Rights Conference First On Public Affairs Agenda

A conference on the impact of President Carter's human rights foreign policy will be held Oct. 19, in the Fine Arts Building at Wayne State College.

Morning panel discussions dealing with "what role morally has played in the formation of foreign policy" will begin at 10:30. Afternoon sessions, beginning at 1:30, will consider the areas of success or failure of President Carter's human rights policies.

A number of officials will participate in the conference, sponsored by the WSC Public Affairs Institute. Senators Edward Zorinsky of Nebraska and Dick Clark of Iowa are scheduled to attend.

Dr. Sandra Vogelgesang, a member of the U.S. State Department's policy planning staff, which deals with human rights, will be a featured panelist.

Val Peterson, former state governor and ambassador to Denmark under the late President Eisenhower and to Finland under President Nixon, will participate on the panels.

Dean Norman Nordstrand, who served in foreign service for 20 years, including service under Gov. Peterson in Denmark, will also participate.

Other panelists will include Dr. James Phifer, Anglo-American history specialist, and Dr. Richard Super of Creighton University, who performed special research on human rights in Chile during the Marxist rule of President Allende.

Allen O'Donnell, associate professor of political science and director of the conference, said the human rights discussion "is one of the finest programs the Institute has initiated in its three years."

Other conferences on public policy and energy are planned for the 1977-78 school year at WSC. The conferences are open free for public participation.

Loan Approved for Dixon

Efforts to improve the emergency water situation at Dixon are a step closer to being completed, but not close enough, said village chairman John Young.

The village has received approval for a $46,000 loan from Farmers Home Administration and a $45,000 grant from the state, but that state grant is not available yet.

Because of a change in fiscal years, Young said, the state doesn't have enough money to complete its bargain of the grant. As a result, the village is stymied as far as repairing its water main system.

Two weeks ago Dixon was in serious trouble trying to supply residents with needed water when a 51-year-old standby well broke down. However, a crew from Salmon Well Co. of Wakefield had the system working in four hours.

"We are getting by but the condition now is that the pump we are using isn't adequate for hot weather or fires," Young pointed out.

Hopes are that the village will receive the go ahead from the state in the near future so work may begin on building a water main, fire hydrants and well repairs. The village intends to have the work completed by April of next year.

Student Is Candidate for Music Post

When Kris Larsen, a sophomore at Wayne State College, attended the country school in Verdigre, she and her other classmates never dreamed Kris would some day be a chairman of a national organization.

Kris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Larsen of Verdigre, said she now has a good chance of being elected Nebraska chapter's student chairman of the Music Educator's National Conference (MENC). The group of about 64,000 promotes music education throughout the United States.

"It all depends on how the student members of the chapters vote," she said. "I think I have as good a chance as any."

The state chairman is required to have a music background, organize conventions and oversee student member activities in Nebraska Colleges, Nationally, about 20,000 students are members.

Kris Larsen, a music major at WSC, said she has a good background for the position. She is active in Wayne State's concert and marching bands, orchestra, jazz-rock ensemble, brass ensemble, choir, plays trombone and is treasure of Tau Beta Sigma (honorary band society).

She first started her music career at Niobrara high school. She had attended a country school until the 8th grade, graduated (a class of two) and started playing trombone at Niobrara in the 9th grade.

"I was the only trombone player in high school," she said. "That was the reason I started playing it. Here at WSC I have

Bureau to Sample Education Trends

A sample of households in the Wayne area will take part in an annual survey on education to be taken the week of Oct. 17-22 by the Bureau of the Census.

Richard Burt, director of the bureau's regional office in Denver, says that interviewers will visit homes to obtain information about the number of school years completed by household members. There will also be questions about current school enrollment at all levels from nursery school through college. This information is used to measure current trends in education and to determine the need for additional or expanded educational facilities.

The questions on education will be in addition to those asked regularly in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in August the survey indicated that of the 97.7 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 90.8 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 7.1 per cent, up from 6.9 per cent in July but substantially below the recession peak of 8.9 per cent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

About 70,000 households across the country, scientifically selected to represent a cross section of American households, take part in this monthly survey. All information provided the bureau is confidential by law and can be published only as statistical totals in which no individual or household can be identified.

Burning With Enthusiasm

THE ANNUAL Wayne High homecoming parade was rained out Friday afternoon but fans and students made up for the inconvenience with a caravan, led by this fire engine, just before the coronation of the homecoming king and queen at 7 p.m. "Burn the Dragons" is the slogan of the fire engine banner, and the Blue Devils did just that, scoring a touchdown with 46 seconds left on the clock to win the contest 12-6.

'Absurd Person Singular' Opens WSC Theater Season

Wayne State College will open the 1977-78 theatre season on Sunday, Oct. 16 with the comedy production "Absurd Person Singular" by Alan Ayckbourn.

Performances will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. and Oct. 17 and 18 at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre in the Fine Arts Building.

The play, under the direction of Dr. Helen Russell, takes a long, hard — yet hilarious — look at today's society. The three scenes take place on three successive Christmas Eves in the three kitchens of the couples involved.

The first "lower class" couple made up of a fanatic house cleaner and her "wheeler-dealer" businessman husband begin the entertaining.

The other couples include an architect, whose buildings collapse, and his wife who keeps attempting suicide, entertaining in their untidy, neglected flat and a banker, who isn't content, and his alcoholic wife entertaining in their Victorian style kitchen.

Adding to the disastrous party scenes is the advance of the "little guy" to the top while the others decline to the bottom level.

Reserve seat tickets are available in advance today (Monday) through Friday, and Oct. 17 and 18 from 1-5 p.m. in the box office at Ramsey Theatre. The price is $2.50. Season tickets for the college performances during the 1977-78 year may be purchased at a 20 per cent discount over the single admission price. All seats are reserved. Students and faculty will be admitted free with a college identification card. Group rates are also available. Reservations may be made by calling 375-2200, extension 234.

Forensic Squad's First Outing Is Successful

The Wayne State College forensic squad began its year of competition successfully at the Kearney State College Forensics Tournament on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

The novice debate team of Aaron Hilkeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hilkeman of Norfolk, and Joe Hiem, son of Auburn, Iowa, won an award as finalists (between eighth and sixteenth place). About 24 teams competed in the events and competition included novice and varsity teams from Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

WSC was also represented by four students in individual

A pre-trial hearing in Cedar County district court Thursday in the case of Richard Hander, charged with first degree murder, was continued until Oct. 20.

The pre-trial hearing is scheduled to clarify the issues in the case and to act upon any pre-trial motions before the case is tried.

Hander, 53, of Laurel, is charged with first degree murder in the May 16 shooting death of Howard Drayer, 53, also of Laurel.

Hander was bound over the district court June 15 following a preliminary hearing in Cedar County court. He is being held without bond in the Cedar County jail.

The Oct. 20 pre-trial conference is scheduled for 10 a.m. No trial date has been set.

ARC Meets Tonight

The Wayne County Association of Retarded Citizens will meet tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. at the adult workshop at 706 Logan Street in Wayne.

The meeting is open to the public.

Pork Producers Seek Candidates

The Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers are seeking candidates for the pork queen contest to be held the afternoon of Nov. 6 at Wayne State College.

Candidates must be single and between the ages of 16 and 19 as of January 1978. They must be the daughter of parents who produce pork and live in Dakota, Dixon, Thurston or Wayne County. A two to five minute oral essay will be required.

Deadline for entering the contest is Oct. 29. Anyone interested in entering should contact Mrs. Francis Lusler of Hubbard at 632-4635 or Mrs. Larry Daum of Emerson at 695-2166.

The association's annual awards banquet will be held at the WSC Student Center, also on Nov. 6.

Northeast Station Swine Specialist:

Quantity Emphasized on Soviet Farms

Agriculture in the Soviet Union operates on a scale that dwarfs the family farm still dominant in the United States, but without incentives offered by free enterprise, quality control is lacking, often resulting in a product Americans would consider inferior.

Dr. Robert Fritschen made that observation Friday following his return from a month-long tour of Soviet Union farming operations.

