"Black Elk Speaks" Play is Vivid History Lesson

The historic roles of the white man and the red man were put in proper perspective with the presentation of "Black Elk Speaks" last Wednesday in Rice Auditorium, Wayne State College.

The play, based on a book by Nebraska Poet Laureate John G. Neihardt and scripted by the Christopher Sergel, who wrote "To Kill a Mockingbird," was presented as a part of a series of programs at WSC which focused on the plight of the American Indian.

The play was performed by the Folger Theatre group who drew enthusiastic praise from Hilda Petri, Neihardt's daughter.

She said although the play differs from her father's book, he would have been proud of the work.

"I just wish my father could have seen it," she said.

Dr. Ronald Schultz, chairman of the Center for the Development of the Humanities, said he thought the performance by the Folger group was a vivid history lesson for the American public.

"A lot of information was rendered there that is commonplace for anyone who has studied the history of the American Indian in conflict with the white man," he said. "But the general public by and large, does not have access to it. It is a history of terror which we should be ashamed of."

The play traces the history of the American Indian from the arrival of the white man in North America to Wounded Knee.

Though based on Neihardt's spiritual autobiography of the Ojibwa Holy Man Black Elk, the play focuses on the history of the American Indian. Well-known past native Americans including Crazy Horse, Black Kettle and Manullito.

The "Black Elk Speaks" performance was sponsored by the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities and the WSC Center for the Humanities.

Other events on the WSC campus focusing on native Americans and "Black Elk Speaks" included a panel discussion featuring George Baria of the Sioux City Indian center; a panel discussion covering the history of John G. Neihardt featuring Hilda Neihardt Petri, WSC professor emeritus Norman Nordstrand and WSC alumnus Lella Maynard and a panel discussion between WSC theatre students and members of the Folger Theatre group. All three discussions were aired over the WSC cablevision station, KWSC.

O'Donnell 'Bigness' Not Requisite For Good Government

"Bigness" is not a requisite for good government. At least that is what Allen O'Donnell of Wayne told constituents Friday as he announced his candidacy for Congress.

O'Donnell made his intentions known during a swing through six cities in the first district. He presently is Nebraska's Democratic National Committeeman but he announced his intention to resign in a formal letter to the state central committee to be read at a meeting March 12.

The former military career man is on leave from his position as a teacher and director of programs for the Wayne State College Public Affairs Institute.

He said he is running for the first district congressional seat "because it is now clear that new voices are needed to return control of government to the people."

He said Congress "must face the crucial test of reducing the size of federal government to human dimensions." There is too much government today. There are too many bureaucrats. There is too much red tape. There are too many taxes.

O'Donnell also challenged Congress to express "confidence in the people" by passing an amendment to the Constitution "limiting the number of years a member of Congress may serve." He added that "The founding fathers did not intend to create a profession of politicians who run and run again, solely interested in office holding."

He said he is "proud to support those family farmers who take part in the farm strike." He added that "they fight for

Reported in December Scabies Outbreak in County

Wayne county is one of eight counties in Nebraska which are included in a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) report concerning outbreaks of psoroptic scabies in December, 1977.

Nebraska held the dubious honor of leading the nation in the number of scabies outbreaks during 1977. There were 47 reported cases of scabies in Nebraska during the past year.

Other states having problems with scabies are Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Dr. Glen O. Schubert of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection service, said traditionally, scabies have spread from New Mexico and the panhandle areas of Texas and Oklahoma. "Now, however, new areas of infestation have been established in Colorado and Nebraska, causing further spread and a resulting increase in outbreaks."

Scabies is caused by tiny parasitic mites that puncture the skin of cattle and feed on body fluids released from the wounds. "This does not affect the wholesomeness of the meat but can result in economic losses for feedlot operators and cattlemen."

Infestations are spread by physical contact between animals and can be eliminated by dipping the cattle in pesticides that kill the mites. All infected and exposed herds are placed under federal or state quarantines until the cattle are treated under government supervision and found free of scabies mites.

Other Nebraska counties included in the report are Custer, Dundy, Lincoln, Platte, Red Willow, Scotts Bluff and Valley.

Flu Bug Uses Hit-Run Tactics

By BOB BARTLETT
Although the outbreak of flu hasn't reached epidemic proportions in Wayne, it has taken its toll in the classrooms.

Wayne public schools, was the worse as far as absenteeism. Close to 200 students did not show up for classes as a result of the flu.

