Special Program On Farm Strike

The news spotlight centered on the farm strike meeting Friday in Omaha between U.S. Sec. of Ag. Bob Bergland and strike representatives.

The highlights of the meeting will be aired on an hour-long AGRISCOPE Thursday, Jan. 12, at 7:30 p.m. on the Nebraska Educational Television network.

Bergland met with strike representatives from a 36-state area at Ak-Sar-Ben to discuss strike objectives and areas of disagreement between farmers and the federal government.

Stan DeBoer of Bertrand, Nebraska farm strike representative, presented Nebraska's interests. Nebraska Gov. J. James Exon, who initiated the meeting, labeled it as a "negotiations" session designed to lead to a settlement of the strike.

The strike program will be repeated Sunday, Jan. 15, at 6 p.m.

Winter Woes May Be Lessened By New Rules

It may get cold outside this winter, but food stamp households in Wayne county and the area may find it a little easier than usual to cope.

The Wayne County Welfare office said households receiving food stamps may find that even though their heating or utility bills are up this winter, the increase will be offset by the amount they will be charged for their food stamps.

Under new food stamp rules effective Jan. 1, 1978, households may be able to get prompt adjustments in their food stamp purchase price if heating or utility bills increase. Food stamp purchase prices are based on net income, after itemized deductions. When deductions for heating and utility costs increase, purchase prices go down because there is less income available to the household for food.

According to the welfare office, the food stamp households will now be able to use their most recent utility bills to claim a larger deduction, even if they have not managed to pay the bills yet.

If heating and/or utility bills go up by more than $25, households will have their cases reviewed right away. If the higher bills entitle the household to a lower purchase price, they will be able to buy their food stamps at that lower price within ten days. If they have already bought their food stamps for the month, they would have their purchase price adjusted for the next month.

Households whose utility bills have increased less than $25 will have the change processed according to normal procedures.

Households who are applying or re-applying for food stamps and whose heating and utility bills have increased more than $25 will be certified within ten days if they are eligible.

Allowable heating and utility bills include heating and cooking fuel, electricity, water and sewer, garbage and trash collection and basic telephone service.

Food stamp households will receive a notice explaining the new procedures by Jan. 15. Households should contact their local food stamp office and ask to have their case reviewed to find out whether or not they qualify for the lower food stamp purchase price.

Public Hearing March 7

County Zoning Regulations Set

Preliminary land development regulations for Wayne county are nearing final stages, according to Wayne County Clerk Norris Weible.

A public hearing is scheduled for March 7 at 8 p.m. in the Wayne county courtroom, Weible said, where county residents will have an opportunity to make their views known regarding the county zoning regulations.

Weible said the Wayne County

Joint Planning commission, a new commission established some two years ago with Stanley Hansen the present chairman, will take into consideration any objections at the meeting before recommending the regulations.

The zoning project has been held up some time because of objections early in the planning. Weible said most of the objections have been worked out so that the regulations reflect the desires of the rural residents and still do what they are intended to do. . . set out guidelines for orderly land development in the Wayne county rural community.

It was pointed out the regulations represent an attempt to find a satisfactory balance between public control and use of land. It was noted that by working with Advisor David Wright, representative of the department of economic development, the county zoning commission has been able to incorporate into a comprehensive county zoning plan, regulations which are designed to produce desirable trends in land use, general areas where community facilities are best located and the corridor locations for future major streets and roads.

Weible said following the public hearing in March, the joint planning commission will poll its members as to whether or not they feel the proposed regulations and maps should be recommended to the county board to use as a basis for enacting effective and equitable land use controls (zoning) that best reflect the public desires.

For Seven County Offices

Board Okay's Salary Changes

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners gave its approval to a resolution to make salary changes for elected officers, using cost of living increases or decreases as guidelines.

The resolution calls for a $12,000 salary for the offices of county clerk, county treasurer, county assessor and county sheriff for the 1979 calendar year.

The board set a $11,000 salary for the offices of county superintendent, county attorney and clerk of district court for the 1979 calendar year.

In addition, the resolution also calls for an annual adjustment during the term of office based on the average previous year's salary of the officials equivalent to the most recent recommended adjustment in salary authorized by the Federal Cost of Living Council created by a Presidential Executive order and using the next highest whole number as the percentage figure.

The board noted the laws of Nebraska provide that the salaries of elected officials must be established at least 60 days prior to the closing of filings of Certificates of Nomination to place names on the primary ballot for the respective offices.

There is only one county office effected by the order and that is the county clerk. The date for closing of filings for the office is March 10.

The county board will meet in regular session Tuesday, Jan. 10. On the agenda will be a discussion concerning an area agency on aging.

At the board's last meeting, Keith Taylor of Goldenrod Hills, asked the board to adopt a resolution and agreement so that Wayne county could be included in the area agency.

He offered the services of his staff to help with the administrative work.

Others who attended the meeting in connection with the aging agency were Randy Dunlap, State Office of Aging; Pat Dahl, Social Service worker in Region 141; Joceli Bull, coordinator of activities at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center; Thelma Moeller, Donna Clark and Marci Stolpe from Goldenrod Hills and several senior citizens from the area.

The county has until Jan. 31 in which to make a decision about the resolution and agreement.

