Dyas Throws Hat in Ring

Hess Dyas of Lincoln announced today (Monday) that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in Nebraska's First Congressional District.

In his comments, Dyas stressed the importance of a strong agricultural economy to urban as well as rural citizens. "I highlight agriculture because that is where the economy of the first district begins," Dyas said. "I will fight for 100 per cent parity for the farmer. That is not only important for the family farm, but it is important for the businesses and salaried workers in our area."

Hitler Rise Is Speech Topic

The Wayne State College Newman Club, a Catholic student organization, will sponsor a talk by Father Bernard Strasser of Norfolk at 7 p.m., Thursday, in the Birch Room of the WSC student center.

Father Strasser left Germany in the mid-1930s with his brother, after one brother was killed by the Nazis. Strasser's brothers had been helping Hitler establish the Nazi party, but Hitler became more aggressive, changing the party platform. The Strassers split from the party and were forced to flee for their lives.

Strasser will speak on Hitler's rise to power in Germany and the social climate that allowed the Nazis to organize. The program is open to the public.

Drive Chairman Reappointed

One of every two persons who will die this year in Wayne County will die of cardiovascular disease," said Roberta Carman of Wayne, reappointed as Wayne County Heart Association drive chairman.

She said that 43 deaths in Wayne County and more than half of all American deaths annually are the result of diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Mrs. Carman, who was chairman for the 1977 Heart Fund drive in Wayne County, will be in charge of the 1978 drive, according to an announcement by physician Herbert Reese, president of the Nebraska Heart Association.

As chairman, Mrs. Carman will coordinate volunteers during the February drive in Wayne County when educational materials will be distributed and money collected to help pay for the Nebraska Heart Association's research, education and community service programs.

According to the association, heart disease is by far America's No. 1 killer, with 950,000 Americans dying from cardio-

Student Competes In Speech Finals

Wayne State College forensics student Mary Topolski was one of the six out of 88 competing students to reach the final round of debate competition at the Second Tournament of the Torrid Tounge at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Nov. 18 and 19.

The freshman from Omaha was entered in the oral "Interpretation of Prose" event, reading selections from "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden." She was eliminated in the final rounds of the tournament. The event was the largest of the day.

WSC forensics director Jay VerLinden said he was pleased with the performances of all Wayne State students and he is looking forward to improved performances during the second semester.

"This will be the first year of the national tournament in individual events," he said. "I think we have several students who could qualify."

Other WSC students participating at the tournament included Valerie Wagner, Nancy Baum, Mary Farfalla and Kerry Gallagher.

The WSC forensics program was re-established in 1976 and has competed successfully in tournaments in Nebraska and surrounding states since that time. The squad will compete in six forensics tournaments during winter semester, including tournaments at Northern Colorado, Northwest Missouri State, Lincoln, Iowa State, Metro State and Southwest Missouri State.

WSC Student Elected to Music Education Post

Kris Larsen, a sophomore at Wayne State College, was recently elected student chairman of the Nebraska Chapter of the Music Educator's National Conference at the group's annual meeting in Lincoln.

The national group of about 64,000 promotes music education throughout the United States. As state student chairman, Miss Larsen will serve a two-year term overseeing student member activities in Nebraska colleges.

Miss Larsen, a music major at WSC, is active in concert and marching bands, orchestra, jazz-rock ensemble, brass ensemble, choir, plays trombone and is treasurer of Tau Beta Sigma (honorary band society).

She first started her music career at Niobrara High School. She attended a country school until the eighth grade, graduated (a class of two) and started playing trombone at Niobrara in the ninth grade.

Kris said that as chairman of the group, she hopes to maintain and improve the group's activities.

Cave-in Claims Life

Wayne firemen and other volunteers worked for nearly two hours Friday afternoon to rescue a 29-year-old Wayne man trapped in an excavation cave-in on the south side of Highway 35 at the east edge of Wayne's city limits but efforts to revive the victim failed. Rodney L. Reeg of Wayne was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Willis Wiseman.

Reeg was standing in the bottom of a 15-foot deep excavation when the bank caved in, burying him under several feet of dirt.

With him at the time was Dean Rasmussen of Ranson Iowa. Rasmussen, employed by a Sioux City implement dealer, was demonstrating a machine being used to tunnel under Highway 35 so water service could be installed between the Region IV child development center building under construction on the north side of the highway, and a water main line on the south side where the excavation was.

