

Awards Presented At Court of Honor

Darrin Barner was recognized at a Court of Honor held Monday for members of Troop 175. Barner was presented a plaque for outstanding sales of Scout-O-Rama tickets in the district. He sold 105 tickets. Participation awards were presented for taking part in Scout-O-Rama and for having a second place booth in the Scout-O-Rama. Brian-Cattie was advanced to the rank of first class. Skill awards were presented to Brian for environment and family living. Bennett Cattie received a merit badge in printing. David Hintz was inducted into the Troop.

Region IV Funds Set

Area school programs for handicapped children will be funded again for the coming school year as the Unicameral voted to override Gov. J.J. Exon's line item veto of LB 924. The legislators also voted to override the governor's line item veto of LB 953 which provided for funds to institute new programs in Region IV Developmental Disabilities whose offices are headquartered in Wayne.

The overrides were expected as Governor Exon was accused of "playing politics" by vetoing money to fund programs for the handicapped, the retarded and others, knowing that the Legislature would override his objections.

Mary Ann Brendan, director of Region IV, said the override reinstated some $122,000 which will allow the agency to provide different kinds of services which will require additional staff. She also said many of the physical facilities of the Region have been outgrown and they must be expanded or larger facilities found to take care of the growing programs.

Mrs. Brendan said the Region would have been able to operate under the $1,125,976 allocated to the agency. The $1,200,805 reinstatement means they will be able to carry out additional programs.

In overriding the LB 953 veto, the legislators reinstated some $794,516 in funds for the community-based mental retardation programs. If the legislature had not voted to override, programs now being carried in area schools would have to be funded locally through an increase in property taxes.

Kansas Man Pleads Guilty

A Rossville, Kan., man pleaded guilty to first degree sexual assault Monday in Wayne County District Court. Judge Eugene McFadden set sentencing for William Gary Hill for June 7, 1:30 p.m. The charge carries a sentence not less than one year in the state correctional institute to not more than 25 years.

Hill was scheduled to be brought to trial Wednesday. Instead, his lawyers got one count in the charge dropped for Hill's pleading guilty to the assault charge.

Hill's lawyer asked for a continuance and a change of venue before Hill was allowed to change his plea of not guilty to a plea of guilty. Judge McFadden overruled both motions.

The charge stemmed from an incident June 21 involving a Dixon County teenager.

Annual 4-H Speech Contest

Wayne County will hold its annual 4-H Timely Topic Speech Contest at the Student Union, Wayne State College at 7:30 p.m., Thursday (tonight).

Bryce Neidig, of Madison, Nebraska will be the judge. Neidig has been very active in the Toastmaster club and has participated in speech contests throughout the United States, as well as doing 4-H judging locally.

Bucket Truck Bid Accepted

The Wayne City Council Tuesday night voted not to accept the low bid for a new bucket truck. They decided to accept a bid from Badger Body after Bill Mellor, city employee, said a unit by Telect would be a better buy even though it was $210,000 higher than the low bid. The unit will cost the city $16,143. Corvair Auto was the low bidder for the chassis. The new truck will extend a bucket to a maximum of 50 feet. The city's present unit will be used as a trade-in.

Jim Fairchild, Quartermaster; Mike Doring, Librarian; Richard Baling, Helen Barner, Ethel-Doring, William Kemp, Gloria Lesberg; Robert Foster, Troop Committeeman.

Scout-O-Rama coffee mugs were presented to Helen Barner, sales chairwoman and Don Cattie, leadership, transportation and endurance at the Scout-O-Rama.

There will be a canoe training weekend, May 5, 6, 7, at the Recreational Lake north of Pillger.

The instructors will be Robert Porter and Donnell Cattie. The Scouts will prepare a noon meal for the parents on Sunday, May 7.

The canoe trip will be held June 4 to 10 on the Republican River.

Wins District Talent Contest

A first for the Wayne Lions Club was accomplished Sunday afternoon in Omaha.

Eight-year-old Andrea Marsh of Wayne, winner in the elementary division of the local club's talent contest earlier this month, went on to take first place in her division during district competition at the Omaha Westside High School auditorium.

Andrea is the first youngster from Wayne to win at the district level following local competition. She now travels to Ogallala June 2 to compete with winners from across the state.

Andrea, a third grader, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Marsh.

The young musician competed with 11 other youngsters in the elementary division at the district contest Sunday. Her piano solo entitled "The Revueville Medley," was judged best from the variety of talent presented in her age category, ranging from an acrobatic dance to a magic show.

Andrea's piano teacher is Mrs. Albert G. Carlson of Wayne.

Council Opts to Continue Hearing

It's back to the drawing board for the Wayne City Council which voted Tuesday night to continue serving as a board of equalization, reconvening May 30.

The board opted to continue the hearing on the special assessments for the improvement-District No. 76, commonly referred to as the downtown improvement, after they heard objections to the assessment schedule for the project.

Mayor Freeman Decker expressed a personal opinion that the assessment schedule adopted by the council at a meeting March 28, was not "fair and equitable" and the council should consider alternatives.

The council will meet in a work session Tuesday, May 2, to review the schedule and to discuss the objections voiced at the meeting last Tuesday night. Some 30 persons were on hand for the meeting, which saw seven persons come forward to air their objections to the special assessments.

The consensus of opinion was that most of those who appeared before the council did not object to the major work done in the district, but they could not accept being assessed for "additional costs."

The schedule set the total cost of the sidewalk improvement at $302,331.71, with the city to pay $165,013.17 of the cost in general obligation and $137,318.54 to be paid through assessments to property owners in the district.

The schedule was one of seven prepared and presented to the council by Bruce Gilmore, Columbus, project engineer. The main bone of contention centered on $68,121.54 in "additional costs." Gilmore explained the costs included the walks, tree removal, planters, fill, etc. He said there were some $31 to $32,000 in change orders during construction.

The project escalated from an engineer's original estimated cost of $174,000, later updated to $238,200 with the project bid at $189,000. The plans called for 12 foot wide sidewalks on Main Street, 10 foot wide sidewalks on side streets, replacement of some underground plumbing, planters, benches and tinted concrete on the sidewalks.

As the project moved along, contractors found basements that extended under original sidewalks which had to be filled, plus replacement of some storm sewer and electrical conduit and other unexpected items or agreed upon changes.

Robert Ote, Norfolk, represented Roy Hurd at the hearing. Hurd is one of the hardest hit by the assessment. His attorney said there are gross inequities in the assessment schedule and that it is too high for value received. He stated all his client was seeking was a fair and equitable assessment.

"I strongly believe the property owners have not been abused as much as they have been confused by the schedule," Ote explained.

Andy Manes, owner of Andy's Pizza, who has been a major objector since it was first conceived in 1976, called the improvements "a disgrace to the town of Wayne." He said the new sidewalk in front of his business was not of proper grade and that the front of his store had been damaged during the street improvement.

He was told that work which did not measure up or damages which were caused by the work, would be fixed.

John Addison, Wayne attorney, said the assessment should take into consideration lot size and suggested assessing by the square foot.

Malvin Froehlich said he had received no benefit from the improvements, stating, in fact, there are now problems which were not evident before the improvements.

Felix Dorsey, Wayne businessman, representing Dole Inc. called the schedule "unfair and unjust."

Janice Predohl said the quality of the work was "unacceptable for a first class city."

Rowan Wittse said he did not object to the assessment but he did object to being charged with the "additional costs."

Mayor Decker asked for advice from Phil Lorenzen of First Mid-America, Omaha, a bonding firm. He told the council they could pass a resolution accepting the schedule as presented or they could make specific adjustments for certain properties or they could continue the hearing.

Sec. Bergland authorized additional diversion of cropland under the cotton and feed grain programs and permitted wheat program participants to graze out their wheat or harvest hay as a percentage of their planted acreage.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will issue weekly reports each Tuesday until the signup is completed.

Most experts suggest that bikes should have regular maintenance inspections at a local bike shop, but there is no reason why the bike driver can't take simple steps toward preventive maintenance on his own.

Handlebars and seats should always be adjusted to fit the bike driver and tightened. Chains should always be kept lightly oiled and brakes should always be checked before going out on a bicycle. Meanwhile, it is a very simple procedure to check tire tread to make sure there are no stones or glass bits lodged there.

The study also pointed to the erratic and illegal maneuvers of climbers in unexpected places—such as exiting from driveways and sidewalks onto public roads, thus creating hazardous situations. Failure to stop or yield at controlled intersections also contributed to danger for bicyclists.

The Bicycle Manufacturers Association explained that in addition to Illinois, Maryland, New York and Wisconsin, several other states are adopting formal bicycle safety education programs. Despite this trend, there is still a considerable vacuum toward getting practical education programs underway.

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

LWMS Circuit Meeting Saturday at Sioux City

Several area women are planning to attend the spring rally of the Nebraska-Iowa Circuit of the Lutheran Women's Missionary Society this Saturday.

