

Scurrying Footsteps, Quivering Stomachs... It's Christmas at District 59

By LAVON BECKMAN and BOB BARTLETT

Paper crackling, footsteps scurrying across the wooden floor, youngsters giggling and whispering, and finally the curtain goes up.

These sounds are most likely etched well into the minds of anyone who has ever attended a rural school. Things haven't changed much since the parents and grandparents of today's youngsters pushed aside the books each year at Christmastime to prepare for possibly the school's biggest social event of the year, the annual Christmas program.

The handmade curtain is still strung neatly across the front of the classroom, decorations adorn the walls and windows, desks are moved to the outside hallway, or outside if necessary, and stomachs quiver with excitement as moms and dads, relatives, and friends of relatives, gather in the makeshift schoolroom theater.

And after the recitations, skits, and Christmas carols, there's usually sacks of candy and nuts for the youngsters and hot coffee and cookies as friends and neighbors socialize.

The scene is typical in most rural schools across Nebraska, including District 59 located three miles north and two east from Wayne in Dixon County.

The 12 kindergarten through eighth grade students in District 59 and their teacher, Mrs. David (Eliene) Jager, have been busy the past few weeks memorizing their lines for the 20-plus skits, recitations and songs they were scheduled to perform for parents, relatives and friends Wednesday night.

By today (Thursday) all the hustle and bustle have past. Now it's time to relax and reflect upon all that extra time and work the youngsters spent to make their Christmas program a success.

"It's tradition," says Mrs. Jager, referring to the excitement which surrounds the night of the Christmas program: "Every year since rural schools started, students have been performing programs as a form of get-together entertainment for neighbors in the school district," she adds.

Mrs. Jager has taught rural school for four years, three years in District 75 in Wayne County and one year in District 59.

This year's program was especially exciting for at least one youngster in School District 59. Buffy Blecke, who won't begin kindergarten classes until January, was invited by Mrs. Jager to join the 11 other students in preparing and performing in the Christmas production.

Buffy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blecke, helped to put up the stockings on the fireplace, which is constructed of cardboard and colored in red brick. She also got to help decorate the Christmas tree and paint some of the posters.

Practice for the Christmas play began early in December when youngsters forfeited their recess times to work on the skits.

Besides making their own props for the play, students had to rummage through closets at home to come up with appropriate costumes. Mrs. Jager, who donated a wig she purchased at a rummage sale, said teachers have to be like "pack rats" when it comes to saving items which might come in useful next Christmas time.

Eight-year-old John Schuttler, a third grader, says this year's Christmas play is the best by far. "There are a lot more plays," says John, "and I get to perform in more." John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schuttler.

Chad Jones, a first grader, particularly enjoys the skit in which C.W. and Mavis from the famous bread commerial are married. Chad, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones, got to be ring bearer at the wedding ceremony.

This year's Christmas production may have caused a slight "cold spell" in the Harlan Ruwe household. Twelve-year-old See SCURRYING, page 11

Increase in Permits Shows Upswing in Wayne's Economy

For the second year in a row, Wayne has shown another boost in the number of building permits issued, again pointing to an upswing in the economic growth.

As of the middle of December, there were 73 permits issued for 1977 for a total construction value of $1,963,161.84, up $563,161.84 from last year, according to records on file at the city clerk's office.

The figures include construction of 20 new homes in Wayne, six new apartment houses, six new business buildings and various remodeling of businesses and homes, said city clerk Bruce Mordhorst.

Last year's total estimate was $1,400,000, almost $1,000,000 over the previous year. "The main reason for the big jump in the last two years is the expansion of businesses," Mordhorst pointed out, adding that in 1976 Wayne Federal Savings and Loan started the trend by building its new offices located on the corner of Fourth and Main Streets.

Among the new buildings going up are Columbus Federal Savings and Loan at Seventh and Lincoln; Heritage Homes, Wayne industrial site; Griess-Wittig's grocery and drug store between Fifth and Sixth Streets on Main; a warehouse for Allied Lumber on South Main, Region IV Children's Development Center east of Wayne and the city's garbage compactor on South Windom.

Remodeling projects include work on the State National Bank building, the relocation of the Black Knight from the 100 block of Main to the 300 block of Main, and the expansion of facilities at Sav-Mor Drug Store.

City Is Closing Court to Skaters

Youngsters planning to ice skate this winter in Wayne may be out of luck.

According to city officials, the tennis court located near 12th and Douglas Streets no longer will be filled with water for ice skaters. Street commissioner Vern Schulz pointed out that cracks in the court are becoming larger each time the water freezes and expands.

The city, however, is looking See CITY, page 11

Five WS Graduates Honored as Top Scholars

Wayne State College graduated 95 students including five Summa Cum Laude, one Magna Cum Laude and three Cum Laude, in commencement ceremonies at the college Sunday.

A crowd of about 1,700 attended the ceremonies, which featured Dr. Owen Knutzen, superintendent of Omaha Public Schools. His speech was entitled "Every Time and Season Has Some Meaning Of Its Own."

The awards-winning Wayne High School band, under the direction of Ron Dalton, performed Christmas music in pre-commencement ceremonies.

Summa Cum Laude graduates must have attained an overall grade point average of 3.9 or better (on a 4-point scale). Those graduated Summa Cum Laude include: Terri Lynn Durham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Durham of Omaha. She is a 1974 graduate of Northwest High School and a community service counseling graduate; 3.93 average.

Ronald Paul Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Morse of Pender. He is a 1974 graduate of Pender Public High School and a Chemistry graduate; 4.0 average.

Jan Marie Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delton Buck of Battle Creek. She is a 1974 graduate of Elkhorn Valley High School and a Med Tech graduate; 4.0 grade average.

Sheri Lee Tunink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tunink of Randolph. She is a 1974 graduate of Schuyler Central High School and an elementary education graduate; 3.91 grade average. Karen Nygaard Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nygaard of Norfolk. She is a graduate of Vermillion High School, S.D. and a library media graduate; 4.0 grade average.

Magna Cum Laude graduates, those attaining an overall grade point average of 3.80-3.89 include Randal Richard Spale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spale of Schuyler. He is a 1974 graduate of Schuyler Central High School and an accounting graduate; 3.89 grade average.

Cum Laude graduates, those attaining an overall grade point average of 3.7-3.79 include Kathryn LaBoon, daughter of Co. and Mrs. C.R. Mason of Omaha. She is a 1975 graduate of Bellevue High School and a Chemistry See FIVE, page 11

4th Time

FOR THE fourth time, John Barnes of Wayne won the consolation prize in the weekly Birthday Bucks drawing sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Barnes, who is 86 years old, said he was surprised to find out he was a winner while shopping at Kuhn's Department Store. Barnes received a $100 consolation prize. The consolation prize for the shopper whose birth date comes closest to the date announced each Thursday night would normally be $25. However, consolation bucks have been increased to $100 during the Christmas season.

Stores Closing

Businesses in Wayne will be closing early Saturday to allow employees to enjoy Christmas Eve with their families.

Most stores will close at 4 p.m. and remain closed Sunday and Monday, according to a spokesman for the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

In addition, both city and county government offices, in-

Wayne State Offering New Placement Service

Wayne State College graduates and various industries will benefit from a new cooperative student placement service recently arranged through the Nebraska Education Television Council for Higher Education (NETCHE) and participating Nebraska colleges.

About 16 colleges from throughout Nebraska are participating in the service, designed to provide expanded interviewing opportunities for graduating college students in non-teaching areas.

The service will centralize credentials of over 17,000 Nebraska job candidates from whom business, industry and government can select needed talent.

Deryl Lawrence, director of college placement services at Wayne State, said the service will provide participating college graduates a wider range of job opportunities to choose from because employers will have a major pool of job candidates.

"It will centralize employers for the students also," Lawrence said. "Students will have a broader exposure to what is out in the job market and what is available because more employers will be interested in the large supply of graduates available for interviews in one place."

Under the new service, industry representatives can arrange to interview all job candidates from participating colleges in a central Lincoln location. Each college placement service will provide credentials of their graduates to NETCHE, which will be shown to prospective employers. Industries will inform NETCHE of job openings and NETCHE will review both credentials and openings and inform employers of available candidates. The employers will then select and notify candidates of an interview time and day.

NETCHE will also provide colleges with a list of industry requirements and job openings for the college placement bureau to relay to graduates.

"This is a listing of existing openings for the job candidate to choose from," Lawrence said, "not just a list of employers."

Lawrence said the new cooperative effort should be very helpful to the participating colleges' existing placement services in assisting graduates in obtaining employment.

"I am kind of excited about it," he said. "It's another vehicle or means that our students can utilize to find jobs."

Allen Hikes Lunch Price

Prices for hot lunches at Allen schools will be going up a nickel effective Jan. 3, the school board agreed during its December meeting.

The increase is a result of the hike in the Federal government's minimum wage for full time employees, said superintendent Robert Heckathorn. Beginning the first of the year, the new wage will be $2.65 an hour. Students in grades seven through senior high will pay 60 cents per meal and teachers will be charged 75 cents.

In other action, the board will hold a special meeting on Tuesday night, Jan. 3 at 7:30, to discuss the reduction in number of staff members.

The site for the spring junior-senior prom will be the Sioux City Hilton, members decided.

Cash Registers Ringing More this Year

To what extent has Wayne County's economy moved forward in the last few years? How does its growth rate compare with that of other communities?

From reports of business activity throughout the country, it appears that the area has made out relatively well.

Progress was especially evident in the volume of business chalked up by local stores. Their sales in the past year were considerably greater than they were five years before. Inflation, of course, had a lot to do with it.

The advance was made at a time when people in many other localities were pulling in their horns sharply and were refusing to spend money except for their immediate necessities. They preferred to put the rest of their disposable cash into savings while waiting for conditions to improve.

Although local residents were also more cautious than usual, they did not clamp down to the same degree.

The facts and figures covering the five-year period are contained in marketing data compiled by the Standard Rate and Data Service.

It shows that the volume of business done by retail establishments in Wayne County in the past year reached a high of $24,417,000. Five years ago the total was $19,776,000.

In terms of the local population, the retail activity was equivalent to consumer spending at the rate of $8.847 per household. Five years earlier it was $6,570 per household.

The economic strength exhibited in the area was due, basically, to the fact that the amount of disposable income in the hands of the average family increased markedly in the period, compensating for higher living costs.

Figures for Wayne County, reported by SRDS, show that personal income in the past year, after deduction for See CASH, page 11

Hoskins Teenager Vying for Title

A freshman at Winside High School has been selected to compete in the 1978 Nebraska United Teenager Pageant at the Omaha Hilton on May 27.

LORI LANGENBERG

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Langenberg of Hoskins, will compete with contestants from all across the state for the title. The pageant is the official state-wide finals for the United Teenager Pageant to be held in Washington, D.C. in December of 1978.

Contestants must be between the ages of 14 and 18 and must have at least a B average in school. They are requested to participate in the Volunteer Community Service Program, a program in which youngsters become involved in community activities by contributing at least eight hours of time to some worthwhile charity or civic work.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic and civic achievements, beauty, poise, and personality. There is no swimsuit or talent competition. In addition, each contestant will write and recite on stage a 100-word essay on the subject, "My Country."

Miss Langenberg, whose hobbies include sports activities, cooking, reading and cheerleading, is sponsored by the Commercial State Bank at Hoskins.

Just Us Gals Exchange Gifts For Roll Call

A 1 o'clock dessert luncheon for members of the Just Us Gals Club was served Saturday in the home of Mrs. Waldron Bull. Roll call was a gift exchange.

The club met for a 6:30 p.m. Christmas dinner and party at the Up Town Cafe in Wakefield on Dec. 10. Cards were played, followed with a gift exchange and lunch of coffee and cookies.

Next regular meeting of the club will be on Jan. 14 for a 9:30 a.m. brunch in the home of Mrs. Floyd Echtenkamp.

Levi Roberts observed his 83rd birthday Dec. 14 at his home in Carroll.

Guests who brought supper to his home were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tucker of Sioux City, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Roberts and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, all of Carroll.

'Christmas Bells' Program Given

The Ladies Aid group of the Immanuel Lutheran Church held its carry-in Christmas dinner Thursday afternoon. Twenty-seven members attended, along with their husbands and other guests.

The afternoon program, entitled "The Christmas Bells," was given by Mrs. Helen Echtenkamp, Mrs. Ed Meyer and Mrs. Marlin Schuffler.

Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Gilbert Rauss, Mrs. Harlan Ruwe, Mrs. Elray Hank and Mrs. Dale Lessmann. The Ladies choir sang "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" and "Christmas Bells." Christmas carols by the group were sung throughout the program, which closed with prayer by Mrs. Lloyd Roebber.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Gilbert Rauss. Mrs. Irma Brammer gave the visitation report and announced that she and Mrs. Ernest Echtenkamp delivered Christmas baskets to shut-ins.

Mrs. Gary Nelson and Mrs. Marlin Schuffler were named to the visiting committee for next month. On the sweeping committee next month are Mrs. Reuben Meyer, Mrs. Ben Hollman, Mrs. Elmer Schrieber and Mrs. Elray Hank.

New officers will be installed at the next regular meeting, scheduled for Jan. 19 with hostesses Mrs. Arnold Roebber and Mrs. Marvin Nelson.

Grace Ladies Meet

Fifty-five members of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and 35 guests met for a carry-in dinner Dec. 14 with hostesses Mrs. Eleanor Heithold, Mrs. Dennis Janke, Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Gilbert Krallman.

The advent program, entitled "Christ is Coming," was presented by the Christian growth committee with several ladies giving readings. The entire group sang, and the Ladies Aid choir presented two selections.

Mrs. Al Wittig gave the visitation report during the business meeting. Mrs. William Fredrickson and Mrs. Wittig were appointed to the auditing committee. A collection was taken for the Dakota Boy's Ranch.

Mrs. Harold Ekberg presented the Rev. John Upton and the Rev. Thomas Mendenhall with a monetary gift from the Ladies Aid.

Mrs. Marvin Victor displayed new drapes which were recently purchased for the pastor's study.

Seated at the birthday table were Mrs. Harold Ekberg, Mrs. Harold Thompson, Mrs. Martha Bartels and Rev. Mendenhall. Mrs. Raymond Larsen, Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt and Mrs. Bud Luff are hostesses for the Jan. 11 meeting at 2 p.m.

