"Energy Choices in the Kitchen" was the lesson topic at Three M's Home Extension Club, held Monday in the home of Mrs. Robert Porter.

Ten members responded to roll call by telling about legislation in which they are interested. Sandy Weanden presented a legislative update and Sandra Remer quoted from a family life booklet.

Roberta Carman spoke about the importance of keeping proper legal documents and records. Mrs. Carman also talked about energy choices in the kitchen.

Marcella Droebscher was elected treasurer. President Delores Runquist appointed Cheryl Upton health and safety chairman and Lenora Sorensen reading and education chairman.

Members of the club voted to send a greeting card each month to someone outside the club.

Hostess for the next meeting, on April 17 is Betty Schroeder. Marg Porter will give the lesson, entitled "Your Personal Future With Clothing."

4 Returning Vets Bolster 'Strong' Wayne Golf Team

With four returning lettermen and a bevy of underclassmen itching to crack the starting lineup, Wayne High golf coach Harold Maciejewski shouldn't have any problem molding a winning crew this season.

Even the head man had his eye on placing his golfers high in the district meet and possibly in the state. If — and that's a big IF — the courses dry off so his golfers can practice.

"The season is only a good five weeks long and we have to do all we can during that length of time," Mac pointed out.

The head coach said he will count a lot on the leadership of senior veterans John Keating, Doug Pierson and Junior lettermen Bob Bornhoff and Jay Stoltenberg. Bornhoff and Stoltenberg carry the most experience as they head into their third year of high school play.

As a result, both are expected to pace the quartet with shooting in the low 80's.

Expected to be putting in a strong bid for varsity play is sophomore Doug Rose, whom the coach said has shown during his freshman year that he has the potential.

The only drawback on the season is that Wayne fans will see their team play only twice this year on the home course, according to schedule. The home matches will be a triangular meet April 18 with Madison and West Point and the West Husker Conference tournament May 2.

Wayne's roster:

Seniors — John Keating, Doug Pierson (both lettermen), Clay Ellingson.

Juniors — Bob Bornhoff, Jay Stoltenberg (both lettermen), Rabbit Johar, Duane Smith, Don Stoakes.

Winter Swim Season Draws to an End.

NOW THAT the winter swim season is over, members of Wayne's Swim Team celebrated with a party of their own.

Kittens Drop Three on the Road

Wayne State women were scheduled to carry a 1-3 record into their third straight day of softball action Wednesday when the Wildkittens of coach Susan Kovar face CSIS rival Emporia State.

Wayne fell to Southern Missouri State at Springfield, 3-1, Tuesday before giving up a 15-1 decision to Pittsburg St. in the second contest of a twinbill.

Southern, which the coach felt was the stronger of the two teams, baffled the locals to a 1-1 ball game at the end of seven innings. In the extra frame, Southern belted across two runs on two sacrifice flies to lopple the Kittens.

Wayne took the lead 1-0 in the second when Karen Heeneey, who tripled, scored on a base hit by Donna Lueders. Loosing pitcher was Lynne Larson.

Although Pittsburg was definitely the poorer of the two teams, Kovar noted, the Kittens failed to perform well because "we had a letdown." Again the same combo of Heeneey and Lueders produced the Kittens' only run. Losing pitcher was Karen Doeschot.

In a doubleheader at Missouri Southern Monday, Wayne dropped the first game, 3-1, but came back in the second to post a decisive 12-2 victory.

Heeneey sparked the Kittens in the second game with a pair of home runs, including a grand slam in the third, to finish the game with six RBIs. Doeschot was the winning hurler.

Coach Predicts Small Turnout May Hurt Golf

The small turnout of golfers for Wakefield High may hurt the Trojans' winning chances when the season opens next month, said Wakefield coach Lyle Trullinger.

Only three lettermen return out of a field of nine golfers, who include five senior girls.

