) between 7 and 9 will be greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hein and Leila Maynard. Hosts at the museum Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. are Ann Sage and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gilliland.

Economy Continues to Gain

Real output in the Nebraska economy continued to improve in April, rising approximately one per cent above March 1977. According to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the Nebraska index of total real output stood two per cent above year earlier levels.

The gains in the Nebraska economy were attributable to increases in all sectors with the exception of the distributive trade sector. Gains were recorded in construction, manufacturing, and government on a year to year and month to month basis.

Writing in "Business in Nebraska," Duane Hackmann noted that the state's total real output was up 9.6 per cent on the March to April basis which he attributed largely to an increase in the physical volume of agriculture commodities. Hackmann noted that the generally lower prices received by Nebraska farmers this year compared with a year earlier would likely create little stimulus to the remaining portions of the state's economy. Using seasonally adjusted data, cash receipts from marketing and farm products were 12 per cent below the April 1976 level.

Bright spots in the state's economy include construction and manufacturing. Construction activity in Nebraska rose sharply from March to April with real output rising 3.7 per cent on a month to month basis. Total construction activity was 19.2

per cent above last April's figure with gains being noted in all components of the industry but particularly in the residential building.

The state's manufacturing and government sectors continued to show modest monthly increases. Manufacturing output was about 4.5 per cent above its April 1976 mark while there was little change in the government sector physical volume index above April 1976 levels.

Sluggish retail sale performance again contributed to the decline in Nebraska's distributive trade sector. Physical volume for this sector was 1.7 per cent higher in April of 1977 than a year previous but when retail sales were adjusted for price changes, the industry's contribution shows a decrease. This trend of lower output in the distributive trade sector continues in 1977 and must be closely monitored for its implications for future economic trends.

'Surprise' Win Puts Wayne Midgets In State Meet

By BOB BARTLETT
Sunday night turned out to be a surprise evening for coach Hank Overin and his Wayne Midgets.
It was a surprise that the locals could easily score eight runs in the first inning off Walthill's ace hurler Johnny Miller (7-1), then add four more runs in the second and two in the fourth. And it was a surprise that Wayne just shut out the invaders from scoring.
But things got that way, Overin admitted after his club racked up a 14-0 conquest over Walthill, who had 15 wins and only three losses going into the finals of the Area A American Legion tournament at the city ball park.

"We could play these guys tomorrow and lose, 2-1," the head man noted about Walthill's ability to play good ball no matter where the diamond was located.
The difference in the outcome of what was expected to be a tight seven-inning contest was pitching — the one area Overin maintains is the position that can make or break a ball club.

For Walthill, it was the sore spot, particularly concerning Miller, who later admitted that his arm was very sore from throwing the night before.
On the other hand, Wayne's Tom Ginn was on the money. The salty righthander posted his ninth win in 11 starts by whiffing only four Walthill batters in the abbreviated five-inning match and allowing only two hits during his first shutout of the season.
In his first year at the helm,

Walthill coach Clayton Tonjes said his club had all the makings of a strong team — hustling defense, good hitting, only two players on the roster were below .300, and strong pitching.
About Miller, Tonjes pointed out, he had a streak prior to the tournament where he struck out 26 of the 31 batters he faced. Miller, who was averaging two strikeouts a frame, was noted for his hard-throwing fastballs, curves and sliders, Tonjes said.
But Sunday night wasn't the time for Miller to show his stuff.

Instead, he walked 10 of the 14 batters he faced in the first inning as he struggled to get the ball into the strike zone. Result: Eight runs on one hit and an error.
Miller, who waved off Tonjes when he attempted to go back to the mound for a second talk, gave up three runs in the next frame on a bases-loaded walk and a double down third base line by Dean Carroll before Miller was forced to give up the reigns to right fielder John Beard, a lefty.

Beard, who also was a little stiff, loaded the sacks when he walked Ginn, then watched helplessly as Wayne scored its 12th run when Dennis Carroll raced home from third on a throwing error by third baseman Jim Swanson.
Infield errors in the fourth set up Wayne's final two runs. Center fielder Jeff Zeiss, who raced over to shallow right field to make a spectacular diving catch in the bottom of the third, and Dennis Carroll were safe on bases via miscues. Zeiss after stealing second, Zeiss galloped home when the 2-2 pitch to Ginn went by the catcher. Carroll later scored on another Walthill throwing error.

Ginn did have his shaky moments. In the fourth, he hit two Walthill batters, including one on a fast ball which bounced off the helmet of left fielder Mark Sedivy, Sedivy, who later complained of being dizzy, was taken to Providence Medical Center where he was held overnight and released the next day in good shape, hospital officials

Wakefield's HRs Erase Six Errors

Wakefield made up for its six fielding errors at the plate Sunday night when the second-place team in the Northeast Nebraska Baseball League pounded out four home runs en route to a 17-6 blasting of Pender-Bancroft.
Center fielder Roger Luefh led Wakefield's circuit hits with a pair of two-run roundtrippers as the area town team smashed Pender's Mike Welsh and Dohi See WAKEFIELD, page 7

Wanted: Young Golfers

Youths in and around Wayne interested in playing in a golf tournament are invited to the second annual Wayne Kivans meet Monday morning at the Wayne Country Club.
The meet is open to boys and girls ages 10 to 16 years old with the top winner in each of the four different age flights receiving a trophy. According to tournament director Chuck Surber, the flights will be divided into youths 16 years old and under, 14 and under, 12 and under and 10 years old.
To register youths should be at the country club by 8:30 in time for tee off at 9 sharp. There is no registration fee.

G.I. Eliminates Wakefield Girls

Grand Island Eagles eliminated Wakefield girls Saturday from the state girls softball tournament at Grand Island.
The winners came up with 14 runs to down the area club, 14-5.
Despite the final loss, coaches Jennifer Olson and Susan Kovar said they were pleased with their girls' performances. Wakefield finished with a 2-2 record, posting a 14-0 win over Minden and 9-7 opening day victory over Sorensen Standard of Grand Island. Wakefield's first loss was to Lincoln Lindsay, 14-6.
First-year pitcher Susan Miller went the entire distance for Wakefield on the mound, walking only eight batters in four games.
"There was plenty of tough competition in the tournament," Mrs. Olson said. "Our girls were pretty tight and nervous for our first trip to state. That had a lot to do with the errors we committed," she added.
Also playing for Wakefield was Jean Tullberg, whose name was omitted in an early story on Wakefield's going to state.