Brownies Sing Thursday For Wayne Senior Citizens

There were 37 at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center Thursday afternoon to hear Christmas carols sung by members of Brownie Troop 304 and their leader Carol Brown. They were accompanied by Mabel Sundell and Mrs. Cline.

Brownies who sang for senior citizens were Julie Struve, Cindy Brown, Terri Ann Hansen, Marjorie Schultz, Sarah Peterson, Andrea Marsh, Terri Geher, Pam James, Tracy Prenger, Kecia Corbit and Ellen Cline. Mothers who sang with the group were Mrs. Bill Corbit, Mrs. Jim Marsh and Mrs. Kathy Struve.

Senior citizens joined in singing and furnished lunch for the Brownies.

The Rev. Thomas Mendenhall, assistant pastor at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne, was at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center Friday afternoon for the sermonette, entitled "Heaven Comes to Earth." Twelve attended.

Mendenhall opened with a poem by Helen Steiner Rice and led in group singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Alma Splittgerber.

Cake and cookies were furnished by Rose Heithold, Alma Splittgerber and Alice Dorman. The next sermonette and sing-along will be on Friday, Jan. 20, at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Thomas McDermott of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Officers Hosts At Auxiliary

The Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary met at the Woman's Club room Friday afternoon with the officers as hostesses. Officers are Mrs. Robert Benthack, president; Mrs. Steve Schumacher, vice president; Mrs. Wilmer Marra, treasurer, and Mrs. Raymond Schreiner, secretary.

The Christmas story was read by Mrs. Schreiner. Mrs. Minnie Ulrich reported that 47 cards were sent to patients at Providence Medical Center during December, along with 13 baby cards.

The president announced that Christmas items are available at the hospital gift shop.

Mrs. William Koeber and Mrs. John Struve are hostesses for the next meeting, set for Jan. 20 at 2 p.m. at the Woman's Club room.

Four Observe Birthdays Friday at Villa Wayne

Four persons celebrated their birthdays during a potluck supper Friday at Villa Wayne. Honored with the birthday song were Kathy Tennent, Minnie Heikes, Julia Surber and Dorothy Tietgen.

Seventeen members and 10 guests attended the birthday party. Guests were Martha Frevert, LaVerne Tietgen, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Andrews, Mrs. Sam Noyes and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gildersteeve.

Mrs. Jack Rubeck baked and decorated the birthday cake. Martha Frevert accompanied for group singing of Christmas carols. Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Andrews showed slides of the Ozarks and other locations.

Bible study at the Villa Dec. 14 was conducted by the Rev. John Upton of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. The seventh chapter of Corinthians was studied.

A Christmas party and gift exchange were held at the Villa community room Dec. 13 with 25 residents attending. The group took treats to 11 Villa residents who were unable to attend. Games furnished entertainment and a cooperative lunch was served.

Turkey Labels Good Guide For Buyers

Reading and understanding the label on turkey products can make your holiday meals more satisfying, according to Teresa Shaffer, Extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Turkeys will be labeled with an official inspection legend, a USDA grade shield, the class of poultry, and whether or not it's a "hen" or "tom" turkey, she says.

The best indicator of tenderness and eating quality is the class, according to Shaffer. "Class tells the age of the bird, which also helps determine the cooking method to use," she says.

Young turkeys, young toms, young hens or fryer-roasters may be cooked in dry heat with satisfactory results. Older turkeys, which will be labeled old turkey, mature turkey, yearling tom, yearling hen or yearling turkey, should be cooked in moist heat to make them more tender, she says.

The grade of the turkey is not required by law, but it is often helpful to consumers, Shaffer added. The grade is usually located on a tag tied to the wing, or on a label next to the inspection legend.

Grade A turkeys have broad, meaty breasts, and thighs and drumsticks well covered with flesh. There is usually very little dressing damage, perhaps just a wingtip missing, according to the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialists.

Grade B turkeys may have a tear in the skin or some other small blemish. "This may detract from the appearance slightly, but it doesn't affect their wholesomeness or nutritive value," she noted.

The third grade, Grade C, isn't usually sold in retail stores, although they also are wholesome, but may have some parts missing.

The inspection legend simply indicates whether the bird was inspected by federal or state inspectors, says Shaffer. The same standards are used by both.

Some turkeys will be labeled "self-basting," which indicates that the turkey has had butter or broth of water, poultry broth, spices and edible fat injected into the breast and perhaps the thigh areas, she adds.

"A basted bird is generally more expensive, but some consumers think it gives the same results as spooning the broth over the turkey during cooking, with less work for the hurried cook," she says.

Thawing a turkey for holiday meals isn't the fastest process in the world, says Shaffer, but there are ways of speeding it up.

She says the fastest method of thawing turkey is to immerse the bird, still in its original wrapper, in cold water. Change the water often to help speed up the process, but be sure it's cold. "Warm water will encourage bacterial growth and spoilage," she notes. Allow about 30 minutes for each six pounds of turkey when using this method.

If you have plenty of time, Shaffer suggests placing the turkey in a pan in the refrigerator for thawing. Allow 24 hours for each six pounds of turkey.

Ready-stuffed turkey should not be thawed at all prior to cooking, adds the specialist. "Follow the package directions for cooking and storage."

Daughter Baptized

Baptismal services were held Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Carroll for Nicole Marie Deck. Nicole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Deck.

Sponsors were Scott Deck, Connie Behmer and Connie Hitz. The Rev. G.W. Gottberg officiated.

Museum Open Christmas Day

Families with out-of-town guests for the Christmas holiday may want to offer them a tour of the Wayne County Historical Museum Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lucile Larson will be at the museum Christmas Day to conduct tours from 2 to 4 p.m. The museum is located at Seventh and Lincoln Sts. in Wayne.

Acme Luncheon Attended by 14

Mrs. Al Wittig entertained at a Christmas party for 14 members of the Acme Club Monday.

A monetary gift was sent to the Nebraska Children's Home in Omaha, and cookies were packed for former members now in nursing homes.

Hattie Hall presented the program, entitled "Thoughts on Christmas," followed with a gift exchange.

Mrs. Angie Preston will be the Jan. 9 hostess. Meeting time is 2 p.m.

Christmas in Song

KINDERGARTEN THROUGH 12th grade music students at Allen Consolidated Schools presented their annual Christmas concert, "Alleluia! Let Us Rejoice and Be Glad." Thursday night at the school auditorium. In the photo above, Lois Mendik conducts the mixed chorus in a number called "The Twelve Days After Christmas." Mrs. Jean Carlson conducted elementary vocal students, and Miss Mendik directed seventh through 12th grade vocal students and fifth through 12th grade instrumental students. Groups performing during the evening included elementary vocal students, the seventh and eighth grade choir, swing choir, mixed chorus, kindergarten rhythm band, sixth, seventh and eighth grade band, jazz-rock band, senior high band, clarinet choir and brass choir. Band mothers served coffee, cookies and punch following the concert.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

Dear Friends:

If this letter were not displayed in the paper and if we had the time to write to each of our loyal friends at this joyful time of the year, what would we say?

We would wish together for the achievement of those goals that man in his wisdom has striven for, and continues to strive for since time immemorial.

Peace on earth and good will to all men. For unity among us and all the people on earth. For the happiness of our loved ones. For the beauty, faith, hope and joy of life inherent in the human spirit.

It is with these thoughts, and knowledge that we can accomplish all these good things that I personally, and for our entire store force, sincerely extend to you Season's Greetings, good health and good fortune and the wish for an even better world in 1978.

Sincerely,
Troy C. Vaught

Area Students in 'Who's Who'

A total of 53 students from this area have been selected for the 11th annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1976-77."

"Who's Who," published by Educational Communications, Inc., Northbrook, Ill., is the largest high school recognition program in the country. Students are nominated for the volume by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups and churches, or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests, or extracurricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service.

The "Who's Who" edition, published in six regional volumes, features 320,000 students, or five percent of the nation's 6,500,000 high school juniors and seniors. They represent 20,000 of the 24,000 public, private and parochial schools in the country.

Area students selected for this year's volume are:

Allen — Tod Ellis, LeEtha Keil, Leann Wood, Terri Jones, Lori Von Minden.
Belden — Todd Boling, Pame

la Tunink, Scott Pedersen.
Carroll — Amy Finn, Bryon Menke, Darlene Janssen.
Concord — Cheryl Koch, Diana Rhodes.
Dixon — Calvin Bingham, Anna Borg, Vern George, Debra Jensen, Rochelle Precott, Randall Bloom, Cindy Garvin, Judy Karnes.
Hoskins — Cindy Gnirk, Lynn Holm, Shirley Kleen-sang, Barbara Peter.
Laurel — Lisa Anderson, Michael Dalton, Diane Harrington, Sandra Bloom, Vern George, Keith Knudsen, Michael Martin, Cindy Schaefer, Laurie Seibert, Douglas Thompson, Colleen Qualls, Lisa Schrieber, Julie Swanson.

Couple Celebrate Anniversary With Dance at Carroll

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Barg of Carroll celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary with a dance Friday evening at Ron's in Carroll.

Lawrence Barg of Emerson and Alverna Lueders of Wakefield were married at Dakota City, and have farmed in Dakota, Dixon and Wayne Counties. They presently farm one mile west of Carroll.

The couple's children are Mrs. Mary Nitz of Sioux City, Larry Barg of Ulysses, and Mrs. Joe Sovereign and Keith, Paul and Gene Barg, all of Norfolk. There are nine grandchildren.

WWI Dinner Held

Fourteen members of the World War I Barracks and Auxiliary met at the Vel's Club Monday evening for a Christmas dinner and party.

Sixteen dirty bags were turned in for the veterans at the Norfolk Regional Center. Mrs. Charles Sieckmann reported that 32 hours were spent visiting hospital patients during the month of December. A Christmas poem was read by Mrs. Norbert Brugger.

Homemakers Have Christmas Luncheon

Eleven members of the Happy Homemakers Extension Club met with Mrs. Mildred Jones Thursday afternoon for a Christmas luncheon.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Leon Meyer and Mrs. Walter Weseman. Bingo furnished entertainment with everyone receiving a prize.

Next regular meeting is set for 1:30 p.m. on Jan. 19 in the home of Mrs. Delyn Mikkelsen.

60 Attend Bridal Fete

About 60 guests attended a bridal shower for Kris Young of Dixon at the Dixon United Methodist Church Saturday afternoon. Decorations were in dark and light blue, colors chosen by Miss Young for her Jan. 7 marriage to Randy Gensler at the Dixon United Methodist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Young of Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gensler of Allen.

Guests attended the fete from Sioux City, Norfolk, South Sioux City, Laurel, Allen, Martinsburg, Wakefield, Ponca, Dixon and Concord.

Mrs. LeRoy Creamer welcomed the guests and Mrs. Earl Eckert had devotions and prayer. A reading was given by Mrs. Don Roeder, followed with pencil games.

Mrs. Noel Stanley of Norfolk and Colleen Roeder of Dixon assisted the bride-elect in opening her gifts.

Hostesses were Betty Anderson, Mrs. Dick Chambers, Mrs. Leo Garvin, Mrs. LeRoy Creamer, Mrs. Oliver Noe, Mrs. Earl Eckert, Mrs. Don Roeder, Mrs. Carol Hirschert, Mrs. Clayton Stingley, Mrs. Norman Jensen, Mrs. Gordon Hansen and Mrs. Louis Abbs.

Annual Wayne State Tournament Unfolds At Rice Next Week

The 20th Annual Wayne State Holiday Basketball Tournament will be held Dec. 28-30 at Rice Auditorium with games scheduled in high school boys, girls and college men's divisions.

Wayne State leads the college bracket, along with Dana College, Phillips University of Oklahoma and Marycrest College of Davenport.

Eight boys high school teams are entered, including defending champion Walthill, along with last year's fifth place finisher, David City Aquinas. Both Walthill and Aquinas are unbeaten thus far this season. A new contender, Norfolk Catholic, is 3-2 after a pair of tough early season losses.

The remaining five teams are new with the exception of Wayne High School. The new competitors are Genoa, Valley, Bennington and Tekamah-Herman.

The girls high school bracket is back in the tournament for a second year. Wayne and Laurel are returning, with O'Neill and Bennington competing as newcomers.

In college action, Dec. 28, Phillips University will take on Marycrest at 2 p.m. with the Wayne State Wildcats facing Dana at 8:30 p.m.

For the Wildcats, the Dana game is a chance to get back on the winning trail after four straight losses. Wayne coach Jim Seward is wary of the Vikings, however.

"They are similar to us in size and although they only have a 2-5 record, they have played very well. I'm looking for us to do well, but it's hard to say how we'll play because it will be almost two weeks between games."

One thing is for certain — it will be nice to be back home for the Cats, who have played five consecutive road games.

Phillips is probably the most talented team in the college field, coming off a 23-8 season that set a win record for the Enid, Okla., school.

Marycrest College is in its first year of basketball competition, but Seward noted that they have enjoyed a good degree of success, winning more than half their games thus far.

The tournament schedule looks like this:

Dec. 28: David City Aquinas vs. Genoa, 4 p.m.; Norfolk Catholic vs. Bennington, 5:30 p.m.; Walthill vs. Valley, 7 p.m.; Tekamah-Herman vs. Wayne, 8:30 p.m.

Dec. 29: Boy's losers bracket games, 9:30 and 11 a.m.; girl's basketball: Wayne vs. O'Neill, 12:30 p.m.; college basketball: Marycrest vs. Phillips, 2 p.m.; girl's basketball: Bennington vs.

Laurel, 4 p.m.; boy's winners bracket games, 5:30 and 7 p.m.; college basketball: Wayne State vs. Dana, 8:30 p.m.

Dec. 30: Boy's consolation game — 7th place, 9:30 a.m.; boy's consolation game — 5th place, 11 a.m.; girl's consolation — 12:30 p.m.; college consolation — 2 p.m.; boy's consolation, 3rd place, 4 p.m.; girl's championship, 5:30 p.m.; college championship, 7 p.m.; boy's championship, 8:30 p.m.

Admission is $2 per day for adults and $1 for students. Season tickets can be purchased for the entire tourney for $4 for adults and $2 for students.

Four-Year Veterans Help Mold Coach's Idea of Team Unity

When the phrase "veteran" is used in basketball, one often thinks about longevity. A team veteran must be someone who has been around awhile.