Fritschen, an Extension Service swine specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord, was part of a three-man U.S. Department of Agriculture scientific team making the tour under auspices of a scientific exchange program.

The team leader, who selected the other members, was Dr. Howard Teague, director of the USDA division which provides funds for swine nutrition research. The third member of the team was Ron Miner, head of the Oregon State University agricultural engineering division.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritschen left Nebraska Aug. 26 for a visit in Detroit where they were the guests of the American Motors Corp (see related story). Mrs. Fritschen returned home and Fritschen flew to Washington where he met briefly with USDA officials before continuing to Copenhagen where he spent two days. He made one more stop, at Stockholm, before flying to Leningrad.

The purpose of the team's visit was to study large swine confinement feeding operations in the Soviet Union and to study swine and dairy waste disposal technology.

Soviet officials in 1971 declared a policy of industrializing its agriculture, Fritschen said, and the confinement operations, feeding 108,000 or more swine a year, are a result.

The Soviet people are warm and friendly, Fritschen said, but cannot comprehend the concept of the family farm. Private enterprise in Soviet farming is minimal. Farm workers are allotted one acre as their own and allowed to sell the produce from it, Fritschen said. Although those one-acre plots account for a small percentage of land under tillage they grow 37 per cent of the nation's produce.

Large collective farms are privately operated with members sharing in profits, Fritschen said, but they are a far cry from the American family farm. The swine specialist compared them to Hutterite collectives he saw while growing up in South Dakota; but on a much larger scale — some with as many as 1,500 families in three or four villages totaling 20,000 acres.

The trend in Soviet agriculture, encouraged by official policy, is toward state farms. Collective farms produce their own grain and must finance any capital improvements from the profit on produce, which must be sold to the state.

State farms are financed by the government. Grain for the feeding operations is purchased from the state, and workers are state employees with regular hours. Fritschen said the lack of personal incentive often results in poor quality control.

"The attitude seems to be that nothing belongs to anyone, so who cares," he observed.

"The political system can't be separated from agriculture or any other industry, he said, although there are advantages in adopting technology in accordance with state policy. State farms, for example, receive the best educated people, those with the doctorate degrees, Fritschen said. "Few Russians receive PhD's before they are 38 or 40 years old," he added. "In the sciences, they can compete with anyone in the world."

He also said the educational system is geared to produce people with skills which fit government policies. Since the 1971 decision to industrialize farming, Russian schools have been educating zoological technicians — zo-techs — with masters degree-level education, many in veterinary medicine. Zo-techs working on a state farm usually see SOVIET, page 10

Concord to Get AMC Concord

Bob Fritschen, chairman of the Concord village board, or "mayor" of the town, and Mrs. Fritschen were the guests of the American Motors Corp. in Detroit before the swine specialist began a tour of farms in the Soviet Union.

American Motors during the last week in August unveiled a new model, the Concord, and the mayors of 13 American cities sharing the name were special guests for the event.

In addition, each of the communities will receive a Concord to use for a year. Fritschen Friday said the auto is scheduled to arrive in Concord on Oct. 15. No decision has been made on how it will be used, but Fritschen said he will recommend that the community's two churches share it.

"I'm just glad the British and French decided to spell the name of their supersonic transport (the Concorde) with an 'e.' I don't know what we would have done with an airplane," Fritschen quipped.

Large collective farms are privately operated with members sharing in profits, Fritschen said, but they are a far cry from the American family farm. The swine specialist compared them to Hutterite collectives he saw while growing up in South Dakota; but on a much larger scale — some with as many as 1,500 families in three or four villages totaling 20,000 acres.

Farmers Night Speaker Named

An Iowa radio commentator will be the guest speaker for the sixth annual Wayne Chamber of Commerce Farmers Appreciation Night, scheduled for Oct. 29.

The keynote speaker will be Eddie Collins of Red Oak, Iowa, known for his commentary on the beef industry and markets.

Wayne veterinarian Dr. Ken Liska, chairman for the dinner, encouraged local farmers to register to attend the dinner. Registration forms are available at participating Wayne merchants. The registration deadline is Oct. 24.

The annual event is sponsored by Wayne merchants in appreciation of the contribution made by farmers in Northeast Nebraska. About 400 farmers and businessmen attended the dinner last year.

This year's dinner, at the Wayne State College student center, will be preceded by a social hour at the Wayne fire hall.

Council to Act on Salary

The Wayne city council is scheduled to act on an ordinance to set the city administrator's salary at their Tuesday night meeting.

The item had originally been scheduled for the meeting held two weeks ago, but action was deferred pending further consideration by a committee appointed to study the matter. City administrator Fred Brink is now paid $21,900 annually.

City clerk Bruce Mordhorst will report to the council regarding a planning commission recommendation against rezoning requested by Mrs. Anna Swinney.

She had requested that four acres at the west end of Third Street be rezoned from A-1 (agricultural) to R-2, which permit multiple family dwellings. Mrs. Swinney's attorney said at the planning commission meeting she has an opportunity to sell an acre of land to a concern interested in building a 24-unit apartment building. The commission voted to recommend against the zoning request. The council, which will make a final decision on the matter, will consider it during a hearing at its Oct. 25 meeting, Mordhorst said.

Dave Ewing is scheduled to speak to the council about a State Department of Roads proposal to widen Seventh Street to four lanes. Ewing has previously said he will ask the council to reconsider its endorsement of the project.

Other items for discussion or action include cable television service in Wayne, an ordinance which would make the senior citizens center subject to council control similar to city departments, an ordinance to create a storm sewer improvement district in the Roosevelt Park area, codification of city ordinances, and city water billings.

Man Sentenced As Accessory In Burglary

Darrell D. Allvin of Wayne was sentenced to 18 months probation Wednesday in Wayne County district court, on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in an April 2 burglary at the NU Tavern in Wayne.

Allvin had originally been charged with two counts of burglary, one at the tavern and another at Logan Valley Implement in Wayne.

He pleaded not guilty to both charges on July 6. An amended petition was filed Sept. 7 as the result of plea bargaining, dropping the burglary counts and charging him with accessory after the fact in the NU Tavern case.

According to the petition, Allvin said the burglaries were committed by Terry Biggerstaff and that Allvin had concealed knowledge of the felonies.

Biggerstaff was convicted Aug. 3 in the NU Tavern burglary and the second count was dismissed. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

In addition to 18 months probation, Allvin was sentenced to serve 14 days in the county jail and ordered to make restitution of $383.

PSC Gives Okay To Secure Loan

The Nebraska Public Service Commission has granted permission for the Eastern Nebraska Telephone Co. to secure a $2.6 million loan from the U.S. Rural Electrification Administration to install 310 miles of buried cable.

The line would service a number of the companies customers including Carroll, Belden, Macy, Meadow Grove, Osmond, Rosalie, Walthill and Winnebago.

Modifications are also planned in Carroll, Belden, Meadow Grove, and Osmond, including new digital switching equipment.

Work in Macy, Rosalie, Winnebago and Walthill will begin during the second quarter of 1979, with work in the other communities scheduled to begin in the third quarter and conclude in 1980.

Planetarium Reveals Mysteries of Outer Space

The possibility of life in outer space, the makeup of the "Star of Christmas," mysteries of outer space and man's relation to the physical universe will all be examined during the 1977-78 school year at Wayne State College Planetarium.

The planetarium, located in the Carhart Science Center at Wayne State, used a dome-shaped screen, star projectors, special effect projectors and sound systems to blend art and science. Shows run at 3:30 p.m. Sundays through May 14. All shows are open free to the public.

The first show, entitled "The Loneliness Factor," examines the chemical forms of life spread throughout the universe. The show questions the possible reactions of extra-terrestrial beings to the first messages

Oct. 2 and will continue through Nov. 20.