At Wayne High School, about 95 students either called in sick or just plain didn't come to class. Principal Don Zeiss explained that for the most part the flu has come and gone at the high school. Of the 95 reported sick Tuesday, only 25 were missing from classes Friday.

The fast-spreading bug has resulted in some changes both in the class and sports schedules. Wayne's scheduled wrestling match Thursday night at Tekamah-Herman had to be postponed until sometime next month after about half of the team reported sick or just recovering from the flu.

The hitting out of report cards slated for Wednesday has been set back until Friday to give those sick students extra time to make up work and complete exams. Also as a result, the honor roll will be delayed, Zeiss noted.

The flu bug has hit hard at Wayne's West Elementary and Middle Schools, too. Middle School principal Dick Metteer said that the number of students not reporting to classes is averaging 50 a day.

"(The flu) doesn't appear to be letting up, but it doesn't appear to be getting any worse," Metteer said.

Over at West Elementary, at least 55 of the 244 students have missed class. The highest number last week was recorded on Wednesday when 63 students were gone, according to the school staff.

Around the area, the flu bug hasn't been as prominent.

Administrators at Allen, Laurel, Wakefield and Winside schools report that the number of students absent from classes has been about normal.

As an example, at Allen schools, students in grades kindergarten through senior high who have been absent number only 22. "I don't think the flu has really hit yet. It's here, but it just hasn't settled yet," said principal Dale Kennedy.

Heavy Damage In Accident

Two vehicles received extensive damage Friday in an accident three miles south of Wayne on Highway 15.

The Wayne county sheriff's office said a pickup being driven by Gene E. Fletcher of Wayne was hit in its rear by a car being driven by Robert D. Roberts, also of Wayne.

Officers said both vehicles were southbound at the time of the accident. They said the Fletcher vehicle was making a left turn when it was hit by the Roberts vehicle.

The front end of the Roberts vehicle received extensive damage. The left rear of the Fletcher vehicle was damaged.

No one was injured and no charges were filed.

Two Cars in Every Garage

New Car Sales Soar

(Special to the Herald) NEW YORK, Jan. 14 — Wayne county residents have been buying new cars at a sharply increased rate in the last few years, reversing the sluggish trend of the recession years.

With the upturn in the economy, which brought with it a rise in personal incomes, local families regained some of their confidence and began returning to the market place, resuming their spending for the goods and services they had been doing without for some time.

They decided, for one thing, that the time had come to replace their well-worn cars with newer ones. The extent to which they did so is to be seen in the number of shiny new models in the area and in the high registration figures.

In addition, to a greater degree than usual, many families retained their old cars rather than trading them in, which also added to the growth in the automobile population.

One explanation for this is the fact that the number of working wives has been on the increase, making second cars and sometimes third ones a necessity in some homes.

As a result, car ownership in Wayne county, as of the past year, reached the level of 170 cars per 100 local families.

It was a bigger proportion than was found in many parts of the United States, where the average was 143 cars per 100 families. It also topped the State of Nebraska ratio of 148.

The date on automobile population comes from the Standard Rate and Data service and the

67 Degree

Weather Spread

The area weather during December, 1977 ranged from a high of 56 degrees to a low of 11 degrees below zero.

Weather data from state and national organizations show that the month's high of 56 degrees was recorded on Dec. 15, 1977 with the low falling on Dec. 9.

The average daily maximum for the month was 31.3 degrees with the average daily minimum showing 11.9 degrees. The average temperature for the month was 21.6 degrees which represents a minus 2.7 departure from the normal (normal) is the average monthly temperature for the period 1941-70).

The December temperatures over most of Nebraska ranged from 1 to 5 degrees below normal. A few sites in the panhandle and along the southern border of the state were a little above normal.

The area received .53 of an inch of precipitation during the month which is a departure of minus .20 from the normal.

Two Elected

To Bank Board

Two persons were elected to the directorate of the Farmers State Bank, Carroll, as a part of the business of the annual stockholders' meeting.

Elected were Kem W. Swarts and M.L. Olason.

The two new directors replace George H. Owens and G.E. Jones who retired after many continuous years of service to the Carroll bank and to the Carroll community.

OBSERVATIONS

Electorate has 'clout'

In an unprecedented move, the voting constituent of the United States is making a concerted move toward testing credibility of government officials and agencies.

This challenge by voters is attracting attention because of its severe departure from the usual "forgiving nature" of a disinterested society and because it is causing shirt collars on bureaucrats to tighten as it probes with a sometimes embarrassing "why?"

