Change in Sewer Line Delays Bid Letting

A last-minute change in the direction of the proposed sanitary sewer interceptor line Tuesday night forced members of Wayne city council to delay any decisions on bid letting for the project.

Before taking a final vote on the project, councilman Vernon

Regent Vote Needed for Dixon Agent

Subject to the approval of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, Dixon county may have a new extension agent by March.

Stanley Starling tentatively has been approved by the Dixon County extension board to take over the position vacated this fall by Roy Stohler.

Starling, 35, currently is at the Cuming County extension office where he is undergoing training until the end of February, said Northeast Station director Cal Ward.

The native of Little Rock, Ark., graduated from Little Rock University with a bachelor's degree in biology. He later earned his master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Missouri.

In addition to teaching while earning his degrees, Starling has worked as a project manager for the national 4-H foundation.

Starling is married and has two children.

Stohler resigned his position the last week of September after eight years as Dixon County agent to accept the newly created office of district extension youth specialist for a 13 county area.

Russell made a motion to stop the line just north of Highway 35 east of Wayne to save the city an estimated $35,000. Russell's motion was seconded by Darrell Fugelbath and given unanimous approval by the rest of the council.

As a result, the council through Bruce Gilmore and Associates engineering firm will have to confer with the apparent low bidder, Midwest Bridge and Construction Co. of Norfolk, to find out if it will change its bid.

The Norfolk firm submitted a bid of $183,762.30 to rank among the lowest of three other companies. Also vying for the project were William Anderson Co. of Kearney, D.A. Davis of Sergeant Bluff, Ia., and Penro of Pender.

If Midwest will not change its bid, then the council will have to resubmit the project for new bids at a later date, according to city clerk Bruce Mordhorst.

As it stands now the sanitary sewer interceptor line will start at the railroad right of way property north of the city sewage lagoon and follow the right of way across Highway 35. An earlier proposal would have had the line extend north beyond Highway 35 parallel to an adjacent county road.

On the subject of sewers, the council set Jan. 31 as the bid letting date for the proposed Roosevelt Park storm sewer. That project would replace an existing open ditch storm sewer which has long been considered by the city council as a safety and health hazard.

On another well-talked about subject, members agreed to assist the Downtown Improvement Committee with planting and watering trees which the committee is hoping to purchase in the near future.

Fugelbath made the motion and Keith Mosley seconded it to have the city cooperate with the committee to replace dirt for the planters. The only councilman voting against the motion was Larry Johnson.

In another motion, Fugelbath requested that the city help water trees for the first year. Despite the objections of Leo Hansen and Russell, the motion passed.

The committee has tossed back and forth the idea of planting annual flowers instead of trees, but following a commission meeting Tuesday members voted to plant trees.

Wayne businessman Roger Nelson, who is a member of the commission, told the council that the decision to go with trees was based upon the expert opinions of Gail Korn of Marshall Nurseries and other towns which have planted trees.

Nelson pointed out that annual flowers would be too insignificant. Most of the time they would be covered up by cars, he said. Vandalism also would be a problem, he went on. Youngsters would be pulling off the leaves and running over the flowers.

Nelson maintained the project would not involve any city funds as far as buying the trees. He said that the committee hopes to pay for the trees through donations from various businessmen and individuals. Cost per tree is estimated at $30.

In other council action Tuesday night, members:

— Appointed Robert Merchant to another three-year term on the civil service board, pending his acceptance. The council also voted to appoint Jocelyn Bull as coordinator of the Senior Citizens Center. The vote to appoint Mrs. Bull, who already is in charge of the center, resulted from a recent motion by the board at its last meeting to place the position of Center coordinator under the administration of the city administrator's office.

— Established a policy recommended by the planning commission for annexing See CHANGE, page 9.

Dr. Knutzen Will Speak To WS Grads

Concord became one of seven communities across the nation last week to own a car with the same name.

The four-door compact called the Concord was delivered to this Northeast Nebraska community of about 200 persons Thursday as a part of American Motors Company's promotion of its luxury compact. The car is equipped with all available options, including a 40 channel factory installed citizens band radio.

Village town board chairman Bob Fritschen said that even though the car is a beautiful and generous gift, neither he or the village had a pressing need for a car. As a result, the Concord will be used by pastors of the town's two churches.

Livestock Lost In Concord Fire

A fire early Sunday morning damaged the inside of a farrowing barn and killed over 100 pigs on the Verle Dean Carlson farm, three miles south and one and a half east of Concord.

Volunteer firemen from Concord were called out about 1 a.m. to battle the blaze which is believed to have started near the doorway.

According to fire chief Bud Hanson, 16 sows and 110 pigs were killed and the inside of the unit sustained extensive damage.

Cause of the fire is still under investigation, but authorities believe it might have started in the wiring.

Firemen extinguished the fire in about 15 minutes.

Dr. Owen Knutzen, superintendent of the Omaha Public Schools, will address 97 graduating Wayne State College students at winter commencement ceremonies Sunday at 2 p.m.

Knutzen's speech is entitled "Every Time and Season Has Some Beauty Of Its Own."

The award-winning Wayne High School band will perform pre-commencement Christmas music at 1:30 p.m. The band was rated one of the top marching bands in Lincoln. Band director Ron Dalton was recently selected the national "Band Director of the Year" by the American High School Band Directors Association.

The ceremonies are open to the public.

Among the graduates are 15 area students. From Wayne are Cristy Pflueger Cameron, Jean Ann Proett, Katherine Ann Reinhardt, Penelope Urwiler, Richard Bareiman, Renee Milligan, Brenda Rubbeck, Gaylin Woodward and Ric Barner. Candidates from Wakefield include Kathleen Potter, Donna Roberts and Celeste Torczon. Three other area graduates are Mark Brogie of Hoskins, Sharon Hanson of Carroll and Thomas Lundgren of Dixon.

Little Damage

A fire about 8:45 a.m. Wednesday did little damage to a vehicle owned by Dr. Peter Black while parked near Haun Building on the Wayne State campus.

According to Wayne fire chief Dick Korn, the fire started in the engine compartment as a result of a gas line leak. The fire was extinguished by the campus security patrol before firemen arrived.

Concord Is at Home in Concord

AMC's newest model, the Concord, arrived last week in the Dixon County village of Concord for a year's stay. The primary users of the vehicle will be the town's pastors, the Rev. Detlov Lindquist, left, and the Rev. David Newman.

'I'm Ready When You Are'

YOUNG Steve Keck anxiously awaits directions from band instructor Keith Kopperud for the start of the fifth grade band's musical presentations during the Wayne Middle School's Christmas Concert Monday night at the high school lecture hall. Hoskins Residents Express Concerns

Community improvement and involvement are the two main issues facing Hoskins residents, according to a handful of persons who turned out for a Town Meeting Tuesday night at the fire hall.

The meeting, a not-so-new concept in community development and betterment, was coordinated by the Institute of Cultural Affairs (ICA) with support by the local Nebraska Community Improvement committee.

The ICA is a non-profit corporation headquartered in Chicago, with over 100 offices in major urban centers around the world. The organization's work ranges from management seminars for business executives to comprehensive community development projects in many locations.

Programs of the ICA are supported by governmental agencies, private foundations, major corporations, denominational bodies, and concerned individuals, as well as from program income.

John McCabe, ICA representative from the Omaha office, told the seven persons attending the meeting at Hoskins that 24 meetings have been held so far in towns across Nebraska, and over 2,000 across the nation. "Nebraska," said McCabe, "now anticipates that by next July at least one Town Meeting will be held in every county."

Persons attending Tuesday night's meeting voiced their hopes and dreams for the Hos-

Want to Learn About Music? Try Building a Speaker System

By BOB BARTLETT

You start to learn a lot about music and what makes it sound good when you invest a few hundred dollars and a lot of time into making your own speaker system.

That's what Joe Teeter and Dale Stoller discovered when they embarked on such a project at the beginning of the school year.

Stoller, who is no rookie at electronics, will be the first to admit that building his own speakers is time consuming and expensive, but most of all fun.