The "Star of Christmas" will run Nov. 30 through Dec. 21. The show will tour the winter sky, filled with the brightest stars that can be seen with the unaided eye. The planetarium will act as a time machine, traveling back 2,000 years, examining the events relating to the "Star of Christmas." This show will also be presented at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

A seven-segment show on the mysteries of outer space will run Jan. 22 through March 12. Topics including "The Strange Rays from Space," "The Lunguska Incident," "Quandry of the Quasars" and "The Continuing Case of the UFO's" will be covered.

The final show, "Man and the Universe," will run April 2 through May 14. Different combinations of matter, energy, space and time that form creations in the universe will be examined. This show will not be presented April 30.

Student conduct criticized

Wayne
Dear Editor: Certainty the morals and respect that were displayed by the students at the evening of the Informative meeting in Wayne Saturday, Oct. 1 are not the moral values of most of the parents of those students.

One spokesman for the students' group told us she was an atheist and wanted no one to change her values. She told us also that they weren't told about contraceptives there would be many pregnant girls in Wayne.

Several of the students who were insisting they should be privileged as adults told those in charge of the meeting "There is nothing in this film that we have not seen in the backseats of our cars." These were boys and girls. Did only girls see the film?

If the group of approximately 40 students were all seniors it should tell us all that churches, parents and schools must pull together to clean up activities, attitudes and values of those whom we have been commanded to bring up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

Ministers: Some of your children and some of your youth group leaders were among the rudest and most disgraceful acting at this meeting. Do we teach seriously moral absolutes?

Teachers: There are several Wayne High teachers with extremely high moral and patriotic values and do their best to instill these values in their classrooms. Hats off. Then there are those who talk and joke all too much about the "keggers" they know the students attend. Too much talk of beer drinking, etc., is done in some classrooms. Can students not be taught restraint and respect during all hours at school, in the halls, classrooms and grounds.

Schoolboards: You have an awesome responsibility if you embark on a sex education program of any kind.

Parents: Are you upholding your obligations? Are you there when your children do want to talk to you? Do you know and approve of your young children parking, attending "keggers" and questionable parties such as the one west of town Saturday, Sept. 24 that lasted well past 3:30 a.m. Was your child there?

A Wayne High student council spokesman said "By the time they are seniors their values are set and nothing will change their values." If this is correct, we (city and rural) need to do a better job of teaching respect and a high standard of values in those students who are not yet seniors. And let's appreciate those students who are being respectful and morally conscientious. There are some of them too.

Times do not change toward moral decay. We the people lose sight of principles.

When one sells principles for popularity, he is bankrupt. — Concerned Parents.

Council responsiveness questioned

Wayne
Dear Editor: I am a bit apprehensive in writing this letter to the editor, since it may not be printed in its entirety. I know of an instance when the Morning Shopper had to be used to get a portion of a letter across to the public.

We have been told, by the news media, to become involved in regard to issues before the council. I tried to present my view, concerning the trash compactor, to Councilman Fuelberth and Councilwoman Filter, of our ward, only to be told how wrong I was. Having decided my opinion is of no value to them, I have tried again by voicing my feelings on another issue.

According to an article on the front page of the Wayne Herald Sept. 26, the council was expected to make a decision on the city administrator's salary. This issue was also on the agenda for that meeting of Sept. 27.

If I was not misled, many people, including myself, wrote or called one or more of the following: councilmen Mostey, Fuelberth, Hansen and mayor Decker, concerning this issue. I stated my reasons why I thought a raise should not be granted administrator Brink. Once again, each one called, seemed to have already made up his mind, and in so many words told me I was wrong. Could this type of response be the reason so many people refuse to voice an opinion?

This council meeting was held Sept. 27. To my knowledge, the news media, evidently, did not deem it important enough to inform the public of the outcome of Ordinance No. 872 (Administrator salary) to be discussed at 9 p.m. To many of us this was a very important issue. We feel we should have been told what action was taken. If no action was taken, we should have been informed of the reason. Does the news media choose only to report things that meet with their approval?

Councilman Russell, according to council meeting reports, has fought, unsuccessfully, to try to keep a rein on unnecessary expenditure of our tax dollars. Was some of our tax money spent without the approval of the majority of the council members?

Now we say "Hats Off" to councilman Vakoc for taking the time to let people of the fourth ward express their views, on any issue or subject before the council, at a coffee to be held this Sunday (Oct. 9) at the auditorium. Now is your chance to be heard taxpayers in Ward four. If my memory serves me right, this is the only ward that has been given this opportunity. — Mrs. Willard Blecke.

Question posed

Wayne
Dear Editor: This is an open letter to the members on the Wayne County veterans service committee.

Just on what basis are you making your statement of "unsatisfactory" work? No questions or inquiries were made to his knowledge. It never was explained to him, all you did was notify him of the meeting and at this meeting you just informed him you were dismissing him. Seems very strange that after 16 years of his term in office "someone" within a few weeks can find that much against his work. If ever there was a gentleman dedicated to his fellow veterans' concern, Chris showed it by working many overtime hours.

May we also at this time say a big "thank you" to all the veterans as well as the non-veterans who in any way showed their loyalty and concern to Chris. — Mrs. Chris Bargholz.

STRAY Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Seems like there's always a lighter side, even when serious subjects are involved. Like for instance, Ray almost didn't get in to see "About Sex" with me, because someone wasn't sure she was 18. Bet they wondered what she was doing with a dirty old man like me.

The day and is even more difficult to see at night. Also, most people who are color blind — one in 12 drivers — don't see red.

Dr. Solomon came up with lime yellow as an easily identified color for fire trucks and while some tradition bound fire companies aren't too hot on the idea, the new look is catching on. (Wayne's latest fire department acquisition, for example, is yellow.)

Comments Appreciated

I would like to thank everyone for their comments on the editorial in Wednesday's paper regarding the sex education controversy in Wayne. I've never had such an overwhelming positive response to an editorial, and it's nice to know where people stand on the issue.

The Good Life

The first Nebraska Annual Social Indicators Survey conducted by the Bureau of Sociological Research and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln show that Nebraskans apparently really are living the "Good Life." At least the report shows Cornhuskers are happier than Americans in general.

A total of 1,877 adults were interviewed and 41 per cent said they are very happy when asked if they are very happy, pretty happy, or not too happy. Only 34 per cent said "very happy" in a national survey. Also, 12 per cent nationally said they were not too happy, compared with six per cent in Nebraska.

cent of the people in the nation were satisfied.

The difference between Nebraska and the nation is not as great for leisure time activities: 85 per cent of the Nebraska sample was satisfied with the ways they spend their spare time, and the nation as a whole is only slightly behind with 80 per cent. The difference is small enough that it could be due to sampling error.

Finally, 88 per cent of Nebraska adults are satisfied with the community in which they live, according to the survey, compared to 75 per cent of Americans in general.

Whore Called

"Discriminate Reader," mentioned last week in the column, did call me at home, and I thank him for that. Sometimes I'm accused of being an old bear, but I'm usually willing to listen to complaints, and offer an explanation if there is one, or take my lumps if there isn't.

Nebraskans were asked about their satisfaction with four areas of their lives: amount of education, their job, how to spend free time, and the community in which they live.

Among the sample, 69 per cent of Nebraskans were satisfied with their education, compared with 56 per cent nationally. Ninety-one per cent were satisfied with their jobs, while only 79 per

Earthquake

Thought we were having an earthquake Wednesday afternoon when the building began to tremble, but it was just a roller going by, working on the street paving project. I just hope they don't get two of those things and decide to race them.

They say history repeats itself. Who knows, in another 50 years or so somebody may decide to repave the streets with brick. Then I can get nostalgic, telling people I watched when they put that asphalt in and it's a shame to cover it up.

Out of Old Nebraska

Before the automobile era, going away to college most frequently required a train trip, often the first such adventure for the student. Lincoln, a rail center, was the home of the state university, as well as of several church-related colleges. Most students from out-state Nebraska could reach Lincoln easily, seldom with more than one change of trains.