Reeg was installing the water line hookup as a sub-contractor. Vakoc Construction of Wayne is general contractor for the project.

According to the Wayne County sheriff's office, Reeg was standing in the bottom of the excavation waiting for the tunneling hose to emerge when the mishap occurred.

Rasmussen tried to dig Reeg out before flagging down a passing car to summon help. He told the sheriff's office two cars passed him before the third finally stopped to assist.

The Iowa man was hospitalized at Providence Medical Center in Wayne for exhaustion from his efforts to rescue Reeg. He was reported in stable condition Saturday morning.

The Wayne police dispatcher received the report of the accident at about 3:15 p.m. and the volunteer fire department, an ambulance from Providence Medical Center, city police, the county sheriff's department, State Patrol officers, city workers, and other volunteers responded to the call.

Rescuers used the backhoe at the scene and hand tools in their attempt to reach the victim. Ambulance attendant Miron Jensen said the bank caved in again once but rescuers were pulled safely from the hole.

He said another man at the scene told him the bank began to crumble a third time. During the rescue operation, volunteers asked law enforcement officers to halt all traffic because vibration from passing vehicles was apparently loosening dirt on the sides of the excavation.

Volunteers were finally able to extricate Reeg at about 5 p.m., but efforts to revive him failed and he was pronounced dead.

Funeral services are pending at Hixco-Schumacher Funeral Home in Wayne.

In Wayne County:

Social Security Benefits Top $3.2 Million

Wayne County's economy is being favorably affected these days by the increased amount of money flowing into the area via Social Security.

According to the latest figures, no less than $3,245,000 a year is now coming in, considerably more than in earlier years.

The growth is due mainly to periodic amendments to the law, which have made more people eligible for coverage and have increased the size of the monthly checks going to them.

As an indication of how much Social Security is yielding at the present time, local residents who are retiring now at age 65 with maximum benefits stand to collect nearly $75,000 in the next 13.7 years, which is their expected future life span.

Based upon the official figures covering the past year, payments in the area are going to some 1,509 people. Five years before they went to 1,356.

Social Security benefits were being paid to residents of Wayne county at the rate of $270,406 a month at the start of 1977, Dale Branch, Social Security manager in Norfolk said today.

Social Security benefits can be paid to retired persons at age 62 and older, to workers who become severely disabled before age 65, and to survivors of deceased workers.

Monthly Social Security checks are also paid to certain dependents of a worker who has retired, become disabled, or died.

Of the 1,509 Social Security beneficiaries living in Wayne county, 860 are retired workers and 44 are disabled workers. Another 288 persons are receiving benefits as the wives or husbands of retired or disabled workers. Widows, widowers and dependent parents of deceased workers number 220.

In Wayne county, 311 people under age 65 and 1,198 people age 65 and older are receiving monthly Social Security benefits. Of total beneficiaries, 558 are men, 824 are women and 127 are

Carroll Firemen Answer Call

The Carroll volunteer fire department answered a call about 7:30 Wednesday morning at the Cliff Kruger farm four miles west and about three and one-half miles south of Carroll.

Three Wayne Residents Win Bingo Prizes

Three lucky Wayne shoppers were winners in Newsco Bingo during Thanksgiving week and will share the $100 prize.

Mrs. Jens Mikkelsen of Wayne received her winning card at Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency. Barbara DeWald received her card at Wittig's Food Center. Roy Sommerfeld, also of Wayne, was a winner, too, but his card was not marked.

Photos of the three winners could not appear in this issue of The Wayne Herald because of space limitations, but will be printed in Thursday's edition.

Winside Schools Will Present Three-Act Play

The Winside schools fine arts department Tuesday will present the three-act comedy "You Can't Take It With You."

Performances are scheduled for 1:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the grade school multi-purpose room. Advance tickets are on sale by members of the Fine Arts Club or can be obtained by calling the school.

Advance ticket prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Prices at the door will be slightly higher, a spokesman said.

Planter Plans Nearly Complete

Wayne residents will be given an opportunity to see what varieties of trees will be going into planters installed in the new sidewalks in the downtown business district.

The downtown improvement committee has reviewed a rough draft plan showing locations of planters and the type of tree designated for each. The committee also authorized Mrs. Gail Korn of Wayne, representative of Marshall Nurseries of Arlington, to prepare a final plan which will go on display in the First National Bank and State National Bank on Friday.