The electorate is finding it has "clout." It is finding, also, its action is a very distinct part of the blueprint for the "American way of life." It is providing the needed checks and balances to make the democratic form of government work and function properly. It also serves to bring the light of day to heretofore dimly lighted government agencies.

A newsletter from Charley Thone, 1st district congressman, provides fire for the new "caring cause" by the voters. It takes careful aim at the present system of foreign aid and scores a direct hit.

He said America is now distributing foreign aid through the U.S. State Department's Agency for International Development (AID). More than a dozen agencies of the United Nations and international financing institutions such as the World Bank, International Monetary Fund, International Development Bank and Asian Development Bank.

Thone centers his ire on AID, claiming it has a "reputation for inefficiency, rigidity, and slowness." He claims AID should be abolished.

He bases his claim on findings by the Brookings Institution, a liberal organization that conducts public policy research. "AID has been harshly criticized because 69 percent of its personnel are in its Washington headquarters. The Carter administration proposes to correct the imbalance not by firing people in Washington, nor by sending Washington personnel to the field, but by hiring more people around the world," Thone said.

Thone points out the administration advocates a large increase in funding for the World Bank and other similar agencies. "U.S. Treasury Sec. W. Michael Blumenthal has stated that World Bank salaries are 30 to 40 percent higher than those paid for comparable U.S. government jobs and that the bank provides 'lavish' subsidies for its employees such as payment for restaurants, travel of wives, all sorts of things."

The congressman said the International Monetary Fund has its own country club in Washington. He states the average pay for all employees at the International financial institutions — including typists, file clerks and janitorial personnel — is $43,000 a year.

Thone ends his tirade against foreign aid by commenting "It isn't just in Washington that people are misusing money intended to help the poor U.S. taxpayers' money provided to some Latin American governments, such as Columbia, was retained to bribe farmers at interest rates up to 17 percent annually."

He sharply focuses his light on this particular area of government by stating: "The entire present system of foreign aid is a complete failure and should be scrapped!"

We aren't able to make any decisive comment about Thone's opinion on foreign aid except to note that it agrees with our general opinion concerning the inner-workings of governmental agencies whose overall purposes cannot be faulted. It also lends itself to the movement by the electorate for accounting by public and private figures in government. And that alone warrants merit. — Chuck Barnes.

Here we thought we were reporting the majority opinion of a rural Midwest area who often received a psychological uplift from a doctor's house call that far surpasses any benefits from modern medicine. Apparently we remain too naive and too old-fashioned. Whatever.

New rules on capital gains, losses

Recent tax law changes in the treatment of capital gains carry serious implications for taxpayers who have had, or expect to have, capital gains or losses.

And, as the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants points out, capital gains and losses can be experienced by almost everyone, not just the rich or those who play the stock market.

In these days of inflation anyone who sells a home, business, farm, vacation cottage, government bond or other substantial asset could be exposed to the new rules.

The changes, say the CPAs, include: —Termination of the opportunity to avoid capital gain by leaving an asset to one's heirs.

—Lengthening of the holding period that determines whether the gain and loss is short-term or long-term. —Doubling of the amount of ordinary income that can be offset by capital losses.

For a long time persons whose estates had risen in value could avoid paying capital gain tax on that appreciation simply by not selling the assets. They left the property to their heirs whose "cost basis" was the fair market value when they received the inheritance, regardless of how much the assets may have appreciated while the decedent held them.

Heirs could immediately sell the property and owe no tax on any capital gain.

Effective Jan. 1, 1977, that tax protection ended. Heirs who dispose of assets inherited after Dec. 31, 1976, are subject to tax on any appreciation occurring after that date.

How do you determine what the value was on the last day of '76? In the case of securities, ask your tax adviser to consult a published list of market values on that date. For other assets, the gain is apportioned by the time held before and after Dec. 31, 1976.

For example, an asset bought on Dec. 31, 1974 for $10,000 and sold on Dec. 31, 1977, for $12,100 appreciated by $2,100 over the three-year period. Since two-thirds of the period came before Dec. 31, 1976, two-thirds of the appreciation, 1,400, is attributed to that time and is not taxed. The gain after Dec. 31, 1976 is the other one-third, or $700. It should be noted that such a computation requires very detailed records of purchase dates and prices.

For those who may be unclear as to how capital gains are taxed, the CPA society explains that short-term gains — that is, for 1977, gains on assets held nine months or less — are taxed basically like ordinary income.

The short-term, long-term holding period, increased from six to nine months in 1977, goes to a full year on assets sold in 1978 and thereafter.)