Not too many players at Wayne State can say they've been around for four years but for Lennie Adams of West Point, Joe Curl of South Sioux City, and Dale Meyer of Sioux City, Ia., four years careers have built quite a friendship.

That's important to Wildcat coach Jim Seward. He stresses the importance of closeness among team members.

"Lennie, Joe and Dale have been together since I have been here," Seward said. "They are fairly close. They exemplify our concept of togetherness both on and off the court."

Adams is the most experienced of the trio, having missed only seven of 85 games during his career. The 6-4 senior has scored 587 career points, an average of 7.5 a game. Last year, Adams finished second to Wayne Robinson in individual rebounding, garnering 4.8 per game. Adams has been a bread and butter man for Seward's warriors, being able to both score and play defense when called off the bench.

Adams credits Seward with helping him. "The basketball program up here was down when I came," said Adams, "but coach Seward has done a good job building it up."

Adams is an accounting major at Wayne State. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Adams.

Meyer and Curl, on the other hand, were brought along slowly, but now are major contributors to the club. Curl got off to a slow start this season, but scored 17 points in the finals of the Northwest Missouri State Basketball Tournament three weeks ago and was named to the all-tournament team.

Curl played often in his first three years, but not until this season did he get a starting assignment.

"It is no disgrace to come off the bench up here," said Curl, a South Sioux graduate. "Coach Seward substitutes with the intention of getting some good out of his bench."

Curl said he has learned a lot from playing college ball. "It is a different type of game from what we played in high school," said the 6-6 postman. "You have to play more defense."

Curl is majoring in physical education at Wayne State. He is the son of Mrs. Edna Curl.

Meyer is the team's second leading scorer this season, averaging 14.8 points a game. He was a late bloomer, not really coming into his own until last year when he scored eight points per game.

"I am glad that I can contribute now," Meyer said. "A lot of things have changed in the 4 years we have been up here. We are playing in a new conference and Seward worked hard to get us in. We play a tougher schedule than ever before, but we have proven over the last few years that we can beat anyone."

Meyer is a senior majoring in mortuary science.

Seward says the trio has been instrumental in rebuilding the basketball program at Wayne State. "They are experienced in our system now and know what needs to be accomplished," Seward said.

As for personal goals, Meyer summed it up the best. "We do not stress the individual," said Meyer, "but there is one thing all of us would like to accomplish this season; we would like to make the playoffs and go down to Kansas City. We have been working at it for four years now, and it is time."

Plainview Nudges Out Devils For First at Pender Tourney

"We've established ourselves as a pretty fair team by now and we're making progress every time we wrestle," said coach Don Koenig after his Wayne High grapplers took second place Saturday at the Pender Invitational.

The team trophy is the second such award in two weeks, marking what Koenig said is an example of what Wayne matmen expect to gain every time they go to a meet.

"Once you have some success, you know what it's like and you want more," he reflected about the second place win over the weekend and first a week ago. "Those guys (Wayne wrestlers) go to a tournament now with the idea of placing in the top four," he added.

Nine of Wayne's 12 grapplers did just that at Pender as the locals racked up 129 1/2 points and trail tournament champ Plainview by only seven.

Senior Kelly Hansen won the 138-pound division with an 8-4 decision over Oren Goering of Columbus Lakeview. Second place went to four grapplers: Larry Hank (98), Ward Wacker (145), Dusty Rubeck (167) and Dan Mitchell (185).

Rick Luft (105) and Terry Hamilton (119) were third and David Doeschler (112) and Rick Johnson (126) placed fourth.

The locals led throughout the day until the finals of the consolation round when heavyweight Greg Wells of Plainview defeated Terry Wojciek of Lakeview, 9-5, to put the Class B Pirates in front to stay.

Host Pender was third with 127 1/2 points followed by Wisner-Pilger with 116 1/2, Stanton and Lakeview with 68, Howells with 38 and Osmond with 27 1/2.

Wayne Teams Split

Wayne teams split with invading Emerson in youth basketball action Thursday.

The fifth and sixth grade Wayne team dumped the visitors 21-14 behind the scoring of Steve Orverlin with 16 points. Chris Wieseler scored five points.

Emerson turned the tide in the seventh grade match, topping the locals, 23-18.

Wayne was in front at the half, 12-11, but lost the lead in the fourth when Emerson scored 10 points to the locals' four. High pointmaker for Wayne was Jeff McCright with 10. He was followed by Todd Schwartz with four and Jeff Jorgensen and Todd Heier with two each.

FOR THOSE of us who live and breathe football, this past weekend was both feast for a king and a sad reminder. The feast had to be the sports menu Saturday and Sunday filled with delicious taste of playoff hopes for National Football League teams. The sad note, however, was that the season is rapidly drawing to an end. What ever happened to those 12 weeks of pro action?

If you're a Chicago Bear fan, you probably enjoyed the outcome of Sunday's nail-biting thriller as much as I. Recalling those precious four seconds when Bob Thomas nailed a 28-yard field goal to lift the Bears to a 12-9 overtime win and cinch a playoff berth for the first time since 1963, brings pleasant thoughts to one's mind and hopes that the Chicago club could take on the role of David meeting those other NFL golems.

After the game, coach Jack Pardee summed up the victory: I knew it was going to be our day, but didn't know it would take so long. What confidence? Hey coach, spare some of that optimism for Monday at 1 p.m. when you meet Dallas.

STILL TUNED in on the boob tube: Did you happen to catch the comments by NBA commissioner Larry O'Brien about the $10,000 fine and two-month suspension levied on Kermit Washington for slugging a player?

O'Brien said it was the stiffest penalty handed out thus far and hopes it might curb the recently publicized brawls breaking out when NBA teams take to the court.

Washington, a 6-7 forward for the Los Angeles Lakers, just got through one round of fistfuffs when he turned around and whalloped Rudy Tomjanovich of the Houston Rockets, sending him flying to the floor with a broken jaw and a concussion.

Following the ruling, O'Brien said the violence in professional sports today is getting too out of hand and perhaps the only way to slow it down would be to levy heavy fines and suspensions so players will think twice before landing a blow.

O'Brien said NBA representatives are studying alternatives to fines. One is the use of a third referee. He would help spot more fouls, but O'Brien doubts if it would serve as an agent to control fights. A second idea would be to create a committee of players, coaches and managers to devise a plan.

The best idea offered so far by a player is to make it clear to all concerned that anyone caught fighting would be suspended from playing pro ball — for good!

NO SOONER has the basketball season started and the Nebraska School Activities Association releases the sites for the district girls and boys playoffs, slated to start in February.

In Class B, both Wayne teams will go to Platte College in Columbus for the B-4 playoffs. Teams included are Columbus Lakeview, Columbus Scotus, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Madison, Pierce, Schuyler, Wayne and Wisner-Pilger.

In Class C-7, Wayne will be the site for the boys division and Homer will host the girls. Teams in that district are Emerson Hubbard, Homer, Laurel, Pender, Ponca, Wakefield, Wallhill and Winside.

The area's Class D representative, Alien, will send its boys team to Wakefield and the girls to Pender. Other teams making up that district are Bancroft, Beemer, Coleridge, Decatur, Macy, Newcasile, Rosalie and Winnebago.

The quick hands of Lori Erwin for Wayne State stole the ball with 10 seconds left in the game and pushed them to a 58-55 victory over South Dakota State Saturday at Wayne.

The lead changed hands eight times in the first half, with South Dakota State having a 25-22 edge at halftime.

The game seesawed for the most part in the second half until South Dakota State built a four point lead — their biggest of the game — on a basket by Nancy Joyce with 10 and one half minutes to go.

The Kittens, plagued by 34 percent field goal shooting, battled back to tie the score on a bucket by Lori Langel with seven minutes left, then went ahead for good, 47-45 on a hoop by Peg Peterson.

Wayne did not control the game until the final minutes, and South Dakota State missed a chance at the last basket attempt, trailing 56-55, but the Erwin steal sewed up the verdict.

Wayne is now 6-2 on the year while South Dakota State drops to 1-1.

Four Wayne players scored in double figures for Wayne. Connie Kunzmann and Julie Brinkman had 13 points each and Erwin and Langel added 19.

Janet Stumps and Joyce led the losers with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Stanton Hands Wakefield '5' 68-30 Defeat

Stanton found the long range shots to be suitable for the Mustangs Thursday night when the hosts knocked off Wakefield 68-30.

The Trojanettes, now 1-3, hit 39 percent of their shots from the field but couldn't stop Stanton behind the shooting of Mary Jensen with 17 points.

Gloria Hansen led coach Ellie Studer's girls with seven points. In junior varsity play, Wakefield made it three wins against a loss with a 27-18 decision.

Allen Girls Back on Win Trail With Victories over 2 L-C Foes

Back-to-back victories, including a 51-24 romp over host Ponca Monday night, gave Allen High girls a 2-1 record in girls basketball.

The Eagles, under direction of Steve McManigal, got back on the winning road after an opening season loss to Laurel by dumping Homer last week and knocking off Ponca in two key Lewis and Clark Conference matches.

Freshman Lisa Erwin stole the show Monday night by canning 18 points and pulling down 16 of the team's 49 rebounds.

"We've been looking for improvement because of our youth, and we saw it (against Ponca) through more balanced scoring and better use of the fast break," McManigal said.

Sophomore Stacy Koester was the other half of that young scoring tandem to score in double figures. She hit six fielders for a total of 12 points.

Overall, McManigal pointed out that the good aspect of both victories was Allen's rebounding.

Lisa Wood with 11 caroms led the Eagles to a 40-20 ripping of Homer Friday. Wood also was the top pointmaker with 14 points.

Allen and Homer were tied at 10 apiece at the half before the Eagles took a 20-16 advantage going into the fourth period. There Erwin erupted for seven points to help put the game out of reach.

Two things stood out in that game, McManigal said. "We improved our defense and rebounding."

NEWS OF ENERGY

Eskimos use them in their igloos, the ancient Romans used a huge one in the Pantheon, and you can use them to save energy in your home. What? Skylights!

Skylights conserve energy by replacing expensive, artificial lighting with FREE, natural sunlight. On an average, a well-skylighted room could eliminate the need for artificial light during the day for 50% to 60% of the year.

And since more light comes in from a window in the roof than from a window in a vertical wall, you can have the same light from fewer square feet of skylights than of windows. This saves energy, too, because the fewer windows you have, the less heat loss in the winter.

Anderson Birthday Is Friday Fete

Guests in the Jerry Anderson home Friday night to observe the host's birthday were the Alvorn Andersons, the Larry Anderson family, the Carl Anderson family, Verona Henschke and Mrs. Ervin Botger. The Floyd Schall family of Pender were Sunday afternoon guests.

The Doug Samuelsons of Grand Island were weekend visitors in the Arvid Samuelson home. All attended the Mrsny-Kline wedding Saturday night in Wayne.

Sunday the Walter Burhoops, Bancroft, joined the Doug Samuelsons for dinner in the Arvid Samuelson home as a pre-Christmas observance.

Sunday Grad
The Clifford Bakers attended graduation at Wayne State Sunday afternoon. They were guests in the LeRoy Barner home to honor Ric Barner, who was a graduate.

Visit in Iowa
The Bill Hansens visited Rose Hansen at the Mapleton, Ia., Nursing Home Sunday afternoon. They also visited in the Rudy Thies home at Mapleton.

Thought for Today
By Rowan Wiltse

"He who has begun has half done. Dare to be wise, begin!" Horace

The beginning of a new year is associated with resolutions. We start the year with high resolve to do those things we know we should do but never get around to doing. Usually, New Year's resolutions involve bad habits we want to break. Positive resolutions calling for the accomplishment of new goals, require even more dedication.

Unfortunately, most New Year's resolutions are a shambles in a very short time. However, nothing is ever achieved if it isn't started and starting is half the doing, so let's all resolve to dare to begin.

It is our wish that the coming year will be a happy one for you. May you be successful with all your resolutions!

Tree Tradition More Than Just Decoration

Indoors or outdoors, Christmas trees have become essential for decorative purposes at yuletide.

The first record of trimmed Christmas trees in the United States was during the American Revolution when Hessian soldiers used them at Christmas. The practice did not gain much support in the United States, however, until about the middle of the 19th century when it became an established custom in Cleveland, Ohio.

Some historians trace the lighted Christmas tree back to Martin Luther (1483-1546).

The story goes that Luther was impressed with the beauty of the snow-covered evergreens sparkling in the moonlight while walking through the countryside one Christmas Eve.

When Luther returned home, he tried to reproduce the experience for his family. He attached lighted candles to a small evergreen tree to simulate the reflection of the moon and the snowy boughs. This would date the first lighted Christmas tree before 1546.

The use of candles apparently did not become firmly established because mention of the Christmas tree custom in Strasbourg, Germany, a century later, does not refer to lights.

The Christmas tree custom appears to have been confined to the Rhine River district until about 1700. From then on, when lights were accepted as part of the decorations, the Christmas tree was on its way to becoming a tradition in Germany.

During the American Revolution the tradition of the Christmas tree crossed the Atlantic with the Hessian soldiers. A description of Christmas at Fort Dearborn, Ill. in 1804 mentions a Christmas tree.

Finland accepted the custom in 1800, Denmark in 1810, Sweden in 1820 and Norway in 1830. From these Scandinavian countries the custom spread to France and England about 1940. Records show that 25,000 Christmas trees were sold in Paris in 1890.

Even before the Christian era, trees and boughs were used in ceremonies. When the Romans observed the feast of Saturn, a part of the ceremony was the raising of an evergreen bough. The early Scandinavians are said to have paid homage to the fir tree. To the Druids, sprigs of evergreen in the house meant eternal life; to the Norsemen, they symbolized the revival of the sun god Balder. A superstition associated with early cultures held that branches of evergreens placed over the door kept out witches, ghosts and evil spirits.

It is not clear how Christmas-tree decorations, other than lights, developed. It may be that tufts of cotton and strings of popcorn were used on the tree branches to represent snow. Fruits such as apples were easy to attach to the trees and provided color, as did strings of cranberries.

A modern American Christmas features a tree in no less than two-thirds of all American homes as a symbol of a living Christmas spirit.

Minor Damage

Fire Monday afternoon did minor damage to a car belonging to Robert Buss of Laurel. Buss, who drives a bus for Wayne-Carroll High School, spotted smoke coming from under the hood of his car parked at the high school lot and extinguished the blaze before volunteer firemen arrived from the Wayne fire department.