There were occasions in which frequent students drove their college-bound students long distances by buggy. Infrequently students rode horses to school, or pedaled in on bicycles. Rarest of all were students who walked long distances to school, and these marathons must have been undertaken as stunts, not from necessity. One such incident in 1908 was a seven-day, 190-mile "tramp" from Wilsonville in southwest Nebraska to Lincoln by Harold McComb and John Resler, who became students at Nebraska university.

The boys kept a terse log of their hike, which followed the Burlington branch line to Oxford and the main line to Lincoln. A copy of the log has been deposited at the Nebraska State Historical Society. Excerpts from the account follow, somewhat edited for readability:

"Sept. 5, 1908, left Wilsonville, 7:30 a.m. Jessie's (Mrs. Jessie McComb Hanning's) home 8:30. Arrived Beaver City 12 M. Dinner. Watermelon. Washed feet east Hollinger 4:30 in Beaver (Creek). Arrived Oxford 8 p.m. Ate lunch and went to bed. Distance 33 miles.

"Sept. 6, Left Oxford 6:30 a.m. Stopped 32.3 miles east. Dinner and washed feet in H2O tank. Ar. Holdrege 3 p.m. Dinner. Ar. Axtell 8:10.

"Sept. 7. Arrived Minden 8:50. Got shoes fixed. Ar. Heartwell 1:20. Dinner. Walked 2 mi. and rested till 4:50. Ar. Kenesaw 7:10 p.m. Supper. Stayed.

"Tuesday, Sept. 8. Left Kenesaw 6 a.m. Arrived Juniata 8:45 and ate breakfast. Ar. Hastings 11:20. Shaved and got shoes fixed. Ate dinner at Ethel Mack's. Stayed all p.m. It certainly was a Garden of Eden. Ate supper and bathed. Arrived inland 9:30 p.m. Lunch. Past (passed) Harvard on high speed and sore feet at 11:50 p.m.

"Sept. 9. Stopped 1 1/2 miles east Harvard and camped in straw pile until morning. Left straw pile 6:00 a.m. Ar. Saronville 9 a.m. Ar. Sutton 10:20 a.m. Dinner. Watermelon. Arrived 1 mile east

Sutton noon and camped in shade of cottonwood 3 hrs. Left 3 p.m. Ar. Grafton 5:25. Inquired for Jno. Martin and nothing doing. Arr. Fairmont 7:45 and ate supper. Card from Molly. Left at 8:30 Ar. Exeter on slow speed 11:25. Drink. Hit a stack of oats 3 miles east at 12:15 and fixed a bed and made a stagger at sleeping.

"Sept. 10. Arrived Friend 8:00. Ate breakfast. Ar. Dorchester 12:30. Dinner. Ar. Blue River 4:30. Washed feet. Supper at Crete. Left Crete 7 (p.m.) 9 1/2 hours hell. Arrived Denton 11:30. Arrived Lincoln 4:20 morning. Sept."

To prevent skeptics from doubting that they had walked the entire distance, the boys used several notebook pages for testimonials from persons they met along the way. The first sheet was headed: "This certifies that H. McComb and J.C. Resler were on their way to Lincoln walking when seen by undersigned, and to the best of my knowledge they walked the whole way. Dan K. Morgan, Beaver City, Nebr.

Some other entries were: "I sanction the above statement: G.R. Hannan, Hollinger, Neb. . . C.B. Grau, Mascot, Neb., 8-6-08. Mrs. M.C. Bail, Heartwell, Neb. . . Mrs. W.E. Moore, Hastings, Neb. Walker, Dorchester Hotel. . . H.E. McComb and J.C. Resler arrived at my room (Lincoln) 4:20 a.m. Fri. morning, Sept. 11. All in. D(on) C. Burns (NU student).

'Teach against sex'

Wayne
Dear Editor: After reading and listening to the arguments on sex education, I am deeply disappointed at the frankness of a sacred God-given thing.

The Bible clearly says that things done in secret are not to be mentioned in public and surely not in class rooms.

I also agree with Mr. Fred Mann that sex money should not be used for such things. I firmly agree with Mrs. Gabler. She has studied on the subject for some time and surely knows what she is talking about.

Sex should be taught against, and not stimulated. Our forefathers taught such and they didn't have the problems we have today. — A Reader.

Nina Olason September Bride

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL BAKER

Nina Olason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Olason of Carroll, and Michael Baker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Lincoln, were married Sept. 30 in evening rites at Lincoln.

Honor attendants for the couple were the bride's sister, Cynthia Whithead of Pontiac, Mich., and Rod Skov of Lincoln.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long, jersey knit dress in royal blue accented with white daisies. She carried a nosegay of white daisies, blue carnations and baby's breath.

About 60 guests attended a reception in Lincoln following the ceremony. Guests were registered by Pamela Jones of Lincoln, and were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Olason of Minneapolis. Marcia Olason of Minneapolis cut and served the cake.

The couple took a wedding trip to Colorado and will make their home at 2625 Rathbone Rd., in Lincoln, after Oct. 28.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of Wayne High School, attended the University of Nebraska and is employed at Trampe Appraisal Co. in Lincoln. The bridegroom graduated from Southeast High School in Lincoln in 1965 and from Omaha Technical School in 1966. He is employed with Fleming Foods, Inc., in Lincoln.

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

Center Represented

Several Wayne residents represented the Wayne Senior Citizens Center at a meeting of the Nebraska Senior Citizens Council, held Monday in Wahoo.

Attending the eighth annual meeting from Wayne were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Pedersen, Goldie Leonard, Emma Soules, Lotie Longnecker, Alma Spittiger and center director Mrs. Jocell Bull.

The program included a talk by Dave Howard, executive director of the Nebraska Commission on Aging. His topic was "Advocacy Role of the Nebraska Commission on Aging."

Howard told the group that the commission is in the process of establishing two area agencies on aging which would provide persons 60 years of age and older with services and programs on sliding scale of pay, according to their finances.

State Senator Loran Schmit of Columbus told the group that children and relatives of older persons should look after their needs whenever possible.

Re-elected during the afternoon to serve another four-year term on the Nebraska Senior Citizens Council board of directors were Mrs. Bull of Wayne, Marge Stine of Grand Island, mayor Hans Jensen of Aurora, and Elaine Pfening of York. Newly elected officers on the board are Louis Klasna of Spencer, president; Jocell Bull of Wayne first vice-president; mayor Hans Jensen of Aurora, second vice-president; Elaine Pfening of York, secretary; and Goldie Leonard of Wayne, treasurer and membership chairman.

The Wahoo Senior Citizens Center presented the afternoon program and served lunch.

The ninth annual meeting of the Nebraska Senior Citizens Council will be held in Wayne during the first week in October of 1978.

American Legion Auxiliary Welcomes 12 New Members

American Legion Auxiliary members met Monday night at the Vet's Club. Seventeen senior and three junior members attended the meeting.

Twelve new members were welcomed by president Mary Kruger. They include tiny tot member Jessica Anne Henschke, seven-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Henschke of Wakefield, Jessica's mother, Jodene, and grandmother Mrs. Chris Bargoitz, are also members of the auxiliary.

Other new members who were introduced Monday evening include Mrs. Steve Schumacher, Mrs. Glen Ellingson, Mrs. Kurt Otte, Mrs. Erving Doring, Mrs. Keith Jech, Mrs. Charles Carhart, Mrs. Val Kienast, Mrs. Harold Maciejewski, Mrs. Gene Perry, Mrs. Charles McDermott and Mrs. Larry Gamble.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Ervin Hagemann Sr. and Laura Hagemann, who represented the auxiliary at Girls State at Lincoln in June.

A letter was read from the department secretary-treasurer Lynne Malone, announcing that the area D conference and children and youth program will be held at Midland, Mich. on Oct. 26-29. A letter was also read from District III president Mrs. Ardele Nueller.

American chairman Martha Sieckmann read an article from the Legion magazine, entitled "Pensions for Veterans." Legislative chairman Ethel Johnson read "Illegal Aliens That Are in the United States."

Eveline Thompson, membership chairman, reported that there are 99 paid-up members and that the auxiliary is now goal plus.