Maurice Jensen, noted area archery enthusiast, will be at Gibson's, Wayne, Nebr., on Aug. 7 from 12:30-5 for a Bear Archery Clinic Seminar.
These seminars are being held all over the country by top archers in order to meet public demand. The purpose of an archery seminar is to help educate the general public as to the sport of archery including shooting techniques, equipment, and safety. According to a recent National Sporting Goods Association survey, archery equipment is projected to increase 14 per cent within the next year.
Maurice started in target archery as a means of keeping in some form of readiness for the hunting season, but found he enjoyed it so much he began participating in tournaments. Some of the tournaments he participated in were South Dakota Pro Am, Nebraska Pro-Am and the pAA American Indoor. He is a member of the Nebraska Prairie Bowman, Fritz Archery Club (of which he is president) and the International Fred Bear Sports Club. Aside from all his other organizations he is qualified instructor for the NFAA Bowhunter Education Program and the JOAD instructor. Maurice is a resident of Omaha.
Upon appointment to the Bear Advisory Staff, world famous bowhunter Fred Bear stated he enjoyed it so much he joined our Professional Advisory Staff, and we know that he will help thousands of people to become familiar with archery, man's oldest sport and one of his most challenging.

Underdog Wakefield Proves It's State Caliber

4-Run Burst Powers Laurel

For starting out in what was pegged as the "losers' bracket" of the Class B American Legion district tournament at O'Neill, coach Paul Eaton's Wakefield Juniors did pretty well for themselves.

The area clubs swept all four games, including a 3-2 nine-inning final match against four-time favorite Ord Saturday night, to qualify for the state meet at Broken Bow.

Despite knocking off Ord and O'Neill two successive nights,

Eaton's crew still had to face the same pair rather than the weak teams of the five-team tourney, Albion and Wynot. For that reason, the coach believes that Wakefield was considered to be in the losers' bracket.

But the pitching of Rick Guy and Brad Jones plus the hitting of Doug Starzl made believers out of folks at the tournament that Wakefield was a power to be contended with.

Ord came in the tournament owning the best record, 19-2, but couldn't keep on the the 11-hit attack by Wakefield Wednesday. Starzl, who had two hits, exploded for a three-run homer in the fourth to send his club off to its 23rd win against 11 losses, 11-3.

Starzl also was instrumental in Wakefield's 1-0 close call over O'Neill Thursday. He got on base via a double and scored on Dan Byer's single in the sixth. Twice O'Neill tried bases-loaded squeeze plays in the fifth but failed to get past Wakefield's sharp defense.

Jones banged out three hits. Jono Kline had a double and single and Byers drove in the tying run as Wakefield overcame O'Neill for the second time, 13-3.

Wakefield scored four runs in the fourth to move in front and coast to the win on the relief pitching of Guy who gave-up only two hits in his three innings on the mound.

Todd Swigart scored Wakefield's winning run in the crucial ninth frame Saturday when he went to first after being hit by a pitched ball, advanced to second on a passed ball, stole third and dashed home when Ord catcher overthrew third.

Swigart provided the Juniors with their first run in the second inning to tie the game at one apiece. With two away, he struck out, but was safe at first after the catcher dropped the ball. After stealing second and going to third on a base hit by Guy, Swigart stole home as Guy raced to second base during a double-steal.

"In the fifth, Wakefield tied the game again when Byers scored on a bases-loaded error.

Guy went the entire distance for Wakefield, losing 19 strikeouts.

The big loss for Wakefield was catcher Dean Sharp who broke his collar bone when he tripped over first base in the first game with Ord. The loss of Sharp, who also pitches, created doubts in Eaton's mind whether his club would have the needed pitching strength to get through the district meet.

Laurel struck early for four big runs and held onto the lead despite a late charge by Wausa Sunday night to win the first game in the best of three series, 6-4.

Both teams were scheduled to play Wednesday night at Wausa in the second round of post-season playoffs in the Tri-County Amateur Baseball League. If a third game is needed, Laurel will host Wausa Friday.

Two singles and a base on balls loaded the sacks for the winners in the first frame to set up a pair of two-run singles by second baseman George Schroeder and right fielder Jerry Schroeder.

Leadoff hitter John Schroeder singled and John Abts followed with another base hit before Wausa hurler Rod Nelson of Hartington walked Laurel hurler Bob Weisenberg with one away in the first.

In the seventh, George Schroeder batted a double for his second hit of the game and scored on catcher Nick Danze's two-base hit for a 5-0 command. Danze later came home on Tom Erwin's base hit.

Wausa rallied with four runs in the eighth, thanks mainly to a three-run circuit hit by Greg Schultz. But Weisenberg, who gave up only two hits and had 14 strikeouts for the night, held Wausa.

WAYNE STATE'S offensive line is expected to be the biggest in Wildcat history, thanks to the recruiting efforts of head coach Del Stoltenberg and his assistants.

Stoltenberg reported during last week's Second Guessers meeting that Wayne also did well in the quarterback department too, picking up several signal callers fresh out of high school. The head man is aware that first-year quarterbacks have their problems, but hopes time and maturity will help improve the situation.

Fall camp opens Aug. 21 and Wildcat fans will see their club in action Sept. 10 when Wayne opens its 10-game state hosting Northern State of Aberdeen, S.D.

Stoltenberg noted that coaches from the eight-team Central State Intercollegiate Conference will get a glimpse of grid powers during a loop meeting Friday in Kansas City, but Del isn't banking on finding out the "whole" truth about league favorites since most meetings are filled with half truths. "Who lies the most will come away feeling the best," he quipped.

OTHER CLUB reports: Reggie Swanson of Laurel will be Wayne State's first trainer when the grid season gets underway. Doug Radtke will assist coaching the secondary defensive unit. Basketball coach Jim Seward presented his assistant for the past two years, Rusty Parker, with a plaque after it was announced that Rusty accepted the head coaching post at Lewis Central High School in Council Bluffs. Dan Gardner is making plans to start the club's campaign to raise money for the college sports program by selling ads for Wayne State's sports brochure. His goal: whopping 50 pages.

STILL in the talking stages is the possibility of Don Goeden stepping down as coach of the Wayne town team. Goeden indicated to one member of the town team board that he doesn't want the job next year. More on that following the board meeting.

COACHES in the Ralph Bishop League have to be a pretty happy lot when you consider that again the league will be well represented in the state American Legion Midget and Junior tournaments this weekend. Wakefield will send its Class B squad to Broken Bow while Wayne takes its Class C Midgets to Harvard. As of Monday, the Pender-Bancroft club had a shot at going to the Class C Junior division if it got by Dodge. Last year Wayne and Bancroft made the league look good by capturing the Class C Midget and Junior divisions at state. That has to say a lot about the brand of ball played in this part of the state.

Wakefield

Wagner for 14 hits.

Winning pitcher Rob Eaton started the barrage of homers in the third inning with a two-out shot over the right center field fence. Lueth smashed his first in the two-run fourth and Mike Barge connected with a three-run blast to dead center in the four-run fifth. Lueth closed out Wakefield's big hits in the eighth.

Eaton chalked up Wakefield's ninth win against six losses and the first in the best-of-three in the league's post-season playoffs.