Included in the display will be a map of the downtown area showing the type of tree for each planter and pictures of the tree varieties. A telephone number will be included so anyone with questions about the selections will be able to contact Mrs. Korn.

The committee decided to add the Hick's yew to the listless honey locust, Redmond Linden, and Marshall seedless ash and emerald ash varieties previously selected.

The Hick's yew is a columnar evergreen with short, soft green needles, Mrs. Korn said. The committee decided to include the variety because some sentiment had been expressed toward including a few evergreen trees. Mrs. Korn said the Hick's yew is an evergreen which should do well in a downtown environment. She added that all varieties selected are types with root systems which should not interfere with the sidewalks.

Trees will be provided by private donation. The improvement committee is asking that any groups or individuals wishing to donate a tree make checks payable to the downtown improvement committee, care of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Price for the trees is $30 each. The deadline for donations is Feb. 1, shortly before the order will be placed. The trees are guaranteed for the first growing season after planting.

Committee chairman Roger Nelson said city officials have agreed to help with the plantings in May, including replacing dirt in the planter with a more suitable soil. City workers will also maintain the trees, with advice from Mrs. Korn. The committee also discussed including installation of drainage pipes in each planter when the trees are planted.

Happy Birthday, Maude

A BIRTHDAY cake, roses, and party favors were part of the festivities Tuesday when friends and relatives helped Maude Auker celebrate her 99th birthday. Mrs. Auker, who moved to Wayne County in 1882 with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Benshoof, was an elementary school student in Brenna Precinct during the infamous Blizzard of '88, graduated from Wayne High in 1897, and taught school in Wayne and Dixon counties for eight years. A former Wayne Herald and Sioux City Journal news correspondent, Maude now contributes to the newsletter published regularly at the Wayne Care Centre where she now lives.

Out of Old Nebraska

The popularity of football in Nebraska was not always as great as it is today. Bruises, sprains, and fractures, an integral part of the game from the very beginning, generated much criticism of the new sport during the 1890s.

Following the death of a Doane College player, the Nebraska Legislature of 1896-1897 moved to ban the sport within the state. The February 21, 1897, Nebraska State Journal, on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society, contains the following letter by former NU football player C.M. Skiles criticizing the action of the Legislature:

"To the Editor of the State Journal: Until the bill prohibiting football in Nebraska came before the house for discussion and was committed, few people who know anything about the game really thought anything serious was intended by the Legislature. But when a university graduate such as Mr. Ernest M. Pollard of Cass County willfully or ignorantly misrepresents the game, many could be misled. What few words I may say may not prevent the passage of the bill, but in the name of the young men who have belonged to the university and high school football teams in the past, and in the name of all those who believe in fairness and justice I wish to protest against this ridiculous proposition to make the playing of football a crime.

"In the name of common sense let us not advertise to the world that the Nebraska legislature contains enough old women and sentimentalists to pass a bill to prohibit boys from playing ball lest some of them get hurt. We often hear of the effeminate east. In the New England states as high as 30,000 people attend a single game, including such prominent officials as judges, congressmen and governors. And yet out in the 'wild and woolly west' a legislature proposes to pass a bill to prevent boys from pushing against each other in innocent sport.

"It is generally admitted that there are some rough features about the game of football but these features are being eliminated. In proportion to the number who enter this game very few indeed are injured. Because a player stretches himself out on the ground during a game is no indication that he is hurt. He is probably giving his team a chance to get its breath for a final charge on the enemy.

"I helped organize the first football team in the state university and the first regular team, perhaps, in Nebraska. (Skiles played right end on the 12-man University of Nebraska squad which on Thanksgiving Day, 1890, defeated its first opponent, the Omaha YMCA, by a score of 10-0.) I played on the team three years and have attended nearly every game that has been played in Lincoln since that time, and I challenge the statement that 30 percent or 40 percent or even 5 percent of the players are seriously injured. The game in Nebraska I believe is about ten years old and I challenge any man inside the legislature or outside of it to name more than three players who have been seriously injured during that time.

"Three men have been killed in Nebraska gymnasiums during the last few years. Four or five fatal accidents have happened in sanitariums during that time. Probably one hundred children have been seriously injured in Nebraska during the past ten years from jumping rope and playing pum, pum, pull away. Why not let the instructors and parents regulate these games?

