Board Assures Carroll Delegation About School's Fate

Two patrons of the Wayne-Carroll School District 17 Monday night were assured by the district's board of education there is little likelihood of closing the Carroll facility.

Wilbur Giese, board president, told Norma Stollenberg and Alice Rohde so long as the enrollment "stays up" or increases the Carroll school would be maintained.

He pointed out, however, if there is a decline in enrollment the official board would have to take another look.

The Carroll delegation pointed out they had contacted patrons in the Carroll area to determine what could be expected concerning enrollment at Carroll.

According to the figures presented by the delegation, there are nine kindergarten students in 1978, there will be six kindergarten students in 1979 and eight kindergarten students each for 1980 and 1981.

One of the members of the board said she feels the quality of education at the Carroll school, which includes grades kindergarten through fourth grades, is very good and that is the main concern of the board.

The delegation said they became concerned when the self-study evaluation committee and the visitation team both recommended closing the facility. Giese said he appreciated their concern but the board has taken no official stand, other than that which it has maintained in the past, concerning the Carroll school.

In other business, Elementary Principal David Luft presented an up-date concerning a reading curriculum in grades kindergarten through eighth. He said his group started reviewing the curriculum in September and have examined some 26 companies offering reading programs.

He said the committee is now looking at six companies. They have visited schools using reading curriculums offered by five of the six companies. He said after reviewing the findings in the field, company consultants will be called in to explain the programs.

Luft also touched upon the Title I program stating the district is now using the "grandfather clause" to maintain the funding for this year and next year. Title I funding amounts to approximately $31,000 annually.

Laura Fredrickson presented the self-study report from the special services group. This is the final report to be presented to members of the board. They will review all of the reports before making any comment, she said.

The board gave tentative approval to a request by Richard Hietter for a special course offering at middle school. The proposed course would be designed to broaden the learning experiences of seventh grade students who have limited contact with extra curricular activities.

The board directed Supt. Francis Hahn to have plans drawn for a proposed storage facility at the high school track. The facility, which would have restrooms, would serve to protect and preserve expensive track and football equipment.

A plan had been presented to the board to include a wrestling facility as a part of the storage area as well as dressing rooms for wrestling, track and football.

Several plans will be presented for consideration by the board. They said when they have approved the plans, they will advertise for bids. The bidding will be restricted to district 17, they said.

The board went into executive session for a teacher contract negotiations review by board member Jim Hummel.

Comment About

Job Service

A group of Wayne employers Tuesday morning had an opportunity to make comments concerning services as provided by the satellite Job Service Office in Wayne.

John Kampert, Wayne Job Service officer, said the meeting marked the first time a Job Service Improvement program has been initiated in a satellite office.

Roger Nelson, Wayne business man, is chairman of the Wayne Ad Hoc Committee to serve in the improvement program.

Kampert said the employers were concerned with many of the things an employer can do and the things he cannot do. Ray Olsen, Lincoln, Project coordinator provided answers to many of the questions.

The group also set up goals which will promote better service through the Job Service program. One of the major goals is to provide employers with a better communications channel between them and the Job Service Office.

Downtown Improvement Assessment Schedules

Council Studies New Figures

The Wayne City Council Tuesday night roamed among the top letters of the alphabet to try to come to some sort of a meeting of the minds concerning the Downtown Improvement Assessment schedule.

The council members received four schedules from the city engineer, entitled A, B, C and D. The schedules ranged from 69 percent general obligation bonds, 31 percent special assessment to 54 percent general obligation bonds, 46 percent special assessment.

In a general, unofficial poll of the council by Mayor Freeman Decker, none of the four schedules seemed to catch the fancy of a majority. With the four, the council now has looked over seven assessment schedules.

The council took the schedules under consideration to be brought up at the next council meeting.

In other action, the council members approved the final plat of the Tara Ridge Addition and gave approval to the appointment of Clifford Jones as a Wayne volunteer fireman.

The paving of alleys in Wayne caught the attention of councilmember Vernon Russell who stated that he would like to see an on-going program of upgrading city alleyways.

City Administrator Fred Brink said the city does have an alley paving project in mind, beginning June 1 when ballast from the old railroad bed will be used to provide a firmer and more permanent roadway.

The council approved the recommendation to the State Liquor Commission of a Class C liquor license to Gerald O. Brandstetter of The Stratton House (formerly Les' Steakhouse and Lounge).

The council voted to extend slightly the corporate limits of the city in the Northeast, Northwest and Southeast sections of the city.

They also approved the annexation of the area of the Coryell Auto Company and the Ellis Apartments on the west edge of town. Mike Perry of Coryell Auto and Fritz Ellis were on hand for the meeting.

The council decided to make it tougher for illegal parkers in Wayne by raising the fine from $1 to $2 and $2 after five days to $4 after five days.

They also made their wants known that half of the fine would go toward administration costs. The city attorney said the ordinance would be rewritten to encompass the desires of the council.

Before going into executive session for discussion concerning right-of-way and transmission line, the council voted to advertise for bids for a new bucket truck for the city. The truck is estimated to cost $32,000 with a $7,000 trade-in.

Grade Students Offer Operetta

Fifth and sixth grade students of the Winside Elementary School will stage a three-act operetta tonight (Thursday) in the grade school multipurpose room. The public is invited.

The operetta, entitled "Tom Sawyer," will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Winside elementary students in grades kindergarten through four will present their annual spring concert Monday night at 7:30 in the grade school multipurpose room. The public is again invited to attend free of charge. Music Boosters will serve lunch afterward.

Monday night's concert will feature vocal students, instrumental students in grades five and six, and a talent show.

Vocal director is Lance Bristol.

Swine Lost In Farm Fire

A fire Monday night destroyed 21 brood sows and 190 pigs on the Rodney Johnson farm near Concord in Dixon County.

The fire was in an old barn converted to a farrowing house. The fire was contained by fire departments from Concord, Dixon and Allen.

Suggest Early Start

The final self-study reports were made to the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday night in the high school library.

Now that all of the reports have been presented, the board will review them before making any comment.

Carry-overs from the previous meeting are reports concerning school activities and curriculum decision making.

The first recommended goal of the school activities committee is to begin the school day at 8:30 a.m. and end it at 3:30 p.m. The reason for the recommendation is to alleviate conflicts with academic programs.

The committee commented that the recommendation will help solve the problem of taking students away from regular class time. They pointed out students are usually in the buildings by 8:20 a.m. They said the time from 8:30 to 8:50 could be used for classes resulting in less wasted time.

The committee agreed with the visitation team this goal should be undertaken immediately.

The activities committee also recommended an intramural program for middle school with girls in volleyball and basketball.

They stated this program is mainly directed at the girls. They pointed out that materials and equipment are already available.

This program, they stated, should be instituted in one to three years.

The committee recommended an activities director be hired to coordinate the schedule and promote and control the activities program.

The committee stated there is difficulty in the coordination and programming the total activity program of the high school and the middle school. They also said the director could keep the activities in proper balance with the academic programs.

They pointed out the benefits would be immediate and the estimated costs and personnel would depend upon whether or not someone on the present school staff could assume the responsibilities of activities director.

The committee suggested immediate implementation.

The Curriculum Decision Making committee stated its recommended goal as to have at least one Student Council member designated as a representative with the teachers and administrators in the planning or changing of the curriculum.

The committee pointed out the reason for the recommendation is that they believed the student could make a contribution in curriculum change.

The committee also stated having representation concerning curriculum changes would make students realize that they play an important role in curriculum decision making and that their opinion is respected.

They suggested the goal be implemented as soon as possible.

Pneumonia Vaccine Is Now Available

The first shipments of the new pneumococcal pneumonia, "Pneumovax," has been shipped to area doctors and pharmacists throughout the area.

"Pneumovax" is recommended for all people two years of age or older who are at high risk from pneumococcal pneumonia.

The vaccine has been shown 90 percent effective in immunizing against the 14 types of pneumococcal bacteria that cause more than 80 percent of all pneumococcal disease in the United States.

These include people with chronic heart, lung and kidney diseases, diabetes and metabolic disorders; people in chronic care facilities; people convalescing from severe disease and people 50 years of age or older.

The new vaccine was cited by the American Medical Association in an end-of-the-year review as "perhaps the most important medical development of 1977."

The data now available suggest that revaccination should not be done at less than three-year intervals.

The vaccine was licensed by the Bureau of Biologics in late November of 1977. Since then, production lots of the vaccine

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

Public Invited to Attend Spouse Abuse Workshop

A Spouse Abuse Workshop will be held Tuesday, March 21, at 1:30 p.m. in the third floor Assembly Hall of the Hahn Administration Building at Wayne State College. Persons sponsoring the workshop include Dan Sherry of the Wayne County Mental Health Association, Ann O'Donnell of the Northeast Nebraska Family Health Services, and Cheryl Hall and Twila Claybaugh, representing the American Association of University Women.

The workshop, which is open to the public, will begin with a film, "Wife Beating." Sue Tyrell, regional advisor for the Domestic Violence Project (sponsored by the Nebraska Commission on the Status of Women) will present an overview and history of the problem. Following the film, a four-member panel will discuss both the physical and psychological aspects of spouse abuse as well as point out social and legal factors. Moderator of the panel will be Dan Sherry. Other panel members will include attorney Kenneth Olds of Wayne, Sue Tyrell, a local law enforcement agent, and, possibly a former abused spouse. Mrs. Ann O'Donnell said she hopes the panel discussion will stimulate a group discussion among persons attending. "The main purposes of the program," said Mrs. O'Donnell, "are to educate the community to the crime of spouse abuse, to ascertain to what extent it exists in the area, and to identify what relevant help is available." The workshop is free of charge.

Ervin Wittlers Observe Anniversary at Carroll

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Wittler of Carroll observed their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday with a covered dish dinner and reception at the Carroll auditorium. Hosting the event were the couple's children and Mrs. Wittler's brothers and sisters. The occasion also honored the birthdays of Mrs. Wittler, Mrs. Ernie Sands of Laurel and Mrs. Bessie Nettleton of Carroll. Mrs. Wittler is a member of the Lincoln and Lori Shufeldt of Fairmont, Minn., registered the 120 guests. Sandra Lorenz of Lincoln arranged gifts and cards. Guests were present from Ames, Ida Grove and Spirit Lake, Ia.; Fairmont, Minn.; Creighton, Randolph, Fremont, Wayne, Norfolk, Humphrey, Wakefield, Hartington, Laurel and Carroll. Among those attending was Wittler's mother, Mrs. William Wittler of Randolph, who will observe her 94th birthday this Friday. Mrs. Earl Shipley of Norfolk and Mrs. Phyllis Hamm of Carroll were emcees for the afternoon program. Mrs. Bette Shipley of Norfolk sang, accompanied by her son David at the piano. Accordion selections were presented by Mary Williams of Lincoln. Kenneth Hamm of Fremont showed movies taken at family reunions. Mrs. Wesley Williams read an original poem, entitled "Mom and Dad." The anniversary cake was baked by Mrs. Dean Junck of Carroll. Serving the cake were Mrs. Merlin Kenny and Mrs. Allen Frahm, both of Carroll. Ervin Wittler and Margaret Lorenz, both of Randolph, were married March 18, 1938, at the Theophilus Church near Winside. They farmed near Sholes for 70 years. Since that time they have resided on a farm northwest of Carroll. They are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Carroll. Their children are Mrs. Murray (Donna) Leicy of Randolph, Mrs. Wesley (Shirley) Williams of Lincoln, Mrs. Don (Darlene) Bach of Fairmont, Minn., and Harold Wittler of Carroll. There are seven grandchildren. In honor of their anniversary, Wittlers entertained their children and grandchildren at supper Saturday evening at the Lamp Lounge in Sholes.