Net long-term gains (gains minus losses) are in effect taxed by simply adding one half of the gains for the year to ordinary income. Thus, if your tax rate is 50 per cent, the capital gain tax rate in effect would be 25 per cent; but if your rate is lower, the capital gain rate would drop accordingly.

Short-term losses can be offset, dollar for dollar, against ordinary income, but net long-term losses can offset ordinary income only at the rate of one dollar of income per two dollars of loss. For 1977, the amount of income that can be offset by losses is $2,000, twice what it had been. In 1978 it rises to $3,000. Any losses in excess of the annual limit can be carried over and applied against income in future years.

Another recent change in the law that could sharply increase the tax liability of someone with a sizeable capital gain in 1977, the CPA society reports, is the minimum tax on "tax preference items."

The minimum tax was designed to extract at least some tax dollars from wealthy individuals who, through legitimate use of tax shelters, credits, and other means managed to avoid paying any tax at all, even though their incomes were considerable.

Unfortunately, the minimum tax on tax preference items hits not only the very wealthy but also an individual or couple selling off the one big asset they own, acquired, perhaps, over the course of a lifetime.

For example, the CPAs cite a couple in their early 60s who in 1977 with no plan for reinvesting in a new home sold for $60,000 a home purchased years ago whose cost basis is only $10,000. With no modifying circumstances, they realized a gain of $50,000. If at least one of them were 65 or older, the gain on the first $35,000 of the sales price would be tax exempt. Since they are not, they not only must add half the gain, $25,000, to their taxable income for 1977, but may also have to pay a minimum tax on a portion of the other $25,000!

Persons concerned about having to pay taxes on capital gains in 1977 have one consolation, say the CPAs: at least their gains were realized before a change proposed by the Carter administration could take effect. The proposal is that, except for the sale of one's residence, there be no special treatment for capital gain — that gains be taxed just like ordinary income.

In the next article in this series, to appear next week, the Nebraska Society of CPAs takes up the records needed for tax return preparation.

Club Leaders Invited to 'On Your Own' Lessons

During January, home extension club lesson leaders and other interested individuals will be studying ways to manage the family's business matters because of a divorce, or their spouse dying or incurring a temporary or permanent disability.

Joycelyn Smith, area home extension agent at the Northeast Station, near Concord, said all women, regardless of age, should take steps now to prepare themselves in the event of a tragedy.

"Statistics show one of every two married women in America today faces the prospect of having to manage family finances on their own," says Miss Smith.

The home extension agent will be presenting the leader training lesson, entitled "On Your Own," as follows:

Jan. 23 — 1:30 p.m., courthouse meeting room, Dakota City.

Jan. 24 — 9:30 a.m., Northeast Station, Concord; 1:30 p.m., Ridge View Manor, Coleridge.

Jan. 25 — 1:30 p.m., Villa Wayne, Wayne.

Jan. 27 — 1:30 p.m., Extension Office meeting room, Walthill.

During the lessons, participants will become more aware of their family resources and advisors, and begin to develop a knowledge of what is needed to manage family business affairs, says Miss Smith. Information will be presented on handling valuable papers and documents, savings and investments, women's credit, income tax returns, insurance, retirement and pension plans, social security and veteran's benefits, and wills.

Any club may send lessons leaders to the meeting. Such leaders should contact Joycelyn Smith at the Northeast Station, Concord, so materials will be available.

Cats Snap 19-Game Losing Streak

Patience Pays Off for Scrappy Winside Quint, 63-54

By BOB BARTLETT
All during the fourth quarter kept shouting to their players. "Patience, patience." And finally it paid off as the host Wildcats snapped a 19-game losing streak to topple Beemer, 63-54.

Not since head coach Sam Colvin took over the reins last year has Wildcat fans seen a victory. During the 1976-77 campaign Colvin's club lost 11 straight regular season games. And this year the Cats appeared to be headed in the same direction.

But Colvin and his assistant Jim Halferty told their players as they took a two-point edge into the fourth period just play headsup ball and don't lose control. Sophomore Paul Roberts put Colvin's plan into work by reeling off eight straight points for a 54-47 Wildcat lead to keep the 2-6 Bobcats trailing the rest of the game. "I was scared," Colvin admitted about his club's chances in the final stanza. "We've never played in a situation like that," he said referring to the fact that for the first time his club was in the lead in the last period and had a strong chance to pull out a victory. Winside began to rush its offense midway through the final period giving up the ball on turnovers, but the Cats later regrouped when the Bobcats of coach Gary Carlson soon found themselves in serious foul trouble. The Cats responded by playing control ball, especially on the boards where the winners had 22 offensive rebounds and 24 on defense. After the game Colvin commented that the type of competition his club has faced is what made his club a winner. "We probably have a tougher schedule than Beemer, and it shows because we're getting better and better each week." Down 24-18 with about a minute and a half left in the first half, Winside showed fans just what kind of a scrappy quint it can be when the chips are down. Russ Longnecker, who set up excellent screens all night, and Bob Hawkins cashed in at the free throw line for a 24-22 score. Then Hawkins grabbed a loose ball and hit from five feet out on a jumper to tie the score at the buzzer.