Stoller went to electronic school before he decided to go for a teaching degree at Wayne State where he is in his final year seeking a degree in art.

How did the two meet? What got them interested in taking on such a project?

Teeter was a life guard at Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool this summer when the two started to exchange thoughts about stereos — a favorite pastime for most avid music buffs.

Joe carried his interest in stereo equipment one step further when he visited his dad's ranch in Arkansas. "It was there he learned of a Country and Western band breaking up and selling its equipment. Teeter quickly latched onto a speaker cabinet containing six big speakers and brought them back to Wayne. Ironically, that country and Western group in Arkansas originally started in Dixon.

Both tossed around the idea of building a pair of speakers for each of them, suited to their own music taste. Before they carried on the conversation any further, however, the pair already were drawing up plans and consulting with sound engineers in Fremont, Sioux City and Norfolk.

Through the joint cooperation of Wayne High auto mechanics instructor Bill Wilson and wood building teacher Mike Mallette, Teeter and Stoller were allowed to use the school's facility to work on the project. The only stipulation was that the majority of the woodwork would have to be done by Teeter, a senior in wood-working.

They found that the cheapest material that would suit their needs is particle board for the cabinet. However, another concern was looks, so they decided on mahogany plywood both for its appearance and strength.

For the average music fan, it may seem hard to understand that a strong cabinet is needed to hold together with an elaborate speaker system, but there is a lot of pressure built while playing Stoller pointed out.

To insure the good sound quality they insulated the inside with a three-inch layer of fiberglass to cut down on sound bouncing around and leakage. Without that insulation, Teeter said, the sounds could become inappropriately mixed and create a mixture of sounds unsuitable to their listening pleasure.

The pair figured that buying components and materials to house the speakers would be a money saver. Early estimates show that to build a set of cabinet speakers with a 15-inch woofer, 12-inch speaker and a pair of ten-inch horns would cost over $800 each retail. They have managed to cut that price for one cabinet almost in half.

The cabinets stand four feet high, are two feet deep and 32 inches wide. Total time to cut the wood and assemble the cabinets is estimated at 25 hours.

The toughest part of the project, they both agreed, was the gluing. The reason it's so difficult is that all six pieces of wood for each cabinet has to be glued at one time.

Thanks to the help of instructor Mike Mallette, Teeter pointed out that a lot of problems have been eliminated.

"It sort of startled him (Mallette) on the cost and amount of material needed for the cabinets when we first brought the idea to him," Teeter smiled.

Once they are finished though, the speakers will be one of the finest in Northeast Nebraska, Joe quipped. More pictures, page 8.

TEETER AND Stoller carefully plan out their design for placing their four speakers in each cabinet. The pair have been working on the project since they thought up the idea this summer. Both figure there's a lot of hours involved in the project, but their time spent designing and building the cabinets will pay off in the quality sounds of music.

Carroll is Proud of 100-Year-Old

Communications have progressed from pony express to such inventions as the telephone, satellite and television, transportation has moved forward and skyward, and clothing styles have become much less modest during Mary Morris' lifetime. Mary, who will turn 100 years old this Saturday, has the honor of being the oldest resident of the Carroll community.

Members of her church, the Zion Congregational Church west of Carroll, local townspeople and other friends and relatives shared the occasion with her Sunday afternoon during a dinner and open house reception at the Carroll auditorium.

At church services that morning, Mrs. Morris was honored with a special anniversary song presented by Marilyn Dowling, Megan Owens, Holly Rees and Shauna Roberts.

A dinner with church members and relatives was held at the auditorium with about 75 attending.

Nearly 200 friends and relatives turned out to congratulate Mrs. Morris during an open house reception that afternoon at the auditorium. Guests attended from Oregon, California, Illinois, Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts and Oklahoma, and from Sioux City, Randolph, Carroll, Winside, Tekamah, Fremont, Wayne, Blair, Norfolk, Hartington, Arlington, Craig and Walthill.

The guests were registered by Liz Hammond of Randolph. Mrs. Walter Hammond of Randolph presented the welcome.

John Jones of St. Louis, Mo. read the family history, which was written by Mrs. Morris' 86-year-old sister, Mrs. Jessie Taylor of Salem, Ore. Mrs. Taylor was present for the celebration. In the family history, Mrs. Taylor recalls the multitude of memories, some good and some not so good. "The bad times," says Mrs. Taylor, "Mary has always taken in stride — never complaining, always hopeful, and helpful to those around her. Mary Elizabeth Howarth Morris, one of nine children, was born Dec. 17, 1877, in a dugout house on her parents' homestead in Washington County, Nebr. Mary's father, Thomas Jeffer-

MRS. MARY MORRIS, a longtime resident of the Carroll community, observed her 100th birthday Sunday during a church and family dinner and open house reception at the Carroll auditorium. Pictured with Mrs. Morris at the reception are her children, from left, Don, a resident of the Colonial Manor in Randolph; Harold, who resides with his mother in Carroll; and Mrs. Wilva Brewer of Falls Church, Vir. son Howarth, was a veteran of the Civil War. He came to the Nebraska territory in the early 1870's and married Nancy Jane Bovee, whose family also came to Nebraska in the '70's from Illinois.

Mary recalls her father building an extra room over the dugout to accommodate the growing Howarth family. Later, a new house was built on the homestead. The wood frame structure still stands near Blair as a landmark in the community.

A school was built near the Howarth home, which Mary and her brothers attended. A grocery store, The Spiker Store, was also built nearby and is still operated by the descendants of the original owner.

The Howarth family continued to reside in Washington County until the spring of 1891 when they moved to Wayne County, where Mary has remained since.

In the late 1890's Mary attended Wayne Normal College and stayed in the home of college president J. M. Pile. She obtained her teaching certificate and set out to teach in several schools in Wayne and Cedar Counties. Her last teaching assignment was the Morris School District 44 west of Carroll, in the Welsh settlement. There she met and married Caradoc Morris in 1903.

Mary and Caradoc settled on the bridegroom's farm near the home of his parents, and were active in church, community and school affairs. Eventually, Caradoc's six brothers and their families settled on farms nearby.

Morris' four children were born and raised on the farm. After the death of Caradoc, in 1966, Mary continued to live on the farm with a son, Harold. Just last year Mrs. Morris and her son moved to their present home in Carroll.

Another son, Donald, is a resident at the Colonial Manor in Randolph. A daughter, Mrs. Wilva Brewer, makes her home in Falls Church, Vir. One son, Oberlin, died in a car accident in 1963.

"Through the years," says Mrs. Taylor, "Mary has kept a record of births, deaths, and marriages." Records include not only members of the immediate Howarth family, but those of aunts, uncles and cousins. Still, she writes dozens of letters and keeps in touch.

Mrs. Morris is the oldest surviving member of the Howarth family.

During Sunday afternoon's program, the Welsh men's octet, consisting of Robert I. Jones, Howard Morris, John Rees, Erwin Morris, Lloyd Morris, Stanley Morris, Milton Owens and Leonard Pritchard, sang. They were accompanied by Mrs. John Rees.

Mrs. Robert I. Jones read "My Life is in Thine Hands," and Mrs. Etta Fisher of Carroll read a poem she had written about Mary's life.

The Rev. Gail Axen, pastor of the Zion Congregational Church, was master of ceremonies and introduced Alfred Thomas, Mrs. E.A. Morris, Mrs. T.P. Roberts and Mrs. Jessie Phillips, who told about their experiences while they were school students of Mrs. Morris. Mrs. Phillips recently celebrated her 90th birthday.

Pastor Axen read a congratulatory letter to Mrs. Morris from the Rev. David Jamison, conference minister of United Church of Christ Congregational Churches. Axen read scripture and led in group singing of Christmas carols and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Serving the birthday cake were Mrs. Olive Morris of Harvard, Ill., Mrs. Walter Hammond of Randolph and Mrs. Virgil Brewer of Falls Church, Vir.

Liz Hammond served punch and Mrs. Lloyd Morris and Mrs. Stanley Morris poured.

Marvin Fuosses Mark Silver Wedding Sunday

Winside residents Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Fuoss observed their silver wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at their home.

