

Wakefield Girl At Top of Class

Cheryl Meyer of Wakefield was among two senior girls at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Home Economics who were presented with a certificate of merit and a $20 check last week.

Miss Meyer, along with Mary Ghering of Bancroft, the top two seniors in the College of Home Economics, received the awards during the Ellen H. Richard Dinner, an annual event sponsored by the student section of the American Home Economics Association.

In addition, 30 students of the College of Home Economics were recognized for having the highest grades in their classes. They include Cheryl Marie Siefken of Wayne, a sophomore, and Kim Chase of Laurel, a senior.

Tour Will Feature Table Settings

The third annual AAUW (American Association of University Women) house tour, held in December for the past two years, has been moved up to this Sunday afternoon.

Persons planning to participate in the tour can look forward to seeing table settings, ranging from the formal look to an oriental tea service and antiques, including depression glass.

Tickets for the tour can be purchased in advance for $2 per person at the First National or State National Banks in Wayne or at Sav-Mor Drug, according to Mrs. Jay O'Leary, a member of the organization. Tickets will be $2.50 at the door.

Persons taking part in the tour can visit any or all of the houses between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. Sunday.

Wayne residents planning to open up their homes for the tour are Mr. and Mrs. Phyllis Rees, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Phifer, and Mrs. Melvin (Bud) Froehlich, Mr.

and Mrs. Clifford Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mallette.

The Rees home, completed in 1976, features a two-story high living room, with the master bedroom overlooking, and a large family room with modular seating. The family dining area will be set for brunch, and there will be a bake sale in the family area. The home is located at 1114 Crescent Dr.

Persons planning to stop at the Phifer home, 802 Nebraska St., will be treated to a children's tea set in the upstairs play area, and a display of depression glass in the dining room. The home was built in 1912 and included five fireplaces, with four fireplaces still remaining. Many of the large pieces of furniture are antiques that have been refurbished by the Phifers.

While at the Froehlich home, 614 W. 3rd St., visitors will be served coffee and cookies. The newer brick home was built so that all activities can be located on one floor, and features a handsome lawn overlooked by a roofed patio. There will be a china table setting in the formal dining area.

The Peters home was built in 1925 and copied after a house in Iowa belonging to friends of the original owners. There have been no structural changes since the house was built. Mrs. Peters will display an oriental tea service on the sun porch and antique Haviland china in the dining room. The house is at 820 Main St.

A formal dining setting, along with a picnic arrangement in the family eating area, will be featured at the Mallette home at 118 Wilcliff Dr. Decorating accessories in the quad-level structure, as well as much of the furniture, has been made by the family. One room was completely decorated by Mallette's teenage son.

Proceeds from Sunday's tour will go to the Wayne County Historical Society, and to purchase books for the Wayne Public Library.

Quilter Shows Winners at Dixon Program

Ernest Haight, a prize-winning quilt maker from David City, entertained about 55 women Monday afternoon during the Dixon County Home Extension Council's annual Achievement Day program at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

Haight, a retired farmer with a background in engineering, showed the women several of the quilts which have won him prizes at shows across the state. He began quilting in the mid-30's and started entering his works of art in fairs and quilt shows in the late 1940's.

At 78, Haight says he owns about 80 prize-winning quilts, not to mention those he makes for his family and as gifts for graduations, weddings, and other special occasions.

Although the quilt maker uses traditional patterns for his quilts, he also draws many original ornamental patterns. He says he gets his ideas from such things as bathroom rugs, postage stamps, magazines and wall decorations, and adds that that's when his background in engineering comes in handy.

Haight attended Nebraska University following the war, where he earned a degree in both agriculture engineering and arts and sciences.

All of his piecing and the tops that he quilts are done on his sewing machine. He has even written an instruction booklet, entitled "Practical Machine-Quilting For the Homemaker."

Following a display of several quilts made by himself and members of he and his wife's family, Haight offered the women suggestions for turning out accurate pieces that will assemble into a well-matched quilt block.

Mrs. Florence Johnson of Laurel welcomed the women attending Monday afternoon's program. Mrs. Ernest Swanson of Wayne introduced the guest speaker.

Mrs. Merle Ruback of Allen conducted a recognition service for County Council members who served during 1977.