Both clubs were physical throughout the contest as a total of 42 fouls were called. Beemer had the better percentage at the line, making 12 of 25 while the Cats netted only seven of 22. The difference, however, was from the field as Winside, behind Roberts' 15 and Bill Gottberg's 13, sank 28 fielders to the Bobcats' 21.

Another big contributor to Winside's victory was Chuck Peter's 10 markers and his strength on the boards — 13 rebounds. Roberts, who is a 45 per cent field goal shooter for Colvin, set up Winside's penetrating offense which caught Beemer off guard several times with backdoor plays and up the middle drives. The Bobcats' main scoring threat, 5-4 junior Dale Holtz, missed his 18.6 average as Colvin directed his guards to watch the Beemer playmaker closely. Result: Holtz made 10 points.

The leader for the invaders was 6-1 junior Tom Martin who See PATIENCE, page 5

HIGH SCHOOL basketball not only brings out the emotions of basketball players, but also their coaches. Winside head man Sam Colvin has good reason to be excited, though. For the first time in 20 games Friday night the Wildcats won their first contest, 63-54, over Beemer. Late in the game the Cats had the win wrapped up, but Colvin didn't want his club to become overconfident. In left, he tells his players to go for two points, and later tries to instill a little fight in his quint after the scoring play fails.

Cedar's Torrid Shooting Costs Devils 69-54 Loss

Just about everything Hartington Cedar Catholic put into the air Friday night went through the hoop as the host Trojans blitzed Wayne, 69-54. Behind the 16-point scoring of Todd Wieseler and Mike Litz, the Trojans burned the nets with 62 per cent shooting in the first half for a 44-33 cushion, and from that point held on to hand coach Bill Sharpe and his club its sixth loss against five wins. "I've never seen anything like it," Sharpe confessed about Cedar's first-half shooting. "No matter what we did, they scored. Our kids worked their butts off but couldn't do anything about it... even when they (Cedar) made a mistake they would still score two points."

Wayne halted Cedar's scoring machine in the second half, holding down the home Trojans to 25 points. But the gap Cedar created early in the game was too much for Sharpe's troops to overcome.

For the most part, the game was a 10-point battle with Cedar increasing the edge in the final stanza when both teams started to use substitutes. Brad Emry led the locals in scoring with 17 markers and Tom Ginn, who was the top rebounder with 10, canned 13 points.

Wayne's junior varsity dropped a 66-53 contest in the preliminary game.

East L-C Title on Line Thursday for Allen '5'

Allen can officially claim the East division title of the Lewis and Clark Conference Thursday night if the 7-1 Eagles don't lose in invading Wakefield.

Coach Steve McManigal Allen quint already have at least a share of the division title with their fifth conference victory against no defeats — that coming Friday night with a lopsided 50-28 beating of Winnebago.

"If we play like we did against Wakefield and are able to hustle we should be able to win," McManigal pointed out, adding that early difficulty with the Indians proved that games must be earned, not given away.

The coach was referring to the Eagles' sluggish start Friday when they scored only eight points in the first quarter and 14 in the second period for a 22-16 halftime command.

Allen opened up the second half with 50 per cent shooting from the field in the third period to drop in 21 points to Winnebago's four for a 43-20 lead. Sisters Susie and Lisa Erwin led Allen in scoring with 18 and 14 points as the Eagles finished the evening game with 37 per cent shooting from the field — the best thus far in the season.

"We shot the best we have all year, unfortunately we had the most turnovers (22) we've ever had," McManigal noted.

The coach added that the slow start could be attributed to the fact that Friday's game was the third for his girls last week. Monday night Allen beat Winside 44-36, and came back Thursday night for a 51-39 decision over Wakefield.

Allen 51, Wakefield 39
"We came out in the first quarter and played the best ball we've played all year," beamed McManigal after his club chalked up win No. six.