Hosting the open house reception were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fuoss and Mrs. Ed Thies, all of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Damme of Wayne and Mrs. Sally Fuoss of Carroll.

About 95 friends and relatives attended the event, coming from Hudson, S.D.; Holstein, Ia.; Papillion, Allen, Emerson, Pierce, Norfolk, Wayne, Hooper, Carroll and Winside.

The couple's wedding attendants, who were present for Sunday's celebration, were Mrs. Otto Test Jr. of Norfolk and Edward Thies of Winside.

The anniversary cake, which was baked by Mrs. Karl Frederick, was cut and served by Mrs. Ed Thies. Susan Fuoss poured and served punch. All are from Winside.

Horticultural Gifts Are Practical

One way to return to homemade gifts and the spirit of Christmas is to make gifts using horticultural products, suggests Barbara Voigt-Boltes, home gardening coordinator at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Voigt-Boltes pointed out that a "horticultural gift" doesn't mean expensive floor plants, but simple holiday treats which can be made well in advance of Christmas.

"Starting some plants by propagation and giving the plants you grew yourself is a good idea, and so are flowering houseplants such as poinsettias for amaryllis," she said. Giving a cutting of a plant a friend has admired is another possibility, she noted.

The gift-giver who likes to cook and is also a home gardener has more gift possibilities. "Nut bread or coffee breads can be made ahead of time and frozen," said Voigt-Boltes, adding that there are several recipes for cooking, herb vinegars and potpourris.

If there's a herb garden says the specialist, that produce can be used many ways for gifts, as in dried herbs for cooking, herb vinegars and potpourris.

"Peppermint pouches are a good gift exchange idea and can easily be made by making a small pouch out of a pretty piece of fabric and putting the dried peppermint inside, hang it on the faucet of the bath and the steam will create a nice smell while bathing, she said.

Voigt-Boltes said there are many "gift certificate" ideas involving horticulture which may be used for giving, including a certificate good for one visit to the garden center to buy annual flowers for a person's yard; a certificate to help plant a vegetable garden; or help with reseeding a lawn or pruning fruit trees.

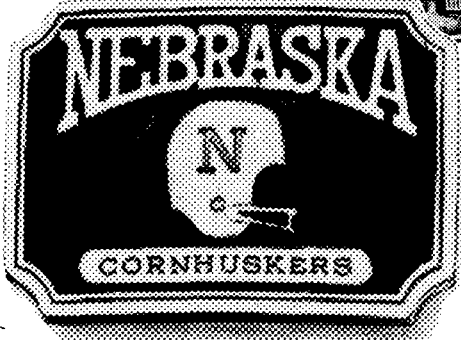

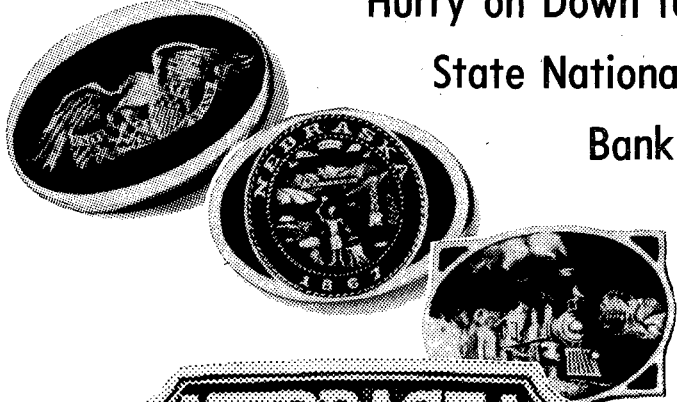

Using horticultural products as gifts is one way to prevent gift-giving from overshadowing the real meaning of Christmas and the holiday season, said Voigt-Boltes.

Fast-Breaking Blue Devils Upset Laurel Quint, 60-58

A little patience on offense mixed with a gutsy defense Tuesday night earned Wayne High a well-deserved 60-58 victory over previously undefeated Laurel.

Using its now-famous run-and-gun style of offense combined with a pressing defense, the Blue Devils all but blew the Bears off the court in the first quarter and maintained a sizeable lead going into the last stanza where Laurel regrouped to make it a battle right down to the wire.

Laurel's game leaders Bob Dahlquist and Ron Gadeken brought their club back to life in the closing minutes as the Bears took the lead for the first time since the start of the contest. With 1:12 left Gadeken canned both free throws for a 58-57 Laurel lead before the locals came back on a driving layup by Brad Emry and a clutch free throw conversion by Jeff Zeiss for Wayne's first win in four starts.

Dahlquist pumped in eight of his game high 14 points in the fourth and Gadeken made nine of his 12 to keep coach Joel Parks' hopes alive that his club could pull out its fourth straight victory.

However, Laurel's game plan suffered a crucial blow late in the third quarter when its second leading pointmaker, 6-5 senior Steve Martin, left the game with his fifth personal.

"We just were a little more patient on offense and we made a few changes," a happy coach Bill Sharpe pointed out after the victory.

Sharpe noted that Wayne's collapsing zone defense and the fact that his club really wanted to beat area rival Laurel were big factors in the outcome.

Another factor, he stressed, was Wayne's 61 percent shooting from the free throw line where the Devils made 20 of 28 charity tosses to sew up the win.

Wayne went into the game winless after three starts. The Devils, who possess little height, compensated against Laurel's 6-6 Dahlquist, 6-5 Martin and 6-2 Steve Anderson with its blazing offense which allowed Wayne to take a quick 24-16 first quarter lead.

Senior Vic Sharpe, who poured in a game-high 19 points, sank 12 in the first quarter and Tom Ginn added eight of his 14 to put the locals in command.

Wayne's board work also made a big difference in the final score. Unofficially, the Devils cleared 45 caroms to the Bears' 30. Sharpe again was the leader with 16; John Keating was right behind with eight.

Laurel had a chance to put the game away with less than 30 seconds left following Emry's basket. However, the Bears' shot missed its target and Wayne came up with the rebound before Zeiss was intentionally fouled with 10 seconds showing on the scoreboard.

Wayne's junior varsity also came out on the plus end Tuesday, dowing Laurel, 69-43.

Slow Start Costs Devils Bid for Win

"It's like we played two different ball games," said Wayne High coach Bill Sharpe after his club lost 74-68 Saturday night to Columbus Lakeview.

The first half Wayne played terrible, Sharpe reflected after his club trailed 49-36. But in the last two quarters both the offense and defense jelled for one of its best performances of the season to close within three points with a minute and a half left in the game.

However, turnovers again stopped the locals from pulling out their first win in three starts in those last seconds.

The biggest difference in the ball game was the fact that Lakeview didn't play the night before. As a result, it took Wayne a while to get going, Sharpe noted.

The Blue Devils, who faced Class A South Sioux Friday night, had to battle back from a huge first-quarter deficit to come within four points before the Cardinals took advantage of five straight Wayne turnovers to walk up the win.

The coach admitted that if Lakeview had played the night before, Saturday night's game may have been a little sloppy, but the locals might have come out on the winning side.

For the night, Wayne shot 35 per cent from the field, while Lakeview converted 31 of 66 tries for 46 percent.

Vic Sharpe led rebounders with 23 of the team's caroms — one area where Wayne held the decisive edge.

Devils Win Stanton Tournament

FROM THE start of the season, Wayne High grappling coach Don Koenig pegged his varsity crew as the kind of wrestlers who will finish high in tournament standings. Koenig's outlook proved true Saturday when the Blue Devils took home the Stanton Invitational trophy out of a field of eight teams. Wayne rolled up 170 points to clip Elgin with 140. On that winning team are Larry Hank (98), Rick Lutt (105), Dave Schock (112), Terry Hamilton (119), Rick Johnson (126), Kirk Echtenkamp (132), Kelly Hansen (138), Ward Wacker (145), Don Stray (155), Dusty Rubeck (167), Alan Schoett (185) and heavyweight Danny Mitchell. First place winners include Lutt, Johnson and Mitchell. Second place were Hank, Hansen and Wacker. Third went to Schock, Hamilton, Echtenkamp and Rubeck.