Street Plan Hearing Set

Topping the agenda for Tuesday night's meeting of the Wayne City Council are a public hearing on the one and six-year street plan and opening of bids for a police station wagon.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Following routine business matters, the council will consider these items on the agenda:
Pickup, Councilman Vernon Russell, 7:50 p.m.; College Community Board request, Clerk Bruce Mordhorst, 7:55 p.m.; Public Hearing, one and six year street plan, 8 p.m.; Resolution, one and six year street plan, 8:10 p.m.; Bad debts, Clerk Mordhorst, 8:20 p.m.; Bid opening — police station wagon, 8:30 p.m.; Material approval, Fairacres, engineer, 8:35 p.m.; Resolution sanitary sewer extension District No. 77-1, 8:40 p.m.; Ordinance No. 889-sanitary sewer extension District No. 77-1, 8:50 p.m.; Transfer station contract, Attorney, 9 p.m.; Chamber request, discussion, 9:15 p.m.; Sidewalk request, Roy Coryell, 9:25 p.m.; Adjourn, 9:40 p.m.

Starting to Take Shape

WORKMEN FROM Don Goeden Construction of Wayne began work last week on a new mini-mall located on the corner of Second and Logan Streets. Bill Schwartz, left, and Rob Mitchell, nail down parts of the roof which will cover the outside section facing Second Street. According to Wayne developer Roy Coryell, plans for the 10,000 square foot building won't be released until later. Coryell is hoping to attract several businesses to locate inside of the building.

Mail Ballots For Election

Dixon county farmers this month will elect two persons to the Dixon County Extension board.

The two positions are District II (Daily, Silvercreek and Ponca townships) and District IV (Concord, Springbank, south one-third of Otter Creek and the north one-third of Emerson townships).

Persons nominated for the position are: District II — Don Thomas and Mrs. Robert Grosvenor; District IV — Mrs. Earl Eckert and James Stapleton.

Mail ballots are being sent to residents in those areas. Residents who do not receive a ballot are asked to contact the Dixon County Extension office at Northeast Station near Concord. Ballots are to be counted Jan. 27.

The present board includes Melvin Gould, District I; Don Dohma, District II, president; Mrs. Kenneth Petri, District III; Mrs. Ervin Kraemer, District IV, secretary; Francis Muller, District V, vice-president; H.H. Council, Mrs. Dean Rickett and Mrs. Randall Gunderson; Home Extension council, Mrs. LeRoy Koch and Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt.

Only those residents in the above mentioned districts in Dixon county are eligible to vote.

Power Line Issue 'Warms'

A court fight between Nebraska Public Power district (NPPD) and farmers opposed to a proposed 345,000 volt power line to cross Wayne, Thurston, Dakota and Stanton counties, is becoming a possibility as the issue is becoming an emotional one.

At a series of NPPD hearings, farmers who face a loss of land if the power line is constructed, have raised questions of actual need for the line, the environmental impact and what avenues they can explore to stop the proposed construction.

Sole Owners

Steve and Donna Schumacher this week purchased the entire interest of the Hiscox-Schumacher Funeral home. The business was formerly owned by a corporation.

Schumachers have been associated with the funeral home for five years.

Fetal Monitoring Machine

Upgrade Newborn Chances

By CHUCK BARNES
Chances for normal, healthy babies born at Providence Medical center have been greatly enhanced with the addition of a fetal monitor.

Cecilia Olsen, RN, a member of the maternal child health division of the State of Nebraska

Department of Health, Friday introduced the new monitoring machine to some 17 persons who will soon begin intensive training covering the operation of the monitoring device.

Miss Olsen, obstetric nurse specialist, explained the monitoring machine will be located in the medical center for two years. It is one of 22 machines which have been placed in operation in Nebraska hospitals since 1974.

She said it is a part of the equipment furnished to Nebraska hospitals through the Rural Perinatal program. The March of Dimes helps to fund the program.

Miss Olsen said the device monitors both the mother and baby during labor and delivery. "We are able to keep tabs of the

'Flaming Rainbow' Continues to Glow

The image of Nebraska's late Poet Laureate John G. Neihardt will come into focus once again during special observance of his 97th birthday.

The play, "Black Elk Speaks," will be performed in Rice Auditorium of Wayne State College on Wednesday, Jan. 18. The production will be staged in seven Nebraska cities during January.

Dr. Neihardt, who was well known by his Sioux name, "Flaming Rainbow," died in 1973 before the completion of his second volume of his autobiography. The final chapter was added by his daughter, Hilda Petri, and it has been published by the Missouri University press. The name of the volume is "Patterns and Coincidences," a sequel to "All Is But a Beginning — Youth Remembered," published in 1972.

A conversation between native Nebraskan Dick Cavett and the late Dr. Neihardt, which was originally aired on ABC television in 1972 on "The Dick Cavett Show," will be broadcast Sunday, Jan. 8, at 9 p.m. on the Nebraska Educational Television network.

OBSERVATIONS

It's up to us . . . and you

Ever since the infallible founders of this great country of ours poetically blithed the Indians out of their native land by proclaiming the land would be theirs "as long as the winds blow and the streams flow," the creditability of our bureaucratic government has been suspect.

"Watergate" did not enhance this position, although it did serve to usher in a new breed of so-called "investigative journalists." And since that infamous period of history, highlighted by defrocking a United States president, other "investigative journalists" have mounted their white chargers with typewriters in hand to search out other "Watergates."

We cannot fault them in theory because a factual press serves as a check to keep elective representatives of a free people living under a democratic form of government, reasonably "honest."