Allen took an 18-4 lead and never was in trouble as the hosts stopped Wakefield for the Trojans' eighth loss in 11 outings.

The Eagles played "extremely" well on defense and hustled on the boards to out rebound Wakefield, 53-34. Lisa Erwin and Stacey Koester had 13 caroms apiece and Pam Brownell putted down 10.

NRD District Receives First Fund Check

The first funds bound for Nebraska farmers and ranchers setting aside wildlife lands have been released by the Game and Parks Commission to the Lewis and Clark Natural Resources District in Northeast Nebraska.

A check for $20,640 was presented to Tom Moser, district manager of Lewis and Clark NRD, and Jim Wortman of Crofton and Warren Patefield of Laurel, directors of the NRD Board, by Game and Parks Commission director Gene Mahoney. The money will be used by the NRD to cover 75 percent of the payments to landowners taking part in the district's wildlife programs, with the NRD paying the other 25 percent.

The Commission's $20,640 share was generated by the sale of the Habitat Stamps bought by hunters and trappers, and by increased hunting and fishing license fees. Landowners in 20 of Nebraska's 24 natural resources districts will be eligible to participate in similar programs, offering up to $27.50 per acre for certain land management practices.

While making the presentation, Mahoney praised the Lewis and Clark NRD for the outstanding cooperation it has given Commission staff. He noted that Lewis and Clark was among the first NRD in the state to show interest in wildlife, starting its own program in 1974 before any financial aid from the state was available. Since then, a considerable portion of the NRD's budget has been devoted to wildlife, Mahoney said.

So far, Lewis and Clark NRD has signed up 1,417 acres, all of it new habitat devoted primarily to grasses and legumes. There are 36 landowners participating. The average plot involves 39 acres, and the average payment to landowners is $590.

Dahl Leaving

Manager of Indian Trails Country Club in Beemer has resigned that post to take a similar job in Harlan, Ia. Ken Dahl will leave the Beemer course Monday after serving just over two years as club manager.

Before he became a club manager, the Wayne native operated a nursing home in Wayne before he moved to Broken Bow several years ago to manage a nursing home.

Laurel Gals Drop Overtime Decision

Cindy Schaefer's basket in the last ticking seconds of regular play sent her Laurel team into overtime Thursday night, but the visiting Bears couldn't take control as Pender came out on top, 57-53.

With six seconds left in the contest, Pender converted the first of a one-and-one situation only to miss the second and allow Schaefer to score. Pender quickly got back into the game

Wayne Falls, 37-17

Host Schuyler stopped Wayne's eighth grade cagers Thursday, 37-17.

The locals, who trailed 19-5 at the half, dropped their record to 1-2.

Scoring for Wayne coach Brent Gulick's team were Mike Stieler with eight, Eric Brink with three, and two each for Jeff Moore, Keith Zimmer and Mark Hummel.

with a three-point play to head off the now 5-5 Bears.

"The big part of the game occurred when they switched from a man-to-man defense to a zone. We just didn't have much success," admitted Laurel coach Everett Jensen.

Laurel began to throw the ball away on bad passes and miss its chances at the free throw line where the Bears made only three of 21 tries for 14 percent.

From the floor, Laurel hit 38 percent and for the fourth straight game made over 50 points. "The thing that makes me happy is that we're scoring well. We've been over 50 the last four games," Jensen pointed out.

Laurel had the shots and drove in for layups only to see a lot of the attempts roll off the rim.

Although the Bears outbounded Pender, 40-28, they weren't able to stop the turnovers. The Bears committed 16 to Pender's five.

Senior Cheryl Abts led Laurel with 19 points while Deanna Manz had 11.

In reserve play, Laurel picked up its seventh win in eight games with a 27-12 decision. Kaye Anderson led Laurel with eight points.

Coble Blames Poor Effort For WH Loss

"We just didn't get any effort from our people," is the way coach Joe Coble sized up Wakefield's 55-48 loss to Wausa Friday night.

"It's not so much that we didn't do anything wrong," the coach continued. "It's just that we didn't do anything."

Wausa beat the Trojans at the free throw line where the Vikings nailed 13 of 17 charity shots. "That's an indication of a mighty poor defense," Coble pointed out, adding that to correct the situation of Wakefield's 4-7 record he's going to have to "find some people willing to work."

Both clubs hit 21 fielders. Senior Val Johnson and Scott Hallstrom led the Trojans with 11 points each as the visitors made 32 percent from the field. However, Wakefield couldn't control the boards, pulling down only 23 rebounds.

