

Area Intern To Capital

The Wayne County Community will have one intern representative who will spend an all-expense paid week in Washington, D.C.

Representative Charles Thone announced that ten seniors from public and private high schools in the First Congressional District will be chosen for all-expense paid trips to the nation's capital for the week of April 2 to 9.

Thone said Nebraska educators will do the judging to select five senior boys and five senior girls by geographic districts. One intern will be selected from the Wayne, Dixon, Cedar and Knox areas. Alternates will be chosen in case any of the original ten selected cannot attend.

The Congressman said scholastic records, extra curricular activities and demonstrated interest in government will be the criteria judges will use to select the winners.

Application blanks for the internships have been sent to principals and counselors of all high schools in the Congressional District. Applications and supporting material must be received by the judges no later than March 13 in order to be considered.

Interns chosen will do research on pending legislation. They will meet the members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and leaders of the executive branch. They will have tours of the U.S. Capitol, White House and the Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln memorials. They will attend a stage play and eat in a variety of restaurants.

A Congressional High School Intern Committee, headed by Lincoln businessman Roger Larson, raises and disburses money needed for the program and chooses the judges. Congressman Thone said this will be the fourth consecutive year that he has hosted high school interns. He pointed out no other member of Congress has a program for high school interns like this one.

Pork Producers Meeting Set

Pork producers in Northeast Nebraska will have an opportunity to be updated in the areas of pseudorabies and housing for weaning pigs. The meeting will be held at the Northeast Station near Concord on March 21 beginning at 9:30 a.m. with coffee, and concluding by 3:00 p.m.

Dr. Alex Hogg, Extension Veterinarian at UNL, will discuss the current incidence of the disease and what control measures are available. Bob Fritsch, State Veterinarian at Northeast Station, will cover design, remodeling and management of facilities for weaning and starting pigs.

Following lunch, a problem pig clinic will be held where producers will have an opportunity to have a wide range of questions answered. Lunch will be available at the Station.

The meeting is sponsored by the Northeast Pork Producers and the University of Nebraska Extension Service.

Farm Finances Workshop Topic

A special workshop on how to determine how much a person can afford to pay for land, fair cash rent and cutting crop production and fertilizer costs will be held Wednesday, March 1 at 1:30 p.m. at the Wayne City Auditorium.

The committee also recommended a systematic follow-up of drop out students. Those students who want to resume work toward a high school diploma should be "recruited" with information concerning a high school diploma be made available to them. The committee also suggested providing information concerning alternatives to traditional high school attendance.

The cost, according to the committee, would be minimal with an estimated $25 for postage.

The Evaluation Committee recommended a continuation of study concerning this area. The visitation team gave an immediate priority to the goal.

In other areas, the committee recommended that the Vocational Advisory Committee and Career Education Committee combine their efforts in determining useful community resource people. They suggested the resource people could be used as classroom speakers, etc. They gave as reasons for the recommendation better usage of community residents. They can do educational benefits would be immediate as committees are now being formed.

The committee gave a priority one rating to the goal which recommends immediate action. The visitation team also gave a priority one ranking.

Japanese Farm Trainees Tour Wayne Dairy Farm

Secrets to successful farming were further unfolded to some 36 Japanese agriculturists who visited the Wayne area Thursday.

The ingredients for making farming a success, they were told, are a mixture of common sense and Midwest know-how. But to make certain the young foreign agriculturists realized the evident, several area farm leaders, 4-h club members, Extension personnel and Wayne State College staff members spelled it out for them.

Agricultural Training Council, Tokyo, Japan and the National 4-H Club Foundation, Washington, D.C., visited the Lawrence Sprouls dairy farm southwest of Wayne Thursday afternoon.

Special Course For Farm Youth

Youths 14 to 16 years of age are restricted from doing many farm jobs on farms other than their parent's farm. These restrictions have been made by the Department of Labor.

Providing school related news to the community and school bus housing are two of the goals recommended in reports from Wayne-Carroll School District Self-Evaluation Committees.

Spokesmen for the Special Services and the Community Relations Committees reported to the district board of education at its regular meeting Feb. 13.