New members of the Dixon County Home Extension Council were installed during the afternoon by Mrs. John Young of Dixon. They include Mrs. Carl Armstrong of Ponca, and a member of the Sunshine Extension Club, as county chairman; Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt, Concord, Artemis Club, county chairman-elect; Mrs. Verdel Erwin, Concord, Merry Homemakers Club, vice chairman; Mrs. Harold Pansegrau, Newcastle, Hillcrest Club, secretary;

Substitutes LaVonna Sharpe and Julia Dorcey came off the bench Tuesday night to lead Wayne High spikers to a two-set win over invading Harrington Cedar Catholic.

Sharpe led all scorers with eight points as the Blue Devils of coach Mavis Dalton posted a pair of 15-7 wins for their ninth win against two losses.

Leading the net play for the varsity were seniors Peg Pinkelman and Kelly Frevert.

In reserve play, Wayne pushed its undefeated record to eight wins, again on the scoring of Sharpe. She led the reserves with 12 points while Stacy Jacobmeter was right behind at 11.

The freshmen continued their skills with their fourth straight loss to even the record at 4-4. After winning the first game, 15-13, Wayne fell 14-16 and 9-15. Teresa Ginn was top pointmaker for the Devils with 13 points.

Prep Picks

The following is a list of this week's area prep football games. Winners are selected in boldface by sports writer Bob Bartlett.

Wayne at Columbus Lakeview, 21-6; Winside at Wakefield, 17-12; Coleridge at Allen, 31-13; Laurel at Pender, 28-0.

Last week's record: 4-0. Overall: 17-8-1.

ALTHOUGH THEY were few and far between, there were some bright spots for Wayne State's defense in the Cats' 20-6 loss Saturday to state rival Kearney State. On the left, the defense gangs up to stop Kearney after a short pass on first down deep in its territory. Right, halfback Ray Wagner intercepts a Kearney pass in the endzone and brings it out to the Cats' 27 yard line. The loss dropped Wayne to 1-1 in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference standings to tie three other clubs for second place. Meanwhile, Kearney moved into a tie with Missouri Western for first, both with 2-0 loop marks. Saturday the Cats travel to Western when they again venture into another homecoming contest.

Offensive Mistakes Only Help Fired Up Kearney State, 20-6

By RUSS HERMAN

Wayne State SID
Offensive mistakes and a fired up Kearney football team doomed Wayne State to a 20-6 defeat Saturday at Kearney.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 3-2 on the season and 1-1 in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference. Kearney is 2-0 in CSIC play and 3-1 overall.

Wayne's 16th place ranking in NAIA Division II and 11th spot in total defense statistics were placed in jeopardy as the Antelope rolled up 367 yards in total offense while the error-prone Cats could muster only 203 yards.

Kearney rambled for 302 yards on the ground and three different backs carried the ball for over 70 yards behind excellent backfield blocking.

Gregg Baker was Wayne's main nemesis as he piled up 90 yards in 20 carries and had several fine runs around end as the Cats could do little to stop him.

Jeff Bolin got Kearney off to a good start with a 58 yard touchdown run halfway through the opening quarter. Bolin's run came on the first play after Wildcat quarterback Rick Lade lost a fumble on the Kearney 42 yard line.

The toe of Antelope kicker Paul Waggoner was instrumental in the outcome. Waggoner booted a 33 yard field goal early in the second period.

Waggoner's second field goal, midway through the third quarter, was controversial, as officials initially called the kick wide, then after Wayne offense penalty was accepted, turned around and signaled the kick good.

Wayne's only score came on a 19 yard run by Bob Barry in the second quarter. Barry's romp climaxed a 12 play, 80 yard Wildcat march. The 4-3, 199 pound sophomore from Battle Creek garnered 86 yards in 21 carries.

The turning point of the game came before halftime as the Wildcats were knocking on the door. Trailing 10-6, Wayne had the ball on the Antelope nine yard line, but a holding penalty moved the ball back to the 23. Lade then fumbled an interception, the first of four thrown by Wayne passers.

Bill Mruz scored an insurance touchdown late in the third stanza on a 17 yard run.

Three lost fumbles added to the Wildcat offensive miseries, but the defense was busy intercepting passes. 100. Tim Hurley, Mark Erhart and Ray Wagner each picked off a Loper aerial, Wagner returning his for 27 yards.