The rally will be held at the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, 1101 S. Cornelia St., in Sioux City. At 10:30 a.m., following registration, there will be opening devotions and a business meeting. Lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. and there will be a guest speaker at 12:30 p.m.

Keynote speaker will be Mrs. Theodore Sauer. Her topic will be "Church Work in the African Bush."

Pastor and Mrs. Sauer were in Africa from 1961-64 and again from 1970-77 where he served as superintendent of the Central African Mission and chairman of the Lutheran Church of Central Africa. His duties included the supervision of national workers.

Besides helping her husband, Mrs. Sauer, a registered nurse, also worked in the medical dispensary at Mwebembi. Because of the absence of doctors, nurses were called to see 80 to 100 patients daily, deliver an average of 30 babies a month, and were on 24-hour emergency call. Since returning from Africa, Sauers have been residing in Michigan.

The African Medical Mission at Mwebembi receives sole support from ladies' groups within the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod and has been a mission project of the Nebraska-Iowa Circuit in the past.

The Circuit will be choosing three new mission projects and electing three new officers at the spring meeting.

Dixon Council Welcomes Two

Mrs. Tim Schram and Mrs. Dennis Hall were welcomed to the Dixon County Home Extension Council at its April meeting at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

Mrs. Schram and Mrs. Hall are forming a new club at Ponca.

Mrs. Harold Kjer, membership leader, announced she also is helping several women organize an extension club at Allen.

It was announced that the Papa's Partners Extension club has disbanded because of members moving away.

Health leader Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt told the council that 145 persons were tested during the diabetes screening clinics held recently at Allen and Wayne. Persons tested ranged in ages from nine to 87.

Donations received at the two clinics for the Party Miner Fund totaled $13.35, with another $33.80 collected to send Miss Mine to the Floyd Rogers Diabetic Camp this summer. The extension council is planning to send the balance of their diabetic fund plus donations from extension clubs to help defray her expenses, which are $375 for three weeks. Miss Miner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miner of Wakefield.

Mrs. Merle Von Minden told of plans for a County Government Day for extension club members at the courthouse in Ponca in September. Mrs. Doane Kasting is in charge of arrangements.

It was announced that Mrs. Carl Armstrong and Mrs. Verdel Erwin are Dixon County delegates to attend the state convention at North Platte.

Mrs. Larry Lubberstedt, Mrs. Doane Kasting and Mrs. Clarence Rastede helped with registration during the Helen Becker Conference held at Norfolk April 18.

new Dixon County Extension Agent, Stan Starling. Starling is preparing the Dixon County Fairbooks and suggested that club members have a demonstration booth at the fair to display and sell craft items.

Mrs. Harold Kjer announced plans for the April 26 tour, which included visits to the county museum at Allen, the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. at Wakefield and the Neihardt Center at Bancroft.

'Table' Show Is Saturday

Doors to the city auditorium in Wayne will open today (Thursday) at 2:30 p.m. and will remain open until 8 p.m. for a benefit show sponsored by the Wayne County Historical Society.

Titled "Table Fashions on Parade," the event will feature tables set by various clubs, organizations and individuals in Wayne County.

Displays range from luncheon tables featuring native European and Oriental china and silver, to a luncheon setting with shellcraft items.

The public is invited to view the displays for a $1 admission charge. The Wayne Woman's Club is planning to sponsor a tea table and will serve coffee and cookies.

Mrs. Leita Wynard, spokesman for the Historical Society, said the committee hopes to make the show an annual affair.

Senior Citizens Invited To 'Tater Puppet Show'

Mrs. Jocell Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, said all area senior citizens are invited to attend a "Tater Puppet Show" today (Thursday) at 1:30 p.m. at the Senior Center, located at 306 Pearl St.

The show is being presented by Roberta Welte and Iris Watchorn, resident hall directors at Wayne State College.

Following the puppet show,

Gladys Stout, a retired home extension agent, will present a demonstration on how to do copper enameling. The demonstration is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

Senior Citizens who turned out for bowling Tuesday afternoon at the Melodee Lanes bowling alley included Carl Lentz, Elmer Killinger, Otto Baier, John Dall, Floyd Andrews and Walt Lage.

Walt Lage rolled 186 for the high scorer, and second high score was 177 rolled by John Dall. Walt Lage rolled a high score of 304. The most improved bowler of the week was Floyd Andrews, who bowled a score of 112.

There were 29 at the Senior Citizens Center Monday for bingo called by Goldie Farney.

The Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne conducted Bible study at the Center Monday afternoon and was honored with the traditional birthday song. Ostercamp's father, John Ostercamp, was a guest from Grand Island. Henrietta Frost brought cake for refreshments.

Next Bible study conducted by Pastor Ostercamp will be at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, May 8. Persons attending are asked to bring their favorite translation of the Bible.

Mabel Sundell was in charge of activities at the Senior Citizens Center Monday. Director Jocell Bull and Goldie Leonard attended a meeting of the Nebraska Senior Citizen's Council Board of Directors at Grand Island.

Next meeting is May 19 at 2 p.m. at the Woman's Club room.

Witnesses Attending Regional Assembly

About 400 members from the Wayne congregation of the Jehovah's Witnesses are planning to participate in a two-day regional assembly this weekend at North Platte.

The assembly will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Adams Junior High School building. More than 500 persons from central Nebraska are expected to attend.

Purpose of the conference is to present Bible instruction and to assist the delegates to be more effective teachers of Christian "good news."

The convention theme, "Do All Things for the Sake of the Good News," is the title of an opening address to be delivered by F.H. Milliken at 10 a.m. Saturday. The convention highlight is 2 p.m. Sunday when Milliken, district supervisor from the world headquarters of the Witnesses, gives the address "Have Faith in the Good News."

All sessions are open to the public without charge.

Club Studies Volga River, Elects Officers

The Monday afternoon meeting of the Minerva Club included election of officers and a program on the Volga River.

Mrs. Harry Bressler was hostess and 13 members attended.

The club voted to donate $5 to the Wayne County Historical Society towards its "Table Fashions on Parade" show today (Thursday) at the city auditorium.

Officers who were elected include Mrs. William Koerber, president; Mrs. Joe Corbit, vice president; Mrs. Harry Bressler, secretary, and Mrs. Beryl Harvey treasurer.

Mrs. Al Swan gave the program on the Volga River, the longest river in Europe, which starts about 200 miles south of Leningrad in the Soviet Union and flows to the Caspian Sea.

Next meeting of Minerva club will be an 8:30 a.m. breakfast on May 8 in the home of Mrs. Stan Morris. Mrs. Howard Witt is in charge of presenting the program.

Manns Observe Anniversary Back in Nebraska Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mann of Concord, who were married April 24, 1938, at the Theophilus Church at Wayne, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at the United Presbyterian Church in Laurel.

Following their marriage, Manns lived in Nebraska for 17 years and in Whittier, Calif. for 21 years, before returning to Nebraska to live at Concord.

57 Attend Supper

Fifty-seven members and guests attended a family supper Sunday evening at Grace Lutheran Church, hosted by the Duo Club.

The appreciation supper was held for members of the Couples Club who assisted in the annual Lutheran Laymans League roll call drive.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Upton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomsen presented the program and conducted games. Pastor Upton showed his stamp collection.

Next meeting of Duo club will be May 29 with hosts Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maier and Mr. and Mrs. Al Wittig. Presenting the program will be Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Marks and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Utecht.

The couple's children are Mary Peterson of Laurel, Betty Carr of Whittier, Calif., Nancy Nair of La Habra, Calif., and Rick Mann of Whittier, Calif. There are eight grandchildren.

Guests at Sunday's open house reception were registered by Linda Kvols of Laurel and attended from Sprig, Okla.; Wayne, Winside, Fremont, Newman Grove, Norfolk, Concord, Randolph and Hoskins. There were 105 friends and relatives.

Among those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mann of Winside, who were attendants at the couple's wedding 40 years ago.

Gifts were arranged by Darci Janke of Winside and Myron Peterson of Laurel.

Mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon program was Mary Peterson.

Walters were Myron Peterson, Roger Kvols and Paul Peterson, all of Laurel.

Assisting in the kitchen were Lysaisy Janke of Winside and Marsha Thompson of Newman Grove.

Peterson, Roger Kvols read from the Bible and Mary Peterson gave a history of the couple's life together. Darci, Dawn and Darci Janke sang "Spread Joy," and Chuck Mann and Darci Janke sang "I Love You Truly." A tape was played from the couple's children in California, wishing them a happy anniversary.

Linda Kvols and Mary Peterson cut and served the cake. Mrs. Mildred McClary of Winside poured. Punch was served by Mrs. Andrew Mann of Winside and Paul Peterson of Laurel.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

With DARREL FUELBERTH

The prices at which similar properties have sold recently is usually a reliable guide to the "fair market value" of any real estate parcel. However, it is important that the circumstances of each sale be considered as well as the price in dollars. Some sellers are more anxious to sell than others. Some buyers can fall in love with a particular property and pay more than they really had to.