"The statement made in debate on this bill the other day that coaches instruct players how to disable is maliciously false, as is also the statement that a man who plays football can have no standing in the classroom.

"When the university graduate" who is credited with this last statement was in school such students as Fred Hyde, Charles Chandler, Ernest Gerrard, J.C. Parterfield, J.H. Johnston, Shue, Pace, and others were members of the university team. Are these men the 'brutes and prize fighters' that had no standing in the class to whom our friend, who knows so much about football, refers? Had the gentleman from Cass ever read a football rule or attended a football game or even taken enough interest to learn who the members of the football team were while he was attending school he would not now make such ridiculous statements. For then he would have known that these same men who were leaders in athletics were also leaders in debate, oratory and literary work. He would have known that the men who organized the scientific and literary clubs, who edited the college papers and fought their way through school without financial aid from home were football players.

"The lovers of football will have no lobbyists to work against this bill; the galleries will doubtless be filled with sentimentalists, who will applaud the speakers and call the game 'brutal' and the players 'prize fighters.' But the plaudits would be just as loud perhaps if you were speaking in favor of a bill to prohibit girls from chewing gum. You may strike down this game, but if you do, you destroy the game that has done more to create an interest in athletic sports in our schools than all other games combined, C.M. Skiles."

Skiles' fears about the impending fate of football in Nebraska proved unfounded — the bill was defeated. Nebraska football continued with few interruptions to thrive and grow in popularity during the late 1890s and early 1900s.

STRAYEr Thoughts

By Jim Strayer

Someone monitoring the CB radio got a fright last week according to our bookkeeper, Linda Granfield.

Her husband, Monty, was moving a combine when the engine died. He radioed his grandfather, Bud Granfield, to summon help: "Bud, get dad, she died on me."

A reply came over the airwaves from an obviously excited and concerned woman who asked "Bud, Bud, who died?"

Subscriber Writes

Bill Martin, now of Goleta, Calif., wrote an interesting letter when renewing his subscription.

The letter, dated Nov. 19, says it was 31 years ago to the day when he and Lawrence Kohrt left Wayne for Omaha to join the Army Air Corps. Flying apparently got in the blood of the two men. Kohrt is still with the military in The San Diego area. Martin said, while he (Martin) recently retired from the Federal Aviation Administration.

Martin mentions a number of people he has recognized in the paper, including Cliff Pinkleman, Rowan Wittse, and Clete

Sharer.

Easy to Please

I was even paid a compliment — I think. Martin said "I read Jim Strayer's column, and like it." (I'm easily pleased.)

Martin also notes that Dutch Fuelberth issued him his pilot's license in 1946, and reminisces about working for Wayne Ice and Cold Storage when Jack Kingston owned it. He concludes "Sure would like to hear from anyone out this way, or anyone from Wayne that would like to drop a line. If you are ever out here, the door is always open."

Thanks, Bill, for an interesting letter. It was a day brighter for all of us.

Fun on the Run

The Turkey Trot was quite an event and I hope the Second Guessers make it an annual event. Everyone who participated seemed to have a pretty good time, although I suspect there were more than a few sore muscles the next day.

Pat Gross, by the way, did not become deceased as the result of his exertions in the race, despite the impression readers might have got from the picture which appeared in Thursday's paper.

Pat kidded me about that one a little, saying it looked like a "parting shot" to accompany an obituary, or taking a second look. I'm inclined to agree. Next year, we'll take two shots to make sure. On the other hand, we have a saying around here: "The camera don't lie."

Food Specialist Offers Tips To Avoid Holiday Weight Gain

Unfortunately, the days are gone for most persons when they could stuff their stomachs and never gain an ounce. Instead, persons must learn to think of their bodies before their stomachs during the perilous holiday season, says Harriet Kohn of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Kohn, an Extension specialist in food and nutrition at UN-L, says making even a few minor adjustments in eating and cooking habits can mean the difference between maintaining weight and gaining ugly pounds.

"Holidays used to be less of a problem when food wasn't so plentiful every other day of the year," she says, adding that our ancestors would set a bounteous table once or twice a year and give thanks for even having the food.

Today it is common for families to eat well every day and even to eat out several times a week. However, they don't have to go outdoors to "chop the firewood" and work off their food intake as our ancestors did, says the specialist.

Kohn says most persons will probably find themselves in one or both of two roles this holiday season: cook or eater.