Wayne travels to unbeaten Missouri Western Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. game. The Golden Griffons defeated hapless Pittsburg, 26-14 last Saturday. It will be a homecoming for Missouri Western.

College station KWSC-FM will carry the play-by-play.

Trojans Stun Osmond With 2nd Half Plays

All of a sudden it's Wakefield in contention for the division crown in the West Lewis and Clark Conference.

The 3-3 Trojans Tuesday night put themselves in the same category as second-place Coleridge — a game behind league leader Winside — after pulling a king-size 24-15 upset of once-beaten Osmond.

Wakefield spotted the hometown Tigers a 15-8 halftime lead then poured on the offense with a touchdown and two-point conversion in each quarter to virtually knock Osmond out of the running.

"We were playing in a barrel that first half," commented coach John Torczon. "We were just foggy...not sure of what we were doing. But once we got the lid kicked off it was katie bar the door."

Wakefield's defense held the Tigers to only 15 yards total offense in the second half. Meanwhile, the Trojans offense ran off 70 plays the entire game to 41 for the losers.

Signal caller Todd Swigart again had the hot passing arm, throwing touchdown strikes of seven and 20 yards and running one yard for another as the high scoring Wakefield clan pushed its division record to 3-1.

A fumble recovery by Chuck Sherer on Osmond's 35 in the first quarter set up Wakefield's score. Swigart hit Von Porriwood for the score before Porriwood ran for the two points and an 8-7 lead.

In the third quarter, the Trojans marched 82 yards with the final 20 on a pass to Jeff Simpson for the score. The two-point pass to Starzj was good and gave the Trojans a 16-15 lead.

Craig Nelson recovered another loose pignskin on the 49 of Osmond and the visitors marched to another score.

Hitting was the name of the game for Wakefield's defense. The Trojans caused four of Osmond's eight fumbles, five of which ended up in Wakefield's possession.

Leading Wakefield's defense were Tony Henschke, Blaine Nelson, Craig Nelson, Simpson and Sherer.

Friday night the Trojans will play their third game in a week, this time hosting Winside in the first of two crucial league games. A victory over the Wildcats and Harrington High the following week would insure Torczon's troops of at least a share of the division crown.

Nadar's FANS: A Real Strikeout

By RICHARD LESHER
President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Watch out, sports fans. . . Ralph Nadar is going to "help" you. Who knows, he may even do as much for sports as he did for the Corvair.

There is, he says, a "rising crescendo of fraud and fast-buck artistry" in the sports world. Also "greed" and "arrogance." Worse yet, the hot dogs are bad.

I'm sure you knew all of this already, although you may not have known the cure. The cure is — surprise — a new Ralph Nadar organization. It will be called "Fight to Advance the nation's Sports," so its initials spell FANS.

FANS will represent the sports consumer "before the leagues and player's associations, individual owners, the broadcast media, Congress and other federal bodies, state and local governments, the courts and other appropriate forums."

You may wonder what FANS will do about the endless feud between the AAU and the NCAA. You may wonder how FANS will decide between two cities when a trade or a move is contemplated. You may wonder how the various sports "leagues" will enjoy being second-guessers by an upstairs outside group, to say nothing of how the officials will feel about it.

But most of all, you may wonder how FANS will represent you as well as your father-in-law, your bartender, and your boss, when you seldom agree with any of them about anything in the sports world.

Good questions, though not beyond someone who already presumes to know what millions of consumers want better than they know it themselves.

I could point out that sports is already one of the most consumer-oriented of all businesses. The teams live or die on the size of their audiences, and nobody knows that better than the owners, managers and players.

Or I could point out that any form of entertainment, including sports, is a luxury. Displeased fans are quite free to boycott what they dislike. And these days, an alternative is often just a channel away. I could point out these things, but I'd probably sound like what you'd expect to hear from the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

So instead, I'll be charitable. Let's assume that FANS actually does accomplish miracles for the sports fan.

Suppose:

- Officials never made bad calls.
- Popular (or unpopular) players were never traded.
- Owners were always delightful people, and managers were never fired.
- Ticket prices were low and good seats always available.
- Pitching, quarterbacking, goal-tending, etc., were always faultless.
- Hot dogs were always hot, and beer always cold.