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area. We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication. Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a culrine underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Estates Discussed

About 75 men and women from Dixon, Wayne, Cedar and Thurston Counties turned out for an Estate Planning meeting at the Northeast Station near Concord on Monday.

Dr. Phil Henderson, University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Lincoln, presented the information.

Dr. Henderson presented alternatives and decisions adults encounter when planning their estates. He outlined some purposes for estate planning, including providing for retirement income; providing for the surviving spouse; to designate legal guardians for minor children; to be certain property is distributed according to the individual's wish at time of death; to transfer property at minimum cost; to keep a farm or business in the family; and to make plans for immediate after-death expenses.

Dr. Henderson elaborated on such topics as federal estate taxes, inheritance taxes, gift deductions, methods of holding title to property, and preparing wills.

Mrs. LeRoy Creamer of Concord, Dixon County Home Extension Council citizenship leader, opened the meeting and introduced Dr. Henderson.

The meeting was sponsored by the Dixon County Cooperative Extension Service and the Dixon County Home Extension Clubs as part of their "Citizenship in Action" program for 1978.

Woman's Club Elects Officers

Officers of the Wayne Federated Women's Club were elected during the group's meeting Friday afternoon in the Women's Club room.

Officers are president Mrs. Charles Maier, first vice president Mrs. Robert Vakoc, second vice president Mrs. William Hagerman, secretary Mrs. Alvin Daum, treasurer Mrs. Maunso Uirich, and auditor Mildred West.

Hostesses were Alma Splittgerber, Mrs. Otto Heithold, Mrs. Clark Banister and Mrs. August Dorman.

Thirty-six members and three guests attended the meeting.

Mabel Sorenson, representing the Wayne County Historical Society, announced that a flag pole and sign will soon be installed at the museum site. Dedication of the museum is tentatively set for May 7.

Mrs. C.F. Maynard reported on the luncheon the Woman's Club served for participants of the Wayne County rural spelling contest on March 3.

It was announced that all blue ribbon winners of the Arts and Crafts Show held last month at Wayne will be taken to the district contest in Norfolk this Saturday. About 20 clubwomen from Wayne plan to attend the all-day meeting.

Entertainment at Friday's meeting included presentations by the swing choir at Wayne

High School, under the direction of Rick Penning. Members of the choir are Gwen Preston, Lisa Nuss, LaVonna Sharpe, Holly Mallette, Penny James, Marcia Peterson, Jay Stoltenberg, John Keating, Dave Schwartz, Roger Daniels, Don Straight and Mark Shuffelt. They were accompanied by Gema Giese at the piano and Charles McLain on drums.

ing of the SST at the John F. Kennedy Airport. He questioned the destruction of the ozone as a result of the landing, noise pollution and cost of the operation.

Garth Hagerman of the high school gave his original illustrated explanation of black holes in the universe and presented his theory of how the universe may have formed and how the elements may behave in delicate balances.

Next meeting will be March 24.

Grace Women Meet

Forty-three members answered roll call at Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid on March 8. Hostesses were Mrs. L.H. Meyer, Mrs. Robert Meyer and Mrs. Orville Nelson.

President Mrs. Harold Ekberg called the meeting to order and welcomed guests Mrs. John Heinemann and Mrs. Rudolph Grewke.

Following opening devotions by Mrs. Julius Baier, the group sang "Christ the Lord is Risen Today." A memorial reading was given for Mrs. Emma Otte.

It was announced that World Relief Sewing was held Feb. 23. Four or five quilts are ready to be tied.

Mrs. Wallace Victor is chairman of the next group visiting the Wayne Care Centre.

Members of the Christian growth committee presented the program, "Seven Words of the Cross Meditation." The Ladies Aid choir sang "Jesus I Will Ponder Now," followed with responsive reading of Psalm 22 and group singing of "Our Blessed Savior Seven Times Spoke." The program also included reading of scripture.

Seated at the birthday table were Mrs. Irene Geewe, Mrs. Mathilda Barelman, Mrs. Alfred Manske and Mrs. Orville Nelson.

Hostesses for the next meeting, on April 12, are Mrs. Ervin Oswald, Mrs. Minna Otte and Mrs. Ron Penlerick.

Metrication

Metrication, when it comes, should help iron out some current inconsistencies in the food and clothing markets, according to Janet Wilson, Extension consumer education specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

In planning a U.S. conversion to the metric system, the American National Metric Council is grappling with problems of misfit in clothing and haphazard food package sizes, among others, she says.

Standard sizes for dairy products, meats, shelf stable foods, frozen foods and others may change slightly as the metric system goes into effect, she says. Ultimately, however, she believes consumers will benefit from the changes.

"If you think about it, a lot of our package sizes don't make any sense," she says. "For example, have you ever wondered why hot dogs come in packages of 10, while hot dog rolls come in packages of eight? Or why the standardized package size for tuna is 6 3/4 ounce?"

In clothing, the textile and apparel industries are facing a major problem in sizing as they attempt to plan a metric conversion, according to the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist.

"Shopping for clothes today is more frustrating than it needs to be because of the sizing dilemma," she says. "Sizes don't have to be the same from one manufacturer to another and the sizes that we do have don't really reflect any kind of physical measurement."

The problem is especially acute in women's clothing, Wilson adds, where a size eight doesn't mean eight units of anything, whereas in men's clothing, a size 40 jacket reflects a measurement sensitive product.

Even without metric conversion, clothing sizes are due for a re-evaluation, she says. "The body size data that we use today for adult and children's clothing sizes was established over 35 years ago, and since then, the physical sizes of most persons have changed," she notes. "We're taller, wider in some places and smaller in others."

Some personnel in the apparel industries are talking about abolishing size codes altogether with the advent of metrication, adds Wilson.

They propose, for example, to label women's clothes according to critical body measurements, such as bust, waist and hip sizes and height from waist to floor, just like in men's clothing. "Instead of buying a size 12 dress, then, you would purchase one with a 36-inch or 92 cm bust," she says.

In fact, the International Standard Organization, representing 26 countries, has already developed a "Pictogram" that could be used with clothing to tell the consumer graphically what size a particular garment will fit.

Each garment, it is proposed, would be identified with either a sew-in label or hang tag that would specify the critical body measurements the garment was designed for.

In both food and clothing, Wilson says metrication should help reduce the proliferation of sizes and help rationalize product lines.

Summer Wedding Planned

The engagement of Kathleen Fischer to Douglas Soderberg has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fischer of Wakefield. Soderberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soderberg, also of Wakefield.

Miss Fischer will graduate in April from Wayne State College. Her fiancé is in the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Grissom Air Force Base in Indiana.

An early summer wedding is being planned.

At First, Coble Viewed High School Ball as Dying but...

Wakefield's Tough Schedule May Spark Trojans' Season

Coach: We're Going to Have To Steal Runs

By BOB BARTLETT
When Allen, Homer and Hooper-Logan View announced that they wouldn't field high school baseball teams for the 1978 season, a lot of area coaches casted doubts about the future of the sport in Northeast Nebraska.

Among those doubters was Wakefield mentor Joe Coble, who lives and breathes the sport both during the high school and American Legion seasons.

But Coble's view of the sport took on a brighter look as the high school season grew nearer. Two NE schools, Ponca and Decatur, elected to play this season, and two Lincoln schools expressed interest in playing in this part of the state.

As a result, the Trojans have scheduled 12 games with five NE teams and a doubleheader with Lincoln High and Lincoln East, making this year's schedule one of the best and toughest for Coble's crew.

"It's a real sound schedule. I feel that we're playing some of the best baseball teams in the state," the head man pointed out in a telephone interview Monday.

Coble noted that when he received word that Allen, Logan View and Homer were going to drop baseball, the whole concept of playing the sport in high school stood on shaky grounds.

But the new outlook for the season keeps the sport on "good grounds around here," Coble pointed out.

Going into the season, the head man will field a veteran team possessing a solid pitching and catching corps—two areas veteran coaches view as the bread-and-butter of successful clubs.

Wakefield will have six to seven hurlers ready for mound duty, including four veterans from last year's 6-3 squad: Headed the list will be senior letterman Brad Jones who won four and lost one, along with another senior—Dean Sharp, and junior lettermen Doug Starzl and Todd Swigart. Also expected to see duty are sophomore letter winners Tom Preston, Rick Guy and freshman Jeff Hallstrom.

Coble feels that the depth in his pitching will prove very useful, especially if some games are postponed due to the weather and rescheduled towards the end of the season. "It will be very important then because a lot of games are jammed up," he explained.

Most of the pitching crew will see action elsewhere on the diamond. Behind the plate, Coble added, will be Sharp, Swigart and Starzl. "Some of the best catchers in the area," in addition, Guy also is tagged to see some catching duty.

The question marks on this year's team are in the outfield where the Trojans will be lacking veteran experience. With the exception of Starzl who played in the outfield during Legion ball, "the outfield is up for grabs," Coble pointed out.

Most of the infield will be young, but will have the baseball savvy that has made Wakefield a power to contend with both in high school and Legion play.

Vying for first base are sophomores Barry Jones and Scott Hallstrom. Although Hallstrom hasn't played high school ball the past two seasons, the coach feels that with his athletic ability Hallstrom should prove to be helpful to the squad.

The rest of the infield positions will be manned by the rest of the pitching staff who's not seeing duty on the mound.

Leading hitters returning to the lineup are Sharp and Starzl, at .320 and .304 respectively. Starzl, who was named all-state in Class B last year, "can be as good as he wants to be," Coble said. Both Starzl and Brad Jones are college material and should help Wakefield in the long run, he added.

Scheduling both Lincoln teams is "an opportunity to make our schedule more attractive," the coach said. "Our kids have had playing experience in Class A Legion ball so they won't be in awe of them."

Coble added that his players are looking forward to playing the Capitol City schools up here, and even more next year when the Trojans travel to Lincoln.

"We'll also get a chance to see the difference between Class A and B ball teams, not that there isn't enough competition around here," he pointed out.

