Ellis said the moisture buildup is the result of a wetterthan normal year last year. A three-year drought was snapped by spring rains which came in March last year making 1977 a year that will be remembered by Nebraskans as the year the drought was broken.

According to records compiled ginning with 1970.

According to the figures, there have been three years of below average rainfall with four years of above average moisture accumulation. One year, 1975, broke about even with the average.

Prior to the March break in the weather pattern last year, the area was below average in precipitation for the preceding two years which resulted in drought-like conditions. The lean years moisture-wise began in 1974 which showed a deficiency of more than ten inches of annual precipitation. The break-even year of 1975 set the stage for drought conditions which gripped the area throughout 1976 and into the first three months of 1977.

In a year-by-year tabulation, the area moisture table shows 1970 minus .47; 1971 plus 2.11;

1972 plus 5.70; 1973 plus 4.43: came up with a deficiency of 1974 minus 10.18: 1975 even; 1976 mearly an inch of moisture. The minus 8.93 and 1977 plus 5.54 the inches.

The figures used by Spitze in this recording were taken from the records at the official weather reporting station. In 1977, January and February was down slightly from the average with 4.21 inches re-ported. However, the wet weather pattern returned and continued throughout the re-mainder of the year. Nationally, the weather pattern went haywire during 1977. The winter alone cost the nation an estimated $3 billion in economic growth and $5 billion in increased fuel use.

Record-setting cold temperatures coupled with firsts in snowfall to make up a weird winter during 1977. On Jan. 31, snow rested on part of every state in the contiguous 48 for the first time on record. Never had snow fallen as far south as Miami and never in ten years of satellite observation, had it covered so much of the norther hemisphere.

covered so much of the normer hemisphere.

In Buffalo, N.Y., it snowed for five days straight. By season's end, 200 inches had fallen there. Across the continent, the west was crying out for snow. Lack of snowfall in the Rockies closed ski resorts. Bears in Alaska came out of hibernation in balmy weather and Anchorage schools canceled hockey games because of slush.

deluges which claimed the lives of 25 persons in the Kansa City area. In Nebraska, the weather made headlines but they did not announce death or drought. The weather was more subdued but still of major consequence. A month-by-month rundown of the state's weather highlights during 1977 shows:

January, bitterly cold; 4 to 10

July: not month, with temperatures averaging up to 4 dependence and one or moral, though extremely variable, with more stations reporting below normal amounts than above normal; July 7 fornado in northeast severely damaged farmsites and crops;

April: warmer-than-normal April by 5 degrees; precipitation far above normal in most areas.

May: warm, wet month; temperatures above normal by 4 to 7 degrees; precipitation above normal in all divisions; cumulative molsture shortages persisted from three; year drought; increase of thunderstorms and tornadoes.

Foiling the Fast Break

THE FIRST HALF of Monday's THE FIRST HALF of Monday's girls baskerball contest between Allen and Winside saw the Eagles fastbreaking for a good share of their points. On the left, Susie Erwin (33) finds that Winside's Joan Bowers (5), wasn't about to let Allen score an easy bucket this time. Same rule applies to another Allen fast break when Stacee Koester is surrounded by two Wildcats, Marci Thomas (24) and unidentified players.

Trojans 'Tough' Weekend Ends in Loss to Pender

"We had a tough weekend recordwise, but a fremendous experience for our young players," said Wakefield coach Joe Coble after his Trojans suffered a 67-50 setback at the hands of Class C powerhouse Pender Saturday night.

"In my judgement, we have played three of the top Class C teams in the state and we'll face the fourth Saturday, against Laurel. After those games we're bound to be a better playing basketball team," the coach

Coble went on to say that he isn't discouraged by his club's 4-6 record. "We played with hem (Pender) for a while but not for four quarters."

THE NUMBER of missed calls by fficials in the National Football League

THE NUMBER of missed calls by officials in the National Football League percentagewise isn't any greater than it has been in past years. It's just that he media has made the public more aware of the bad calls, said Oakland Raiders field goal kicker Errol Mann.

Mann, who was in Wayne on business Friday, said television offers viewers a new angle, something that game officials don't see all the time. As a result some calls are incorrect, or just missed, the Minnesota native pointed out.