Rehabilitation and veterans affairs chairman Louise Kahler reported that the Christmas assignment is 18 gifts for boys five to 10 years of age, and two baby gifts.

The Wayne auxiliary has been asked to make 15 centerpiece for the Norfolk Veterans Home for Thanksgiving, and to provide them with 30 napkins. Members plan to meet today (Monday) at 1:30 p.m. at the Vet's Club to make the centerpieces. The auxiliary has also been asked to make 20 gray favors for the Norfolk Veterans Home next Fourth of July, and furnish 30

Devils Devastate Dragons' Dreams with 12-6 Drubbing

By BOB BARTLETT

Wayne's 12-6 homecoming victory over Madison Friday night closely resembled the weather as day broke over the city — gloomy.

But the mighty Blue Devils shook off those dark skies with a storybook like come-from-behind finish over the previously undefeated Dragons on nifty running of quarterback Tom Ginn, back-to-back 15-yard penalties and a on-target touchdown pass to Dan Ahlvers to claim Wayne's third win with just :46 left in the game.

The game couldn't have been more exciting if the pros were on the field. Wayne's defense again and again rose to the occasion to stop Madison and give the offense a chance to show its stuff.

Coach Stew Cline's men got that chance with 2:29 showing after the defense forced Madison to punt into a 35-mile per hour wind and down the ball at the Devils' 46.

On second down Ginn pulled a bootleg play to the left, catching Madison off guard and raced to the Madison 41 where he was knocked out of bounds. The 159-pound junior went to the air aiming for the Devils' second leading receiver, Kevin Murray, when Madison was called for interference. Dragon mentor LeRoy Ernst didn't like that call and immediately paraded onto the field where Madison was assessed another 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct, putting the ball on the 13.

Facing a third and five situation on the eight, Ginn rolled out to the left and heaved the ball just as he was going down, to end Dan Ahlvers who bobbed the pigskin before he pulled it in for the touchdown. "This is just one game our kids refused to lose or even end up in a tie," said a happy coach Cline after Wayne's victory kept the Devils in first place in the West Husker Conference.

Although the win came on a muddy Wayne State field, Cline pointed out that he still doesn't believe that his team is a group of mudders. "We can play on mud but with our size and type of offense and defense we're more effective on a dry field."

Looking back, Cline noted that Wayne was gaining momentum

Norfolk Frosh Roll over WHS

Wayne freshmen will close their 1977 campaign hopefully on a winning note when they take on West Point Central Catholic on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at the Wayne field. Game time is 4 p.m.

The locals will go into that contest carrying a 3-2 record after falling to Norfolk High Thursday, 41-0.

Coach Duane Blomkamp summed up the lopsided game this way: We kinda got shoved all over the field. Wayne had one scoring opportunity turned back on Norfolk's one-yard line where quarterback Jerre Morris and his offense failed to push it across in four downs. "It was just a case of where we didn't block or tackle very well," Blomkamp added.

each quarter and appeared that it was going to win the game. Madison allowed the Devils only eight yards rushing in the first quarter and 23 in the second. But Wayne opened up with 70 yards in the third and a whalloping 100 in the winning fourth quarter. Defense kept the Devils in the ball game in the first half as Wayne twice stopped the Dragons inside Wayne's 30-yard line. Madison's first scoring threat was stopped on the 27 where Wayne held for four downs. That same fired-up defense flexed its muscle in the second quarter following Wayne's first touchdown drive that started on the 22 — where the defense held on fourth and four. Madison took the lead with 5:55 left in the first quarter on quarterback Jerry Schmidt's four-yard quarterback sneak. The Dragons got good field position on Wayne's 21 when a Ginn pass on second and eight was nabbed by 215-pound Doug Hartner. After a pass to Craig Wehrle missed scoring when he stepped out of bounds, Schmidt went right back to the air lanes for a 17-yard completion, putting the ball at the four.

The Dragons elected to go for the two-point conversion, but Wayne's defense thwarted the pass intended for Wehrle.

Those gusty, swirling winds out of the southwest aided the Devils during their scoring march to tie the game at six apiece going into the locker room at the half.

Ginn unloaded a pair of 17-yard strikes to Murray and a 15-yard aerial to Steve Bodenstedt to put the ball at Madison's 14. Brad Emry, who led Wayne rushers with 79 yards, bounced off one defender and dragged two others four yards to paydirt. Al Nissen, who missed both PATs, saw his first try blocked by Jim Jensen, who was able to blast through the line after a high snap delayed Nissen's kick.

The turning point for Wayne came in the opening of the fourth quarter after Madison's Wehrle intercepted a pass on second and nine and raced to the Blue Devils' 25. The Dragons moved the ball down to the three when Wayne's stubborn defense pushed the invaders back to the 17 on fourth down and four.

With just over six minutes left, both teams started to exchange fumbles and with 3:36 Madison had possession before the defense again halted the Dragons' strong rushing game and gave the offense the ball.

"We bend but we just don't break," Cline emphasized about his team which pushed its record to 3-2-1 and 3-0 in the conference.

Helping the Devils gain good field position all night was punter Murray who booted the ball six times for an average of 38 yards — kicking most of the time against a strong wind. Wayne goes on the road Friday night to Columbus Lakeview for the first of three tough

VIC SHARPE and Kelly Frevert were voted by the Wayne-Carroll student body as the homecoming king and queen for 1977. The twosome were named Friday night just before the start of the Wayne-Madison ball game. Also in the running for the homecoming couple were king candidates Steve Bodenstedt, Kevin Murray, Kelly Hansen and Mark Heithold. Queen candidates were Lisa Nuss, Dawn Ellis, Lori Johnson and Sue Schwartz.

Roberts, Foote Gang Up For Cats' 4th Loop Win

A 15-yard touchdown pass from Paul Roberts to 105-pound Brian Foote in the third quarter put Winside in front to stay Friday night as the division leading Wildcats got by upset-minded Ponca, 6-0.

Ponca, which came into the ball game owning one win in five starts, put a scare into the Cats with about four minutes left in the game when Brad Lowe intercepted a Roberts' pass in the endzone and raced down to Winside's 35 where Roberts and Eddie Morris ganged up for the tackle. From there Winside's defense held to record Winside's fourth win against two losses.

That win put Winside a full game ahead of Coleridge, which moved into sole possession of second place with a win over previously undefeated Osmund Friday night.

A 40-yard kickoff return by the Cats' second leading rusher, Mitch Pfeiffer, but the ball at Ponca's 40-yard line where Roberts marched his team to paydirt in six plays.

Morris led Winside's 202-yard ground game with 118 yards on

EDDIE MORRIS

21 carries while Pfeiffer had 70 yards on 23 toles.

Winside had several scoring opportunities turned back by penalties. Twice the Cats were knocking at the door on Ponca's six when they were tagged for 15 big yards on holding calls.

"We controlled the second half," said Winside's coaching staff, "but I guess we weren't mentally prepared for Ponca."

3 Tough Gridders

SECOND GUESSERS' Athlete of the Week awards went to two Wayne High players and a Wayne State grider. Wildcat Bill Hughes, left, was cited for his linebacking duties in the Cats' 13-9 win over Missouri Southern. Al Nissen, center, was chosen, for his defense plays, including six solos in the Tekamah battle, and Roger Daniels was picked for his role as full-back.

Carr TDs Sweeten Victory
Those rompin', stoppin' Allen Eagles treated homecoming fans to sweet victory No. four Friday night when the home team pounced on area rival Newcastle, 21-13.
High flying Greg Carr scored a pair of touchdowns following a one-yard TD plunge by quarterback Tod Ellis to up Allen's record to 2-2 in conference play and 4-2 for the season.
The Eagles played nail-biting ball throughout most of the game, taking a 6-0 halftime lead on Ellis' score midway through the second period.

The Difference Between The Time She Says, "Da-da" & The Time She Says, "I Do", Is About $48,500.

$48,500* is about what it costs to raise a child these days. Maybe a little less, probably a little more. But the point is that it's just downright expensive to feed, clothe, educate, and care for your child.