Damage was confined to distributor and wiring, said fire chief Dick Korn.

Farm Safety Equipment Can Make Good Presents

What to buy "him or her" for Christmas is often a puzzle, especially late in the shopping game. Rollin Schneider, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources safety specialist, notes that safety items make excellent gifts for someone close and may save them from injury or even death.

Many gifts are available for farmers and farm workers, such as tractor mounting steps and handholds, safety hitch pins, slow moving vehicle emblems, flashing lights and turn signals, reflectors or rear view mirrors, fire extinguishers and first aid kits.

In addition, there are safety devices which fit a particular job, such as:

- Hard hats, safety glasses or goggles, leather gloves, barrier cream and safety shoes. These can be useful when building and doing maintenance or repair work.
- Operating farm machinery can be made safer by wearing earplugs or muffs, leather gloves, safety shoes and a filter respirator.
- Protection while handling and applying agricultural chemicals can be provided by wearing a cartridge respirator or gas mask, face shield, goggles, protective garments, rubber gloves and footwear that cannot be penetrated by chemicals.

— Safety items for welding include tinted welding goggles, face shield, heavy leather gloves and arm and body covers.

— Hard hats, safety goggles, leather gloves, safety shoes and earmuffs or plugs are good protection for felling and trimming trees.

— Electrical workers will be safer with a non-conductive safety hat and shoe soles and rubber gloves.

— People who work around animals will be safer with specially designed safety shoes.

— Self-contained breathing devices and other items such as safety shoes and goggles are good when working in oxygen-deficient or toxic atmospheres such as silos.

— Most spray painting conditions call for a respirator, goggles, hat and gloves.

— Helmet, goggles, earmuffs or plugs provide good protection for those who drive snowmobiles or trail bikes.

Members Have Perfect Attendance

The Hoskins Garden Club held its annual no-host Christmas dinner Thursday noon in the home of Mrs. Carl Hinzman.

"Roll call" was "Do You Remember One of Your Christmas Programs." It was announced that three members, Mrs. Erwin Ulrich, Mrs. Irene Tunink and Mrs. Reuben Puts had perfect attendance for the year.

President Gladys Reichert opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "Our Christmas." She chose the song "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" for group singing. Christine Lueker read "Christ in Christmas."

New yearbooks were distributed and discussed. Mrs. Anna Falk was honored with the birthday song and Mrs. George Wittler and Mrs. Reuben Puts were honored with the anniversary song.

Gladys Reichert opened the program with an article on birds. Readings were given by Mrs. George Wittler, entitled "Autumn Tapestry"; Mrs. Carl Hinzman, "A Christmas Message"; Christine Lueker, "Irresistible Cookies and Candy"; Mrs. Frieda Meierhenry, "Drummer Boy"; Mrs. Anna Falk, "A Prosperous Christmas," and Mrs. Bill Fenske, "A Different Kind of Star."

The group sang and Mrs. Walter Fenske read "Bethlehem's pilgrimage." Readings included "Christmas List" and "Song of Christmas" by Mrs. Reuben Puts; "A Child's First Christmas" and "Christmas Tree" by Mrs. Erwin Ulrich; "Give Lavishly and Get Abundantly" by Mrs. Carl Wittler, and "My Christmas Recipe" by Mrs. Irene Tunink.

Gladys Reichert told of Christmas in Italy and closed the program with a Christmas prayer.

A gift exchange was held and coffee and cookies were served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Falk will be hostess for the next meeting, on Jan. 26.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Friends are a wonderful part of Christmas, so we want to say thanks for our congenial and warm relationship. May it continue to flower long after Christmas.

Merchant Oil Co. Wayne, Nebraska

Nebraska Bobcat Now Is Protected Species

This year has been one of change for Nebraska bobcat hunters and trappers. With the 'cat being given the sanctuary of a 10-month closed season when it was placed on Nebraska's list of protected nongame species. And now, another new wrinkle of international origins faces bobcat hunters and trappers in the form of a hide tag they will need to get top dollar for the pelt. Neither of these changes, however, should constitute a great handicap to legitimate fur harvesting activities.

Game and Parks Commission regulations closed the bobcat season to protect them during the breeding season and to direct the harvest to the period when the pelts are prime. From now through Jan. 31, when pelts are at their best, bobcats can be trapped and hunted.

The hide tag is the result of international concern to prevent possible over-exploitation of the bobcat because of unlimited foreign export. Though the bobcat is not endangered, it is on a list of species which could be threatened without some restrictions on its international trade.

As part of this restriction, Nebraska has been given a quota of 400 bobcats that will be eligible for international trade, where bobcat furs bring the highest prices. The Game and Parks Commission will issue

Board Seeking Officers By Mail

The Wayne County extension service will conduct an election by mail ballot to name board members for a two-year term on the Wayne County Extension Board.

The election for 1978 members is being conducted in commissioner district I which includes Leslie, Logan and Hunter precincts and wards I and II in Wayne.

Members of a committee nominated the following: Dennis Carlson, Wakefield; Merlin Heinemann, Wayne; Mrs. Duane Luti, Wayne; and Mrs. Louis Svoboda of Pender.

Board members who have one year to serve include Mrs. Gilmore Sals, Carroll, and Frederick Temme, Wayne in commissioners district II, and Mrs. Kenneth Frevert, Wayne, and Edwin Vahlkamp, Winslow, from commissioners district III.

Ballots are being sent by mail Tuesday. Anyone not receiving a ballot by mail may obtain one from the extension office. Deadline to return the ballots is Jan. 8.

tags to mark these 400 pelts, and hides without the tags can only be marketed within the U.S.

The 400 tags do not represent a statewide harvest quota, and tagging is not required by law. However, tagging the pelt is to the advantage of the hunter or trapper, because only a tagged hide can be sold on the lucrative international market.

Game and Parks Commission district offices in Lincoln, Norfolk, Bassett, Alliance and North Platte will have the tags available about mid-December. Those wishing to tag their bobcats should bring the animal or pelt to one of these offices.

Shelter Permits

Allow Fishermen

Permanent Huts

Nebraska ice fishermen will be able to build permanent shelters on certain Nebraska lakes this winter, provided they have the proper permit from the Game and Parks Commission.

The $5 permit will allow use of shelters no larger than four and one-half by eight feet and built of floatable material. The permit number and the owner's name and address will have to be painted on the outside of the shelter's door. The shelters must be removed by Feb. 10, or earlier if ice conditions deteriorate.

Until this year, ice fishermen could legally use only shelters that they removed daily when not in use. Permanent shelters were prohibited by regulations because they were often abandoned at the end of the season. Then, they became litter or hazards in the lake after the ice melted, which had to be cleaned up at state expense. The regulations and the registration of the shelters should remedy that problem.

The shelters may be used on most state lakes designated as special use areas or wildlife areas. However, a few such lakes serve as wildlife refuges or have other special functions, and will be closed to the use of permanent shelters.

The shelters will be allowed on waters of 29 state recreation areas. These are Bluestem, Branched Oak, Conestoga, Olive Creek, Pawnee, Stagecoach, Wagon Train, Enders, Medicine Creek, Red Willow, Swanson, Box Butte, Bridgeport, Cottonwood, Fremont Lakes, Gallagher Canyon, Johnson Lake, Kearney County, Lake Matoney, Lake McConaughy, Lake Minnare, Lake Ogallala, Lewis and Clark, Louisville, Merritt, Pibel, Rockford, Sherman and Wai-gren.

Applications for the permits may be obtained by writing the Game and Parks Commission, Box 30370, Lincoln, Ne. 68503. They are also available in person from any conservation officer, or at Commission offices in Lincoln, Norfolk, Bassett, Alliance and North Platte.

Kiwanis Message: Time of Season Is Filled with Hope

In his Christmas message to members of Wayne Kiwanis Club, the Rev. Robert Haas of United Presbyterian Church of Wayne said that this time of year should "come to us as a message of hope."

So often, he said during Monday's meeting, people become depressed during Christmas because they feel there is no hope. "Many are suffering from hopelessness," he added.

This should be the season of joy, hope and opportunity, he said. "We should not forget that Christmas and Easter go together," he noted, adding that without the birth of Christ there would be no reason to celebrate Easter.

Last week 12 members of Wayne High's swing choir presented a preview of their Christmas program. Under the direction of Rick Penning, the group sang several of their introductory numbers before they presented the traditional seasonal songs.

Singing in the group are Gwen Preston, Lisa Nuss, LaVonna Sharpe, Marcia Peterson, Penny James, Holly Malletto, Jan Keating, Dave Schwartz, Jay Stoltenberg, Mark Shufelt, Dan Straight and Roger Daniels. Playing instruments were Gema Giese, Charlie McCain and Janine Tiedtke.

The scooter was invented by a 15-year-old London schoolboy, Walter Lines, in 1897. He didn't take out a patent because his father didn't think it would catch on.

Survey Shows: Local Drug Bill Tops $262,000

The amount of money being spent by Wayne County residents for drugs — the medicinal kind — is large and growing larger.

It is estimated that no less than $262,000 is being spent annually in the local area for prescription drugs alone.

This is exclusive of such over-the-counter items as vitamins, cold remedies, nose drops, headache pills, sedatives and the like, which are sold without doctors prescriptions. They add another third, approximately, to the overall drug bill.

The rising cost of prescription drugs, locally and in other parts of the country, is due to increased usage as well as to higher prices, according to a survey made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In Wayne County's regional area, it shows, the average amount spent for prescription drugs, is $28.20 per year per capita.

About 10 years ago, when a similar survey was made by the Public Health Service, the annual cost per person was only $15.00.

The increase in the period, 88 per cent, compares with a national rise of 81 per cent, as expenditures have gone from $15.40 to $27.84 per capita.

Throughout the country, nearly $6 billion is being spent each year for prescription drugs alone, exclusive of those provided to patients in hospitals. That is about double the amount noted 10 years ago.

The increase is attributed to inflation, to the fact that there are more pharmaceutical products on the market today and to the fact that the per capita use of drugs has gone up.

In Wayne County's section of the country, prescriptions are being issued at the rate of six per cent per person per year, a total of close to 56,000. Their average price is $4.70.

Back in 1966, there were 4.4 prescriptions per person at a unit price of $3.41.

There is a wide variation, understandably, between the amount young people, and old people spend for drugs. Those who are 65 or more have bill of $61.40, on average, while those under 17 spend only $9.10 per year.

Pre-Christmas Party Held in the Kermit Graf Home

Pre-Christmas dinner guests Sunday in the Kermit Graf home were the Robert Giffords, Wash., the Robert Grafts, East Long Meadow, Mass., Mildred Phillips, Creighton, Violet Lubberstedt, Wayne, the Wayne Stark family, Osmond, the Terry Frat family, the Jerome Hoepfner family and Maud Graf.

Jolly Eight

Members of the Jolly Eight Bridge Club enjoyed supper the evening of Dec. 15 at the Wagon Wheel in Laurel.

Following the supper the group held a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Ray Anderson. At bridge, Mrs. Robert Wobbenhorst won high, and Mrs. Robert Harper, low. Christmas gifts were exchanged.

84th Birthday

Friday afternoon lunch guests in the home of Minnie Jones, Randolph, in honor of her 84th birthday, were Mrs. Robert Gifford, Washougal, Wash., the Robert Grafts, East Long Meadow, Mass., Mildred Phillips, Creighton, Mrs. Larry Alderson and children, Carroll, Mrs. Paul Young, Mrs. Don Winkelbauer and Maud Graf.

Joint Party

The American Legion and Legion Auxiliary enjoyed a joint Christmas supper at the bank parlors the evening of Dec. 13.

The evening was spent socially and gifts were brought to be given to the Veterans' home.

Seven Meet

The Rebekah Lodge met Friday evening with seven members. Mrs. Dave Swanson reported on the Nebraska Odd Fellow Magazine.

Community Club

A Christmas supper and party was enjoyed by the Community Club the evening of Dec. 14 at the fire hall with 29 attending.

Officers elected for next year were Arnold Hansen, president; Bob Kint, vice president, and Mrs. Hazen Boling, secretary-treasurer.

Following the business meeting, cards were played for entertainment followed by a gift exchange.

Reception Held

A reception was held Saturday night in the bank parlors in honor of the LaMonte Patras, who were recently married.

Mrs. Patras is the daughter of the Wayne Rolands, and LaMonte is the grandson of the Walter Rolands.

The Curt Willards, Atlanta, Ga., came Saturday to spend the holidays in the home of her parents, the Bill Brandows.

The Clair Sutton family,

Springfield, were Dec. 12 supper guests in the Manley Sutton home.

The Robert Harpers spent the weekend of Dec. 17 in the Don Robinson home, Fremont.

The Virgil Linds, Wausa, were Sunday afternoon visitors in the Ed H. Keifer home.

The Robert Giffords, Washougal, Wash., the Robert Grafts, East Long Meadow, Mass., and Mildred Phillips, Creighton, are visiting in the home of Maud Graf and other relatives.

WS to Continue Degree Program

Wayne State College will continue an extended campus business administration degree program in the South Sioux City area this winter.

Five new college classes will be offered at South Sioux City High School, beginning Jan. 10 for those interested in beginning or continuing a degree program. The business program began in South Sioux on a tentative basis last fall through the WS extended campus division. Dr. Neil Swanson, head of the WS business division, said the program will be continued as a sequence leading to a bachelor's degree in business.

"We feel the initial support was excellent," Swanson said. "I don't think we could have asked for any better support. The students in those classes seem to be very satisfied with the content of the classes as well as the outside offerings."

Enrollment for winter classes will be on the date of the first class session. The courses offered are: Introductory Accounting I, Tuesday, Jan. 10, from 6-8:30 p.m.; Federal Tax Accounting I, Tuesday, Jan. 10, from 8:30 to 11 p.m.; Real Estate Finance, Wednesday, Jan. 11, from 7 to 9:30 p.m.; Business Law II, Thursday, Jan. 12, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. and Introduction to Economics, Thursday, Jan. 12, from 8:30 to 11 p.m.

Tuition for each three-hour class is $54.50 for Nebraska residents and $90.50 for non-residents. An additional $10 matriculation fee is required for new WS students.

Erosion Hurting Ice Fishing at Grove Lake Dam

Erosive action on the spillway of the Grove Lake dam near Royal is very likely to curtail all ice fishing on the area this winter, said Marvin Forbes, area manager.