Suppose all of that, and then ask yourself: What's left? How could anyone possibly enjoy professional sports with something — anything — to beef about?

Go help somebody else, Ralph, and leave us in peace with the game we love to hate.

Wildcats Defense Is Still No. One

Wayne State held on to its No. one ranking in defense according to the latest reports from NAIA District II.

The Wildcats, who lost a 20-6 ball game at Kearney last week, are giving up 212 yards a game for the lowest total among the nine schools. The Cats lead against the rush allowing about 130 yards. They're second in the passing game, giving up 82 yards. Leading that division for the second week is Dana with 68 yards.

Wayne State's scoring leader Bob Barry also is first in another division — punt returns. The sophomore from Battle Creek has scored 31 points after five games and is tied with Tom Barry of Hastings College with one punt return for 27 yards. Barry also is third in rushing with just over 94 yards a game.

Other Cats who rank in the football report: Mark Johnson, first in kick off returns with a Andy Myrtue came in third for Wayne with a time of 28:25. Al Llibbe nailed down fifth place with a 29:21 result and Mark Baumert recorded his first scoring effort ever with a time of 29:39 for sixth spot.

The Wildcats will travel to Concordia College Saturday for an 11 a.m. meet.

Hard Driving

Now It's Allen's Turn at D-2 Foe

Friday night is Allen's turn to get a crack at a top-rated football club in the District playoff standings.

The 42 Eagles, which are riding the No. three spot in Class D District 2, host the district's top team, 51 Coleridge.

Also in the latest Nebraska Prep district playoff standings released by the Nebraska School Activities Association are Wayne and Winside.

The Blue Devils move up a notch after handing Madison its first loss. The locals are second in Class B District 4, right behind undefeated Pierce, 6-0.

The Wildcats also are second in their district with a 4-2 mark. Winside trails Class C 2 Division 2 leader Orchard, 5-0.

Game Delayed

Inclement weather forced Winside officials to postpone Monday's reserve football with Coleridge.

Coach Sam Colvin said Winside likely will switch its date with Coleridge to next Monday and set up another time for the Wausa game. Wausa was scheduled to play Winside also next Monday.

PLUNGING IN

for Wayne High's first touchdown of the night is runningback Brad Emry who drags three Madison defenders into the endzone in the second quarter of Friday night's West Husker clash at Memorial Stadium. Emry's score trimmed Madison's lead to 6-6 at the half. A Tom Ginn-to-Danny Ahlvers pass with 46 left in the game covered eight yards to paydirt as the Devils pulled out their third win against two defeats and a tie. The win also kept the Devils in first place in their division of the Husker Conference. Photo by Dick Manley.

THE AMPLE supply of good officials may be rapidly dwindling in the very near future, observes Wayne official Rowan Wiltse. He bases that statement on the fact that the newly-incorporated class-book exam by the Nebraska School Activities Association and the Nebraska Coaches Association will cause a lot of veteran officials to hang it up, and leave the job of refereeing high school athletics to the young bucks who are in their first or second years as officials.

Wiltse explained that the closed-book rule, which went into effect this year, is required of all officials who have five years or more experience and want to become approved or certified. "Taking a close-book exam petrifies most officials like myself who have been out of school for a long time," Wiltse said.

The thought may have put a little scare in Rowan, but his grade certainly didn't show it. He finished the exam with a grade of 90 — good enough to earn him approved status and branded certified once he completes his two years as an approved ref.

Still in effect is the rule that to continue as a referee in any sport, an official must take an open book test and attend a rules meeting every year.

If Rowan had his druthers, he'd keep the annual rules meeting but add a new twist to the tests. Instead of a written exam, have an actual one-day live clinic to show the rules via a game. That way officials could see rather than write about actual infractions of the rules.

Some years ago officials tried that idea. Wiltse went on, but the state organizations didn't like it, so out it went. However, this year at Wayne State where a rules meeting was held for volleyball, girls from the high school team gave such a rules demonstration, and it went over quite well.

MOST "forgotten" athletes whose names seldom appear in headlines or stories likely would be great candidates for the Zero Club, an organization formed by players in the National Football League who are overlooked when it comes to publicity.

