

Winside Board OK's 6.6% Increase

Details are still being put into perspective but the general issues of the salary negotiations contract between the Winside Community Board of Education and the Wayne County Teachers Association have been hashed out.

Supt. Donovan Leighton said certain percentage increases have not yet been put into a general increase. However, he said the base salary for teachers for the 1978-79 school year has been set at $8,750. The 1977-78 base was $8,325. The increase represents a 6.6 percent hike.

Leighton also explained the contract calls for a four percent increase for number of years and 4 percent for extra duties.

He said the school board will pay all of the health insurance ($31.30) for a single teacher and $60 (a little more than half) for family insurance. He pointed out the board will also pay $6.50 per $1,000 for loss of income insurance.

The superintendent said the total dollar cost of the package will be announced as soon as all the figures are checked.

In other board action, it was agreed to approve the Special Education and Services contract for the 1978-79 school year for an approximate amount of $18,350.

The board voted not to allow a stamp collecting program and voted to allow an electrical line easement across school property to the Village of Winside.

They voted to waive tuition charges for a foreign student and to allow him to attend school in the Winside district if arrangements can be completed.

The Winside band will receive $500 in district funds for a planned band trip this summer to Buffalo Bill Days at North Platte.

Supt. Leighton was given authorization to purchase two video tape units.

New Diamond For Carroll

Carroll village fathers voted to purchase land for a new ball diamond in the community.

The council agreed to purchase a trace of land from Daryl Hahn for $1,000 per acre plus paying all legal fees necessary in the negotiation.

The council tabled discussion concerning major street repairs but voted to go ahead with patch repairs. They decided to wait until the spring thaw is over so they can assess the damage to the streets.

New water and sewer hook-up fees have been established. New fees are $100 for water and $100 for sewer.

Residents who have been disregarding dumping regulations concerning paper and paper products, will receive notice with next month's water and sewer billing. If the practice continues, the council will authorize an assessment to those disregarding the regulations.

The council gave approval for the repair of the slippery slide in the Carroll park.

The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, May 2 at the Carroll library beginning at 7:30 p.m. A special meeting has been set for May 9 at 7 p.m. to meet with a representative of the State Planning Commission.

Special Night For Candidates

A "Meet the Candidates Night" will be held Monday, April 24, at 8 p.m. in the Allen High School gymnasium.

Candidates for the Allen Village Board, District 70 School Board and District 5 Supervisor will be on hand for a question and answer period.

Candidates for Dixon County Sheriff and Dixon County Treasurer will be introduced.

Persons who have questions for the candidates can leave them in containers at the Cash Store, Restaurant, Davenport Repair, Lindahl's, Carpenter Cream Station, the elevator and the Senior Citizen's Center.

The event is being sponsored by the ELF, Allen Community and TNT Extension clubs. A lunch will be served following the meeting.

Practices for Contest

GETTING IN some last minute practice is Chuck Mann, a senior at Winside High School who will compete in the 30th vocal division of the District-III Music Contest which will be held today (Thursday), Friday and Saturday at Wayne State College. Some 27 Northeast Nebraska high schools will be represented in the three-day event. Other area schools include Wayne, Wakefield and Allen. Helping with the practice session is Winside vocal instructor Lance Bristol.

Plan Series Of Forums

In a continuing effort to better inform students of potential career opportunities in the Wayne area, the Wayne High School Vocational Council will sponsor a series of forums involving local resource people as primary speakers.

The first forum, centering around careers in automotive mechanics, will be held at the high school on Wednesday, April 26, 10:45 a.m. The speaker will be Dave Swanson of Corvair Auto Company.

Students presently enrolled in auto mechanics classes at Wayne High School as well as any other interested persons will be invited to attend. Additional forums will be scheduled as student interest dictates.

Laurel Honors FFA Members

A happy Dale Kennedy was honored Friday night as the Honorary Chapter Farmer during the annual FFA awards banquet at Allen High School.

Kennedy, who has served as principal at Allen High for the past four years, was selected by club members for his overall service and assistance to the Future Farmers of America chapter and vocational agriculture department.

A crowd of about 200 FFA'ers, their parents and friends gave a wide round of applause for Kennedy when his name was announced at the dinner held at the Allen High School auditorium.

Sponsors of the FFA organization are Tom Wilmes and Gene Lauritzen.

Kennedy was one of four people named laurel.

Winter Shows Up Again

Winter had its last (we hope) "spring fling" as cold temperatures Tuesday were accompanied by snow showers.

Temperatures during the month of March in the Wayne area covered a wide range. During the first few days of the month, daily average temperatures were 10 to 35 degrees below normal. The month ended with temperatures nearly 30 degrees above normal.

The daily average maximum temperature in the Wayne region was 45.2 degrees with the daily minimum leveling off at a cool 22.8 degrees. The average for the month was 35.4 degrees which represented a minus 3 of a degree below normal.

The highest mark during the month was 88 degrees on March 31. The temperature plunged to a minus 18 degrees for the month's low.

The regional readings went along with statewide marks. Extreme maximum temperatures ranged from the mid-70s in the panhandle to the low 90s in the east-central region and along the southern border of the state. Franklin reported the state's high of 92 degrees on March 31.

Extreme minimum temperatures of zero or below were reported at all stations on March 4 and 5. Halsey reported a minus 26 degrees on March 24 for the state's low.

Monthly average temperatures were 4 to 6 degrees above normal in all divisions, including the Wayne area. The cumulative precipitation for October, 1977 through March, 1978 was below normal in the Panhandle, Southwest and South-Central divisions.

Precipitation for the month in the Wayne region amounted to .65 of an inch which is .82 of an inch below normal.

Most of the precipitation fell as snow sometime during the first 15 days of the month. The extreme southeastern part of the state received 10 to 15 inches of snow. Other areas received 1 to 9 inches. High winds caused drifting snow in some areas.

Some stations reported 10 to 15 See WINTER, page 5

Wayne Poets Earn Honors

Over ten schools participated in the Second Annual Wayne State College - John G. Neherd Creative Writing Contest held Saturday at WSC.

High school students from throughout the Northeast, Nebraska region submitted works for judging at the event. Scholarships were awarded through the Wayne State Foundation to three students submitting the best works as judged by a panel of WSC English faculty. Works were judged on creativity and technical competence.

Winning the scholarship for first place was Joleen Wiener of Wayne for her poem "A Year of Seasons." Tying for second place were Dennis Fleer of Wayne for his poem "The Senses of Nature" and Brad Wragge of Pierce for his poem "Noise."

Alternates named were Sue Brennan of Omaha for her poem "Pictures" and Lane Handke of Pierce for her short story "Joe."

Others winning honorable mention were Tera Norenberg of Blair for her short story "Violet Mean," Diane Redler of See WAYNE, page 5

WITH A SONG in their hearts, Wayne third and fourth grade students serenade Hank and Glenda Overin with special lyrics to "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" during a community tribute to Overin who has been working with Wayne's recreation program for 20 years.

A Night to Remember Wayne Says 'Thanks Hank'

It was a night to remember for a guy who hitchhiked into the lives of the people of Wayne some 20 years ago.

The Wayne community Monday night turned out en masse to pull all stops in a "Hooray for Hank" tribute to Hank Overin, Wayne recreation director, for his 20 years of unselfish, dedicated service to the community.

The recognition ranged from being awarded the coveted Ak-Sar-Ben "Good Neighbor" award to a sincere "we'll try to win you another state championship" from a member of the American Legion baseball team.

Hank and his wife, Glenda were deluged with gifts, awards, jests, testimonials, and remembrances all backed up with an out-pouring of sincere fellowship from the more than 800 persons who attended the program.

The event was held in City Auditorium, which houses many of the youth activities governed by Overin. The auditorium spot light zeroed in on Hank as he squirmed, laughed and solemnly accepted the thanks of a grateful community.

Mayor Freeman Decker presented Overin with a proclamation signed by himself and the city council members, proclaiming Monday, April 17, as "Hank Overin Day."

Mayor Decker also presented to Hank Nebraska's highest honorary award, a commission as an "Admiral in Nebraska's Navy." He also read a letter of congratulations from U.S. Sen. Ed Zorlinsky.

Mike Perry presented to Overin a plaque from the Community and a life membership in the Wayne Country Club.

Carter (Cap) Peterson, representing the Wayne Second Guessers Club, presented a Second Guessers Jacket and a warm-up suit. He also received a lifetime membership in the Second Guessers Club.

Overin was presented with a lifetime pass to the Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball tournament at Wakefield. Eaton's Greenhouse presented a $10 gift certificate to Mrs. Overin.

Jim Keating represented the Wayne Recreation Board in congratulating Overin for his fine work.

Al Cramer, Ak-Sar-Ben District Ambassador, presented the much sought after Ak-Sar-Ben "Good Neighbor" award which is presented on recommendation of the Ak-Sar-Ben board of governors.

Stan Morris and Jack March presented a check for $2,000 to Overin as well as visual proof that "money does grow on trees" as paper money was fastened to a tree branch.

Gerald Bolenkamp, president of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, presented a special Chamber of Commerce award to Overin.

Former "players" and associates who had played under or worked with Overin, recalled memorable moments during the past 20 years.

Those taking part were Norris Weible, Wayne; Gordon Jorgensen, Milford, Ia.; Lynn Russmann, Winside; Ron Jones, Wayne; Rod Jorgensen, Wayne; Terry Lutt, Wayne; Mrs. Judy (Suhr) Longe, Lyons, and Mrs. Deb Altemann, Wayne.

Mrs. Altemann read a letter from her mother, Mrs. Ed Carroll who called Overin a "second father" to her sons, Doug, Dennis and Dean.

Dr. Wayne Wessel presented a skit concerning activities of the "not quite over the hill gang."

Third and fourth grade youngsters sang original lyrics to "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" under the direction of Mrs. Corneil Runestad.

A poem about the 1960 Wayne Midget baseball team was read by Glen Nichols.