Analysis of the structure will involve dropping the lake level from 10 to 15 feet, and the water level is also very likely to remain low for an extended period of time, Forbes said.

Although the necessary draw-down will probably have a minimal effect on fish populations in the lake, it will present some serious safety problems for anyone venturing onto the ice. According to Forbes, the draw-down will be very gradual, giving engineers an opportunity to study the dam and spillway structure and the effects on each of water pressure and erosion at various levels.

As the water level is drawn down, Forbes expects ice to form in several layers as the water level lowers. The constantly-changing lake surface will not permit formation of a good solid sheet of ice.

According to Lee Rupp, Northeast Nebraska fisheries supervisor, the draw-down, if it does not exceed the anticipated 10 to 15 feet, will probably not seriously damage the lake's fishery. Winter kill is not a serious possibility, because the stream will run through the draw-down lake, providing fresh water throughout the winter months.

ASCS Committeemen Named

The Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office announced the names of community committeemen elected to serve in four areas.

The three members from each community committee will meet Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the ASCS office to elect a new county committee member to replace Ralph Olson, completing his final term on the board. The county committeemen will also select two alternates, and a chairman and vice chairman for the county committee.

Results of the community committee elections are:

Sherman-Deer Creek-Wilbur: chairman Dean Owens, Carroll; vice chairman Merlin Kenny, Carroll; regular member Henry Arp, Carroll; first alternate Howard Mau, Wayne; second alternate Vernon Rudebusch, Randolph.

Hunter-Leslie-Logan-Plum Creek: chairman Melvin Wilson, Pender; vice chairman Kenneth McQuistan, Pender; regular member Paul Sievers, Wayne; first alternate Donald Larson, taxes, came to $45,166,000. Five years previously it was $24,597,000.

The increase, 84 percent, compared with 58 percent in the United States and with 79 percent in the State of Nebraska.
As for the immediate future, the consensus among the experts is that economy is not in danger of any serious downturn. However, they feel that Congress and the Administration should take steps soon to combat the present drag and spell out their plans so that business will know where it stands.

Pam Ruwe, a seventh grader, borrowed a pair of her father's long johns for a Friday dress rehearsal. Everything was fine until Pam's father went looking for the underwear the next Sunday.
Other students who performed in the hour-long program: with parents' name in parenthesis, were Vicki Meyer (Ferris), a second grader; Missy Jones (Leonard) and Michael Heithold (Edmund), third graders; Mark Roeber (Merle), fourth grade; Shelly Meyer (Ferris), fifth grade, and Mark Schuttler (Marlin), Colleen Roeber (Merle) and Marica Heithold (Delmar), all eighth graders.
Amidst the confusion of practicing, decorating and designing sets, youngsters in District 59 still found time to remember their parents with homemade Christmas gifts.
For the fathers, school students made wooden signs with the family name etched and burned in. Mothers received wall hangings made by gluing beans on boards. Designs included pheasants and chickens and were made with such food items as kidney and pinto beans, rice, soybeans, oats and macaroni.
All those hours of preparation didn't go unnoticed, however. A jolly old white-bearded gentleman from way up north stopped by the little one-room school-house after the play Wednesday to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

THE SKITS which got most of the laughs Wednesday night were the Fruit of the Loom long johns commerial and the wedding of C.W. and Mavis. Top photo, an appropriate finish for the skit found these six girls wishing everyone a Merry Christmas. Forming the sign are, from left, Marcia Heithold, Pam Ruwe, Colleen Roeber, Shelly Meyer, Missy Jones and Vicky Meyer. Center, Shelly Meyer is Mavis and Mark Roeber is C.W. as the minister Pam Ruwe performs the wedding ceremony. Looking is C.W.'s dog played by Michael Heithold. Burried beneath that baseball cap is John Schuttler who portrays one of two youngsters who create all sorts of problems by telling tales about members of the Sewing Society.

HOLY HOLY Let us rejoice in loving adoration as we celebrate and remember the miracle of Christmas.

OBITUARIES

Myrtle Cunningham

Funeral services for Myrtle Cunningham, age 72, will be held today (Thursday) at 1:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Carroll with the Rev. Kenneth Edmonds officiating. She died Monday in Norfolk.

Pallbearers are Don Harmer, Don Harmeler, Merlin Kenny, Don Davis, Gene Rethwisch and Delmar Eddie. Burial will be in the Hillcrest Cemetery in Norfolk.

Myrtle Delilah Cunningham, the daughter of Frederick and Bertha Fox, was born April 20, 1905, in Cedar County.

She was united in marriage to Frank Cunningham on Aug. 21, 1922, in Wayne. They farmed seven miles north of Randolph for 19 years before farming south of Coleridge for five years.

In 1948 they moved to Carroll where they farmed and retired. She sold cosmetics for more than 20 years. A member of the Carroll United Methodist Church, she also belonged to the Carroll Women's Club.

She is preceded in death by one son, Dallas. Survivors include her widower, Frank; and one son, Lyle, both of Carroll; one daughter, Mrs. Paul (Ruby) Raeside of Owosso, Mich.; six grandchildren; five great grandchildren; one brother, Lawrence Fox of Dixon, and three sisters, Mrs. Glenn (Mildred) Clark of Randolph, Mary Hickey of Norfolk, and Maggie Crawford of Waldorf, Md.

Anton H. Olson

Funeral services for Anton H. Olson, age 76 of Omaha, were held Dec. 15 at the Crosby-Kunold-Burket Funeral Chapel in Omaha. He died Dec. 13 at his home following a heart attack.

The Rev. Paul M. deFreese of Omaha officiated. Burial was held at Greenwood Cemetery, Wayne, with the Rev. S.K. deFreese officiating.

Anton H. Olson, the son of Olaf and Anna Swenson Olson, was born Sept. 22, 1901, in Duluth, Minn. He attended school in Duluth and also Wayne State College.

He was united in marriage to Elsa Bruse of Wisner on Dec. 26, 1923.

He was active in many organizations, including the Omaha Senior Citizens, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Old Timers Baseball Association and several Democratic Committees.

He worked for People's Natural Gas and had been transferred to different locations while employed with them.

Preceding him in death were his wife, one daughter and his parents. He is survived by one son, Harold J. Olson of Wayne; one daughter, Lois Ann Olson Johnson of Wisner; one step-daughter, Thelma Smith of Omaha; two grandchildren; two great grandchildren, and two sisters, Edith Bannister of Glendale, Ariz., and Caroline Lundgren of Duluth, Minn.

Pallbearers for the Friday funeral service of Mrs. T.C. Hypse (Frances) Hypse of Wakefield were Harold Holm, A.L. Pospisil, Robert Ostergard, Alden Backstrom, R.E. Paulson and E.D. Schnasse. Mrs. Hypse died Dec. 13.

Born Sept. 16, 1892, in Wakefield, to James and Lillian Brown, she was active in many organizations, including the P.E.O., a charter member of the Legion Auxiliary, a charter member of the D. of U.V. and Past President of Parley of the American Legion Auxiliary. She was a life time member of the United Presbyterian Church, and held memberships in the U.F.W., and Mary Circle.

Preceding her in death were her parents, three brothers and six sisters.

Mrs. Vaughn Williams

Funeral services for Mrs. Vaughn (Nettie) Williams were held Dec. 5 in Santa Anna, Calif. She died Dec. 1, and burial was held in the Rose Hills Memorial Park Cemetery in Santa Anna.

A native of Kansas, the Williamses lived many years in Carroll, where he was associated with the Carroll Bank.

Preceding her in death were her husband, Vaughn, and a son, Griffith. Survivors include two daughters, Jean and Sharon; seven grandchildren, and a nephew, Enos Williams of Carroll, as well as other nephews and nieces.

Hazel Sorensen

Hazel Sorensen of Thurston died of cancer Dec. 15 at the Wakefield Health Care Center at the age of 42 years.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Assembly of God Church in South Sioux City with the Rev. A.R. Weiss officiating. Pallbearers were Jerry Johnson, Steve Karel, Donald Potter, and Steve, Philip and Cecil Sorensen. Burial was in the Evergreen Cemetery, Walthill.

The daughter of Wilmer and Louise Novak Potter, Hazel Louise Sorensen was born Aug. 31, 1935, in Thurston County. She married Russell Sorensen Nov. 14, 1952, in Lavern, Minn.

She is survived by her widower, Russell, three sons, Steve, Philip and Cecil, and three daughters, Teresa and Audrey, all of Thurston, and Mrs. Jerry (Marjorie) Johnson of Bellevue; two grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Robert Richards of Sioux City; one brother, Donald Potter of Walthill, and two sisters, Mrs. Ed Mahon and Mrs. Alvin Bentz, both of Sioux City.

Harry McCoy Jr.

Funeral services for Harry McCoy Jr. of Allen were held Wednesday morning at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Martinsburg with the Rev. Paul Friedrich officiating. He died early Sunday morning in his home at the age of 67. Burial was in the Ponca City Cemetery.

Harry William McCoy Jr. was born April 6, 1911, in Iona, S.D. He lived in the Dixon County area all his life. On July 6, 1941, he was united in marriage to Irene Close in Ponca.

In 1971 he retired from farming and moved to South Sioux City, moving to rural Allen in 1973.

Survivors include his widow; five sons, Robert, Paul, Thomas and Jerry, all of South Sioux City, and Richard of Allen; one daughter, Cathy Bean of South Sioux City; his mother, Clara McCoy, and one brother, Dean, both of Allen, and seven grandchildren.

Campus Cop 'Calling It Quits'

Mellick: It's Time to do Something Else

Carl Mellick has started many cars, given many rides in cold weather and secured many buildings in his years as a security guard at Wayne State College, but he has decided to "call it quits" and retire.

"I've liked working with the kids," he said. "But now I think I'm going to do a few odd jobs, carpenter work. I don't have any real plans. I'm just going to relax a little bit."

Mellick, 65, has worked as a farmer, carpenter, custodian, security guard and general handyman throughout his life. He began working at the college as a custodian in 1968 where he said he met "a lot of good friends."

"The kids were great," he said. "They all cooperated and treated me real good. I really enjoyed working there."

He began working with campus security in 1973. He worked the night shift (4 p.m. to 1 a.m.)

throughout his security guard career. He said he enjoyed making friends with students on campus by helping to start their cars on cold evenings and giving rides to students walking back to residence halls from distant parking areas.

"The kids really appreciated it," he said. "If it was real cold they sure were happy to get a ride."

Now that he is retiring, Mellick said he will miss all his friends at the college, but he will be busy working with his carpenter hobby.

"I've got a few things to keep me busy," he said. "I make quite a few things down in the basement. When it's cold outside, I go down there."

Allen Coed Is in Winterfest Court

A student at Dana College in Blair, JoAnne Roberts of Allen, was a member of the royal court at Dana's Winterfest activities recently.

JoAnne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Roberts of Allen.

Elected Winterfest king and queen were Bruce Bro of Exira, Ia., and Kathy Appel of Scranton, Ia.

Medicare Signup In Effect Until March of 1978

The 1978 Medicare general enrollment period in January through March, giving those persons eligible, but who don't have this health insurance, an opportunity to gain this valuable protection, according to Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk.

Those eligible to sign up for Medicare's medical insurance, which helps pay doctor bills and other covered services and supplies, include people who failed to sign up during their earlier opportunities and those who once had the insurance but who dropped it.

Also, people 65 and over who are not otherwise eligible for the hospital insurance part of Medicare can sign up to buy this protection from January through March, but only if they also sign up for medical insurance.

Protection for people who sign up for either or both parts of Medicare will begin July 1, 1978, Branch said. The basic premium for medical insurance through June 1978 is $7.70 a month, Branch noted. The hospital insurance premium is $54 a month through June 1978. The basic monthly premiums for medical insurance and hospital insurance which will be effective starting July 1978 will be announced later this year.

A provision of the law will probably make the medical insurance premium even higher for those who sign up for it during the general enrollment period, Branch continued. The basic premium is increased by 10 percent for each 12 months a person could have had this protection but did not elect to take it.

AFTER four years on the security force and seven working for Wayne State, Carl Mellick will retire to try his hand at a few other odd jobs.

November Temps Below Normal
November temperatures averaged a little below normal over most of the state, except in the central area where they were a little above normal.
Extreme maximum temperatures in the 60s and 70s, occurred at most sites during the first half of the month. The highest temperature recorded during the month was 76 degrees at Curtis in Nov. 5 and at Beaver City on Nov. 14.
Extreme minima reached zero or below at numerous sites in the western and northern parts of the state. Harrison and Agate 3E, in Sioux County, both recorded 15 degrees below zero on Nov. 21 for the extreme minima reported. Elsewhere, extreme minima ranging from 1 to 10 degrees above zero occurred on November 21, 25 or 26.
Valentine received 64 percent of the possible amount of sunshine; Lincoln, 52 percent; Omaha, 52 percent; and North Platte, 70 percent.
Total snowfall for the month varied from 3 to 10 inches in the western, northern and eastern parts of the state. The southwest areas reported one inch or less. Most of the snow fell on Nov. 8 and 9 when the entire state received precipitation in the form of rain or snow. Since daytime temperatures climbed after the snow fell, most of the snow melted rapidly.
November precipitation was above normal in all divisions except the Southwest where it was only 64 percent of normal. Cumulative precipitation for October through November was above normal in all divisions except in the Panhandle, Southwest and South Central.