The club, which was mentioned during a pro game Sunday, might well fit for some of the area gridders as well as other athletes whom I'm sure don't get the big writeups they deserve.

An example one of the sportscasters used, was a lineman who has been in pro football for nine years, but seldom mentioned. The player got the idea to form this club to give those underrated players a chance to earn some recognition from his peers.

A couple of area players who come to mind are Wayne High's defensive unit who last week really shined in the Blue Devils' 12-6 win over unbeaten Madison. Wakefield has to have several players who weren't mentioned in its near-upset of top-rated Bancroft, 32-28. I guess the list could go on and on for a lot of prep athletes, both boys and girls.

I'LL have to credit Dave and Ray with a win after my error last week. I reported that they picked Osmond over Winside in a game supposedly Friday night. Well, I got my wires crossed. The Winside-Osmond clash is the last game of the season for the Wildcats. Last Friday night they played Ponca, and won, 6-0.

So that win makes their record last week 4-0, the same as mine. Overall, those two are 16-9-1.

Their picks for this week: Wakefield over Winside, 13-7; Pender by Laurel, 28-6; Wayne past Columbus Lakeview, 21-6, and Coleridge over Allen, 27-6.

U.S. Is Inching Toward Metrics

Why are the numbers 96-62-91 worthy of a whistle? That's the way a bathing beauty might be sized up in centimeters.

How is a paper clip like a dollar bill? Both weigh about the same: one gram.

What does the United States have in common with the nations of Brunei, Burma, Liberia, and Yemen? The five are the only countries in the world that don't use the metric system.

Ridiculous riddles, maybe, but for Americans they take measure of how we still are unable to speak and understand the tongue of the vast majority of the rest of the people on earth.

Most of the world's people speak in centimeter and liter and grams, following the simple rule: everything can be multiplied or divided by 10, 100, or 1,000.

We speak a private language of inches and gallons and pounds, or rods and barrels and tons, or degrees Fahrenheit and cords of wood and fifths of whiskey — all a highly idiomatic jargon that is untranslatable until multiplied or divided by 12, 5,280, 16, 212, or dozens of other special and almost mysterious ciphers.

To all this, Kenneth Weaver asks: "How soon will we measure in metric?"

His answers mark some of the milestones — or kilometer stones — of America's foot-dragging attempts to get in step with the rest of the world.

Of the top 1,000 major industries and manufacturers in the U.S., 60 per cent are going metric, and all four car makers are switching.

However, the government has temporarily given up pushing for kilometers as well as miles on highway signs.

Fans of the metric system are optimistic that Americans will take to a gradual, voluntary phase-in conversion now being considered by the Commerce Department and subject to approval by the fledgling U.S. Metric Board.

Starting in June 1978, weather reports would give temperatures in both Fahrenheit and Celsius degrees, then, after one month, switch to Celsius only. In successive break-in periods, Americans would become accustomed to seeing and hearing rain measured in centimeters, wind in kilometers per hour, and heights and distances in meters and kilometers.

Meanwhile, countries that have made the transition advise: "Think metric," learn the new metric language from the beginning by making familiar comparisons rather than trying to translate from one inch to 2.54 centimeters or the like. For instance:

An aspirin tablet is one centimeter across, a doorknob is about a meter above the floor, a kilogram is only a bit more than two pounds, a liter is slightly more than a quart, a dime is two grams and is one millimeter thick, a stick of gum is 75 millimeters long, and the national 55-mile-an-hour speed limit is about 90 kilometers per hour.

Camping Fun Despite Wind

ONE HUNDRED and sixteen Boy Scouts from 11 troops made the Wayne County fairgrounds their home for the weekend as scoutmasters and their members ruffed it for a camping weekend. Cold north winds forced the boys to pack up their tents Saturday afternoon, cutting short their three-day plans. Some of the activities the Scouts were involved in was rope-tying, as shown in the middle photo where the youths use a make-shift pulley to pull a fellow scout (third photo) out of a make-believe crisis.

Pastor Showing Slides

The public is invited to the first of three slide presentations of the Holy Land this Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church in Wayne. Slides will be shown at 7:30 and there will be a fellowship hour afterward.