Jerry Hix proved himself as a masterful Master of Ceremonies as he kept the action flowing.

The program was preceded by a potluck supper during which the Wayne Stage Band played under the direction of Ron Dalton.

Bond Sales Total $36,615

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds in Wayne County during the first quarter this year amounted to $36,615, according to Henry E. Ley, volunteer county chairman. Sales in March were $3,889 and brought the county to 15 percent of the yearly sale goal.

Candidate Here Saturday

Robert Phares, candidate for the Republican Nomination for Governor from North Platte, will be in Wayne Saturday, 1 p.m. at the Black Knight. He has issued an invitation for all area residents to stop by and meet him.

Named to Committee

Stan Langenberg, Hoskins, is a member of a 44-member Farmers and Ranchers for Thome Committee. The group will advise the Republican candidate for governor on issues See NEWS BRIEFS, page 5

EARNING TOP honors at the second annual Neherd Creative Writing Contest sponsored by Wayne State College Saturday were Joleen Wiener (right) and Dennis Fleer, both seniors at Wayne High School. Miss Wiener was first with her poem, "A Year of Seasons." Fleer tied for second with his poem, "Senses of Nature."

Disaster Loans Now Available

Farmers in Wayne County are eligible for low interest U.S. Small Business Administration disaster loans, according to Leo Navin, SBA disaster branch manager in Omaha.

However, only those farmers who suffered losses because of flooding which occurred on or around March 13, 1978, are eligible to apply.

Navin said farmers in Wayne County became eligible for the low interest, long-term loans when adjacent counties were declared disaster counties. Counties were made eligible on a limited basis.

The deadline for filing has been extended to June 5 for ten counties earlier declared disaster counties and the newly announced eight counties as well as the adjacent counties.

The SBA, under its disaster authority, makes loans available to each qualified applicant to restore damage on destroyed property as nearly as possible to its pre-disaster condition.

270 Attend Open House For LeRoy Creamers

About 270 friends and relatives attended a buffet supper and dance at the auditorium in Dixon Saturday evening, honoring the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Creamer of Concord.

Marilyn Tomasen and LeRoy Creamer were married at Dixon on April 11, 1953. Prior to Saturday evening's supper, Creamers renewed their vows with the Rev. John Conneally of Emerson, who performed at their wedding ceremony and the Rev. Thomas Adams of Dixon officiating.

Guests who attended Saturday's event came from Gowrie and Sioux City, Ia.; Aberdeen, S.D.; Omaha, Lincoln, Wayne, Jackson, Newcastle, Laurel, Ponca, Allen, Wakefield, Carroll, Concord and Dixon.

Al Walsh of Ponca and Duane Creamer of Carroll, who were attendants at the couple's wedding 25 years ago, were among those attending the silver anniversary observance. Also present were Mrs. R.P. Carroll of Laurel, who was organist at Creamer's wedding ceremony, and mothers of the couple, Martha Rieth of Concord and Jane Tomasen of Concord.

The family presented a short program following the supper. Greetings were received from Mrs. Rex Troth of Bozeman, Mont. and Mrs. Larry Garcia of Ridgecrest, Calif., who were bridesmaids at the wedding ceremony but were unable to attend Saturday's anniversary observance.

Creamer's children are Mrs. Jeff (Shelley) Stingley of Aberdeen, S.D.; Mrs. Jim (Barbara) Koester of Lincoln, Jeff of Lincoln, and Mark and Ryan, both at home.

The family presented a short program following the supper.

Dance, Supper Planned For First Anniversary Of Eagles Auxiliary

The Wayne Auxiliary 3757 Fraternal Order of Eagles will begin their first anniversary celebration this Saturday evening with a dance at the Eagles Club building on Main St.

The observance will continue Sunday afternoon with a potluck supper at 4:30, followed with a program. Mr. and Mrs. Art Newburn of Plattsmouth will be present at the Sunday program to present charters to both the Eagles Club and its auxiliary.

Plans for the first anniversary observances were made when the auxiliary met Monday evening with hostesses Mary Wert and Pat Wert.

Henrietta Jensen was initiated as a new member. Conducting the installation service was Elizabeth Carlson of Blair.

DeAnn Hellmets and Shirley Brockman reported on the district FOE convention they attended at Fullerton.

The nominating committee, consisting of Jancie Borelman, Ruth Korth and Winnie Thompson, presented their slate of officers for the next year. Election will be held at the next meeting, set for May 1 with hostesses Winnie Thompson and Dagmar Jensen.

Book Report Given at Acme

A book report on "Oh Ye Jigs and Juleps" by Virginia Hudson was given by Jessie Hemmer when Acme Club met Monday afternoon.

Fifteen members attended the meeting in the home of Mrs. Lillian Hemmer. A secretary gift was given to the Wayne County Historical Society.

Next meeting is a May 1 breakfast at 9 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Lyle Skov.

June Wedding For Jill Carhart, Mark Lambert

Jill Carhart of Wilber and Mark Lambert of Lincoln are planning to be married on June 24 at Wakefield.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carhart of Wayne and is an elementary school teacher in the Wilber Public Schools. She graduated from Wayne High School in 1973 and from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1977.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lambert of Pilger, graduated from Winsler-Pilger High School in 1972. He is a musician. The engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the bride-elect's parents.

Symposium Emphasizing Family

Dr. Burton White, a psychologist and early innovator in child development research, will be one of the featured speakers at the National Symposium on Building Family Strengths, to be held at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln May 3-5.

The symposium will bring to Lincoln 66 speakers from all over the country, including the top professionals in human development and the family; to take an in-depth look at the strengths and weaknesses of the American family today.

Sponsored by the UN-L Department of Human Development and the Family, The College of Home Economics and the division of Continuing Studies, the conference will be open to teachers, researchers, counselors, students and lay persons.

White will address the symposium on "A New View of Early Childhood: The Parent as a Child's First Teacher." He will discuss his view that the family is the single greatest influence on the development of children.

White is particularly interested in children ages eight months to three years because it is during this period, he says, that the child develops many of the skills which will mold his adult life. "If a child is behind when he's three, he's in trouble," he notes. "Other power to remediate, even beginning at age three, is slight."

He estimates that only one family in 10 does a "very good" job of raising their babies and consequently, "probably 90 percent of our children are under-achievers."

Also speaking during the symposium will be Dr. Nick Stinnett, chairman of the Department of Human Development and the Family at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Stinnett, who has received national recognition for his work in marriage and the family, will address the symposium on "Strengthening Families" at 9 a.m. on May 4.

According to the professor, there are six major characteristics strong families have in common. These include an appreciation for each other, spending a great deal of time together and talking to each other, a deep commitment to the family group, a high degree of religious orientation, and an ability to deal with crises in "a positive way."

Stinnett says families can learn from these characteristics to strengthen their own family units. He suggests, for example, they work on the "art of genuine appreciation for each other," and look for the strong points in each other instead of criticizing weaknesses.

White and Stinnett will discuss more of their ideas and attitudes during the three-day symposium. Interested persons may attend for a $48 symposium fee by registering through the UN-L Center for Continuing Education. Students also may earn up to two hours of graduate credit for their participation.

Persons who would like more information about the symposium should contact the UN-L Department of Human Development and the Family at 472-1650.

Churches Plan Open House

Members of the Wayne Ministers' Association have set aside this Sunday afternoon for an open house for all churches represented in the association.

According to a spokesman for the Ministers' Association, the tours are designed to enable Wayne area residents to learn more about the ways their neighbors worship.

Tours will be conducted from 2 to 4 p.m.

Churches involved include Wayne Ecumenical Campus Ministry, 312 E. 13 St.; St. Mary's Catholic Church, 412 E. Eighth St.; The First United Methodist Church, 516 Main St.; First Baptist Church, 400 Main St.; The Church of Christ, 208 E. Fourth St.; The United Presbyterian Church, 216 W. Third St.; Redeemer Lutheran Church, 502

Lincoln St. and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 421 Pearl St.

Each church building will be open between the hours of 2 and 4. A brief presentation will be made by local pastors at specified times.

At 2:15 p.m., presentations will be made at the Campus Ministry House and at St. Mary's Catholic Church. At 3 p.m., there will be presentations at the Church of Christ, Redeemer Lutheran Church and United Presbyterian Church, and at 3:45 p.m., brief talks will be given at the First United Methodist Church, First Baptist Church and St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The public is invited to tour the churches during the Open House for Churches.

Norfolk Bride Honored at Wayne

A bridal shower was held Sunday afternoon at the Woman's Club room in Wayne for Kathy Warnke of Norfolk.

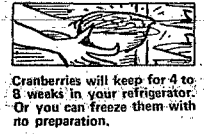

Decorations were in blue and white. Hostesses were Mrs. Lester Menke of Carroll, Mrs. Otto Test of Wayne, Mrs. Elmer Rinehart of Lincoln and Mrs. Harlan Kratke of Pender.

Forty guests attended the shower, which featured games for entertainment. Prizes were forwarded to the honoree. Kim Test of Norfolk and Debra and Donna Kratke of Pender assisted with the gifts. Mothers of the couple served coffee and punch.

Miss Warnke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warnke, and Michael Test, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Test, Jr., all of Norfolk, will be married May 20 at Grace Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

Benefit Show Features Unique Table Fashions

Plans for a benefit show, "Table Fashions on Parade," sponsored by the Wayne County Historical Society, are nearing completion.

The show will be held at the city auditorium on April 27 from 2:30 to 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend. There will be an admission charge of $1.

Several clubs and individuals throughout the county have made reservations for display tables, which range from formal dinner settings, luncheon tables featuring native, European and Oriental china and silver, tables exhibiting English and Japanese tea sets, to patio brunches and children's birthday parties.

Adding to the variety will be a table devoted to the Irish motif, a luncheon setting with shellcraft items, and miniature tea sets. There will be a Christmas flavor at the table called "Punch for Carolers," and another table titled "Cheap But Charming." A cookout, hobo style, will be the theme of one display.