In other playoff action, Homer topple fourth-place Newcastle, 8-6, to remain undefeated in league play. A Homer win tonight (Thursday) in the series with Newcastle would put the league kingpins into the playoffs, starting next week.

"Just tell Homer we're on our way," Wakefield player-coach Max Gross smiled.

His First Ace

A Norfolk golfer, James Wegner, fired his first hole-in-one Saturday at the Wayne Country Club.

Using a three wood on the par three 17th hole, Wegner drove the ball 177 yards to the cup. He finished the round with a 39, his best ever. Wegner said.

Witnessing the feat were Willard Wiltse of Wayne and Russ Swigart of Wakefield.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

"Nothing is ever lost by courtesy. It is the cheapest of the pleasures. It pleases him who gives and him who receives and thus, like mercy, is twice blessed..." Erastus Wiman

Actually, courtesy does have a cost... a little time. It takes a second to say "please" or "thank you" or to wait while someone else goes first. But the dividend paid by even tiny courtesies are enormous.

It is true that the receiver is pleased by the giver derives even greater satisfaction. George Washington, when asked why he tipped his hat to his bowing slaves, explained that he would allow no one to outdo him in courtesy. It's an idea worth copying.

The price of our services is always determined by the wishes of the families we serve. No one is ever turned away for lack of funds.

Game and Parks New Programs Called Success

New programs under way at the Game and Parks Commission encompass more than just Nebraska's wildlife populations and recreation areas, Enhancing Nebraska citizen's leisure time is an integral part of the new programs.

The Commission's canoe pilot projects on the Platte, Dismal and Republican rivers bring cooperative landowners together with the Commission to provide campsites along the rivers. With canoeing interest rising, plans for sites on additional rivers are under way.

Canoeists using the campsites leave the areas clean and in good shape set prime examples for possible future development on other rivers.

The Wildlife Habitat Plan enacted in 1976 benefits hunters, nature-lovers and birdwatchers by increasing wildlife through improving habitat tracts. The program joins the Commission, Natural Resource Districts and landowners in working together toward a better Nebraska.

The Habitat Stamp most effectively supports the Wildlife Habitat Plan, the Commission said. Funds raised from its sale go toward improving habitat on private and existing public lands, obtaining suitable habitat lands for public special use areas and for managing all wildlife habitat programs. The Habitat Stamp is not restricted for sportsmen, it is an outlet for everyone to support Nebraska's conservation efforts.

Backpacking and cross-country skiing programs are currently being developed for sporting Nebraskans. Information about them will be released in the near future by the Game and Parks Commission.

Dixon County

Events scheduled for the rest of the day include: 9 a.m. judging of flower and plant entries; 6:7 p.m., Battle Creek Brass Band; 7 p.m., tug-of-war elimination; 8:20 p.m., Holiday Review including the Straub Family group with Dennis Yearly.

The final day's events, Aug. 17, begin with 4-H swine showmanship and swim judging at 9 a.m., followed by 4-H open class sheep judging and 4-H sheep showmanship at 10:30 a.m. A tractor pull will begin at 1 p.m., followed at 2 by the public dress revue and performances by song contest division winners.

The annual livestock parade will begin the evening of Aug. 17 in 1977, followed by tug-of-war finals at 7:45 and a demolition derby at 8:30. All exhibits will be released at 9 p.m.

Pork

Nebraska Pork Producers Association (NPPA).

Waldo, current president of the Nebraska-Duroc Association, is a member of the National Swine Improvement Federation and has been active in national and state SPF promotion. A recipient of the Blue Valley Pork Producers Association's 1977 All-American Award in 1977, Waldo also was credited with helping new pork producers become established.

The agency presented its service award to the hog buying division of the Geo. A. Hormel & Co., of Fremont for its help in sorting health-checked animals, cooperating with producers and providing additional records and promotion for SPF hogs.

The group's appreciation award went to Willard Waldo of DeWitt for his contributions to swine disease control programs and promotion of swine performance testing. He currently is involved in the brucellosis eradication program and is a member of the NPPA's health and legislation committees and of several national disease control committees.

"The Nebraska SPF program is concerned with both health and performance," said Thomas Socha, agency secretary-manager. "Waldo has been involved in all aspects of the program's objectives."

It rains. Residents of Hopping hop around with both legs in one pantleg, and Snickerville people always snicker but never talk. Things become more confused when King Sweeney outlaws those activities.

The show is designed for youngsters, but Anderson said kids from five to 105 should enjoy it. "It is like the circus coming to town."

O.K. EVERYBODY COOKOUT

Aloha Ham Loaves

- 2 pounds Ground Smoked Ham
- 6 slices canned Pineapple
- 6 1/2-inch squares Pimiento
- 1 can (5 and one-third oz.) Evaporated Milk
- 1/2 teaspoon Curry Powder
- 1 tablespoon instant minced Onion
- 1 Egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup crushed unsalted Crackers
- 2 tablespoons Catsup
- 1 tablespoon snipped Parsley

Place a pineapple slice in the bottom of each of 6 aluminum tart pans. Fill center of each pineapple slice with a square of pimiento. Mix 2 tablespoons evaporated milk with curry powder and sprinkle 1 teaspoon of the liquid over each pineapple slice. Add remaining evaporated milk to instant onion. Lightly but thoroughly combine ground ham, egg, cracker crumbs, catsup and parsley; mix in evaporated milk with onion. Divide meat mixture in sixths and place 1 portion on pineapple ring in each pan, pressing lightly to mound. Cover each pan tightly with aluminum foil, securing around rim of pan. Place on grill and cook at low to moderate temperature 45 to 55 minutes or until done. Invert pans to remove loaves and serve pineapple side up. 6 servings.

Super Stuffed Pork Chops

- 4 to 6 Pork Steaks, cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick
- 1 tablespoon Brown Sugar
- 1 can (8 oz.) Tomato Sauce
- 2 tablespoons Soy Sauce
- 2 teaspoons instant minced Onion

Combine brown sugar, tomato sauce, soy sauce and onion in small saucepan; cook slowly 5 minutes, stirring until blended. Place steaks on grill 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil at low to moderate temperature 10 minutes, turn and broil 10 minutes. Brush steaks with sauce and continue broiling 10 to 20 minutes longer, brushing and turning occasionally until well done. 6 to 8 servings.

Rotisserie Pork Loin Roast — Jubilee

- 5 to 6 pound boneless Pork Loin Roast (double)
- 1 can (21 oz.) Cherry Pie Filling
- 1/4 cup Brandy
- 1/4 cup Water
- 1 teaspoon Lemon Juice
- 1/8 teaspoon Salt

Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through exact center of roast. Insert spit forks and tighten so roast turns with rod. Insert roast meat thermometer (at an angle so it will clear cooking unit and drip pan) so the tip is centered in the roast and does not rest in fat or on the rod. Place on rotisserie and roast at low to moderate temperature until well done (170 degrees F). Allow 2 to 2 1/2 hours total cooking time. To prepare brandy sauce, combine cherry pie filling, brandy, water, lemon juice and salt in small saucepan. Bring to boil and cook slowly 5 to 6 minutes, stirring occasionally. Brush roast with sauce during last 20 minutes cooking time. Serve remaining sauce hot with carved roast.