Labeling himself as a country boy in a big city, the Raiders kicker noted that in reviewing game films of Oakland's 20.1 loss to Denver in the playoffs there were between 16 to 19 flagrant holding penalties against Denver which weren't called. Most of those Mann went on, involved Oakland right end Dave Casper who repeatedly was held or interfered with either at the line of scrimmage or downfield.

es of sticking with the now-AFC His hopes of sticking with the now-AFC champs faded in training camp when the fore the muscles in his kicking leg. Next stop was, Green Bay where after one year he moved to Detroil for the next eight seasons. Past year and a half, Mann has been kicking for Oakland. His kicking game this year has been one of his best. He finished as the top scorer in the NFL with 99 points, nudging Chicago Bear's runningback Walter Payton for scoring honors.

WHEN IT comes to newspaper stories, Mann feels he gets a fair shake from most reporters. But the story isn't the same for ABC sports announcer Howard Cosell.

The mouth, as he is lovingly (?) referred to by a lot of athletes and the public in general, rates a thumbs-down by Mann for his negative comments. Cosell, Mann went on, usually makes a big deal out of a fumbled play and berates a player who caused a turnover, rather than give praise to that same person who might have ran well or scored.

scored.

About women reportes—invading lockerrooms, Mann emphasised that he doesn't mind it, but wishes mate reporters had the same opportunity when it comes to interviewing female athletes. "I'd like to go into Phyllis George's bedroom while she's in the shower and Interview her. But with my lock I'd get Nanu the whale's sister," he laughed.

ALTHOUGH MANN isn't a small-framed player by any standards, he said that size isn't the biggest factor when a college player decides to take a shot at college player decraes to take a snot at the pros.

It takes a lot of determination and guts, plus a person has to have some kind of smarts, Mann pointed out.

He rates the lineman position as the most crucial in the game of football. Not only does a lineman have to be physically strong but also mentally alert to know the many blocking assignments. For that reason, the Raiders' kicker feels that most of the men on the line possess the "Oranian" of the team. "Anyone can throw a ball or run with a ball, but a lineman has to be thinking all the time."

MANN, who has kicked a 53-yard field goal for his best yet, says that the world of pro football owes a lot to colleges which serve as farm clubs for NFL teams. However, the world of pro football and that of college ball are two separate entities, he said.

In college football, coaches and teams have more liberty when it comes to chances are the opposing team won't capitalize as often as would be the case in pro ball. "It's a lot harder to make up seven-points in pro football than it is in the college ranks." Mann said.

College ball, he added, is a self-sufficient program for the most part. Big colleges and universities which have winning programs generally have no problems filling their stadiums each week. The story can be a lot different for pro feams.

ABOUT SOME OF the high salaries offered to rookie and veteran players, Mann feels that pro football isn't necessarily pricing itself out of existence by having to boost the price of season tickets. "Football is like water seeking its own level. It'll go up, so far and then tickets. "Football is like water seeking its own level. It'll go up so far and then level off."

The personnel in the front office is what makes a team a Super Bowl champion. Mann pointed out. If you have a sound program with continuity, chances are you'll have a winner.

Both clubs went scoreless until 5:19 left in the game when Winside's Kathy Thomas sank a basket for a 38-31 Allen lead. The time out strategy didn't pay off as Alben sank two more free throws following a foul on Alten's Shacee Koester for a 41-34 score.

Allen got four more chances at the line with less than 30 seconds left when Lisa Erwin converted three of the four. "In the second half we were doing a better job of rebounding, but it was their defense that was hurting us." Allen mentor Steve McManigal said.

Game statistics show Allen shot 34 percent from the field and pulled down 25 rebounds to Winside's 43. Paula Hoemann, who led the 1-4 Cats with 15 points, also led on the boards with 23 caroms. Lisa Wood had 11 rebounds for Allen.

Winside's junior varsity remains unbeaten after three games, defeating Allen, 31-17.

The seventh grade won 7-0 on the leadership of Pam Frevert with four points and the eighth grade was victorious, 21-17. Leading scorers for the eighth grade were Kelly Leighton with eight and Joni Jaeger with six.

Three Wildcats Filling in For Departed Wayne Robinson

When a basketball team loses a team leader to graduation like the Wayne State Wildcats did the past season, it may take a while for the other guys to pick up the stack a while for the other guys to pick up the stack.

The departed Wildcat is Wayne Robinson who led the club in scoring, rebounding and assists last season. This season, a trio of seniors is up to the task of helping pick up where Robinson left of neiping pick up where kobinson ten off.

