Campaigning Grinds Down With Primary Vote Tuesday

It's up to the voters. They will make their choices in the Tuesday primary.

For the past week, candidates for the various offices have converged on Wayneland in an effort to sway the fairly large sector of undecided voters. Tuesday will tell how well they have done their job.

And Tuesday will tell how well voters of the area responded to their responsibility as a citizen. . . to exercise their right to vote.

Early indications are for a small primary turnout. Candidates have expressed concern over apparent apathy about the primary election. They said they found a decided indifference to the election as they made their way around the area and the state.

Whatever the outcome, Wayne County is ready for the election, according to Norris Welble, county clerk and election commissioner. He said all of the apparatus for conducting the election as the usual polling places in the precincts have been checked out and are ready to go.

He said the polls will open at 8 a.m. Tuesday and will close at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Wayne Countians will have some choosing to do on both sides of the ticket as there are several candidates from which to choose from the U.S. Senatorial lineup down to the Wayne City Airport Authority.

For the United States Senator, Republican voters will choose between Don Shusteen, Hastings

'Now Wait a Minute, Mr. Clown'

NOT ENTIRELY happy with being kissed by a clown is Molly Burst, two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burst. Molly was just one of the many children who were greeted by clowns with the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Sowers Club who made a goodwill stop in Wayne Thursday afternoon. Two busloads of the "ambassadors" entertained delighted youngsters and school children with antics and contests.

Hummel, Preston Top Music Seniors

Jay Hummel and Gwen Preston were named as the outstanding senior music students during the annual Music Boosters Recognition banquet Tuesday in the Commons area at Wayne High School.

Hummel received the John Phillip Sousa Award for outstanding senior in band and Miss Preston received the National School Choral Award for outstanding senior in choir.

A Students' Appreciation Award was presented to Gema Giese, pianist and accompanist.

In other awards, band letters were presented to: Gema Giese, Joe Teeter, Jay Hummel, Joleen Wiener, Jean Carhart, Janine Tiedtke, Gwen Preston, Lori Lessmann, Tim Maier, Dave Blendersman, Bill Haas, Charles McLain, Randy Fleer, Holly Rees and Lori Johnson.

Four Year Band Awards were presented to Joe Teeter, Gema Giese and Gwen Preston. Superior Soloists Awards were presented to Jay Hummel, Joe Teeter, Randy Fleer, Joleen Wiener, Gema Giese, Don Straight, Gwen Preston and Mark Shuffelt.

Superior Ensemble Awards were received by the Girls Trio, the Swing Choir, the Girls Glee Club, the Flute Trio and the Trombone Quartet.

Recognition was given to the Concert Band and Choir for receiving superior ratings of the District Music Contest. Members of the Wayne Stage

Band were given recognitions for their first place rating in the Wayne State College Stage Band Contest and for their second place rating in the Vermillion Stage Band Contest.

RECEIVING TOP music awards for seniors are Jay Hummel and Gwen Preston. Hummel received the John Phillip Sousa award and Miss Preston was presented the National School Choral Award.

CCC Storage Loans Ready

Wayne County producers can now obtain Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loans to build high-moisture storage and silage storage facilities on their farm and to remodel existing storage structures, according to Alden Johnson, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

"This action is part of a program to help farmers build needed storage structures," Johnson said. Previously, loans were available only for construction of new structures for high moisture grain or grain silage, and dry grain.

"The loans will benefit dairy-men and livestock producers who need storage for grass silage, and also grain producers with storage facilities that need modification and remodeling to increase capacity and efficiency," the ASC official said. He pointed out that facility loans are secured loans and borrowers must provide adequate security to protect CCC's interest.

During the past year, farm facility loan provisions were broadened and liberalized to help achieve the goals of the grain set-aside and farmer-owned reserve programs. Johnson said loan activity has increased substantially.

More information on the farm storage facility loan program may be obtained by contacting the ASCS office, Box 230 - 120 Logan, Wayne, phone 375-2453.

Spring is the season for tulips and tornadoes.

One bloom and the other booms. Tulips are a welcome harbinger of spring. Tornadoes are never welcome.

Tornadoes are the most violent of storms. They are unpredictable. They are not selective as to who is maimed or killed. They cause millions of dollars in property damage.

The Wayne area has taken certain precautions to alert residents in the event of a tornado. Civil Defense officials, law enforcement agencies and the Wayne CB Club join together to form communications in a "tornado watch" situation.

In the event a tornado is sighted, sirens will be sounded with a high and low sequence for a full three minutes. Other communities in the area have similar warnings.

Area residents also can tune to KTCH, FM, 10.5, in the event of severe weather.

General Manager Ted Storck said KTCH-FM will report any weather warnings during its regular hours of programming which end at 11 p.m. The FM station will go back on the air after 11 p.m. if there is severe weather in the area prompting a tornado watch or in the event of a sighting. The station has a direct weather wire and telephone service from the Norfolk weather station.

Civil Defense authorities offers these reminders about tornadoes:

— Tornadoes will go up and down hills.

— A tornado does not have to touch ground in order to do damage.

— A person standing in the open to view a tornado is not always safe if standing at right angles to the path of the storm. However, if it is necessary to move away from the tornado path, movement at right angles would probably be the best course.

— Tornadoes will cross rivers, and large bodies of water

ASCS Surveys Farm Storage Space

Wayne County farm operators have received a questionnaire requesting information on the amount of storage space available on their farms for grain and oilseed crops, according to Alden Johnson, Chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The mail survey is being conducted to determine whether or not sufficient storage space will be available for grain placed in the reserve and the 1978 harvest.

"The success of the reserve program is dependent upon adequate storage space," Johnson said. Increased grain production and carryover stocks have necessitated more space both on and off the farm. Commercial facilities will be surveyed jointly by ASCS and the Economics, Statistics and Cooperative Services (ESCS).