Savory Grilled Pork Steaks

- 6 to 8 pork rib chops, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches thick
- 1 package (7 oz.) Cornbread Stuffing Mix
- One-third cup Honey
- 1 tablespoon Prepared Mustard
- 1 tablespoon Lemon Juice
- Salt and Pepper

Make a pocket in each chop by cutting into the chop on rib side parallel to the surface of the chop. Be careful not to cut through the opposite side. Prepare stuffing according to package directions, using amount of water specified for less moist stuffing. Cool. To prepare glaze, combine honey, mustard and lemon juice in small saucepan and cook 5 to 10 minutes to thicken, stirring occasionally. Stuff pocket in each chop with an equal amount of the stuffing mixture. Place chops on grill so surface of meat is 5 to 7 inches from heat and cook at low to moderate temperature 20 minutes, turning occasionally. Season chops on both sides with salt and pepper. Broil 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until chops are done, brushing with glaze and turning occasionally. 6 to 8 servings.

Broiled Ham Slice With Pineapple Rice

- 2 fully cooked Smoked Ham slices, cut 1 inch thick
- 2 packages (12 oz. each) Frozen Rice Pilaf or Rice with Peppers and Parsley
- 1 can (20 oz.) Pineapple Chunks in Syrup
- 1/4 cup Brown Sugar
- 2 teaspoons Cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon Lemon Juice
- 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg

Defrost rice and remove from packages. Drain pineapple; reserve syrup, stir chunks into rice and seal in foil packet. Combine sugar, cornstarch, lemon juice and nutmeg in small saucepan. Stir in reserved pineapple syrup and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Place ham slices on grill 3 to 5 inches from heat and broil at low to moderate temperature 10 minutes. Place rice packet on grill. Turn ham slices, brush with sauce and continue cooking 10 to 15 minutes, or until heated through, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally.

Cooking Needs.

Sunshine Pork Kabobs

- 2 to 2 1/2 pounds boneless Pork shoulder, cut in 1 1/4-inch pieces
- 1 cup Barbecue Sauce
- 1 cup Orange Juice
- One-third cup Lemon Juice
- One-third cup Brown Sugar
- 2 tablespoons Soy Sauce
- 2 tablespoons instant minced Onion
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- 18 to 24 canned Onions
- 1 large Orange, cut in 6 wedges

To prepare marinade, combine barbecue sauce, orange juice, lemon juice, brown sugar, soy sauce, instant minced onion and salt, stirring to dissolve sugar. Place meat in plastic bag or bowl; pour marinade over meat, turning to coat. Tie bag securely or cover bowl and marinate in refrigerator 1 to 3 hours. Drain marinade from meat into small saucepan, bring to boil, lower heat and simmer, uncovered, 10 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally until sauce thickens. Alternately thread pieces of pork and onions on six 12-inch metal skewers and place on grill 5 to 7 inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 25 to 30 minutes, until almost done, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally. Place orange wedge on end of each skewer, brush with sauce and continue cooking 5 to 10 minutes or until meat is done, turning once. 6 servings.

State Supreme Court Settles long-disputed university control issue

CAPITOL NEWS
LINCOLN—The State Supreme Court in a unanimous decision, has ruled that the eight-member Board of Regents is vested with the power of the general government of the University of Nebraska—and that this power cannot be delegated to other officers or agencies.

The long-awaited opinion ended years of debate on the question. It said the legislature may prescribe the duties and powers of the regents but added that the law governing the board "must not be so detailed and specific in nature as to eliminate all discretion and authority on the part of the regents as to how a duty shall be performed."

The court said university-generated funds and those received from the federal government and private citizens are subject to the regents' control without an annual legislative appropriation.

The court also said salary schedules and compensation for university employees is an integral part of the general government of the institution and the unicameral may not fix and determine the manner in which salaries are to be given to employees.

The regents filed a lawsuit in Lancaster County district court at Lincoln in an attempt to find out if certain acts of the legislature were constitutional.

The district court came to the same conclusions as the Supreme Court except for one particular when it ruled the legislature could fix and determine the manner in which wages are to be given to employees. That part of the lower court's decision was reversed.

University of Nebraska officials were cautioned almost immediately by several legislators not to celebrate the Supreme Court ruling too much, noting that it could expose the regents to considerable political heat.

Senator Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the legislature's Appropriations Committee, said the decision was "beautiful for politicians" because the lawmakers can give the university tax money and then criticize school officials for how they spend it.

Senator Richard Marrvel of Hastings, former chairman of the legislature's budget unit, said the clear vesting of power in the university will be accompanied by the responsibility for any problems.

The university will have to cooperate "voluntarily" with the legislators, said

Warner who also emphasized the unicameral will remain in control of tax funds.

He described the latter point as a "sizable club" to force the university to heed the wishes of lawmakers.

Governor J. James Exon noted he has been maintaining that the legislature "has been attempting to invade the administration of laws" and added the decision is another argument for lump sum appropriations to the university.

Robert Simmons of Scottsbluff, chairman of the Board of Regents, said the decision will make operations more efficient at the university. He said he does not expect it to change the way the school operates, but will make "more certain where responsibility lies."

Hearing Closed
 For the first time in the memory of veteran Capitol correspondents, a legislative committee refused to permit reporters to attend an executive session.

It happened during the organizational meeting of an interim committee appointed by the Executive Board to look into certain operations of the State Patrol.

So sensitive were the subjects discussed, total secrecy was warranted, the committee said.

The legislative resolution authorizing the unit directed it to review the operations of the patrol's criminal and drug divisions.

Senator Ernest Chambers of Omaha, delegated by the committee to be the spokesman to news media representatives, said he hopes many of the future meetings will be open. He added he himself had to have a "compelling" reason to want the initial session closed to everyone except committee members.

Chambers claimed the Constitution permits such closed meetings in unusual circumstances—a point not any of the reporters present were willing to concede.

It was reported that Senator John DeCamp of Neligh was elected chairman of the study group and Senator Steve Fowler of Lincoln was named vice chairman. Other members are Senators Donald Dvorak of Columbus; Loran Schmitt of Bellwood; William Nichol of Scottsbluff; Douglas Barger of Utiaca; and Barry Reuland of Fremont.

Woman Profile
 The Nebraska Commission of the Status of Women says a profile of the Nebraska working woman shows she will be found mostly in professional and clerical jobs and probably gets paid less than her male counterpart.

According to the profile, the number of women entering the Nebraska labor market is increasing at a "phenomenal" rate and more non-working mothers would seek employment if better child care facilities were available.