The Community Relations Committee suggested a staff member be given one period per day to organize school related news material ranging from kindergarten through grade 12.

The committee gave a priority one rating to the goal which recommends immediate action. The visitation team also gave a priority one ranking.

FOUR MEMBERS of the Wayne County Unit of the American Cancer Society attended a Crusade and Service workshop in South Sioux City. Emphasis was on training for service and for the April Crusade.

Dixon Races Shaping Up

Four Republicans and one Democrat have filed for Dixon County courthouse offices.

The committee recommended a walk-in freezer outside the building which would result in savings in food costs by larger purchases and could result in a greater variety in the school menu.

The committee reported no additional personnel would be required if the present time schedule for serving is maintained. They pointed out that if the schedule is changed to serve high school and elementary at the same time, some additional help for serving would be required.

The committee pointed out the elementary building is used extensively at night and cannot be secured. The equipment, they said, must be moved daily to avoid damage.

A second reason for making the recommendation is the area is located near the main entrance of the building and it is drafty.

The trainees are on the "downhill" sting of their two-year program. They will be leaving the United States at the end of March.

According to coordinator Dwight F. Stephens, they have been working on farms in Nebraska where they have gained practical experience in their agriculture specialty.

The trainees are carefully selected from all prefectures of Japan. Selection procedure includes written examinations and personal interviews approximately one year before coming to the United States.

They range in age from 18 to 30 years. All of them have completed high school and some have attended technical agricultural schools in Japan.

During the months of August, September and October, they were engaged in the harvest of fruit and vegetable crops in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

They returned to the college approximately Nov. 1 where they received further classroom instruction and participate in American cultural activities.

In early January, the trainees left for host farms where they lived for a 12-month period. They participated in the day-to-day activities by performing assigned duties of work schedules associated with the on-going program of the farm or ranch.

Earnings of the trainees during the time they are engaged in the on-farm training phase are sufficient to cover the costs of international and U.S. travel, institutional training, non-occupational medical expenses, life insurance and routine living expenses.

Stephens said that it appears the program has been successful in accomplishing its goals and objectives. "Perhaps the most significant contribution is the strong bond of friendship and good will that has come about between two peoples of very different cultures and backgrounds as a result of this people-to-people experience."

The committee pointed out that in the event the kitchen is enlarged the unit might not be needed.

The committee reported consideration should be given to a bus barn facility to house school buses. They said it would keep buses protected from weather elements and eliminate vandalism.

A second reason for making the recommendation is the area is located near the main entrance of the building and it is drafty.

Pick Wayne Job Office

The Wayne Job Service office has been selected as the target for an improvement program sponsored by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, according to Ken Boyer, manager of the Norfolk office.

A committee of local employees will critique the delivery services by the Wayne office and submit its comments and recommendations. The Wayne office will then return to the committee a plan on how the office will correct deficiencies and increase efficiency.

The Wayne office in January has 144 registered for employment.

OBSERVATIONS

The people's right to read

Free-wheeling television programs and "telling it like it is" books are challenging the basic concept of the peoples' right to know.

Common sense and good taste for the most part have been able to override those who advocate non-censorship at all levels. This is as it should be and as it should continue to be. There is no way an all-encompassing concept of the right to read can prevail; especially in a learning atmosphere.

The Wayne-Carroll educational system has outlined policies for selection of media center materials. The policies are in accord with the primary objective to implement, enrich and support the educational program of the school.

The board of education had adopted the policies to reaffirm the objectives of the Standard for School Media Programs and assert that the responsibility of the school media center library is:

— To provide materials that will enrich and support the curriculum, taking into consideration the varied interests, abilities and maturity levels of the students served.

— To provide materials that will stimulate growth in factual knowledge, literary appreciation, aesthetic values and ethical standards.

— To provide a background of information which will enable students to make intelligent judgments in their daily life.

— To provide materials on opposing sides of controversial issues so that young citizens may develop under guidance the practice of critical analysis of all media.

— To provide materials representative of the many religious, ethnic and cultural groups and their contribution to our American heritage.

— To place principle above personal opinion and reason above prejudice in selection of materials of the highest

Social Performance Index plan shelved

WASHINGTON — The business community breathed a huge sigh of relief when Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps abandoned her push for a federal Corporate Social Performance Index.