Northeast Area Youth Group

Elects Officers
Dennis Ekberg of Wayne was elected president of the Northeast Nebraska Rural-Urban Youth Organization at its monthly meeting Dec. 9.
Other officers, who were elected for 1978, are Byron Thompson, Wynot, vice president; Julie Pearson, Ponca, secretary; Boyd Ebberson, Coleridge, treasurer, and Dan Patfield, I Laurel, news reporter.
Prior to the business meeting, the group went roller skating at Wakefield.
The next meeting will be a formal banquet and installation of new officers on Jan. 7. Guest speaker for the event will be Glen Krohn, Associate State Leader for 4-H and Young Men and Women at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

FmHA Insures $11 Million for Loans in 1978

Approximately $11 million has been allotted for business and industry guaranteed lending during fiscal year 1978, according to Claude Wright, local Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) county supervisor.
FmHA through its Business and Industry Loan Guarantee program provides the funds to develop or finance business or industry. The programs goals are to create and maintain employment, and improve the economy and environment in rural communities.
Loans are open to any legal body, including individuals, public and private organizations and federally recognized Indian tribal groups. The projects must be located in open country or towns of up to 50,000 people. Priority is given to applications for projects in open country, rural communities, and towns of 25,000 and smaller.
Farmers Home assistance is provided through loan guarantees in which the loan is made and serviced by a private lender. The lender must be one who routinely provides credit to the local community. Possible lenders include national and state banks, Federal Land Banks, Production Credit Associations, Banks for Cooperatives and savings and loan associations. Any other lenders, such as insurance companies, credit unions, and mortgage companies are eligible if approved by FmHA. In some special cases when a guaranteed loan is not available, Farmers Home may directly make and service the loan.
Wright explained that for the funding, applicants apply for the guarantee through their private lenders. When approved, FmHA enters into an agreement to reimburse the lender for any losses that may be sustained up to 90 percent of the total of funds loaned plus the interest.
Applicants are required to provide collateral and at least 10 percent equity. Interest rates are agreed upon between the lender and the borrower, consistent with the market rate. Maximum time limits on the loan may be up to 30 years on land, buildings, and permanent fixtures; up to 15 years on machinery and equipment; and up to seven years for working capital.
Details on Business and Industry Guaranteed Loans may be obtained through the Farmers Home Administration County Office at Ponca.

Planning Retirement in 1978? Best Check SS Benefits

Working people who plan to arrange for their social security retire between now and early benefits, said Dale Branch, 1978 should start planning to social security district manager in Norfolk.

If people approach their retirement in a thoughtful way, Branch continued, they can help ensure their social security retirement benefits begin just as soon as income from work stops.

Branch gave these tips for men and women planning to retire: First, get together information that will be needed to support your claim. This includes your social security card; proof of your date of birth recorded early in your life, preferably before age 5; evidence of last year's earnings (a copy of your W-2 or a copy of your Federal tax return, including Schedule C or Schedule F).

If your husband or wife is also planning to apply on your record, he or she should have this additional information, Branch added. Such as, his or her social security card, proof of age as described above, marriage certicate, if either was married before, information about the beginning and end of those marriages, and information about your husband's or wife's earnings if he or she is working.

Branch emphasized that it is important for you to apply two or three months before you plan to retire, even if you don't yet have all of the information you need. The people at the social security office can suggest other sources for the information you don't have.

By applying in plenty of time, Branch added, you can be sure that your retirement checks will start as soon as you stop working and you won't be without an income.

If you wish, you can conduct most all of your social security business over the telephone and save yourself a trip to the office.

'Some Veterans May Qualify for Voc Training'

Nebraska veterans of World War II and later periods who have serious service-connected disabilities may still qualify for vocational rehabilitation training even though their original eligibility for the program has expired, the Veterans Administration announced today.

James Smith, director of VA regional office in Lincoln, said that until last year veterans generally had nine years from the date of their discharge to take advantage of this kind of training. "But Congress has eliminated the termination date for certain seriously disabled veterans," he said.

As a result, veterans discharged before Jan. 1, 1969, who have serious service-connected disabilities should consider applying if they are unemployed or working in an unsuitable job and need education or training to obtain suitable work, Smith said.

Last year's Congressional action provides "an open-ended eligibility" for veterans who need vocational rehabilitation training to overcome the handicapping effect of blindness or other serious service-connected disability, he said.

Applications for vocational rehabilitation training will be individually considered. Eligible veterans who are found to need training will be provided counseling to help them plan and pursue a program of rehabilitation training leading to suitable employment.

The VA Director said the agency is writing to an estimated 200,000 veterans who have disability ratings of 50 percent or more to notify them of the removal of the eligibility termination date.

86-Year-Old Man Wins Bucks Prize

Eighty-six year old Don Barner of Wayne is the latest winner in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

Barner won the $25 consolation award last Thursday night while shopping in Kuhn's Department Store where he learned that his birth date of Sept. 23, 1891 was the closest to the winning date of Nov. 11, 1887.

Drawing that winning date was Margaret Hansen of Griess Rexall Store.

Had Barner's birth date matched the winning date he would have won the $400 grand prize. As a result of no one winning the amount, the jackpot goes up $25 to $425 for the drawing tonight (Thursday) at 8:15.

To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating store. No purchases or registration are necessary to be a winner.

God bless you and keep you in the circle of His love. Warm thanks to all our friends.

Nebraska's 'Hired Man' Loading His Six-Guns for Washington

LINCOLN — Gov. J. James Exon wants to become Nebraskans' "hired man" in Washington. That's the terminology he used when he announced formally that he will shoot for the U.S. Senate seat in next year's elections.

Constitutionally prohibited from going after a third consecutive term for governor, Exon announced his plans during a well-attended press conference at the Governor's mansion.

Now in his seventh year as Nebraska's chief executive, Exon has served longer in the gubernatorial chair than anyone in the long history of the state.

He told reporters he wants to serve the citizens of the state further as a Democratic senator in the nation's capital. And he said, if elected, he would emphasize "making sense, no laws."

In Exon's opinion, laws already on the books have created enough problems, some of which should be straightened out before new statutes are enacted. He said he would also stress the need to strengthen the family farm because the health of the farm economy is the basis for national economic well-being.

The governor also said he would continue to be guided by his philosophy that the needs of the people should be met within the limits of governmental proceeds.

One of Nebraska's most popular governors, Exon said he hopes his strong support in the public opinion polls will be reflected in votes for him in the 1978 primary and general elections.

He said he will take nothing for granted and will "work harder than ever" for election to the Senate. If he is successful, the state, which had gone for decades without a Democrat in the Senate, would have two.

Responding to a question during the news conference which following his announcement, the governor said he and Democratic Sen. Edward Zorinsky of Omaha would make "a good team" for Nebraska in Washington.

Some officials in the Republican party doubt Exon will be able to transfer his popularity as governor to votes for the U.S. Senate.

The governor is considered a shoo-in for the senatorial nomination, but just who his opponent will be next November remains a question mark.

Don Shasteen, aide to Sen. Carl Curtis, who will vacate his seat after this term, and State auditor Ray A.C. Johnson have said they probably will file for the GOP senatorial nomination. Others mentioned as possible candidates are attorney general Paul Douglas and State sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood.

During the press conference, Exon would not speculate on persons who might be his opposition next November. He did say it might be a good idea to impose a limit of 12 years consecutive service in either the House or Senate for any person.

By the time Curtis retires he will have served 40 years in the Congress, first as a representative and then as a senator.

Liability Insurance Issue

State sen Douglas Bereuter of Utica expects product liability reform to become one of the hottest issues in the upcoming legislative session.

Some lobbyists have described Bereuter's LB 142, which calls for product liability reform, the "Get Bereuter to Congress Bill." But the Utica lawmaker denies his proposal stems from a desire to be elected to Congress from the first District. He says his interest in product liability legislation stretches back several years.

Bereuter hoped to get action on LB 142 during this year's legislative session, but time ran out before the lawmakers could get around to giving it full consideration.

Bereuter said he will endorse any version of the bill that "might have a chance" of reducing the ever-rising costs of product liability coverage without being punitive to the people. He believes escalating insurance costs are passed on to the consumer.

Bereuter's bill is a top priority measure of the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry, according to Del Snodgrass of Lincoln, the organization's government and affairs director.

The Nebraska Bar Association and the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee reportedly are among groups preparing amendments to the Bereuter bill.

More Rural Doctors

Thirteen recommendations aimed at getting more doctors to practice in rural areas have been presented to Gov. J. James Exon by the Nebraska Rural Health Manpower Commission.

One proposal was that the state fund an incentive program under which money for tuition and maintenance stipends would be made available to medical students who will practice in rural Nebraska.

Gov. J. James Exon said he will take a long look at the scholarship proposal, which he described as "a worthy suggestion."

The commission chairman, Dr. Ben Meckel of Burwell, said such a program would amount to a good investment for the state and could possibly lead to more rural applicants. Last year, he noted, 31 of Nebraska's 93 counties had no applicants for medical school.

The chairman of the University of Nebraska Medical Center's department of family practice, Dr. Paul Young, said studies indicate students from small towns are more likely to return to rural areas to practice.

Exon said he was very pleased by the recommendations from the commission, which was established under a law that the governor proposed.

The commission was directed to attempt to devise methods of reversing the decline in the number of small town doctors. Among the commission's recommendations was one that the Medical Center increase the production of its department of family practice.

Meckle said the 10 percent of the center's students in the family practices department should be increased to at least 50 percent.

Also proposed was that the center and the Creighton University Medical School develop and implement a pilot study showing the effectiveness and training residents in rural communities.

New Pay Plan Suggested

State personnel director Roy Gardner has proposed a state pay plan providing for eight salary grades for each job classification.

He told the Legislature's appropriations committee has plan would allow state workers to advance one step on the pay scale on their anniversary dates of employment.

Under his proposal, an employee's supervisor would authorize the increase, which would be based on an employee's performance.

Gardner presented three pay plans for the committee's consideration, but each would include the eight-step concept. One plan provides for a maximum average salary increase of 6.5 percent, and the other two for average increases of 5.5 and 5 percent.

Gardner said the state should change its system of giving merit salary raises. Currently, he said, if an employee is given a five percent merit increase, the added money becomes a part of the base salary.

Gardner said it would be better to give the workers a one-time merit bonus that would not become a part of the base salary.

The committee was advised by the Department of Administrative Services that implementation of an average 6.5 percent salary increase would cost the state about $11 million during fiscal 1978-79.

Under the proposed plan, all employees would be given a four percent hike next July 1 and another two percent on January 1, 1979. In addition, Gardner said, deserving workers would receive another six percent each year on their anniversary dates.

He said during fiscal 1978-79, an employee's anniversary pay raise would only be enough to move him or her up one step on the new eight-step scale.

'I say more power to the striking farmer'

Wayne

Dear Editor:
I say more power to the striking farmers, at least some are willing to stand up and be counted. According to reliable sources, they are not asking to be subsidized by the government nor will they be receiving unemployment checks. They can't keep all their production off the market but if they buy only necessities everyone will soon feel the effects.

Every thinking person should know all farmers are not alike, some get help from grandpa, dad or other relatives, some inherit the farm and others must start from scratch. Most farmers will agree they choose their occupation. There are poor managers in the farming business as well as any other occupation. Some farmers must admit they are their neighbors worst enemy when they refuse to cooperate with that neighbor who is bargaining for a better price for his and their production. Is it fair to cast them all in the same mold?

I am sure everyone will agree that those new tractors are too expensive, but so are professional fees, new cars, washers, dryers, television sets, etc. Would we do without them? After all, those new tractors are helping produce the food that is too cheap at the farm level. Who manufactured those tractors and then priced them?

We, the consumers, must realize if the family farm is lost, food could be priced in the same manner as those new tractors. This could mean much more than 20 percent of our income for food. Does the farmer price his production or does he sell wholesale and buy retail?

Try renting land if you own older machinery, or refuse to use herbicides, pesticides or fertilizer. The farmers were asked to plant from fence row to fence row and then to plant the fence rows. Have the agricultural colleges spent thousands, maybe millions of dollars finding ways to produce more from an acre of land? Is the farmer the only one to blame if we have over-production?

Before we criticize the farmer we should ask ourselves would our needs be fulfilled if our income was based on parity and then we received the same percentage as the farmer. Surely no one considers the farmer a martyr, but we must admit he is not getting a fair shake.

Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, your production is the most important and the most powerful weapon in the world. No one survives without it. Now help yourself by joining hands with your neighbor if you want the family farm to survive. — Willard Blecke.

'We don't know all the answers, but we have a few questions'

Wayne

Dear Editor:
We've been thinking too, and really we don't know the answers.

Many new machines are purchased because the cost of repair of the old model is prohibitive. Is it realistic to spend $1,200 for repairing a gear on a $4,000 machine? Then will it be very long before something else goes wrong and needs replacing to the tune of $14 to $18 an hour labor costs?

Should we borrow $50,000 for a combine or pay $12 an acre to someone else and hope he can get to us before the weather does? If we use the old combine will we run the risk of breaking down or taking a price dock on dirty or damaged grain because the old machine is wearing out? What WOULD you do? Would you buy something older and more affordable, assuming it wouldn't need repairs, or would it be better to invest in something new that would have more efficiency and comfort? Or isn't a farmer entitled to work on some comfort?

Is the farmer really over producing? Did everyone in the United States have even one good meal today? Did everyone in the world have even one good meal this week?

Why should the government bail out the farmer? It could be that the government is responsible for the farmer's plight. When prices were getting better, exports were stopped, putting us out of the world trade. Maybe if the government stopped meddling with exports of farm commodities the world would have fewer hungry and the farmers might show a profit, and our country would have a better balance of trade. And remember, the government (which is you and me) has bailed out New York City, subsidized the railroad (which abandons tracks hurting smaller communities), providing welfare and food stamps for the needy and others, and spend billions to bail out foreign countries, to list a few.

Should we use fertilizer, insecticides and herbicides when the cost had doubled in the past three years? Is it realistic to use three times the fuel and manhours, not to mention wear and tear on machinery in cultivation, to replace the use of these chemicals? Is using chemicals and irrigation to produce food really an extravagance? Why do we know many people who consider themselves conservative who water and fertilize their lawns and gardens and even put bug dust on their rose bushes.

One question we can answer is no, grain cannot be turned into water, but it is turned into milk and milk products, meat, eggs, flour and even alcohol, to mention a few. And if you can cook without using any of those products, please don't invite us to dinner. — Linda and Den Janke, Bev and Paul Dangberg, Linda and Brad Dangberg.

Dec. 21, 1967: Bernard Schulte, a native of Marango, Ia., is the new manager of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Wanda Owens, who left the first of October to take a position in Lincoln with the department of economic development. The Stanley Mallefer, Walden Felber and Alvin Schmoe homes were named winners in the home decorating contest in Wayne this year. Wayne Kiwanis Club sponsored the contest with the power plant furnishing appliances as prizes.

OBSERVATIONS

Taking a stand

The Center for Rural Affairs has issued a strong statement endorsing vigorous enforcement of the federal law which limits the amount of land which a landowner can irrigate with water supplied by federal reclamation projects.