However, we do advise them to check the route of their ride before they write. The creditability of the press is equally important at all levels of our government.

The press is charged with the awesome responsibility of maintaining creditability through factual reporting. This responsibility ranges from such prestigious newspapers as The Washington Post to The weekly high school newspaper. There is little room for "head-hunting" just for the sake of the hunt.

The basis for press creditability begins with community newspapers such as The Wayne Herald. Creditability is challenged directly by the reader in community journalism. Because of this personal relationship, the reader serves a most important role of making certain the community press maintains its positive position in the realm of responsibility.

As editor of The Wayne Herald, we accept this responsibility and we will endeavor to maintain creditability. We will express our views on local, regional, state, national and international affairs in the editorial columns of this newspaper. There will be opportunity for readers to express their views through "letters to the editor."

Personal expression will be confined to the editorial page. The news will be reported factually and professionally. We intend to maintain the position of The Wayne Herald as a spokesperson for the area. Nothing less will be acceptable.

So it boils down to the simple fact that you, our readers, play a major role in making certain The Wayne Herald continues to serve its singular purpose. And when we step out of line, we expect and solicit your help in being guided back to the proper perspective. — Chuck Barnes.

Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost. — Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786.

Barnestorming

WITH CHUCK BARNES

"Hello. My name is Chuck Barnes!"

— CHB —
"So what?" We agree. We'll skip the formalities. We had to start this thing off with something and since a spinoff of the above has been a consistent winner for Johnny Cash, we decided to give it a whirl. Nothing ventured is nothing.

— CHB —
It is not without credentials that we forthwith introduce this vacuum of nothingness which we so cleverly call "sub-title Barnestorming." Others before have read it and have documented their feelings in letters, all of which centered around the theme that it is dumb.

— CHB —
Dumb or not, we boldly go where no man has gone before as required by our contract. At this juncture, we shatter all illusions that something can be gained by reading this. If there is one thing you can count on, it is that this will never, yes never, win a Pulitzer prize.

— CHB —
Following the philosophy that everyone makes their own bed by their own actions, we expect to fluff up our own bedroll with some observations about what makes this mottled world skip a beat now and then as it wobbles its way through time. In other words, a lot to do about nothing. — CHB —

Now that the groundrules have been established, we'll get right on with it and start breaking them.

— CHB —
We, the people, have let ourselves become mesmerized by an ever-entangling electronic giant commonly referred to as teevee. We accept as gospel that which is beamed into our livingrooms, our bedrooms, our kitchens and even the final sanctuary of person-kind, the bathroom.

— CHB —
What we have done is we have let our brains become fat and lazy as we are spooned a wide spectrum of stuff which we digest, belch and wait for another feeding without thought.

— CHB —
We are well aware we cannot challenge, with any degree of effectiveness, that which is being forced upon us for the good of our well-being in the name of progress. Therefore, we accept the concept that teevee is here to stay. But if we have to be subjected to the glowing eye of the teevee, then why not make it more entertaining?

— CHB —
We suggest a law which would require all teevee commercials to be aired "live" as opposed to the present boring taped versions. We could look forward to the time when Mrs. Olsen, the brew-mistress of coffeedom, would prepare a pot of brand "X" and serve it to her kitchen captive who would take a sip of the stuff and state: "You call this coffee?" Or just one time, the guy who has an upset stomach and asks his co-worker how he spells relief and the co-worker mis-spells the name of the product. It's a dumb way to spell relief, anyway. Just think of some poor teacher who has her class in the "R's" spelling window and is challenged by one of her students because they spell "relief" differently on teevee.

— CHB —
The possibilities are needless and the idea is mind-boggling. So much so, we're withdrawing into our own world of untold fantasies with a simple. . . "And that is that!"

Crops, livestock inseparable

Of Nebraska's $3.9 billion in cash receipts from farm marketings in 1976, 57 percent ($2.2 billion) came from marketings of livestock and livestock products with $1.6 billion or 43 percent coming from cash receipts from crop production.

The figures serve to illustrate the importance of the livestock industry in Nebraska and the need to preserve its good economic health. Crop and livestock production in the nation as well as Nebraska are dependent upon each other and cannot be separated.

Most Nebraska farmers integrate their crop production with livestock and it has been proved to many farmers over a period of years that versatility is to be desired. It is the reason that a general farming and livestock operation over the long pull is more likely to survive than the specialist who has only one option.

In Western Nebraska wheat and cattle production usually go together. In the major crop producing areas of the state, the farmer-feeder who produces his own grains, his own hogs, and at least part of his feedlot cattle has less risk and more options than the feedlot operator who must buy most of his grain and other feed and all of his feeder livestock.

If feed grain production is large and supplies plentiful, ranchers anticipate that there will be an increased demand for feeder cattle as more feed grain producers will seek to market their grain through livestock. This normally firms the price of feeder cattle. Increased placements of cattle in feedlots in Nebraska this fall reflect this. Feedlot operators undoubtedly based the price of what they paid for their replacements on prospects for plentiful grain supplies at relatively stable prices.

In 1974 and 1975 when drought reduced feed grain supplies and prices were at high levels, feedlot numbers in the state were greatly reduced. Livestock producers and feeders generally were losing money, big chunks of it. Cattle feeders have been operating on extremely tight margins ever since the big break in cattle prices in early 1974.