Commission chairman Clody Wright said a study showed, among other things, that women dominate office, clerical and service jobs and are showing increases on the professional and technical level. But men hold most of the craft positions such as building trades, electricians, skilled machinists and mechanics.

In 1960 women were in 69 per cent of the clerical positions; but 10 years later this figure had risen to 75 per cent. Women held 16 per cent of the professional and technical positions in 1970 and four per cent were managers and administrators, according to the profile.

Beatrice Residents
 The Nebraska Department of Institutions says a recent influx of new admissions is hampering efforts to move residents of the Beatrice State Development Center into community-based mental retardation facilities.

The department said last fiscal year 70 persons were moved from Beatrice into regional programs but that 30 persons were admitted to the center during the same period.

Department officials said more than 25 per cent of those admitted to Beatrice arrived during June. These admissions, it added, "were channeled through the community-based mental retardation programs, which verified services were not available on the community level."

Gasohol Appointment
 Former state Senator Ramey Whitney of Chappell is the newest member of the Gasohol Committee. He was appointed by Governor J. James Exon to succeed John Sullivan—of Wallace—who received appointment to the Wheat Division's Advisory Committee.

Exon said he is sure the committee will agree Whitney's experience and background will be helpful.

Whitney will be among members representing farming interests on the seven member committee.

Approval urged on bottle bill initiative

Farm people especially should welcome and assist in the initiative petition campaign effort this fall and winter to put a so-called "Oregon-type" bottle bill to a vote of the people of Nebraska in the 1978 November election.

For years farm people, especially those living near cities and along highways, have complained about the cans and bottles that have been tossed into their roadside ditches despite anti-littering laws distinguished mainly by their ineffectiveness.

A group headed by Mrs. Pat Jerrison of Lincoln and representing some 15 organizations, has adopted the name "Nebraskans for Returnable Containers" and plans to have the necessary petition forms in the hands of circulators by Sept. 1. The group has had evidence of widespread support and will seek to gather more than 50,000 signatures of registered voters between then and the deadline of July 7, 1978. A total of 31,591 valid signatures are required to put the proposed legislation on the November 1978 ballot (seven per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the last general election for governor and representing at least five per cent of the voters in 38 counties).

The group has approved the form of a bill drawn up by a member of the Legislative Council's staff. It would require a deposit at the retail point of at least five cents on all containers for beer or other malt beverages, mineral waters, soda water, and similar carbonated soft drinks in liquid form intended for human consumption.

"Every such beverage container sold or offered for sale in the state would be marked as to its refund value and dealers and distributors would be required to make the deposit refund on any such container which is empty, unbroken and reasonably clean.

The intent of the legislation as stated in the proposed bill is to create incentive for manufacturers, distributors, dealers and consumers of beverage containers to reuse or recycle them. Advocates point out that similar legislation has been enacted in a number of states, notably in Oregon and Michigan, and has proved very effective in litter control. It costs the taxpayers nothing and saves energy by encouraging the use of returnable containers with attendant conservation of materials.

Similar legislation has been proposed in the Nebraska Legislature over the past 20 years, but has never got out of committee. As one senator supporting LB 317 said in a floor debate in the 1977 Legislature in an attempt to force the bill out of committee, "Everybody seems to favor this bill except the beverage industry." Despite that, his attempt to bring the bill out of committee failed.

The simple fact is that such a law works in Oregon and Michigan, and elsewhere. People think twice about throwing the equivalent of nickels and dimes into roadside ditches to create an unsightly mess and foul up mowing machines. And kids will return to scouring their neighborhoods for returnable cans and bottles to turn in for spending money for themselves and their projects.

Despite all the adverse claims, people in Oregon and Michigan still drink beer and soft drinks. For years and years bottles washers and reused returnable bottles. There may be some shifts in employment, but reason says that employment is more likely to increase than decrease.

No, this type bill won't solve all the litter problems, but it has been proved that it will reduce the troublesome can and bottle accumulation and slow the trend of the last 20 years of "use it and throw it away because that is more convenient." The nation's roadsides, lakes, rivers and small streams are loaded with results of that psychology. — M.M. Van Kirk

More questions posed on state education aid

Wayne

Dear Editor:

In reference to "A Senator replies on LB 33" in the July 18 issue of The Wayne Herald, the writer proves himself a typical politician by spreading around a lot of figures and avoiding the real subject.

The real subject is: "Where are the finances going to come from to support public schools?" The senator avoids even mentioning LB 518 which did assure property tax relief because it eliminates all taxes on cattle, machinery, and business inventory over a three-year period. Got that, senator?

Hopefully, education will go on, so with the loss of property tax as a revenue source, I will repeat my question you wouldn't answer. Where is the revenue going to come from if you get LB 33 repealed? Doesn't the obvious answer become real estate?

You must be in favor of the increases which will be forthcoming in real estate taxes to want LB 33 repealed. I am not. I believe the sales-income tax is the fairest tax we have.

You mentioned the 1972 medium family incomes for Sarpy County ($10,999) and Wayne County ($6,741). I am glad you mentioned that because it further substantiates my claim that with a sales-income tax, the higher income people will be helping to pay their own bill instead of it all coming from real estate.

I still think the principal backers of this petition have the big share of their wealth in intangibles, which is very nearly tax free as things have been. They don't want to lose their favored status and are using this one-half cent sales tax issue as a smoke screen to keep their taxes low. They surely cannot be concerned about the average of the one-half per cent increase in sales tax bringing in 1.70 for every 1.00 needed. We understand that would be a near impossibility for the board of equalization to make an increase that would bring in exactly the amount needed: That really should be irrelevant to this issue. I am sure they did the best they could. You imply any excess, should there be any, would be wasted. If that is your intention, I hope you get out voted.

The senator takes issue with the distribution formula, saying one school gets so much more than another school. The equalization part of the formula is the part that tries to even things up. We all know school districts have not grown over the years evenly in wealth and in numbers of students. You seem to resent Bellevue getting $386.93 per pupil in equalization aid. Let me show why they need extra help.

EXAMPLE
 School District
 Omaha West Side (66)
 Bellevue

Evaluation	161,000,000
Per Pupil	50,000,000

Pupils to Educate
 9,431
 10,678

This plainly shows Bellevue has only one third the wealth of Omaha West Side but with more students to educate. (1974 education directory).

You say the Lord has been good to you. I am glad you believe in him. But if you do, how can you begrudge a little extra help going to those kids down in Bellevue? It's cheaper to pay for their education than to keep them in the state pen. I understand it costs $13,000 per man to keep a prisoner per year. How much more Christian to share in their education.