He expects Wayne, Bancroft and Laurel to be powerhousees in this area, forcing a "knockout, dragged out baseball war if we ever get outside."

Wakefield's roster:
Seniors—Brad Jones, Dean Sharp, Verdell Ekberg, Harley Greve (all lettermen).
Juniors—Doug Starzl, Todd Swigart (both lettermen).
Sophomores—Tom Preston, Rick Guy, Barry Jones, (all lettermen); Scott Hallstrom, Larry Soderberg.
Freshmen—Dale Phipps, Jeff Hallstrom, Jim Urbanec, Joedy Scherer.
Wakefield's schedule:
March—29 at Bancroft.
April—5 Bancroft, 7 Laurel, 10 Ponca, 13 at Ponca, 17 Decatur, 19 at Wayne, 24 at Decatur, 28 Lincoln High and Lincoln East. May—3 Wayne, 4 at Laurel.

To put it bluntly, "this is going to be one of those years we're going to have to beg, borrow and steal runs," said Laurel baseball coach Bob Weisenberg.

With only half of his 32-player roster seeing varsity action during last year's 27 campaign, Weisenberg believes that his club will have to play top-notch defense if it wants to stay in any ball games this season.

"We won't have an overpowering lineup so we're going to have to play good defense and have to be smart offensively," the second-year head man pointed out.

The strengths on this year's club will be catching, the coach said, where returning behind the plate are veterans—junior Russ Gade and sophomore Shannon Hopkins.

Coaches Pick Ginn, Emry for All-Conference

Two Wayne High eagles, Tom Ginn and Brad Emry, were named to the West Husker All-Conference team Monday night during a coaches meeting at Wisner-Pilger High School.

Madison, which won the conference title, received double honors by coaches from the other five schools when senior Craig Wehrle was named Player of the Year and coach Fred Letheby, who guided his club to second in the state Class B tournament, was picked as Coach of the Year.

"They're both good choices. I couldn't have made any better," Sharpe said of his two all-conference selections. Both juniors were the leading scorers on this year's Blue Devil team, averaging about 12 points apiece.

At 5-11, Ginn led the duo on the boards with a season total of 188 rebounds for a 10 carom average. Emry was second, grabbing five.

Also named to the Top Ten were: Jerry Schmidt, Madison; Tim Harder and Jeff Heinhold, Wisner; Russ Fuchser and Rick Clements, Emerson-Hubbard; Tom Beck, Columbus Lakeview, and Mike Litz of Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Mike Martin, the only senior on the ball club, will be the mainstay on the mound for Laurel. The backup crew will include Ron Gadeken, Don Dalton, Paul Guern and Scott Norvell—all young.

When not pitching, Martin will see duty on first base. As for the rest of the infield, Dalton is the only other veteran. He'll play shortstop. The other positions will be named later.

"I'd be happy with 15 players but some wanted to go out for track and others wanted to wait until summer ball," Weisenberg added.

Laurel's roster:
Seniors—Mike Martin (letterman).
Juniors—Ron Gadeken, Russ Gade (both lettermen), Don Dalton.
Sophomores—Shannon Hopkins, Lon Swanson, Paul Guern (all lettermen), Doug Lute, Mark McCorkindale.
Freshmen—Scott Norvell, Anh Nyugen, Brian Buss.

Laurel's schedule:
April—5 Wayne, 7 at Wakefield, 12 at Wayne, 14 Decatur, 18 Ponca, 19 Bancroft, 25 at Ponca, 27 at Decatur.
May—2 at Bancroft, 4 Wakefield.

Lot of Changes, New Faces on Cats Baseball Team

The snow may still be covering the fields, but baseball fever, a sure sign of impending springtime, is hitting Wayne State College as the 1978 edition of the Wildcats prepare to take the field.

This year's club has a lot of changes, a lot of new faces. One of them is at the top where Ron Jones, a familiar face on the Wayne State campus, takes over the reins of Larry Schultz, who after four years at WS, moved to the head post at conference rival Fort Hays State this spring.

Jones, a 1963 WS graduate, has coached baseball at every level from little league to college. He guided the Osage High School (La.) team for three years before coming back to Wayne State where he served as assistant baseball and basketball coach for three years and head basketball coach from 1970 to 1975.

"Another big change—this season is in the number of scheduled games the Wildcats will play. Wayne compiled 48 contests last season, playing an 78-30 record, but this season, the schedule has been cut to 32 games.

The Wildcats are a young inexperienced club with only a catcher and outfield veterans returning.

Jones' outfield is well-fortified with standouts Steve Kleinsmith, Kevin Mahlberg and Bernie Minarik. Kleinsmith led the club in batting last season with a .329 average and 34 RBIs. No other returning player batted over .280 last season.

Lyle Smith has the catcher's position sewed up with Ron Kreber providing backup.

The infield is young and untested as last year's entire starting infield is gone.

"The infield is of unknown quality," Jones said. "We have no one with any real college experience. The guys are working hard and progressing, but the progress is limited."

Dewey Edgar and Jeff Ingrum will share duties at first base, Ingrum getting the nod when Edgar takes his turn on the mound. Tony Pisciola has the edge at second base, although Craig Bobier is giving him competition for the job. "Pisciola has been looking sharp in the workouts," Jones said.

The third base job is up in the air with newcomers Dave Oakeson and Keith Siebrandt battling it out for the post while Mike Lidie and Curt Lewis vie for shortstop.

Pitching will be another "unknown quality" for Wayne State, as only three hurlers return who worked over 10 innings last season.

Edgar is the stopper. He led the club in innings pitched in 1977 with 46 while posting a 3.5 record and a 3.32 earned run average, tops on the staff. Rod Hegge and Mitch Osterholt are the other experienced hurlers. Osterholt compiled a 1-1 record last season and Hegge was 0-3.

"The pitchers have been progressing well," Jones said. "They've been able to get a lot of work in since the second week of January, using the portable mounds."

Jones indicated that he will probably go with a four-man starting rotation this season. Other pitchers competing for a starting or relief spot include Mark Larson, Greg Carver, Kleinsmith, Doug Carroll, Mark Westergaard and Ron Jarecke, all right handers. Other than Edgar, the only southpaws on the staff are Brad Black and Steve Erwin.

"We're probably not going to be able to slug it out," said Jones. "We'll be a scrappy ball club, scratching for a run here and there. Speed on the base paths will be important to us. We want to make things happen; we can't sit around and wait for them to happen. We'll be competitive."

Wayne's roster:

Seniors—Brad Black, Curt Lewis, Mike Lidie, Lyle Smith.
Juniors—Steve Kleinsmith, Kevin Mahlberg.
Sophomores—Craig Bobier, Dewey Edgar, Terry Eich, Steve Erwin, Rod Hegge, Ronald Kreber, Mark-Larson, Bernie Minarik, Mitch Osterholt, Anthony Pisciola, Keith Siebrandt.

Kegler Is 2nd

Wayne kegler Shelia Dahlke is second in the Class B singles standing of the state women's bowling tournament.

Mrs. Dahlke rolled a two week-end rolled a 496 total for three games and collected 103 pins in handicap for a 599 finish in the third week of the 11-week tournament at North Platte. She is right behind Paulie Trister of Lincoln who leads the pack with a 651 total.

Mrs. Dahlke, who has been bowling for two and a half years, carries a 117 average.

Schulz: Park Is Last Place We'll Put Snow

City street superintendent Vern Schulz said Tuesday that the city will do everything in its power to keep from dumping any snow at the city ball park.

Schulz made that comment after he was contacted by several parties who believed that the city was dumping snow at the ball park, thereby preventing anyone from using it in the near future.

Recently a city crew went to the ball park to clear off the remaining snow, but Schulz pointed out that the purpose was to allow the ground to freeze in the event that the city would be forced to use the area to pile up excess snow.

"We've already had a lot of snow and we're running out of places to put it," he said. "In case of more snow, the city will try to dump it along dirt roads before considering the ball park, he said."

Experience Will Help Mold Coach Teach's Hopes of a Good Softball Team

It experience means anything in sports, then Wayne State's softball team should have a good season.

Wayne has 11 returning players and eight returning starters from last year's 12-14 club. The outlook is hazy at this time because the girls have not had a chance to work outdoors extensively due to the weather.

to make up for our lack of outdoor work," said coach Sue Kovar. She is a newcomer to the coaching post. Kovar, who coached a summer league team in Wakefield to the State Softball Tournament, is taking over G. L. Willoughby's position at Wayne State.

Pitching is a strong aspect of the game for Wayne. Pat Lenihan and Karen Doeschot, the workhorses of last year's staff, are back. Lenihan posted a 6-6 mark last season while Doeschot was 6-8.

Defensively, the club is experienced, but it may be slow coming around because the players have not been able to practice outside. The infield is secure with Junior Donna Lueders anchoring first base and sophomores Vicki Carsey and Marilyn Strate forming a slick combination at second base and shortstop, respectively.

Strate injured an arm during preseason and her immediate status is uncertain. Coach Kovar said she should be ready for the season opener at Missouri Southern, Monday.

Linda Adamski, a senior with two previous years of softball experience, holds down third base while senior Peg Yockey, will be behind the plate. Kovar said she expects Yockey to be the team leader because she has been around longer than any other player — three years. Teri Rademacher will provide back-up as catcher.

The outfield is strong with a freshman and two veterans tending garden. Newcomer Donna Grote will start out the

Coach Kovar said Grote has a strong arm and thinks well on the field. The rookie coach said she plans to play Grote at catcher later in the season.

Walsh is the top returning hitter on the club, sporting a .400 average last season. Four other girls on this year's team hit over .300 last season.

Wayne State plays its first 10 games on the road, including eight in four days as the Wildkittens take a trip to Missouri and Kansas. Kovar said the road trip will give her a chance to appraise the club's hitting and defense.

The trip south will be a good way to start out the season," Kovar said. "It should pull the girls together as a team and it should build enthusiasm. We want to start out winning."

Karen Heeney, Donna Lueders, Sophomores — Vicki Carsey, Marla Cites, Patricia Lenihan, Teri Rademacher, Marilyn Strate, Robin Walsh.

Freshmen — Kim Abbott, Susan Binneboese, Pam Blatchford, Susan Chevallier, Diana Hall, Lynne Larson.

Wayne's schedule: March 20 at Missouri Southern, 21 at Kansas State, SMS, 22 at Emporia State, 23 at Ft. Hays State, 30 at University of Nebraska.

BACK FROM the mountains: News last week that the University of Colorado's ski team won its seventh consecutive NCAA championship didn't exactly shake up a lot of hometown folks in the Rocky Mountain country. After all, most felt it was more or less expected of the Buffaloes, since Colorado is one of very few schools in the nation which has a university ski team.