According to Johnson, U.S. off farm storage is estimated at 6.6 billion bushels, and on farm storage ranges between 7.5 and 8.5 billion bushels.

The ASCS official said the survey will give more precise figures on the facilities available for storage of all commodities.

With this information, we will attempt to determine where the handling and storage problems could show up during harvest. We must insure that grain, currently under loan or in the reserve, plus that stored on the farm, does not clog distribution channels to users.

He indicated that a large 1978 crop could place considerable pressure on storage facilities, particularly in areas where tight storage conditions existed last fall.

By conducting the survey, ASCS and ESCS will determine the amount of usable storage space currently located in the county, the space occupied, the number of wet storage facilities used for high moisture grain, and the amount of permanent, ear corn storage space.

Full Agenda For Council

The Wayne City Council Tuesday will have a full agenda at its meeting which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

There are four advertised items on the agenda which is printed in today's Herald. They are Public Hearing, Wastewater Treatment facility, 8 p.m.; Bid Opening, Water Extension District No. 78 I, 8:15 p.m.; Bid Opening, Sanitary Sewer Extension District No. 78 I, 8:30 p.m. and a Public Hearing for a request to rezone Lot 1 and N 1/4 of Lot 2, Block 7, Crawford and Brown's Addition at 8:45 p.m.

Other items include a comprehensive plan update, conditional use request, cost of living increase, pool tickets, street sweeper and assessments, improvement district No. 76.

Car Damaged; Hits Guardrail

Substantial property damage was reported in a one vehicle accident about two miles east of Wayne.

The sheriff's office said a vehicle being driven by Brian D. Nelson, Pender, was eastbound when it went off the road and struck a bridge guard rail sustaining damage to the front end. There were no injuries reported.

Taxpayers Meeting Set To Explain LID Program

Area taxpayers will have an opportunity Tuesday to learn about a program designed to slap a lid on local government spending through a petition drive and the ballot box.

A meeting will be held at City Auditorium in Wayne beginning at 8 p.m., during which the program will be explained. A question and answer period will conclude the public meeting.

John E. Halloran, Hastings, and S.H. Bruger, Jr., Lincoln, have joined together as leaders of LID which is a program to stop increased spending and taxes without taxpayer involvement and approval.

They are circulating petitions seeking at least 46,000 signatures by July 7 to get the issue of a five percent local government limitation on the Nov. 7 find the safest places in the basement and interior hallways or lower floors. North-South hallways having exterior entrances at the ground level and windows should be avoided. If possible, elevators should not be used.

In the home, the central part of the basement offers the best protection. In homes without basements, the first floor is safer than upper floors. Mobile homes should be abandoned in favor of other shelters or even a ditch in the open.

Other reminders by the Civil Defense Agency are:

— Parked vehicles are unsafe as a shelter during a tornado, or severe windstorm.

— Battery powered radios are essential for providing information.

— The telephone should be used only for emergencies. During disasters, telephone overloads can make coordination difficult for emergency operation forces. See SPRING, page 9

In Collision

Two Winside residents collided in an intersection in Winside Tuesday. There were no reported injuries.

According to the Sheriff's office, a vehicle being driven by Bradley J. Janke, Winside and a vehicle being driven by Janice R. Schlueter, Winside, were involved in an accident in the intersection of Hunter Street and Crawford Avenue.

According to the report, Schlueter was heading South and making a left turn. Janke was heading west and had stopped for a stop sign and then pulled out to make a left turn and struck the Schlueter vehicle on the left side.

A fire broke out in the spare bedroom in the basement apartment of a house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rabe in Wisner caused extensive damage around midnight April 28. The alarm was turned in by passers-by and Rabes were out of the house by the time firemen arrived. Damages were estimated at about $22,000. The entire basement was pretty well damaged by fire, smoke and water, and the main floor rooms sustained heat and smoke damage.

A 32-year-old Schuyler man is being held in the Cumming County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond following his arrest in Wisner May 1. Brian Adams is facing charges of burglary, grand larceny and possession of stolen property stemming from an incident in the Wisner area recently. He has been involved in the theft of several antiques in the area.

LONGTIME Pender businessman Tom

Witt was roasted and toasted April 28 during the Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet. In business in Pender since 1943, Witt was roasted by Don Kai, Ralph Simpson, Father Ralph O'Donnel and Bob Merchant of Wayne. Read during the program was a letter from George Waters, executive secretary of the Nebraska Petroleum Jobbers and longtime associate of Witt during his tenure in the oil business. Witt is now involved in real estate.

OBSERVATIONS

Inflation battle fronts

Washington has declared war on inflation — again!
Judging from criticism of government policies, new battle fronts may be opened up in the war. Besides the usual frontal assault against excessive government spending and huge deficits, critics such as the Chamber of Commerce of the United States are zeroing in on underlying, or "hidden," causes of inflation for which government is responsible.

Arthur F. Burns, the recently retired chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, sized up the problem succinctly when he said: "Here is a government that legislates inflation."
In a recent editorial, "The Inflation Machine," the Pittsburg Press declared that the White House, "in fact, took many moves to accelerate the price spiral."

From his close monitoring of both U.S. legislative activity and economic data in Washington, Dr. Jack Carlson, chief economist for the Chamber, has been saying pretty much the same thing, only starting much earlier.

"The government," says Dr. Carlson, "has become a major source of new inflationary pressures, and no relief is in sight. The most effective anti-inflation program for the Administration and the Congress would be to refrain from passing inflation-causing legislation and regulations."

While the growth in federal spending and the projected $60 billion deficit for fiscal 1979 are still matters of grave concern, critics are noting specific ways in which that spending puts new wheels on what economists call the "engine of inflation."