Mark-Olsen, a senior from Hampton, was the second leading scorer on last year's team; therefore he is the one counted on to produce the points for coach Jim Seward's 7-5 Wildcats this coach Jim Sewards 7-3 willocals impear.

But Olsen has been mired in a shooting slump. The shots are still there, but they aren't falling in more than 37 percent of the time, a feeble percentage for a player that is expected to be an offensive leader. Last year, Olsen connected on 44 percent of his shots and averaged 13.5 points a game. This year, the average is up to 13.9 a game through 10 games, but more is needed.

of his shots and averaged 13.5 points a game. This year, the average is up to 13.9 a game through 10 games, but more is needed.

"You can't stop shooting just because you're in a slump;" Olsen says. "My role with the team is to score. If I stopped shooting, I think the Wayne State offen. PETIZMETER sive plan would be radically changed."

With Olsen in a scoring slump, another senior, Gary Billings, Kansas City, Kan., figures he needs to add a little offensive punch. He is the first to add that the competitive high school basketball market around Kansas City, helped his progress as a player.

"It took a lot of effort to be able to compete in high school," Billings said. Wayne's affiliation with the Central States Conference was a major factor in Billing's decision to come to Wayne.

The other. member of the trio is Joe Peltzmeier of Plattsmouth who may be most relied on to fill the gap as playmaker of the Cats. Indeed, that would seem to be the case early in the year. Peltzmeier's scoring average has suffered, but he is at the top of the (list in assists, averaging nearly five a game." It hink an assist is the same thing as a basket," said Peltzmeier. "If someone on the team scored 18 points and 1 get nine assists, 1 feel I've contributed as much as he has." Peitzmeier also feels he has become a better defensive player this season.

Olsen and Peitzmeler have benefitted from their playing days at Northeast Tech in Norfolk. The Blackhawks enjoyed tremendous basketball success in the two years the Peitzmeier-Olsen tandem played there and, now, in their fourth year of playing with each other, both admit the previous experience is helpful at Wayne State.

"I look for Olsen all the time out there," said Pelitzmeier. "I know how he shoots and where he's going to be at a certain time."

With Joe out there, I know he'll get me the ball if I'm open," said Olsen.

We're both keen to each other's habits on the floor."

Olsen admits that in the past, the team relied on Robinson for the big play whenever it got in trouble.

"This year, I think everybody's chipping in to make the leam even more competitive," said Olsen. "It's showed in the last few games. We've had to pull a few out in the last minute. I think that shows just how much pride this team. r losers. 'Everybody knows they have to come Olsen and Pelizmeier are both majors in the business field at Wayne State while Billings is majoring in industrial education. All three players feel that academic achievements influence athletic achievements.

"In many respects, performance in the classroom is the same as performance on the court," says Billlings. Pelizmeier added. "Concentration is very important in the classroom and that concentration carries over onto the bas-tetball floor. If your performance on the court is down, your grades may show a decrease, too."

Undefeated Midland Hands Wayne Loss

Wayne State women saw their record dip to 11-4 with a 66-47 loss to unbeaten Midland Monday night.

The host Kittens were hampered by 28 percent field goal shooting and a dismal 11-30 performance from the free throw line. Midland, on the other hand, shot 49 percent from the floor, using a blend of excellent passing and abtute ballhandling to create good shots.

The game was tied eight times

Mrs. Robert Johnson used scripture from Jeremiah and Acts to describe a potter at work and Paul as a vessel to bear Christ's name. Fellowship, Service and Outreach were three aspects of Christianity that were stressed in the program. The Women were urged to verbally give witness to their Christian beliefs.

The Gems, Gloria Oberg, Eleanor Johnson and Mardelle Holm, performed three songs, "Let There Be Peace On Earth," "I Want My Life To Tell For Jesus," and "Jesus, Set Me Free," accompanied by Martha Mortenson at the piano.

The 70-year-old Winside Volunteer Fire Department observed Its anniversary last month. Rural fire board members, town board members and volunteer firemen met Dec. 29 for supper at With's Cafe.

second volunteer fire department was organized in 1920. Fire fighting equipment was pulled by a hand drawn cart until the late 1920's when a second hand Model T Ford was remodeled to carry the needed supplies. In 1931, the village purchased a Model A Ford chassis. A body for the truck was built by a member of the fire department, and a 50-gallon chemical tank was added. The Winside Fire District was mapped out in 1943 and a scrap drive was conducted by the department to raise funds for a new truck. A fruck was purchased later that same year. The present fire department has 22 members, manning a city-

Recent discussions have included the possible purchase of a new fire truck.