And that's the reason you need a Big First Savings Account. Because the Big First pays the highest interest rates allowed by law on four year accounts anywhere in Georgia. And through the years you're going to need that extra interest, so while she's growing, your savings account is growing.

A Big First Savings Plan can make raising a daughter a lot easier for you. And it can make life a lot easier for her.

Dalton: We Can't Think About Tournament Now

Although Wayne High is seeded second in the West Husker volleyball tournament, coach Mavis Dalton isn't looking beyond this week's action.

The main focus of the coach's attention is getting her girls up after Thursday night's loss to tough Wisner-Pilger — a team which Wayne will meet if it gets by its first-round opponent when tournament play starts Monday, Oct. 17 at Emerson-Hubbard High.

Catholic match on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Wisner, which went into Wednesday night's seeding meeting tied with Emerson at 8-2, won the toss for third seed.

Lakeview holds the best record, 9-1, followed by Wayne which was 8-1 before Thursday's match.

Loss Cancels Playoff Hopes For WH Spikers

Wisner, which the coach labeled as a very fine team, shook off a 15-13 Wayne win in the first set to stage 15-3 and 15-6 wins and hand the locals their second loss in 10 matches.

"Since it's homecoming week I guess the girls are just plain tired," Mrs. Dalton said of Wayne's poor playing at Wisner. "I don't want to take anything away from Wisner. They're the toughest team we've played this year," she added.

Wayne's reserves posted their seventh straight win against no losses, 16-14, 1-15 and 15-4. Stacy Jacobmeier and Laura Lessmann led with nine points apiece.

In freshman play, Wayne lost its second straight, 3-15, 15-3 and 10-15 for a 4-3 record. Tammie Thomas led scoring with seven points.

Wayne varsity, which drew a bye along with top seeded, Columbus Lakeview in the first round, will play the winner of the Wisner-Hartington Cedar

Any thoughts by coach Kathy O'Connor about her Winside volleyball team having an outside chance of making the Lewis and Clark Conference playoffs were shut off Thursday night when the Wildcats lost their fourth loss match, a two-set loss to Hartington High.

The 4-7 Winside club, which is 0-4 in conference play, fell 15-7 and 15-10. Janelle Gottberg had eight points for the Cats and Paula Hoemann had seven spikes in what O'Connor called a fairly well played game by her team.

Winside's reserves won in three sets, 11-15, 15-8 and 15-9. Balanced scoring led the JV's to their fourth win in eight matches. The C team owns a 6-2 record after it won 15-5 and 16-14.

CEDAR CAPTURES WEST HUSKER CROWN

Hamm, Backstrom Lead Harriers to Second

Wayne High junior Dave Hamm and senior Jeff Backstrom each picked up a medal Wednesday to lead the Blue Devils to second place in the West Husker Conference cross country meet at Wayne Country Club.

Hamm, who finished second with his best time of 13:40, and Backstrom, who also clipped his best time with a 14:27 for sixth, led the Devils past Wisner-Pilger and Columbus Lakeview in the four-team meet.

Hartington Cedar Catholic won with 28 points, while Wayne had 36, Wisner 38 and Lakeview 39. Wisner's Todd Petersen recorded the best time with 13:26. Taking third was Bryan Leader of Cedar Catholic in 14:01. He was followed by Phil McGuire of Wisner in 14:05, Dave Locker of Cedar in 14:12 and Backstrom.

Pleased with his team's performance, coach Harold Maciejewski pointed out that all five Wayne runners posted their best times of the season. Junior Rick Luft finished 11th in 14:49 over the 2.5 mile course, and sophomore Kurt Powers was 17th in 15:31. Senior Vic Sharpe, whose time of 16:37 wasn't counted, came in last among 20 runners at the meet.

With that kind of individual and team showing, Mac has an eye on his runners placing at the District B-4 meet Thursday at O'Neill. Hamm is the top choice by the coach to possibly earn a ticket to state, but Mac isn't ruling out the possibility of other Wayne runners placing among the top six at district and winning a trip to state.

Other schools at the meet will be Ainsworth, Albion, Atkinson-West Holt, Broken Bow, Hartington CC, O'Neill, Ord and Wisner.

LEADING THE pack is Wayne High harrier Dave Hamm, above, who held on to first place until midway when Wisner's Todd Petersen took over and eventually won the West Husker individual title. Finishing 11th and showing the effects is Rick Luft, who also helped the Blue Devils anchor second place in the four-team meet.

NAIA Finally Ranks Wayne

After posting its second upset of a nationally-rated team, Wayne State finally has been ranked among the top 20 teams in the nation by the NAIA.

The Wildcats are ranked 16th in Division Two with a 3-1 record. Their latest upset came a week ago when Wayne toppled Missouri Southern, 13-9. Missouri had been rated No. 1.

Wayne's only loss was a 7-6 defeat to Dakota State, which is third.

Trojans Put Score into Bancroft, 32-28

Loaded dice and too many fast feet saw Wakefield coach John Torczon summed up his team's upset attempt of highly-rated Bancroft Friday night.

The attempt was five points short as the Trojans almost pulled the upset of the season in Class C, 32-28, at Bancroft.

Wakefield pulled out in front 28-13 at the half, but stiff winds causing poor punts and Bancroft's speed were the one two punch Torczon's troops couldn't overcome.

Doug Starzl sparked Wakefield's bid with a pair of 81-yard jaunts and a 66-yard scoring burst. On third and five from Wakefield's 19, Starzl zipped around right end untouched and quarterback Todd Swigart passed to Blaine Nelson for an 8-0 Wakefield lead.

Bancroft stormed back 12 plays later on a Tim Wegner touchdown and a Steve Plambeck PAT for an 8-7 score at the end of the quarter.

Wakefield put three more touchdowns on the board in the second quarter on Starzl's 81-yard kickoff return, 25-yard scoring run by Swigart and Starzl's final TD of the night.

Defensive leader Tony Henschke set up Wakefield's first six pointer in the second quarter when he recovered a Bancroft fumble at the Bulldogs' 34, and three plays later Wakefield scored.

In the second half Wakefield was kept deep in its territory by Bancroft's defense and a strong wind which allowed punter Val Johnson kicks of only 25 and 21 yards — two crucial plays which helped Bancroft overcome Wakefield.

Wegner closed Wakefield's margin 28-26 with a one-yard plunge after on a broken pass play gained 31 yards and eventually was the turning point in the game. Torczon pointed out.

Bancroft came up with the game-stopper late in the fourth when the Bulldogs halted Wakefield on the half-yard line. From there they marched the distance to score on Plambeck's two-yard dash.

Starzl ended the game with 171 yards. Besides Henschke, other defensive leaders were Jeff Simpson, Blaine Nelson, Chuck Sherer and Lyle Borg.

Tuesday night the 2-3 Trojans travel to once-beaten Osmond.

Members Tell 'Dreary Day' Likes

The Three C's Home Extension Club met the evening of Oct. 3 with Marge Lindquist as hostess. Thirteen members answered roll call by telling "What I Like To Do On A Dreary Day."

President Judy Martindale reminded the group of the Dixon County Achievement Day Oct. 10 at 1:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station in Concord, and of the Citizenship Day, Oct. 12, at Harlington with Helen Pearson as chairman.

The ladies were also reminded of the Home Economics Day for Homemakers Oct. 19 at the East Union Campus at UNL with registration at 9 a.m. and the program, 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The lesson, "Soup Sense," was given by DeLilah Johnson and Evelina Johnson. They used soups and other accompaniments to make several different soup recipes for the group to taste. A booklet of recipes was given to each member.

Clara Puhman received the hostess gift and Marge Lindquist served the dessert lunch.

Vandilyn Hanson will be the Nov. 7 hostess for the 8 p.m. meeting.

Welfare Club
The Concord Women's Welfare Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Kenneth Olson as hostess. The meeting was opened with the reading of the club creed.

Roll call was answered by 11 members and guests, Mrs. Arden Olson and Mark, by showing or telling of something from grandmother's china closet.