In recent Congressional testimony, Dr. Carlson zoomed in on two big "wheels":
— New laws that drive up prices, taxes and unemployment, which together make an unbeatable inflation team.

— Bigger spending increases for government regulation of business, which drives up not only the budgetary cost of government but the price of consumer goods and services as well.

The Chamber estimates that legislation recommended by the White House and passed by Congress, in 1977, will cause consumer prices to rise by 0.8 percent in 1978 and by 1.8 percent in 1979.

The fiscal 1979 budget, effective Oct. 1, calls for outlays of more than $300 billion. It has been called "lean" and "tight" because it holds the increase in spending to 8 percent, barely more than enough to keep up with inflation. But the same budget provides much larger increases for major regulator agencies, as shown in the table below:

Federal Trade Commission consumer protection enforcement activities	— 13 percent
Occupational Safety and Health Administration	— 17 percent
Equal Employment Opportunity Commission	— 23 percent
Environmental Protection Agency enforcement activities	— 26 percent
The 26 percent increase in EPA's regulatory budget, for example, could translate into additional business costs raising consumer prices 0.5 percent and reducing jobs by 350,000.

These projections are borne out by expectations of business in a recent Chamber Gallup opinion survey showing that during the next few years over half of American businesses surveyed expected to spend significantly more money for federal regulation.

With inflation currently running at more than 7 percent, led by food prices that are doubling, it comes as no surprise that the American public places control of inflation at the top of its worry list. What is a surprise is that government is so busy oiling the wheels of inflation.

The price of lettuce has taken some of the heat off of rising beef prices as far as the consumer is concerned. And while we have a chance to catch our consumer breath, we find opportunity to point out that the meat buying public isn't being ripped off by the higher prices in the marketplace for beef.

The fact is, the "honeymoon" of low beef prices is over. And while we as consumers aren't all that happy about paying more over the counter for the best in beef, we should give some thought to how our local beef producers are affected by the higher prices.

Wayne County enjoys being one of the leading beef producing counties in the state. Last year, there were approximately 80,000 head on feed in Wayne County. So we should not only be concerned about their welfare, we should consider how higher beef prices at the producer's level is beefing up the economy.

No matter how you cut the cards, agriculture remains as the state's number one industry. Polls have indicated other areas of industry have moved ahead in Nebraska, but when agricultural-related businesses are added up, they move to the top of the list.
So we ought to be concerned about our rural neighbors.

Perhaps the single most important difference between the beef industry and, for example, the automobile industry (and other sources of goods and services) is the fact that the production of beef ultimately depends on a natural biological process, whereas auto manufacturing is almost entirely mechanical.

This means there is nothing the feeder can do immediately to increase the number of beef cattle available for marketing. Unlike the manufacturer, he can't speed up his assembly line or put production workers on overtime. One calf per batch cow and that's about it.

A cow herd is called the "basic beef factory." While Wayne County has mostly feeder lots, the feeders have to get their stock either from another area or from his own cow calf herd. Either way, it's still an average of one calf per cow per year.

Higher cattle prices provide incentive. The cow herd operator can plan to increase production by retaining some female calves for later reproduction instead of setting them for beef. Feeders can adjust their operations to accommodate additional feeder calves for marketing.

Not a rip-off

While a few dozen larger companies or corporations govern the auto industry, there are almost 1.8 million separate, independent businessmen involved in producing cattle. Approximately 30 percent of the total beef cows (the basic beef factory) are in herds of 50 head or less, some 46 percent are in herds of 100 head or less and 66 percent come from ranches and farms with fewer than 200 head.

Area cattle feeders have just come through a ten year poker game and they are just now being dealt profitable hands. In the middle to late '60s, beef prices were high enough to encourage producers to increase production. While it takes about 45 months to bring about expansion, the immediate effect on beef prices was to make them go up as producers kept back stock to build up their herds. The supply just wasn't on the market and the beef was in the marketplace.

The cycle kept rolling to the point where in 1975 there were about $6.7 million head of cattle aimed at the markets. Per capita beef consumption raised from 109.6 pounds (carcass weight basis) in 1973 to a record of 129.3 pounds in 1976. And disposable income spent by consumers of beef went from 2.56 percent in 1973 to an all-time low of 2.13 percent.

Consumers were buying more beef than ever before but they were spending a smaller share of their take-home pay for beef than at any time in history. Things were not well in the cattle business.

An axiom in the beef business has been: "Consumers will purchase all the beef that is produced... but only at a certain price." The market was flooded and producers began to absorb production losses. The losses to the cattle industry during 1975-77 were estimated to be at least $30 billion dollars. Because of the time element, producers could not immediately stop the flow to market.

Now the cycle is on the upswing once again. There can be some controls, but the cycle still is a major factor in the cattle industry. It is not all roses, either for the producer or the consumer. But there is a good possibility things will level off.

The purpose of this dissertation is to acquaint the consumer with the basics of the cattle industry. It is an attempt to show why beef prices are high and why they are low and why, for we in the Wayne County area, there is a point where producers can sell their product at a profit and the market price will be such the consumer can afford to buy. No one can accurately predict when this is likely to happen. Only time will tell. — Chuck Barnes.

Got Home Canning Equipment Ready For Garden Crop?

Although the big home canning season may be a few months in the future, this is the time for homemakers to make sure they have all the utensils and equipment ready to go to avoid last minute frustration.

Following is a handy checklist that should cover all home canning needs:

Spoons — for stirring, spooning, packing and lifting. Use wooden spoons for stirring and packing; slotted spoons for lifting; measuring spoons are a must.

Knives — should include a good paring knife, a sharp chopping knife and a vegetable peeler.

Food Brushes — with stiff bristles are needed for carefully washing produce.

Saucepans — are needed for jams and jellies, heating lids, etc.