In an eight page letter to the Bureau of Reclamation commenting on the Bureau's controversial proposed rules of enforcement, the Center said that the purpose of the acreage limitation is to control the distribution of benefits from public water projects, to prevent land speculation and the accumulation of land by speculators, and to promote opportunities for people to farm.

The proposed rules implement a 1902 law which provides that each landowner may irrigate no more than 160 acres with federal water, or 320 acres for a husband and wife. In addition, each farm child could "own" 160 acres irrigated by federal project water as well.

The rules require that landowners with more than the allowed acreage under irrigation sell the "excess" land. Only people who live on or within fifty miles of the excess land may purchase it.

The Center cited Bureau of Reclamation figures which show that less than two percent of the 460,000 acres irrigated by federal projects in Nebraska would be affected by the proposed rules and that these excess acres are widely scattered among nine Bureau projects and 88 landowners.

However, the Center warned that the proposed rules could have major impact on proposed projects in Nebraska, especially the controversial O'Neill Unit which will serve a major portion of Holt County where absentee and non-family farm corporations have made investments in large farming operations which would have to be broken up under the new rules.

According to Center studies, corporate and absentee investors own nearly 13,000 acres that would be served by the O'Neill Unit. Of that amount, 8,960 acres would be "excess," more than all of the illegally excess land in all other reclamation projects in the state. One corporation owns 4,800 acres in the proposed service area.

"These facts indicate that although the acreage limitation has been little needed in older Nebraska projects, it is sorely needed now if the benefits of public water from new projects are not to be captured by corporate and absentee investors," the letter said.

The Center also pointed out that contrary to some reports, the acreage limitation does not limit the size of a farming operation. To limit merely applies to land eligible to receive federally subsidized water.

The Center also listed several suggested improvements in the proposed rules. It argued that a provision limiting the amount of irrigated land which an individual could lease was not sufficient to prevent abuses by absentee or corporate investors because it does not require that the lessee be an actual farm operator and does not prevent subleasing or leasing by subsidiary corporations formed for the purpose of circumventing the law. The letter suggested that the rules be tightened to prohibit such schemes.

A proposed rule requiring that excess lands be sold at an appraised value not including the value of the federal project was also criticized for not requiring that the appraisal of such lands take place as soon as proposed projects are authorized by Congress. If the appraisal is delayed until five years after the project begins providing water, as the rules propose, the market value of the land without the project will be impossible to determine, the Center said. This is especially true where groundwater declines before the project was built may have the effect of holding land prices down.

For new projects, where landowners sign up for water knowing that the acreage limitation will be enforced, only two years instead of the proposed five should be allowed for the sale of excess land, the Center said.

The Center supported provisions in the proposed rules which require that corporations partnerships and trusts that purchase excess lands must consist of family members only, that an excess landowner can not lease excess land back from the person he sells it to, and that a buyer of excess land not be required to purchase personal property such as wells as a condition of buying excess land.

In issuing the statement, the Center said that is supported policies which "support the family farm as a place of life and work and as the basic unit of enterprise for American agriculture." "We believe that the family farm represents the best in the tradition of equality and opportunity in rural America, and we have learned that it is also the unit of production which makes the most efficient use of productive resources," the Center letter said.

Letters Welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.

EXTENSION NOTES

MICROWAVE OVEN RADIATION

Present estimates indicate that by 1980 more than five million microwave ovens will be in use. Government spokesmen say the average consumer, however, really doesn't know much about the microwave oven.

Microwaves are a form of electromagnetic energy which is intermediate in frequency and wave-length between radio waves and infrared waves. Microwave energy is absorbed by many materials, thereby producing a temperature rise. In foods, this increase in temperature is rapid and makes it possible to cook foods quickly.

Metallic materials reflect microwave energy while glass and many metallic wrapping materials allow microwaves to pass through them. The degree of heating depends on moisture content, shape, size, mass and other physical features of the material.

Microwaves, a nonionizing form of radiation, will not make food and other materials radioactive. Microwave cooking, as in any cooking process, has some effect on the nutritional value of the food. Most studies, however, show that there is no significant nutritional differences in foods heated by microwave radiation when compared to conventional cooking methods.

There have been no documented cases of radiation injury related to microwave ovens when the appliances were used according to manufacturer instructions. Interference with certain heart pacemakers has been associated with proximity to an operating microwave oven as it has with other kinds of electronic or electrical equipment.

The most frequent causes of microwave leakage have been maladjustment of oven door safety interlocks (devices to turn the oven off automatically as the door is opened), abuse of doors and door seals, build-up of dirt around door seals, improper servicing, and, with older ovens, failure to replace or repair worn out door hinges and latches.

As in the case of other major electronic appliances, microwave oven users can assure proper oven operation by obeying the following simple precautions:

- Follow manufacturer's instruction guide for recommend-
- ed operating procedures and safety precautions.
- Examine new ovens for evidence of shipping damage.
- Never operate an oven if the door does not close firmly or is bent, warped, or otherwise damaged.
- Never insert objects through the door grill or around the door seal.
- Never tamper with or inactivate the oven safety interlocks.
- Frequently clean oven cavity, door and seals with water and mild detergent. Do not use scouring pads, steel wool, or other abrasives.
- Have oven regularly serviced by a qualified serviceman for signs of wear, damage, or tampering.

Some people have believed that the song of birds ripens fruit.

Staff Says . . .

Wye Island Wild Goose

Place goose on rack in open roaster. Open two cans clear consommé; pour over goose. Pour two cans water into roaster. Take can of sherry, pour over bird. Salt and pepper goose well; then turn breast side down on rack. Bake at 350 degrees for 2 1/2 hours, or until goose is tender — basting every 15 minutes. If you are very busy and cannot baste that often, cover with top (the open pan method is preferred). When goose is done, slice off and place back in the broth. Keep warm until ready to serve.

Quick and Easy Banana Bread

Mix with a blender or mixer:
 1/2 cup Oleo
 2 fully ripe Bananas (or more)
 2 Eggs
 Sift these ingredients:
 1 1/4 cup Flour
 1 cup Sugar
 1/2 teaspoon Salt
 1/2 teaspoon Baking Soda

Mix dry ingredients into wet ingredients. Pour into greased bread pan. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Dave Diediker

Burgundy Goose Stew

Bake goose as above, then cut into cubes as for creamed chicken. Cook two medium onions until soft (not brown). Add flour to onions and butter, and stir in liquid from pan until thick and smooth. Add goose and 1 1/2 cups of Burgundy wine.

MERRY

Ray's Peanut Brittle

1 1/2 cups White Sugar
 1/2 cup Water
 1/2 cup White Corn Syrup
 Pinch Salt
 1 teaspoon Vanilla
 1 teaspoon Baking Soda
 2 cups raw Peanuts

Put in sugar, water, syrup and salt. Heat, stir, until mixture boils and threads. Then dump in vanilla and 2 cups of raw peanuts. Stir constantly until nice golden brown, not burnt brown. Take off fire and dump in baking soda. Beat until foamy. Dump in flat buttered pan.

Ray Murray

Broccoli Supreme

1 (10 oz.) box Frozen Broccoli
 1 cup Minute Rice
 1/2 cup Oleo, melted
 1/4 cup Finely Chopped Onion
 1/4 cup Finely Chopped Celery
 1/2 pound Velveeta Cheese, diced
 1 can Cream of Mushroom Soup

Pre-cook frozen broccoli a few minutes. Drain. Add the rest of the ingredients to drained broccoli in a casserole and bake 45 minutes.

 1 cup Sugar
 1 1/2 teaspoons Baking Powder
 1/2 teaspoon Baking Soda
 1/2 teaspoon Salt
 2 tablespoons Shortening
 3/4 cup Orange Juice
 1 Egg, beaten
 1 cup Raw Cranberries

Blend dry ingredients. Mix in shortening, orange juice and egg. Fold in cranberries. Pour into greased bread pan. Bake one hour at 350 degrees.

Alyce Henschke

Toffee Butter Crunch

1 cup Butter
 One and one-third cups Sugar
 1 tablespoon Light Corn Syrup
 3 tablespoons Water
 1 cup coarsely chopped Nuts
 4 (4 1/2 oz.) bars Milk Chocolate, melted
 1 cup finely chopped Nuts

Melt butter in large sauce pan. Add sugar, syrup and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring now and then. Cook to hard crack stage (300 degrees), watching closely after temperature reaches 280. Quickly stir in coarse nuts and spread in well greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Cool thoroughly. Turn out on waxed paper. Spread top with 1/2 of melted chocolate and sprinkle with 1/2 fine nuts. Cover with waxed paper, invert, spread again with rest of chocolate and sprinkle with rest of nuts. Chill to firm chocolate. Break into pieces.

Grandma's

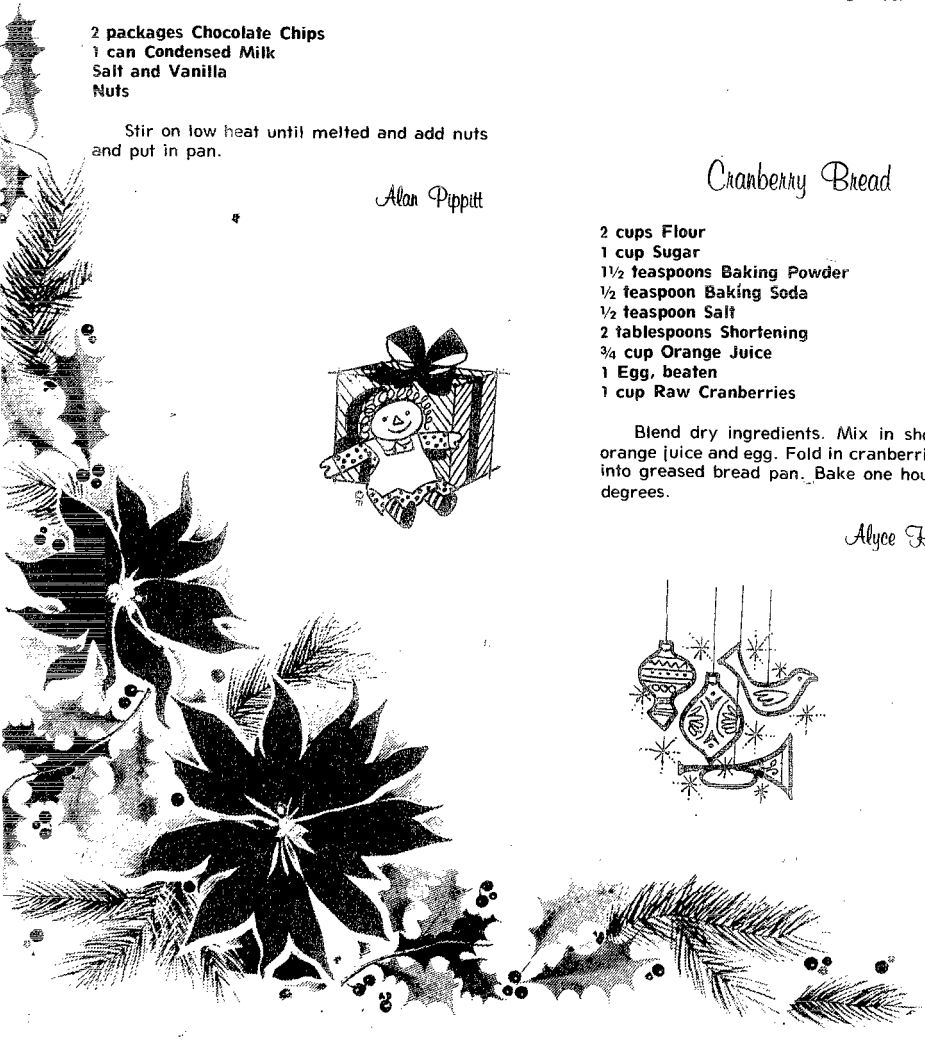

3 cups Sugar
 1 cup Milk
 2 teaspoons Vanilla
 6 tablespoons Cocoa
 Dash Salt
 1/2 cup Butter

Combine in large cocoa and salt. Bring stirring until all thoroughly. Boil for 5 or until candy forms. Cool slightly, add 1/2 candy until soft. Pour. Add black walnuts desired.

Cranberry

1 package Strawberry Jello
 1 cup Hot Water
 1/2 cup Mayonnaise
 1/2 cup Pineapple (crushed)
 1 (1 lb.) can whole beans, drained

Dissolve Jello in refrigerator until partially set. Blend in apple and cranberry. Mix. Pour into 6 inch refrigerator and chill.

Sweet Potatoes

Ingredients:
 1 cup Snipped Dried Apricots
 1 cup Orange Juice
 1 cup Water
 1/2 cup Brown Sugar
 1/2 cup Honey
 1/2 cup Butter or Margarine
 2 pounds Sweet Potatoes, cooked, peeled, and cut crosswise in thick pieces
 1/2 cup Walnut Halves

In a saucepan, combine apricots, orange juice, water, brown sugar, and honey. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until apricots are tender, about 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Arrange sweet potatoes in a 2-inch skillet; sprinkle with walnuts. Pour cooking sauce over. Cover and simmer until potatoes are heated through and glazed, about 10 minutes. Baste frequently.
 Serves 12.

Cheese 'n Bacon Cabbage Wedges

Ingredients:
 1 large head Green Cabbage (about 2 lbs.)
 1 can (10 3/4 oz.) Condensed Cheddar Cheese Soup
 1/2 teaspoon Dry Mustard
 6 slices Bacon, crisply fried and crumbled
 1/2 teaspoon Celery Seed

Discard outside leaves of cabbage; wash. Cut into 6 wedges and remove core. Heat 1 inch salted water (1/2 teaspoon salt to 1 cup water) to boiling. Add cabbage. Cover and heat to boiling. Cook wedges 10 to 12 minutes or until crisp-tender. Drain.

Stir together soup, mustard and celery seed in saucepan. Heat through. Pour soup mixture over hot cabbage wedges; sprinkle with bacon.

Candy Cane Cookies

Ingredients:
 2 1/2 cups Flour
 1/2 cup Butter
 1/2 cup Lard
 1 cup Powdered Sugar
 1 teaspoon Salt
 1 teaspoon Vanilla
 1 teaspoon Almond Flavoring
 1 Egg

Make a dough. Divide dough in half. Add red coloring to one half. Roll into ropes 1/4 to 1/2-inch thick. Cut into 4 to 5-inch lengths. Twist one red and one white rope to make a cane. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Do not let them brown.