Mrs. Dick Hanson reported that the sewing of 12 draw sheets, seven rubber draw sheets and eight white turkish toweling pads was completed, and the items were taken to the Sausser Home in Laurel.

The group was reminded that Oct. 14 at 2:30 p.m. club members are to visit the Wakefield Care Center to help residents with activities and furnish lunch. It was also announced that the Concord Betterment Club's White Elephant and Bake Sale will be Nov. 5 at the Concord Firehall and the group voted to help with the sale.

Mrs. Ruback had prepared the afternoon's entertainment, but as she was hospitalized, members read her articles on "An Autumn Morning," "Enter October," and "An Autumn Poem." In a pencil game, "Know-Your-Nuts," Ella Anderson won the prize. Mrs. Olson served lunch. Ella Anderson will be the Nov. 2 hostess.

Lutheran Circles
The Concordia Lutheran Churchwomen's Circles met Thursday at 2 p.m., except Martha Circle, which met at 8 p.m. The Bible study was from Matthew 7: 24-27, The Sure Foundation.

Reminders were to visit Redeemer Lutheran LCW in Wayne on Oct. 11 and the Kiddie Kits for Lutheran World Relief on the next Circle Day.

Naomi Circle met with Mrs. Harlan Anderson as hostess and Mrs. Keith Erickson study leader. Mrs. Erickson will be the November hostess.

Mrs. Veran Carlson was the hostess for the Macy Circle with Martha Rieth as study leader. Helen Carlson will be the November hostess.

Pat Erwin was the study leader and Ann Liner, speed the hostess for the Ruth Circle meeting. Esther Peterson will be the November hostess.

Martha Circle met Thursday evening with Mrs. Richard Kremer as hostess. Mrs. Doug Krie will be the November hostess.

Each hostess served refreshments. The regular LCW meeting will be Oct. 20 at 2 p.m. at the church.

Birthdays
The Willis C. Johnsons joined other relatives for a dinner Oct. 2 in the Leland Johnson home in honor of the host's birthday.

Birthdays guests in the Evert Johnson home Wednesday evening honoring Bruce were the Doug Kries, Kristen and Trisha, Laurel, the Brent Johnsons and Mark, Clara Swanson, the Arthur Johnsons, Mrs. Jim Nelson, Jodene and LaRae, the Ernest Syvansons, Regg and Lon, and Leslie MacDonald of California.

Superintendents Meet in Wayne

A group of 58 school superintendents and their spouses from throughout Northeast Nebraska attended a meeting of the Nebraska School Superintendents' Association Wednesday at Wayne State College.

Several speakers were guests at the meeting. Jim Riley of the Nebraska School Activities Association spoke on school activities, including legislation around the state; Charles Watson of the claims office in Norfolk spoke on recent unemployment laws regarding schools and Dr. Owen Knutsen, superintendent of the Omaha schools, was the featured luncheon speaker.

Following lunch, the group viewed a show entitled "The Loneliness Factor" at Dale Planetarium on campus.

Dr. Lyle Seymour, president of Wayne State College, said he was pleased to have the superintendents meet at Wayne State.

"We are partners with the schools in the educational process," he said. "We provide a large number of teachers for the schools and they provide us students who attend WSC. We do have a working relationship and we were happy to have the superintendents on campus."

Those attending the meeting included Wayne Carroll superintendent Francis Haun and Mrs. Haun, Allen superintendent Robert Heckathorn, Wakefield superintendent Dr. Gary Bennerotte and Mrs. Bennerotte, Win-

Plans for guest day were completed at the group's meeting Wednesday in the church fellowship hall. Ten members and Mrs. Della Baker of Baker, Ore., attended the meeting.

Mrs. Esther Batten reviewed the book "I Heard The Owl Call My Name." Mrs. Leonard Prichard was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Lem Jones gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Esther Batten presented the treasurer's report.

The group is planning to clean the church basement Oct. 14 at 1 p.m.

A cooperative luncheon was served following Wednesday's meeting.

members of the Town and Country Home Extension Club for a supper Tuesday.

Eight members responded to roll call with their favorite soup. The lesson, entitled "Soup Sense," was given by the hostess and Mrs. Lowell Olson.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Dean Owens. Mrs. Lowell Olson reported on the last meeting. Family life chairman Mrs. Willis Lage reported on the "teen communication" workshop she attended last month at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

Mrs. Jack Kavanaugh will be the Nov. 1 hostess.

Club Taking Tour
The Carroll Woman's Club will meet Thursday afternoon at 1:15 at the Carroll auditorium. From there the group will travel to the Wayne County Historical Museum for a tour.

Club Sponsors Trip
The Town and Country Home Extension Club sponsored a bus trip to the Nebraska Indiana football game in Lincoln Oct. 1. About 40 persons attended from the Wayne Carroll area.

Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman, South Sioux City, and the Dennis Zowadas, Columbus, were Oct. 2 weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Lillian Kenny. The Bill Kenny family of Norfolk and the Merlin Kenny family visited Mrs. Lillian Kenny Sept. 29 for her birthday.

The Jerry Swiharts and the Scott Swiharts and Bob Roberts, all of Lincoln, and Mrs. Ann Roberts were supper guests Oct. 2 in the Lynn Roberts home.

The Jerry Swiharts, Lincoln, and Mrs. Ann Roberts were dinner guests Monday in the Robert Johnson home.

The Erwin Morrises, Alfred Thomas and Lem Jones went to Omaha Monday to meet Mrs. Della Baker of Baker, Ore. She came to visit her sister, Mrs. E.A. Morris, her brother Alfred Thomas, and other area relatives. Guests Wednesday evening in the Erwin Morris home were Mrs. Della Baker of Oregon, Mrs. E.A. Awarded Scholarship Clarissa Ann Lemrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Beaumont of Nebraska City, was recently awarded a $250 President's Scholarship for 1977-78 from Wayne State College.

The scholarships are awarded to quality students not qualified for financial aid through WSC a college spokesman said.

Mrs. Lemrick, a 1975 graduate of Nebraska City High, was active in student council, band, choir and various extra-curricular activities during high school. She is a junior at WSC majoring in community counseling.

Erick Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cole of Auburn, also was awarded a President's Scholarship.

Cole, a 1975 graduate of Auburn High, was active in sports in high school. He is a junior at WSC majoring in history.

Another four Omaha students received Cooperating Schools Scholarships awarded to students attending high schools participating in the WSC student teacher program. One student received a Board of Trustees Scholarship.

Those receiving President's Scholarships are:

— Douglas Barak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Barak of Elkhorn. He is a 1977 graduate of Elkhorn High School where he was active in sports. He is a freshman at WSC majoring in natural sciences.

— Jim Gerkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Vacanti of Omaha. He is a 1977 graduate of Millard High where he was active in track. He is a freshman pre law major at WSC.

— Theresa Kaye Vandenberghe, daughter of Mr. William Vandenberghe is a 1976 graduate of Northwest High School where she was active in sports, musicals, the pep club and girl's "O" Club. She is a sophomore at WSC majoring in business.

CONTEST RULES

One football game has been placed in each of the 20 ads on this page. Indicate the winner by writing in the name of the winning team on the proper line on the entry blank. No scores. Just pick the winners, or ties. In case of tie, write "tie." Use the entry blank below or a reasonable facsimile.

Pick the score of the "Game of the Week" and enter that score in the appropriate blanks. The correct closest score will be used to break ties, and will be used only in the case of ties.

One entry only to each contestant, but members of a family may each submit an entry. Entries should be brought or mailed to The Wayne Herald office not later than 5 p.m. Thursday, or if mailed, should not be postmarked later than 5 p.m. Thursday. You need not be a subscriber of the Herald to be eligible for prizes.

The Winners will be announced weekly on the Thursday sports page of The Wayne Herald. There will be duplicate prizes awarded if winning scores are identical. Employees of the Herald and their immediate families are ineligible. Judges' decisions will be final in every case.