Farmers and ranchers know these things instinctively but non-farmers don't. Non-farmers are very much confused with the present demands of some farmers for "100 per cent parity." They are generally sympathetic to the farmers' economic problems but they do not understand the intricacies of it. They probably would not grasp the whole story even if it were told to them, which it is not.

If it were possible by political pressure to raise the price of corn overnight by $1 to $1.50 per bushel for example, it would mean that most cattle and hog producers would be in an immediate loss position on whatever they had in the process of production. . . particularly if they were buying their livestock and their feed. Probably every dairy would go into a loss position on its milk production. The same thing would be true for broiler and egg producers, also dependent on feed purchases.

Farm commodity prices are too low and costs of production too high and the economic health of agriculture is not good and that is a point of general agreement. But the answer does not lie some simplistic government price edict that would give temporary relief to cash grain farmers and cripple or kill the livestock industry.

Farming is a business that must make a profit. . . all segments of it. It is not a job in a steel mill or on an assembly line or behind a desk. To believe otherwise is to court complete disaster for everybody.

Hospital costs

Dear Editor: As you know HEW received a great number of expressions of concern from people living in your area after the publication of the proposed guidelines for hospital cost containment.

The greatest concern among these people was the fear that HEW planned to eliminate services and close hospitals in rural areas. Let me assure your readers that this is not the case. We do, however, accept part of the responsibility for confusion which may have existed. The guidelines were probably not presented in a clear enough manner.

The facts are these: We are making every effort to assure quality health care for the American people and at the same time control rising health care costs.

As required by the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974, the department published for public comment proposed national guidelines that would establish numerical standards for judging whether specific inpatient medical services and facilities are needed in individual communities.

While state and local planning agencies alone have the authority to review major new capital expenditures for medical facilities and equipment, this department's effort to provide numerical guidelines is mandated by the National Health Planning Act and is critical to assist states and local communities in providing quality care without unnecessary costs. It should be clear, however, that neither the Act nor the guidelines provide any authority for the Federal Government to close any hospitals or to eliminate any services.

The guidelines currently provide for exceptions for rural hospitals and exempt them from the standards if they provide services to patients who would otherwise be more than 45 minutes travel time from a hospital. In response to the comments we have received, we intend to clarify and broaden the exceptions applicable to rural and community facilities when the guidelines are revised. Our objective is to improve access to needed, high quality health care for those living in rural and other under-served areas.

The department recognizes that the currently proposed standard for obstetrical units are strict. We intend to review this standard carefully and to revise it appropriately to take into account the objections that have been raised. Please note: Nothing in the National Health Planning act or in the proposed guidelines would or could take decisions concerning individual facilities out of local hands. The guidelines give local and State agencies national benchmarks to help in drawing up local and State plans. The plans should, and indeed must, recognize special local circumstances and requirements, and the guidelines will provide for recognizing such circumstances.

I ask that you advise residents of your community of HEW's position — through editorials or use of this letter. — Thomas J. Higgins, Principal Regional Officer, Region VII.

Regular Brown Sugar Still More Economical

Liquid brown sugar is a new product on grocers' shelves that looks like a good buy at first glance. Teresa Shaffer, Extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, suggests that consumers take a closer look, however.

"The label," says Shaffer, "says to use half as much of the liquid product as regular granulated brown sugar in any recipe." If a recipe calls for a cup of brown sugar, a half cup of the liquid brown sugar could be used instead. "This sounds like a bargain, but penny-wise, its not," says Shaffer.

"If you buy the regular brown sugar, you pay about 15 cents per cup, while that half cup of liquid brown sugar costs about 22 cents, or 7 cents more. That's the price for the convenience of an easy-to-measure product," she adds.

Although liquid brown sugar may be tasty on pancakes, waffles or ice cream, it can be made at home with regular brown sugar and water for less, says Shaffer. Simply mix one-half cup water for each cup of brown sugar, heat over low heat and serve, suggests the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist.

'Leap on Lincoln' Trip Planned

Citizens from Wayne and Dixon Counties are invited to "Leap on Lincoln" during a daylong citizenship program to be held at the state capitol on Jan. 26.

The trip, which is open to the public, is being sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service along with the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs. According to Anna Marie Kreifels, area home extension agent, the program will provide Nebraskans with the opportunity to both observe and become involved in the legislature process.

Participants will tour the state capitol, observe sessions of the

Also on the agenda is a tour of the governor's mansion and the governor's suite, along with visits with various public officials.

Transportation to and from Lincoln is planned by chartered bus. The bus will leave from Gibson's parking lot in Wayne at 6:30 a.m. and will arrive at the state capitol at 9 a.m. Following registration, coffee and rolls, the formal session will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 3:30 p.m.

Cost of the trip is $14.25 and includes the bus fare, noon luncheon and registration fee. Reservations for the trip must be made on or before Jan. 13, and advance payment is required. Miss Kreifels added that no refunds can be guaranteed.

Persons wishing to join home extension clubs on the trip are asked to make their reservations at the Wayne County Extension Office, 375-3310, or with Anna Marie Kreifels at the Northeast Station, Concord, 584-2261.

Tenants Meet During Week

Bible study at the Village Wayne was conducted Wednesday morning by the Rev. Mark Weber of the First Church of Christ in Wayne. The group studied the eighth chapter of Corinthians.

The regular weekly meeting of the Villa Tenants Club was held Tuesday afternoon with 16 members attending. Following cards and games, a cooperative lunch was served.