Also, the financing terms can affect the price. If a buyer will accept a very small down payment and carry the mortgage himself at a favorable interest rate, he may sell at a higher price than would otherwise be the case.

We can give you a realistic estimate of the market value of your property. The benefit of our experience in real estate is yours for the asking. Come in so we can "Talk It Over."

Blue Devils Stay Undefeated As They Tag Boys Town Twice

The Wayne Blue Devils took a pair of baseball wins Monday in cold, blustery weather at Boys Town.

The Devils won the top half of the doubleheader by a score of 11-2 and then came back to post a 5-2 victory.

Wayne is 7-0 for the season. Vic Sharpe worked the first game for his third win of the season. He gave up six hits and struck out six. The Devils gave him good-field support for the win, committing only one error. Wayne batsmen were off the-get Monday but they capitalized on erratic pitching as they got nine bases on balls from Boys Town's Yen Atkins who was credited with the loss. Making the trip twice for the Devils in the 11-2 victory were Al Nissen, Dan Mitchell and Mark Gansborn. Tom Ginn, Nissen, Mitchell and Gansborn each collected a single in the first game. Dennis Carroll also picked up his third win of the season as he struck out ten Boys Town batters and gave up six hits.

Carroll had the game in control after the third inning using a variety of off speed pitches. He did not give up a walk.

Kevin Murray caught his first game of the season and looked sharp as he picked off three runners.

Wayne scored on a run in the second inning when Jerry Goeden got on first after being hit by a pitched ball. He later scored on a wild pitch.

Boys Town got into the game in the top of the third inning as they picked up two runs on two doubles. Wayne countered in the last of the third to make it a 2-2 game when Carroll walked, advanced to third on two infield outs and scored on a passed ball.

The Blue Devils came out gunning in the fourth inning as they took the lead on a hit by Steve Bodenstein who got home for the go-ahead run on a double steal.

Wayne upped its lead to 5-2 in the last of the fifth as Carroll opened the inning with a double. Ginn and Sharpe stayed alive on errors to load the bases. Murray singled to score Carroll. Gansborn was hit by a pitched ball to send Ginn home.

Kevin Batty, a lanky fireballer for Boys Town, gave up four hits to Wayne and walked six as he took the loss.

The undefeated Devils will make a home stand Friday at City Park, challenging Class A Lincoln East in a 1 p.m. game to be followed with a game against Lincoln High.

Wakefield will play the same schools, opening with Lincoln High at 1 p.m. and then tangling with Lincoln East for their second game.

Wayne Golfers Af Albion

Wayne High golfers Wednesday competed in the Albion Invitational which had been postponed earlier because of the weather.

Some 14 schools were in competition.

The Blue Devils came off a disappointing showing Monday when they were 54 strokes off the pace in the Oakland Invitational.

The Devils carded a 376 in the 18-hole meet. Bob Bernhoff was low man for the Devils with a score of 91. Jay Stollenberg was next in line with 92, Doug Pearson ended with 95 and Chip Carr had a 98.

Oakland won the event with a 322. Scribner, 355 and Cathedral of Omaha, 364.

Plastic Box Serves Well

A windowsill "greenhouse" often is a small plastic tray with a plastic greenhouse dome or a cover of stiff, clear plastic. Some have a bottom heating cable and a ventilating facility. Though this item is advertised as a quicker way to germinate seed, a seeded tray in a plastic box can be as effective.

Soil-less mixes such as Jiffy-mix, Red-Earth and Pro-mix are varying combinations of peat moss, vermiculite and perlite. Being weed seed and disease free, they are excellent media for indoor seeding and houseplants. Some have nutrients added in the form of slow-release fertilizer. They are available in small to 3-cubic-foot bags. Since they hold a large amount of moisture, be careful of overwatering.

Wayne Netters Score Victories

The weather was not conducive to tennis, but the Wayne State men's and women's teams completed their scheduled match with Briar Cliff here Monday with victories.

The men's squad whipped Briar Cliff, 9-0 to raise their season record to 8-4-2 while the women evened their season log at 1-1 with a 5-2 victory. The final matches were played in a light, but steady rainfall.

Hamilton for Congress

Fellow Democrats,

For too long our Congress has failed to act in the national interest while serving special interests. The result is a government that is living beyond our means.

We simply must curb inflation now. Government must set the example by reducing spending and taxes, but all Americans must also join the effort.

I will be a new kind of Congressman dedicated to limiting government to a size we can afford.

I ask for your support,

Bruce Hamilton

Wildcats Nipped by Blair

The Wayne State Wildcat baseball team lost a pair of games to Dana College, 8-1 and 2-1 Friday at Blair. The double defeat dropped Wayne's record for the season to 6-6.

Four Wayne errors proved costly in the opener as the Vikings pushed three runs across the plate in the second inning to sew up the verdict. Five doubles spiced the Dana attack. Steve Daegas and Jerry Haas each pounded a pair of two base hits. Daegas batted in three runs.

Wayne scored its lone tally in the second inning on a triple by Bernie Minarik and a single by Kevin Mahberg. Minarik also doubled to lead the Wildcats at the plate.

Bob Andrews was the winning pitcher for the Vikings. Brad Black took the loss for Wayne.

Dana scored a run in the last of the seventh to pull out the nightcap. With two outs, a Dana batter reached base on a hit.

The next man was intentionally walked and a single by Haas brought home the deciding score.

The Wildcats scored their run in the fifth on a double by Keith Siebrandt and a single by Steve Klein Smith. Klein Smith went 3-3 in the second game, belting a double and two singles.

Scott Simmes was the winning hurler for Dana while Rod Hegge took the loss for the Wildcats.

Knepper with score of 257. High Man's Series: Mike Meyer with score of 619.

High Man's Game: Dale Belt and Sam Knepper with identical scores of 241.

Last Place Champs: Teams of Maxie and Ralph Rasmussen and Pat and Ken Everingham.

gardener should know what he or she hopes to accomplish. The convenience of any particular item may be worth the time and effort saved.

But no gadget can substitute for all the factors necessary for the successful growth of a plant from seed, including light, water, nutrients, supporting media, water and optimum temperature.

Pre-seeded indoor trays and planters appear in many forms — plastic or aluminum trays, boxes or cubes. Seeds are near the top of a medium such as vermiculite. Few seeds are present compared with those in a seed packet. This item is recommended for growing garden seedlings on windowsills, but a started "pac" of transplants often can be purchased for the same price. Newer varieties usually are not available and mixed colors are common.

Seed tapers have seeds imbedded in water-soluble material which should disintegrate upon being in contact with soil moisture. They are for outdoor use. A furrow must be opened as for regular hand seeding. The spacing may not be appropriate for the flower or vegetable seed packaged, however, and the tapes do not eliminate spacing and weeding.

Plant cubes or containers are pre-formed, compressed or full size peat moss cubes or pellets.

Second Annual History Meet

Historians from throughout Nebraska will participate Thursday in the Second Annual Wayne State College Nebraska History Conference from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at WSC.

The event, designed to bring historians and citizens together to exchange ideas on the history of Nebraska, will be divided into morning, afternoon and evening sessions. Readings on various historical topics will be presented during each session.

Morning discussions, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Student Center, will include the readings "Homestead Incident at Sidney Barracks, 1874," read by Thomas Buscker of the Neligh Mills Historical Society and "A Political Coup at Little Omaha," by Max Kessinger, director of the John G. Neihardt Foundation.

Afternoon readings, beginning at 2 p.m., will include "R.W. Craves, Photographer," read by Alan L. Shepperd of Chadron State College and "Anatomy of Political Realignment in the 1890s," read by Ron Briel of Wayne State.

An evening session, a 7 p.m. at Les' Steak House in Wayne.

will feature guest speaker Dr. Fred Lubke of UNL. His speech will cover "Major Themes in Nebraska History."

WSC History Instructor Michael Blayney said the conference should provide interesting discussion and insight for all citizens on Nebraska's history.

"We hope it will stimulate interest in history and culture for both historians and Nebraska citizens," he said. "We have a number of excellent speakers and we want to attract other citizens as well."

The event is open free to the public.

Music Clinic Is Saturday

About forty young musicians will meet in Wayne Saturday, April 29, for their annual Elementary Orchestra Clinic. Michael Palumbo, of the Wayne State music faculty, will direct the students from Fremont, York and Wayne. Bonita Day, string teacher in the Wayne Public Schools, is coordinating the event.

The afternoon of rehearsals begins at 12:30 in Ramsey Theatre in the Wayne State Fine Arts Building. A concert at 7 p.m. that evening will climax the activities. The concert is free and open to the public.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

"The actions of men are the best interpreters of their thoughts."
Locke

What some people say compared with what they do could make cynics of us all. We have all known people who could expound their virtuous thoughts on nearly any subject, then live lives that were a direct contradiction of the idealistic principles they professed.

It has been said that "actions speak louder than words." If we want to be respected and remembered for our lofty ideals, it will be necessary for us to prove our dedication by what we do... by our actions. Talk is cheap but our actions tell what we really are.