Back in Nebraska, a sports scribe from the Omaha World-Herald tried to give the winning news a different slant by pumping up the Big Eight Conference. In an article entitled "Move Over Football: Big Eight Produces National Ski Champion: Colorado," it was pointed out that the Buffalo tied the NCAA record set previously by Denver University, and is the longest current collegiate streak in any sport.

That news still didn't rate any loud round of applause; mainly just guffaws at the fact that the title never has left the state.

But coach Bill Marolt continues to plug away for the state's No. One money-maker and pasttime. "Each one's (NCAA title) is getting harder and harder," he said, adding that competition is coming from other Rocky Mountain schools plus such easterns as Dartmouth, Middlebury and Vermont.

LOOKING FROM the other side of the coin: It's not hard to understand why Texas University won the homecourt rights to play Nebraska in the NIT tournament. Although both teams were promised a homecourt advantage after first-round victories, the Longhorns drew the larger crowd in their first confrontation.

The Longhorns drew 14,500 for their game against Temple, Nebraska attracted just over 8,000 for Utah State.

Perhaps Nebraska officials have good reason to be a little gunshy to travel to Texas territory where the tall Texans have won all 14 home games during its 23-5 season. Nebraska, meanwhile, is 15-2 on the home maps during its 22-7 campaign.

WAKEFIELD'S Scott Keagle picked up a trio of awards this cage season from Platte Technical Community College. The 6-5 sophomore shared the Most Valuable Player and Most Improved Player accolades with two other teammates, and was selected by teammates as co-captain.

Sharing that most improved award was another player from Wakefield, 5-9 sophomore Al Johnson.

MAIL CALL: A close fan of Dennis Paul writes that the Wakefield native has signed his contract to teach and coach for a third straight year at Cedar Rapids High School.

Paul, a graduate of Wayne State, will continue his head coaching duties in football and track as well as assist in basketball. Wayne native Monte Lowe finished his sophomore year on the Mount Marty College basketball team as the third leading field goal shooter for the Lancers.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lowe of Wayne made 51 percent from the floor and also was credited with 52 rebounds and 46 assists. Lancer coach Frank Evans said Lowe is "a coach's type of player because of his hustle and determination."

Barclay Tabs Three Tankers

Three Wayne State swimmers were issued awards by Wayne State swimming coach Ralph Barclay for their performance during the 1977-78 season.

Jeff Johnson, a freshman from Lincoln, was tabbed as the "Most Valuable Swimmer" on the team. Johnson competed in the 50, 100 and 200 meter freestyle events and also anchored the 400-meter freestyle relay team.

Barclay noted that Johnson was one of the most consistent swimmers on the team throughout the year.

The "Most Improved Swimmer" award was given to Ken Timmerman of Omaha. Timmerman, a freshman, competed in the 200 meter breaststroke during the 1977-78 campaign.

Three-year standout Duane Hugo, a junior from West Point, was again named captain of the team, a title he obtained after last season. Hugo competed in the 200 meter fly, 1,000 meter freestyle and 400 meter freestyle relay for the Wayne State tankers.

The continued progress of Johnson, Timmerman and other youthful tankers on the Wayne team along with the leadership exerted by veterans like Hugo has given Barclay an optimistic view toward next season.

"It looks like we'll come out even stronger next year," Barclay said.

Wayne State finished with a 5-6 record in dual competition this season after a winless campaign last year.

WS Gals Finish 6th at Kearney

Wayne State's womens track team closed the indoor track season with a sixth place finish at the Kearney State Invitational Saturday.

Team standings showed Kearney with 189 points, University of Nebraska 159, UNO 33, University of Wyoming 8, Nebraska Wesleyan 8, Wayne State 3 and Hastings 2.

The Wildkittens placed in only two events. The two mile relay team (Sally Schwede, Lori Erwin, Judy Martin, Laura Peters) finished fifth at 10:33 while the mile relay quartet (Deb Fulson, Diane Ogden, Judy Martin, Sally Schwede) came in sixth with a time of 4:23.0.

Coach Linda Teach was nevertheless pleased with the team's performance, stating that the primary purpose of the meet was to gain experience for her girls and go up against good competition.

"Everybody improved their times and we came close to scoring in several other events," Teach said.

Sue Fricke, Wayne's shot put ace, threw the ball 37-1; four inches less than a scoring toss. Schwede also looked good in the 400 yard dash, according to Teach.

Ditman's Time Qualifies Her For Open Meet

Eight-year-old Jodi Ditman qualified for the Great Plains Open swim meet by achieving an A time in the eight and under 25-yard breaststroke during a meet over the weekend at Omaha.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ditman of Wayne completed the course in under 24 seconds to move her up from Class B to A. As a result of her winning time in that event, Jodi is eligible to compete in the open meet this weekend at UNL Sports Center, said coach Randy Pinkelman.

Other results for Wayne youngsters who competed at Omaha:

Matt Hillier — 3rd in the 8 and under C 50-yard backstroke, 3rd in the B 25 yard backstroke; Kathy Gottberg — 3rd in 10 and under C 100 breaststroke; Jill Mosley — 6th in 11-12 C 50 freestyle; Ditman — 6th in C 50 breaststroke.

Ribbon winners in various heats were: Hillier — 25 yard B freestyle, 50 C backstroke; Ditman — 25 B breaststroke, 50 C freestyle, 50 C breaststroke; Jim Thomas — 10 and under C 50 freestyle; Gottberg — 50 B breaststroke, 50 C backstroke; Kelly Ditman — 10 and under C 50 backstroke.

Pull Out 3 Wins

Three Wayne city recreation basketball teams pulled out victories over visiting Walthill Saturday, March 4.

The fifth grade boys team posted a 28-22 decision, the fifth grade girls team won 4-2 and the sixth grade boys quint sneaked by 16-14. In sixth grade girls action, Walthill won 9-6.

Steve Overin led the fifth grade boys to victory with 16 points while Chris Wieseler hit six and Brad Moore, Todd Dorcay and Sean Dorcay had two each.

The fifth grade girls were led by Laura Keating and Carolyn Luschen with two points each. In sixth grade boys play, Brendan Dorcay had six points while Blaine Jans had four and Lane Marsh, Randy Gamble and Scott Brown had two apiece.

Scoring two each in the sixth grade girls game were Julie Baier, Paula McCright and Karen Kaup.

Teacher's Scoop Information Centre

Mother Tongue

What language would you speak if you had never heard anyone talk? In the 15th century King James IV of Scotland decided to find out.

He had two children, a boy and a girl, taken from their mothers soon after they were born and reared on an island with a mute woman for a nurse. Visitors set to make sure that the children were well treated were forbidden to speak.

When they were considered old enough to be able to speak, the boy and girl were taken to Edinburgh. There they were examined by learned professors and King James himself.

Happy St. Pat's Day To All!

Easy Oven Stew

- 1 1/2 pounds Stew Meat
- 1 cup Carrots, cut up
- 1 or more large Potatoes, diced
- 1 can Peas
- 1 Onion, chopped
- 1 can Tomato Soup
- 1/2 soup can Water
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- 1/4 cup Celery, optional

Mix all ingredients well and place in a large casserole dish. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Bake for 5 hours at 275 degrees, or for 6 to 8 hours at 250 degrees.

Mrs. Brian Hanson
Wayne, Nebr.

Corned Beef Surprise

- 1 envelope Plain Gelatine
- 1/4 cup Cold Water
- 3/4 cup Boiling Water
- 1/2 cup Pickle Juice
- 1 cup Salad Dressing
- 1 1/2 cups chopped Celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped Green Pepper
- 3 hard-cooked Eggs, chopped
- 1 (12 oz.) can Corned Beef
- 2 tablespoons Onion, chopped fine

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water and pickle juice. Add salad dressing and mix well. Add remaining ingredients. Mix well and refrigerate in a mold or a 9-inch square pan.

Mrs. L. R. Albertsen
Wayne, Nebr.

Velvety Lime Squares

- 1 1/2 cups Flaked Coconut
- 1/2 cup Vanilla Wafer Crumbs
- 3 tablespoons Melted Butter
- 2 tablespoons Sugar
- 2 packages Lime Gelatin
- 2 cups Boiling Water
- 1 (6 oz.) can Frozen Limeade Concentrate
- 1 pint Vanilla Ice Cream
- 1/4 teaspoon Salt

Few Drops of Green Food Coloring
Carefully toast 1/2 cup coconut in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 5 minutes. Set aside while combining remaining coconut, crumbs, butter and sugar. Press lightly into a 7 x 11 x 1 1/2-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven for 6 or 7 minutes. Cool.

Dissolve the gelatin in boiling water; add the limeade, ice cream and salt until dissolved. Pour into crust. Top with the toasted coconut and garnish with pecans if you wish. Freeze until firm or overnight. Remove dessert about 20 minutes before cutting and serving. Serves 6 to 8.

Great for St. Patrick's Day.

- 1 can (1 lb.) Whole White Potatoes, drained
- Dried Parsley Flakes

Measure corn flakes cereal into large mixing bowl, crush slightly. Stir in egg, 1/4 cup of the beef broth, the salt and pepper. Beat well. Add ground beef. Mix only until combined. Shape mixture into 18 meatballs. Brown meatballs in oil in large fry pan over medium heat. Pour off excess fat.

Stir in the remaining beef broth, the condensed tomato soup, water, thyme, carrots, onion rings and potatoes. Cover; cook over medium heat about 25 minutes or until meatballs are thoroughly cooked. Portion into individual bowls. Sprinkle with parsley flakes. Yield: 6 servings.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

"It's a good rule to face difficulties at the time they arise and not allow them to increase unacknowledged."

Edward W. Ziegler
There's a saying to the effect that "most of our troubles never happen." There's no use in worrying about things that "may" happen. But, when trouble has happened, there is nothing to be gained by ignoring it. In fact, the only effective way to handle difficulty is to face it, now!

A problem situation, left unsolved, is a source of worry that saps our energy without accomplishing anything. When we face a difficulty and resolve it, even though the solution may not always be exactly what we desire, we free our minds for more fruitful endeavors.
We're pleased that so many families that came to us were referred by families we have served. We suggest that you ask any family we have served about us.

Future Home Designs Feature Energy Saving

Space-age design has yet to arrive in housing construction, but when it does, the kinds of homes people will live in may be far different than today.

Most people visualize homes of the future as something in free-form design built of concrete or plastic, with expanses of glass, airy, uninhibited architecture, high ceilings and lots of open space.

What might really emerge by the year 2000 and beyond, however, probably will bear little resemblance to that image, according to Ardis Hutchins, Extension Housing Specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Future home designs will be influenced strongly by expected energy shortages, she said. Homes may be either round or square in shape to minimize surface area which increases energy loss, and probably will be built partly underground, Hutchins said.

In fact, what experts predict will happen to housing in the future is almost diametrically opposed to current trends in housing, she noted.

"Most people buying houses today continue to buy larger homes built on larger sized lots," she said. "It doesn't appear that the energy shortage has affected us to the point yet where we have had to cut back."