Measuring Cups — both dry (metal) and liquid (glass) should be on hand.

Jelly Bags and Jelmeter — for jelly making. The bags of thin fabric help strain juice from softened fruit and pulp, while the jelmeter (a graduated glass tube with an opening at each end) measures the jellying power of the juice.

Colander or Strainer — holds and drains just-washed produce.

Scales — with capacity up to 25 pounds (11kg), are needed for following recipes where ingredients are given by weight.

Timer — for measuring processing times accurately by the minute.

Pressure Canners — the right size for your family, with either dial gauges or weighted, to process low acid foods like most vegetables.

Boiling Water Bath Canners — to process acid foods, like most fruits. Height is important because the jars, when seated on the canner's rack, must be covered by 1 to 2 inches of water with an extra 1 to 2 inches of "boiling" space above that.

Crocks — clean and free of cracks and chips are needed for pickling foods.

Jar Lifter — with soft plastic coating and wooden handles keep both hands and jars safe when removing from canners.

Jar Funnel and Bubble Freer — are both handy items. The canning funnel keeps food off searing surface of jar and accurately measures head space. The bubble freer, a long, smooth plastic implement for a similar non-metallic utensil is needed to run down the sides of filled jars to remove air bubbles without damaging the jar as metal objects can do.

Lids and Jars — are an essential in canning. Standard home canning jars should be bought according to the size appropriate to family needs. Buy lids from a reliable manufacturer, be sure to keep the packaging, and follow instructions carefully.

Middle School Students Place in Math Contest

Six students from Wayne Middle School took part in the seventh annual Junior High School Mathematics Contest at Norfolk last month.

Steven Zantiser, an eighth grader, received a third-place ribbon in his grade division. Shelley Emry tied for second place in the seventh grade division, and Elaine Johs and Rodney Porter placed second and third respectively in the division for sixth graders.

Others from Wayne who participated in the April 29 contest were eighth grader Mark Bofenkamp and seventh grader Kris Laberg.

Seventh grade math instructor Lanny Boelter accompanied the students to Norfolk. Other math instructors at Wayne Middle School are Mary DeNeaeyer, eighth grade, and Angela Dengs, sixth grade.

Eighty-three students from 23 schools in Northeast Nebraska took the written test which was developed by the Norfolk Junior High Mathematics Club. Ribbons were awarded to the top three students in each grade.

Winside Senior Girls Honored

Senior girls at Winside High School and their mothers and grandmothers were guests of the Winside Federated Woman's Club for its annual tea Wednesday evening at the city auditorium.

Sixty-one club members and guests attended. The program opened with prayer by Mrs. Dale Miller.

Senior girls at Winside High School are Carol Baird, Elizabeth Broekemeier, Alene George, Janelle Gottberg, Jackie Gramberg, Paula Hoemann, Jan Jaeger, Darci Janke, Mary Keenan, Peg Langenberg, Kim Mann, DeLana Marotz, Lori Prince, Beverly Ruback, Nancy Thies, Rhonda Topp and Melodi Westerhaus.

The girls pinned corsages on their mothers and each told what they would most remember their mother for. Mrs. Charlotte Wylie read "The Meanest Mother," and club members presented a skit, entitled "Fashions You Wouldn't Be Caught Dead In."

Potted plants were presented to Mrs. LeRoy Topp for wearing the senior class colors, red and white. Mrs. Edgar Marotz, Mrs. Albert Topp, Mrs. Alfred Janke and Mrs. Andrew Mann, in recognition of having their first granddaughter graduate. Mrs. Al Carlson for the largest earrings. Mrs. Donovan Leighton for having the most buttons. Mrs. Jay Morse, whose daughter was the youngest; Mrs. Allen Koch, whose wedding anniversary is closest to May 1; Nancy Thies for having the most colors in her clothing, and Mrs. Ella Miller for reading her Bible that day.

Lori Prince, the youngest senior, and Kim Mann, the oldest senior, also received plants.

Receiving corsages were Mrs. Clarence Koenig of Norfolk, who traveled the farthest distance to attend, and Jackie Gramberg for wearing some thing purchased in Winside.

Following the program, lunch was served by Mrs. Jay Morse and Mrs. E.J. Svoboda.

A short business meeting followed, conducted by president Mrs. Lester Grubbs.

Mrs. Allen Schrant, Mrs. Leontine Applegate and Mrs. Dale Miller will plant flowers in the urns along Winside's Main St.

A $25 donation was made to the Winside band for a trip to North Platte to take part in Nebraska National Days. The Federated Woman's Club will serve at the school's award banquet on May 16.

This was the final meeting of the season for the Woman's Club. Meetings will begin again in September.

Norfolk Theatre Schedules Show

The Norfolk Community Theatre will present the comedy "Harvey" on May 18, 19 and 20. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each evening at the Norfolk city auditorium.

Jean Engel, publicity chairman, said persons wishing to purchase a season ticket for next season can do so by calling 371-1280 after May 15. Purchasing a season ticket now, said Ms. Engel, will entitle the purchaser to see "Harvey" free of charge. Tickets also are available at the door.

"Harvey" is a zany comedy about a man who has an invisible rabbit for a friend.

160 Expected in Wayne For Tea

About 160 Wayne County Extension club members and guests are expected to turn out for a spring tea, to be held Friday afternoon, May 12, at the First United Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Registration will be from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Non-members as well as members of home extension clubs are invited to attend, according to Mrs. Herb Nie-mann, chairman of this year's tea.

The program will be a quilt display by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haight of David City. Haight began piecing quilt tops during the Depression years of the 1930's after being challenged by his wife, Isabelle, to make a better one than the one she was then quilting.