Wildcats Drop Fourth Straight, 80-64

Wayne State lost its fourth straight basketball game Tuesday night, falling victim to Mount Marty 80-64 at Yankton.

Six-foot, eight-inch center Bill Dawson and 6-10 forward Richard Shipp combined for 56 points as the Lancers' dominant height was too much for Jim Seward's Wildcats, who drop to 3-4 on the season.

Mount Marty raced to an 11-0 lead in the first three minutes, then settled down. Wayne could get no closer than the halftime score of 41-36.

The Lancers opened up the lead to 12 points early in the second half and coasted the rest of the way.

Mount Marty shot 57 percent from the field compared to Wayne's 41 percent. The biggest factor for the Lancers was their 42:17 edge over the Wildcats on the boards.

Mark Olsen led the Cats with 18 points. Joe Curl added 14, Lennie Adams, Dale Meyer and Jay Bellar had six each, Bob Reeson, Joe Peitzmeier and Gary Billings, four each and Bob Kelly, two.

It will go into the record books as a loss, but Wayne State's 110-106 setback at Hastings Saturday night had a silver lining.

Wayne, mired in a slump for the last three games, broke loose for 53 first half points and a one point lead over the Broncos at halftime. The Wildcats, who had shot no better than 35 per cent from the field in their last three games, two of which they lost, connected on 47 per cent from the floor.

The only problem was that Hastings shot 52 per cent for the contest.

Saturday's game was just another example of the tough rivalry the two teams have shared in the last three years. In the last three games played between the two clubs at Hastings, Wayne has lost by eight points in overtime, one point on a tip in at the buzzer and four points Saturday.

Date Meyer was the floor leader for Jim Seward's Wildcats, now 3-3 on the season. Meyer shot 55 per cent from the field enroute to a 25 point performance, the best by a Wildcat cager so far this season.

Four other Wildcats scored in double figures. Mark Olsen had 18 points and Gary Billings added 15, Lennie Adams, 14 and Joe Curl, 12.

The Wildcats yielded 25 points to Bronco scoring ace Paul Bergman.

Cats Nearly Close in on First Win

Winside found that little edge it needed to play its best ball game of the young season Tuesday night, but the Wildcats still lacked that one ingredient to win — scoring.

Invasive Osmond nipped the winless Winside club, 53-47, in what Wildcat coach Sam Colvin called one of his team's best efforts.

Before the game, Colvin and his crew sat down to evaluate the season and what could be done. The team came up with the only solution it could find — establish confidence.

"We went into the game knowing that we had nothing to lose," Colvin reflected about his 0-4 quint. As a result, Winside played a relaxed game.

The Cats stayed with Osmond most of the way, climbing to within two points after three periods, 38-36. However, the Tigers played keep-away ball for the remainder of the contest to stop Winside.

Winside had three players in double figures. Bob Hawkins led the trio with 15 followed by Paul Roberts with 13 and Bruce Smith with 12.

Three players also led in rebounds. Mann, Roberts and Chuck Peter all had eight.

"We rebounded well (34 for Winside; 36 for Osmond) and we hustled and played good defense," Colvin pointed out.

Both clubs were about even from the field, Winside made 21 baskets compared to 23 for Osmond. Leading scorer for the Tigers was Kent Edwards who made 17 points including all seven of Osmond's charity tosses.

6:45 p.m. Team 4 vs 2; 8 p.m. 5 vs 1, and 9:15 p.m. 6 vs 7. Team 3 will play Dec. 27 at 8 against Team 1 of the B league.

Radioactive Source Aids Class With Physics Study

Wayne State College recently purchased equipment that will allow students to examine the elemental structure of compounds without destroying the materials.

A radioactive source was purchased for college use in physics and physical science classes. The source will be used to make small objects temporarily radioactive for study purposes. Previously a chemical process was used that destroyed the study compounds.

WSC science instructor Dean Metz said the new source will allow study objects to be "bombarded" with radioactive neutrons through a beam directed at the object. Since certain elements become radioactive at different rates when exposed to neutrons, Metz said the composition and elemental structure of the object can be determined.

WSC science classes had previously received small radioactive study materials from the Veteran's Hospital in Omaha through the federal mail system. Study materials were therefore restricted in size and classes often did not have study materials available on a timely basis. Metz said the new source will be valuable in providing an immediate accessible source and more extensive training in science classes at Wayne State.

"Students will be able to have more classroom experience in analyzing materials," he said. "It is available to us when we want it rather than around someone else's schedule."

The source is contained in metal cylinders about four feet high and two-and-one-half feet wide. The cylinders are packed with 400 pounds of paraffin to prevent radioactive leakage. The source contains a small amount of Plutonium and will be officially inspected twice each year.

Metz said only authorized persons will have access to the cylinders which are stored in restricted areas. He said the source gives off very little radiation and is safe for college use.

"More radiation is given off by a radium-dial watch than is given off by this," Metz said.

The source is the first of its kind in Wayne County.

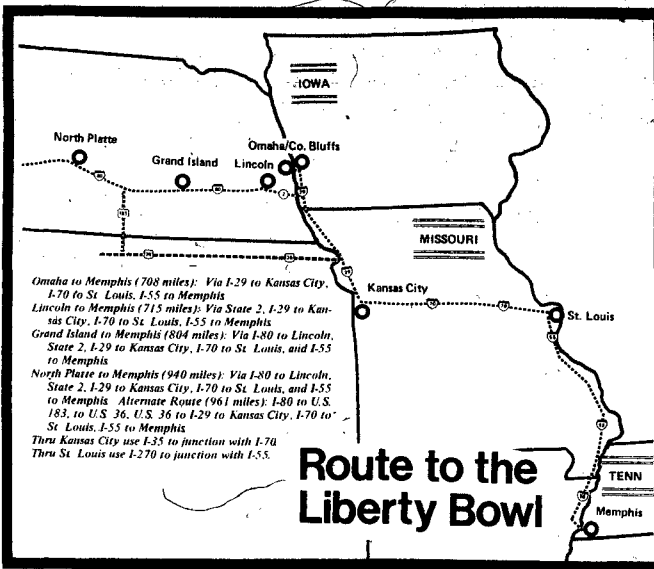

SCIENCE INSTRUCTOR Dean Metz checks the amount of radioactivity around the new equipment purchased by Wayne State College. Metz said more radiation is given off by a radium-dial watch.

Nebraska Edges Wayne Gals

The University of Nebraska women's basketball team took advantage of Wayne State's shooting troubles Monday at Lincoln to post a 71-69 win over the Wildkittens.

The Kittens, 4-2, shot only 34 percent for the night and were forced to play catch up basketball most of the evening after the lady Huskers reeled off the first nine points of the game.

Connie Kunzmann and Julie Brinkman were the big guns for coach Chuck Brewer. The duo combined for 21 of Wayne's 32 first half points. Kunzmann finished the game with 22 points and Brinkman, 20.

A layup by Kunzmann gave the Wildkittens their first lead of the game, 26-25 with 7:25 to go in the first half. The Huskers, however, exploded again, this time with eight unanswered points to take a comfortable 42-32 lead at intermission.

Nebraska took its biggest lead of the contest with 16:48 to go at 45-34 on a basket by Jan Crouch. Wayne closed the gap slowly, finally knotting the score at 61 with 6:19 to play on a basket by Lori Erwin. Erwin almost single-handedly pulled the game out of the fire for the Kittens in the last four minutes.

She tied the score at 65-65 on a jumper and tied it twice later in the game. Anita Bahr scored the winning bucket for Nebraska with 58 seconds left.

Wynot Dumps Cats in 4th

Wynot opened up its guns in the fourth period with a 20-point performance Friday night to hand Winside its third straight loss, 50-32.

Senior Kirk Schroeder pumped in 14 points and two other teammates sank 12 points each as the Blue Devils broke away from a 19-11 halftime score.

Winside, which was led by Paul Roberts with 18, developed a cold shooting streak in the second half, finishing the game with 28 percent.