When it does, Hutchins said, sprawling suburbs may give way to more inner-city housing as people move closer to where they work. Even the American ideal of a single-family detached home may begin to vanish.

Housing experts predict an increase in the popularity of townhouses, condominiums and apartment complexes as utility and gasoline prices begin to take their toll on the housing market.

Condominiums, for example, accounted for less than 20 percent of all housing units sold in the United States in 1975. But the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development predicts that by 1997, half of all Americans will be living in some type of condominium housing.

Properly insulated multi-family units such as condominiums or apartments require much less heating and cooling than single family dwellings, Hutchins explained. An apartment, for example, might have only one of its six sides exposed to the outside environment, while even the top and end apartments will not have the full exposer of an individual dwelling.

The individual family homes that do exist probably will be smaller and built on smaller sized lots, she said, with fences and shrubbery at the boundaries to preserve "islands of privacy."

Housing of the future is expected to bear a closer resemblance to some of the traditional housing of generations past, in principal if not in design, she said.

Before the age of air conditioning and large public utilities, homes were planned carefully to reflect the climate and used building materials available nearby, she noted. For example, the "soddie" in Nebraska was extremely energy efficient, while traditional southern homes were designed with summer kitchens, large verandas and over-sized windows to cool them in the hot climate.

Future housing also will be much more "environmentally sensible," Hutchins predicted. "If a person lives in a hot area, he will have a cool shelter and if he lives in a colder climate, he'll build a tight, warm house," she said. Building materials that are available without being transported long distances also will be incorporated in home designs, she said. In Nebraska, concrete may become a popular building material because of plentiful local supplies of sand and gravel.

Future energy-saving designs won't necessarily result in homes that are unimaginative or unattractive, according to the specialist. In fact, she said, the opposite may be true.

"Unlike today, where suburban homes in Texas look exactly like those in Maine, we'll have greater visual variety in our homes from one part of the country to another," she said.

Nebraska's future homes may turn to the earth to whip the design dilemma posed by the double-barrelled climatic problems of extreme winter cold and blistering summer heat, Hutchins said.

A home built into a hill that slopes south with only one story above ground on the north side and two or three stories exposed on the south side, for example, is extremely efficient, she explained. The soil acts as a natural insulator, while the side has minimal exposure for heat loss and the south has maximum exposure for solar energy.

When homes can't be built into hills, the earth may be piled up to the bottom of the windows along all sides of the house to aid in insulation, she said.

Nebraska's weather conditions may all but eliminate the sprawling, one-story ranch house, according to Hutchins. "Simple economics will dictate more homes with two stories or with the lower level built partially underground, she said.

Nebraska homes also may reflect a trend toward square or even round homes in coming years as a means of reducing heat loss because of excessive exposed exterior wall space, she said. "Even a simple rectangular floor plan is better than one with many protrusions," she noted.

Hutchins said other changes may include extra features that Americans generally don't find in homes now, such as skylighting, solar devices, more porches, entryways and balconies and even greenhouses.

But other items that people have become accustomed to will have to go, said the specialist. Sliding glass doors, fireplaces, multiple bathrooms, numerous windows, cathedral ceilings and rooms that get little use are all energy-inefficient and therefore will become more rare in future homes, she said.

Windows are by far the "biggest heat guzzlers" in most homes, losing five to 10 times more heat per square foot than wall and ceilings, she said.

Designers currently are wrestling with the problem of keeping windows down to a glass-to-floor ratio of no more than 10 percent, Hutchins noted. "This means we'll probably have smaller and fewer openings placed to frame specific views or to light important areas rather than large picture windows," she said.

Hutchins said windows also will be placed to maximize solar heat gain in the winter. Those on the south and southeast sides of the house will be the largest, with few or no openings on the north and northwest exposures, she said. Windows on the south will be horizontal while those on the east and west will be vertical.

Large eaves or roof overhangs will grace the south side of the future home to keep out the sun in the summer, while a large porch and garage will serve as "buffer zones" on the east and west sides.

"Even our front doors are likely to change," added the specialist. "Entryways or foyers will become common once again at the main entrances to a home to protect the temperatures inside a house from temperatures outdoors."

The house itself ideally will face with its long side running east and west to promote solar heating gains in the winter and reduce solar gains in the summer.

The landscaping outside a home will be equally important, said Hutchins. Evergreen trees planted on the north and west sides of a residence will reduce the chilling effect of winter winds, while deciduous trees on the south, west and east sides will provide summer shade.

Inside the home, ceilings will be lower, wide-open spaces will be replaced with doors so rooms can be shut off and fireplaces will give way to much more efficient wood and coal-burning stoves, she added.

The energy-saving house of the future even may feature a greenhouse on the south side of the house, Hutchins said, providing both additional winter heat and a suitable environment to grow plants and food year-long.

Careful consideration also will be given to room locations in the house, according to the specialist.

For example, she said, the house could be positioned so that the bedrooms are on the east or south side receiving early morning sun, while activity rooms like the kitchen, living room or family room are on the west side of the house receiving late afternoon sun.

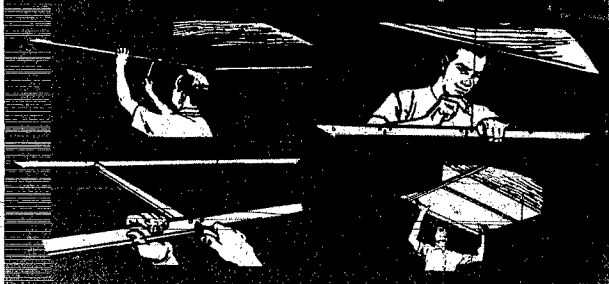

During the summer, when afternoon or evening activities may be oriented to the outdoor decks and leisure areas of the house, this arrangement would allow bedrooms time to cool off before sleeping hours. In the winter, the same arrangement would offer maximum natural heat for activity areas in the afternoon and evening.

Hutchins added that more rooms in the house may be devoted to multi-purpose areas, eliminating large rooms that get little use, such as a formal living room or dining room.

"Of course, we can't predict exactly what the future home will be like," she noted. "But given what we know today, energy-conserving features like these will be important parts of our future lifestyles."

The Parable of Chewing Gum Man*

It was common knowledge among his colleagues that William Wrigley, Jr. attributed the success of his chewing gum empire to constant and forceful advertising.

Once he was traveling to California on the famous but now extinct Super Chief with a young accountant from his firm. As they were reviewing the figures for a quarterly statement, the young man said, "Sir, Wrigley's gum is known and sold all over the world. We have a larger share of the market than all of our competitors combined. Why don't you now save the millions you are spending on advertising and shift those dollars into the profit column for the next quarter?"

Wrigley thought for a moment and then asked "Young man, how fast is this train going?"

"About sixty miles an hour," replied the young accountant.

And Wrigley asked, "Then why doesn't the railroad remove the engine and let the train travel on its own momentum?"

Moral: Cut your promotional dollars and you cut your own steam. Keep your momentum going

Card of Thanks

WE ARE SINCERELY grateful for the flowers, memorials, food and every other help and expression of sympathy extended at the time of the death of our beloved husband and father. God bless each and everyone. Mrs. Ruth Jones, Alverne, Lynn and Ione. m16

WORDS CANNOT EXPRESS our deepest gratitude for all the beautiful cards sent, flowers, memorials and acts of kindness shown us at the time of the loss of our dear son and brother, DeWayne. A big thank you to all who brought food to the house and to the church, for your visits and the Redemptor LCW for their fine job of serving the lunch. A special thank you to Pastor deFreese for his prayer and services, Ron Carnes and Rae Kugler for the beautiful music, and all who helped in some special way. You will all be part of the many beautiful memories of DeWayne that will remain in our hearts forever. Our Sincere Thanks. Harold and Esther Gathje, Debra and Diane. m16

View Demonstrations

HIGH SCHOOL students from Northeast Nebraska viewed various art-making techniques on display at Wayne State College Tuesday. Demonstrations on the making of sculptures, drawings, paintings, crafts, prints and metal casting were held throughout the day.

BUSINESS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mundil of Winside have purchased Burger-town U.S.A. in Winside from Jim Beardmore. The Mundils plan to open their new business about April 15 under the new name of the Winside Stop Inn. In addition to serving fast foods from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., the couple also plans to add a recreation area for young people in the rear of the building.

Before going into business, the Mundils were farming west of Winside with their six children, Daniel, Douglas, Daryl, Gary, Kristy and Greg.

Dixon United Methodist Church (William Anderson, pastor) Sunday: Morning worship, 9 a.m.; Sunday school, 10.

David Blatchford, Wheaton, Ill., arrived Saturday to spend three weeks in the home of Dudley Blatchford.

The Bob Dempsters and Clinton attended the funeral of Mrs. Otto Johnson at Yankton the afternoon of March 6. Mrs. Johnson was a great aunt of Mrs. Dempster.

Mrs. Gust Carlson returned Sunday after spending the past six weeks in the Carl Carlson home, El Monte, Calif.

Valerie Tuttle, Julie Anderson, Susie McCorkindale, and Annette Fritschen attended the State Basketball Tournament in Lincoln and were overnight guests Thursday through Sunday in the Doug Tuttle home, Lincoln.

Mrs. Lowell Saunders, and the J.L. Saunders visited Lowell at St. Joseph's Hospital March 8. The Stanley Feringers and the Woody Svotos, Bloomfield, visited him Sunday afternoon and were evening guests in the J.L. Saunders home.

The Don Georges and Adel Koch, San Carlos, Calif., spent several days in the Paul Thomas home. The evening of March 7 they all visited in the home of Elsie Patton. Greg Kneiff was also a guest.

The Dudley Blatchfords were March 9 overnight guests in the Jake Blatchford home, Independence, Ia.

Ruth Murray and Mrs. Richard Doerr, Bloomfield, were March 9 guests in the Bob Dempster home. Wayne Dempster was a dinner guest Sunday.

The Lamont Herfels and the Wilmer Herfels enjoyed supper at Bogner's in Crofton Saturday evening.

Weekend Guests

The Keith Noe family, Lincoln, visited March 5 in the Oliver Noe home. The Rick Boeharts and Dawn, Omaha, were Friday overnight and Saturday guests. The Erv Joneses, Wayne, and Mrs. G.E. Jones, Carroll, were Sunday dinner and luncheon guests.

The Harry Grieses, the Dick Grieses, Norfolk, and the Wally Bullis, spent Saturday and Sunday in the Russell Ankeny home.

The Laurence Foxes, and the Glen Clarks, Randolph, visited Sunday in the home of Mary Hickey, Norfolk, and with Maggie Crawford of Washington, D.C., who is a guest of Mrs. Hickey.

Kerry McKain and family, Blair, spent Sunday in the Jerry and Harriet Frahm homes.

The Wilmer Herfels were Sunday supper guests in the Larry Herfel home, Lawton.