Trullinger said that his hopes for a good season likely will rest on junior veterans Tim Patterson, Troxel Miner and Mark Hitz, and possibly one of his senior girls to make up the top foursome.

Patterson, the coach went on, led his team last year, shooting in the low 80's for 18 holes. He's again expected to be the leader on this year's team and hopefully, Trullinger noted, be in contention for the state tournament in May.

The No. one girl golfer on the coach's list is Lauri Sampson. However, she also can expect competition from Sarilyn Sundell, Heidi Carlsson, Denise Miller and Molly Brown.

Not returning to the team this season are John Viken and Lyle Borg, who will help farm.

Wakefield's roster:

Seniors — Sarilyn Sundell, Heidi Carlsson, Lauri Sampson, Denise Miller, Molly Brown.

Juniors — Tim Patterson, Troxel Miner, Mark Hitz (all lettermen), Demont Haglund.

Wakefield's schedule:

April — 3 Hartington CC, Hartington at Wakefield, 8 at Plainview Tournament, 19 at Hartington, 21 at Bloomfield Tournament, 24 at Oakland-Craig Tournament, 28 at Hartington Tournament.

FROM THE CLIPBOARD: Talks that Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk might drop wrestling has stirred a lot of emotions not only in the Norfolk area but also at Wayne State where coaches feel that if Tech gives up the sport, Wayne may suffer also.

It was pointed out during last week's Second Guessers meeting that the college recruits several experienced grapplers from the school, and to loose Tech's support of wrestling could mean a dip in the Wildcats program.

In an effort to drum up support for Tech's continuance of wrestling, an appreciation dinner is being scheduled sometime for early April, probably in Norfolk. Guesser enthusiast Don Gardner of Wakefield is urging members and other wrestling diehards to attend the dinner to show that they back wrestling at Tech. More later.

DURING LAST Thursday's meeting, WS athletic director John Merriman pointed out that the college received a slap on the wrists from CSIC coaches for some of its vocal fan support during many of the men's basketball games.

The aim of the complaint, which was aired last week at a league meeting, was the "south end" of Rice Auditorium where allegedly a group of male students were more than vocal when it came to cheering on their team and "showing" the approval of a referee's call.

Conference officials also pointed that most of the visiting teams rated Wayne as "the most expensive place" in the conference for motel accommodations. Many of the league teams threatened to go to Norfolk for overnight stays unless something is done, Merriman said. The athletic director said he would look into the situation.

ON TO THE subject of sports banquets, the group voted to drop its annual all-sports banquet this spring in favor of appreciation nights for the various sports seasons next term.

GETTING BIGGER: The second annual Wayne State High School Invitational track meet will draw a whopping 64 boys and girls teams from around the state. The increase stands at 20 more teams than were at last year's meet, according to college officials.

'Hooray for Hank'

Citizens of Wayne and the rural area are going to take a "time out" on Monday night, April 17, to salute one of the city's most dedicated workers — Hank Overin.

Overin, who marks his 20th year as recreation manager both in youth and adult sports, will be "roasted" by friends beginning at 6:30 p.m. with a potluck supper at the city auditorium. The public is invited.

The evening celebration, titled "Hank's 20. Hooray," also will feature skits and singing. And to help spice the dinner, there will be plenty of storytellers on hand to uncover Hank's glorious past as recreation manager.

Anyone who has a tale to tell about Hank or wishes to donate gifts is urged to send it to Hank's 20th Hooray, Box 71 in Wayne, 68787.

YCC Applications Still Available

The deadline for applications for summer jobs in the 1978 Nebraska Youth Conservation Corps (Y.C.C.) is 5 p.m., Friday, March 31. At that time all applications must be in to the Lincoln headquarters of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

According to Bill Janssen, Nebraska State Program Agent and Recruiter for Y.C.C., the application period is going well. "There is a great deal of interest in the program this year and we have received applications from students all over Nebraska for jobs in the 22 available camps and projects," Janssen said. "The majority are filled out properly; however, many applicants fail to include their camp or project selection."