POST-HOLIDAY SALES
Although a lot of families probably spent more money during Decmeber than any other month, the shopper with foresight, however, kept some dollars on hand to take advantage of post-holiday sales.
The biggest bargains are usually available in January.
For example, clothing prices might be lowered as much as 25 to 30 percent.

Before buying, make sure the bargain is really a "good buy."
January sales may serve as away for some stores to get rid of fad items or discontinued leftover items. Some items may appear abused and shopworn from being handled by holiday

This Community of Ours Is Not Perfect

... but we don't make it better by hauling a lot of our trading money across country to the traffic-traumatized crime jungles that smugly call themselves our "area shopping centers"

Our necessary but necessarily rapacious big cities have ghosted out a lot of once-thriving smaller communities by siphoning off their lifeblood (trading money) with the cooperation of the victims.

After a community has city-shopped itself out of good sources of daily and emergency needs, good neighbors, good schools, good jobs and property values and other nice things, it is a little late to do much about it. Let's start stopping this development here. Now.

The project, which is somethree years down the road in planning, would be funded by a federal grant through the federal aid to secondary roads and a 50-50 agreement between the Village of Hoskins and Wayne county.

Rough estimated costs for the project are $100.000 with a federal grant to cover $75,000.

According to the preliminary agreement Tuesday, Wayne county and Hoskins would each be responsible for $12,500 each.

It was pointed out the bridge has a sufficiency rating of 19,7 which makes it eligible for federal funding under the secondary road system.

A study will begin in the near future to determine the needs of the project. A battery of local, county, state and federal organizations have to give their blessing to the project "after the preliminary plans are drawn. However, Hoskins officials stated they anticipated few problems in getting the project cleared for funding.

Officers'said the Gable pickup developed engine trouble as it was being driven north on Highway 35. They said Gable told them he tried to "nurse the pickup along" so that he could get it to the shoulder of the highway and off of the roadway.
Before he could get the vehicle clear, the van being driven by Jackson crested a hill and collided with the rear of the Gable pickup.
Officers said the pickup was totaled as a result of the accident and the van sustained an estimated $1,000 to $1,500 damages to its front. No charges were filled. The van carrying the Tuesday morning edition of the Omaha World Herald for delivery in the area.

Monday afternoon, sheriff's officers investigated a one-vehicle accident 3½ miles south of Winside on Highway 35. School aid first floor fight topic

LINCOLN — It didn't take long for the rat full-blown verbal fight to break out

First multi-power versus injurity of the Unicameral floor.
And, predictably, friggering the flery words was the Key Issue of state aid to schools—a topic that is certain to color the debate frequently during the current

If all started when Sens. Frank Lewis of Bellewe and John DeCemp of Nelight fried to get consideration of a resolution that proposed creation of a special legislative investigative committee to examine property tax equalization.

The resolution claimed the aid to education issue cannot be solved until there is statewide property tax equalization.

there is statewide property tax equaliza-tion. One of the first on his feet to challenge the proposal was Sen. Donald Dworak of Columbus, a leader in the successful petition drive to suspend the 1977 state aid law. That legislation would have fur-nished an additional $20 million to the schools; if its implementation had not been blocked by the referendum effort. Dworak wondered about the propriety of discussing a resolution that appeared to violate Unicameral rules. In question, he said, was a rule pro-hibiting the Legislature from creating an DeCamp charged Whelan had rendered a legal opinion on the constitutionality of an idea before the legislators had an opportunity to discuss it.

Addressing Whelan, DeCamp said: "You have broken ground no lieutenant governor ever dreamed of. We might as well pack our bags and go home because the lieutenant governor is the new Legislature. This is impossible."

The real shouting began when-Lewis challenged the lieutenant governor's stand, arguing it was premature because no rule would be broken until a committee was appointed. Whelan said he had to act once Dworak raised the issue.

Lewis wouldn't be quiet while Whelan tried to recognize other senators. This prompted a heated exchange during which the lieutenant governor ordered Lewis to "keep in your seat. This Legislature will be run in an orderly manner."

Lewis shot back: "The chair is not going to be dictatorial."

Whelan repeated: "This body is going to be run in an orderly manner. Sit down."