The Rev. Vern Mattson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was among 26 area ministers who took part in a three-week tour of the Holy Land in July, sponsored by the Central Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Kan. Also attending from Wayne was the Rev. Doniver Peterson of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Pastor Mattson said the tour was designed to acquaint ministers with the Biblical world in relationship to archeology, and to visit important sites where figures from the Bible were known to have visited. Pastor Mattson's presentation Sunday evening will deal mostly with Rome. Other presentations are scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 30, dealing with the life of Paul in Rome, and for Sunday, Nov. 13, with slides of the Vatican. The public is invited to see all three presentations at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

Thought for Today
By Rowan Wiltse

"There is no pillow so soft as a clear conscience."
French Proverb

We all rest easier when our conscience has no argument with the manner of our actions and conduct. There are those who seem insensate to the sharp pangs of conscience which may be experienced by others with a keener moral sense. They are unfortunate. They lack the important concept of right versus wrong. They may never know the sweet bliss of a conscience that lets them rest easily.

We would be honored to be of service to you when you need us. We invite you to come in to get acquainted prior to any emergency. We offer the highest standard of service to people of all faiths.

Mrs. Kramer Wins $25 BBucks Prize

Mrs. William Kramer Jr. of Wayne won the $25 consolation award in last week's Birthdays Bucks promotion.

Mrs. Kramer, who lives in Wayne, won the consolation prize while shopping in Sav-Mor Drug, one of many participating Wayne businesses which sponsor the weekly drawing.

Her birth date of Oct. 15, 1914 was the closest to the winning date of Sept. 30, 1914, and as a result she won the $25 in Birthdays Bucks.

Had the two dates been the same, she would have the $750 grand prize which may be spent just like cash in participating stores.

Drawing the winning date was Gerald Bofenkamp of Gerald's Decorating Center.

BUSINESS NOTES

Shannon Reed, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller of rural Wayne, was elected D.J. of the Year by members of the Country Music Association in Nashville.

The announcement of his award was made on the nationally televised Country Music Association Awards show, Monday night.

To win the award, Reed has to be voted on by his fellow D.J.s. Several rounds of balloting took place. The nominations were open for the first ballot with the top 25 D.J.s remaining on the second ballot. D.J.s and other broadcast industry personnel again cast votes, and the five D.J.s with the highest number of votes were placed on the finalist list. These five finalists then submitted a tape of their air work to the Country Music Association. Five anonymous judges, appointed by the CMA then auditioned the tapes, choosing the winner. Reed will receive his award in Nashville at a special recognition banquet and show Friday night. Reed began his radio career in his native Cherokee, Iowa in 1946. Upon graduation from high school, he moved to Norfolk to attend Nebraska Christian College and begin employment with WJAG radio. In 1974 he moved to Fort Dodge, Iowa, to work for KWMT radio where he is still employed as afternoon D.J. and public service director. He is also operations manager for KWMT's affiliated FM Station, KKEZ. Reed and his wife, Lou Ann, reside on the outskirts of Fort Dodge.

Soil Specialist: Look Beyond Yield When Applying Fertilizer

BPM
The regular meeting of the BPM 4-H Club was held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Melvin Clausen home. Eight members were present to answer roll call. One guest, Deb Wert of Wayne, became a new member.
New officers elected are president, Janelle Anderson, vice president, Gwyn Meier, secretary, Deb Wert, and treasurer, Mike Anderson. Future plans of the group include a trip to Norfolk on Oct. 30.
The next meeting will be Nov. 7 in the Larry Meier residence at 8 p.m.
Deb Wert, news reporter.

A University of Nebraska Extension soils specialist has challenged researchers and producers to look beyond yield in applying fertilizer — to consider both the conservation of energy and the environment.

Dr. R.A. Wiese addressed a joint convention of five professional organizations meeting in Lincoln Thursday and Friday. They were the Nebraska chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America, Society for Range Management, Professional Soil Scientists, Forage and Grassland Council and the Central Great Plains Chapter of the Society of American Foresters.

"Crop production is dependent upon nutrients and water from the soil, energy from the sun, and carbon dioxide from the atmosphere," said the scientist.

"Photosynthesis is the process which puts all the elements together to form the materials used as the basis of crop yield, usually carbohydrates. Most research has been concerned with, nothing further than yield per acre and the producer has often assumed that profit was directly proportionate to yield per acre."