The idea was for Commerce to collect and compile data on corporate social projects — charitable contributions, minority employment, pollution abatement, etc. This material would then serve as a standard to which a corporation could compare its own efforts. According to a Commerce Department spokesman, participation would have been "voluntary," and findings "might not" be made public.

Voluntary corporate good works are a fine idea. What scared the business community was a lesson of long experience: When the Federal Government begins to collect data on something, it usually develops an irresistible urge to regulate to the object of its attentions. And that — had it happened — would have had a stultifying effect on corporate social projects.

Inevitably, the government would have established "norms," then begun expecting (or requiring) all companies to work toward them. The first casualties of this process would be the innovation and flexibility that are the prime virtues of voluntary activity.

Yet flexibility and adaptability are essential, for the very obvious reason that needs differ from one community to another. Minority training and employment may be important in City A, but not in City B, which needs better recreational facilities. In City C, support for the fine arts may have a higher priority, and so on.

Certainly, such decisions can best be made by persons who are on the scene and familiar with local conditions. And certainly, truly original ideas are unlikely to flourish in an atmosphere of bureaucratic norms.

Another problem with a taxpayer-financed Social Performance Index is that it isn't needed. As is so often the case, the private sector is already finding ways to do the same thing at far less cost. Individual companies are experimenting with various forms of "social accounting" to keep track of their own efforts. Some companies and industries are publishing comprehensive digests of activity in the field. And at the National Chamber we periodically compile reports on social projects and circulate them to our members.

The Commerce Department originally wanted $428,000 to develop its "index," an amount that was later cut back as the trial balloon lost altitude. Undoubtedly, an ongoing program would have grown to quality in order to assure a comprehensive collection appropriate for the users of the library media center.

While the Wayne-Carroll board of education is legally responsible for all matters relating to the operation of the Wayne-Carroll school, they delegate the responsibility of selection of instructional materials to the professionally trained personnel employed by the school system.

In selecting material for purchase, the media specialist evaluates the existing collection and consults reputable, unbiased, professionally prepared section aids; specialists from all departments and/or all grade levels; the media committee appointed by the principal to serve in an advisory capacity in the selection of materials.

This policy by the school board is not one-sided. It provides a means for challenging materials in the media centers. A complaint is invited to file his or her objections in writing. A prepared questionnaire is available so that the person may submit a formal complaint to the media committee.

The media committee will read and examine the material referred to by the complaint; check general acceptance of the materials by reading reviews; weigh values and faults against each other and form opinions based on the materials as a whole and not on passages pulled out of context to meet to discuss the material and to prepare a report in the school and administrative offices.

There is no room for censorship for the sake of censorship nor is there room for slipshod selection of materials to be used by students. We feel a comprehensive program such as the one being followed in the Wayne-Carroll school system provides guidelines for constructive reading while not infringing on the students' right to read. — Chuck Barnes.

cost the taxpayer far more than that, as all federal programs have a way of doing.

But we're safe... at least for now. Thanks are due for the appropriate skepticism of the Senate House Appropriations Subcommittee and for the grace with which Secretary Kreps allowed the project to languish.

Harassed executives will not get a new set of forms to fill out, the overburdened taxpayer will not get a new bureaucracy to support, and the business community will remain free to exercise a maximum degree of creativity in seeking solutions to social problems that the government has failed to cure.

A gasoline freeze-up is being blamed for causing a mishap Feb. 19 involving a light plane owned and flown by Don Kindschuh of Wisner. No personal injuries resulted although minor damage was done to the plane. Kindschuh and passenger Del Lueshen were checking hay stacks southwest of Pilger in Stanton County early that morning in Kindschuh's two-passenger Super Cub, when the engine stalled at about 1,000 feet. The plane rapidly lost altitude and went down in a pasture and slid about 50 feet on the ground before flipping end-over-end, landing on its top. Kindschuh believes a gas-line may have frozen, but cause of the stall has not been officially determined.

We were impressed with a group of young men from Japan who spent a day and night in the Wayne area learning about agriculture and the "American way of life."