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, one of the strongest supporters, of increased state ald, moved to subjend the rule Dworak cited but could muster only 21 votes — nine short of the required number.

That ended the matter, but perhaps not permanently. After he lost the battle, DeCamp said he will prepare another resolution requesting an investigation conducted through the Unicameral's standing committee system.

Postpone Executions Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha has introduced legislation that would forbid any executions in Nebraska until next January 1.

His measure was submitted only hours, before the State Supreme Court granted 90-day stays to three men-an-death row who were scheduled to be executed late this month.
Under the Chambers proposal, the Supreme Court, within six months of the enactment of the legislation, would have supreme courr, within six monins of the enactment of the legislation, would have to review all cases of criminal homicide committed since April 20, 1973.

One provision of the bill would require the court, upon appeal, to determine the propriety of the sentence in each case after comparing it with previous cases "involving the same or similar circumstances."

"Involving the same or similar circum-stances."

The three men who received the 90-day reprieves were Erwin Charles Simants, who was scheduled for execution Jan. 21 for murdering slx members of the Henry Kellie family of Sutherland; John Ed ward Rust, who was to be executed Jan. 23 for murdering a young Omaha man, Michael Kellogg, who came to the aid of police in a shootout with Rust following a supermarket holdup; and Richard Dean Holtan, who was to die Jan. 25 for shoot-ling an Omaha barfender to death during a robbery.

Kill Driver Education Bill
A bill that would have required anyone under 18 to have a driver education certificate was killed on a 26-10 vote in resigned before it could come up for action. Sen. Shirley Marsh of Lincoln took over the sponsorship hils year. She said driver education makes good sense because it saves lives, reduces property damage and helps lower automobile insurance.

But several of those opposing the billisaid it would add another expensive cost to the schools, which are already in a financial bind.

In Omaha, Sen. Gerald Koch of Ratston said, enactment of the legislation would cost $250,000. He noted the state relmburses schools for only $40 of the $95 spent for each driver ed student. Sheriff's Automobile Opinion

A county sheriff cannot require his county board to furnish him with an automobile, according to Attorney General Paul Douglas.

Valley County Attorney Robert Stowell requested the opinion from Douglas, who recalled an earlier State Jystice Departsment finding that "it is only when the county sheriff and county board mutually agree" the sheriff should use a county-owned vehicle that one must be furnished.

Douglas said the laws of the state make no provision for making a car available to the sheriff.

A close look at the statute shows clear legislative intent that a sheriff is supposed to use his own vehicle in the performance of his duties, Douglas said.

OBSERVATIONS

Time for a positive stand

The hue and cry of area farmers bent on telling the state, nation and world about their particular financial situation, is being re-echoed throughout the most of the "bread-basket" states.
This vocal protest in some instances, is being backed up by farmers driving fractors through downtown America with a driveral of a farm strike fading in and out of the activities much like a "ghost for farming now."

fineat of a farm strike fading in and out of the activities much like a "ghost for farming now."

From most indications, this "ghost" isn't pumping fear into the hearts of the malority of consumers. The saga of the farmers' dilema seems to be shrouded with a Superbowl type atmosphere. . a lot of hupla with very little action. We here in one of the nation's prime agriculture states, know and sympathize with the plight of our farmer friends. We are in a majority and this lip-service does not in a pocket a dollar put. Farmers are trying to make their needs known in hopes something can and will be done to correct a bad situation to meet the needs. But there doesn't seem to be fuel enough to fan flickers of hope into any sort of sustaining fire.

The disorganization at this particular juncture is a major hinderance to any hope. The common cause is there but the organization and positive leadership is not and, until such, time a workable program involving a concerted effort by organized farmers is formulated and "wait and see" position. We hasten to point out we do not intend implemented, we are forced to take a "wait and see" position.

We hasten to point out we do not intend to maintain this position for any period of time. Given the criteria as outlined, we will lend what help we can to the movement. However, during this "wait and see" transition, we are not ingnoring the farm problems. In fact, we intend to point out some which might not be so evident such as those facing the cattle industry.

dent such as those tacing the came industry. Wayne county is the center of a fairly heavy cattle feeding program. According to the latest estimate, there were some 76.700 cattle on feed in Wayne county. Admittedly, cattle prices are not the best. But compared to grain commodities, the cattle feeding industry is still turning a profit. ... a narrow one, but still a plus. This facet of agri-business is being threatened by a movement spirited by nutrition misinformation which, if not turned back, could put animal foods in a position where they will be regarded as little more than alternate dietary garnishes by the next generation.