Included in the clubs that have made reservations for display tables at the show are the Carroll Woman's Club, the Scattered Neighbors Club of Winslow, the Kick and Klatter Club at Hoskins, the Elkhorn Valley Iris Society, the Wayne State College German Club, and the Merry Mixers, Monday Mrs., Roving Gardeners, Happy Homemakers, PEO and Confusable Collectables Quilters Clubs of Wayne.

Individual entries include those of Mrs. Richard Armstrong, Mrs. Max Hendrickson, Mrs. William Hagerman, Mrs. Clarence Preston, Leila Maynard and Pam Meier.

The Historical Society will feature antiques at their display, entitled "Family Dinner at Grandma's."

Mrs. Maynard, a spokesman for the Wayne County Historical Society, said participants may set up tables at the auditorium after 11 a.m. on the day of the show.

For persons attending the show there will be a tea table hosted by the Wayne Woman's Club, which originally sponsored the Historical Society. Decorations at the tea table will focus on the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Historical Society and Museum.

The Woman's Club will serve coffee and cookies to those visiting the show. Members of the Historical Society in charge of planning the event are Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Charles Maier, Mrs. William Hagerman and Mrs. Lucile Larson.

The committee hopes to make the show an annual affair.

Allen Graduate Honored Twice At University

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Von Minden of Allen received word from the Black Mosque Chapter of the Board at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, that their daughter, Lori, has been named 1978 Notable Person.

The senior honor society recognizes students who have contributed significantly to the campus and community. Seven freshmen, out of 5,000 enrolled at UN-L, were selected for the honor.

A reception in their honor will be held in the Sheldon Gardens on April 29.

Miss Von Minden also has received word that she has been chosen to receive one of four James S. Pettenger scholarships in the amount of $250 each. Selection is based on academic excellence, service, and leadership contributions.

The scholarships will also be awarded during the annual Ivy Day ceremonies at Sheldon Sculpture Gardens on April 29.

Shari Hamm April Bride

Shari Hamm of Wayne and Layton Hinz of Pender, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Miss Hamm is the daughter of Melva Hamm and Daavid Hamm of Wayne. She graduated from Wayne High School in 1977 and is employed at The Apothecary Shop in Pender.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Hinz of Pender, graduated from Pender High School in 1973 and is employed at Automatic Equipment Manufacturing Co. in Pender, where the newlyweds are making their home.

Honor attendants at the couple's wedding ceremony were Chris Hamm of Wayne and Ken Essmann of Pender. Bridesmaids were Carol Stallings of Wayne and Jeana Hamm of Wausa, and groomsmen were Randy Jorgensen and Dennis Kralke, both of Pender.

The Rev. Thomas McDermott of Wayne officiated at the double ring ceremony. Flower girl was Julie Jacob of Whiting, la. and ring bearer was Jeff Atkinson of Omaha.

Tim Frankl of South Dakota sang "You Light Up My Life," "The Wedding Song" and "A Time For Us," accompanied by Mrs. Cletus Sharer of Wayne.

Guests, registered by Bonnie Atkinson of Omaha, were ushered into the church by Dave Hamm of Wayne and John Atkinson of Omaha.

The bride appeared at her father's side wearing a traditional gown of white organza over angel mist taffeta. Wide bands of Cluny lace trimmed the bodice and extended into the skirt. An inset of embroidery on the bodice was framed by a diamond-shaped outline of lace. Bands of Cluny lace trimmed the full, bishop sleeves, which were caught at the wrist by a wide cuff. The Altina skirt swept to chapel length and was edged with a double flounce banded with Cluny lace. The bride's triple-tiered veil was edged with Cluny lace and attached to a cap accented with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink, yellow and green spring flowers.

Her attendants wore floor-length polyester-crepe frocks in pink, yellow and green, styled with empire waists trimmed in lace. Matching lace was featured on the short puffed sleeves. They carried spring flowers in colors to match their dresses. The men in the wedding party wore white tuxedos with pastel shirts to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

Observing 100th Year

All friends and relatives are invited to help Mrs. Harry Postelwalt observe her 100th birthday on Wednesday, April 26, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Akron Nursing Home in Akron, Ia.

The Postelwalt family are former residents of Concord. A daughter, Mrs. Fred Anderson, resides in Ponca.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Opks of Creighton greeted the 200 guests who attended a reception at St. Mary's School following the ceremony. Gifts were arranged by Jan and Karen Baier and Shannon O'Donnell of Wayne, and Gail Jacob of Alcester, S.D.

Evelyn Ruback of Wayne and Sharon Hamm of Wausa cut and served the cake. Amy Lindsay of Wayne and Bernice Nabor of Fremont poured. Punch was served by Julie Blair of Pender and Lea Koester of Wayne. Women assisting in the kitchen were Shirley Fletcher, Jeanette Metteer and Jeanette Giese.

Waitresses were Michelle Hamm and Teresa Hamm, both of Wausa, Yvonne Edwards of Osmond and Rhonda Peterson of Alcester, S.D.

LET'S TALK IT OVER WITH DARREL FURBERT

No two pieces of property are exactly alike. Each will have appeal for a certain type of buyer, each might be wrong for another family's needs. Houses are sold by matching a particular family's needs and preferences with the features of those properties that are for sale.

Houses are almost never sold from an ad in the paper. Such ads may start someone thinking about buying but there can never be enough information in an ad to enable a buyer to decide to buy. It takes a real estate agent's careful matching of need against availability to put a family in a house where they'll be truly happy.

Our skill and experience benefits both buyer and seller. Before you buy or sell real estate, get our ideas and recommendations no obligation. "Let's Talk It Over."

Vehicles Must Have Park Entry Stickers

Regulations went into effect recently requiring park entry stickers on vehicles entering designated areas of the state park system in Nebraska, and park personnel noted most people were in compliance with the regulations, according to Dale Bree, Assistant Director of the State Game and Parks Commission.

"We had a good turnout on most of the state parks and recreation areas over the weekend," said Bree, "and some folks had purchased stickers. However, we did sell quite a few on the manned areas, and conservation officers reported brisk sales on some areas."

Bree noted, however, that there appeared to be some problem with placement of the stickers. The law stipulates that vehicle stickers be placed in the lower right hand corner of the windshield. On vehicles without windshields, they should be attached to a place that is readily visible.

The permit system was implemented in response to a need for funds to operate, maintain, and develop park areas in the state, according to Bree. A bill was passed in the state legislature last year, LB 81, that set the entrance fees. They include: resident annual, $7.50; resident daily, $1.50; nonresident annual, $12.50; and nonresident daily, $2. The permit only entitled the bearer to enter an area, and doesn't replace fees charged for other activities such as camping, swimming, and etc.

Permits will only be required during the peak season, from April 1 through August 31, according to Bree. Areas where the permit is required include all state parks and recreation areas, as well as Mormon Island and Windmill State Wayside Areas on Interstate 80. State historical parks are exempt from the permit requirement.

Permit stickers are available at all manned state parks or recreation area; at Game and Parks Commission offices in Alliance, North Platte, Bassett, Norfolk, Lincoln and Omaha; from conservation officers, and from hunting and fishing permit vendors across the state.

Winter

Inches of snow on the ground during the first several days of the month. Part of the total accumulation on the ground was the remainder of snow that had fallen in February. By the end of March, nearly all snow was gone except for small amounts remaining in sheltered areas.

Ice jams caused extensive flooding from March 17 through 22 along the lower reaches of the Elkhorn and Platte river valleys in western Douglas County. Ice jams also caused lesser flooding in other areas in eastern Nebraska.

sons to receive the top honors presented during the evening.

Receiving the Star Greenhand Award was freshman David Hansen for his outstanding work and contributions. Hansen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hansen.

The Star Chapter Farmer Award went to senior Rick Smith for his "leadership and supervised project development." His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith.

Don Bock, chapter president, was the recipient of the Outstanding Future Farmer Award given out by the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers Association for his overall leadership and ability to get along with fellow FFA members, and for his scholarship service to the FFA.

Bock, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bock and a senior at Allen, received a monetary award from the Prok Producers. His name will be engraved on a plaque alongside winners from previous years.

Two Proficiency Awards were given for development of students in a particular farming project and for knowledge gained through that project. Receiving the awards were Junior Richard Stewart in swine production, and freshman David Hansen for diversified livestock occupations.

Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stewart, and Hansen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hansen.

Junior Kevin Kraemer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Kraemer, was presented the Chapter Scholarship Award for having the best accumulative grade

WSC Honors Professor

DR. LAURA FRANKLIN, English professor at Wayne State College, unwraps a gift during a retirement dinner held Friday at Wayne State College. Dr. Franklin has been at WSC since 1947 except for two years when she returned to her alma mater, Northwestern University, and completed work on her doctorate degree. Those who attended the dinner commented Dr. Franklin is a friend of faculty and students alike and that she will be greatly missed at WSC.

Communication Course Offered

Wayne State College (WSC) will offer a career oriented communication course during the 1978 Post-session, May 9 to May 26.

The course, "Communication in Careers," will offer students an opportunity to develop communicative skills to improve career opportunities and development for today's jobs.

Jay G. VerLinden, WSC communications instructor, said the new course provides training in effective communication which is important in all fields today.

"In virtually every study relating to qualities possessed by promotable employees, several of the items mentioned will be related acquired communication skills," he said. "Many students haven't developed those skills, or aren't aware of them. As a result they have to learn them on the job where there is little room for mistakes."

VerLinden said the communicative skills are important to businesses hiring college graduates.

"There are several organizations that specialize in training businessmen in communication," he said. "To attend their workshops businesses must pay anywhere from $300 to $1500 per person. This course will allow our students to profit from the same kind of information, at a fraction of the cost to them or their employers."

The course will cover several different areas of communication including employment interviews, supervisory communication, small group communication and others.