Their interest was evident during a short program in the Birch Room of the Wayne State College Student Center Thursday evening.

The typical Japanese politeness was demonstrated as they listened to young area farmers, 4-H Club members and WSC staff members who covered various areas of the agriculture industry.

There were question and answer periods following the short talks. Perhaps the one question posed most often, particularly to the younger people on the

And being agriculturalists, they might be interested in something said by Mahatma Gandhi: "The earth provides enough for every man's need, but not for every man's greed."

Something said about "lid" bill

SENATOR ELOY M. HEFNER District No. 19 Coleridge, Nebraska

One of the more controversial bills debated on the floor of the Legislature last week was LB 899, the so-called "lid" bill. This bill would have prohibited subdivisions of government from property tax spending increases greater than 7 percent without an approving vote of the local taxing district. LB 899 contained only a few exceptions to the 7 percent limit, including large school enrollment increases. Also an average of the last three years budget increase could be used by necessity.

This bill was introduced by Senator Keyes, chairman, and Senator Dworak, member of the Revenue Committee, at the request of Governor Exon. They argued that the measure is "mist" legislation, needed to slow down property tax increases and head off a promised tax revolt by a concerned citizens group of Nebraska. Recent reevaluations for property tax purposes have created a crisis, they said, like a situation in California where a property tax rollback is on the June ballot. One of the senators threatened a petition drive to submit the proposal to a vote of the people if this bill failed. Governor Exon has said that he would support such an effort and sign the initiative petition.

Opponents of the bill claimed that the bill is vague and unworkable and would take away local control as exercised by elected school boards, natural resource district boards, technical college boards, county, city, and many other governing boards of local government. Also that many times a 7 percent ceiling becomes a 7 percent floor because local governing boards would realize that any property tax budget-increase below 7 percent would limit the following year's budget alternatives.

Many other senators accused the governor of endorsing the bill for political reasons and that it is a very popular move, especially when counties are in the process of increasing real estate values. Another senator said, "When the roof leaks, you've got to fix it."

Last year, we passed LB 131 which established a 7 percent budget increase as a ceiling in local government, but the amount can go higher if public officials hold a hearing for that purpose and state the reason for the increase. I supported this bill last year because I felt it would alert the local taxpayers to such an increase.

The vote was 29-14-4 on the motion to indefinitely postpone LB 899. I supported the kill motion.

'Move the Ball, Move the People'

Carney's Blue Jays Prove Slogan True Most of the Time

By BOB BARTLETT
Before the start of the Class C semifinal contest, Thursday night, Walthill mentor Tom Carney outlined in as few words as possible just what his club would have to do to beat Laurel.

"Move the ball, move the people," he shouted.

That's what the Blue Jays have been doing most of the 21 games they have played this year, and that's what they did to record a 64-56 victory over coach Jack Parks' Bears before a packed house at Wayne High's auditorium.

Close to 1,500 persons jammed the high school arena to witness a 55-46 Kings' Home upset of Pender in the first game Thursday, and most stayed to watch favored Walthill display its well-publicized run-and-gun style of play.

Moving the ball and moving the people were only part of Carney's game plan. Another area he stressed to his players was defense, especially stopping Laurel's top point producers 6-6 senior, Bob Dahlquist and 6-1 junior playmaker Steve Anderson.

As expected both led Laurel with 19 and 16 points respectively, but it was Walthill's torrid free throw shooting which finally halted the Bears.

Senior Jeff Bellar converted all 10 attempts, including six in the fourth period, to lead the Jays who finished with 16 for 18 at the line.

Bellar poured in a total of 22 points — 10 of which came in the last period — to fire up Carney's club for their 18th win. Donnie Archer hit four of his 14 in the fourth and Eddie Stansberry completed the trio of leading scorers with four of his 12, also in the last period.

The Bears got their first taste of the lead with 5:20 remaining when Anderson connected with an underhand scoop shot to put new life into Laurel fans.

The lead was short lived, however, as the Jays started going to the charity stripe where they made all 10 attempts.