National Livestock and Meat Board President David H. Stroud voiced this prediction at a national farmers organization convention. He said the movement is being backed by people sincerely motivated by faulty information about what kind and how much grain livestock are fed.

These people are abetted by those who believe they have seen all the medical evidence indicating animal foods as instrumental in the genesis of heart disease and even cancer. They are further abetted by commercial interests promoting substitution of polyunsaturated oils and vegetable protein food alternatives.

rated oils and vegetable protein food alternatives.

Meati eggs and dairy foods are under more pressure than ever before and in order for these products to maintain their dominant market position, three opportunity areas must be selzed by producers: appropriate food information services to the consumer; patient counseling to the government at legistitive and regulatory levels and being able to recognize and to take advantage of opportunities honestly and ethically. We are hearing more and more about nutrition being a major safe-guard of health. But no matter how much credence it is given, nutrition has many survivial problems. There is still a major menace of people acting in the năme of nutrition but yet knowing very little about it.

What's new in the 1977 tax picture?

What's new What's new for this year? And for many taxpayers ask the famillar question, what's new for this year? And for many taxpayers the big news, according to the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants (NSCPA), is that Uncle Sam has simplified the tax forms, making it easier for persons whose finances are uncomplicated to prepare their own returns. Other highlights of the tax picture this year include:

— A new way of handling alimony payments.

— More generous deductions for job-related moving costs.

— A new standard deduction.

— Continuation of the general fax credit that was to expire.

— A new holdling period for long-term capital gains or losses and a doubling of the amount of ordinary income that can be offset by net capital losses.

— Greater protection against the capital gains tax for the elderly when they sell their homes.

— Increased minimum income required for filling a return.

— An increase in the amount of income on which some taxpayers can defer taxes by making payments into an Individual retirement Account, and extension to February 14, 1978, of the time for making IRA payments on 1977 income.

The CPA society says the many new rules result from provisions of the 1976 Tax Redorm act that became effective in 1977, as well as the 1977 Tax Reduction and Simplification act.

Taking up the changes in more detail, the CPAs advise that for those who prepare their own returns, both Form 1040 and the short form, 1040A, have been simplified. 1040A, formerly filled both sides of half a sheet of paper; now tr's one side of a full sheet, but several questions have been deleted.

line — without interruptions to consult page two or schedule B — moving logically right on through income, adjustments, deductions and exemptions, tax computation, credits and tax payments, to the amount you may still owe or the refund you possibly have coming. Alimony paid is no longer an itemized tax deduction. Now it is treated as an adjustment, so if no longer matters to alimony payers whether they itemize or take the standard deduction.

allmony payers whether they itemize or take the standard deduction.

The Ilberalizing of job-related moving cost deductions includes a provision that you can claim them if your new job is at least 35 miles farther from your former more than your old job was. It used to be 50 miles. Like alimony, the moving costs may be taken even if you don't Itemize.

The standard deduction is no longer a percentage of income. Now it's a fiat $2,000 for individuals filing singly, $3,200 on joint returns. That's a $200 decrease from the maximum for individuals, a $400 increase on joint returns. But if you whink your deductible expenses will be anywhere near the standard deduction. You'll want to give your deductions to see if they exceed the standard deduction. You'll want to give the itemized deductions if they exceed the standard deduction. You'll want to give the itemized deductions if they exceed the standard.

the Hemized deductions if they exceed the standard.

The general tax credit — the greater of $35 for each personal and dependency exemption or two percent of the first $9,000 of taxable income — has been extended at least through 1978. If your taxable income was $9,000 or more and you have fewer than six exemptions, you'll want to take the two percent.

On 1977 income the new holding period that spells the difference betwen short-term and long-term capital gains or losses is nine months, not six as formerly. Gains or losses on assets held nine months or less are short-term, which means they are taxed as ordinary in-

Another change in connection with capital losses is that the maximum amount of net capital loss that can be used to offset ordinary income in 1977 has been doubled — to $2,000. In 1978 it goes amount of net capital loss that can be used to offset ordinary income in 1977 has been doubled — to $2.000. In 1978 it goes to $3,000.