For further information and registration phone the WSC Registrar's Office at 375-2200.

Dog Licenses On Sale Now

Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild this week announced that dog licenses are now on sale at the city clerk's office.

He said the cost of the license is $3 but will go to $4.50 May 11. Owners must have proof of rabies shot.

Chief Fairchild once again warned that dogs must be on a leash at all times.

HEALTH TIP

High blood pressure or hypertension affects all ages. One out of every seven adults has high blood pressure, according to the Nebraska Medical Association. Anyone can have high blood pressure, even children. Research indicates that high blood pressure or hypertension may be an inherited tendency.

The problem with hypertension is that there are no symptoms. A relaxed, happy, apparently healthy person may be as apt to have high blood pressure as a tense person. Only a blood pressure reading will tell.

Men appear to be at greater risk than women when hypertension is indicated. Authorities report that women appear to handle higher levels of blood pressure better than men, although the incidence of high readings is about equal between the sexes.

Medical care can detect and treat high blood pressure. Effective drugs are available, and physicians are knowledgeable in their use. Untreated high blood pressure can lead to stroke, heart disease, kidney disease and other physical problems.

The Nebraska Medical Association suggests that every family member, young and old, have a blood pressure reading to determine whether they should be under treatment.

Deadline Nears for Registration

COUNTY CLERK Norris Weible issues an invitation to all county voters to register and then vote in the May 9 primary. The deadline for registering is April 28. Norris said those who have moved since the last election or have changed their name (marriage, etc.) are required to re-register. He pointed out it is not necessary to re-register if persons wish to change parties. There is no non-political ballot in the primary.

Predicts Average Year for Northeast Fishermen

Lee Rupp, fisheries supervisor for the northeast, predicts an average year for his area, but says that a lot depends on the extent of winterkill in ponds and small reservoirs. "It's still too early to tell how serious winterkill was," he said.

Rupp cited several bright spots in his area, including the possible opening of Maskenthine Reservoir near Stanton, which is managed by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District. Spring runoff has filled Maskenthine, and is replenishing reservoirs and ponds throughout the district.

The northeast offers several good fishing spots. The Loup Power Canal will feature its customary fine catfishing, and will also offer a new walleye population above Genoa begun by a Game and Parks Commission stocking program three years ago.

The unchannelized portion of the Missouri River has good potential for walleye, sauger and catfish, and Cottonwood Lake below Gavins Point Dam should provide big crappie and a variety of other fish. Many Nebraskans are unaware that part of the lake is under their state's jurisdiction, according to Rupp. Sand Hills Fisheries Supervisor Larry Hutchinson says 1978 should be regarded as a "rebuilding year in his area, at least for lake fishermen. The waters of the Valentine National Wildlife Refuge, which makes up a large part of the area's lake fishing, will be mostly out of production for the next couple of years because of winterkill and renovation to remove rough fish. "Pelican Lake will offer some spring fishing, but it is scheduled to be renovated this summer. In a few years, after restocking and time for game fish to grow, the refuge's fishing should again be tops," Hutchinson said.

"We may also have some problems with winterkill on other Sand Hills lakes, but we won't know for a while yet. We put an aerator in Long Lake in Brown County in hopes of saving it, but we'll have to wait and see on other lakes. Merritt Reservoir is the brightest spot in the area for warmwater fishing, and several trout streams offer excellent coldwater resources," he concluded.

The Hegald inadvertently listed Lois M. Allister, Norfolk, as receiving a citation for speeding. This is incorrect.

It was due to a lot of hot air that man first flew. In 1783, two men floated over the streets of Paris in a balloon, feeding wood, straw and coal into a fire. Why? Hot air is lighter than cold air, and a balloon filled with it rises.

WCTU Spring Institute Is Held at Concord

The District 4 Women's Christian Temperance Union Spring Institute was held April 10 at the Concordia Lutheran Church in Concord with the Friendship Union as hostesses.

Coffee hour and registration began the day, with the meeting opening at 10 a.m. President Mrs. Harold Olson presided. Lucille Thompson of Laurel gave the welcome and Marie Johnson of Wakefield gave the response. Pastor William Anderson of Dixon gave the morning devotion, "Light Through God" from John 8.

Special music was provided by Lillian Bowers of Norfolk, who also led the group in singing. All reports were given before the noon luncheon. One Minute Presidents were given during the noon hour.

The afternoon session began with devotions by the Rev. Rebecca Fogelman of Norfolk, "Our Needs," from Psalm 23. A duet was performed by Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Don Dahquist. All directors' reports were given, special memberships were noted and an offering taken.

Noemia Ellis of Allen was elected Recording Secretary, and all the other present officers will hold their positions for another year. The officers were installed and an invitation was extended to have the 1979 district meeting in April at Norfolk.

The Friendship Circle sang "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and benediction closed the meeting.

Ladies Visit
April 10 a group of ladies from the Evangelical Free Church visited the Wakefield Health Care Center and presented a program, brought cookies and shared afternoon refreshments with the residents. They also toured the center.

Golden Rule
The Golden Rule Club met the afternoon of April 13 with Mrs. Earl Porter as hostess. There were 17 members present.

Mrs. Clarence Rastede gave a book review on "The First Ladies of the Land," from Mrs. George Washington to Mrs. Richard Nixon.

Mrs. Roy Pearson will be the May 11 hostess.

Pleasant Dell
The Pleasant Dell Club met the afternoon of April 13 with Mrs. Elray Hank as hostess. Members answered mail call with a favorite cake. Mrs. Clifford Fredrickson led pencil games for entertainment.

Minnie Carlson will be the May 11 hostess, when roll call will be a plant exchange.

Recital Sunday
Piano students of Mrs. Iner Peterson and Mrs. Roy Hanson held a recital Sunday afternoon at Concordia Lutheran Church. Many relatives and friends attended. Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Hanson gave awards to those participating.

The students presented their teachers with corsages and gifts, and the mothers served lunch at the close of the program.

Coming Event
The Concord Betterment Association will meet Monday, April 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the Concord firehall. Coffee and cookies will be served following the business meeting. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Honor Birthdays
Esther Peterson, Clara Swanson, and Mrs. Hans Johnson joined Ellen Loggren and Reuben Goldberg, Wakefield, Mrs. Julius Peterson, Stanton, Ia., and Vivian Guleen, Omaha, for dinner April 9 in the George Magnuson home, Wayne, honoring the birthdays of Mrs. Loggren and Vivian Guleen.

Joining them for the afternoon were the Lee Johnsons, the Ernest Swansons, the Dwayne Bjorklunds, and Rev. and Mrs. Doniver Peterson.

Miss Guleen is a retired missionary from Tanzania, Africa, and spoke at the morning worship service at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne, Sunday morning.

Birthdays guests in the Ivan Johnson home April 9 and 10 to honor the hostess's birthday of April 10 were Mrs. Kenneth Packer, Emma Fredrickson, the Vern Carlsons and the Laurence Carlsons, all of Wakefield.

Guests in the Quinten Erwin home Friday evening honoring the hostess' April 15 birthday were the Harvey Rastedes, Laurel, the Alvin Rastedes and the Marvin Rastedes, Allen, the Verdel Erwins, the Clarence Pearsons, the Dick Rastedes and the Glen Rices. Sunday supper guests were the Rick Erwin family, Laurel, the Waldo Johnsons, Wausa, and the Lyle Cleveland, Wayne.

Sunday guests in the Clarence Pearson home honoring their wedding anniversary and the birthday of the hostess were the Marion Johnson family and Mrs. Clarence Rastede and Lars. Evening guests were the Roy Pearsons, the George Andersons, the Jack Parks, the Dick Rastedes, the Glen Rices, the Alvin Rastedes and the Harvey Rastedes.

The Neal Kliver family and Esther Borg were Sunday guests in the Cecil Clark home honoring the birthdays of his hostess and a granddaughter, Sally Kliver. Mrs. John Cain, Portland, Ore., telephoned birthday greetings to her mother, Mrs. Clark.

Waterfowl Area Is Now Open

The Plattsmouth Waterfowl Area opened for the summer as scheduled on April 15, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

The recent flood caused considerable damage to the area's road system. Visitors are therefore cautioned to observe all signs and to drive with care.

Since Plattsmouth is first and foremost a waterfowl management area, provisions for recreation are limited. However, visitors can enjoy fishing, picnicking, nature observation, wildlife photography, hiking and mushroom hunting.

Fishing is the primary summer sport. The area provides bank-fishing access to two miles of Missouri River and one mile of Platte River. The area is open daily from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Overnight camping is not permitted.

stone, Minn., visited relatives in the Wayne, Laurel, and Concord areas April 10 and 11. They were en route home after visiting a son and family, the Burdell Petersons, in California.

The Roy Pearsons spent April 10 and 11 in the Harold Pearson home, Akron, Ia.

Ida Ulrich, Spiro, Okla., arrived April 10 to spend some time in the Fred Mann home. Mrs. Ulrich was a Wednesday morning guest in the Arvid Peterson home.

HEALTH TIP

When you have a fever, it is an indication that something is wrong.

The Nebraska Medical Association reports that fever causes the body to produce more heat than it gives off.

There are several causes of fever, the most common cause is disease or infection. Fever effects may range from mild discomfort to convulsions and possible brain damage. Physicians recommend you drink plenty of fluids to keep your body's water balance high.

You should seek proper care to determine the origin or reason for the fever. The fever victim should get plenty of rest and eat easy-to-digest foods with proteins and vitamins. Aspirin may assist in reducing a fever.

The Nebraska Medical Association urges you to make a fever patient as comfortable as possible. Immediate care is very important to the well-being of the patient until cause and cure can be established. Consult your physician.

HEALTH TIP

Whether you are getting out of the office into the garden or up to the mountains, your vacation should be a complete change from your usual routine. Remember the main purposes of a vacation... rest and recreation.

Self-made men who formerly boasted they never took a vacation now require their employees to do so, because they have learned that properly arranged vacations improve health.