Turnovers and Wynot's last quarter surge were the big difference in the outcome of the game, said Winside mentor Sam Colvin. "We had several chances to win but just didn't do it."

Crucial Turnovers Halt Wakefield at Emerson

Two crucial turnovers in the closing seconds Tuesday night cost Wakefield a chance to win its second game of the season as host Emerson-Hubbard came back to post a 51-48 win.

The Trojans led throughout most of the game until 27 seconds left when Emerson's Dean Peters sank a basket to put his club in front for the first time in the game. The breaks continued for the Pirates when the Trojans twice gave up the ball.

Wakefield enjoyed a 28-23 half-time lead and spread the margin to seven points at one time in the third quarter. Behind the scoring of Russ Fuscher with 13, Emerson whittled the lead in the second half to hand Wakefield its first loss in two games.

Neither team played well. Trojan boss Joe Coble pointed out. Towards the tail end of the game, the coach went on, the players lost their poise because they don't have the experience. However, Coble said, mistakes are a part of learning the game.

Osmond Takes Overtime Win

In an overtime decision, Osmond pulled out a narrow 41-39 win Tuesday night of hand Winside coach Kathy O'Connors club its first loss in two games.

The Tigerettes leading point-makers, Gail Krohn and Donna Koehler with 14 and 13 points respectively, tossed in the winning points in overtime. Koehler swished the nets and Krohn converted both free throws.

Marci Thomas, who came off the bench in the last period, sank the tying basket to put the game in overtime. She also made both free throws in overtime.

Winside, which shot only 27 percent from the field, had trouble at the free throw line where it made only five of 21 attempts.

Low-Income Families Will Receive Increase in Food Stamp Allotments

Food stamp recipients will be getting some help this winter in meeting rising food costs and utility bills, according to Harriet Kohn, extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Food stamp allotments for low-income families will increase Jan. 1 by at least two dollars for all households except single persons, she said. Food stamp allotments are adjusted every six months.

Additionally, households experiencing substantial increases in utility bills this winter will be able to buy food stamps at a reduced cost, Kohn said.

"The cost of utilities is going up so much and where there's only so much money, families may have to sacrifice buying Victors surprised

A surprise housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Roland Victor was held Friday evening in the couple's new farm home near Wayne.

Fifty-nine friends and relatives attended. Cards were played, followed with a cooperative lunch.

Just How Cold Is It?

LAST WEEK'S subzero temperatures combined with strong northerly winds, created a lot of questions about just how cold the temperatures really were. To help answer those questions the Nebraska Water Resources Center at UN-L prepared a graph to illustrate what the weatherman means when he talks about wind chill index. For example, with the temperature at two degrees Fahrenheit (horizontal dotted line) and the wind velocity at 25 mph (diagonal solid line), the wind chill index (vertical dotted line) would be 41 degrees below zero.

Careful Calculations

THE PURPOSE of the building project for Joe Teeter and Dale Stoller is to provide themselves with the best sound in music possible. The pair know they could have bought speakers close to the kind they want, but the cost would be almost doubled what they paid themselves to build the four-way speaker system. Right now neither one have any aspirations of going into the speaker building business, although Joe is tinkering with the idea of helping others build similar speakers.

Representative Dan Sherry of the comprehensive board told members that the last update was in 1973, at a cost of about $5,000. However, there have been many changes taking place since that time so a change is in order. Sherry pointed out. Estimate cost of the new update would be between $10-$12,000, Sherry said.

— Learned that customers of Peoples Natural Gas in Wayne will see a small decrease in their bills issued on and after Friday. Keith Mosley, manager of Peoples, told mayor Freeman Decker in a letter that its supplier, Northern Natural Gas, is reducing its price per one hundred cubic feet by .95 cents.
"People will compute and will issue full credit with interest on a future bill to those customers who were billed the higher rates on their November bill," Mosley said.

Hoskins —

kins community, then analyzed the challenges facing them. During the second half of the event, the group discussed practical proposals for local action needed to meet community challenges.

In citing past achievements of the Hoskins village during the past few years, Lyle Marotz said rural electrification has provided better electrical service to residents, and said the community's cultural growth has included the construction of a new church, Trinity Lutheran Church.

Other past achievements have included new pavement and sewer about two years ago, a modern fire hall, and school facilities.

The representative group attending the meeting, however, showed concern over community betterment. Noting the small group of individuals attending the Town Meeting, concern was expressed in finding ways to encourage residents to attend gatherings such as the one Tuesday night.

A general feeling of discouragement was evident when it was brought to attention that the mayor, town board representatives, and other elected officials were unable to be present at the meeting to hear proposals.

McCabe, however, assured the group that concrete results have come about from similar meetings conducted in other small communities, in which only a few concerned citizens organized.

Other struggles facing Hoskins residents, as outlined Tuesday night, include vandalism, a new water well to provide adequate distribution, constant upkeep of streets, getting rid of junk cars, keeping dogs confined, attracting business, and improving old housing facilities.

Although economic, cultural and political factors stand in the way of immediate community improvement, proposals were drafted Tuesday night as a beginning in implementing practical solutions.

Ideas expressed include a special day set aside in which junk cars would be taken to a salvage firm, a campaign to tie up dogs, a community workday in which streets could be fixed up, an annual celebration to attract persons to the community, and stricter law enforcement of community pranks.

Future dreams for the community, as expressed at the Town Meeting, include a swimming pool and park, and adequate law enforcement.

McCabe said a document of results of Tuesday's session will be drafted and presented to community leaders.

Attending the meeting from Hoskins were Carl Wittler, George Wittler, Frieda Meierhenry, Vera Brogie, Lynnette Henzler and Mrs. Erwin Ulrich.

Concord —

Concordia Lutheran agreed to use the car on a monthly rotational basis. The only stipulation, Fritschen noted, was that the use of the car could be preempted for several needs of senior citizens in town who don't have transportation for medical and dental appointments, or for picking up prescriptions and the like.
Last August Fritschen and mayors of 12 other communities named Concord across the United States were invited by AMC officials to Detroit to view and test drive the Concord. Of the 13 invited, seven made the trip to Detroit where they were informed that their towns would receive a Concord free for one year.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"When we give Christmas presents in His name, let us remember that He has given us all we have and, to save us from our sins, He came to earth and gave us Himself."

Sigrid Undset
Christmas is such a happy time. Children can hardly bear the excitement and suspense of waiting to see what presents they will receive. Who would deny the tiny tots the thrill of believing in Santa Claus?

As adults, we may wonder if Christmas hasn't been over-commercialized, with too much emphasis on gifts and too little on the underlying significance of the event we celebrate. Let's try to keep Christ in Christmas.

May the joys as well as the meaning of Christmas make the Holidays happy for you and yours. May Christmas be more merry for all because of its deeper significance.

Federal courts warn state to make penitentiary reforms, or else...

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — The Legislature's Appropriations Committee was warned recently that federal courts might come knocking at Nebraska's door if penitentiary reforms aren't made.

State correctional services director Joe Vittek told the committee that federal courts could order the construction of new housing facilities at the penitentiary if the state fails to begin work on the project.

The construction project, which has an estimated $18.6 million price tag, should get underway during the 1978-79 fiscal year with a $4.2 million appropriation, Vittek said.

In asking for the 1978-79 appropriation to launch the massive project, Vittek reminded the committee that federal courts have intervened in prison cases in Alabama, Arizona, Texas and Florida. The same could happen in Nebraska, he said.

In addition, Vittek said he needs another $973,000 in state tax dollars to provide for 64 more inmates at the new Lincoln medium-minimum security facility. The extra funds would increase the facility's capacity from 256 to 320 inmates, he said.

Another state request to present its 1978-79 budget agency to the committee this month was the State Patrol, which is asking for a $7.2 million increase over its current general fund appropriation.

Among the items in the patrol's budget is $100,000 for the much-discussed drug cash fund.

Legislative fiscal analyst Jim Hanton told the committee that the patrol has previously had a carryover of funds from one budget to another. For example, he said, there was a $35,000 carryover in the drug fund from the 1976-77 budget to the 1977-78 budget.