Stansberry and Bellar each hit both ends of one-and ones for a 50-47 Walthill command in the see-saw fourth. A tip-in by Dahlquist following a missed 20-foot shot by White put the Bears back within one, 50-49.

Bellar continued his hot streak with a pair of baskets and two more free throws to charge up the Jays for a 58-51 lead as the clock rapidly ticked off the seconds.

Jays Overcome Homer in Ovt.

Mike Sampson scored seven of his game-high 14 points in overtime Friday night to lead Walthill to a 64-57 victory over Homer to land the Class C district title and a berth in the regional playoffs.

The Blue Jays, who posted their 19th win, romped to a 34-17 halftime command over upstart Homer, but lost control of the contest in closing minutes of the final two periods.

New Uniforms Have Been Ordered Because.....

Allen Girls Are Going to State

By BOB BARTLETT
Midway through the basketball season when Allen High girls were piling up win after win, superintendent Robert Heckathorn told his coach that if Allen went to state the school would buy the girls new uniforms.

Well, Mr. Heckathorn, you'd better dig deep.

The Eagles accomplished what no other Allen athletic team has in the school's history Wednesday night when the 14-2 girls of Steve McManigal nipped Cedar Bluffs, 41-38, to earn a ticket to the state basketball tournament in Lincoln.

Playing at Lyons' gym in the Class D regional contest, the Eagles overcame a 10-6 first period deficit on team workmanship to hand the Tigers their fifth loss in 16 games.

"We got off to a slow start and they got us down. But our girls proved what kind of team they really are and never gave up."

boasted McManigal after his girls rung up win No. 15. The coach went on, saying that his team's ability to stick together and come back has been a trademark of this year's squad. "It's called team pride," McManigal emphasized.

Cedar immediately drove inside for quick baskets in the opening frame, and on defense, the Tigers used a 3-2 zone defense to shut off Allen's inside scoring until McManigal called time out to adjust.

Junior Susie Erwin found the range in the second period when the guard hit eight of her 11 points to rally Allen to a 14-14 tie with two minutes left. The Eagles continued their barrage to take a 22-15 halftime command on four quick baskets.

In the third period, the Tigers switched to a man-to-man defense which apparently didn't bother Allen at first as the Eagles sank two quick baskets for an 11-point margin.

Cedar, however, put the clamps on Allen to trim the Eagles' lead to three at the end of three periods, 28-25.

It was late in the third period and most of the fourth that Cedar continued to switch back and forth from a zone to man-to-man defense in hopes of confusing McManigal's girls. The play worked late in the game when the Tigers whittled the lead to one with 1:30 remaining.

Allen went in front again by three when Pam Brownell converted both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation after she was fouled while attempting to rebound a missed Cedar shot.

As expected, the Tigers came back to trail by one with less than a minute left. Sophomore Stacey Koester, who shared high scoring honors with freshman Lisa Erwin with 12, sank a 20-footer to put her team up by three for the win.

It was the balanced scoring leadership of his three girls plus the team play which won the game, McManigal reiterated, adding that contributions from his bench streplen, including senior June Stapleton, made a big difference in the game.

"Without that sixth man, as a team you're in trouble... and we have that sixth man."

About the new uniforms, the superintendent said that he ordered them about a month ago on the assumption that Allen would go to state.

The uniforms, which are white in color with numerals and lettering trimmed in blue and gold, should arrive in time for the Eagles' first contest Thursday in Lincoln.

The superintendent added that the "cooperation of the coaches, faculty and townspeople in giving their support was really appreciated."

After a day's rest, the girls resumed practice Friday. They will continue workouts until they leave either Wednesday night or

Thursday morning, depending on when they play Thursday.

"We must maintain our confidence, but not be too overconfident when we go down there," the coach said. "We have to remember at the same time that those are the eight best teams in the state and there's no easy games left."

McManigal pointed out that, "Lincoln has kinda ignored Northeast Nebraska in girls basketball and its our hope to give this area some recognition. It will be a tough one, but I hope we can do it."

Gatorettes Prevail in 'Typical Wayne-Wisner' Confrontation

It was a typical Wayne-Wisner girls basketball game Thursday night. There was plenty of competition with both teams taking the lead, then falling behind. The only difference, said coach Curt Frye, was that his Wayne girls came out on the short end.