As a cook, a little attention to detail can save hundreds of calories for yourself, your family and your guests, and ward off those extra pounds.

Some samples:
— make smaller serving pieces, such as cutting pies in 8 or 10 piece instead of six;
— omit frostings and toppings;
— omit fats from vegetables and pies;
— reduce unnecessary sweet drinks by using ice tea, coffee, water, skim or low-fat milk, or sugar-free soft drinks at meals and for snacks;
— bake a small variety of sweet foods such as cookies, so guests won't feel compelled to taste each one;

— prepare more low calorie foods, such as vegetables;
— use a lower calorie traditional family dish, instead of a rich, high calorie one.

As an eater, persons must practice "defensive eating" to maintain their weight, including:
— plan ahead by cutting down on high calorie foods the week, and especially the day before a holiday meal;

— weigh yourself each morning to keep in touch with your weight;
— if you're on a strict diet, tell your hostess ahead of time and ask for her help in sticking to it;

— if you must sample each variety of cookie, consider going half and half with your spouse or a friend;
— don't take too much food the first time around, but do take more low calorie foods than high calorie ones.

It's easy to have a traditional holiday meal without going overboard on the calories, says Kohn, simply by paying attention to the little things.

Wildcats Blow Early 15-point Lead Free Throws Ice Seesaw Win over Bellevue

Three free throws within the last 30 seconds of the game helped Wayne State salvage an 81-81 victory over Bellevue in the opening game of the 1977-78 basketball season at Wayne Tuesday night.

A basket by Bellevue's Chris Madson with 1:05 to go brought the Bruins to within two points at 82-80, but a pair of free throws by Dale Meyer and another by Mark Olsen with two seconds to go sewed up the victory.

A little earlier Bellevue missed a chance to tie the score when Meyer made a clean steal and coasted in for a layup.

The Wildcats rocketed to an early 16-4 lead by outscoring the visitors 10-0 over a three minute span. Wayne increased the lead to 30-15 with 7:25 to go in the half on a jumper by forward Bob Reason.

That margin didn't stand very long, however. Breakdowns in defense and rebounding enabled the Bruins to run off an 18-4 spurt in the next four minutes, most of the points coming on layups and tip-ins. A short jumper by Joe Peitzmeier just before the gun gave the Wildcats a 36-35 halftime edge.

The game seesawed early in the second half, but then Bellevue's Tim Williams made a layup, stole the ball, scored again and completed a three point play. That gave the Bruins a four point lead with barely three minutes gone in the half.

The Wildcats tied the game four times within the next several minutes, but were unable to regain the lead until reserve guard Lew Sykes tipped in a rebound and converted a free throw to produce a 61-58 lead with nine minutes to go. The transfer from Kankakee, Ill., scored 18 points coming off the bench in coach Jim Seward's run and gun offense. Fifteen men played and nine of them scored.

Olsen, who led all scorers with 22 points, gave Wayne its biggest lead of the half on a 15 foot jumper with seven minutes to play to make the score 69-42.

Although Joe Peitzmeier scored 10 points, his biggest contribution was nine assists — most to Olsen.

Wayne will host Peru State Tuesday night at 7:30.

Frye Believes Wayne Gals Have Potential to be Loop Contender

Curt Frye has some sound reasons to believe that his club has all the makings of a conference contender.

Back on this year's Wayne High girls basketball team are three starters including two all-conference picks and a strong bench to mold what Frye hopes will be a winning club.

West Husker choices senior Sydney Mosley and junior Peg Pinkelman along with junior letterwinner Lesa Barclay lead from last year's 10-7 record which won the Stanton Invitational and finished second to Wisner-Pilger in the West Husker Tournament.

Frye expects Wisner again to be the team to beat in the West Husker. During season play, he picks Laurel and Norfolk High as the clubs to put up the toughest battles.

To confront those battles, the coach said the one area his team will have to work on is ball-handling. "We'll miss our two senior forwards who graduated, Stephanie Dorcay and Julie Overin, but we're hoping to jell with candidates Kelly Frevort, Jolene Bennett and Jackie Sherry," Frye pointed out.

At 5-11, Mosley will man the center position and hopefully will continue her 11-point production that made her team scoring leader. Pinkelman, who averaged seven points, is tabbed again for board duty with her 12 caroms a game.

Another asset on this year's club is Wayne's outside play. Frye feels that if his team uses more of the outside game as far as shooting is concerned, Wayne could open up opposing defenses.