The Jerry Stanleys were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Jerry Wells, Norfolk.

The Ted Johnsons and the Rick Kraemer family were Sunday guests in the Alden Johnson home, Omaha.

Six at Elf Extension Club answered roll call Friday afternoon with a law they would like to see passed. Members met in the home of Lori Jackson. The lesson, entitled "How a Bill Becomes a Law," was presented by Kathy Boswell.

Club members voted to conduct the Cancer Fund Drive in Allen and to assist at the Diabetic Clinic to be held in Allen. They also plan to observe National Library Week in April with a contribution to the Springbank Township Library.

Kathy Boswell received the door prize.

Week of Activities
Allen Girl Scout troops are observing Girl Scout Week, March 12-17. Scouts assisted in worship services at their churches on Sunday. A program was presented at the United Methodist Church Monday night for Girl Scout families and sponsors.

Scouts have attended various meetings during the week to promote the Girl Scout program.

Allen scouts consist of Troop 174, comprised of 16 Brownies led by Carol Chase and Sandy Oleson, Jr.; Troop 178 with 11 girls led by Karen Knepfer and Roni Gotch; and Cadet Troop 179 with six girls led by Vicky and Dorothy Hingst.

Tickets on Sale
Allen Cub Scouts are selling tickets for the Scout-O-Rama to be held April 22 at the Norfolk city auditorium.

Tickets cost $1 per person. Of that $1, 25 cents goes to individual packs. Prizes also are awarded for the amount of tickets sold.

Invited to Party
All senior citizens of the Allen area are invited to a St. Patrick's Day party this Friday at the First Lutheran Church in Allen, beginning with a noon luncheon.

The party is sponsored by the Pleasant Hour Club. Persons who need a ride are asked to contact Mrs. Clarence Larson.

Meeting Today
United Methodist Women will meet today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at the Cash Store with Carol Jackson. The lesson, "Shrouds and Butterflies," will be presented by Mary Lou Koester.

Persons who need a ride should contact Doris Linafelter.

Sunshine Act may be dimming

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — Nebraska's much-discussed Sunshine Act may be headed for extinction.

The Legislature has given first round approval to a bill that would repeal the law, which technically is the "Political Accountability and Disclosure Act."

It was placed into the statute books a year ago. And when the senators recently had a bill before them to make some minor revisions in the law, they agreed to insert an amendment that would abolish the act.

There has been a lot of criticism of the sunshine legislation, which requires those running for political offices and some appointed and appointed government officials to file reports with the state on their financial and real estate holdings.

Some strong objections have been voiced against this provision, and much of it came from members appointed to local zoning commissions. The attitude of many of the opponents is that the information they had been asked to furnish is both unnecessary and no one's business.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh offered the amendment that was adopted. He planned to offer another revision later that would include provisions Grand Island Sen. Ralph Kelly proposed two years ago.

Kelly advocated requiring political candidates to place their campaign money in one bank account and to permit the secretary of state's office to keep an eye on that account.

The same day DeCamp won approval of his first amendment, the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee reported to the floor the Neligh lawmaker's bill that was written with the express purpose of repealing the Sunshine Act. That measure apparently won't be needed anymore.

Among those fighting DeCamp's repeal amendment was Sen. Neil Simon of Omaha. He said the legislation, if approved, will brand the Legislature as "opposed to open government."

Another objector was Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, who said repeal of the Sunshine Act would go down as the biggest blunder of the session.

PATROL BILL READY

The special legislative committee formed to look into the State Patrol's operations has prepared a bill that will propose a major overhaul of the agency's organizational structure.

The bill, a committee spokesman said, will address certain problems that were uncovered during the committee's long and frequently secret meetings.

Sen. John DeCamp, head of the committee, said the unit is not out to get anyone and is interested only in good law enforcement.

"I really cannot believe there is anything in the bill that any fair-minded person could disagree with," he said.

On several occasions, the committee has been criticized for its secret meetings. Gov. J. James Exon characterized the group as a "Mickey Mouse" operation.

Key provisions in the bill would create two bureaus within a Department of Law Enforcement and Public Safety.

One of the bureaus would be involved with criminal investigations and the other with traffic and public safety, which would also be known as the Nebraska State Patrol.

The criminal investigation bureau would be charged with preventing crime, finding and apprehending criminals and enforcing laws.

Another section of the bill proposes establishment of the office of state coroner, a pathologist who would be appointed by the governor. Among the coroner's duties would be the performance of autopsies when requested by county attorneys in cases where homicides were suspected.

The size of the coroner's jury would be increased from six to seven members to prevent tie ballots in closely disputed cases.

DRINKING AGE DEBATED

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island recently lost a round but claims he did not lose the battle.

He has been trying for two years to raise the legal drinking age from 19 to 21 and recently sought to amend that provision into a liquor bill dealing with another subject.

His amendment failed on a 20-18 ballot on which 25 supporting votes were required.

Also rejected, but by a much larger margin, was an amendment from Sen. Donald Dvorak of Columbus. He wanted to allow 19 and 20 year olds to drink inside bars but wanted to prohibit them from carrying out liquor for consumption in other places.

Dvorak said he was concerned about young people procuring booze for those below the legal drinking age.

Several of the lawmakers said it would be preferable to have the youthful drinkers carry their liquor home "and drink themselves silly there" than to have them get drunk inside a bar and then drive home.

Kelly said he planned to reintroduce his amendment because he could count five senators who favored his idea but who were not present when his proposal came up for a vote.

The Grand Island legislator said lowering the drinking age in 1972 was a mistake, one that has been reflected in sharply higher traffic accident rates in the years since the 1972 law was enacted.

DEATH PENALTY REVIEW

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha has given up on his attempt to repeal the death penalty. But he would still like to have the State Supreme Court review all criminal homicide cases dating to April 20, 1973, when the current capital punishment law was adopted.

He said it is obvious to anyone who has studied the record that the death sentence is not applied uniformly. He argued an effort should be made to devise standards that could be followed in homicide cases of a similar nature.

What Chambers is seeking is a comparison of punishments that have been handed down to point up his repeated claim that the death sentence has been unevenly and arbitrarily imposed.

If passed with the emergency clause, his bill could result in stays of execution for the four men on Nebraska's death row, and Sen. Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia said he would oppose that.

Rasmussen, who sponsored the capital punishment law now in effect, said the four condemned to die have had their day in court. He noted several were convicted three years ago and are still alive.

Rasmussen tried to kill the bill but lost on a 20-20 vote. Chambers then attempted to get preliminary approval of the legislation but could muster only 19 votes.

He said Rasmussen probably wants to use his stand on capital punishment as a campaign issue when Rasmussen runs for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

That brought a quick denial from the Scotia senator. He noted he and Chambers have been disagreeing on the death penalty for six years and that their current dispute is far from a recent development.

PRELIMINARY DECISIONS MADE

The Legislature has made preliminary decisions on the homestead exemption and school aid bills.

The lawmakers decided to retain Omaha Sen. Bernice Labeled's homestead exemption proposal and to reject the one championed by another Omaha senator, David Newell.

The Labeled measure would base part of the property tax exemption on the first $25,000 of actual value of a home and would also use a sliding income scale in computing the amount of the exemption for the elderly.

Newell's proposal would have been geared much more heavily in favor of the elderly in need. It would also have abolished the average $25 exemption every homeowner gets, if he or she bothers to file for it.

Restricting the tax credit to those truly in need would have saved the state $6 million annually, Newell said.

Sen. Howard Lamb of Anselmo tried to pry out of the Education Committee his bill that proposes a return to the state aid formula that was in effect before new aid legislation was adopted last year.

That law was later suspended, pending a vote on it in the November election but the 1977 distribution formula remains in effect.

The result is that some districts have been heavily penalized while some others have profited.

Lamb thinks his bill would straighten out the difficulties, but he could not get enough Education Committee support to report the measure to the floor. The full Legislature also refused to pull the bill out of committee.

Some of the senators who worked hard a year ago to raise aid by $20 million annually for three years say they have little sympathy for foes of higher state aid who now find themselves receiving considerably fewer dollars from the state than they were given a year ago.

Different solution to problem

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

Members of the Nebraska Legislature have come up with an amended version of LB 153 which proposes a different solution to their problem of unreasonably low compensation.

If the bill is passed in its present amended form, and that appears possible on the basis of the 30-2 margin by which it was advanced from General File, it will submit by constitutional amendment to the voters in November, a proposal that the salaries of the senators be "not more than" what is determined to be the median family income of Nebraskans, as established and reported annually by the Consumer Price Index.

Currently this would be in the realm of $14,000 per year. It would be flexible, if inflation continues, which appears to be likely, then the salary would be adjusted according to the Consumer Price Index figure. If the index figure declined, so would the salary.

Service in the Nebraska Legislature has never been a financially rewarding experience. In 1960, the voters approved a constitutional amendment setting the salary of the senators at $200 per month or $2,400 per year and there it remained until 1968 when the figure was raised to $400 per month or $4,800 per year. And there it has remained for 10 years. The voters have rejected constitutional amendments to increase that figure in elections in 1972, 1974 and 1976. The voters have turned down a proposal that the senators be permitted to set their own salary and that they be entitled to per diem expense compensation while on official legislative business during the period-between sessions. In 1974 and again in 1976, the voters turned down a proposal that the salary figure be increased to $675 per month.

During the last 10 years, every Nebraskan has experienced firsthand the worst period of inflation in the nation's history. There has been no organized opposition to increasing the salary of the senators and widespread recognition that the compensation must be more realistic if the quality of legislative membership is to be retained. Still the voters have said "NO."

For many years, service in the Nebraska Legislature has not been a part-time job. The days when a member got on the train and rode to Lincoln to stay a month or two and then returned home to his farming, business or whatever are long gone. Most of the senators' constituents expect them to return home frequently on the weekends which are filled with meetings, consultations and telephone calls. After four or five months of a legislative session now, they continue to be involved throughout the rest of the year with speaking engagements, public hearings and interim studies, and steady contacts from their constituents. As one farmer-senator said in discussion of LB 153, he got to spend about 8 or 9 days last year in uninterrupted attention to his farm duties.

Service in the Legislature has become so costly that some senators, especially those who have farms, businesses and professions, after a single term, and sometimes in the midst of a term, have given up. This is a great handicap for development of experienced legislative leadership.

Balanced representation cannot be obtained by a system which tends toward restriction of service to those who are wealthy, retired and willing to use their personal finances to subsidize their legislative service.

The office of state senator is attractive from the standpoint of personal prestige and satisfaction and that is why it still attracts candidates who can afford it. But it is unfair and self-defeating to their own best interests for Nebraskans to expect their representatives to serve at a salary that is below minimum wage and poverty standards.

LB 153 as amended would retain constitutional control and still permit flexibility to solve a wage problem that has been offered throughout the history of the Nebraska Legislature.