Whether a family vacations together or separately depends on the members of the family, their likes and dislikes, and whether they have been together or separated during the year.

If you plan an active vacation, begin strenuous activities slowly until endurance is established, then maintain a sensible level.

The Parable of Chewing Gum Man***

It was common knowledge among his colleagues that William Wrigley, Jr. attributed the success of his chewing gum empire to constant and forceful advertising.

Once he was traveling to California on the famous but now extinct Super Chief with a young accountant from his firm. As they were reviewing the figures for a quarterly statement, the young man said, "Sir, Wrigley's gum is known and sold all over the world. We have a larger share of the market than all of our competitors combined. Why don't you now save the millions you are spending on advertising and shift those dollars into the profit column for the next quarter?"

Wrigley thought for a moment and then asked "Young man, how fast is this train going?"

"About sixty miles an hour," replied the young accountant.

And Wrigley asked, "Then why doesn't the railroad remove the engine and let the train travel on its own momentum?"

Moral: Cut your promotional dollars and you cut your own steam. Keep your momentum going with a regular advertising program in

Apple Roll

This Recipe starts with biscuit dough and ends as dessert

- 1 recipe of Biscuit Dough
- 2 tablespoons Butter
- 1/2 cup Sugar
- 2 teaspoons Cinnamon
- 2 Apples, sliced
- 2 cups Water
- 1 cup Sugar
- 1 or 2 drops Red Food Coloring

Prepare biscuit dough from favorite recipe or from directions on biscuit mix box. Roll dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Melt butter and spread over dough. Top with cinnamon and 1/2 cup sugar. Slice apples and spread evenly over dough. Roll up as a cinnamon roll and slice (1 inch thick). Place in a shallow pan so edges do not touch.

Combine 1 cup of sugar, water and coloring. Bring to a boil and pour over rolls. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees, testing apples for doneness.

Very good!

Mrs. John Violette
Wayne, Nebr.

Lemon Cake

- 1 package of either Lemon Flake, Lemon Velvet or Lemon Supreme Cake Mix
- 1 box Lemon Jello
- 3/4 cup Wesson Oil
- 3/4 cup cold Water
- 4 Eggs

Mix together cake mix and lemon jello. Add oil, water and eggs. Beat with mixer for 3 minutes. Spread in an 8 x 12-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Cake tests done when it shrinks from sides of pan.

As soon as cake is taken from oven, make tracks in cake with a fork. Glaze with a powdered sugar-orange juice icing while cake is hot.

Mrs. Etta Jackson
Winside, Nebr.

Bachelor Bread

- 3 cups Self Rising Flour (or 3 cups regular flour plus 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder)
- 1/4 teaspoon Salt
- 3 heaping tablespoons Sugar
- 1 can Beer

Mix ingredients together and place in a well-greased loaf pan. Bake 35 to 45 minutes at 375 degrees. Brush top with butter while still hot.

Delicious served warm. Also delicious toasted or served cold as a shortcake with berries and whipped topping.

Peg Luff
Wayne, Nebr.

Hamburger and Rice Casserole

- Two-thirds cup Rice (cooked in water until tender)
- 1 can Cream of Mushroom Soup
- 1 pound Ground Beef (browned in a skillet and grease poured off)
- 1 small Onion
- Salt and Pepper to taste
- Buttered Bread Crumbs

Cook onion and hamburger in skillet; pour off grease. Add soup, browned ground beef and salt and pepper to cooked rice. Top with buttered bread crumbs and bake until brown. Topping — 1/2 stick melted oleo and 4 slices white bread mixed well with fork.

Mrs. Ernest Anderson
Wayne, Nebr.

Raw Vegetable Dip

- Two-thirds cup Mayonnaise
- Two-thirds cup Sour Cream
- 2 tablespoons Beau Monde
- 2 tablespoons Parsley Flakes
- 2 tablespoons Dill Weed
- 2 tablespoons grated Onion or Onion Flakes

Good on peppers, cauliflower or any vegetable.

Mrs. Carl Mellick
Wayne, Nebr.

Delicious Macaroni Salad

- 1 1/2 pounds Macaroni
- 1 Onion, chopped
- 1 Green Pepper, chopped
- 2 Carrots, grated
- 1/2 cup chopped Celery
- 1 can Sweetened Condensed Milk
- 1 cup Cider Vinegar
- 2 cups Mayonnaise
- Sugar to taste (optional)

Cook macaroni. Drain and rinse with cold water. Combine macaroni with vegetables. Combine milk, vinegar, mayonnaise and sugar, and pour over macaroni mixture. Toss well and chill several hours before serving.

This is the best flavored macaroni salad I have ever eaten.

Buttermilk Nut Bread

- 2 cups firmly packed Brown Sugar
- 2 beaten Eggs
- 1/2 cup Cooking Oil
- 3 cups All-Purpose White Flour
- 2 cups Buttermilk
- 2 level teaspoons Soda
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- 2 teaspoons Vanilla
- 1/2 cup or more Nutmeats

Mix sugar, oil and eggs well. Sift flour, soda and salt together and add alternately with the buttermilk. Add nutmeats and vanilla.

Bake in two regular or three smaller greased and floured loaf pans for 40 to 45 minutes at 350 to 375 degrees.

Freezes very well.

Mrs. Ed Grubb
Wayne, Nebr.

Congo Squares

- 3 1/2 cups sifted Flour
- 2 1/2 teaspoons Baking Powder
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- 7/8 cup Shortening
- 2 1/4 cups (1 lb.) Brown Sugar
- 3 Eggs
- 1 cup broken Nutmeats (if desired)
- 1 package (6 oz.) Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate Chips

Sift together and set aside the flour, baking powder and salt. Melt the shortening in a large saucepan. Stir in brown sugar and allow to cool slightly. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture, nutmeats and chocolate chips.

Pour into a greased 15 x 10 x 1-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 25 to 30 minutes. Yields 3 dozen, 2-inch squares.

Statewide property tax equilization

CAPITOL NEWS

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN — A bill aimed at achieving statewide tax equilization through a uniform and revaluation system of reappraisal and revaluation is of this legislative starting its trip through the writing machinery.

The measure is an outgrowth of a special legislative committee established early in the session to study Nebraska's property tax system.

Because time in the 60 day session was running very short when the committee's proposal hit the legislative floor, its provisions were incorporated into another bill that provides for using a computer to maintain a statewide valuation system.

The new legislation, designed to achieve or come close to achieving statewide equilization in four to five years, would mandate counties to revalue all lands and improvements for 1977 assessments by May 30, 1979.

Under the measure, the state tax commissioner would begin this year to develop a program to implement a statewide revaluation program with the help of a computer. The system would become fully operational by March 1, 1982.

Sen. Cal Carsten of Avoca, chairman of the special committee, received permission to have the bill moved ahead of some others during the closing days of the session. This didn't sit too well with some of his colleagues but many others agreed the proposal deserved immediate attention.

Sen. Steve Fowler of Lincoln said the biggest critics the state has is property taxes, and Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue said the legislature could not bury its head on the issue.

Sen. Donald Dvorak of First in the history of the state that he knew of "that a very serious legislative, workable bill was being approached."

Carsten emphasized the legislation would not diminish the functions and duties of county assessors. It would provide, he added, for a cooperative system with a centralized computer in the Nebraska Department of Revenue.

The bill would not upset a 1977 law that mandated that counties revalue property by this past January or lose a part of the property tax reimbursements they receive from the state.

Carsten noted about 80 percent of the counties have revalued their properties but inequities continue because not all counties have placed the new values on the books. Carsten said the 20 percent of the counties that failed to revalue represent about half the state's population.

Medical Bill Advances
The lawmakers have given preliminary approval to a bill under which medical students who plan to practice in Nebraska areas where doctors are few and far between could receive state-funded loans. Sen. Richard Marech of Milligan sponsored the legislation, which provides medical graduates who actually practice in shortage areas would be excused from repaying their loans. But those who did not follow through and practice in doctor-short regions would have to repay their loans at the highest interest rates allowed.

Marech estimated $70,000 during each of the first two years of the loan program. The state's support would rise to $140,000 the third year and then level off at about $200,000 annually, Marech said.

The Nebraska Rural Manpower Health Commission would be in charge of the program. The state would be obligated for a maximum of 75 percent of each loan, and the University of Nebraska Medical College would be responsible for the other 25 percent.

Another stipulation in the bill is that each student would be limited to receiving $7,000 a year, and the total loan to any student could not exceed $20,000.

Another section of the proposal provides the loan program would be restricted to ten new borrowers each year and no more than 40 students could be involved in the program during any one academic year.

After the loans had been in effect for ten years, the commission would evaluate the program's effectiveness and decide whether its continuance was warranted.

More Tech College Debate
An attempt was made recently to limit the scope of a bill to place a moratorium on new capital construction projects at technical community colleges.

The measure, heavily debated during the closing weeks of the session, was sponsored by Sens. Sam Cullen of Hemingford and Richard Marvell of Hastings.

Sen. Gerald Koch of Ralston sought to change the legislation so the moratorium would have been lifted for those colleges that had already planned construction projects.

The bill provides that building projects costing more than $100,000 would have to be approved by a vote of the people in the tech college district served by the school. Colleges could proceed without a vote on projects if land had been acquired and plans made for them by this spring.

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island was unsuccessful in an attempt to allow the various colleges to construct buildings that would be used specifically for construction.

The tech districts are permitted to levy up to one mill for capital construction, and some of the legislators believe the schools are planning more construction than the revenue from one mill can accommodate.

Governor Crops Away

As the lawmakers headed into their home stretch, Gov. J. James Exon kept a fairly steady stream of veto messages going their way.

Last week Exon reminded the senators he had already trimmed their spending proposals by approximately $8 million.

"Even this large amount will not totally serve to bring your current spending plans back into line with the existing sales and income tax rates and still maintain my original recommendation of a 5 percent reserve," the governor said. "To accomplish this, I again urge you to show restraint in your spending proposals."