The essential service which we render to the families of this community is based upon our understanding of human need. It is our sincere desire to ease the burden of loss for the bereaved.

74-Year-Old Just Won't Quit

By LaVon Beckman
Most men and women by the time they reach the age of 74, can look back on a few years of retirement and the enjoyment of being able to spend more time with their spouse, or hobbies, or at the lake fishing for trout.

Paul Pokett of Wayne isn't one who falls into the category of the leisurely elderly. Pokett, whose 74th birthday was April 18, observed the occasion during his coffee break at Marra Home Improvement Co., where he has been employed for about 10 years. Luella Marra baked a special cake for the occasion and was joined by her husband, Wilmer, and employees of the company in wishing the perky 74-year-old many more birthday occasions.

Mrs. and Mrs. Marra are owner-operators of the home improvement company. Pokett has worked for the couple for the past 10 years, except for 10 months about four years ago when he quit to enjoy the privacy and relaxation which usually coincide with retirement.

"I was lost," said Pokett, "so I came back to work." Pokett's job includes assembling combination doors and windows and requires precise measurements and craftsmanship.

How long does he plan to continue working? "As long as I can do my work properly," he smiles.

Pokett was born at Hartington on April 18, 1904 and farmed at Laurel from 1927 until 1962. His first wife, Campsa, died in 1959, and Pokett continued to live at Laurel until 1968.

It was in 1968 that he married Millie Hodgins and the couple moved to Wayne. Millie is a receptionist in the dental office of Dr. George Gobitrsch. Pokett's children are Jim of Wayne, Myrtle Paulson of Wahoo, Helen Ahlman of Mankato, Kan., Duane of Bassett, Pauline Kingston of North Platte, and Marcella Friend of Sisseton, S.D. The family includes 25 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

A report of the Nebraska Coalition for Life convention held recently in Fremont was given by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dorcay April 19.

Dorcays presented their report to members of the Wayne County Right to Life chapter which met in the home of Mrs. Joe Rieken.

Special guest at the Fremont convention was Dr. Mildred Jefferson, a general surgeon in Boston, Mass., and president of the National Right to Life Coalition. Mrs. Jefferson, who also is assistant clinical professor of surgery at Boston University School of Medicine, serves on the board of directors and is an officer for several pro-life organizations in Massachusetts and nationwide.

Dr. Jefferson, in her speech before a crowd of about 600 pro-life persons from across Nebraska, blasted planned parenthood and family planning agencies, telling her audience that "pro-lifers have the people, but pro-abortionists have the money."

Mrs. Jefferson said taxpayers are forced to support government-funded programs for planned parenthood and family-planning agencies despite their vigorous oppositions to such programs.

In closing, the Massachusetts doctor referred to the abortion issue as a "war between pro-lifers and pro-abortionists. "When we win, it will not be a victory for ourselves, but for America, for God, and all mankind."

Mrs. Fred Mann, a member of the Wayne County Right to Life Chapter told about a debate she attended April 16 at the University of Nebraska concerning abortion. A vote at the end of the debate resulted in 237 pro-life, 12 pro-abortion, and five undecided.

Members of the Wayne County Right to Life chapter are starting a membership drive. Dues are $5, with half of that money going to the Nebraska Coalition for Life. Anyone wishing to donate or become a member is asked to contact Mrs. Rose Rieken.

Before closing the April meeting the group discussed plans for two special Mother's Day projects.

Nebraska needs STAN JUELFS REPUBLICAN
The only agri-businessman for GOVERNOR
Your vote on May 9th could change the economy of Nebraska!
Stan Juelfs wants to:
1. CUT STATE TAX SPENDING
State payroll costs have risen 80% in just eight years. Over $120 million increase just since 1970. These costs must, and can be stopped.
2. NEBRASKA'S AG ECONOMY
Nebraska agriculture needs new foreign and domestic markets, alternative uses for farm products, and a fair return on investment.
3. FREEZE PROPERTY TAXES
Every year you pay more and more to live in your own home, on your farm or ranch. Ever-increasing taxes must be stopped.
4. RESOURCES
Nebraska needs positive leadership to control energy waste in the environment, local control of water resources, policies to bring new industry and jobs to Nebraska, and educational excellence for the youth of Nebraska.
If this makes sense to you, Vote for Stan Juelfs May 9.
The Juelfs family: Julie, Stan, Dee, Dallen, Lori.
Forrest Lee of Brownlee, "If Stan runs this state as well as his various businesses, we'll have a better state."
Stan Juelfs, a lifetime background in farming, ranching and business.
Stan Juelfs
your best bet for Governor.

Meeting Slated at Norfolk

The Get-to-Gether Club will hold its final meeting of the season on May 18 at Becker's in Norfolk for a 12:30 dinner. Cards will follow.

Mrs. Walter Koehler was a guest when the club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Alfred Vinson. Pitch prizes were won by Mrs. Herman Opler, high, Mrs. Marvin Malchow, second high, and Mrs. A. Bruggeman, low. Mrs. Koehler received the guest prize.

The topic, entitled "The Japanese Wife of An American Missionary in Japan," was given by Mrs. Leonard Marten. Mrs. Orville Broekemeier, president, conducted the business meeting. Plans were made to attend the rally at Sioux City on April 29.

Coffee chairman Mrs. Leonard Marten served a no-host lunch. Next regular meeting is May 18.

Summer projects were discussed and Yvonne Johnson served refreshments. Yvonne Johnson, scribe.

24 at Pack Meeting
Twenty-four persons attended a meeting of Cub Scout Den 4 Pack 168 Friday evening.

Following the flag salute, parents' picture taking night was observed. Discussion of summer camps was held and pictures taken of the pinewood derby run-off in February were distributed.

Meet at School
The LWMS met Thursday afternoon at the Trinity School basement. Rev. Wesley Bruss had devotions.

Girl Scouts
Girl Scout Troop 202 and Mrs. George Langenberg Jr. met Thursday after school at the fire hall, opening the meeting with the Girl Scout Pledge.

The scouts voted to send cheer cards to persons in the community as a project.

Awards were given for the Scout-O-Rama ticket sales. Lee Maier received the bobcat award. Steve Davids, representing the Peace United Church of Christ, presented the church award to the den.

News Briefs —

Julie Wallin, Wayne, a junior at Midland Lutheran College, Fremont, has been named president of the College's chapter of Cardinal Key, a national honorary.

The honorary was made by women only until last year. Qualifications include at least sophomore standing, a minimum grade point average of 3.0 and activity in the community, church and on campus.

Tapped as a new member was Lana Koepke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koepke, Hoskins.

Attend Scout-O-Rama

Siren Test Friday

The monthly test of the Wayne Civil Defense sirens will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, according to Vern D. Fairchild, assistant Civil Defense director.

The sirens will be allowed to run for one minute with a three minute pause between each siren test. The sirens will be tested in the following sequence:

Alert — (Used for tornado or other natural disaster warning), both high and low siren on for one minute.

Attack — Both high and low on for ten seconds, on for ten seconds, continuing for one minute.

Normal time sequence for each of the sirens would be a full three minutes. The test is shortened so the public can tell the difference between a test and an actual warning.

LANCE DeWALD of Wayne Cub Scout Pack 175 was the top salesman of Scout-O-Rama tickets, Diamond Dick District. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean DeWald of rural Wayne.

Lance DeWald is Top Scout-O-Rama Salesman

Lance DeWald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean DeWald, rural Wayne, earned the "Top Pack Salesman" award for selling 132 tickets to Diamond Dick District Scout-O-Rama.

Among other prizes, Lance earned a free airplane ride for selling more than 100 tickets. The ride will be from Norfolk.

There were seven Scouts to receive the free airplane ride. Darrin Barner, also of Wayne, also won a free ride by selling 105 tickets.

Darrin was the top salesman last year selling 301 tickets.

The Scout-O-Rama was held April 22 at Norfolk. Weather caused the cancellation of the parade. However, many persons turned out for the other activities such as the Pinewood Derby, Indian Dances, Games and looking at the various booths.

Pack 175 won the top award in the Robot award centering around this year's theme of Outer Space. Boy Scout Troop 175 of Wayne won second place in the booth judging. More than 10,000 tickets were sold for the Scout-O-Rama.

Much is expected for those who Monday night's guest speaker at the 14th annual Wayne Kiwanis Club scholastic achievement banquet.

Dr. Ed Elliott, vice president for academic affairs at Wayne State College, told a group of 49 honor students, their parents and club members that "excellence also can be achieved by those who are not on the honor roll."

He said that a good national motto for excellence would be to stress excellence, not mediocrity, and went on to explain that "we must not be satisfied to be mediocre within our range or ability." "Be committed to maintaining high standards, and never for the sake of peace and quiet deny your own experiences or convictions," he said. "Convictions are you," stressed Dr. Elliott.

Dr. Elliott told the nine junior-high and 40 senior high school students that because of their high scholastic achievement they will be invited and must resist the temptation to let their minds "retreat to the common place."

Dr. Elliott closed by asking students to "fuel" their minds continuously.