Today, nearly 40 years after piecing his first quilt, Haight and his wife have made and exhibited many of them, receiving many first and second premiums at the Butler County and Nebraska State Fairs. Mrs. Haight was awarded the Purple Rosette, Best in State, in 1971. Also in 1971, Haight's displayed 25 of their quilts during a 90 day exhibition at Stuhr Museum in Grand Island.

Mrs. Keith Owens, county chairman, will welcome women attending the tea. Special music will be by the Treble Clef Singers of the Methodist Church.

On the welcoming committee will be the Sunshine Club. Merry Mixers is the chair committee and the Klick and Klatter Club is in charge of the tea table.

Happy Homemakers will take care of coffee and on the serving committee will be Three M's. We Few and Monday Mrs.

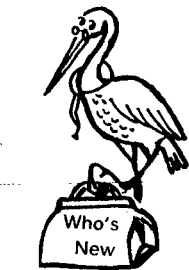

On cleanup will be Serve All and Star Extension.

Women helping Mrs. Niemann in the spring tea committee are Mrs. Julius Haver and Mrs. Bob Peterson.

Blue Devils Tag Trojans Twice, 6-3, 3-1

The Blue Devils showed power as they tagged Wakefield twice last week to round out regular season's play with a 10-2 record. They will be in district competition at Wayne on Thursday.

Wayne invaded Wakefield country Wednesday and came away with a 6-3 victory. They hosted Wakefield Friday in a return match on the Devils home field and won, 3-1.

In the Wednesday game, Wayne spotted Wakefield three runs in the 1st inning and then pecked away to a 6-3 victory. Wakefield scoring in the first inning resulted from a single by Preston, Sharpe's walk, and a home run by Doug Starzl, for a 3-0 lead.

The Devils tied the game in the top of the 3rd as Jeff Dion led off with a single, Dennis Carroll also singled, and Tom Ginn drove in both runners with a booming triple to left field.

Al Nissen hit a single to drive in Ginn with the tying run.

Wayne took the lead for good in the 5th when Ginn walked and stole second and scored on Kevin Murray's hit, his first of three RBIs for the day.

In the 7th inning, Ginn singled, stole second and scored on Kevin Murray's home run over the centerfield fence.

Vic Sharpe was tough on the mound for Wayne as he took the win to up his record to 4-1 for the season.

He gave up four hits and struck out ten Wakefield batters.

Wakefield's "biggest threat" after the 1st inning occurred in the last of the third when Dean Sharpe walked and Doug Starzl tripped to the plate.

Next week will find both area schools scheduled for District tournament action on Thursday, at Wayne. Wakefield will take on the winner of the Bancroft vs. Laurel winner at 1:30, and Wayne will play the Ponca vs. Decatur winner at 3:30.

Wayne's offense was led by Jeff Dion who was two for two for the day. Tom Ginn with a single and triple in three times at bat, and Kevin Murray with three RBIs resulting from a single and home run in four trips to the plate.

Next week will find both area schools scheduled for District tournament action on Thursday, at Wayne. Wakefield will take on the winner of the Bancroft vs. Laurel winner at 1:30, and Wayne will play the Ponca vs. Decatur winner at 3:30.

In the second game Wakefield took a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth as Doug Starzl singled, and ended up at third on an outfield error. He scored later on an infield error.

The scene remained the same until the last of the sixth when Wayne finally put together some offense.

Tom Ginn started by singling, Kevin Murray and Al Nissen walked to load the bases. Mark Gansbaum and Dean Carroll followed with consecutive singles to each drive in a run and Jeff Zeiss walked with the bases full to send home Al Nissen in the final run of the game.

Wakefield threatened in the top of the seventh. Ekberg took first via a base on balls followed by a single by Sodeberg. Ekberg as put out at third as he attempted to advance on the single. Barry Jones then walked with two outs and two on. A Wayne infield miscue loaded the sacks. Tom Ginn then struck out Dean Sharpe to end the game.

An inning earlier Jeff Dion, Wayne leftfielder, made a fine running catch on a line drive and threw to second to double off a runner to get Wayne out of a jam. Wayne loaded the bases in the last of the fifth but also failed to score.

Doug Starzl pitched a fine game for Wakefield and gave up three runs on five hits, six walks and had five strike outs in suffering the loss.

Tom Ginn went the distance for Wayne to record the victory. He was lunched for four hits, issued five walks, and struck out eight Wakefield hitters.

Dean Carroll was the most productive hitter as he singled twice in three times at bat.

WSC Gals End Season

Wayne State was eliminated from the CSIC tournament Friday night at Pittsburg, Kas., after two squeakers.

The Kittens battled for 18 innings in a four-hour ballgame before being ousted from regular competition by Fort Hays, 4-2.

WSC got two runs in the 1st, two more in the 2nd and one in the 3rd in their game against Emporia State. Emporia came up with two in the 4th, two in the 5th and two in the 7th for the win.

Pat Leinath took the loss. A crucial error in the 4th allowed two Emporia scores.

They lost the consolation game, 4-5, to Emporia State. Their season's record is 12-14.

Wayne State opened the Fort Hays game with two runs in the 1st inning. Vicki Carsey got a hit and Donna Lineders got on an error. Maria Cities scored the two on a single for the Wild-Kittens only scoring the draw-out game.

Fort Hays scored two in the 2nd inning to tie the game which went to the 18th inning before Fort Hays got a couple of more runs for the win.

Taking the loss was Lynna Larson, who walked only one and gave up seven hits. Choiiz was credited with the win for the Tigers.

WSC got two runs in the 1st, two more in the 2nd and one in the 3rd in their game against Emporia State. Emporia came up with two in the 4th, two in the 5th and two in the 7th for the win.

Thone, Rasmussen for GOP

The Journal institutionally supports Charles Thone as the Republican Party's 1978 nominee for governor.