Among vetoed items was one proposing $450,000 for the Legislative Council. Exon said he understood that money was to be spent for renovation and redecoration of senatorial offices.

"In light of my other necessary vetoes, I don't believe this to be a priority item at this time," he said.

Coordination Proposal Criticized

A national publication — The Chronicle of Higher Education — says in its latest issue the Nebraska Legislature's proposal to coordinate post-secondary education would amount to a unique assertion of legislative authority over academic programming.

If it went on to say the legislation is "a step seemingly unparalleled even in this era of growing state government involvement in college and university affairs."

Disagreeing with the criticism were Ed Schwartzkopf of Lincoln, chairman of the Board of Regents, and Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, principal author of the coordination concept.

Warner said higher education is the responsibility of the Legislature, "any way you look at it." He opened the coordinating process will be open and flexible and could even lead to more legislative control, rather than more, because role and mission statements would establish guidelines.

Schwartzkopf said Nebraska senators are trying to do what they think is best for the state. He noted Ronald Roskens, president of the University of Nebraska, has a special coordinating group working with senators and state agencies.

Public Radio Debated
Many Nebraska lawmakers apparently believe public radio is a good idea — but not this year when they are trying to make every penny in every dollar count.

The bill calling for establishment of public radio came up recently but got stuck on a 20-20 ballot when it came time to give it first round approval.

Even before the tie vote, the legislation had been amended to provide for another year's study before anything concrete was done.

The measure would certainly be vetoed if it reached the governor's desk, according to legislative observers.

Sun to shine on solar power

WASHINGTON — Nearly all power is solar power. That's worth remembering on Sun Day, May 3.

It is the heating and cooling of the earth that causes the winds to blow and would vapor to rise, condense, fall, and run through hydroelectric plants.

It is from long-ged vegetation, nurtured in its own time by the sun, that we get coal, petroleum and natural gas.

It is from vegetation recently alive that we get wood to burn, as well as fodder to feed the animals that provide energy for the primitive plow.

So the idea of using the sun as a source of energy is not a new one. What's new is the possibility of obtaining significant amounts of energy directly from the sun's rays, without the intervention of a biological-geophysical middleman. And because of that, solar power (as we think of it now) is actually less "natural" than those earlier sources of solar energy, because it depends more on man's technology and less on nature's.

Nevertheless, the direct conversion of sunlight into useful heat or electrical energy has many attractive features:

The fuel itself is free. There are no dangerous by-products. The process doesn't even add to the total temperature of the ecosystem, since the sunlight being used would have fallen on earth anyway, adding the same amount of energy.

Right now, there's just one serious problem with solar power: It costs too much. We do not yet know how to engineer a direct-conversion process that can beat the present cost of power generated by other means.

Take water heaters, to use one simple illustration. A conventional gas home water heater has an installed price tag of around $300, and costs $10-15 a month to run. A solar-powered water heating system has an initial cost in the $2,000-$3,000 range. Added to that is the cost of a backup system to run on cloudy days, and perhaps a buck or two a month to run the pumps.

So if your solar water heater saved you $10 a month in utility bills, it would still take over 15 years just to recover your initial investment. The savings on fuel costs would be bigger for an entire home heating system. But, so would the initial cost, much bigger.

The key to solar power development is the cost of competing fuels. We have actually hindered the introduction of alternative forms of power by keeping the price of fossil fuel (especially natural gas) below its true value.

Present government interference, as the supplies of fossil fuel grow scarcer, they will rise in price. As developments work on solar power continues, it will fall in price. At some point in the future, the upward curve of fossil fuel cost will cross the downward curve of solar power cost, marking the transition to a new energy era. That's how we moved from wood to coal, for example.

It is very important to note that for this transition to occur smoothly, the price of the "old" power source must be free to rise. Such a rise both forces conservation of a dwindling resource and provides an incentive for the development of alternatives. Consequently, enlightened supporters of solar power should be among the most militant foes of energy price controls.

We could convert to solar power sooner by government edict, of course, which is what some people seem to favor. But doing so now would simply be the equivalent of ordering all energy users to pay more than necessary for their energy.

I have great faith in the future of solar power. Either that — or hydrogen fusion — or the two together will probably be our ultimate energy supply. It is not the destination that troubles me, but the route and the price of the ticket.

OBSERVATIONS

You can help

One of the top projects by the Wayne County is to provide the best health care possible. The prime objective is to increase the number of doctors to take the load off the three doctors already in practice here.

This problem is by no means unique. Most rural communities are having problems in recruiting and keeping medical doctors. And most communities provide the same basic requirements for recruiting doctors: The two things that tip the scales are the personal needs of a prospective doctor and the "extras" provided by the community itself.

One of the major "extras" taken into consideration by a doctor looking for a rural location is the people who live in the community. Wayne residents can help a doctor make a positive decision just by being themselves.

Doctors looking for a rural location are interested in a permanent move. It's a major decision on their part and because of demand they can be choosy. They strip away the facade of a community and take a close look at what makes a community "tick."

The Wayne community has a lot going for it. It presents a better-than-average profile. The colleges, the schools, industry, business, recreation, churches all tend to make Wayne a good place in which to live and work. It's that "something extra" that will make a doctor give a "thumbs up" to locating in Wayne.

Doctors are people and their prime interest is people. . . . So the two must mesh to make a solid relationship. A doctor looking at a community wants all the information he or she can get before making a decision.

Topping the list of a people profile is attitude. Doctors want to know what the residents of a community think about their community.

We know of one instance when a doctor made an unannounced visit to a community and spent a day visiting business places and talking to the clerks. He did not identify himself as being a doctor. He wanted to hear it all.

He made the decision to locate in the community, mainly because of what he learned about the community from the people who lived in the community. He singled out one person as being the prime mover in his decision. This person ranked shoes for a living. But when asked about the community, he laid down his tools and spent an hour explaining why he thought his community was the best place in the world to make a home. He even locked up his shop and took the man on a tour of the town. He did not do this for selfish gain, but because he truly believed in his town.

The point we're trying to make is that if we're going to persuade doctors to locate in Wayne, we're going to have to be sold about the community ourselves. And it's not a one-man job. It's a concentrated sales job by everyone in the community. And you don't have to paint every word rosey. If you have some reservations about the community, be certain and include them in your tale of the city. The most important thing you can do in helping to provide better health in the Wayne community and the area, is to make an assessment of Wayne and then give an honest opinion when asked. Your attitude and your opinion are important. — Chuck Barnes.

WRAPPING NEWLY PLANTED TREES

Wrapping newly planted trees is a good practice. Sun scald can cause severe injury to smooth barked trees such as maples, lindens, ash and fruit trees, unless the main trunk is wrapped. Rodents feeding on the main trunk near the base of the trees can also cause serious damage.

Paper, wax, aluminum foil and a commercially available plastic coil wrap are effective in preventing sun scald damage and rodent injury.

The commercially available tree wrap will also aid in the prevention of borer attack to certain trees.

Cats sharpen their claws on young trees and puppies will chew on the bark. Tree wrap will aid in preventing this injury as well.

CARING FOR LAWN

Lawn aeration and power raking are two different processes which involve different pieces of equipment.

A power rake has fixed or flailing vertical knives which tear through the turf into the mineral soil. This practice is used to remove layers of thatch to open up the lawn.

Do not set the power rake too deep for spring renovation.

A lawn aerator is a coring device that removes plugs of soil from the lawn. Aeration reduces thatch formation and relieves soil compaction. Using a coring device, the spring is the best way to help water and fertilizer

FREEZE DAMAGE TO FRUIT

Deciduous fruits require dormancy and benefit from cold, but are sensitive to freezing slightly before, during and after blossoming.

A ranking of fruit trees in order of decreasing hardness is apples, peaches, cherries, plums, apricots. Earlier blossoming and bearing varieties are more subject to freezing damage than later bearers.

Susceptibility to freeze injury increases as blossoms open. Tree fruit blossoms in a tight bud stage can tolerate temperatures as low as 22 to 25 degrees Fahrenheit. Blossoms in full bloom on those that have developed into small green fruit may be injured between 28 and 30 degrees F.

When snow cover disappears and Nebraska goes through one of its frequent dry spells, wild fires are a hazard.

Don Westover, fire management coordinator in the Department of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said dead, dried grass is a prime target for wildfire.

"Dead grass contains very little moisture and is very susceptible to ignition. Once ignited in grassy fields and pastures, fire will spread rapidly, fanned by high spring winds," he said.

Stored Grain Perishable; Need Good Management

Farmers who store grain should remember that grain is perishable and can develop molds if not managed correctly, warned Dr. Ben Douplik, Jr., district extension plant pathologist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln South Central Station.

Grain deterioration can result from improper temperature; moisture; storage structure; physical properties of the grain itself; diseases; insects; mites; rodents; birds; bacteria and molds, Douplik said.

"Quality may be lost when one or more of these variables get out of balance for a prolonged period," Douplik said.

Research in recent years has increased in the control of molds to insure and maintain grain quality. This research received a great impetus from the identification of mycotoxins in grains. Mycotoxins are chemical compounds produced by molds which are toxic to animals.

Molds that invade grain can be divided into two groups, based primarily on time of invasion, Douplik said. Those types are field molds and storage molds.

Field molds invade grain before harvest or after the grain is cut and swathed but before it is threshed. These molds include species of Helminthosporium, cladosporium, Alternaria and fusarium, Douplik said. High grain moisture (20-22 percent) is a requirement for growth of these molds, he said, but added that field molds seldom cause mycotoxin problems under Nebraska conditions.

"Storage molds invade grain at moisture contents in equilibrium with relative humidities of 70-90 percent. Therefore, they are able to invade grain at lower moisture levels than field molds -- as low as 15 percent for some species. The principal storage molds are Aspergillus and Penicillium species and often are involved in mycotoxin problems, the plant pathologist pointed out.