On the sale of a home by the elderly (for couples, only one spouse has to be 65 or older) there is no tax on the capital gain on the first $35,000 of adjusted sales price, a jump of $15,000 in the amount protected. If the house sold for more than $35,000, a pro-rated amount of the gain is tax exempt. The home must have been the principal place of resident for 5 of the previous 8 years.

The amount of income, you must have before being required to file a tax return has been raised to $2,950. However, anyone relieved of the need to file will do so anyway if taxes have been withheld from paychecks; that's the only way to get a refund. Also, a child with unearned income of $750 or more who can be claimed as a dependent by his parents still must file a return.

Persons having IRS-authorized Individual Retirement accounts — or who are eligible to establish one by virtue of not actively participating in a conventional pension or profit-sharing plan — can set aside, tax deferred, as much as 15 percent of 1977 income up to $1,500. And, if your spouse is not employed, you can put an extra $250 into a separate IRA account, as long as it does not push you beyond the 15 percent maximum. If you both, work and are eligible you can establish two IRA's, with total yearly tax profected contributions of up to $3,000. In general, the CPAS say, while the Tax Reform act may not have reformed much and the Tax Simplification Act didn't really simplify, the two laws did ease the burden of the average taxpayer.

For those with capital gains in 1977, it might be another story. The CPAs take up that subject in a second article appearing next week.

Recent figures by farm magazines, however, show that for the farmer to break even he should get at least $2.75 per bushet. The difference in views is one reason farmers must go on strike if they are to get what is rightfully a decent return on their investment. Hansen pointed out, "Farmers have been deprived lone enough" he emphasized.

"Farmers have been deprived long enough," he emphasized. The drive for 100 percent parity on all agriculture products isn't unreasonable, he said. Compare if to what business and labor are getting for their products, farm prices should commensurate with the going increase in cost of living, he added.

The current 66 percent parity farmers are getting today is the same amount they get back in tarmers are getting today is the same amount they get back in the early 1930's — the depres-sion years. "I have the same buying power as farmers did in the depression." Hansen said in

Last year, he went on, farm debt rose by 15 percent, yet the farmer today is tucky to be making one percent return on his investment. "You just can't operate very long with that kind of return."

If the price of agriculture products continue to go down and the farmers' equity doesn't increase, this country could be in for a large-scale disaster, Hansen warned.

LIVESTOCK WATER

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

LIVESTOCK WATER
Livestock need water any time they feel the urge to drink it.
Iced over water or water that is difficult to get to reduces potential livestock profits.
The livestock producer should plan to provide a continual supply of open water to his livestock. In tests, dairy cows with ice free water gave 3½ percent more milk than those with intermittent wafer and feed cattle with water warmed to keep it from freezing gained more than steers on water not heated.
Water management should be designed to keep the water open at all times and to give the livestock quick and easy access to the water. To keep costs of providing winter water low, consider:

1. Continuous flow waterers to keep tanks open at minimal, costs where ample water is available.
2. Small capacity waters to use less supplemental heat.
3. Heat to keep water open and available raiher than completely ice-free. (On most-winter days livestock produce more body heat than needed so they have been successfully housed with only a slatted board fence for protection in a trial to determine what advantage bedding the animals and building up a manure pack would have on winter gains and feed efficiency. In the trial, replacement heifers were allotted to two lots, both lots had a nine-foot-high slotted board fence shelter on the north and west sides. One lot of heifers was bedded with straw at weekly, intervals, and more often when the weather made it necessary. The other lot received no bedding during the entire trial. The heifers received a high roughage growing ration and were wintered for 197 days, starting in November.

It has always been considered good practice to bed cattle when possible. But the results of this trial indicate that the slight additional gains may not be enough to offset the cost of bedding.

The use of straw bedding improved the average daily gain of the heifers by .05 pound. The heifers not bedded were not adversely affected by the lack of bedding. Except for the slightly lower gain. The animals in both lots remained in good health throughout the trial. Kirchner Birthday

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

"Adversity has the effect of eliciting talents which, in osperous circumstances, might have lain dormant. . ."

Horace

We do what has to be done. When the need arises and the customary means are not available, we improvise. In times of stress, we reach deep inside ourselves and find strengths we didn't know we had.

Without the need for using every possible resource, it is possible that we might never discover some of our most remarkable abilities. Prosperity. existence free from anxiety. Is pleasant but it does not build our character nor, in the long run, yield the ultimate in satisfaction.

We believe that a memorial service should be a comforting and a beaufulul experience. It should prepare the bereaved for adjustment to loss.