For the second time this season Wisner-Pilger handed the Blue Devils a defeat, this time a narrow 50-48 count in the semifinal round of the Class B district playoffs at Platte College in Columbus.

In the teams first meeting during the finals of the West Husker Conference tournament, Wisner pulled out a six-point decision. When the Gatorettes came to Wayne's auditorium, the Devils prevailed by six.

The two-point difference in the score came with five seconds left when Wisner's leading pointmaker Cheryl Heller canned her 18th point to put the finishing touches on the Gatorettes' second half rally.

Wayne took a comfortable eight-point lead at the half, 27-19, but the complexion of the game took an abrupt change in the second half when Wisner pulled in front by six points.

Wayne came back to take a two-point edge late in the final stanza, but couldn't hold on.

The 12-5 Blue Devils, who lose four players from this year's squad, ran into four problems early in the contest when the Devils' center, senior Sydney Mosley, picked up her third personal in the first period and was forced to sit out most of the first half. She exited the game with her fifth personal at a crucial time with only three and a half minutes left in the game.

"Our reserves came in and did a good job," said Frye, adding that his reserves along with the remainder of the varsity crew will help form a good nucleus for next year's ball club.

Playing their last game besides Mosley were seniors Sue Schwartz, who tied junior Peg Pinkelman for high scoring honors with 11 points. Kelly Frevert and Lisa Nuss.

The Wildcats jumped out to an early lead and maintained it on the strong shooting of Gary Billings, who burned the nets for 22 points, 16 in the first half.

Mark Olsen, who also contributed 22 to the Wildcat attack, helped Wayne pull away from the Eagles late in the half. With the score 36-33, Olsen converted a three point play and added two more buckets to propel the Cats to a 49-35 half time edge.

Wayne continued to dominate the game through the first part of the second half, increasing the lead to 76-59 with 10:02 to play before the roof collapsed.

to salvage a split in home action against Central States Conference basketball foes last weekend. Missouri Southern hung on in the final minutes Friday night to edge the Wildcats, 82-78. The win over the Gorillas gives the Wildcats a 5-7 conference record and 14-13 overall.

The Wildcats never trailed against Pittsburg whose league record dropped to 2-10 with the loss. Wayne scored the first four points of the game and bolted out to a 21-10 lead with 12 minutes left in the first half on a pair of free throws by Joe Peltzmeier. Wayne led 47-29 at halftime.

Pittsburg pulled to within 53-41 on a layup by Don Simmons four minutes into the second half, but the Wildcats outscored the Gorillas, 16-6 during the next three minutes to blow the contest wide open.

Wayne led by as many as 24 points late in the half before the Gorillas put on a late rally and pulled within nine points just before the buzzer.

Lennie Adams led the Wildcats in scoring for the second straight night, potting 18 points.

He had scored 25 the night before in the loss to Southern. Adams also pulled down 11 rebounds. Joe Curl added 14 points.

Steve Portz paced the Gorillas with 20 points.

game to slow down the tempo of the contest and a tough man-to-man defense to shut off all but the "Pendragons" leading scorer, senior Doug Jasa.

The 6-7 center made 13 points in the second half as the "Dragons" trailed 28-23, and popped in 12 points in the last two periods. However, Pender failed to get another player in double scoring figures.

On the other hand, Homer spread out its point leadership among three. Alan Bates led the trio with 14. Mark Tighe had 13 and Ron Hirsch 12.

Both teams were cold in the third period where Pender out-shot Homer, eight points to seven. The Knights came back much of the first half against Missouri Southern. The team's biggest advantage was 20-14 with 13 minutes left in the first half as Joe Curl hit three consecutive long range shots.

The muscle of the Lions 20-8 overall and 11-1 in CSIC play, took control of the rest of the half as Maurice Dixon and Russell Bland combined for 11 points in the last five minutes of the half to give Southern a 41-37 lead at intermission.

Wayne State women led all the way and easily downed Peru State, 65-49 in a quarterfinal game at the women's State Basketball Tournament in Chadron Saturday night.