Tenants met Monday for a business meeting and to take down the Christmas tree in the community room. Afterward, coffee and cookies were served.

Florence Siemers, a Villa resident, is a patient at Wayne's Providence Medical Center.

Dragons Intimidate Blue Devils, 69-47

By BOB BARTLETT
The best thing Wayne can do now, said coach Bill Sharpe, is to forget about the loss to Madison and concentrate on the game with Stanton.

"We've never been beaten by Stanton on its court, but that doesn't mean it's going to be an easy ball club to beat," Sharpe said Friday night.

The key to getting back into the win column, the coach pointed out, is to get better organized. And this week he figures his team will have time to do that as players prepare for the Mustangs.

Organization was one ingredient lacking Friday night when invading Madison used its physical strength to intimidate Wayne, 69-47. "We just got psyched out and didn't do a lot of things we should have," Sharpe added.

Madison came into Friday night's game owning a 6-1 record, with its only loss to Wisconsin-Pilger — a team which the Devils defeated before the holiday break.

The Dragons well-publicized height plus physical strength apparently intimidated the smaller Wayne club in the first half, but the awe wore off in the second half, Sharpe said.

Madison still was able to say out in front with its effective board control — 46 rebounds to Wayne's 32 — and consequently hand the Devils their fifth loss in nine games.

Trojan Matmen

Down Stanton

A switch in Wakefield's lineup didn't hamper coach Lyle Trullinger's matmen Thursday night as the Trojans down invading Stanton, 37-15.

Joedy Sherer moved into the 132 spot for Lyte Borg and earned a 6-4 decision over Andy Carothers. Meanwhile Borg, who normally wrestles at 132, pinned 138-pound Jeff Hansen in 4:57.

Reserve Mark Schopke, who replaced 155-pound Dean Sharp, wrestled well enough at that weight despite the 9-2 loss to Brad Davidson. Trullinger pointed out. The coach decided to rest Sharp, who now stands at 8-2.

WAYNE FORWARD Tom Ginn appears to be looking for the handle as he tries to break through Madison's defense Friday night. Surrounding Ginn are Craig Wehrle (35), Jerry Schmidt (45) and Ed Nathan (11). The Dragons won the West Husker contest, 69-47, to hand Wayne its fifth loss against four wins.

Pender Evens Score, 64-54

Pender evened the score with Laurel Friday night by handing the Bears a 64-54 loss in the finals of the Coleridge tournament.

Both clubs now have a win each in the best of three series which Laurel coach Joel Parks hopes will be settled if the two teams meet in district action next month.

For the Pendragons, the win came on the heels of good shooting from the free throw line and strong rebounding on the offensive boards where the winners picked off five more caroms than Laurel, converting three of those rebounds into points.

Doug Jasa lifted Pender into the lead with a big third quarter, pouring in 13 of his soaring 30 points for a 35-31 Pender lead going into the fourth quarter.

Jasa also was effective on the boards with 12 of the team's 29 rebounds to outmuscle the Bears, who finished with 26.

"Defensively, we rebounded well, but offensively they just got more rebounds and more shots," Parks pointed out after Laurel's third loss in 10 games.

Both teams were about even shooting from the field. Laurel made 24 of 50 attempts from 48 per cent and Pender converted 25 of 53 for 47 per cent. The difference, Parks noted, was at the free throw line where his team made six of 14.

With about a minute left, Laurel trailed by four points but couldn't close the gap as foul trouble sent Pender to the line for the victory.

Laurel takes a break in action until Saturday night when the Bears host Neligh.

Laurel 62, Osmond 29

Laurel breezed to an easy semifinal victory over Osmond on the shooting of Bob Dahlquist, Mike Martin and Don Dalton.

Dahlquist dropped in 20 points, Martin had 12 and Dalton hit 10 as the Bears rolled to their seventh victory in nine starts.

Laurel took a 30-14 halftime cushion and made the score 48-24 going into the last stanza. Again the Bears applied a stout defense to hold the Tigers, this time to five points.

"Meanwhile, Parks' crew hit 45 per cent from the field and guarded the boards with 43 caroms. Martin and Dahlquist each had 11 rebounds.

Schmidt contributed with four fielders and three for four at the line for 11 points as the pair zipped in and out of Wayne's 2-1 zone defense untouched.

At the start of the game, Wayne's defense bothered Madison, not allowing the Dragons to get off to a quick start as the West Husker Conference leaders are so used to doing.

Gradually, Madison went in front, 6-0, before the Devils behind Tom Ginn's pair of steals and quick layups made the score 6-4 with just four minutes left in the first period.

Wayne stayed close to the tall and physical Madison quint throughout the first half but never was in front despite the many opportunities at the charity stripe.

Wayne drew a cold shooting spell in the first half, especially from the free throw line where the Devils made only four of 15 attempts.

Madison didn't get that many chances, but then again the Dragons didn't need them. Coach Fred Letheby's club shot from anywhere it pleased on the court — outside or inside.

Craig Wehrle paved the way with 12 points in the first half as Madison slowly took a 10-point halftime lead, 30-20. Jerry Schmidt finished with 18 points and Wehrle had 17, but the Dragons as a team ended with 36 per cent field goal shooting — six percentage points better than Wayne.

Ginn was the leader for Wayne with 16 points.