Dorothy Aurich

White Christmas Fudge

Ingredients:
 2 cups Granulated Sugar
 1/2 cup Dairy Sour Cream
 One-third cup White Corn Syrup
 2 tablespoons Butter
 1/4 teaspoon Salt

Combine in sauce pan. Bring to a boil slowly, stirring until sugar dissolves. Boil, without stirring, over medium heat, to 236 degrees on candy thermometer, or until a little mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from heat and let stand 15 minutes. Do not stir!

ADD: 2 teaspoons vanilla, rum or brandy flavoring. Beat until mixture starts to lose its gloss (about 8 minutes).

STIR IN: 1/4 cup quartered candied cherries and 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts.

Pour into a greased shallow pan. Cool and cut into squares. Makes about 1 1/2 pounds of fudge.

HEALTH TIP

The eyes of the newborn infant have most of the components necessary for seeing. Some parts continue their development until about six months after birth. The newborn, however, can see form and movement. Several months after birth, the infant focuses on persons or objects. He should be able to fix his eyes on an object by the third to sixth month. Wandering movements of the eyes, however, may be present until about one year of age.
Abnormal positions of one eye in relation to the other also occur during this period, so this lack of coordination of the eyes should not be cause for worry, unless it occurs constantly in one eye. Parents should watch their child's eyes, especially the pupils, because growths can be detected very early by careful observations. Ordinarily if something is wrong, the defect appears as a whitish or yellowish reflex in the pupil.
Any infant who develops a constant crossed or wall eye should be examined immediately by a physician. Ordinarily this can be done with special magnifying instruments after the pupils are dilated with drops. Only medical eye specialists are allowed to dilate the pupils for such examinations, says the Nebraska Medical Association.

Deer Hunters Show Decrease in 1977

Deer hunting success was lower in Nebraska this year than in the 1976 firearm season, according to check station data tabulated by Game and Parks Commission biologists.

This year, 43 percent of the state's 24,583 permit holders bagged deer, compared to the 53 percent who were successful last year.

"It's about what was expected," said big game biologist Karl Menzel, who had predicted 40 to 45 percent success prior to the season. "We knew that the deer population was down somewhat because of some losses to disease. And, we knew that the substantial decrease in the number of either-sex permits would also mean a lower success rate," he said.

That pattern held up reasonably well throughout the state, with some exceptions. The Blue Unit matched its 1976 success of 44 percent, even though there were one-third fewer either-sex permits, and the Wahoo, Frenchman, Republican and Sand Hills were roughly the same. The Keya Paha, Loup West and Pine Ridge units experienced rather dramatic declines in hunter success.

The drop in Keya Paha unit is understandable, with the abandoning of liberal regulations of past years that allowed the taking of either buck or doe whitetails. A combination of deer numbers lowered by disease and fewer either-sex permits figured in the decreased Loup West harvest.

But, the situation in the Pine Ridge drew most of Menzel's attention. There, success dropped from 54 percent in 1976 to 27 percent this year.

"We expected quite a drop there, with a switch from 100 percent either-sex permits last year to bucks only this year, but we didn't expect such a dramatic decline. It's pretty clear now that the problem in the Pine Ridge goes back to the heavy harvest in the 1976 season, when too many either-sex permits were issued. Any disease losses that we might have had there in the summer or fall of 1976 only compounded an already existing problem," Menzel said.

According to Menzel, a program of heavy harvest in the Pine Ridge had been under way for several years in the early 1970's to reduce a rather large deer herd there which, at times, approached the tolerance limits of area ranchers. "We obviously achieved control of the deer herd with the 1974 and 1975 seasons, and should not have removed the number of does that we did in 1976," Menzel said.

He explained that a high proportion of either-sex permits and the resulting harvest of does reduces a deer herd. A doe taken in the fall means a net reduction of two or three deer the next year because of the fawns she would have produced. On the other hand, harvesting only bucks does not affect a deer herd's reproduction, since enough bucks survive the hunting season to breed all available does.

"We have already started the recovery program in the Pine Ridge with this year's conservation regulations. Bucks-only hunting like we had this year allows a herd to recover. In a year or two, the Pine Ridge herd should be well on the way to rebuilding," Menzel said.

Although the overall success was down considerably compared to the past few years, Nebraskans still enjoy one of the highest success ratios on deer in the U.S. Deer hunting success, by unit, includes:

'Lack of Adequate Data On Use of Fertilizer Can Hinder Soil Tests'

Fertilizer recommendations continue to vary greatly based on tests of soil samples from the same field site sent by Nebraska farmers to different soil testing laboratories, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension soils specialist said this week.

Dr. Donald H. Sander, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agronomist, said the variation in fertilizer recommendations, "a rather common occurrence," is "perplexing to producers," and probably has done more to destroy confidence in soil testing than any other single factor.

Dr. Sander said that it is true that several factors can contribute to differences in fertilizer recommendations made from essentially the same sample, including possible laboratory errors and differences in sample mixing. However, he said chemical extractions or the soil test itself "is not the primary problem... it lies in a difference in philosophy in making the fertilizer recommendation from the soil test."

The soils specialist said a lack of adequate correlation and calibration data relating soil tests to actual crop yields have given rise to various fertilizer recommendation philosophies. Sander pointed out that in areas such as crop production where a fact is not known for certain, "there can be a difference in philosophy, or really a matter of opinion." Those making fertilizer recommendations do so in the best way they can, but too often recommendations are based on their own set of selected criteria, he stressed.

The Wayne Winner Girls 4-H Club held their Christmas caroling party the evening of Dec. 15 with seven members singing. Refreshments were served later by Mrs. Darrell Moore and Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen.

One school of thought among those making recommendations, he said, is that soil fertility should be built up to a certain level to produce high yields. "Some believe that 'mining the soil' is bad, therefore, we must apply the nutrients that we remove," he explained.

Application of more fertilizer than is necessary for a target yield is particularly serious now, in view of the energy crunch and low grain prices, Sander said. Because a high yield is achieved, a farmer is less likely to know a fertilizer recommendation was wrong when too much was recommended rather than too little, Sander said.

Often, recommendations are made on the basis that a given nutrient "might be" deficient, which gives greater assurance that fertilizer will not be "short" and yield depressed. This line of recommendation "becomes very expensive and uneconomical" in the view of UNL agronomists, Sander said. "Fertilizer recommendations should be based on what will be the most profitable to apply in terms of yield increases in a given crop year," he said. "If we don't think a given nutrient will increase yields economically, we shouldn't recommend it," he emphasized.

This "difference in philosophy" can make costs of fertilizer vary greatly, as much as $30 to $40 per acre per year, Sander said.

CHRISTMAS POINSETTIA CARE

Were you still showing off last year's Christmas poinsettia on George Washington's birthday? Or did yours shrivel up and drop its leaves before you'd even taken down the Christmas tree? The plants are especially sensitive to heat and light and will not tolerate a draft. Most do badly with either too little or too much water.

As soon as you get your poinsettia home remove foil or any other wrapping around the pot and place the plant in or near a sunny window. During the day try to keep the plant in a room where the temperature stays between 65 and 70 degrees F. The plant needs a cooler spot at night, but no cooler than 60 degrees or your poinsettia will suffer.

POINSETTIA PROBLEM SIGNS

If your plant starts to drop leaves, check to see if it's in a draft from a window or a nearby outside door.

The problem could also be lack of water. Touch the soil every day. If it feels dry, pour on enough water to saturate the potting soil. Pour on just enough so that it drips out the drainage hole. Let soil become quite dry before rewatering. Never let your plant stand in water and be sure to empty out any water in the saucer or flower pot.

When you have followed all of the management tips, you should be assured of several week's enjoyment from your plant.

CHRISTMAS BEGONIA

This plant has light green foliage with pink clusters of flowers. A sunny location, a cool (60 degrees F.) night temperature to aid further bud development and a moist soil are essential to obtain maximum enjoyment from this plant. This is a difficult plant to maintain in the home and probably should be discarded after the blooms pass.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS

This plant should be kept moist; especially during the flowering period. Grow this plant in full sunlight, cool temperatures (maximum 60 degrees F.) and medium humidity (70 percent). Maintain a regular fertility program during the growing season.

ETV to Feature Agnat Computer For Farmers

A demonstration of the Agnat Computer System developed by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources will be featured on AGRI-SCOPE, airing tonight (Thursday), at 7:30 on the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

The statewide computer network enables farmers and ranchers to make management decisions at home through a portable terminal that connects to a computer. The computer may be used to determine such management problems as figuring the economic potential of center pivot irrigation systems and estimating the most efficient feed rations for cattle. The system also has applications for the home including read outs describing the nutritional value of meals and planning diets for the family.

Rehm: Options Vary for Farmers Producing Corn

Choosing the right tillage system for corn production in Northeast Nebraska hinges on two major factors, said district extension agronomist George Rehm.

The first is soil textures, both sandy and non-sandy types, and energy supply.

Tillage options are more numerous for corn production on the non-sandy soils, Rehm said, pointing out that research conducted at the Northeast Experimental Station near Concord has shown that yields are not affected by three basic tillage systems used in the area.

Yields averaged 100 bushels an acre from 1972 through 1975 when corn was planted with a tillage system, Rehm said. During that same period, the conventional plowing and disking system also was used producing 95 bushels an acre. Using two diskings without plowing and planting with a surface planter resulted in 96 bushels of corn per acre.

Rehm stressed that there is a large difference in the amount of fuel used per acre with the three systems.

The diesel fuel required for planting with the tillage system was slightly more than one gallon per acre. When two diskings and a surface planting system was used, the diesel fuel requirement was 1.25 gallons per acre. The plowing and disking conventional system requires about 3.25 gallons of diesel fuel per acre.

"We do not recommend that all farmers use the tillage system," Rehm said. The system which used disking and surface planting is certainly appropriate for corn planting in Northeast Nebraska. This is especially true for fields where corn will follow soybeans or fields where corn will be planted following corn removed for silage.

In recent years, there has also been a large amount of interest in the use of a chisel plow in the fall. Studies conducted to compare a fall chisel plow with a conventional spring plow and a tillage system were started at the Northeast Station in the fall of 1976.

Yields recorded in 1977 showed that tillage system had no influence on yield. But, yields were 123, 124, and 124 bushels per acre for the tillage, spring plow and chisel plow systems respectively.

Farmers growing corn on sandy soils have fewer tillage systems to choose from. The threat of wind erosion nearly eliminates the use of the plow on these soils. The disking operations, however, leave crop residue on the soil surface and this is the most acceptable tillage system for the sandy soils.

Several North American Indian tribes use holly leaf tea for measles.

'It's Important that Children Get a Feeling Of Helping Others'

Even if the Christmas tree ornaments get hung wrong and all the tinsel is on one side of the tree, it's a good idea to let children help prepare for the holidays.

Marilyn Jirsa, instructor of human development and the family at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, says families with young children should let them participate as much as possible in tree trimming, present wrapping and decorating for the holidays.

"Sometimes the emphasis at Christmas tends to be on appearances — how nice the tree looks or how well the presents are wrapped," she says. "But children don't get as excited about how things look as they do about participating in family activities."

"It's better to trade off a little adult 'neatness' for a child's feeling of involvement," she says.

Children can help with almost any craft or decorating activity if the activity is adapted in some way, Jirsa notes. The important thing is that they feel part of the preparations.

"There is more emphasis now in families to give homemade Christmas gifts," she says. "Children can work with the leftover materials to make their own creations or they can help adults with decorating projects, even if it's just pasting one item in place."

Jirsa advised also emphasizing the non-gift aspects of the holidays, such as cooking, decorating and helping others. She suggests letting preschoolers make simple decorations such as paper chains, strings of cranberries or snowflakes. Another favorite activity is to tip pinecones with glue, then dip them in glitter for special decorations.

"It's important that small children get a feeling of helping others in the world and sharing themselves," she adds, making bird or squirrel feeders, such as pinecones smeared with peanut butter and seeds or cheerios strung on yarn, can give children a feeling of helping at Christmas, she says.

Preschoolers can experience giving of themselves at Christmas by coloring, pasting or painting Christmas cards for grandparents or other family members, Jirsa adds. A nice touch is to include a photograph of the child somewhere on the artwork.

Heleen Sulek, professor of human development and the family at UNL, also advocates involving preschoolers in the holiday festivities, but warns against over-stimulating small children.

"Parents should avoid taking preschoolers shopping in crowds, especially when they have a long list of things to shop for," she says. "They should also try to avoid building up too much suspense for the child."

Sulek suggests parents start when the children are very young to emphasize the real meaning of Christmas, or the religious significance of the holiday as it is observed in the particular family, rather than gift-buying. "Children should learn to think in terms of giving more than receiving at Christmas," she explains.

For example, when preschoolers help make or decorate Christmas cookies, it could be with the idea of giving them to someone else, she says. Family Christmas caroling, especially for the elderly or shut-ins in the neighborhood, is another way to convey this idea.

Giving can also be stressed in the selection of Christmas gifts, she notes. "Parents can help children select or make something for family members. The gift should be something simple that the child is pleased to give," she says.

"But be prepared for preschoolers not to keep secrets," Sulek adds. "They'll probably tell everyone what they're giving them."

Christmas Is A Family Celebration

By Pastor DONIVER PETERSON
St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Christmas is a time for family celebrations. Whenever possible, we gather together with other members of our earthly families. We gather to gaze at the Holy Family. And we gather at worship as the family of God.

During Christmas time, we like to gather with members of our earthly families. We are glad to travel a distance to see our loved ones, and we look forward to having members of our family come to visit us. Christmas can be empty when we are separated from our families, so we try to share our love with family members.

But we open our hearts to another family at Christmas time. We welcome the Holy Family into our hearts. We look back to Bethlehem two thousand years ago and see Mary and Joseph waiting in a stable for the birth of Jesus, because there was no room for them in the inn. They were far away from their families who lived in Nazareth. During their time of loneliness, God appeared in human form as Mary gave birth to the Savior of the world. We honor this Holy Family during this holy season.

And we gather together as the family of God to worship the babe of Bethlehem, Jesus Christ. We may be surrounded by our earthly families or separated from them. Whatever these circumstances, we have the privilege of gathering with other members of the family of God and finding the joy of Christmas time.

Let us plan to attend worship on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, so that we who belong to the family of God may honor the Holy family.