At the general election in November, Nebraska will cast a single ballot for a governor-lieutenant governor combination. Accordingly, party members must package a "team" with their primary election votes.

The Third District is due representation on a state Republican ticket. So Dennis Rasmussen, the principled farmer-rancher from Scotia, becomes the Journal's choice for the lieutenant governor nomination in a field of five. His quiet conservatism evidenced during the last six legislative sessions should contribute to the balanced urban-rural GOP offering.

What's the Catch

NEBRASKA GAME AND PARKS COMMISSION
by Keg Bouc

in May.

First of all, you can hardly go wrong if you go fargemouth bass fishing the next few weeks. Master Angler Award records show that, year after year, May produces the most trophy bucketmouths, and that they come from all kinds of water. Public reservoirs, such as Salt Valley Lakes, Burchard, Grove, Smith, Merritt, Red Willow and a host of others all produce well. Farm ponds, sandpits, and Sandhills lakes are also hot bass waters in May.

To be more specific about May opportunities, consider some Panhandle waters. Smith Lake is good for bass and pike, but really shines as a bluegill lake. One-third of all Master-Angler bluegill taken in Nebraska last year came from this small lake, with May and the first two weeks in June tops.

May also means walleye action at Lake Minatare, starting at the inlet when the lake is being filled; an operation that should be completed any day now. When that's finished, the walleye take their appetites to the lake proper, and the fishing continues there.

Panhandle catfishermen always look forward to May and June, as channel cats from Lake McConaughy migrate up the North-Platte River as far as the Belmont Diversion. All along that stretch of river, small shad and shad entrails are used to take heavy stringers of up to 10 pounders.

May should also be good for trout fishing up the Upper Nebraska, where keeper browns have just been stocked; and Soldier Creek in the Pine Ridge should be good for trout throughout the summer.

May is also tops for spawning white bass, with most of this action found in southwest Nebraska. Reservoirs along the Platte Valley canal system, like Sutherland and Maloney, offer excellent white bass fishing in the fast water at the inlets. Another May event along this line is the white bass spawning run up the Republican River from Harlan County Reservoir. This year, the first two weeks of the month should catch the peak of the action. Take along plenty of white and yellow jigs, and maybe a few spinners and silver spoons.

May is a good walleye time at Lake McConaughy. The first week sometimes catches the tail-end of the spawning run, with fish concentrated at the dam. When that's over, they generally move to the bays where they often fall for trolled or drift-fished crawlers and minnows in about 15 feet of water. If that doesn't work, though, don't be afraid to experiment with something else. The walleye are there, and they are hungry.

Other May possibilities in that part of the state include good trophy northern pike fishing at Harlan County Reservoir, or in central Nebraska at Sherman Reservoir.

In the Sandhills, fishing's all ways best early in the year on the many natural lakes. Later in the season, weeds cause problems for fishermen. Merritt Reservoir's almost always good for some kind of fishing, and in May it's crappie, walleye and also some bluegill and bass. And Sandhills trout streams are good nearly year-round.

Northeast Nebraska is somewhat behind schedule this year because of the late spring. But, you can expect walleye and sauger action at Gavins Point Dam. Tailwaters and the Missouri River above and below Lewis and Clark Lake. May catfishing is traditionally very good in the Nebraska River from its mouth up to Spencer Dam. And, the Loup Power Canal offers good catfishing the last two weeks of the month. A few savvy oldtimers there have excellent success, so hang around and try to pick up a few tips. The upper portion of that canal also has a new walleye population which could be a good bet in May.

Lake North's large crappie population is always cooperative in May, and bluegill fishing should start soon in Fremont Lakes No. 7 and 8. Of course, bass fishing is big in this part of the state, with farm ponds, Pibel, Ericson, and Grove lakes offering some of the best fishing.

Salt Valley crappie fishing, particularly at Conestoga, Pawnee and Branched Oak lakes, is but one possibility for May in Southeast Nebraska. Ponds, sandpits, public reservoirs, and natural resources district lakes have populations of eager bucketmouths. In late May, the shallows of these same waters should provide excellent fishing for spawning bluegill. And, channel catfish should begin moving up the Blue, Nemaha, Platte, and Elkhorn rivers sometime during the month.

Of course, we've only covered the highlights. There are dozens of other fishing opportunities that we didn't have space to mention, so don't despair if your favorite fishing hole wasn't included. Just grab your tackle and hit the water.
Good luck, and good fishin'.

By KEN BOUC
May's arrival is good news for fishermen, most of whom right fully consider it among the best fishing months of the year. Some fish have already spawned and are now busily feeding, while others are congregating at spawning sites or moving up rivers and streams. And all the while, they're ready to take the right bait or lure if it's offered to them.

Of course, it helps to be in the right place at the right time. So, let's discuss where to go fishing

A study of over 2000 teenagers in 112 high schools found that a large proportion are undernourished, despite heavy eating, because of faulty diets. The children themselves referred to "junk" they ate, instead of drinking milk and fruit juice, and eating wholesome fresh vegetables, fruits, meats and whole cereals. Proper diet makes for better health, energy, and good appearance.

Care Centre Plans for Open House on May 21

The public is invited to visit the Wayne Care Centre during National Nursing Home Week on May 14 through May 20.

Administrator Timothy Boyle said the Centre is planning an open house on May 21 and invites the public to examine facilities at the Wayne Care Centre and visit its residents.

Members of St. Mary's Guild are planning to entertain Care Centre residents today (Monday).

Members of the Way Out Here Club of Carroll and the Gingham Gals 4-H Club recently visited the care centre and left door tags and butterfly plaques. The Bobbles and Bubbles band from the Wayne Senior Citizens Center played there on May 4.

Care Centre residents enjoyed organ music and songs presented by the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid on April 25. The Aid served coffee and cookies.