"A $100,000 (general fund) appropriation may not be needed for fiscal year 1978-79," Hanton said.

But Col. C.P. Karthaus, superintendent of the patrol, defended the $100,000 request by saying it is necessary for the patrol's drug program to be effective.

"We may go out with $30,000 and recapture it" during a drug raid, Karthaus said, "but we can't do those things without money."

Changing Faces

The Nebraska officials who have spent a decade or more in state government will be joining private industry when the new year rings in.

State budget administrator John Jacobson has resigned to take a position with Valentino's Inc. of Lincoln, and Legislative clerk Vincent Brown will step down Jan. 15 to join the Nebraska Petroleum Council.

Jacobson has served in state government since 1967, when he worked for Gov. Norbert Tiernan. He was appointed to his current position by Gov. J. James Exon, who called Jacobson "a key member of my staff."

Brown, who served 11 years as clerk of the Legislature, will replace Chace as executive director of the Nebraska Petroleum Council, which is affiliated with the American Petroleum Institute.

Water Issues Surface

Nitrate levels in water and groundwater ownership rights were among the topics discussed recently at a public hearing before the Legislature's Public Works Committee.

Water bills gained little attention during the 1977 legislative session, but Aurora sen. Maurice Kremer's committee seems determined to tackle some water issues next year.

During the committee's last scheduled public hearing of a year, a legislative researcher suggested that the Legislature find a way to monitor nitrate levels in municipal water systems.

John Albin said 41 Nebraska communities have nitrate levels in at least one municipal well that are higher than the Environmental Protection Agency says is safe.

The state should take care of the nitrate problem as soon as possible, Albin said. Preventing a rise in nitrate levels now would be cheaper than trying to resolve the problem later, he said.

In addition, Gordon Peterson, former counsel to the committee, suggested that the lawmakers avoid groundwater ownership legislation during the 1978 session.

Peterson said groundwater ownership laws are not a top priority issue in Nebraska because the courts have already dealt with the problem.

According to Peterson, the courts have held that groundwater can be used by, and in some respects belongs to, the landowner whose property is above the water supply. The state also should have reasonable control over use and ownership of groundwater, he said.

Peterson did recommend, however, that the Legislature go along with Natural Resource Districts on any suggestions they have for changes in laws relating to groundwater control areas.

Freshman Senator Dies

Norfolk sen. Keith Boughn, who was elected to the Unicameral in 1976, died of a heart attack in his hometown on Dec. 7. He was 52.

Boughn, a long-time educator, was a member of the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare and Public Works committees. He is survived by his wife and three children.

Barnett Drafts Bill

Lincoln Sen. Wally Barnett said he will introduce a bill during the 1978 legislative session that would remove the state fire marshal from the "political arena."

The former deputy state fire marshal said the bill would place the fire marshal under the control of the Nebraska Fire Safety Appeals Board. The fire marshal currently is appointed by the governor and serves at the governor's discretion.

"The biggest problem is to try and get it (the position) away from the political overtones of the job," Barnett said.

In addition, Barnett said his bill would change some of the fire marshal's current duties and expand the role of the appeals board.

Among the new duties of the appeals board would be to appoint the fire marshal and set the salary for the position Barnett said.

Coverup of Nudity
In an effort to keep minors from looking at nude photographs on books and magazines, Falls City senator Nelson Merz says he will introduce a bill next year to take care of the problem.

Merz said his proposed bill would require that all books and magazines with nude photos on their covers be enclosed in a fully opaque wrapper. The coverup legislation would apply only to books and magazines sold at newsstands and in other public places where minors are present, he added.

"I know we can't eliminate all the books, but this way we'll at least cover them up," Merz said.

OBSERVATIONS

Guest Editorial

A kooky breed

Maybe it's the daily pressure or maybe newspaper people are a bit kookier than the rest of the world, but in general the public feels the profession breeds a somewhat cynical outlook on life. My personal viewpoint is that we are not cynical but realistic.

The whole point of the first rambling paragraph of this little piece is that very often editors, because of age and other factors, tend to let off a little steam by jolting down some of the foibles that have led to premature baldness, a fat little tummy and a realistic (or "cynical" if you prefer) outlook on life.

I've never been very good at it because I usually blow my cool over antics of others and immediately dismiss the inanities from my mind. A secondary reason might be that my memory is shorter than a line of credit at a bookie joint.

But the late Jack Harris, a Kansas newspaper editor, got it all together one day and came up with some musings that, if taken properly, are somewhat comical. Of course, you readers all understand that what follows applies only to Kansas. We Nebraskans would never have any trouble over this stuff. But here it is:

No one gets mad at being called a "woman" in print instead of a "lady" except a female who obviously isn't one. A subscriber will forgive anything except being credited with the wrong middle initial.

The only ones who are offended on being asked for cash in advance are those who didn't intend to pay the bill anyhow.

No one gets arrested for drunken driving except those with old mothers whose hearts are so bad that slight of any unfavorable news about their children would be their death warrant.

The man who says he never wants to see his name in the paper means only that he wants to be the sole judge of when and how it shall be printed. It is only during Lent that the socially active want the accounts of their doings censored lest their ministers read them. The rest of the year it is those they do not invite to their parties from whom they want the news kept.

If a question rises in a reporter's mind whether a certain story should be printed, the answer automatically is "No."

When a politician states that something is "off the record" it isn't worth the space anyhow.

The quickest way to kill a scandal as a subject of popular conversation is to print the facts...fresh, full and frankly.

The surest way to create second offenders is to give first offenders the benefit of nonpublication of their misdeeds.

In seven cases out of ten it will be found under cross-examination that back of the request to have the issuance of a marriage license omitted from print is the fear the bride will lose her job.

The only ones who don't object to being referred to as "prominent citizens" are those who aren't.

The quickest cure for those who insist on having items printed "exactly as they are turned in" is to do it.

Don't expect the police to enforce any laws which any substantial minority of the people, by habit and by choice, break.

Home talent shows are never attended by anything but "large and enthusiastic audiences" and be sure not to omit the name of a single member of the cast.

When you are at a loss to find news anywhere else, get a haircut.

The person who makes good his threat to stop the paper invariably will be found reading his neighbor's even more assiduously than he ever did his own.

In even the most carefully proof-read paper, you'll find an occasional typographical error in the obituary column.—York News Times.

'Carter Administration Stirring Pessimism'

The Carter Administration has good reason to be worried about business confidence. Pessimism reigns in 75 percent of the nation's executive suites, according to a new Business Confidence Survey jointly conducted by the National Chamber and the Gallup Organization. And one of the biggest reasons for the gloom is that over half of the respondents expect the government to do a "poor job" of fighting inflation and unemployment, while only two percent expect government to do a "good job."

Why should anybody care how "confident" business people are? Because when business decision-makers fear trouble ahead, it can become a self-fulfilling prophecy. Job-creating investment gets postponed. The many transactions that would take place in the course of building new factories, houses, or widgets do not take place. It all translates into a depressed level of economic activity; into stagnation rather than growth.

There is a wealth of interesting detail in the survey, which I will save for a future column (in case I don't get around to it, a full report will appear in the January issue of our monthly magazine, Nation's Business). For now, I think it is more important to dig into this confidence problem: Why does the Carter Administration make business nervous? Here is how I see it, based on what I hear from business people around the country.

So far, this Administration's bark has been consistently worse than its bite. But "confidence" being two parts tangible and three parts psychological, it isn't necessary for the President to bite anybody to cause economic trouble. The President and his key aides have a way of making statements and gestures that confuse the business community and cause great concern. Often, nothing comes of the unsettling proposals, but by that time much of the damage has already been done.

Some concrete examples:

Tax "reform." Nothing the President has done or proposed to do has upset business people as much as the early Administration tax reform ideas. To managers who are already seeing their capital steadily eaten away by the combination of inflation and present tax rules, the prospect of taxing capital gains as ordinary income looks like the end of the ballgame. On top of that, the President's much-publicized attacks on the "three martini" lunch seem to signal that tax reform is being shaped more by political than economic considerations. This impression is reinforced by his proposal to make employers pay a higher share of the Social Security tax than employees.