Receiving honors were:

Seniors - Dennis Fleece, Laura Hagemann, Rod Koch, Charles McLain, Susan Reich, Joseph Bryan, Roger Sahn, Joe Teeter, Ron Utecht, Joleen Wiener.

Apple Bread

- 1 cup Shortening (no butter)
- 2 cups Sugar
- 4 Eggs
- 2 cups coarsely chopped, peeled Apples
- 4 cups Flour
- 3 tablespoons Sour Milk
- 2 teaspoons Soda
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- 2 teaspoons Vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs and beat. Gradually stir in apples and flour. In a separate bowl, mix milk and soda. (If you do not have sour milk, add 2 teaspoons of vinegar to regular milk.) Add salt and vanilla. Stir this into original mixture.

Pour batter equally into two bread pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Nuts can be added if desired.

Mix 4 teaspoons sugar and 2 teaspoons cinnamon and sprinkle over batter in pans.

Crockpot Chicken Cacciatore

- 1 small Onion, sliced
- 2 1/2 to 3 pound Broiler Frying Chicken, cut up
- 1 (15 1/2 oz.) can Tomato Sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- 1/4 teaspoon Pepper
- 2 teaspoons Oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon Thyme
- 1 Bay Leaf
- 1/4 cup Dry Red Wine

Put chicken and onion in crockpot. Cook on high for 2 1/2 to 4 hours. When chicken is cooked, remove chicken and onion and place in a colander. Dispose of remaining grease. Turn pot to low. Add tomato sauce to crockpot. Add all remaining ingredients, stirring with each addition. Put chicken back in pot and cover with sauce. Allow it to simmer for 1 hour. Serve over hot pasta.

If you prefer slow cook, cook chicken and onion on low for 6 to 7 hours. Complete recipe as directed.

Warns need of a tax hike

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press-Association

LINCOLN — The chairman of the Legislature's Appropriations Committee warned his colleagues several times in the waning days of the legislative session that Nebraskans could be faced with the need of a tax hike in the months ahead.

Sen. Jerome Warner said if a higher tax rate is dictated by economic necessities, it won't be fair for anyone to point an accusing finger at the lawmakers, claiming they authorized too much spending.

Even if the governor's budget recommendations had been followed to the letter, there still would probably be a need for adjusting either the state or income tax upward to bring in the revenue the state will require, he said.

Warner said the state's bleak financial outlook stems in part from the State Revenue Department's $8.6 million reduction in revenue projections, the department's error of $7.5 million the personal property tax relief programs, expenditures required by state law, high priority appropriations and the desirability of maintaining a 5 percent budget reserve.

Warner said "responsible legislative action" dictates no other course but to correct the governor's line-item vetoes that are detrimental to state government and its credibility in local school districts.

The lawmakers wasted little time in overriding a series of vetoes, including several that restored more than $2 million to the budget for special education needs for the handicapped.

Another allocation restored was for nearly $800,000 for community based mental retardation programs.

While the Legislature was discussing what to do with a batch of vetoes, Sen. John DeCamp said Gov. J. James Exon's "whole game plan should be visible to everyone." That plan, according to DeCamp, consisted of vetoing legislation that Exon knew the Legislature would override because it dealt with programs for the disabled and handicapped and other essentials such as utility hookups to public buildings.

DeCamp said the governor's maneuvers will leave him in a position to criticize the legislators as big spenders because they would not sustain the vetoes.

Spending measures were not the only type of bills the governor objected to and refused to sign.

Among late vetoes that were overridden were those proposing:

— State Supreme Court review of all criminal homicide cases dating to April 20, 1973, in an attempt to have better uniformity in sentences of those convicted of murder.

— Coordination of postsecondary education. One of the primary objectives of this legislation is to avoid duplication of services and facilities among public colleges and universities.

— Establishment of a seven-member committee to review rules and regulations of state agencies. Among other things, the committee will be empowered to recommend that an agency amend or repeal rules and regulations so that they conform to the needs of the people and the intent of the Legislature.

Equalization Bill Questioned

The State Justice Department has advised Sen. Martin Kahle of Kearney there were numerous questionable provisions in a bill directed at achieving statewide equalization of property valuations.

A special legislative committee offered the bill to the Legislature late in the session.

Assistant Attorney General Ralph Gillan said he could not address the validity of the bill because so little time remained before permanent adjournment of the Legislature. But he did offer several general impressions of the proposal.

Gillan questioned the constitutionality of that part of the measure that would require the State Board of Equalization to certify county property valuations if there were no more than a 5 percent variance between adjoining counties.

He noted the Nebraska Constitution requires uniformity of taxation. Legislative sanction of a 5 percent variance probably would not satisfy that requirement, he said.

Gillan said the bill's definition of "revaluation" was also vague and this problem should be clarified.

Sen. Calvin Carsten of Avoca, chairman of the special committee that drafted the bill, said provisions that appear vague to Gillan probably will be dealt with in the 1979 session. Other questions cited by the Justice Department will probably be considered during an interim study, Carsten said.

Park Fee Lowered

If Nebraska's lawmakers have their way, the annual state park entry fee will be lowered next January 1 from $7.50 to $5 for Nebraskans and from $12.50 to $10 for non-residents.

The law requiring the entry sticker on every vehicle that uses state parks and recreational areas went into effect this year, but not without stirring up some very vocal opposition.

There was even talk of organizing a petition drive to place the question on the ballot so people could have a chance to repeal the legislation.

There was also an attempt in the Legislature by Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln to repeal the sticker law next Jan. 1.

The requirement that every motorized vehicle used in state parks have a $7.50 sticker triggered a great deal of criticism. That provision applies even to small motor scooters.

Under an amendment approved by the lawmakers, second, third and fourth duplicate stickers could be purchased for $1 along with the $7.50 sticker.

The amendment directs the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission to make the duplications available within 45 days after passage of the bill.

Gasohol Bill Enacted

Among the last bills enacted by the Legislature was one that would provide up to $2.5 million in state funds for grants to local communities interested in building grain alcohol plants.

An applicant could not be given a grant of more than $500,000 and each applicant would have to put up matching funds.

The legislation was intended as a spur to construction in Nebraska of grain alcohol plants whose output could be utilized as a mix with unleaded gasoline to produce a gasohol.

Nebraska has been the chief proponent of the gasohol concept. Sen. Loren Schmitt of Bellwood, biggest legislative booster of the idea, also was a prime mover in establishing the Nebraska Agricultural Product Utilization Committee.

Gov. Exon has said he has not been convinced of the economic feasibility of gasohol. As this was written it was not known how he would vote the bill which was passed on a 41-3 vote.

Whelan Honored

For the past four years, Lt. Gov. Gerald Whelan has been the presiding officer of the Legislature.

On the next to the last day of the session, the state senators adopted a resolution citing Whelan's service. They also gave him a long standing ovation.

Whelan said the experience of presiding was a rich one and no matter how the senators voted next November, he considered each of them a good friend. Whelan will be on the election ballot as a Democratic candidate for governor.

OBSERVATIONS

Bike riding and safety

Weather to the contrary, there are definite signs of spring in the Wayneland area.

Sunday produced intermixture of showers and sunshine, wind and small hail. Typical spring weather. Other evident signs included greening grass, budding trees, sparkling flowers, baseball and other spring sports, and kids on bicycles.

A feature on the front page of today's Herald by a representative of the Wayne Police Department is directed toward both bike riders and motorists. It is tuned toward safety. It should be required reading.

May is American Bicycle Month. Bike riding has grown in popularity during the past decade. It has advanced from being just "something for kids" to a convenient mode of transportation and a means to physical fitness.

According to the front-page article, there are more than 100 million bike riders today. Because of this popular trend toward bike riding, the demand for practicing safety measures is even more important.

We feel the safety factor is of such consequence, we have borrowed the Wayne Police Department's suggested safe biking rules and have included them here in the hope they will be read and remembered. They are aimed at the bike rider.

1. Obey all applicable traffic regulations, signs, signals and markings. Bicycles should be driven as safely as any road vehicle, and are subject to the same rules of vehicular traffic, wherever they apply. A good "rule of thumb" is to avoid congested streets and use bike-ways, lanes or paths where possible.

2. Observe all local ordinances pertaining to bicycles. Registration and licensing, inspections, driving on sidewalks, etc. may all be covered by local laws. It is your responsibility to know them and abide by them.

3. Keep right; drive with traffic, not against it. Drive single file. Keep as close to the curb as practical. Most states require you to drive single file. When driving two abreast, a minor weave could force you into traffic.

4. Watch out for drain grates, soft shoulders and other road surface hazards. Be careful of loose sand or gravel, particularly at corners. Watch out for pot holes.

5. Watch out for car doors opening, or for cars pulling into traffic.

6. Don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with your vision or control. A good rule is "one person, one bike," unless it's a tandem. Use baskets or luggage carriers for packages.

7. Never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicles.

8. Be extremely careful at intersections, especially when making a left turn. Most accidents happen at intersections. If traffic is heavy get off and walk your bike with pedestrian traffic.

9. Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping. Let the motorist know what you plan to do by giving the appropriate hand signals for turning left or right, or for stopping.

10. Protect yourself at night with the required red reflectors and lights. Again, state laws vary. Most require a headlight, tail light or red rear reflectors for night "cycling." Others require reflective pedals, additional side reflectors or other reflective material if you are going to drive at night, use maximum protection.

11. Drive a safe bike. Have it inspected to ensure good mechanical condition. Make sure your bike fits you. See to it that brakes, pedals, lights, reflectors, shifting mechanisms, sounding devices, tires, spokes, saddle, handlebars, and nuts and bolts are checked regularly.

12. Drive your bike defensively; watch out for the other guy. Observe the car in front of you, and one in front of him. Leave yourself room and time to take defensive action.

The hope we can do is print the rules and have them digested and heeded. When it comes right down to it, the responsibility for safe biking rests on the shoulders of the bike rider and the motorist. — Chuck Barnes.

Heartfelt thanks

Dear Editor: Wayne I would like to thank everyone who was in any way involved in my 20th birthday Monday night. It was an unforgettable, emotional evening which will never be forgotten by myself and my family. We thank you for the gifts, cards and letters, food, money, honors and for caring.

To Mike and Jill Perry, Jack and Jane March, Dick and Judy Sorensen, Jim and Kay Marsh and Jerry Hix, there just aren't words enough to express how we feel for what you did. Stan Morris, you're one in a million to us.

A big thank you to the third and fourth grade boys who sang for us, to the great Wayne High Stage Band and to all my friends who contributed to the program with a few fibs and a little reminiscing of old times.

To my St. Mary's students, thank you for the program and gifts on Wednesday. May we have many more happy years in Wayne together. — Hank and Glenda Overin and family.

All encompassing

Dear Editor: Wayne Monday night, April 17, as I looked out over the crowd, I could see a lot of basketball and football players that have gone thru our Recreation Program who did not play baseball. As most of the program was based on things related to baseball, girls softball and adult sports, I would just like to say a little about the football and basketball part of the recreation program.

While they were playing competition in recreation junior high football against other jr. high, freshman and sophomore teams they completed a 62 and 13 record in the 11 years the program was run. At one time the teams won 19 in a row, then lost to Norfolk Catholic. The same team that went 10 and 0 this year at Norfolk.

In basketball the recreation has gone thru some great Jr. High players. I don't want to mention names as I feel this would not be fair to all.

We started in 1963 and up to 1977-78 they've won way over 200 games. With records like 37 and 1 over a four year period. Some one years records were 17-2, 25-2, 13-0 just to mention a few.

I'm not trying to blow my own horn, I just want these boys to know I care about their part in the Recreation program as well. — Hank Overin, coach and friend.

Opportunity to Aid World's Hungry

The world has an excellent opportunity during the next four decades to solve the short-range problem of supplying food to its hungry inhabitants, but faces a far stiffer challenge in resolving the "extremely complex" long-term dilemma posed by excess population growth, a renowned agricultural economist said in Lincoln Thursday, April 20.

The next 30 to 40 years will be a period of "flexibility" for world governments during which they will have time to map and implement production and social plans for combating world hunger, said Dr. Earl O. Heady, Curtiss distinguished professor of economics at Iowa State University, Ames.

Persons of the Nebraska East Union. "The short-run problem of supplying food is relatively simple if countries will start out and do it and not be complicated."

Heady, director of ISU's Center for Agricultural and Rural Development, was on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus Thursday and Friday (April 20-21) as part of a Distinguished Lectureship Program sponsored by the NU President's Office.

But stemming the world's population growth will require that developing countries increase the per capita income, employment possibilities and economic well being of its citizens, Heady said.

Whether such policies are implemented and long-term food shortages eliminated will depend mostly upon a "second generation" of government officials and administrators now in charge in developing countries, the economist said.

"I think they will respond to the problem, which will take 40 to 50 years to solve," Heady said. "The previous administrators were given experience during a period of drought when they were mainly concerned with establishing authority. This second set of officials is better educated, more experienced, and has a greater chance to communicate with others."

Government administrators who do nothing about population growth rates and food supplies are no more humanitarian than (those) in Uganda where they line people up against a wall and shoot them," he said. "Maybe that's an extreme statement, but to let millions of people be born who will never have enough food is just about as bad."

Although in the long run world hunger "will never be solved" solely by expanded food production, Heady said, governments will have considerable flexibility in selecting methods of increasing production to accommodate stable population trends.

If developing countries select alternatives to increase food production and stem population growth, Heady said, enough grain would exist to adequately feed the world by the year 2000, with a slight surplus available for increased livestock production. But if current trends continue, he warned, a grain shortage of about 130 million tons could result by the end of the century.

During the last 20 years, he said, developed countries experienced a 2.7 percent annual growth in food production and less than a 1 percent increase in population, which allowed per capita food consumption to increase 1.5 percent a year.

Despite a higher growth in food of 3.1 percent annually, developing nations had a per capita increase of only 1 percent annually because of a 2.7 percent yearly jump in population, Heady said.

Among possible alternatives available for increasing food production, he said, are to:

- Increase production on land already being cultivated through use of more chemical fertilizers, improved pesticides, development of new local plant varieties and tillage. Developed countries currently produce about 10 percent of the world's cereal crop although holding only about half the cereal acreage, he said.

"So if we brought the level of developing countries up to that of the developed countries, it would increase food supply by about 50 percent," Heady said. "And developing countries ought to be able to do better than that because in many cases they are located in temperate climates with a year-round growing season and a better opportunity to use solar energy."

Better utilize current land and water supplies through double cropping and better water management in more intensive farming production systems.

— Increase the cropping of cultivated land. Although it may be high, he said, some economists say that only 22 percent of the potentially cultivatable land in Africa and 44 percent of the potential land worldwide now is being cropped.

"Quite obviously it would take some large investments to convert part of this land into cropland and keep down secondary plant growth and maintain soil fertility," Heady said.

Reduce "the amount of wasted food." Some estimate that between 17 and 33 percent of the food harvested in developing countries is lost because of rats, birds and spoilage in grain bins, he said.

Establish legislation or marketplace regulations that would effectively prohibit livestock feeding except in instances when it converts greater amounts of waste forage or other food unfit for humans into meat. "But chances of this See AID, page 5

TANWEED (Swam Smartweed)

Description — Tanweed is a perennial, reproducing by rootstocks and occasionally by seed. The rootstocks are very large and tough, sometimes reaching 1/2 inch in diameter. These rootstocks creep along under the ground, send up new shoots at nearly every node, store large quantities of food materials and are capable of providing new plants even if broken up in small pieces. The stems grow one to four feet tall, have large broad, smooth leaves and are topped by a single spike of rose-colored flowers. The plant seldom produces seed.

Control — Use one quart of 2,4-D ester plus one pint of Banvel when growing vigorously. Retreatment will be necessary. On crops use lower rates of 2,4-D ester plus Banvel.

Special Remarks — Tanweed is usually not as competitive with growing crops as other perennial weeds like Hemp Dogbane and milkweed. Infestations merit control measures, however.

Sanitation Serves To Combat Disease

Every year, thousands of dollars are spent to control a group of ornamental plant diseases whose severity could have been greatly reduced by sanitation. The diseases have one factor in common — the initial spread is dependent on the amount of overwintering inoculum present in last year's plant debris. For this reason, the seriousness of the disease can be greatly reduced by removing debris on which organisms have survived the winter. The debris should be removed before the first new growth appears in the spring.

Scab of flowering crabapple is one of the more serious diseases. The severity is directly related to the survival of fungi in last season's fallen leaves. The fungus responsible for the disease survives the winter in these leaves and begins to produce large numbers of spores with the advent of warm spring rains. These spores land on the newly forming leaves and, if weather conditions are favorable, a new lesion is produced. Removal of the leaf debris around the tree before the fungus becomes active and before these early rains will help to minimize the severity of the outbreak. This is probably the most important step in preventing serious scab problems in susceptible plants.

While sanitation does reduce disease potential, it should not be considered a substitute for chemical control. However, if properly practiced, this procedure may reduce the need for early fungicide applications as well as lowering the overall potential for a disease outbreak.

Some flowering crabapples are extremely susceptible to apple scab and these trees often suffer heavy early summer defoliation. In these cases, it is necessary to apply fungicides in conjunction with the sanitation program to have good control. Benlate, Captan, Mancozeb, Polyram, Phaltan and Ferbam are some of the chemicals which give good control when applied according to label directions. Thorough coverage and timing of the fungicide applications are important in controlling the disease. The first application should be made as soon as the buds begin to emerge from the buds and continued at 10-14 day intervals until early July.

Many other diseases are dependent on infected plant debris for a source of initial inoculum. Among these are black spot of roses, iris leaf spot and peony blight. By using sanitation, disease outbreaks are reduced.