"Yield technology has brought this nation a long way, even to the point where one farmer produces enough for himself and 40 others. Without such technology that figure would be closer to 20."

The scientist pointed out, however, that in view of present and potential threats to energy supplies and the environment it is time for both scientists and producers to look beyond mere yield to the conservation of both energy and the environment.

Wiese said that currently two or three per cent of the natural gas used in this country is used for the production of nitrogen fertilizer. Because most soils are deficient in several nutrients and all soils are deficient in the nitrogen needed for optimum production, the application of fertilizer in some form is almost universal. Since soil texture, its composition, water application and drainage interact with the leaching process, overapplication and mismanagement of nitrogen or irrigation may result in groundwater pollution by nitrates.

"When too much nitrogen is applied at least three things can happen," said Wiese, "and they are all bad: nitrogen, therefore the fossil fuel used to make it, is wasted; costs of crop production may be increased, thereby decreasing the farmer's profits; the wasted nitrogen may leach into groundwater and create water that is unfit and even dangerous for drinking."

As a measure of present efficiency compared to that which could be achieved, Wiese pointed out that present grain production averages about 2.74 units of grain energy for each energy unit of nitrogen applied. He cited laboratory experiments that have yielded as high as 15 units of grain energy per unit of applied nitrogen.

He believes that under field conditions it would be possible for producers to achieve a level of six units of grain energy for each unit of nitrogen and this would improve profits and remove much of the danger of groundwater pollution by nitrates.

High Moisture Storage Is Necessary This Year

Cattle feeders facing a large corn and sorghum harvest but limited storage space this fall should consider storing some of the grain as high moisture corn or milo, according to Dr. Paul Guyer, Extension livestock specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"The size of the crop means that some of the grain will be stored outside without the benefit of a roof to keep it dry," he said.

"High moisture corn is a good feed that is excellent for growing rations," Guyer said. "For finishing rations, it is best usually if about 20 to 40 per cent of the ration is furnished by dry grain."

Storing grain as ground high moisture corn or milo is the best method for farmers utilizing trenches, bunker silos or temporary silos, he said. He noted that high moisture corn may be stored as either ground ear or ground or rolled shelled corn.

Guyer said producers also may treat excess corn with acid for outside storage. Acid-treated corn has been stored successfully outside when rainfall is low and the storage floor is well drained, he said.

"It is best to store acid-treated corn in a long, rather narrow pile so that hot spots can be removed and grain that is washed by rain can be fed," he said.

Those storing ground high moisture corn or sorghum should harvest the grain at 24 per cent to 26 per cent moisture if possible, Guyer said. He said both corn and milo will keep well if harvested at between 20 per cent and 30 per cent moisture.

He said the grain should be ground as coarsely as possible and still pack well.

"All milo kernels need to be cracked," he said. "For corn, however, some whole kernels actually may be good."

Guyer said the grain should be covered with plastic and a forage such as corn stalks, green-chopped weeds or green-chopped alfalfa to weight the plastic firmly against it.

"The weighting material must not attract rodents and should provide insulation to prevent moisture migration in the stored grain," he said.

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Would you like to increase the weaning weights of your beef calves 75 to 100 pounds? Many farmers have been able to do this within a five-year period by using beef performance testing.

STEPS NECESSARY

What are the steps involved in beef performance testing?

—First: You need to identify your beef cows and their calves with some type of ear tags.

—Second: It's important to know the birth date of each calf.

—Third: Weigh the calves anytime between 160 and 250 days of age.

—Fourth — Calculate the performance of each calf by using a simple formula which takes into account age, sex and age of dam.

—Fifth: Use the adjusted weights as one of the main criteria for culling your cows.

HOW TO PARTICIPATE

It's easy for any Wayne County producer to participate if the cows and calves have been identified with tags and the birth date of each calf is known.

All you need to do to participate is contact the Wayne County Extension office for a date for me to bring a portable scale out to your farm and weigh your calves. There is no charge for this service.

After weighing, the weights will be adjusted based on the equivalent of 205 days of age. These adjusted weights will then be ranked for your herd so that you will be able to compare one calf to another. You should use this adjusted weight as your main criteria for culling your cows.