In junior varsity action, Wakefield lost its sixth game in nine outings, 53-36, in what the coach also labeled as a poor effort.

2 Upsets Help Pirate Matmen Topple 'Cats

The state's fifth-ranked Class C wrestling team, Plainview, handed the sixth-ranked Winside Wildcats their third dual loss Tuesday night, downing the Cats 32-22 at Winside.

"We won a couple of matches I didn't think we would, but we also lost several I thought we would win," said coach Randy Humpal.

Reserve Scott Mann, who normally wrestles at 126, was shifted to 145 pounds where he defeated Plainview's Kelly Brozek, 6-3. Tom Koll dropped down from 145 to replace regular Dirk Jaeger at the 132 pound slot.

The upsies came in the 105 and 155 divisions where Class C leaders Rick Bowers and LaVerie Miller were defeated. Bowers suffered his fourth loss in 18 matches when he was defeated by 105-pound Craig Hanemann, 9-7. Bowers was leading late in the match when Hanemann applied a head lock to stop the Winside grappler.

Plainview juggled its lineup to put 185-pound regular Mike Spatz into the 155-pound category against previously undefeated Miller, now 17-1. Spatz won the contest 6-1.

"In a way the loss (for Miller) takes a lot of pressure off of him," the coach noted.

Winside's dual record now stands at 2-3.

REGULATION OF WELLS

IS YOUR WELL REGISTERED?

All wells, except those used solely for domestic purposes, must be registered within thirty days after completion. The owner of the well is responsible for registering the well. Registration forms may be obtained from the Department of Water Resources Office in Lincoln or Norfolk, Nebraska.

DO YOU KNOW THE SPACING REQUIREMENTS FOR IRRIGATIONS AND MUNICIPAL WELLS?

No irrigation well shall be drilled within 600 feet of an existing irrigation well. This does not apply to a landowner putting additional wells on his own land, as long as the wells are not within 600 feet of neighboring landowners wells.

No irrigation, municipal, or industrial well shall be drilled within 1000 feet of an existing municipal well, nor will a municipal well be drilled within 1000 feet of an existing irrigation or industrial well.

However, an individual may ask the Department of Water Resources to waive these spacing requirements for a specific case.

DO YOU PLACE FERTILIZER IN YOUR IRRIGATION SYSTEM?

Any irrigation system which is used to apply fertilizer materials must have a check valve. This is a mechanical device on the well to protect the underground water supply from contamination. If the well stops pumping, the check valve closes to prevent a backflow of water and fertilizer into the well and thus contaminating groundwater.

DO YOU HAVE AN ABANDONED WELL?

Abandoned wells shall be properly filled in and sealed, to protect the quality of underground water. The Department of Water Resources has a Rule Book for Well Abandonment available which defines an abandoned well and states the correct procedure in filling and sealing it.

In 10 of the 14 counties listed in the above table, average water levels in monitored wells were higher in Fall '77 than in Fall '76. In the other four counties, average water level declined for the same period. In Fall '77, 63 percent of all wells monitored had higher water levels than in Fall '76. It should be noted that hydrogeologic conditions may vary over short distances in much of northeast Nebraska. Wells within a county may vary substantially as to depth and conditions of water yielding materials. Therefore, individual wells within a county will not necessarily show the same groundwater level change as the average for that county.

All 14 counties showed a decline in groundwater levels for both the '76 and '77 pumping seasons. However, the average declines in '76 were larger, and 98 percent of the monitored wells showed declines, as compared to 80 percent in 1977.

Besides using these figures to evaluate groundwater level changes, the Lower Elkhorn NRD has other long range goals in mind. The data, when collected for several years, will provide information to determine whether or not the groundwater supply is being depleted. Thus, if the demand on groundwater becomes too great, the NRD would be able to request establishment of a "Control Area." In this way, groundwater could be managed in the control area to insure that everyone gets the most good out of the available groundwater. The data would also help in determining the size of the area that may need management. In short, the well monitoring will help the Lower Elkhorn NRD spot groundwater problems before they become critical, and will enable it to establish an equitable management program to conserve one of our most valuable natural resources.

I'm fed up with low farm prices!
I'm fed up with high taxes!
I'm fed up with the amount of money we're wasting in state government!
And I think it's time we did something about it!