Another letterwinner, Julia Dorcay, and Sue Schwartz may crack that starting lineup if they continue to progress the way they have, Frye said.

The roster: Seniors — Susan Schwartz, Kelly Frevort, Sydney Mosley (all lettermen), Lisa Nuss, Jackie Conner; Juniors — Lesa Barclay, Peg Pinkelman, Sue Proett (all lettermen), Holly Rees, LaVonna Sharpe, Jackie Sherry; Sophomores — Jolene Bennett, Julia Dorcay (both lettermen), Shelly Davis, Stacy Jacobsmier, Jean Koll, Diane Lindsay, Megan Owens, Nancy Thiel.

Student managers — Charlayne Thiel, Dee Ann Pokett, Theresa Melena, Susan Wiener.

Assistant coach — Dave Luff.

Wayne's schedule: December — 1 Madison, 8 at Norfolk, 15 at Laurel, 20 Stanton, 29-30 at Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

January — 5 at Wakefield, 9-10-12 at Stanton Invitational, 17 at South Sioux City, 26 Hartington Cedar Catholic, 28 West Husker Tournament at Wisner-Pilger.

February — 9 Emerson, Hubbard, 14 at Wisner, 20 districts.

9 Veteran Matmen Back To Snap WH Win Record

Making and breaking records seems to have become a pastime at Wakefield High School, especially in the sport of wrestling.

Last year coach Lyle Trullinger's matmen set a school record for the most number of individual wins, but the head man doesn't expect that record to hold up for long.

With nine returning lettermen, including five seniors, Trullinger isn't hesitating to say that this year his men should set a new record in individual wins.

"This is the best bunch of seniors we have had," he said in reference to Bill Newton (112), Lyle Borg (132), Chuck Sherer (145), Dean Sharp (155) and Verdel Ekberg (185).

The strength keeps on going down the line with junior lettermen Mark Muller (167), Steve Oberg (126) and sophomore returnees Blaine Nelson (132), Tim Neuhaus (105) and Mark Schopke (155).

The problems Trullinger foresees for his club are the lower weights and the fact that for the second year in a row the Trojans don't have any returning grapplers who went to state.

The critical weights again this year are 98 and 105 where grapplers Jon Stelling and Neuhaus, respectively, have little experience. Of the two, Neuhaus was the only matman to compete for Trullinger, winning one or two matches.

The coach is counting on his five seniors to provide the leadership plus the victories if he should appear early at 7.

Radtke Named To Take Over For McDougal

Graduate assistant Doug Radtke has been named to temporarily replace Wayne State wrestling coach Joe McDougal who is hospitalized following a one-car accident.

McDougal was injured Sunday evening when his car left the eastbound lane of Highway 35 west of Wayne and went into a ditch, striking the embankment of a county road intersecting the highway.

McDougal, in his first year at Wayne, was reported in stable condition at Providence Medical Center where he is being treated for a fractured right hip, fractured rib and multiple lacerations.

According to a police spokesman, the accident occurred about 11:30 p.m. Sunday, but was not discovered until 12:30 a.m. Monday when hunters happened on the crash. The vehicle was a total loss.

Last week, the Wildkittens of first-year coach Chuck Brewer downed Tarkio, 66-59. EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreifels

WE'RE LIVING LONGER

Nobody wants to grow old, yet everyone wants to live a long time.

Scientists who study aging believe that the time will soon come when the aging process can be slowed down. More and more people are already getting their wish for a long life fulfilled.

Children born in the United States today have a better chance than ever for a longer life. In 1976, the expectation of life at birth in the United States reached a new high of 72.8 years.

A boy born in the U.S. in 1976 could look forward to 68.9 years of life; a girl 76.7 years. In 1900 only 76.4 percent of white male babies could expect to reach age 20. Today 97 percent will do so. Among white females, 79 percent could expect to reach age 20. Today 98 percent will do so.

The most recent gains in longevity were due mainly to the continuing decline in infant mortality. Also contributing to increased longevity was a decline in deaths from heart disease, cerebrovascular diseases, and accidents. The dramatic rises in life expectancy since 1900 was due to general improvements in living conditions and the development of antibiotics and vaccines.

The best longevity records belong to women. A white female born in 1975 can expect to outlive her male counterpart by 7.8 years.

The future also looks bright for those who are reaching 65.