As applications for the random drawing to be held April 3 will be grouped according to site selection and sex, these entries are of utmost importance. This grouping allows students the best opportunity for position selection at the camp or project of their choice and insures random selection of the required enrollment ratio of 50 percent girls and 50 percent boys.

Y.C.C. applications are available. See YCC, page 10.

Student From Wayne Wins Prize

An 18-year-old Wayne State student from Wayne, Aaron Nissen, is the latest winner in the weekly Birthday Bucks promotion.

AARON NISSEN

Nissen won the $25 consolation award last Thursday night when it was discovered that his birth date of March 14, 1959 was the closest to the winning date of March 28, 1959.

Nissen was shopping in McDonald's when the date was announced. Had his birth date matched the date drawn at random by a Wayne businessman, Nissen would have won the $725 jackpot.

As a result of no one winning, the amount goes up to $750.

Drawing the winning date was Merle Rise of Wayne Book Store.

To be a winner, a shopper must be present in a participating Wayne business when the date is announced at 8:15 p.m. on Thursday nights.

EXTENSION NOTES

KEEP TAX RECORDS

Now, while you're thinking about income taxes, is a good time to start keeping the detailed records you'll need for next year's returns.

If you itemize your deductions and you are called in for a tax audit, the burden of proving those deductions you claimed rests on you. It's smart then to get into the habit of saving records. It may even help you increase your deductions.

Keep the following records to support your income tax returns:

- paycheck stubs, bank deposit slips, cancelled checks of possible deductible items;
- receipts for charitable contributions;
- sales slips, especially for cars or large purchases;
- brokerage account records;
- records of unreimbursed business expenses;
- medical and dental bills;
- records of support of dependents who live outside the home;
- car expenses;
- business travel expenses with receipts and paid bills for lodging and food;
- copies of your completed tax returns and withholding statements from previous years.

It's safest to keep records pertaining to income taxes indefinitely, since you can be audited up to three years after a return is filed, and in case of suspected fraud, indefinitely.

A bank safe deposit box or a fire proof file is a necessity for documents and tax records which are hard to replace.

VA Gives Helping Hand to Wayne Vets

Wayne County Veterans during fiscal year 1977 got a helping hand from the Veterans Administration (VA) to the tune of $594,306.

Compensation and pensions accounted for the biggest disbursement with $352,253. Readjustment and vocational rehabilitation totaled $198,556 in Wayne County and insurance and indemnities accounted for $43,497.

Statewide, the VA disbursed more than $141 million during fiscal year 1977, an increase of $6 million over the previous year.

There is a fulltime Wayne County Veterans Service Officer available to counsel veterans. Wayne Denkiau, a retired serviceman, replaced Chris Bargholz who resigned effective Nov. 18, 1977.

The office is located on the third floor of the Wayne County courthouse. The hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Denkiau, who lives in Winside, advised Wayne County veterans to register their military records with the Wayne County Clerk and his office. He said this can be very important in proving eligibility for benefits.

He pointed out that many veterans records were lost in a fire at the St. Louis VA Records Center.

Denkiau said he records veterans records in his office after they have been recorded with the clerk, but he said veterans can make doubly sure military records are recorded by bringing them to his office.

He explained his job is to assist counseling veterans regarding benefits from military service. He pointed out he does not make a determination concerning applications for benefits but he can assist veterans in filling out applications.

Also, he said there are some benefits which veterans may be eligible for and which they know nothing about.

He gave an example, death benefits for the widow of a veteran. He said the VA can assist with funeral costs, in some cases, and will process any service insurance claims.

Applications by veterans for benefits are reviewed by a five-man county board. Jean Nuss is the chairman, with Clarence Pfeiffer, Henry Langenberg, Jr.,

Arnold Zach and Frank Noelle as members.