I'm not a professional politician. I'm a Nebraskan who wants to get things done. Today, as I look around, I'm indeed discouraged with the wasteful spending of our state and federal government. Taxes are higher than ever before. More money is being spent to run our state government than at any time in history. Yet our families are facing bankruptcy. Our rural areas are in need of new roads. And our school system is not providing equal state-wide education. It was for these reasons I became a candidate for Governor. For the past 20 years I've been a businessman and administrator. The people of Nebraska expect their Governor to know how to run our state. Our citizens expect their chief executive to be decisive, disciplined and dedicated. They expect him to be an administrator, not a legislator. If you share my concern about wasteful, ineffectual government, if you're tired of soaring taxes, then I suggest you put a new face in the Governor's chair. Vance Rogers is not a politician. Vance Rogers is a Nebraskan who wants to get things done.

1977: The Year In Pictures

THE YEAR 1977 provided the Herald staff a good chance to take a closer look at happenings in Wayne and the surrounding area through the camera's eye. Some of the events which caught the cameraman's fancy during the year include (clockwise from top lefthand corner): Sparks fly as a FFA student welds a joint during the District Three contest held at Allen High School; Three youths enjoy the much-needed rains which greeted farmers this spring after a long drought; Workmen from the state roads department make the final adjustment on new signal lights installed on Main Street following completion of the newly-paved street; A runner opened the state Special Olympics held for the first time at Wayne State's oval; Mild spring breezes release nature's beauty in the form of a floating seed from a dandelion; State Class C wrestling champion Brad Langenberg flips his opponent during the finals of the 145-pound class; Three members of the Jean Dewald family take advantage of the spring-like weather to do a little fixin' up of the family picnic table; A 4-H'er like many other youths who are eager to win a ribbon, spruces up his entry before county fair judges.

A close relationship is shown between the increase in family income and the increase in car ownership. When there is more money to spend, as in Wayne county, people tend to raise their living standards, particularly with respect to the family car.

The effect, locally, has been to boost car registrations to a total of 4,700.

For service station operators in the area, this is welcome news. More cars mean more business. Their sales volume in the past year, for gas, oil, repairs and accessories, came to $2,133,000, as compared with the total five years ago of $1,403,000.

His opposition in the primary are two Lincoln residents — Hess Dyas, who twice ran unsuccessfully for Congress and H. Bruce Hamilton, who ran unsuccessfully as a third-party candidate for Congress in 1970.

Deadline Nears For Producers

Wayne county wool producers were reminded this week that Jan. 31 is the final day to make application for wool and unshorn lamb incentive payments. Alden Johnson, chairman of the Wayne County ASC committee, stated producers need to present sales documents to the ASCS office to substantiate their claims.

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, recently announced an increase in the incentive payment for 1977 and 1978 marketing of wool. The incentive payment rate for 1977 was raised from 72c to 99c per pound. The 1978 level is set at $1.08 per pound.

Johnson explained that evidence presented by producers will be submitted to a central computer. This computer will determine the National Average Market price received by all producers. If this price falls below the incentive level, a payment will be made. The payment will be based on the percentage required to bring all producers' sales up to the 99c incentive level.

Marine Pvt. Gary Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delos Schultz of Laurel, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, Schultz learned the basics of battlefield survival. He also was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

A 1977 graduate of Laurel Public High School, Schultz joined the Marine Corps in February.

Police Blotter

A school bus operated by Don Davis of Carroll and a car driven by Cary Damme of rural Wayne collided about 10:45 a.m. Friday near the intersection of Sixth and Douglas Streets.

A parked car registered to Steve Steele, Pender, was hit about 9:40 p.m. Thursday by a vehicle operated by David Carlson, rural Hooper. The mishap happened on the 100 block of Main.

About 4:10 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of Fifth and Sherman cars operated by Tammera Maxson, 1095 S. Blaine, and Erna Mellor, 420 Sherman, collided.

Three panes of glass at Melody Cleaners, Wayne, were discovered broken about 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Rural Pass Kit

Drive Triples

Returns from the 1977 Rural Pass Kit Drive more than tripled the 1976 dollar amount.

Figures just released by the Kidney Foundation of Nebraska (KF of N) show that the 1977 drive raised well over $22,000 compared to the $6,000 in 1976.

Frank J. Williams, KF of N executive director, attributed the increase both to a higher percentage of return and the inclusion of more counties.

In 1976, 13 counties were sent pass kits with a 35 percent returned 52 percent.

Wayne county raised $373. It returned 57 percent.

The pass kit represents the growth which the KF of N must realize to support its increased service programs in Nebraska, Williams said.

The Kidney Foundation is a voluntary health agency dedicated to the prevention, cure and treatment of kidney diseases. The Nebraska affiliate has four major purposes — patient services, research, public education, and professional education.