Switch in Zone Defense Produces 4th Wayne Win

A change in zone defense lifted invading Wayne High girls to a nine-point halftime lead Thursday night before the Blue Devils put their fourth win on ice by defeating Wakefield, 60-35.

Sydney Mosley pumped in 20 big points for coach Curt Frye's club and junior Peg Pinkelman added 12 as the Devils pushed their season record to 4-2.

The locals shot 41 per cent from the field and just under 50 per cent from the line. On the boards, Mosley grabbed 14 of the team's 44 caroms.

Wakefield, which was led by Robin Mills and Karen Johansen with nine apiece, stayed within six of the Devils, 16-10, at the end of the first period. Both Trojanette leaders, pointed out Frye, were breaking through the middle for the short shots, forcing Wayne to alter its defensive strategy.

The plan worked as Wayne canned 13 points to Wakefield's eight in the second period for a 29-18 halftime margin.

Wayne's reserves kept their perfect record intact with their fourth win, 24-16. LaVonna

Sharpe was the top scorer for the winners with eight points.

Midland Succumbs To Wayne

Wayne State pulled off a miracle comeback in the last minute of regulation time Thursday night by outscoring Midland 14-10 in a hectic overtime period to defeat the Warriors, 97-93, at Fremont.

Wayne trailed 83-77 with about a minute to play in regulation time, but caught the Warriors with a last minute turnaround that could only be described as a great team effort.

The Wildcats' two-point half-time lead held most of the way through the second half before Midland took control late in the game.

Seven men scored in double figures for Jim Seward's Wildcats. Lennie Adams topped the list with 15 markers followed by Dale Meyer with 14, Mark Olson and Joe Curl 13, Gary Billings, 12 and Bob Reeson and Lew Sykes, 10 each.

The Wildcats shot 42 per cent from the field for the contest, but the Warriors still gained the edge in that category, hitting 55 per cent.

One statistic that contributed to the higher Midland accuracy rating was layups, where Midland out did the Cats, 17-3.

Lennie Adams paced the Cats in the rebounding department with 12.

Wayne, now 6-4 on the season, travels to Peru State Tuesday night.

Frosh Post Win No. 2

Kevin Nissen's 13 points and Perry Nelson's 10 powered Wayne freshmen to an easy 54-38 victory over visiting Madison Friday night.

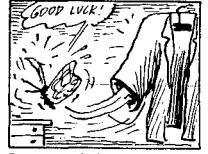

In a game which coach Duane Blomenkamp emptied his bench, the Blue Devils twice bolted out to 20-point leads and never were threatened as the frosh went onto record their second straight undefeated win.

Tim Pfeiffer, who was third on the scoring list with seven points, was first in the rebounding department where the 5-10 player pulled down 13 of Wayne's 23 caroms.

Also scoring for Wayne were Todd Skokan and Jere Morris with six each, and two each for Pat McCreight, Doug Proeth, Tod Heier, Steve Koll, Jeff Baier and Bryan Aquirre.

Tuesday night Wayne travels to Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Wisner Matmen Pin Wayne, 33-25

Wayne High suffered more than just a 33-25 setback to invading Wisner-Pilger Thursday night, the Blue Devils also lost the services of a state contender.

Senior grappler Kelly Hansen suffered a damaged shoulder during his match with 138-pound Jerry McQuire, forcing the Devil leader to forfeit the match and undergo surgery Friday morning to repair cartilage. No official reports were available, but coach Don Koenig noted that Hansen will not see any action during the remainder of the regular season and his chances of being ready for districts in February are doubtful.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Kelly is state material," Koenig pointed out. The coach went on to say that if Kelly, who holds a 9-2 record, would have finished the match, he probably would have beaten his man and helped to lead Wayne to another dual victory.

Hansen was ahead 2-1 in the first period when he suffered the shoulder injury and was escorted off the mat by Koenig and his assistant, Steve Cline. Hansen was taken to Providence Medical Center that night and underwent surgery at a Sioux City hospital Friday.

Up to that match, the Devils were in control, 21-9, on the winning strength of their lower weights. Larry Hank (98) started the varsity match by pinning

Bill Luxford. David Shock's pin of 112-pound Dave McQuire made the score 12-3 in favor of Wayne before 119-pound Terry Hamilton won a 3-1 decision for a 15-3 cushion. The Devils continued to mount up the points with a pin by Rick Johnson over Wisner's Mark Schwers in the 126-pound division.

Hansen's default made the score 21-15, still in favor of Wayne. However, the lead switched hands on Dan Taege's 5-0 decision over 155-pound Dusty Rubcek, 22-21.

Russ Holler gained a major decision over Wayne's Scott Havener (167), 13-1. Havener however refused to give up a pin with his back on the mat with 42 seconds left in the match.

Fiestly Aaron Schuett, who displayed the winning intensity to hand Tom Newarth a 13-3 loss, brought his club back, 27-25, with one match left. However, Wisner's heavyweight, Clayton Hoeff, was too much to handle for Alan Schuett as the Class B state rated grappler got a pin in the first period.

Koenig felt that the absence of three of his main grapplers did make a difference in the outcome of the match. Not in the lineup were Kirk Echtenkamp (132), Don Straight (155) and Danny Mitchell (185).

Mitchell is recovering from a recent foot operation. Straight was on vacation and Echtenkamp was sick.