PARTICIPATION IN THE COUNTY

Last year I weighed all the beef calves in 12 herds in Wayne County. I expected a considerable increase in number this year. If you are interested in

Senate Okays Moratorium

The Senate, Oct. 5, unanimously adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Carl Curtis to put a six-month moratorium on implementation of a new national water resources policy and to establish procedures for state input and Congressional hearings.

Curtis, who had 35 co-sponsors said his resolution was introduced "because of the opposition by the states to the procedures and activities of the Administration to date to establish a new national water resources policy."

He said that although the Administration has authority to establish national water policy,

"the Administration has not provided the opportunity for real input, comment and review by the States, or for Congressional hearings."

Curtis said "Congress delegated water policy authority to the Administration in the 1965 Water Resources planning Act; but the efforts of the Administration to date appear to be going well beyond the intent of the Congress."

Curtis cited unanimous adoption of resolutions by the National Governors' Association, the Western Governors' Conference, and the Interstate Conference on Water Problems, "all

CAN YOU AFFORD TO BE BANKER?

We noticed the following advertisement in the "Norfolk Daily News" whereby Farmland Industries, a cooperative, wishes to borrow money at 8 1/2 % interest. This, we feel, is a legitimate way of operating a free enterprise business whether it be co-op or independent.

FARMLAND INDUSTRIES, INC.		All Subordinated Capital Investment Certificates Offer These Features
COOP
8 1/2 %		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Payable upon death of registered owner (s) without loss of interest. • No brokerage or commission charges to investors. • Lost or stolen certificates replaceable without charge. • Ownership transferable. • Optional payment plan at maturity.
Investment	Monthly Interest Payment
$ 5,000	$ 35.42
10,000	70.83
15,000	106.25
20,000	141.66
30,000	212.50
40,000	283.33
50,000	354.16

There is a difference between Farmland Industries, a cooperative, and Mid-America Dairymen and A.M.P.I., both milk cooperatives. When Mid-Am or A.M.P.I. deduct from your milk check 1% of the gross value of your milk for a revolving fund to be paid back, interest free, 8 years later, they, in effect, are making you, the milk producer, their banker. . . quite unlike Farmland Industries.

If you, the milk producer, sold the milk your cows produce to Neu Cheese Co. you would not have the 1% revolving fund money deducted from your milk check as compared to A.M.P.I. or Mid-American Dairymen. If you took the 1% more you received in cash from Neu Cheese and invested that amount in Farmland Industries notes at 8 1/2 % interest; for every $100 you invested you would receive $192.07 at the end of eight years, the length of time you are supposed to get your revolving fund ($100.00) back from Mid-Am Dairymen or A.M.P.I.

Think of it. . . with the high costs of operating your farm plus the high rate of inflation we have been having plus the poor prices you receive from your products. . . can you continue to be banker of Mid-Am or A.M.P.I.?

Neu Cheese Co. can process and sell more milk and cheese than we are now receiving. Call us collect, 254-3923, if you are interested.

Fremont Is Next Stop for Six Youths in Punt, Pass, Kick

Six local and area youths have climbed the first step towards a possible national appearance in the annual Punt, Pass and Kick contest.

They are Jason Jorgensen, Brent Pick, Steve Peterson, Kevin Koening, Shaun Niemann and Todd Schwartz. All winners in the local contest held Saturday at the high school practice field. Next step for the winners will be the zone contest at Fremont High School Saturday. A win there would put a youngster in the district competition at Omaha the following weekend — just two steps away from the finals which will be televised nationally at the Super Bowl in January.

Parents of the youngsters are Mr. and Mrs. Rod Jorgensen, Gary Pick, Rev. Donliver Peterson, Don Koening, Della Schwartz, all of Wayne, and Herbert Niemann of rural Carroll.

Brisk temperatures and a gusty north wind dwindled the number of expected participants to 42.

The annual contest was co-sponsored by the Wayne Lions Club and Roy Hurd Ford-Mercury.

How they finished:
Eight-year-olds — Jason Jorgensen, Bill Liska, Michael Nelson, Bill Melena, Chris Fritz, Stuart Rethwisch.
Nine-year-olds — Brent Pick, Dale Hanson, Casey Nichols, Daryl Mundell, Mark Janke.