The board can make recommendations before the application is sent to the regional VA office in Lincoln.

Denkiau said veterans today are more knowledgeable about VA benefits as they go through a complete de-briefing concerning benefits prior to discharge.

An Easter Basket of Recipes!

Egg Nest Coffee Cake

- 2/4 to 3/4 cups Unsifted Flour
- 1/2 cup Sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon Salt
- 1 package Dry Yeast
- 3/4 cup Milk
- 1/4 cup Margarine
- 1 Egg (room temperature)
- 3/4 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/8 teaspoon Nutmeg
- 1/2 cup Golden Raisins
- 1 1/2 cups Confectioners' Sugar
- 2 tablespoons Milk
- 1 tablespoon Light Corn Syrup
- 2 teaspoons softened Margarine
- 1 teaspoon Lemon Extract
- Food Coloring
- Milk
- 1/2 cup Coconut

Place in a greased bowl, turning to use top. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour and 15 minutes). Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Form dough into large ball. Tear off 5 pieces about the size of small eggs. Form into smooth egg shapes. Roll remaining dough into an 18 x 7-inch rectangle. Brush with melted margarine. Combine remaining 1/4 cup sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg, and sprinkle over dough. Sprinkle raisins over sugar mixture. Roll up from long side as for a jelly roll. Seal edges firmly. Place sealed edge down in a circle on a greased baking sheet. Seal ends together firmly. Slash top of ring at 2-inch intervals.

Place dough eggs inside of ring. Cover, let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour). Bake at 350 degrees about 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheet and place on a wire rack to cool.

Meanwhile, combine confectioners' sugar, milk, corn syrup, softened margarine and lemon extract. Beat until smooth. Frost ring, using 1/2 of the frosting. Dilute food coloring with a few drops of milk. (Prepare 5 colors). Use a few drops of diluted green to tint 1/4 cup coconut. Sprinkle green and white coconut over ring. Mix small amounts of remaining frosting with colored colors. Frost each egg a different color. Makes 1 coffee cake.

Mix well the ground ham, ground pork or beef, bread crumbs, eggs, milk and pepper. In bottom of a loaf pan, melt oleo and brown sugar. Place slices of pineapple with a cherry in the center in the bottom of the pan. Put ham mixture over the pineapple. Bake 35 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Challenge Goals Of Dietary Report

A Senate Select Committee report urging major changes in the American diet has been contradicted by a score of nutrition experts, says nutritionist Peyton N. Davis, Ph.D.

Dr. Davis, Director of Nutrition for the National Live Stock and Meat Board, discussed the scientific controversy surrounding the report during the Idaho Beef Council Nutrition Information Luncheon, held recently. His participation in the meeting was in connection with the Idaho group's observance of National Nutrition Week.

The report in question, "Dietary Goals for the United States," was issued by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs in January, 1977. The committee, chaired by Senator George McGovern (D-S.D.) was phased out along with a number of other Select Committees at the end of 1977.

Much has been said about "Dietary Goals" by the nutrition community between the issuance of the first edition of the report in 1977 and the recent "Second Edition" issued in January, 1978. But these comments have gone unheeded, Davis noted.

"Almost all of the fundamental changes urged by many of the foremost nutritionists in the country were only given lip service in the second edition," Davis said. "The committee did recognize the problem of obesity and alcohol consumption in the second edition, however, which is a step in the right direction."

Dr. Davis called for the return of dietary guidelines to the scientific community. Specifically, he urged that the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences be the agency for determining sound, scientific recommendations for the public.

"I strongly feel that the Food and Nutrition Board should have the responsibility of evaluating all of the published scientific research data, and recommending the initiation of additional research where it is needed; in order to establish a responsible set of dietary recommendations to the American public," Davis said.

"Until this is accomplished, it is incorrect to present just one side to the American consumer as being established fact."