You imply this school expense money raised by sales-income is going to drive up the cost of education. I challenge you that these are two separate issues. The University and State College budgets are controlled by you legislators. The local school budgets are controlled by the local school boards. The local school boards are somewhat controlled by state mandates and laws which include the jurisdiction of the Court of Industrial Relations. These again are areas the state legislature could be of some real help in, if you so desired. Don't blame the cost of education on LB 33, it is only an instrument to obtain needed funds from some place other than real estate. If this is not true, let us know by addressing yourself to LB 518 and the real issue. We are waiting and wanting to know. — Wilbur E. Giese.

Adviser responds to questions on welfare

Tax reform, welfare reform and additional government reorganization measures will be proposed by the Carter Administration by fall, according to the President's chief adviser on domestic affairs, Stuart Eizenstat.

These initiatives were listed by Mr. Eizenstat in the course of a 40-minute interview with him in the Executive Offices. Our wide-ranging discussion also touched on White House staff operating methods, Social Security financing, energy policy, regulatory reform, and undocumented aliens.

I will report today Mr. Eizenstat's comments on welfare reform, which were among the most detailed he made. Space does not permit an adequate summation of the entire interview here, but for those who would like to see more of it, a longer account will appear in the August issue of Nation's Business magazine and on our television program Enterprise.

Q. Tell us a little more about the Administration's objectives in welfare reform.

A. Our objectives, first of all, are to try to handle the crazy quilt of regulations and differences from state to state.

The uniform payments, for example, to be financed partially by the states and partially by the federal government would be an enormous benefit over the current differences between states. For example, Hawaii pays almost $7,000 for a family of four on AFDC. Mississippi pays in the $1,500 range.

Those types of disparities are really not conducive to the type situation we'd like to have in this country. So uniformity is one. Simplicity is a second. Dick, because in our review of the welfare programs we have found that food stamps, AFDC, Medicaid, SSI, each have different eligibility standards. Some people qualify for some, some for another.

Q. That's an important point. When you talk about welfare reform, you're talking about all of those?

A. That's correct.

Q. Plus unemployment compensation perhaps?

A. To a degree, but mostly the ones that I've just mentioned. We'd like to build uniform eligibility standards in. A third thing that we would like to do is we'd like to put those people who are on welfare and are able to work to work so that it would never be more attractive and more financially beneficial to stay on welfare than it would be to work. We want people to have an incentive to work, and we've geared a system with our benefit reductions so that that can occur.

And then the last goal of our welfare system is a goal that attempts to achieve a job for as many people as possible, but that stresses (private employment) through a formula that we have devised that will make it more attractive to go into private jobs than to take public jobs; so that there will always be a positive incentive to move from the public service job into the private sector work, where the real permanent jobs that we want to create exist.

Q. Those incentives don't seem to be here today.

A. They are not. In fact, just to the contrary. Indeed, one of the additional goals that I might mention in the welfare area is the goal of keeping families intact. There is currently a disincentive in that regard in many states. Indeed, fathers are often encouraged to leave their homes so that their families can get increased benefits.

So there are all sorts of improper incentives to family stability, to work to private sector jobs in the existing system, and this is what we're trying to alleviate. — Richard Leshner, Chamber of Commerce.

District 17 state senator pens a reply

South Sioux City

Dear Editor:

Once upon a time, in the kingdom of Nebraska, there lived a magician whose name was "State Aid." He dwelt in the far-off city of Lincoln. This magician, like Rumpelstiltskin, was able to spin straw into gold.

And it came to pass, as this myth spread about the realm that the citizens of Nebraska who were sore oppressed by the rapidly increasing costs of their educational systems, faced toward Lincoln and bowing deeply, requested a portion of this mythical gold. They offered as tribute their basic right and privilege to control and direct the education of their children. They accepted without a whimper the mandates of Rule 14 of the Department of Education (this being a department of Rumpelstiltskin's government which currently employs 749 people to carry out their many rules and regulations).

Even though this rule further increased the cost of their school system and mandated that the local schools would comply explicitly with these specific programs or they would be barred from operating a common school and would forfeit all right to any of the mythical gold of the magician "State Aid."

If the children are watching, please send them to bed, because at this point, I must state that there is no Santa Claus — there is no Easter Bunny and there is no magical State Aid. The only gold that flows from the far-off city of Lincoln is what is left of the taxes collected from the people of this state after deducting the inordinate expense of bureaucratic handling and subservient compliance with regulations prior to entitlement.

To put consideration of funding through state taxes into a proper perspective, let's identify some of the basic assumptions related to LB 33.

One, by funding in this manner, the cost of education in the state of Nebraska will be reduced; Absolutely not — if anything it may well increase as evidenced by the present concern over preparing two school budgets, one contingent upon receiving the state taxes and the other, less expensive, based on what the local taxpayers will accept as a reasonable increase in cost.

Two, it will provide a better education for the children; Absolutely not — LB 33 says nothing about improved measurement of student abilities — nothing about corrective methodology of teaching nor improvement of educational processes nor one word about evaluating the professional abilities of the teachers in order to bring about a better delivery of education to the student.

Three, it will equalize educational opportunities for the students throughout Nebraska; It most certainly will not. As an example, the Bellevue school system which offers one of the finest curriculum in the state (three foreign languages, etc.) will receive $378 per student from Rumpelstiltskin's treasury, while Winside's school system will receive a meager $176 per student with a far more restrictive curriculum. I fail to see the equality of educational opportunity under any such program.

Four, limitations will be placed on the spiraling costs of education in the face of declining student enrollment; Absolutely not — the feigned approach to such a limitation contained in Section 9 of LB 33 has been declared unconstitutional by the Attorney General in a previous opinion, and also can be negated by simply holding a public hearing to announce that the local budget increase will exceed the limits specified — there being no obligation on the part of the school board to respond to the wishes of the public in attendance at such a public hearing — window dressing, nothing more.

Five, the implementation of this law will reduce the tax burden on the property owner. This can only be true, if you own a great deal of property and are extremely poor at the same time. That's rather an illogical situation at best. A more realistic concept of the effect of this bill is that the same people will pay the same amount of tax in a slightly different manner, and that is really the name of this game. Belatedly the taxpayer is coming to realize the tremendous cost of his various levels of government — the largest of which is education. Belatedly he is starting to look about and demand an accounting of the expenditures. The taxes he can identify are those which are enumerated as county mill levies. However, if the proposal in LB 33 is sustained, he will be far less aware of the total cost of education. He will not allocate to education the proportionate share of his sales tax as he is nicked and dined to death with every purchase he makes; nor will he allocate to education the proportionate share of his income tax which is withheld and never passes through his hands. That is the heart and soul of this fable of Rumpelstiltskin.

It is the old philosophy that "what they don't know, won't hurt 'em." It is said that the ostrich when endangered buries his head in the sand and follows the same philosophy. It is obvious that when in this position, there is only one part of the ostrich exposed and the taxpayers who would join him in every, very vulnerable. — John R. Murphy, state senator, District 17.