OBSERVATIONS

Abolishing apathy

The candidates have made their move. Now it's up to the voters.

Most of the county and area offices had candidates as the deadline for filing passed at 5 p.m. Friday, March 10. Two Wayne mayoral candidates "surfaced" at the last minute to give the voters of Wayne a choice in the primary election.

Being a candidate on the local level oftentimes presents many problems, both social and economic. Many time candidates are on a one-to-one acquaintance with the voters which invites the possibility of an election based on personalities rather than issues.

Whatever their motivation, we congratulate the candidates for making the effort of running for office. Now we urge the citizens to meet the challenge by voting.

Unfortunately, one of the major characteristics of an election is public apathy. All too often voters who haven't asserted their right to vote in a free election are among the most vocal in criticism of those elected to office.

Whether the criticism is deserved is not the point. After a candidate is in office it is sometimes difficult to cause him to function for the public good. Supposedly, he has been put into office by a majority mandate of the people he represents. All too often, he is elevated to office by less than a majority because of apathy.

We feel with proper prodding, the voting public can be less apathetic. Last week, the Wayne County Clerk announced his office would be registering voters in the Student Union of Wayne State College. He also pointed out voters may register at the clerk's office, the Farmers State Bank of Carroll, the Commercial State Bank of Huskys and the Village Clerk's Office in Wayss.

This is the first step. The deadline for registration is April 26. Persons having questions about registering should contact the county clerk's office.

While registering is a big step toward voting, the voter must make himself knowledgeable about the issues and candidates, and then show up at the polls and vote.

There is no excuse for an apathetic approach toward our democratic method of electing representatives of the people to local, county, state and national offices. One can only hope there is some way to overcome apathy on the part of the voters. Candidates who are elected to government offices because of apathy by the voters, are elected by default rather than positive action. This is not to the best interests of a democracy and should the trend continue, it could lead to the downfall of our form of government.

It is a tossup as to which is the poorest citizen, those who are registered and don't vote or those who could register and vote but don't.

We urge you to be a good citizen. Register and then vote. —Chuck Barnes.

POTATOES
Although planting time is still a few weeks off there are several points to consider. Potato vines make a great deal of growth during cool spring weather. So if you are thinking about potatoes in your garden, plant them as soon as weather permits. Cut the tubers leaving one or two eyes per ounce of seed piece. Leave the seed pieces in a dark, cool place overnight. Insist on certified, disease-free seed potatoes. Seed pieces should be planted four inches deep, spaced one foot apart in the row. The rows should be spaced three to four feet apart, depending on cultivation procedures. Seed pieces should be dusted with a suitable fungicide and protected from drying winds and hot sun until planted.

PLANTING GRAPES
Grape pruning should be completed before growth resumes this spring. Grapes should be pruned each year. Grapes hardy in Nebraska are usually trained to a four or six cane kniffer system. Like most fruit plants, grapes require full sunlight to produce quality fruit. One's pruning practices and choice of training system should reflect the requirement for light by exposing the maximum leaf surface area to sunlight. For American bunch grapes, select four pencil-sized canes that were produced last year. These will be fruiting canes. Leave 10 buds per cane. Also leave four branches pruned to two or three buds to produce next year's canes. Remove all other canes and tie all selected wood to an arbor. Do not worry about grapes bleeding from pruning cuts during the early spring. This is natural. Foliage and summer weather stop the bleeding process.

PASTURE LEASES
If you have pasture land to rent, do you know how much you should charge? Whether you should charge by the head or by the acre? If you want to rent pasture, do you know how much you should be willing to pay?

These questions and many others are discussed in the Extension publication "Your Pasture Leases" available from the Extension Office. Different methods of leasing (per head, per acre, etc.) are more suitable for varying pasture and livestock conditions according to the book. For example if only a few head of livestock are involved or when animals owned by a number of different people are "taken in" by a single pasture owner, leasing on a per head, per month basis is probably the easiest method of figuring the rental rate. After a rental rate is decided upon, the agreement should be put in writing. Once these ideas are put down in writing, they serve as a reminder to both parties and as a legal record of the responsibilities to each party.

Word From the Top

SEC. OF AG. Bob Bergland at a recent meeting in Lincoln denied the U.S. Department of Agriculture is being dismembered, but rather will get stronger "because we are broadening our political base." He also stated a six-year backlog of watershed work should be completed and that any closure of the Panama Canal would have "a devastating effect on U.S. agricultural exports. He commented on the American Agriculture sponsored farm strike and called it "a huge success from a public relation standpoint." He urged farmers to "stay with it... become involved... don't cop out" in working to improve their lot. Photo courtesy of the University of Nebraska.

Specialist Expects Boost in Beef Prices

The U.S. cattle inventory, currently the smallest since 1971, will bring about a decline in beef production, cattle slaughter and beef consumption in 1978, which in turn will boost live cattle prices above 1977 levels. This is the assessment of Dr. Al Wellman, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension livestock marketing specialist, as he analyzed the cattle situation which was featured by a cattle population of 116.3 million head on Jan. 1, 1978, down five percent from a year ago. Two factors account for the drop in beef supplies, Wellman said. He expects smaller numbers of nonfed-grassfed cattle to be slaughtered. This is attributable to better grazing conditions, higher prices and the anticipation by producers of improved returns. A smaller calf crop and feeder calf supplies may substantially reduce calf slaughter. The 1978 calf crop will be smaller unless productivity improves dramatically, Wellman stated. The calving rate this year must be 92.7 percent of January 1 cow numbers, up almost five percent from 1977.

to avoid a decline in the calf crop, he explained. If weather is mild, 1978 calf death losses could drop from last year's high numbers. Anticipated cattle slaughter of some 39.2 million head this year may drop 5-6 percent from 1977 levels, but fed cattle marketings are forecast to rise 4.5 percent. "With prices of cows, calves and yearlings expected to rise more rapidly than slaughter cattle prices, implications obviously are not favorable for cattle feeders," the economist said. On the consumer side, prices of cuts such as roasts, hamburger and ground lean probably will increase faster than steaks cut from the loin, Wellman continued. "This assumes that most of our new-found demand for ground and processed beef will remain sufficiently strong to absorb higher prices paid for the smaller supplies available." Wellman said the length of time cattle are kept on feed, feed grain supplies and pasture conditions will influence variations in beef supplies this year. A large volume of fed cattle marketings scheduled for March and on through April could be delayed if feeding periods are lengthened. "If so, heavier weights and larger volume could depress slaughter cattle prices," Wellman analyzed. Another factor is pork, which is expected to increase in volume at the same time. However,

Wellman said that with improved beef movement in recent weeks and a probable drop in nonfed cattle slaughter, chances are for little price weakness to develop as a result of the large supply of both fed beef and pork. Thus, Wellman predicted prices could average $42-$46 per hundredweight for slaughter steers at Omaha for the first half of 1978. Calf prices should average above $50 per hundredweight with yearling prices somewhere in between. While noting that it will be some time before the full impact of the cattle inventory reduction of the past three years will be felt by the industry, Wellman listed these implications based on the January 1, 1978 inventory: —Continued liquidation of cattle to an anticipated 114-115 million head in January, 1979, with a possible upswing to 116-117 million head by January 1, 1980. —Little or no rebuilding of cow herds apparently took place in 1977. —A continued decline of cow inventories below 49 million head by next year. —Significantly lower feeder calf and yearling numbers. —A recovery in calving rates.

—Tightening in supplies of grassfed beef, especially if good grazing is available in major beef production areas. —More beef will come from feedlots, and slaughter weights may increase. —Tightening in supplies of beef, especially if good grazing is available in major beef production areas. —More beef will come from feedlots, and slaughter weights may increase. —Tightening in supplies of beef, especially if good grazing is available in major beef production areas. —More beef will come from feedlots, and slaughter weights may increase.

Uniform Swine Tests Mean Future Improvement

By 1980, in the aftermath of the recent adoption of the nation's first uniform set of swine testing procedures, nearly all boars sold domestically will have undergone genetic improvement and been evaluated through a comprehensive testing and improvement program, according to Dr. William Ahlswede, Extension swine specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. "Those who adopt this technology probably will be in the boar business in 1980, while those who don't probably will be selling barrows," he told those attending the American Pork Congress in Kansas City recently.

adopt the technology of genetic improvement, almost all of the testing and selection will have to be done on the farm," he said. "Test stations need to be used to complement on-farm testing and to evaluate herd genetic differences, but the action will be at home." The UNL Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist said the NSIF guidelines offer "an impressive set of options" for on-farm testing, including a "bare bones" foundation testing program and a series of options for more sophisticated programs. Essential to on-farm testing, Ahlswede said, is enrolling the entire herd and evaluating all pigs in the program, maintaining accurate records and expressing each pig's performance as a ratio of the test group or herd average. "The individual's ratio for a given trait should be used when ranking possible herd replacements," he said. "Breeders who sell boars to other breeders, who in turn sell boars, would choose the options in the guidelines that offer the possibility for producing the most rapid and certain genetic change," he said.

GINGHAM GALS
The Gingham Gals 4H Club met Friday in the home of Jane and Susan Hirt. The meeting was called to order by president Terri Melena. Roll was called, minutes were read by Karla Ott, and Diane Lindsay gave the treasurer's report. It was announced that the club is invited to a skating party in Wakefield today (Thursday). The club discussed a community project, and they voted to make door decorations for the Wayne Care Centre. A committee was selected to look into the project. The speech and song contest were discussed. Demonstrations were given by Jane and Susan Hirt and Karla Ott. Speeches for 4H were given by Terri Melena, Diane Lindsay, Anne Liska, Lesa McDermott, Francine and Amy Gross and Anita Sandahl. Lunch was served by the hostesses. The next meeting is planned for April 4 in the home of Diane Lindsay. Karen Sandahl, news reporter.

Although the dynamics of altering sow performance is not well understood yet, Ahlswede said, it does represent a set of economically important traits that was included in the guidelines and warrants an improvement effort. "I think there is a growing understanding that sow productivity needs to be considered. Animals who have the best test scores." "We need to remind ourselves that testing alone is not the end... it does not cause improvement," he said. "The improvement comes from selecting for breeding purposes... animals who have the best test scores."

along with feed efficiency, growth rate and carcass composition," he said. "We need to learn more about the biology of maternal performance and its genetic relationship to the other improvement traits."

"But to forget the other traits and work only on sow productivity would be suicidal," he said.

Ideally, the NSIF guidelines will be used to hasten the adoption of genetic improvement technology by settling "side arguments" associated with previous plans used by individual test stations," Ahlschweide said.

"No longer will we spend our time studying test results trying to remember which procedures were used, when the weights were taken, which index was used, how the records were adjusted and why there were only two test records from such a big litter," he said. "We now have a common ground, a common language. All we have to do is use it."

But Ahlschweide said at best, adoption of the guidelines so far has been "mixed," accepted mostly by boar test stations. Little headway has been made to date in incorporating the guidelines in on-farm testing situations, he said.