"Dietary Goals for the U.S." was intended to tell Americans how to make the appropriate food selections that would ensure the consumption of a diet providing the essential nutrients and insuring maximal health, Dr. Davis pointed out.

In addition, the report evoked a tenuous link between diet and six major diseases, promising prevention and/or cure for those following the committee's recommendations, which included decreased consumption of certain animal-source foods, salt and sugar, and increased consumption of grains and vegetables, seafood and poultry.

"While the goal of an improved diet is laudable — especially if it helps control obesity — the report promises more than nutrition science can deliver," Dr. Davis said. "Except for reducing calories from all foods eaten we cannot say whether the effect of changing our basic food consumption patterns will be good or bad."

Davis cited dietary requirements for iron and zinc as areas of major concern among scientists evaluating the report.

"A major source of these essential minerals in the American diet is red meat," Dr. Davis stated. "By eating smaller portions of meat, as the report encourages, Americans may be unwittingly opening the door to a deficiency of these nutrients, which are necessary to good health. In fact, there is evidence already that many Americans are not getting enough iron in their present diets, leading to iron deficiency. See CHALLENGE, page 7

Fat, Oats Apparently Reduce Pig Mortality

Two such diverse dietary ingredients as fat and oats apparently offer pork producers a way of nutritionally reducing the incidence of mortality in young pigs, according to Dr. Bobby D. Moser, Extension swine nutritionist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

He said research at UNL's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources indicates that tallow added to the sow's diet increases the fat level of her milk, providing more energy to baby pigs.

Surveys currently show that 24 to 30 percent of the nation's pig crop dies before weaning, Moser told those attending the American Pork Congress recently. About half of these losses result because of overlying by the sow and piglet starvation, he said, which could be reduced substantially by increasing the pig's energy stores.

"The majority of these losses occur during the first few days after birth, and the next 12 hours of life are most critical," he said. "Death may be brought about by chilling, starvation and dehydration. The newborn pig has a sparse hair coat, thin hide, small amount of body fat and lacks the ability to control body temperatures, which is a handicap, when he is exposed to a stressful environment or limited milk supply."

"The piglet at birth has a source of readily available energy stored as glycogen in his liver, and a lesser amount in the heart and muscle," Moser continued. "But as glycogen is depleted, the level of circulating blood glucose falls dramatically. When the blood glucose drops to a critical level, the piglet develops hypoglycemia (low blood sugar), which leads to weakness and a predisposition to overeat."

To alter the baby pig's nutritional dilemma, which is caused by rapidly depleting energy supplies after birth and total reliance on the sow for food, UNL animal scientists first added tallow at a rate of 20 percent of a standard corn soybean meal basal diet and fed the ration to sows from 100 days of pregnancy to parturition.

The tallow-fortified diet resulted in a "slight but insignificant increase in piglet liver glycogen at birth," which was maintained through 12 hours after birth, Moser said. "This extra energy in the liver of pigs from sows fed tallow might be adequate enough to sustain the pig until he has nursed," he said.

In an attempt to further improve the energy content of the sow's milk and subsequent piglet survival, researchers then conducted a study on a ration containing 15 percent tallow, as well as choline chloride, which is active in the transport of fat in the blood.

Moser said the ration, fed from the 109th day of gestation until the second week of lactation, produced a "significant increase" of 2.4 percent in the level of milk fat energy when compared to a standard corn soybean meal basal ration.

"This increase, observed in the colostrum, indicates how rapidly dietary fat is transported to milk," he said. "The addition of choline plus fat resulted in the highest milk fat levels at farrowing and at one week of age, the most critical time for the piglet."

Similarly, blood glucose levels of piglets fed the tallow diet were increased, Moser said, "which suggests that pigs fed the high energy diets have a better nutritional status."

"The diet also increased overall pig survival to 83.3 percent compared to 80 percent for those fed the control diet, he said. The survival rate improvement for pigs whose mothers were fed the tallow and choline and was 82.2 percent.