OBSERVATIONS

A victory for all

The Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star edition carried a front page analysis by Andy Montgomery of what was done by a group of legislators dubbed the "Outlaw 50" in pushing through an amendment in the House for higher farm support prices: $2 for corn and $2.90 for wheat.

Six Congressmen are singled as leaders of the movement to gain support for the movement, including Charles Thone, Nebraska's First District Representative.

The coalition included Nebraska's other Representatives, Republican Virginia Smith from the Third District; and Democrat John Cavanaugh from the Second.

According to Montgomery's report, the 50 legislators defied the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, broke through party lines and geographical rivalries, and end-ran Administration pressure. They even gained the support of the Consumer Federation of America, often viewed as anti-agriculture.

The Agricultural Act of 1977 will be resolved now in conference committee, but whatever happens, the price supports will not go below the prices in the House bill.

The action represents a victory for agricultural interests, to be sure, but in a sense, it also represents a victory for everyone.

Why? Because it demonstrates that our system of government, ponderous and frustrating as it can be at times, does work. Congressmen from both parties, varying backgrounds, and several states, worked together to beat the odds and get approval for a controversial issue, which they felt best represented the interests of their constituents.

Too often it seems that government is not responsive to the needs of people, particularly those of us who live in less populous states. And it is easy to lose touch with what our elected representatives are doing. It's nice to know they were "back there" in Washington, hustling to gain approval for an issue of vital interest to the state. — Jim Strayer.

Talking Becomes Topic at Weekly Kiwanis Meeting

Talking became the topic Monday for four 4-H'ers at the weekly Kiwanis Club meeting.

Tod Manutak, Barbara Svoboda, Barbara Wichman and Bruce Wichman are all members of the newly-formed 4-H Ambassador Club which specializes on one thing — talking.

Any 4-H'er who wins a purple ribbon in the annual Wayne County Timely Topic speech contest held every April and is willing to give a speech before a group is allowed to join the club, said Wayne County extension agent Don Spitzer.

The 11-member group focuses its talks on 4-H projects they have been working on during their years as a 4-H'er. The talks last anywhere from two minutes to eight a half minutes and are free for the public to hear. "All you need to do to obtain a speaker is either contact the Wayne County extension office, 375-3310, and we'll make the arrangements," Spitzer added.

Manutak's talk centered on his choice of a lamb project over a calf project he chose to enter in the fair. His choice proved right as he won a purple ribbon.

Barbara Svoboda filled her speech, "The Miracle Organization," referring to 4-H, while Barbara Wichman, in her speech "A year in 4-H," talked about how she learned to be brave and gentle. Her brother, Bruce, outlined his "Beginning Year in 4-H" by noting that 4-H is a lot of hard work, but it's also filled with good times and chances of making new friends.

UN-L Veterinary Department Moves Into New Facility

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Veterinary Science's move to new facilities is expected to result in considerable improvement in its diagnostic, teaching, research and extension programs, according to Department chairman Dr. Earl Dickinson.

"The relocation from the old complex is now complete and classes will be held at the new facilities beginning in August," he said.

The four-building complex, on the east edge of UN-L's East Campus, includes a veterinary diagnostic center, research and teaching labs, animal housing facilities and a holding building. "The animal housing building is the most sophisticated facility in the complex," he said. He estimated that there are about 76 isolation rooms, with animal capacity varying with the type of animal. It is equipped to handle almost any type of animal.

He added that although the veterinary diagnostic center has been completed since 1975, the other building openings were delayed six to eight months due to mechanical difficulties. They were originally slated for completion by January, 1977.

He noted that while all major construction on the $8 million complex has been completed, there are still a "few wrinkles to work out."

He said that he expected that expansion, as well as improvement, will occur in respiratory and enteric (intestinal) research two of UN-L's specialty areas. "There will be some additional faculty, along with the new facilities and additional resources," he said.

He added that the staff of the diagnostic center will try to identify any diseases referred to them.

He said that he was "very proud" of the structure and glad to be moved into it.

"The only problem with the move was the delay and disruption of the lab work," he said.

NE Station

Field Day Set

For Aug. 30

The University of Nebraska Northeast Station Field Day will be Aug. 30, according to district director Cal Ward.

A new feature of the 1977 Field Day will be a special program for women, in addition to tours of the various research projects.

Tours of research projects in soil fertility, crop varieties, weed control, insect control, beef cattle feeding, and swine housing and management will begin at 10 a.m. and run until mid-afternoon. Lunch will be available on the grounds and everyone interested is invited to attend.

FFA Picnic Sunday

The Allen FFA chapter will hold its annual picnic and tractor driving contest Sunday afternoon.

The picnic will be held at the village park and the contest will be on the high school grounds.

Dixon Lass Attends Ag Institute

ANNA BORG of Dixon was one of many youths across the state who attended the sixth annual Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute in Lincoln. The week-long program featured such speakers as former national FFA officer Fred McClure, communications chairman for Women for the Survival of Agriculture Laura Heuser and former Minnesota commissioner of Agriculture Dr. Jon Welfad.

Art Prints on Display

Six hundred original prints by famous masters and those not yet famous, will be on exhibit at Wayne State College today (Thursday) from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The exhibit and sale is brought to Wayne by Ferdinand Roter Art Galleries, Baltimore, Md., and will be held in the lobby of the Vai Peterson Fine Arts Center. The public is invited to buy or browse.

Hints Offered on Hotline Use

The irrigation scheduling hotlines which have been established in Northeast Nebraska present the following information, said irrigation specialist George Morin.

Actual consumptive use for the most recent time period.
—State if this represents above average, or below average water use; and.
—Average consumptive use for the next time period.

All of these pieces of information are helpful in scheduling irrigation, Morin said. The actual consumptive use figures can be used to predict actual soil moisture conditions. The average consumptive use can be used to project soil moisture conditions. However, the most important information provided by the hotline is the comparison of actual to average or normal consumptive use.

If actual use by the crop is below normal then irrigation may be delayed or omitted. If actual use is above normal then an irrigation should begin earlier.

The most effective method for using hotline information is to use the checkbook approach. The moisture in the bank, irrigation and precipitation are deposits, and crop use is a withdrawal. Therefore, it is possible to use the following relationship to predict soil moisture in storage: Soil moisture (today) equals Soil moisture (previous) plus irrigation and precipitation, minus consumptive use.

The most convenient method for using this information is to develop a form. Sample forms are available from the Northeast Station at Concord, the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District at Norfolk, or from county agents. There is no set form to use because individuals must understand the information and should develop their own, Morin said.

More Ag Students Needed

Despite increasing numbers of students entering agriculture and natural resources fields since 1965, it will be difficult to meet a predicted national need of 50 per cent more trained agriculturists in 1985.

This word came from Dr. Martin Messengale, vice chancellor for agriculture and natural resources at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, speaking at the fourth annual Farm and Industries Directors' Conference in session in Estes Park, Colo. on Friday.