"Many molds are not capable of producing mycotoxins even though they may invade grain," he said. "Just because a given sample of grain is moldy, it is not necessarily toxic." Even so, Douplik advised that caution be used in feeding moldy grain to livestock.

Molds, or fungi as they are more properly called, Douplik said, are lower plants that lack chlorophyll. Therefore, they cannot synthesize their own food.

"Molds are found everywhere and are responsible for much of the disintegration of organic matter, destroying food, fabrics, leather, wood and other substances. Molds also cause the majority of plant diseases and many diseases of animals and man," Douplik pointed out.

"Other examples of mycotoxins are the aflatoxins, Douplik said, which are a group of closely related compounds produced by the mold "Aspergillus flavus." Aflatoxins are very toxic to many animal species but have not been a major problem in Nebraska corn.

Favorable conditions for mycotoxin development include 16-25 percent kernel moisture, temperatures between 80 and 100 degrees F, along with 80-100 percent relative humidities.

"Any type of stress such as root and stalk rots and other diseases, lodging, insect damage and drought may predispose the grain to mold invasion," Douplik cautioned. Improperly stored grain is the major cause of mycotoxin problems in Nebraska, while field problems are fairly low.

When animals are affected by eating moldy grain, tetrae, signs include loss of appetite, weight loss, diarrhea, bleeding, unthriftiness and/or nervousness.

"Feeding trials are the only reliable test, providing the grain doesn't continue to deteriorate after the feeding test," he said. He advised placing three or four test animals in a separate pen and feeding for 10 days to two weeks. If none of the symptoms occur within that time, the grain can be assumed safe to feed to the entire herd. If some symptoms appear, the grain could be diluted 1:1 or 1:2 with good quality grain.

"It is usually safer to feed moldy grain to older, nonpregnant animals, however," Douplik said.

To reduce the formation of mycotoxins, Douplik recommends proper harvesting, handling and storage.

Crops should be allowed to mature in the field to a certain moisture range, if possible, he said. The percentage for shelled corn is 23-25 percent; 25-30 percent for ear corn; 12-17 percent for small grains, including sorghum; and 10-16 percent for soybeans.

Harvesting equipment should be adjusted for minimum cracking and maximum cleaning. Much of the mold growth and mycotoxin formation is associated with cracked kernels and debris, he said.

"Dry all grain to a safe moisture level within 48 hours. If this is not possible, dry to 18-20 percent, then aerate. A uniform moisture level of 13 percent or below is considered safe for long-term storage of most feed GRAIN, page 5

The next meeting is May 10 at 7 p.m. in the Darrel Fuelberth home.

Urges Check Of Heat Lamps

Lack of attention to small details can sometimes result in serious losses. Now is the time to review carefully any fire hazards left over from winter.

Heat lamps temporarily installed during winter emergencies may need checking at this time to remove potential danger.

Stan Staring, Dixon County Extension Agent, says that clipping type heat lamps often start fires when accidentally dislodged or when the object to which they are attached is knocked over. Attention to fire risk or relocation could greatly improve safety.

Flammable dust from grain, hay, or other such materials often accumulates to the point of becoming dangerous. Presence of spider webs around heat lamps or light bulbs greatly increases the amount of such dust present. Regular cleaning of in-use bulbs and lamps and preparatory cleaning of such rooms which have remained unused for a long period of time is wise.

Heat tapes used to prevent pipe freeze-ups should be unplugged now. Most are not designed to operate safely at temperatures above 70 degrees F. Even thermostat-equipped units can become a hazard if the thermostat fails to function.

Electrical circuit boxes are another source of problems. Vapors from animal wastes sometimes corrode terminals badly enough to result in electrical shorts. Recently-built confinement buildings generally have such boxes in a separately-enclosed room or on the outside of the building.

Peppy Pals

The Wayne Peppy Pals 4-H Club met the evening of April 12 in the home of Dick Keldel. Eight members and 11 adults were present. Roll call was answered with "What you learn from your project sessions."

Blaine Johs called the meeting to order and the pledges were recited. The Ditch Clean Up was scheduled for April 15.

Matt Baler and Dean Fuelberth gave speeches. Jeff Keldel gave a demonstration on the killing and relaxing jars. Project sessions were held. Mrs. Hilbert Johs gave a record farm lesson and Mrs. Dick Keldel gave a parliamentary procedure lesson.

The group sang songs and played games. A dessert was served. The members are to bring theme booth ideas to future meetings.

The next meeting is May 10 at 7 p.m. in the Darrel Fuelberth home.

Check Crops For Moisture

Grain producers who use aeration in crops storage should check the crop for moisture on top, for hot spots and other signs of grain spoilage. If evidence of these problems is found, it's time to take action to prevent further grain damage.

E.A. Olson, Extension agricultural engineer at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said during fall and winter months of aeration, moisture may have increased in the top layers of grain if the fan was operated during the winter when the weather was too cold or damp.

"This increase in moisture also can be caused by over-cooling the grain during the winter," he said. As the damp grain in the surface layers warms up in the spring, the high moisture grain may be damaged by molds and insects. Additional aeration in the spring when the air becomes warm and dry may be needed to dry this damp grain to prevent excessive damage.

He emphasized that precautions should be observed when stored grain is aerated in spring and summer. "It is safe to start warming grain in April or early May -- before hot weather arrives. If grain is warmed later in the summer, aeration should be continued until all the grain in storage is near air temperature," he said.

When warm air is moved through colder grain, he cautioned, some moisture from the air collects on the grain. If the grain is cold enough, water may condense on it. This condensation usually takes place where the warm air first strikes the cold grain.

"If the aeration is continued, the zone between the warm and cold grain moves in the direction of the airflow. Any moisture transferred to the cold grain dries out again after the grain is warmed," Olson said.

The agricultural engineers stressed the importance of keeping the warming zone moving until all the grain is raised to the temperature of the air.

"When warming is not continued, the zone between the warm and cold grain will very likely begin to heat and cause more damage to the grain."

To check stored grain temperature, Olson advises using a grain temperature probe to test the grain. If a probe is not available, a simple method is to attach a small thermometer to a length of string and lower it into a pipe pushed into the grain. "After a few minutes, raise the thermometer and read it quickly. When warm spots are found, it's time to take action," he said.

"It's best to aerate the grain with air that will not change the moisture content of the grain. For grain with a particular moisture content, there is a range of relative humidities of the air that will not affect grain moisture," Olson said. Moisture of the grain and of the air are then said to be in equilibrium.

"For instance, shelled corn at 13 percent moisture is in equilibrium with a relative humidity of 50 to 60 percent with an air temperature of 30 to 50 degrees F. If corn at 13 percent is aerated with air at higher humidity, the grain moisture may increase slightly," he said.

CARROLL NEWS / Carroll Woman's Club Plans May Tea

The Carroll Woman's Club will hold its annual May tea at the auditorium on May 11.

Chairmen for the event are Edward Ford and Mrs. Leo Jordan, entertainment; Mrs. Ralph Olson and Mrs. Enos Williams, serving, and Mrs. Milton Owens and Mrs. Martin Hansen, dining room.

The Woman's Club met Thursday morning for an Easter breakfast in the club room.

Theme was "Time to Renew." Over 110 members and guests attended the breakfast. Hostesses were Mrs. Martin Hansen, Mrs. Charles Whitney, Mrs. Milton Owens and Mrs. Enos Williams.

Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Ervin Wittler read "Easter Thoughts" and the group sang the table graces.

Mrs. Esther Batten conducted the business meeting. Members sang "Easter Parade" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Mrs. Edward Fork was song leader and Mrs. Leo Jordan was accompanist.

Mrs. Robert Johnson reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Merlin Kenny read the treasurer's report.

Roll call was a scripture verse. The Carroll Woman's Club is planning to feature a table at the Wayne County Historical Society's fund-raiser, called "Table Fashions on Parade," on April 27 at the city auditorium in Wayne.

Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Lloyd Morris, Mrs. Ruth Jones and Mrs. Leo Jordan are in charge of setting the table. Women appointed to make new yearbooks are Mrs. Milton Owens, Mrs. John Swanson, Mrs. Leo Jordan, Mrs. Ervin Wittler and Mrs. Lynn Roberts.

Thelma Woods was in charge of sharing and told about her recent trip to the west and southern United States.

Eleven members of the Star Extension Club met with Mrs. Melvin Jenkins April 11, answering roll call by telling where they go to vote.

Mrs. Robert Peterson conducted the meeting and Mrs. Merlin Malchow reported on the last meeting.

The lesson on energy choices in the kitchen was given by Mrs. Keith Owens.

Mrs. Kermit Benschoff will be the May 9 hostess and Mrs. Don Harmer will present the lesson.

Mrs. Morris Honored Mrs. Clarence Morris was honored for her birthday Friday evening.

Guests in the Morris home were the Harry Lesbergs and Kory, and the Bob Bodensiedts, all of Wayne, the Darryl Fiedts of Wisner and the Leo Stephenses.

Birthdays Observed Mrs. Maurice Hansen entertained Friday afternoon honoring the birthdays of Mrs. Clarence Morris, Mrs. Stanley Morris and Mrs. John Rethwisch.

Others attending were Mrs. Perry Johnson and Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Home from Hospital Allen Stoltenberg was released Saturday from Clarkson Hospital in Omaha. He had been a patient there since April 2. Mrs. Stoltenberg had stayed in the Don Stoltenberg home at Bellevue. Stoltenberg stayed there Saturday night and returned home Sunday.

Tamara Fork returned home Saturday from the Children's Memorial Hospital in Omaha, where she had been a patient since April 4. Her mother, Mrs. Connie Fork, had stayed with her. The Edward Forks were Sunday morning coffee guests in the Harold Fork home and the Harold Forks of Winslow visited in the afternoon.