Lately, Administration spokesmen have been backing away from complicated tax reform in favor of simple tax reduction. That's a move which would please business people and help the economy. But the Administration blunts the psychological beneficial impact of this change by proclaiming that the controversial reforms will come later, which leaves executives fearfully waiting for the other shoe to fall.

Regulatory reform. The President came to office on a promise of making the Federal Government less powerful and less intrusive. But with the possible exception of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, there has been more talk than action toward streamlining the bureaucracy. In fact, there has been significant movement in the opposite direction. There was an attempt (fortunately unsuccessful) to add a consumer protection activities in Washington. And there is Mr. Carter's complex, inefficient and costly "energy program," which is still hung up in Congress.

Labor relations. The President gave tacit support to the Common Sense picketing bill, which was defeated anyway — a defeat that was beneficial to consumers and business. He pushed (unsuccessfully) the Cargo Preference Act, a costly subsidy to the maritime unions. And he is still trying hard to secure enactment of a package of labor law changes favored by the AFL-CIO. These changes would make union organizing easier, to the detriment of businesses, consumers, and workers who would prefer to remain independent.

Inflation and the budget. The President still speaks of balancing the budget, which would help to reduce inflation. However, he still entertains talk of costly new government programs, such as public service jobs and national health insurance. This talk calls into question the sincerity of his interest in budget-balancing.

In summary: When you put it all together, you see an Administration whose sincere good intentions could be doomed to failure by vacillation due to a lack of clear priorities. And inconsistency is the most difficult condition for business to cope with.—Richard Lester, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?

A test car brakes to a stop on glare ice during the National Safety Council's winter driving test program. Stopping ability of various types of tires, tire chains and other equipment are evaluated in the annual test program.

Pointing up the extreme hazard of driving on glare ice, these tests show that stopping on glare ice may take as much as nine times the normal, dry pavement distance. The tests also disclose that conventional snow tires are of no help in stopping on ice, while studded tires reduce braking distance by 19%, and reinforced tire chains by 50%.

'Maybe Farmers Should Have Second Thoughts About a Strike'

Dear Editor:
In regard to the farmers strike now very much in the news — I'm afraid I'm not very sympathetic to their plight when I see them driving their new, huge, expensive tractors in the "drive-ins" to the different state capitols. I feel this points out the problem. Our farmers have brought the low prices of produce on themselves. Why should we all pay for bailing them out of their financial predicament brought on by poor management?
The low price of corn, for example, is due to an over abundance of the product. Does it make sense for the farmers to spend huge amounts of money on fertilizers, pesticides, weed killers and then irrigation and gas or some fuel powered dryer? Now they expect the government (and remember, we are the government, and I) to pay for their extravagance.

Let's back up a bit and start using some common sense. Wouldn't it be better for everyone? Now too much fertilizers and pesticides are being put into the soil and it ends up in our water supplies. It kills our wild life. The irrigation is lowering our states water level. What about our drinking water? Can grain be turned into that?

O.K. Mr. Farmer — Am I totally wrong? If I am — I apologize. If not, maybe you should make a few changes in your way of doing things. — I've Been Thinking

American Agriculture Still Battling Policy Of Cheap Food — Exon

A continuing domestic cheap food policy is the biggest single problem facing American agriculture, and it will take concerted, unified action by farm organizations to change it, according to Gov. J. James Exon. Noting that agriculturalists are "independent critics," he told those attending the annual banquet of the Nebraska Poultry Industries Inc., at Columbus that it would be refreshing to see national farm organizations unite to achieve common goals through long range planning.

Mid-winter is the time for swine producers to keep an eye out for symptoms of TGE. Swine producers who have sows approaching farrowing should be cautious about bringing in new hogs to the farm and should avoid introducing new breeding stock prior to farrowing. A rule among swine men is, do not purchase new hogs for one month before of 15 days after a scheduled farrowing. There is still much to be learned about the spread of the disease which can completely wipe out all pigs under a week of age within a few days. Quite often outbreaks can be traced directly to the addition of new swine to the premises. It's also possible that the disease may be spread by birds, wild or tame animals or by humans or vehicles traveling from one pen to another. This means that another good management rule would be to keep neighbors or visitors out of the farrowing house and the breeding herd. TGE is a viral infection of baby pigs, causing severe diarrhea and vomiting. It is very infectious, can spread rapidly and can affect pigs of any age, but the older the animals are the less apt they are to have serious problems with it. The older hogs often show watery discharge three or five days and then suddenly recover. A vaccine is available, but seldom used on Nebraska herds. The vaccine is administered three to six weeks prior to farrowing to produce immunity in the sow and then pass it on to the baby pigs through colostrum in her milk.

Dr. Yeutter: We Need to be Aware Of Water Problem

"The biggest problem in the water area is an awareness problem," according to Dr. Exon also listed the following proposals necessary to ensure parity support for farmers: —More aggressive selling of farm products, both domestically and internationally. —Discard the traditional "cheap food" policy and increase the level of agricultural awareness amongst the population. —Liberalize government loan policies to help farmers more orderly market their products. —Tighten inspection and label imported meat supplies. —Barter directly for oil and fertilizer with agricultural products. —"Keep up the pressure" through agricultural organizations. —Monitor the Chicago Board of Trade to eliminate its "disruptive short-selling techniques." —Develop a Nebraska gasohol program. —Demand implementation of the USDA-proposed 10 percent set aside program for corn and feed grains, and amend the farm bill to provide a minimum target price of $2.50 a bushel for corn instead of the $2.10 now proposed.

Six states are involved in what is called the "High Plains Groundwater Study." The states, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, all have water problems and the study hopes to assess such things as national and regional impact, price implications, agriculture, environment, supply of water, energy price, dryland farming and non-agriculture and potential assessments. The $6 million study is scheduled to be completed in 1981.

Bergland Outlines Set-Aside Acreage for '78

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland announced final rules for set-aside and normal crop acreage (NCA) provisions for the 1978 programs where a set-aside requirement is proposed. The Secretary announced the following decisions: Grazing will be permitted on set-aside acreage six months of the year. ASC state committees will establish a continuous six-month nongrazing period between Feb. 28 and Nov. 1. This period may vary by counties within a state. For areas that graze barley and wheat, the final date for spring grazing will be the latest date that acreage for harvest is normally grazed.

For all states, crops in the normal crop acreage (NCA) include the following: barley, field corn, grain sorghum, rice, wheat, upland cotton, oats, rye, soybeans, flax, dry edible beans, sunflower, sugar beets and sugar cane. Volunteer acreage of those crops which are harvested for grain included. Any of the crops grown for cover or greenmanure are not included. In addition to approved cover and practices in the proposed rules, ASC state committees may recommend other practices or cover which will effectively protect the set-aside from wind and water erosion, such as stubble or stubble mulch. The cross-compliance provision on a farm will be amended to provide that price support on sugar beets and cane will not depend upon compliance with set-aside and NCA requirements. Secretary Bergland also said that ASC state committees have recommended additional crops for inclusion in NCA for their states. Those recommended and approved are: Arizona - potatoes and safflower; Idaho - peas and lentils; Illinois - popcorn and sweet corn; Indiana - popcorn; Iowa - popcorn; Kansas - popcorn; Kentucky - popcorn; Maine - potatoes; Maryland - sweet corn; Michigan - potatoes and sweet corn; Minnesota - potatoes, sweet corn and millet; Missouri - popcorn and peas; Nebraska - potatoes, popcorn and millet; Nevada - potatoes; North Dakota - potatoes; North Carolina - potatoes, safflower and millet; Ohio - potatoes, popcorn and sweet corn; South Dakota - millet; Washington - peas and lentils; Wisconsin - potatoes, sweet corn and peas.

WHEAT PRODUCTION UP 9 PERCENT

Nebraska wheat growers produced 103.3 million bushels of wheat in 1977, 9 percent above last year but 9 percent below the 1958 record large crop, according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The final yield of 35 bushels per acre was up three bushels from last year but was seven bushels below the record high set in 1971. Harvested acres for 1977 were estimated at 2,950,000, the same as 1976.