Connie Kunzmann paced the Wildkittens who move into the semifinals with 14 points. Julie Brinkman added 12 and Lori Erwin and Lori Langel chipped in with eight and seven, respectively.

Peru State, who had earlier beaten Chadron to advance to the quarterfinals, was led by Nat Trigg's 17 points.

Wayne State 68, Mo. Western 63.

The Wildkittens prepared for the Nebraska State Women's Basketball Tournament by downing Missouri Western, 68-63, in their final regular season game Wednesday at Wayne.

The win gave the Kittens an 18-10 record and a final standing of 10-4 in the Central States Conference, where they recorded second place after winning the league championship last season.

The Lady Griffons stuck with the Wildkittens early, grabbing a 16-15 lead midway through the first half. A short jumper by Barb Bettin put Wayne ahead to stay, but the contest still remained extremely close.

Julie Brinkman and Lori Erwin each hit a pair of buckets right before intermission to propel the Wildkittens to a 38-28 lead.

Brinkman, Carlson Are Top Athletes

Duane Carlson and Julie Brinkman were named the male and female Athletes of the Year by the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity Friday night. The presentation was made prior to the Wayne State-Emporia State men's basketball game.

Carlson, a defensive linebacker for the Wayne State football team that concluded its best season in years with a 7-3 record, led the club with 86 tackles and 40 assists. Carlson was named to the NAIA second team All-America squad and was a first team selection in the Central States Conference and Omaha World-Herald all-star squads.

Carlson is a senior physical education major.

Brinkman, who was not able to present for the award presentation because she is playing at the women's state basketball tournament in Chadron, captured the Most Valuable award for the second time in her career. She won the trophy two years ago as a sophomore.

This was the eighth year that Phi Sigma Epsilon has sponsored the Athletes of the Year award. Last year's winners were Wayne Robinson and Connie Kunzmann.

Education Students Learn from Mistakes

Sometimes the best way to learn is from your own mistakes, but secondary education students at Wayne State College (WSC) also learn from the mistakes of others.

The students are critiquing other potential high school teachers in a six-week block of instruction on special teaching methods. Each student is required to make two presentations under simulated classroom conditions, while classmates observe and ask questions that regular high school students might ask of a teacher.

Each presentation is video taped and played back to the class. Students are required to write a critique of their work, showing the good and bad points.

WSC education instructor Dr. Arnold Emry said the critiquing process is designed to help the students perform well as classroom teachers after they graduate.

"It is a simulated teaching experience that comes as close to teaching as we can get," he said. "There is no grade attached to it. It is an evaluation of subjective comments graded on a satisfactory or unsatisfactory basis."

Students are assigned in groups of 10 with each having a different major study background. Emry said the variation of majors helps make the student become more competent.

"We feel that if a business teacher is teaching a group that has had all the business courses, everything goes very well," he said. "It fosters a false sense of achievement on the part of the student."

At the end of the six-week methods course, the education students will be assigned as student teachers in high schools in Nebraska and area states. The students will earn college credit while assisting the regular classroom instructor in preparing class lesson plans and class instruction.

"We are trying to give the student every possible chance to teach in a simulated classroom situation, before going to the regular classroom to teach," Emry said.

Emry said the WSC education students have responded well to the class experience and have proven very successful in regular classrooms over the years. He said the success is partly due to their simulated teaching experience. WSC placed 76 percent of its teaching graduates in 1976-77, compared to the national average of 46 percent.

Cover Accidents

Wayne County Sheriff's office covered two accidents last week, both resulting in property damage.

A car being driven by Betty L. Sopak, RR 1, Winside, was in collision Wednesday morning with a car being driven by Kathleen A. Garvin of Norfolk.

Authorities said the Garvin car was stuck in a ditch four and one-fourth miles south of Winside on Highway 35. The car had gone into the ditch after sliding on an icy roadway.

A milk truck stopped to pull the vehicle out of the ditch when the northbound Sopak car came over a hill. The driver saw the two vehicles, put on her brakes causing the car to swerve out of control hitting the Garvin car which had been pulled to the edge of the road.

The accident happened about 8:10 a.m.