PATRONIZE THESE MERCHANTS WHO MAKE THIS CONTEST POSSIBLE!

MUST BE POSTMARKED BY 5 p.m. THURSDAY, OCT. 13

Soviet confinement feeding operations are poorly designed in many respects, said Fritschen, who has done considerable research in confinement feeding on the Northeast Station research farm.

In many cases the operations are labor intensive. There is very little slotted floor in the hog barns, for example an important waste disposal feature in American confinement feeding operations. Most of the slotted floor the swine specialist did see consisted of cast iron grates. The only example of concrete slats, popular in American operation, was of poor quality, he said.

The swine specialist also said feeding methods are inefficient. Litters are weaned at 26 days and go directly into a growing building. In the U.S., pigs are usually put into a nursery barn until they are in the 40 to 50 pound range. The Soviet method is a poor user of space, Fritschen said.

Weaned pigs are kept in the first growing barn until they are 106 days old, and are fed in a second barn from 106 to 222 days, when they are marketed. Because of a quota system, hogs are sent to the packing plant, usually within four or five kilometers of the state farm, on the basis of age, rather than weight.

The emphasis is on numbers, not quality. Breeds are used which produce large litter size, sacrificing the quality of the carcass and rate of gain.

There are some areas where Soviet agricultural technology excels, however. All breeding is done by artificial insemination, which hasn't proven to successful in American swine operations. Also, waste disposal technology is advanced.

Liquids discharged into streams, for example, are closely monitored and are treated where disposal poses no threat of pollution.

Language and political differences have hampered the exchange of technology, Fritschen said, but Soviet agricultural scientists expressed considerable interest in cooperative research. They are some areas where we are interested in research on different sizes of operation," Fritschen said. "They can't comprehend the efficiency of the family farm. We told them we have done bits and pieces of research which might help solve some of their problems."

Still, further cooperation and exchange of information could be beneficial to both countries, Fritschen said. The USSR has some excellent farm research facilities, including, for example, a farm with 25,000 head of swine for experimental purposes.

That size of an operation can produce research on a large scale, Fritschen said. "Without Dr. Konopolv, a decimals point could have easily been misplaced in translation and we would have gotten a distorted view of their technology."

The team covered a sizeable geographical area, from Leningrad on the Baltic Sea some 400 miles north of Moscow, down into the Ukraine, the Black Sea region, a 10-hour train ride south of Moscow.

The three American scientists visited a number of the giant swine-confinement operations, feeding from 108,000 to 216,000 animals a year. The state farms visited represented first generation technology for the giant feeding operation, with most of the equipment apparently supplied by the Italians.

Initial costs are about 4.1 million rubles. (A ruble is worth 13 American dollars.) Fritschen said the team was told the farms will show a profit after four years, but that doesn't take into account the initial costs, paid by the government.

The first generation of the

are responsible for some narrow part of the operation, Fritschen said. The American scientific team was told that by 1980, Soviet schools will have educated some 900,000 zoological technicians.

The USDA scientific team up on arriving in Leningrad was joined by a 23-year-old interpreter supplied by the Soviet agricultural ministry, and by Dr. Eugene Konopolv, a research institute professor.

Dr. Konopolv spent three and one-half years in the United States and during that time visited 44 of the 48 contiguous states — all of the states he was allowed to enter, in fact. Some states, "red areas," were off limits, such as Nevada with its atomic research area. The same was true for the U.S. team in Russia.

Dr. Konopolv speaks English and with a PhD in animal science is also well versed in the technological language vital to the U.S. team's real advantage. "Without Dr. Konopolv, a decimals point could have easily been misplaced in translation and we would have gotten a distorted view of their technology."

MRS. JULIUS Baier feeds molasses sorghum stalks into an antique press (right photo) which squeezes out sap boiled down into molasses (top photo). Mrs. Baier and her aunt from Traer, Iowa, tended the refining process for about five hours, constantly skimming off residue. The 70 gallons of sap in this batch eventually yielded about seven gallons of molasses.

Making Molasses Is Sweet Treat

By JIM STRAYER

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Baier found themselves in a sticky situation Thursday, but their reward was oh, so sweet.

The Baiers for the second year are making their own molasses from cane planted on their farm about five miles north of Wayne.

Mrs. Baier said she developed a taste for the homemade sweeter while growing up on her father's farm near Traer, Iowa. She helped make molasses then and last year decided to try it again after inheriting the family cane press, used to squeeze sap out of molasses sorghum.

Baier this year planted four 500-foot rows of molasses sorghum cane. The first step in making molasses is to walk the rows, stripping the leaves from the stalks. Leaves give the molasses a bitter taste, Mrs. Baier explained.

The grain heads, used as livestock feed, are also cut from the stalks before the cane is pressed. The press used by the Baiers is an 1863 vintage model according to the date on its cast iron body. It was originally designed to be powered by horse, hitched to the press and circling endlessly to turn its crushing rollers.

The press is now powered via a tractor's power take-off attachment, but Mrs. Baier said horses were still used when she helped her father at home. "You had to remember to duck every time the horses came around," she recalled.

Sap pressed from the cane flows out a spout in the press to be collected in barrels. The Baier's cane crop this year yielded about 120 gallons of sap. When boiled down, the sap will yield about 12 gallons of molasses.

Residue which surfaces during the refining process must be skimmed off and constant attention is required to ensure a pure, clear finished product, and Mrs. Baier's aunt, Charlotte Stokes, came from Traer to help with the chores.

Mrs. Baier said she uses molasses as a substitute for sugar or maple syrup. It is the prime sweeter in Mrs. Baier's special molasses cookies, and youngsters from School District 15 had a chance to sample them Thursday during a visit to the Baier farm.

Making molasses probably sounds like a lot of work, and it is, Mrs. Baier said, but she thinks it is worth the effort. Commercial bottled molasses contains preservatives which lend a bitter taste, she explained. The homemade molasses is pure and natural, and a taste from a teaspoon is convincing. How sweet it is.

Mr. and Mrs. Baier built their own four-by-ten-foot rectangular fire pit out of brick sealed with mud and a chimney made from oil cans. The vat to hold the sap is also homemade, of galvanized tin and planks. The sap is slowly boiled on a wood fire. The batch cooked Thursday, beginning with 70 gallons of sap took about five hours to boil down to seven gallons of molasses.

Appointed To Education Council

Dr. Ed Elliott, vice president of academic affairs at Wayne State College, was recently appointed to the board of directors for the Nebraska Council on Economic Education.

The council serves to prepare Nebraska teachers to teach economic courses and relate economic principles to other courses. It also serves to provide assistance in curriculum planning for better economics courses in schools.

Elliott said the appointment will "afford me and Wayne State a real opportunity to establish a new type of liaison with businessmen and with the other members of the Board." He said he hopes to provide information to the Board on higher education's approach to the free enterprise system.

Nancy Baum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Baum of Elgin, and Valerie Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wagner, Winnetoon, were entered in both oral interpretation and original oratory.

This is the second year of forensics competition for WSC. Events include debate, oral interpretation, oratory, informative public address, extemporaneous speaking and a variety of others.

Coach Jay VerLinden said he is optimistic for the future of the team.

"I think for the first tournament everyone performed well," he said. "Now these people have gotten their first taste of competition and I expect they will do very well."

The squad will travel to Manhattan, Kansas Oct. 14 to compete in the Kansas State University Forensics Tournament.

a lot of competition."

She said she would probably have to take fewer credits (she now takes 19 semester hours) if elected to the position. She said Nebraska's student chapters are very active and would require much of her time.

"I would like to improve the state dimensions of the program," she said. "I want to get more people interested and involved in music. Nebraska has a good program, but I would like to keep it going and possibly expand."

Wakefield Native Named Ag Agent

A Wakefield native has been named county extension agent chairman in Cofax County.

Dennis Kahl accepted the post after he had taught vocational agriculture at Wood River High School.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Kahl of rural Emerson, Kahl earned his bachelor of science degree in animal science, agricultural education in 1972. He received his master of science degree in ag education this past summer from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