Buying Tips For Gardening

Gardening supplies must be purchased carefully so that healthy plants are chosen and gardening remains an economical venture. Home gardeners should not buy too many seeds of the size of the garden and should remember that name brand seed is more expensive than other types of seed. If there has always been a variety you've wanted to try, name brand seed should be selected. Otherwise, the gardener may wish to choose the inexpensive seed.

It's time to buy cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and kohlrabi transplants. In selecting the nursery stock, look for short, stocky plants with resistance to disease and insect problems.

As for tools and supplies, gardeners should collect what will be needed around home. New purchases may be in order, but gardeners should avoid luxury items.

"I'm quite optimistic about this period," he said about 1980.

"The problem is not one of birth control technology, which is well enough known that population growth has been slowed down to zero in some countries," Heady said. "It is more nearly a problem of increasing per capita incomes and the worth of women's time in developing countries and creating effective social security programs so that old people can retire and have a secure source of income without having to produce eight children to assure that they will have three sons to take care of them in old age."

"That is what has to happen to cause a remarkable slowdown in the population growth rate," he said.

According to some statistics, he said, for each 1 percent increase in income for women in developing countries, population growth declines by a third. For each 1 percent rise in educational achievement, population

Center-Pivot Irrigation Systems Show Increase

By Jay Fussell
Conservation and Survey Division
Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources
University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Center-pivot irrigation systems in Nebraska increased in 1977 by 2,434 units, which was the greatest 1977 installations of center-pivot irrigation systems were: Holt, 252; Antelope, 142; Chase, 93; Rock, 92; Lincoln, 91; Perkins, 85; and Dundy, 81. These seven counties accounted for approximately 34 percent of all the 1977 installations.

The overall leaders in the installation of center-pivot systems in Nebraska are the following 10 counties, listed with their 1977 cumulative totals: Holt, 1,562; Antelope, 843; Chase, 816;

Perkins, 576; Lincoln, 511; Dundy, 485; Pierce, 427; Rock, 414; Fillmore, 381; and Brown, 380. Together these 10 counties account for approximately 43 percent of the 1977 cumulative total for the entire state.

Of Nebraska's 60,000 irrigation wells registered through 1977, center-pivot irrigation systems account for 25 percent. This is 4 percent more of the state total than in 1976.

Nebraska's total irrigated acres through 1977, estimated at approximately 6,450,000 acres, represents an increase in 1977 of approximately 550,000 acres, of which center-pivot irrigation systems accounted for 59 percent, or 324,000 acres.

lite Landsat-2, shows that the number of center pivots in Nebraska has jumped from 2,751 in 1972 to 15,043 in 1977. Center-pivot systems in Nebraska have, therefore, increased in the last five years by approximately 447 percent, or by 12,292 units.

The seven counties recording the greatest 1977 installations of center-pivot irrigation systems were: Holt, 252; Antelope, 142; Chase, 93; Rock, 92; Lincoln, 91; Perkins, 85; and Dundy, 81. These seven counties accounted for approximately 34 percent of all the 1977 installations.

Recovery and Opportunity

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION by M.M. Van Kirk, Director of Information, says there are signs that the sheep industry in the United States and in Nebraska is making a comeback that is overdue.

Much is made of the parity factor these days, probably too much, but it may not be generally known that sheep and lambs at present prices are the only livestock that are rating a return of 100 percent of parity and better. Slaughter lambs, 80 to 100 lbs., during the week of March 17 averaged $70.50 per cwt. as compared to $51.75 on the same date the previous year. Happy can be the sheep producers who didn't follow the trend and stayed with sheep producing and/or lamb feeding.

The average price for wool during 1977 in Nebraska was 69 cents per pound as compared to 56 cents during 1976. Wool as a fabric is making some recovery, too. The American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., made up of leaders of the industry, analyzed their problems and launched a sheep industry recovery program a year ago which is making progress.

At the annual meeting of the Sheep Producers in Denver in March, Samuel D. Addoms, president of Monfort of Colorado, Inc., confidently told directors that Monfort expects 1978 will be the final year of sheep and lamb production decline. Addoms said expansion of Monfort's lamb program is obvious in many areas such as initiating a double shift on lamb slaughter, increasing lambs on feed and further developing their lamb processing and marketing programs.

Addoms rated their lamb program as a high priority project, feeling it promises to provide an excellent return on investment. This same reasoning, he feels, provides powerful incentives for production expansion to individual producers.

Douglas Brann, president of Homestead Woolen Mills of New Hampshire, said that for the first time in five years, Homestead Woolen Mills has a 100 percent wool fabric and for the first time in five years, they do not have a 100 percent synthetic fabric.

There were reports of more sheep and lambs brought in to Western Nebraska this winter than for many years. Thirty-five to 40 years ago, a million head of lambs were fed out each winter in the North Platte Valley and were a mighty boost to that area's economy.

The Sheep Council's improvement program is broadbased and includes all phases of production from improved breeding to final slaughter and marketing, with personal investment in lamb and wool product promotion on an expanded scale.

J. Ewan Goulding, Colorado Commissioner of Agriculture, recently declared, "Sheep probably have the brightest future in agriculture." They do have many things going for them. . . they are great foragers and in this respect have historically been superior to cattle.

The decline of the sheep industry occurred over a long period of years, and many factors contributed to it. Among them were difficulties in securing experienced herders and feedlot managers and laborers. Sheep take special care and management or losses can pile up quickly and disastrously as experienced sheep people know. The predator problem has been increasing and western, lab producers changed to cattle in many instances. The supply of good feeder lambs became very limited and caused many traditional lamb feeders to drop their programs.

All the problems have not gone away by any means but present prices say there is money to be made in the sheep and lamb business for those who seize the opportunity and approach it in the right way.

PRUNE AWAY YOUR TREE TROUBLES
 Most people know that pruning can add a more pleasing shape to their trees and shrubs, but it needs to be done with care. Here are three areas that pruners need to know before they attack their green growing things with a shears.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN PRUNING

1. Prune dead, dying or unsightly parts of a tree.
2. Prune sprouts growing at or near the base of a free trunk.
3. Prune overlapping branches.
4. Prune one of the branches forming a weak crotch. Weak crotches cause splitting.
5. When multiple leaders develop on a tree, cut out the rest and leave one stem.
6. Prune nuisance growth — those that will interfere with electric or telephone wires, etc.

WHEN TO PRUNE

1. Dormant pruning — fall to early spring. For shrubs that bloom during middle and late summer. Examples of these are hydrangea, rose of Sharon, summer blooming spirea and elderberry.
2. Spring pruning — as soon as the flowers fade. Examples of these are forsythia, flowering quince, flowering almond, crabapple, redbud, etc.
3. Summer pruning — limited to trimming hedges, shaping evergreen ornamentals or re-

HOW TO PRUNE

1. Train a tree or shrub by shaping its natural growth.
2. Control direction of new growth by cutting back to a bud or stem that points to the direction where you want it to grow.
3. Undercut any branch that is more than one inch in diameter to prevent splitting and treat the wound with asphalt varnish or other suitable painting material.
4. Do not prune when plant is bleeding. Birch, maple, elms, etc. are serious bleeders.

FERTILIZERS

Fertilizers that can be used in improving garden soil can range from barnyard manure to commercial fertilizers. Barnyard manure gives excellent results and improves soil tilth.

Annual applications of barnyard manure at the rate of 200 to 400 pounds per 1,000 square feet would be recommended. Use half of this amount if chicken or sheep manure is used as the potency is greater.

The use of manure will supply essential nutrients and increase the waterholding capacity and improve the physical condition of the soil itself.

Approximately the same results may be obtained by applying compost to the soil. Anyone can build a compost pile and develop this soil additive which may be used in the garden.

Aid

American agriculture most likely won't be blessed with consistent crop prices at levels of the years of 1974-76, he said, but instead, "will be faced with ups and downs — just like we're facing at the present time."

"In years when weather is normal, we'll go through about what we've been going through for the past couple of years — the demand for commodities will be dampened and we'll be more concerned about support prices and farm programs," Heady said. "Then there will be times when weather is poor in other parts of the world and they will have a big demand for our products and prices will fly up very rapidly (unless) a very large and appropriate grain reserve program is established."

Generally consumers of both rich and poor nations have been provided with improved diets in recent years, he said, although developing countries offer their citizens less variety and foods with lower energy content.

sensing facilities of the Conservation and Survey Division's Remote Sensing Center were used to assemble this information. Project directors are Dr. Richard O. Hoffman and Dr. Donald M. Edwards of UNL's College of Engineering and Technology, who used an IBM computer and a Calcomp plotter for storing, retrieving, and generating the data in tabular and map form.

This information will be available soon in the form of a color map entitled "Center-Pivot Irrigation Systems in Nebraska, 1977," which will distinguish the center-pivot systems existing through 1976 from those added in 1977. In a table at the bottom of the map are given county-by-county totals for each of the years from 1972 through 1977. Copies of the map will be available soon at 50 cents each, plus sales tax for Nebraska residents. Orders for the new map may be placed now with the Conservation and Survey Division, University of Nebraska, 113 Nebraska Hall, Lincoln, NE 68582.