Sahs Host Party Ten couples from the EOT Club met in the Gilmore Sahs home Friday evening. Mrs. Dave Sievers was co-hostess. Prizes were won by Mrs. Roy Gammily, Ray Laberg, Brian Laberg and the Cyril Hansens.

The clubwomen are planning a tour for their May 4 meeting. They will meet at 12:45 p.m. at the Cyril Hansen home to go to Stanton to visit the Golden Memory Museum.

Meet After Dinner The Congregational Women's

Fellowship met April 12 following a noon dinner with husbands as guests.

Mrs. Lynn Roberts conducted the meeting and presented the lesson, "A Review of the Life of John Wesley." Mrs. Robert I. Jones reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Frank Vlasak gave the treasurer's report.

The afternoon was spent tying a comforter.

A noon dinner is planned for the next meeting, on April 26. Mrs. Robert I. Jones will have devotions.

Jokes Told Nine members answered roll call with an April Fools' Day joke when the Town and Country Extension Club met April 12 in the Melvin Dowling home.

Mrs. Dean Owens presided and Mrs. Merlin Kenny reported on the council meeting she attended.

It was announced that the Wayne County Extension Club spring tea will be held May 12 in Wayne. A program on quilts will feature those made by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haight of Dakota City.

The lesson, entitled "How a Bill Becomes a Law," was given by Mrs. Dean Owens. Mrs. Melvin Dowling reported that she recently donated blood and is a member of the (CARD) class being held in Carroll.

Next club meeting is set for May 3 with Mrs. Don Frink for a birthday party and May basket exchange.

Dates Announced Fifteen members were present April 12 when St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met at the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Cliff Rowe was in charge of devotions and conducted the business meeting. She announced that the LWML spring workshop was to be held Tuesday, April 18, at Wayne, with registration from 9 to 9:45 a.m.

Delegates for the LWML district convention on June 13 at Camp Luther will be named at the May meeting.

Aid members sang "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," accompanied by Mrs. Edward Fork. Mrs. Arnold Jack reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Dennis Junck read the treasurer's report.

An invitation was received from the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid at Wayne to attend their guild day meeting on May 10.

The Hoskins society has been asked to make 30 tote bags for the 18th biennial International LWML convention, which will be held in Omaha next year.

Mrs. Arnold Junck and Mrs. Edward Fork presented a Christian growth skill, entitled "Communication Gap." The birthday song was sung for Mrs. Eina Peterson, Mrs. Bertha Isom and Mrs. George Stolz.

Hostess was Mrs. Lumir Buresh. Mrs. Edward Fork will be hostess for the May 9 meeting at 2 p.m. Mrs. Murray Leicy will have devotions.

Students Win Firsts Carroll school students and teachers Mrs. Wayne Kerstine and Mrs. Lowell Olson attended the 20th annual children's production, "Rama and the Tigers," on Friday at Wayne State College.

Carroll students who won first place for their posters in connection with the play were first grader Dana Nelson and third grader Connie Burback. The contest was open to all town and rural students in the area.

Methodist Women Mrs. Lena Rethwisch was a guest when United Methodist Women met April 12 at the church. Thirteen members attended the meeting.

Roll call was a spring scripture. Mrs. Merlin Kenny presided and Mrs. Don Harmer reported on the last meeting. Mrs. Walter Lage read the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Charles Whitney, Mrs. Don Harmer and Mrs. Don Harmer reported on the spring meeting they attended at Norfolk on April 8.

The lesson, "What Color is Other," was given by Thelma Woods, assisted by Mrs. Walter Lage, Mrs. Merlin Kenny and Mrs. Don Harmer.

sent to Mrs. Agnes Duffy, Mrs. Lillian Kenny and Vernie Hurlbert.

Mrs. Anna Hansen is hostess for the April 24 meeting.

Canasta Meets Canasta Club met with Mrs. Fayne Hurlbert April 11. Mrs. Arlene Rabe became a member of the club.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Lora Johnson, Mrs. Wayne Imel and Mrs. Rabe. Mrs. Imel will be the May 2 hostess.

Meet in French Home Mrs. Paul Brader conducted the April 11 meeting of the Hilltop Larks Social Club, held in the home of Mrs. Darrell French. All members and guests Mrs. John Hansen and Mrs. Loren Hansen attended.

A report on the last meeting was given by Mrs. Enos Williams. Mrs. Brader read "Paper" and "Liquid Brown Sugar."

Mrs. Clifford Lindsay and Mrs. John Hansen were card winners.

Next meeting on May 12 will be in the John Bowers home.

Welcomes NE Nebraska Feeders

WELCOMING NORTHEAST Nebraska Feeders to Wayne is Glen Ellingson. The association held its annual spring banquet in Wayne Saturday night at the Wayne State College Student Center. Scheduled to speak to feeders from a four-county area was Bernard (Beanie) Cooper, head football coach at the University of South Dakota. The Random Four, a barbershop quartet, provided the entertainment. State Sen. Doug Bereuter, Republican candidate for the First Congressional District nomination, also spoke at the banquet.

Credit Laws for Women Clarified

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has further clarified how credit information on married women should be filed and reported, according to Kathy Prochaska. Extension family economics and management specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"Final interpretations of the Fair Credit Reporting Act should help ensure that married, widowed or divorced women have complete credit histories in their own names," she says.

The original act, which went into effect in June 1977, prohibited credit bureaus from discriminating on the grounds of sex, marital status, religion, race and other factors, she notes.

"Lenders were told they had to keep separate credit files for both husband and wife for joint credit accounts opened after this date," she says. "In this way, the credit history would reflect the wife's participation, instead of just the husband's."

The problem remains, however, of establishing adequate credit histories for women prior to the passage of the act, according to the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist.

Rather than automatically incorporating a husband's credit information into his wife's file, the new FTC interpretations allow a wife to "designate" what information she would like in her file.

"In effect, the interpretation prohibits the dumping of the past credit history of one spouse into the credit report of another," Prochaska says. "Credit bureaus must instead set up procedures allowing consumers to designate credit history information upon request."

If a woman is responsible for a less favorable credit history, however, she must accept that in her file as well as the good, the specialist adds. This applies to accounts for which the wife was contractually liable or which she used, even if the account was in the husband's name.

The second FTC interpretation of the credit law defines under what circumstances a creditor may obtain a credit report on the spouse of a person applying for credit, she says.

"It attempts to balance the creditor's need to know with the non-applicant spouse's right to privacy," she says.

Creditors can obtain such information only when the spouse of the applicant will be using the account or when he or she will be contractually liable for it, she explains. If the couple resides in a community property state, a creditor also may get a non-applicant spouse's credit information without permission.

Written permission from a spouse must be obtained when the applicant is relying on alimony, child support or separate maintenance to repay the credit, Prochaska adds.

Credit histories can be held by credit bureaus for only up to five years, the specialist notes, and since the new credit laws took effect in 1977, the next four years will be a "transition period" that may prove confusing for both creditors and consumers.

She suggests women check with their credit bureaus to find out what information, if any, is contained in their credit files on joint and individual accounts to make certain they have credit in their names.

"This could be very important for a married woman," she says, "especially if she should become widowed or divorced."

Love and Caring. They Go Together.

As nursing home professionals, we know that our residents need a generous diet of love and caring. And we strive to provide it: Come see for yourself.

May 14-21, 1978, is National Nursing Home Week. A time to talk. To laugh. To spend an afternoon together.

A special time to remind family and friends that a smile can bring sunshine. And much more. To make someone smile is a gift that brings so much in return.

National Nursing Home Week: A time to remind all that love and caring are nourishing to the human spirit.

Next meeting is May 21.

Final Meeting
Pinoche Dinner Club held its final meeting Saturday evening. Following dinner at the K and R Steakhouse in Battle Creek, members returned to the Lester Kleensang home.

Prizes went to Marvin Schroeder and Mrs. Lawrence Jochens, high, and Alvin Spreeman and Mrs. Emil Feddern, low.

Members of Cub Scout Den 6 Pack 168 and leader Lanny Maas and den chief Scott Davids met at the fire hall Friday afternoon. The meeting opened with the flag salute.

In keeping with the month's theme, "The World Around Us," the group went on a nature scavenger hunt. Prize winners were Paul Davids, Billy Wagner, Chris Olson and Lee Maler. Lanny Maas served refreshments.

There will be a short meeting this Friday at 4 p.m. at the fire hall. A pack meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. that evening at the fire hall and all scouts and their families are encouraged to attend.

The Orville Broekemeiers were in Columbus Sunday afternoon where he attended an AAL executive board meeting. That evening they visited Mrs. Ella Broekemeier and Harlan at Columbus.

The Walter Koehlers, accompanied by the Art Lehmanns of Pierce, spent Saturday with Mrs. Pauline Wubbenhorst at Osmond.

The Wally Ungers spent April 19-21 with their son and family, the Kathy Ungers of Watertown, S.D.

Mrs. Steve Davids returned home from the Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk April 12. She had been a patient there for 10 days.

Helping Out

BRUCE C. LUHR, district representative for the Lutheran Brotherhood Fraternal Insurance Company, presents a check from the Wayne Branch of the Lutheran Brotherhood for $100 to Mrs. Iner Peterson who, along with Mrs. Alce Erwin (right) is spearheading a fund drive for the Fred Oppegard family whose home and personal belongings were lost in a fire recently.

The ladies said the drive was going well and that they have raised enough money to purchase a used vacuum cleaner. The Rev. David Newman (right), pastor of the Concordia Lutheran Church in Concord, also was on hand for the presentation.

Police Blotter

April 10 — Car belonging to Lynn E. or Connie F. Upton was struck by another vehicle while it was parked in front of their residence at 1017 Lincoln.

April 13 — A car being driven by Harold Sorenson, 918 Pine Heights, Wayne, was backing from a parking stall on the 100 block on West 3rd and backed into a car being driven by Gerald D. Foote, 2332 Bel Court, Omaha, as it was stopped at a traffic signal at 3rd and Pearl Street.