"NSIF has sought to improve the climate for testing and selection, and I do find that breeders are more knowledgeable about testing than they were five years ago," he said. "Many of the boar testing stations have adopted the guidelines in their entirety, while almost all have adopted some of the procedures, particularly concerning the test weights, on-test procedures and health programs," Ahlschweide said.

He said that much of guidelines' philosophy and procedures for handling young breeding stock following the test period also have been accepted.

Ahlschweide also cited tests other goals of NSIF, which was formed in 1975 to replace the National Association of Swine Test Stations as a means of encompassing all organizations involved in swine performance recordkeeping.

—Establish accurate and uniform procedures for measuring and recording swine performance data.

—Assist in developing individual programs by member organizations or affiliates consistent with their members' needs and the common goal of all recordkeeping programs.

—Develop cooperation among all swine industry segments in compiling and utilizing performance records.

—Encourage development of educational programs emphasizing the use and interpretation of performance data.

—Develop increased confidence of the economic potential of performance testing to the swine industry.

Tests Answer Toxic Question

A question frequently asked concerning the use of insecticides is "How toxic is the chemical to humans," according to John F. Witkowski, Extension Entomologist, Northeast Station, Concord.

The standards commonly used to compare toxicities of different insecticides are based on tests with laboratory animals, usually rats. These rats are used to get comparisons on deadly amounts of insecticides via injection (oral dose), and by way of skin absorption (dermal dose).

The amounts are then usually given as the dose that is deadly or lethal to 50 percent of the test animals. This lethal dose (LD) is designated as the LD-50. The smaller the LD-50 value the more dangerous the insecticide. Caution however is necessary in the interpretation of LD-50

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska
March 7, 1978
The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met per adjournment with members Eddie and Burt Present. Beiermann was absent. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

The notice of this meeting was published in The Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on March 7, 1978.

The following officers reports of fees collected during the month of February and remitted to State and County Treasurers were approved as follows:

N. F. Weible, County Clerk — $2,642.85
Joann Ostlander, CDC — $145.00

The following Resolution was adopted:
RESOLVED, that Farmers State Bank, Carroll, Nebraska, be permitted to withdraw the following securities, held in escrow by First National Bank of Omaha (Trustee) to secure deposits in that bank, to wit:

UNITED STATES TREASURY NOTES due 2-15-78 6 1/2 per cent 021571 2 1 Total: $40,000.00 No. 9619191322

U. S. TREASURY NOTES due 9-30-81 6 1/2 per cent 021478 2 1 dtd 9-7-77 Total: $50,000.00 No. 9604513020

The foregoing resolution was moved by Eddie and seconded by Burt, and roll call vote resulted in all Ayes.

Thomas Goodman of Goodman and Associates, the surveyors who are finding the corners for Nebraska Public Power District, met with the Board to sign the agreement. After some discussion the County Attorney was called and he then proceeded to change the resolution to partially comply with their demands, mainly by striking out the section that stated the surveyor shall post a $10,000.00 cash bond. Commissioner Burt made the motion to adopt the resolution as re-written by the County Attorney. The motion died for lack of a second.

The following claims were audited and allowed: Warrants to be ready for distribution March 17, 1978.

Speaker to Examine Japan's Economy

U.S. industries today are finding Japanese products are very competitive in the U.S. economy. The problem of Japanese economic competition and the recent history of Japan's economy will be examined at the Public Affairs Institute program Wednesday, March 29, at Wayne State College.

Marlin Hirabayashi, former chief international economist on Japanese affairs for the U.S. Department of State, will be the guest speaker at 7:30 p.m. in the Birch Room of the WSC Student Center. Hirabayashi's speech, entitled "The Japanese Economy and the American Connection," will cover Japan's economic recovery following World War II and examine the interrelationship between the U.S. and Japanese economies.

The program, sponsored by the WSC Public Affairs Institute, will also include a panel discussion on Japanese economic competition. The panel will respond to questions from the public on the subject.

Guest speaker Hirabayashi formerly served as counselor of Economic and Commercial Affairs for the American Embassy in Stockholm, Sweden. He has served with a number of U.S. government agencies, including the American Embassy in Helsinki, Finland; The Economic Affairs Bureau of the U.S. Department of State; the Office of the Special Trade Representative for former President John Kennedy; the American Embassy, Tokyo and the Division of Intelligence Research for the Far East with the U.S. Department of State.

HIRABAYASHI

Hirabayashi has also served as a business and industrial analyst for the U.S. Strategic Bombing Survey to assess the WWII bombing damage to Japan and has served as an instructor in Japanese for U.S. Navy Intelligence.

Vai Peterson, former governor and chairman of the WSC Public Affairs Institute's executive committee, said the program should be of great interest to the general public.

"The effects of the rapid and remarkable recovery and development of the Japanese people is one of the most important economic problems facing the world today," he said, "particularly the U.S."

The event is open free to the public.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. John Dashiell

Mrs. John (Jane) Dashiell, the daughter of former Wayne residents of Joe Granquist, died Friday in Westminster, Calif., following post-operative complications. She was 79. Funeral services were held Tuesday in California.

She is survived by her widower, John, and two sons, Adam and Matthew, all of Westminster, Calif.; her parents, M. Joe and Betty (Gildersteeve) Granquist of 6975 E. Rutgers Drive, Anaheim, Calif., 92807; a grandmother, Inez Gildersteeve of Corona, Calif., and an aunt, Mrs. Les (Donna) Lutz of Wayne.

Emil Bjorklund

Funeral services for Emil Bjorklund, age 85 of Wakefield, were held Monday morning at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield. He died Friday at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

The Rev. Robert V. Johnson officiated and pallbearers were Donavan and Deldean Bjorklund, Alvin Sundell, LeRoy Sievers, Norman Haglund and James Gustafson. Burial was in the Wakefield Cemetery.

Emil Enander Bjorklund, the son of the Nels J. Bjorklunds, was born Sept. 6, 1892, in Wayne County. He is survived by nephews and nieces.

Joyce (Bud) Lamm

Funeral services for a former Allen resident Joyce (Bud) Lamm were held Sunday at the Norfolk Christian Missionary Alliance Church. Burial was held in the Eastview Cemetery in Allen for the 73-year-old man.

Joyce (Bud) Lamm, the son of Will and Nora Lamm, was born Sept. 10, 1904, on a farm east of Allen. He later moved to Montana and was united in marriage to Helen Squires of Forsyth, Mont. They moved to Allen for several years, and later settled in Norfolk.

Survivors include his widow, Helen and five children.

Issue Contracts to WH Teachers

Teachers at Winside High and elementary schools have until the end of this month to return their signed teaching contracts for the 1978-79 school year.

Members of the school board gave that deadline during last week's board meeting when contracts were issued. Salaries, however, were left open until completion of negotiations between the board and the Wayne County Education Association.

The board also agreed to offer Trades and Industries instructor Terry Munter a contract, based on completion of negotiations. Munter is not a member of the teachers association.

Both superintendent Don Leighton and principal Al Schlueter signed and returned contracts for the next school year. Their salaries will be made public when they finish their negotiations, said Leighton.

During the meeting the board went into executive session to discuss collective bargaining negotiations.

In other action, the board agreed to rehire the secretarial and custodial staffs for next year. Staff members intending to return must inform school officials before the board's April meeting.

The board turned down a bid of $70 by Charles Jackson to purchase the school's public address system.

When you hear of the death of a friend, you can pray for them. God hears and answers these prayers even tho the family is unaware of our prayers. When we meet the family at the funeral home or church, we may mention that we prayed for them upon hearing the news of their bereavement. They will be comforted — more so than by an immediate visit or distracting phone call.

FACTS ABOUT FATS

What is saturated fat? Polyunsaturated fat? Which is good for you? Here is a jossary of fat terms. Knowing them may help you maintain good health. Fats in food and in the body are made mostly of various fatty acids. The difference in taste or hardness (or the temperature at which a fat melts) depends on which fatty acids predominate. Regardless of the number of fatty acids, all fats have the same number of calories per gram. Low calorie margarines are the exception. These products have added water or other fillers and are often whipped to double their volume and thus reduce calories per serving.

Fatty acids are made chiefly of carbon atoms arranged in a straight line or chain, with the acid part on the end. All along the carbon chain are little arms (bonds) sticking out. It is what is on the arms that counts. The main types of arrangement and what they mean in terms of food and health are described here.

Saturated fatty acids. All of the arms have hydrogen stuck on them. They are filled or "saturated" with hydrogen atoms. This type of fatty acid is the chief component in animal (meat) fats, butter and dairy products. Such fats do not melt at room temperature. They are thought to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood.

Unsaturated fatty acids. Two of the arms have no hydrogen. Instead, the arms hold "hands" or bond together. So the fatty acid is not fully filled, not "saturated" with hydrogen. Olive and peanut oils contain this type of fatty acid predominantly; these fatty acids neither raise nor lower blood cholesterol.

Polyunsaturated fatty acids — More than two pairs of arms hold hands, form double bonds and have no hydrogen attached. "Poly" means many and, therefore, this type of fatty acid has many double bonds. Least saturated of the fats, they are the major type found in corn, soybean, cottonseed and particularly safflower oils. Polyunsaturated fatty acids are liquid at room temperature and are thought to lower the blood cholesterol.

Cholesterol is a more complicated substance than fat. Its carbon atoms are in rings rather than straight lines. Cholesterol is always present in the bloodstream and is essential to health since hormones and some vitamin D are formed from it. When there is too much cholesterol in the blood stream, it settles in the walls of the blood vessels, making them less elastic (hardening of the arteries or arteriosclerosis) or narrowing them until they are closed — leading to heart disease. The chief source of cholesterol in the diet is egg yolk.

Hydrogenated fat is an unsaturated fat that has had hydrogen added to it to fill up the empty arms or bonds on the carbon chain. The more hydrogenated a fat is, or the more hydrogen on the carbon chain, the harder the fat is and the better it will keep. The more hydrogenated the fat is, however, the more likely it will raise the blood cholesterol and possibly endanger the heart.

There is at present a great deal of medical and scientific controversy surrounding the issue of cholesterol and heart disease. The wise consumer will follow his physician's advice on diet and heart disease.

Wayne Man Wins $25 Bucks Prize

Clyde Baker of Wayne is the latest winner in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

Baker won the $25 consolation award last Thursday night when his birth date of Aug. 9, 1917 was the closest to the winning date of Aug. 5, 1917.

Drawing the winning date was Bill Richardson of The Morning Shopper.

Baker's birthday would have matched the date drawn at random he would have won the $700 grand prize. As a result of no one claiming the top money, the amount goes up to $725 for the drawing tonight (Thursday).

To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating Wayne business when the date is announced at 8:15 p.m.

Baker was at NU Tavern when the date was announced.