VFW Groups Meet Thursday

The Gasser V.F.W. Post No. 5435 met the evening of April 20 at Martinsburg with sixteen members and one guest, District 111 Commander Alton Colsden, present.

May 19 was decided upon as the date for the dance the post will sponsor at the Martinsburg firehall. Donna Bourn will provide entertainment, and the members will sell raffle tickets for a cash drawing the night of the dance.

Election of officers was held, with all present officers re-elected for another year, with the new quartermaster, Dean Smith.

The next meeting will be May 10.

members and three guests, District 111 Auxiliary President Ethel Colsden, State Chaplain Lenice Frank, and Elsie Hanny of Stratton, present.

May 3 at 1 p.m. members of the auxiliary will go to the Veteran's hospital in Norfolk to deliver lap robes and other items for the patients.

The ladies will sell poppies May 6, Armed Forces Day. Darlyn Pickler of Columbus was the winner of the Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls.

Auxiliary president Arlene Schultz and members were to travel to Dakota City April 24 to attend the institution of a new auxiliary. The auxiliary will help the men with the May 19 dance by cleaning the firehall and fixing a lunch to serve after the dance.

All present officers were re-elected for another year. Vera Diotiker will try to find an instructor for CPR courses. Clarice Blohm won the cake raffled off during the evening.

The next meeting is May 18.

Receives Medal

Lori Von Minden of Allen received the George Washington Honor Medal at the Fifth National Awards Presentation April 19 at the Omaha Chapter of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. The event took place at

4H CLUB

Allen Museum Site

Of April Meeting

Nineteen persons attended the April meeting of the Dixon County Historical Society, held at the museum in Allen.

Following a film, entitled "Working With Nebraska Water," Ruth Roberts reported on the Lewis and Clark Expedition. Reports from various committees were heard. It was announced that there are 49 members of the society, marking an increase over last year.

Tour guides for the April 26 Dixon County Extension Club tour met and made plans.

Mrs. Milo Noe of Waterbury served lunch.

All interested persons are invited to attend the society's meetings, held the third Tuesday evening of each month at the museum.

Leslie Livewires

The fourth meeting of the year for the Leslie Livewires 4-H Club was held April 17 in the home of Lois Svoboda. The lesson was a combination of sheep and swine, followed by the business meeting.

The next meeting will be May 15 in the Ronnie Krusemark home.

Barbara Wichman, news reporter.

Leslie Lassies

The Leslie Lassies 4-H Club met with Susan McQuistan April 10, with all members present. Pam Svoboda was pledge leader, Terri Nuernberger, music leader, and games leader was Lori Anderson.

A sewing lesson was given and members tested food they had made for the cooking lesson.

The next meeting is May 8 with Pam and Barbara Svoboda. Lori Anderson, news reporter.

Modern Misses

The Modern Misses 4-H Club met April 11 in the home of Karen and Carmen Reeg with seven members and six guests present.

The speech contest date of April 27 was given and the song contest and outfits were discussed. It was agreed that by the next regular meeting the community projects be completed.

Demonstrations were given by Karen and Carmen, and lunch was served by Mrs. Reeg.

The next meeting will be May 9 in the home of Judy Bauermeister at 7:30 p.m.

Dawn Carstens, news reporter.

Deer Creek Valley

The Deer Creek Valley 4-H Club met Friday evening in the Wallace Anderson home with 14 members present. Randy Dunklau conducted the meeting and Annette Finn reported on the last meeting.

The group made plans for a roller skating party in Wakefield Friday, April 28. The Junior Leader Camp was discussed. Randy spoke about sickness in beef cattle, and Dennis Anderson told about dairy cattle characteristics.

The next meeting will be May 24 in the Jim Bush home.

Joan Loberg, news reporter.

Coon Creek

Eight members of the Coon Creek 4-H Club met April 17 at 8 p.m. in the Leonard Roberts home. President Penny Roberts called the meeting to order and the 4-H pledge was recited. Secretary Barry Jones read the minutes of the last meeting.

Record books were passed out and changes in the market livestock record book were discussed. New business included discussion of money-making projects, a club outing in July, and the possibility of sending a club member to the 4-H Club Week.

Members are to bring ideas for a money-making project to the next meeting. Plans for a club outing will be made at a later meeting. Members voted to assume expenses so one member can attend 4-H Club Week.

Brad and Brenda Jones need identification forms to fill out for their projects, and leader Connie Roberts will take care of this. She will also check on scholarships for 4-H Club Week.

The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served.

The next meeting will be May 15 at 8 p.m. in the Robert Jones home.

Keith Roberts, news reporter.

the Highland Country Club in Omaha.

Lori gave a post-luncheon address and was presented the award by Lt. General James Kock of Omaha.

The Merle Von Mindens and Vivian Good, all of Allen, and Mrs. Henry Von Minden of Martinsburg attended. This is the second year Lori has received the honor medal.

Frosting Recipes Told at Scattered Neighbors Club

Eight members of the Scattered Neighbors Extension Club answered roll call April 19 with a frosting recipe. Hostess was Mrs. Herbert Jaeger. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Dave Jaeger and son and Mrs. Paul Zeffka. For a money-making project, each member paid five cents if they were wearing earrings and 10 cents if they were not.

Vice president Mrs. Charles Jackson presided and reported on the council meeting. It was announced that the spring tea will be held in Wayne on May 12. Special awards to be given at the Wayne County Fair were announced.

Teachers Meet
St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school teachers met at the church April 19 with nine teachers and the Rev. G.W. Gottberg attending.

Citizenship leader Mrs. Dale Krueger encouraged the women to vote. Each member brought a poster urging persons to vote. The posters were collected by Mrs. Krueger and will be displayed in Winside businesses.

Reading leader Mrs. Herbert Jaeger read an article on whooping cranes.

Mrs. Jos Mundell, health leader, reported on the Helen Backer Conference on Rural Health held recently in Norfolk. Tapes of the conference were played during lunch.

Next meeting is with Mrs. Dale Krueger on May 17.

Birthday Guests
Guests April 19 in the Russell Prince for Lana's birthday were the William Heiers and LeRoy Heier family, Norfolk, and the Cecil Princes.

Mindy Janssen and Tracy Topp were overnight guests in the Prince home to honor Lana. Guests Friday evening in the Prince home for the birthdays of Lana and Randy were the George Jaeger and Dean Janke families.

Mundell Hosts
Pitich Club met Saturday evening in the Joe Mundell home. The May meeting will be with the Charles Jacksons.

First Birthday
Guests from Omaha, Lincoln, Neligh, Norfolk, Stanton and Winside gathered in the Charles Jackson home Sunday afternoon to help Matthew Jackson celebrate his first birthday. The birthday cake was baked by his mother, Mrs. Robert Jackson.

Scouts Taking Part
Members of Cub Scout Pack 179 Den 2 will lead the parade and present the flag during the Special Olympics at Wayne next month.

Scouts will hold their monthly paper drive that afternoon in Winside and Carroll. The drive will take place after dinner instead of in the morning.

Eat at Norfolk
Coterie Club members ate at Becker's in Norfolk Thursday to mark the final meeting of the season. Mrs. E.J. Svoboda and Mrs. Minnie Graef were guests. Prizes were won by Mrs. E.T. Warnemunde, Mrs. Gladys Gaebler and each guest.

Phares Chides Thone For Not Speaking Out

Robert Phares, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, accused his opponent 1st District Congressman Charles Thone with not speaking out on the issues.

Phares, former North Platte mayor, was in Wayne Saturday afternoon meeting with constituents.

Phares chided Thone for his apparent unwillingness to appear with other gubernatorial candidates for discussion and debate.

A scheduled debate in Kearney Sunday night by Phares, Vince Rogers and Stan Juelfs and Thone was called off because Thone did not show up.

Saturday, Phares conceded Thone was the favorite according to several polls, including one published in The Wayne Herald Monday. He is very strong in the First Congressional District, but I'm working hard in the Second and Third Districts.

Phares also said the same polls which have Thone as the favorite, also show many undecided voters. "I believe I can convince those undecided voters to vote for me and that just may turn the trick."

Correction
Mr. and Mrs. Allen Koch celebrated their 38th wedding anniversary April 16.

Kochs were married in Wayne on April 15, 1940. A recent story in The Wayne Herald incorrectly reported that Kochs were married in 1941.

DESIGNED FOR BETTER LAWS AND GARDENS.

Some of the best mowers you can buy say Snapper on them. So let the size of your lawn determine which Snapper you buy. Our "High Vacuum" riding Mower with optional Bag-N-Wagon holds a big 30 bushels of clippings. Our standard rider cuts a big yard down to size, fast with its optional 6 bushels grass catcher. Or maybe you've got a V-Series sized lawn. If so you've got 13 choices. And when it comes to gardens, Snapper Tiller's the one.

All Snapper mowers meet A.N.S.I. safety specifications.