Today the average man of that age can expect to live another 13 years, and the average woman 18 years.

Southside Dairy

The Southside Dairy 4-H Club met the evening of Nov. 17 in the home of Julie and Wes Sprouts. Thirteen members and nine parents were present to answer roll call with a part of the cow.

Two new members, Brent and Dallas Mau, were introduced. A field trip to area dairy farms or associations was discussed and the club decided to go to the Arland Bartling Dairy Farm. Julie Anderson gave a demonstration on the proper care of the cow in a milking parlor. Mrs. Sprouts served lunch.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. on Jan. 19 in the home of Michelle and Mark Kubik. Don Kubik will give the lesson on judging.

Sandi Utecht, news reporter.

Americans drink about 415 million cups of coffee a day and, according to The World Book Encyclopedia, annually consume about one-third of all the coffee in the world.

Fixin' Turkey Dinner

AS A special Thanksgiving treat Tuesday youngsters in Mrs. Charles Denesia's sixth grade language arts class got a glimpse of what turkey day was all about back in the 1600's when the pilgrims gave thanks. LANDS FOR WILDLIFE

LANDS FOR WILDLIFE: Lands for Wildlife is a cooperative effort by the Lower Elkhorn NRD, Nebraska Game & Parks Commission, and the Soil Conservation Service. The program is designed to create new wildlife habitat through contracts with private landowners. Only land previously in row crop production will qualify. The program has 3 alternate plans plus an option for allowing public access by foot only.

GENERAL RULES FOR ALL 3 PRACTICES

- 1) Maximum annual payment to one cooperator for all contracts is $2,500.
- 2) Grazing, haying, or other harvest measures are prohibited unless stated as acceptable in the specific practice.
- 3) Weeds shall be controlled as required by noxious weed law, but control must be accomplished without destruction of wildlife cover.
- 4) Noncompliance with or termination of the contract by the landowner will result in forfeiture of all payments.

BENEFITS OF LANDS FOR WILDLIFE PROGRAMS:

- 1) Increases the amount of undisturbed nesting cover for wildlife, so that their numbers can increase.
- 2) Gives incentive to landowners to take marginal or unsuitable crop land out of production.
- 3) Increased recreational opportunities for those who enjoy the out of doors.
- 4) Control soil erosion which is a major form of pollution in our streams.

PRACTICE I ESTABLISHING PERMANENT COVER FOR WILDLIFE

- 1) Three year contract between landowner and NRD.
- 2) Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 10 acres and 5 acres per plot with a maximum of 80 acres in four tracts.

- 3) Mixtures of sweet clover, native grasses, orchard grass, intermediate wheat grass, madison vetch, alfalfa, red clover, and sericea lepedeza crown vetch have priority with seeding rates according to SCS standards.
- 4) A maximum sign-up of 1,000 acres per year, will be on a first come-first served basis.

PUBLIC ACCESS OPTION

Cooperators in any of the above Practices may receive an additional $2.50 per acre annually for agreeing to permit public access on contracted land, by foot only. This access may be for the purpose of hunting, fishing, and trapping.

PRACTICE III SWEET CLOVER PLANTING WITH OATS

- 1) Two year contract between landowner and NRD.
- 2) Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 10 acres per plot and a maximum total of 50 acres annually.
- 3) Yellow sweet clover is to be planted as a companion crop with oats. Following the harvest of the oats crop, the clover is to remain undisturbed through the second February following seeding.
- 4) Only the oats heads may be harvested, with the stubble to be left standing.
- 5) A payment of $25 per acre will be paid at the end of the two year contract period.
- 6) A maximum of 2,000 acres may be signed up by the NRD each year on a first come-first served basis.

PRACTICE IV EXTENDED SWEET CLOVER PLANTING FOR WILDLIFE FOOD AND COVER PLOT

- 1) Three year contract between landowners and NRD to be entered into during the months of February, March, and April.
- 2) Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 10 acres with a minimum of 5 acres per plot. A maximum of four plots with a total of 80 acres.
- 3) Weed control by mowing, clipping or spraying is prohibited after the first of the year of the contract.
- 4) Yellow sweet clover is seeded at the rate of 10 pounds per acre.
- 5) Payment to the landowner is $25 per acre annually.

In January 1977 Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District approved payments totaling over $44,000 to cooperators with over 1,800 acres under contract. Applying for Lands for Wildlife should be done at your local Soil Conservation Service Office.