Following a shift away from agricultural education in the period 1950-1965, the pendulum has swung back to increased enrollments not only in traditional fields such as animal science and agronomy, but with even greater increases in relatively new fields such as food technology and horticulture, the UN-L administrator said.

Studies clearly show a high correlation between the educational level of farm couples and their success in farm and ranch management, in terms of on-farm net incomes, Dr. Messengale said. The educational level of farmers and ranchers has been increasing over the years, and in general, data show that those operators with the greatest income—and usually the largest units—have gone further in school, he added.

However, beyond our economics, the upsurge in interests in agriculture and natural resources may stem in large part from a growing concern about the environment and quality of life, the Nebraska educator told the Farmland Industries' directors.

"While many other fields have been saturated on the job market in recent years, the demand for agricultural students — either college-trained or technical school-trained — has remained high," Dr. Messengale said.

Yard Plants Need Weekly Inch

Most yard and garden plants need at least an inch of water per week for normal growth and maintenance. On an average, July gets no more than an inch of rain for the entire month. A watering program should be started that will help plants get through July and August without suffering greatly.

To get the best use out of the water, plants should be watered heavier but less frequently. At least an inch of water should be applied during each watering, then four or five days should go by before the next watering. This allows for deeper water penetration into the soil, plus deeper and healthier root systems. If plants are watered every day for short periods of time, the water doesn't have a chance to penetrate deeply, therefore causing shallow root systems. Then when the weather gets dry the roots won't be able to support the plant and the plant dies. This is true of yard plants as well as garden plants.

Probably the most effective way to slow evaporation is by using mulches. By using six to eight inches of mulch over the garden area, the soil surface is shaded, which reduces water loss plus suppresses most weeds.

Several materials are recommended as mulches. The most widely used is wheat straw. Old hay can be used as well as sawdust. Most people have grass clippings and these work well too. Do not use grass clippings that have been treated with 2,4-D or other herbicides on garden crops or other broadleaf ornamentals, however. The chemicals that may remain in the clippings could damage plants.

Even though it's hot, the time is right now to plant a fall garden. When crops mature in cool weather it tends to encourage crispness; sweet flavor, and other desirable characteristics in vegetables. Fall vegetables require relatively small space and can be planted in an area formerly used for an earlier crop. In addition, seed germinates quickly in the soil and weeds are less of a problem.

Most fall vegetables are cool season crops grown for the foliage or roots. Cucumbers should be started by now statewide. Radishes, carrots and turnips should be planted July 10th in the west and July 20th in the east. Lettuce, mustard and spinach can be started around July 15 in the west and July 25 in the eastern part of the state.

The smallest continent is the Australian mainland, with an area of about 2,940,000 square miles.

THE PLEASANT VALLEY 4-H Club of Carroll won the theme booth competition at the Wayne County fair with their entry "Get Fired Up, Join 4-H" (left). Other purple ribbon winners were the Cloverettes Club entry (center). "For Smooth Sailing, Try 4-H" and the Springbranch club booth (right) "We're Nuts About 4-H." Blue ribbons were awarded to the Gingham Gals; Hi-Raters; Leslie Livewires, Wayne Peppy Pals, and Southside Dairy clubs. Red ribbons went to the Carrolliners, Combination Kids, Deer Creek Valley, Hoskins-Ramblers, Leslie Lassies, and Modern Misses.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreifels

REDUCE ENERGY CONSUMPTION

The oil embargo and the resulting energy shortages in 1973 caused residential fuels and gasoline prices to increase sharply. Many households have made adjustments to reduce fuel and gasoline consumption and thereby keep the family budget somewhat balanced.

USDA Economic Research Service has conducted a study to determine the adjustments households have made as a result of higher energy prices. Three-fourths of the respondents had made some sort of conservation attempt. Lighting and heating were the most common adjustments made. About 21 per cent reduced the use of the air conditioner during the warm summer months. Only 9 per cent indicated they curtailed the use of energy-using recreational Items such as TV sets, radios and stereos.

Higher energy prices influenced 16 per cent of all households to reduce use of clothes dryers. Temperatures on hot water heaters were lowered in 14 per cent of the households.

In the kitchen the most common adjustment was to reduce the use of ovens. Many households also reported reducing the use of small electrical appliances, and one-third of the households with dishwashers reduced the use of this appliance.

Many households also reported adjustments in shopping practices. Some reported making fewer shopping trips and others reported shifting their food purchasing to stores located closer to their home to reduce gasoline consumption and travel costs.

Tarnows Visit Colorado

The Emil Tarnows flew to Glenwood Springs, Colo. July 18 and returned July 25 with Arnold Brudigam who had been visiting there.

They visited the Les and Lloyd Brudigam families and Rev. and Mrs. Harold Kleck and family at Glenwood Springs, and the Alford Jensens of Grand Junction, Colo.

On their return home they were coffee guests of Esther Worth of Dalton. They also toured the Black Hills and other places in South Dakota.

Papillon were visitors this week in the Fred and Herman Utech homes.

Vacation Ends

The Don Dolphs and Kraig Dolph returned home Saturday after a two and a half week vacation.

They visited the Robert Dolph family, Broomfield, Colo., and accompanied them to Scottsdale, Ariz., where they visited friends, and to California to visit the Jerry Dolph family of Morgan Hill, Calif.

They toured Disneyland and many other places of interest.

Indiana Guests

The Robert Bakers and Tana of Evansville, Ind., were guests the past week in the Kenneth Baker home.

Visiting them during the week were the Bill Baker family of Norfolk, the Emil Mullers, Marcee Muller of Techumseh, the Terry Bakers and Karl, the Clarence Bakers, Mrs. Louie Hansen and Erwin Baker.

An employe of Kuhn's Department Store, Rose DeTurk of Wayne, is the latest winner in the Birthday Bucks promotion.

The 21-year-old lass was working at Kuhn's last Thursday night when she discovered her birth date of May 16, 1956 was about a month away from the June 13th winning date drawn by her boss, Clarence Kuhn. She received the $25 consolation any way.

The $750 grand prize will be given away when some lucky shopper matches his or her birth date with the date drawn at random by a downtown merchant or employe and announced at 8:15 p.m.

Tonight (Thursday) another drawing will be held.

It is now generally believed that seals with their human-like faces were the factual basis for stories about mermaids.

Wayne Scouts
Learn About
Leathercraft

MEMBERS OF Boy Scout Troop 174 look on with interest as Wayne State College instructor Anton Netherda explains leathercraft procedures. These Scouts are working on their leatherwork merit badge. Scoutmaster Robert Carhart said that the boys got interested in the craft at camp. When they returned assistant scoutmaster Dave Kelly suggested that they might be able to use the leathercraft facility at Benhook Hall to further their skills. Netherda, who is in charge of the facility, offered his help. Netherda (top) shows how impressions are made on leather. He explains lacing techniques (above).