WAYNE GRAPPLER Aaron Schuett, top, overpowers Wisner's Tom Newarth in the 185-pound match Thursday night on route to a 13-3 major decision and pull the Blue Devils within two points, 27-25.

Carroll, Starzl To Be Honored at Baseball Banquet

High school baseball players from Wayne and Wakefield have been selected to the Class B all-state baseball team by the Omaha Metro Baseball Association.

Doug Carroll, who graduated last year, and senior Doug Starzl were selected by Omaha coaches to be honored at the Association's second annual banquet Saturday, Jan. 28, at Millard.

For Carroll, who played first base, the award is the second from the Association in two years.

Wayne coach Mike Mallette pointed out that despite Carroll's loss of playing time due to a bout with mononucleosis, he performed well late in the season, hitting a team-high .400 at the plate.

Also named to other all-state teams were players from Bancroft, Lincoln and Omaha schools.

Newcastle Wins Allen Tourney

Newcastle went to the free throw line Friday night to win the championship game of the Allen tournament.

The Red Raiders hit 17 of 28 charity shots against the host Eagles to whip Allen for the second time in less than a week, 49-37.

The winners got all of their four points in the first quarter at the free throw line to trail coach Lee Reimer's Allen quint, 10-4, but came back with a 20-point second quarter for a 24-20 half-time lead and sewed up the victory with less than five minutes left in the game finishing at the same place they started — the free throw line.

"We had to foul them in order to play them," said Reimer, who saw two of his starting five go to the bench late in the game with their fifth personal.

Tod Ellis, who led Allen with 11 points, and Jerry Stewart, who had eight points, both picked up their fifth foul to exit the ball game.

Despite the loss, Reimer pointed out that his club played an excellent ball game.

Last Tuesday night Newcastle ripped the Eagles, 73-70, to hand Allen its fourth loss.

In the consolation round Friday, Winnebago downed Rosalie, 76-65.

Allen 71, Rosalie 59

Allen exploded for 26 points in the second quarter and 20 in the fourth to dump a scrappy Rosalie quint.

Senior Tod Ellis poured in 13 of his game-high 28 points in the second quarter to lead Allen chargers from a two-point deficit to a five point lead at halftime.

Ellis, who has been the Eagles' bread and butter player for the last two ball games, made eight fielders and was 12 for 13 at the line, pointed out coach Lee Reimer. In his last two ball games, Ellis sank 30 against Homer and 21 against Newcastle.

Jerry Stewart led in rebounding with 11 of the team's 34.

As a team, the Eagles made it three straight contests where they hit nearly 50 percent of their shots. Against Rosalie, Allen converted 26 of 56 shots from the field for 46 percent.

James Watt, who perfected the steam engine, invented the first duplicating machine to help run his steam engine business.

Team 1 shot down Team 5, 55-42, and Team 3 got by Team 2, 48-44, Wednesday night during men's C league basketball action at the city auditorium.

In the first game of the night, Team 4 downed Team 6, 54-51, for its second win in three games — just one game out of first place.

The rest of the standings show Team 5 in fourth place with a 1-2 record followed by Teams 2 and 6, winless in three starts.

CARROLL NEWS / Mrs. Ed Fork 585-4827

New Year Resolutions Told at Club

Eight members of the Town and County Home Extension Club told their New Year resolutions when they met Tuesday evening with hostess Mrs. Dean Owens.

Officers, who assumed their duties at the meeting, are Mrs. Dean Owens, president; Mrs. Willis Lage, vice president, and Mrs. Lowell Olson, secretary-treasurer.

The president reminded members of the council meeting which was to have been held Thursday in Wayne. Members also were reminded to get their reservations in if they plan to attend the "Leap on Lincoln" tour on Jan. 26. The group will see the legislature in session and tour the capitol building and governor's mansion.

New club books were distributed and Mrs. Willis Lage presented the craft lesson. Members make silk roses, felt ice skate decorations and daisies.

Mrs. John Paulsen is hostess for the Feb. 14 meeting and will present the lesson, entitled "On Your Own." There will be a $1 Valentine gift exchange.

Way to Spend Nights

Wayne State College is offering an alternative to being closed in on winter evenings this year.

The college is offering over 48 evening classes in 16 different areas ranging from business and biology to psychology and Spanish. Each class is worth credit toward a degree at WSC and is open to students of all ages.

Registration for evening classes will be from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. the date of the first class session. Night classes begin Tuesday, Jan. 10 and most classes run through early May. Several evening classes are already filled, but a wide variety are still open.

Classes are offered for those at the undergraduate level beginning a degree program or those interested in a particular area. Examples of these classes are microbiology, business law, principles of advertising, real estate finance, TV production and direction, fundamentals or guidance, creative writing, introduction to German, physical anthropology and many others.

Classes for those continuing at the graduate level are also offered. Examples are practical administration, advance child literature, literature, school administration, practical counseling, real estate finance, vocational education and others.

Tuition, including course fees, is $17.50 per credit hour for Nebraska residents and $29.50 for non-residents.

For further information on these and other classes at Wayne State contact the registrar's office at 375-2200.

PUBLIC NOTICES
BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Every government official or board that handles public money, should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it showing where and how each dollar is spent. We hold this to be a fundamental principle to democratic government.

Deadline for all legal notices to be published by The Wayne Herald is as follows: 5 p.m. Monday for Thursday's newspaper and 5 p.m. Thursday for Monday's newspaper.