Many of the ladies at Wayne Care Centre along with their friends in the community enjoyed coffee and cake during a tea given April 19.

Stories, Jokes

Told at Club

Ten members of the Logan Homemakers Club answered roll call with a short story or a joke during a meeting in the home of Mrs. Harvey Echtenkamp Thursday afternoon.

Members sang "Little Brown Church in the Vale" and Mrs. Ronald Penstrik conducted a business meeting. Mrs. Laverne Wischhof read "April" and "Farm Meals Had Homegrown Menu."

Secret sisters were revealed with a plant or bulb exchange and new names were drawn for the coming club year.

Pitch was played with Mrs. Wischhof in charge. Receiving prizes were Elenora Heithold, Mrs. Alma Weiershauser and Mrs. Minnie Holman.

Circle Meets June 6

Central Social Circle will meet with Darlene Heigren on June 6. Meeting time is 2 p.m.

Ten club members held a brunch Tuesday morning in the home of Lillian Granquist. Vera Peterson was a guest. For roll call, members exchanged May baskets.

WHS Students Score High In National German Test

Four Wayne High School students are among 16 Nebraska high school German students who scored 90 or above in the national German tests.

All second, third and fourth-year German students from Wayne High took the tests, said

Mrs. Inge Alkins, instructor.

Randy Fleer, who had the highest score of the Wayne High students, 97, and Janice Butts, who scored 95 on the test, have been invited to attend the state honors banquet in Omaha on May 13. Both students are sophomores at Wayne High.

The tests were given in February but results were not announced until April, said Mrs. Alkins.

Other students from Wayne who scored in the top 10 percent, sophomores Brenda Hansen (92) and Shelly Malcom (90), will be honored along with Fleer and Miss Butts at this year's Wayne High German banquet, also scheduled for May 13.

Miss Butts and Miss Malcom were eligible for a month-long free trip to Germany as guests of the German Ministry of Culture and Education. One student from each state is awarded the trip, and this year's award went to a student from Lyons.

Fleer and Miss Hansen did not qualify for the free trip because of their ages. To be eligible, students must turn 16 years of age by Dec. 31, 1978.

Two former students at Wayne High School have been winners of the trip to Germany. Lisa Lesh qualified for the trip in 1973 and Mike Schmoltd went in 1975.

Girl Scout Council Meets at Wayne

The Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council met in Wayne last month for committee reports and election of new officers.

Officers elected at the April 27 meeting, held at Wayne State College, are Mrs. John Ehlers of Fremont, president, Ronald Hukin and Mrs. Dan Riley, both of Columbus, and Mrs. Delmar Andersen of Winneton, vice presidents; Mrs. Douglas Evans of Albion, secretary; and B.T. Friedrichsen of Columbus, treasurer.

Newly elected members of the board of directors are Mrs. Audrey Meyers of Saksnyder, Mrs. Helen Riley of Wausa, Mrs. Michael Fluent of Wayne, Mrs. James Wolf of Albion and Mrs. Ray DeMuth of Creighton.

Sixty-eight members registered for the day-long meeting. Junior Troop 191 from Wayne presented the flag ceremony. Dr. Linda Hargrove, Dean of Student Services at Wayne State College, welcomed the group. Singing was led by Mrs. Terry Meyer of Fremont.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Addie Scheve, a free lance writer from Battle Creek. The program included displays and recognition.

J.G. Sweigard Is 85 Monday

Guests helped J.G. Sweigard celebrate his 85th birthday May 1 at his home in Winside. Visitors during the evening were Gladys Gaebler, Twija Kahl and Dr. and Mrs. N.L. Dittman.

Other guests during the day were Mrs. Kenny Frahm and children of Hoskins, Juleene Miller of Norfolk, Mrs. Lloyd Behmer and the Dallas Schellenbergs.

Some say it is good luck to own a moonstone.

Wayne Super Stars

The Wayne Super Stars 4-H Club held a food workshop April 27 at the home of Bill Liska. Bill demonstrated how to prevent scum from forming on cocoa, and Kevin Griess gave a demonstration on the correct way to hard cook an egg.

The boys compared the price and the content of different kinds of milk. Mrs. Liska explained the correct way to make submarine sandwiches.

Outdoor games were played and treats were served by Bill Liska.

A bicycle workshop was held in the home of John Struve April 29. The boys rode their bikes to the Struve home, and then Mr. Struve and the members checked stems in their records books. A bike ride was enjoyed later.

The next meeting was to be a rocket workshop with fathers in the home of Bill Liska today (Monday).

Kevin Griess, news reporter.

HOSKINS NEWS / Garden Club Tour in May

Mrs. Hilaa Thomas 565-4569

The Hoskins Garden Club plans to tour several places in Norfolk on May 25.

Members of the club met Monday in the home of Mrs. Walter Fenske for a 9 o'clock breakfast.

President Gladys Reichert opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "May Day," and members sang "America The Beautiful." Roll call was "Events Happening in May."

Mrs. William Fenske read "Spring Cleaning." Mrs. Reuben Puls was winner of a flower contest conducted by the president. Mrs. Puls read an article, entitled "A Mother's Love."

The lesson on Oklahoma was given by Mrs. Erwin Ulrich, who showed several articles from Oklahoma.

The club is planning to plant flowers in the plot near the fire hall. A plant exchange was held at the close of Monday's meeting.

Covered Dish

The Helping Hand Club held a covered dish supper in the Harry Schwede home April 28.

Pitch furnished entertainment with prizes going to Mrs. Grace Acklie, the John Thieties, Robert Marshall and the Harry Schwedes.

Gus Perskes will be the May 10 host.

Brownie Meeting

Brownie Troop 201 and leader Mrs. Richard Behmer went on a hike Tuesday and practiced building a camp fire.