OAT PRODUCTION UP 40 PERCENT

Production of oats in 1977 totaled 38.9 million bushels, 40 percent above the 1976 crop of 27.7 million bushels. The yield at 58 bushels per acre was 16 bushels above last year and was seven bushels above the previous record high of 51 bushels set in 1971. Harvested acres for 1977 were estimated at 670,000 were two percent above 1976.

BARLEY PRODUCTION UP 6 PERCENT

Growers produced 1.5 million bushels of barley in 1977, six percent above 1976's crop of 1.4 million bushels. The final yield at 45 bushels per acre was nine bushels above 1976 and was five bushels above the previous record high of 40 bushels set in 1971. Acres harvested were 15 percent below last year.

RYE PRODUCTION UP 37 PERCENT

Production of rye in Nebraska during 1977 totaled 1.1 million bushels, 37 percent above last year. The average yield per acre was 21 bushels, four bushels above 1976 but was seven bushels below the record high 1971 yield. An estimated 50,000 acres were harvested, up 11 percent from 1976.

Secretary Expands 1977-78 Program

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland last week expanded the Nation's Grain Reserve Program to make 1977 crop wheat and 1977 and 1976-crop corn, oats, sorghum and barley eligible for the reserve.

Previously, only 1976-crop wheat and rice that was already under loan or covered by a purchase agreement was eligible for the program.

The goal of the farmer-held reserve program is to store about 17 million metric tons of feed grains and 8.9 million metric tons of wheat. Bergland said the Department will operate the program by offering farmers three year loans on their grain and by providing them with storage payments for the duration of the program. Primary emphasis will be on keeping the stocks in farmer's hands, he said.

Department officials said that they are aiming for a feed grain reserve "mix" of about 75 percent corn, 11 percent sorghum, 8 percent oats and 6 percent barley. Storage payments to participating farmers will be 20 cents per bushel for wheat, corn, sorghum, and barley and 15 cents per bushel for oats. Eligibility to put grain into the reserve will be on a first come, first served basis. After the limits have been reached, the program will be closed to new applicants.

Under the program, wheat farmers will be permitted to repay the loan, sell the commodity, and retain earned storage when the National average market price reaches 140 percent of the current National loan rate for wheat (the "release" level), or until expiration of the contract. Farmers will be notified when the release level is reached. USDA will call in all wheat loans when the market price reaches 175 percent of the current National loan rate (the "call" level). For feed grains, the release level is 125 percent and the call level is 140 percent.

Nothing is more impressive during the Christmas holidays than entertaining with your own homemade candies and sweets

Chocolate Cookies Log

- 3/4 cup cold Milk
- 1 envelope Whipped Topping Mix
- 2 tablespoons Sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon Peppermint Extract (optional)
- Few drops red food coloring (optional)
- 1 package Chocolate Wafers (about 36)

Blend milk, whipped topping mix, sugar, extract and food coloring in deep narrow-bottom bowl. Whip with hand beater or at high speed of electric beater until topping peaks. Then whip 2 minutes longer until topping is light and fluffy. Spread about 1 tablespoon whipped topping on each cookie and stack in groups of 6 to 8. Place cookie stacks on tray to form a log. Frost top and sides with remaining whipped topping. Chill at least 4 hours. Garnish with crushed peppermint candies, if desired, and cut into diagonal slices. Refrigerate any leftover dessert. Makes 8 servings.

Christmas Sugar Cookies

- 3 1/2 cups Enriched Flour
- 1 cup Butter
- 1 cup Sugar
- 2 Eggs, well beaten
- 1 teaspoon Vanilla
- 2 tablespoons Scotch, optional
- Colored sugar

Measure flour into bowl, set aside. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and flavorings, beat well. Stir in flour. Refrigerate dough overnight or for several hours. Use cookie press to make cookies or roll on lightly floured surface to 1/8 to 1/4-inch thick. Sprinkle with colored sugar. Bake cookies on ungreased baking sheets in preheated 350 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 5 to 6 dozen cookies.

NOTE: To make chocolate cookies add two squares of melted unsweetened chocolate with eggs and flavorings.

Holiday Egg Nog Pie

- 2 packages (4 serving size) Vanilla Flavor Pudding and Pie Filling
- 2 cups Egg Nog
- 1 1/4 cups Milk
- 1 tablespoon Light Rum (optional)
- 1/8 teaspoon Ground Nutmeg
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled
- Prepared Whipped Topping

Combine pudding mix, egg nog, milk and nutmeg in a saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full bubbling boil. Remove from heat; add rum and cool 5 minutes, stirring twice. Pour into pie shell. Cover surface of filling with plastic wrap. Chill at least 3 hours. Garnish with whipped topping and ground nutmeg or chopped candied fruits or pecans.

Bourbon Balls

- 1 pound Vanilla Wafers, finely crushed
- 1/2 cup mild-flavored Honey or Light Corn syrup
- One-third cup Brandy, Cognac or Bourbon
- One-third cup Rum
- 1 pound Walnuts and Pecans, finely chopped

Combine all ingredients and work together thoroughly, using your hands. Form into small balls and roll in superfine granulated sugar or in sifted powdered sugar (the balls should have a generous coating of sugar). For best results wrap each separately in plastic wrap. Let stand for at least 24 hours before serving. Many people let them stand for a week to allow the flavors to mellow and blend. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

NOTE: If desired, you might add up to one-third cup cocoa to the ingredients. If you do not care to use liquor, substitute orange juice for the liquor and add several tablespoons of grated orange rind.

- 4 cups Puffed Rice
- 1/2 cup crushed hard Peppermint Candy
- 3 cups Miniature Marshmallows
- 2 tablespoons Butter or Margarine
- One (6 oz.) package (1 cup) semi-sweet Chocolate Pieces, melted

Bake puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 10 minutes. Combine cereal and peppermint candy in well greased large bowl. Melt together marshmallows and butter in saucepan over low heat, stirring occasionally until smooth. Pour over cereal mixture, stirring until evenly coated. Press into well greased 9-inch square baking pan; spread chocolate evenly over top. Chill; cut into squares. Store in refrigerator. Makes 9-inch square pan of candy squares.

Cranberry Almond Apple Pie

- 6 medium green cooking Apples, peeled and cored and sliced
- 1 cup fresh or frozen-fresh Cranberries rinsed and drained
- 1/4 cup Flour
- 3 tablespoons melted Butter or Margarine
- 1 cup Sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon Nutmeg
- Dash Salt
- 1 unbaked 9-inch Pie Shell with a high fluted edge
- 1/4 cup firmly packed Brown Sugar
- One-third cup Flour
- 3 tablespoons Butter or Margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon Cinnamon
- One-third cup chopped toasted Almonds
- Whipped Cream for garnish
- Cranberries for garnish

Combine apples, cranberries, flour, butter, sugar, nutmeg and salt. Pour into pie shell. Combine remaining ingredients and mix until crumbly. Sprinkle crumbs over top of pie. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 50 to 60 minutes, or until apples are tender. Cool thoroughly before cutting into wedges. Garnish pie with sweetened whipped cream and cranberries.

Maple-Walnut Cracker Candy

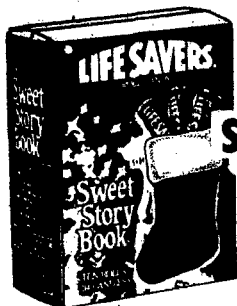

- 1 cup Maple-Blended Syrup
- 1/2 cup Sugar
- 2 teaspoons Lemon Juice
- 1 cup coarsely chopped Walnuts
- 2 teaspoons Soda

Combine syrup, sugar and lemon juice in 2-quart heavy saucepan. Bring mixture to a boil over high heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Continue cooking without stirring to hard crack stage (300 degrees) or until mixture separates into hard brittle threads when dropped into cold water. Immediately remove from heat. Quickly stir in nuts and soda; mix well. Pour into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Cool; break into pieces. Makes about 1 pound candy.