OBITUARIES

Ethel P. Felber

Ethel P. Felber of Wayne died Wednesday at Providence Medical Center. She was 96 years old. Funeral services will be held today (Monday) at 2 p.m. at the Witte Mortuary in Wayne with the Rev. Robert Haas officiating. The body will lie in state from noon Saturday until time of services Monday at Witte Mortuary. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Honorary pallbearers are Richard Armstrong, Jiny Hein, Roy Christensen, Charles McDermott, Walter Motz, George Thorbeck, John T. Bressler, Don Merriman. Active pallbearers are Joe Nuss, David Ley, George Claycomb, Orville Brandstetter, Charles and David Carhart. Ethel P. Felber, the daughter of A.L. and Lynda Walden Tucker, was born March 30, 1881, at Oak Park, Ill. She came to Wayne with her family when she was a young girl, and had made her home here since. On May 1, 1901, she married H. Jacob Felber in Wayne. The couple lived in Laurel for several years, returning later to Wayne, where he operated a drug store. A member of the United Presbyterian Church, she was very active in various women's clubs, including the church women's organizations, the A.D. Club, the Women's Club and D.A.R. Preceding her death were her husband in 1955; one daughter; two brothers and three sisters. Survivors include one son, Walden Felber of Wayne, and three daughters, Helen Eckerman of Boca Raton, Fla., Dorothy Welpton of Beverly Hills, Calif.; and Mrs. Robert (Barbara) Harrison of Norfolk.

titled "A Conversation with Dr. John G. Neihardt," centers on Dr. Neihardt's experiences with American Indians and his friendship with Oglala Holy Man Black Elk. Dr. Neihardt recites his famous poem, "Death of Crazy Horse," during the program.

According to Cavett, the program drew one of the largest mail responses of the Cavett Show series. The program has been made available for broadcast through the courtesy of Dick Cavett.

Neihardt held the title of Poet Laureate for 52 years. He portrayed in both prose and poetry the beauty of the land, the philosophy and idealism of the Indians and the courage of the mountaineers and pioneers.

The Neihardt Center in Bancroft which was built in memory of Dr. Neihardt, serves as a preservation of western heritage and Indian culture. It fosters much understanding of the eventful period of American history beginning with the fur trading period of 1822.

Schools and libraries in Nebraska have been encouraged to promote the reading of Neihardt's books during the anniversary period.

DRESS UP WINDOWS

SAVE MONEY AND ENERGY
You don't have to board up your windows to keep warm this winter. Interior window treatments offer the most flexibility in maintaining a comfortable temperature inside the home, besides saving you money.

The key to choosing window treatments for energy efficiency is to block heat loss at night and still take advantage of solar heat from windows during the day. This is best accomplished with a combination of window treatments.

One of the most effective methods is using bifold shutters of polystyrene insulation sandwiched between sheets of plywood. The shutters reach from the top of the window to either the floor or the sill. This can offer four times the insulation value of many conventional window coverings.

Another effective window treatment is a combination of a closed-top cornice, pull shade and sealed draperies. The closed-top cornice across the top of the window creates a pocket to trap heated air and the shade can be opened during the day to let the sun in. Freely hanging curtains and drapes can be made more efficient by "sealing" them. This involved attaching the drapery to the wall at the sides and the bottom with velcro tape, hooks or snaps. A less formal method would be to add a shelf across the top of the window, with draperies attached to the top.

It's always effective to use plastic over the window during the winter, trapping additional air, even with storm or double-glazed windows.

Tightly fitted shutters, either louvered wooden ones or those you make yourself, can also form heat barriers. Roller shades or blinds, on the other hand, are more effective when mounted inside the window frame in combination with other treatments.

There are a number of factors to consider when choosing the fabric. Heavy, tightly woven fabrics resist penetration of air and light, while napped fabrics trap the air and thus are better insulators. Linings can improve the insulation value of draperies by 30 percent; however, most ready mades come without linings. Besides increasing household comfort in both summer and winter, drapery linings help protect original drapery color and preserve drapery fabric.

mother through the contractions and the baby through its heart-beat," Miss Olsen explained.

"Any problems can be detected early and the doctor can intervene. The chances are very high the mother will deliver a normal, healthy baby."

She said one of the things which can be detected during the delivery is compression of the umbilical cord which, if the delivery is allowed to proceed without any help, would result in insufficiency of blood flow from the mother to the baby.

Miss Olsen said the machine helps to decrease the mortality and morbidity rate. "Hospitals who make use of the monitoring machine during a delivery show a marked decrease in Cerebral Palsy and mental retardation."

Miss Olsen said she covers the eastern half of Nebraska and Carroll Hill has the western half of the state. She said there are 100 obstetric facilities in Nebraska with 10 of them located in Omaha and Lincoln. "So we have 90 in so-called rural areas of Nebraska which could have use of a monitoring machine."

The monitoring class will take approximately 20 hours of intensive training during the first year and another six hours during the second year. Miss Olsen will conduct the classes which cover normal obstetric practices, fetal monitoring and newborn babies. The second year will cover "high risk" deliveries.

Miss Olsen said the class is made up of nursing personnel including nurses aides, licensed practical nurses and registered nurses. "We invite practicing physicians to take the course but most of them just don't have the time for it," Miss Olsen explained.

She said the first stage of the first year will be initiated in the near future. It will consist of two hour sessions for four consecutive days. The other areas of the training will be for three days each.