Early Thursday afternoon a car being driven by June C. Carston, RR 1, Wayne was in collision with a car being driven by Art Bruns, RR 1, Wayne.

Authorities said the two met on the top of a hill on a county road which had only one-lane traffic because of the snow.

The accident happened eight and three-quarters of a mile southwest of Wayne.

Walthill will face Howells this week in regional play to determine which team will go to the state tournament the following week.

The benefits would be immediate in that buses would be in better condition and result in lower maintenance costs.

The committee recommended a new facility for housing the buses but pointed out that since shop space in the high school is limited, this facility could possibly be utilized for auto mechanics classes.

The evaluation committee said the action should be completed in one to three years while the visitation team asked for immediate action.

The reports are among several which have been brought before the board of education. The board said it will not take any action until all of the reports have been read.

LANDS FOR CONSERVATION ($40 per acre)

In today's agriculture, it is well known that soil loss problems have increased as the amounts of land under cultivation increase. Breaking up land of low productivity or on steep slopes brings increased erosion from wind and water. It is also well known that proper conservation practices, such as terrace and waterway systems, on these slopes could minimize erosion. The problems in constructing terraces are the expense and the timing. ACP cost-sharing and the $40 per acre Lands for Conservation can relieve both problems. Ordinarily farmers want terraces built before the crop is planted or after harvest. These are busy times for contractors, which makes it impossible to construct all the terraces that farmers want. On the other hand, contractors experience slack periods in summer months. Land for Conservation would pay farmers $40 per acre to have terraces constructed in the months of June, July and August and allow them to get a short season crop such as oats in the same year.

If these funds are not available, or if the total cost is too high, cost-sharing can be obtained through Lower Elkhorn NRD's Land & Water Development Assistance Program.

- Construction must be done between June 1st and September 1st, and the field may be planted to cover or a crop, preceding or after construction. The crop or cover may be harvested or pastured during the contract period.
- Land under this contract must be farmed on the contour, and can't be used for permanent pasture.
- Maximum contract area for any operating unit will be 60 acres. Payment is $40 per acre.
- Land contracted for must be a part of an SCS developed conservation plan for the entire farm. Also a conservation cropping system must be carried out.
- The landowner will contract for the construction of terraces, waterways, tile outlets and any other necessary construction.
- Terraces, waterways and tile outlets must be maintained for 10 years.

RULES

- Signups must be by April 1st at the appropriate local SCS Office.
- Level terraces with outlets, gradient terraces with grassed waterways and terraces with tile outlets qualify for this program.
- SCS personnel will design terraces with waterways or tile drains. These practices must protect the entire field on which they are established, however, the area under contract will be the smallest practical area to encompass the practices, as agreed with the cooperator.
- The terraces with waterways or tile outlets may be cost-shared through the ACP program administered by ASCS.

BENEFITS

- Reduce erosion to SCS permissible levels on cropland.
- Helps to build more terraces by making fields available when the contractors can do the construction.
- Keeps more moisture in the area for crops to use.
- Keeps the landowner from a big financial loss from letting land lay idle during construction year.

One of the many consequences of uncontrolled water runoff. Erosion is a leading contributor to stream pollution.

Terraces not only reduce erosion, they also allow more moisture to go into the soil profile.

Seek Health Needs Survey

What are the community's health needs? Garst and Thomas Hybrid Corn company, Corn Rapids, Ia., want area 4-H members to find out. 4-H clubs may request from $25 to $200 in grant funds from that company to carry out their health improvement project.

Application for the funds must be submitted by April 1, 1978 to the State Youth Development Office, 114 Agricultural Hall, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583. The 4-H Youth committee will make a final decision on grants by May 1.

The 4-H Community Health Improvement program is intended to encourage local 4-H groups, leaders, parents and friends to do something worthwhile about the community's health needs.

According to Elaine Skucus, UNL Extension specialist, 4-H clubs should select a community health project that needs doing, that the group is capable of doing and that the group will enjoy doing.

Activities might include joining with local agencies on drug abuse education, youth alcohol awareness, special nutrition programs, blood pressure clinics or diabetes clinics, the specialist said.

The 4-H clubs should prepare a budget for expected costs, make plans for raising funds