Members of the troop met at the fire hall after school, opening the meeting with the Girl Scout Promise Registration forms for Day Camp at Ta Ha Zouka Park in Norfolk in June were handed out. Cammy Behmer served refreshments.

Next meeting is this Tuesday at the fire hall.

American Legion Plans For Memorial Day

American Legion Roy Reed Post 252 made plans for Memorial Day observances in Winside when members met Tuesday night at the Legion Hall.

The memorial program will begin at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, May 29, at the city auditorium. Al Ehlers of Wayne will be the speaker. The Rev. Lon DuBois of Winside's Trinity Lutheran Church will give the invocation and benediction. Tom Kohl, the 1978 Boys State representative, will give the Gettysburg Address, and Brenda Voss, 1978 Girls Stater, will read.

The program will include the presentation and retiring of the flag by the color guard of the American Legion, and music by the Winside Public School band. A roster of the dead will be read by Wayne Denkiau.

Legionnaires are planning to leave at 9 a.m. on Memorial Day to visit the Theophilus and Spring Branch Cemeteries, both in Hoskins, and Pleasantview Cemetery west of Winside. Next regular meeting of the American Legion will be June 5. The meeting date was changed because of the Old Settlers Reunion falling on the regular meeting day.

Ladies Aid

St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid met Wednesday in the church social room with 21 members and a guest, Mrs. Henry Koch, attending.

Mrs. Elia Miller led devotions in the absence of Mrs. Karl Frederick. Members sang "We All Believe in One True God" and read the Pentecost prayer. Mrs. Miller read "By the Grace of God We Are a Gift," and devotions closed with a hymn.

President Mrs. Russel Hoffman conducted the meeting and thanked members who helped serve at the Henry Koch funeral.

Snack bar reports were given by Mrs. Leo Hansen and Mrs. Ray Reeg. Snack bar workers for May 12 are Mrs. Al Carlson and Mrs. N. L. Dittman. Mrs. Louise Willers and Mrs. Karl Frederick will work on May 16. Mrs. Arnold Janke reported on the Norfolk Lutheran Hospital Guild and Mrs. Werner Mann presented new kitchen policies to be placed in the church kitchen.

Mrs. Leo Hansen announced that the spring regional meeting of the Family Lutheran Service will be May 10 at the First Lutheran Church in Allen. Mrs.

Hansen and Mrs. Werner Janke are planning to attend.

Mrs. N. L. Dittman resigned from the flower committee and Mrs. Christ Weible volunteered to replace her.

The Aid is planning to serve at the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Benchoof on May 28. The committee is Mrs. Russel Hoffman, Mrs. Werner Janke, Mrs. Ray Reeg, Mrs. Louise Willers and Mrs. Herbert Jaeger.

It was decided to purchase a small perculator for the kitchen. Mrs. Elia Miller and Mrs. Ben Fenske are planning to make more silverware holders.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Werner Mann and Mrs. Werner Janke.

The birthday table will be honored at the June 12 meeting. Hostesses will be Mrs. Lester Menke and Mrs. Chester Marotz.

Granddaughter Honored

The Lloyd Behmers attended the Court of Awards for Girls Scouts at the Christ Methodist Church in Lincoln Monday evening. Their granddaughter, Christina Sue Zinnecker, a scout for the past seven years, received the First Class Award, the highest honor attainable by Girl Scouts. Christina, a member of the Lincoln Youth Symphony, played a violin solo, accompanied by her mother.

OES Represented

Veryl Jackson, Tillie Jones and Tixie Newman, representing the Faithful Chapter 165 OES of Winside, attended Representative's Day at the Masonic Eastern Star Home for Children in Fremont April 29.

The home is a non-profit organization and relies mainly on donations. Most of the 19 children residing there have Masonic or OES affiliation. The home strives to provide a family environment for the youngsters, who range in ages eight through 18.

Cub Scouts

Cub Scout Pack 179 Don 2 met at the fire hall April 27. Ten scouts and den mothers Mrs. Lee Gable and Mrs. Larry Carlson attended.

Scouts finished making kites.

IT'S THE MOST

The most difficult tongue twister in the world is thought by many to be "The sixth sick sheik's sixth sheep's sick," especially when spoken quickly.

Probably the most difficult time an author ever had trying to place a book was experienced by Gilbert Young. His "World Government Crusade" received 106 publishers' rejections.

Often, the most difficult time faced by many civilians is when they ask for a raise or promotion from an unfeeling employer. Marines find their job advancement easier than most civilians because a Career Planner is always available to them.

The most difficult river to take a long trip on is the D River in Lincoln City, Oregon, which connects Devil's Lake to the Pacific Ocean. At low tide, it's just 140 feet long.

general election ballot.

"Our goal is to obtain 100,000 signatures by June 7, 1978," Halloran said. He pointed out that it would be an effort to demonstrate widespread support of the concept.

Hollaran is active in the Nebraska School Improvement Association for which Brauer lobbies the legislature. However, both have declared the tax limiting drive has nothing to do with the NSIA which represents rural school board elements.

Hollaran explained the five percent increase would be written into the Constitution if voters approved the concept could be exceeded by:

A majority voter of the people in the taxing district involved; unusual population growth allowing the taxing district governing unit to act; exclusion from the lid of certain expenditures mandated by the U.S. Constitution under court order and by four fifths (40 of 49 members) vote of the legislature.

Both Halloran and Brauer said their battle would probably be countered by "spenders" using scare tactics which would include talk of drastic curtailment of services.

Brauer said they will attempt to frighten taxpayers into allowing them to continue to increase spending and taxes with horror stories of school closing, teachers, police and firemen layoffs, children running wild, criminals untested and buildings burning to the ground."

Hollaran maintained that the legislature couldn't curb spending and cited lawmakers' failure to pass, on grounds of a technical error, a bill to provide a seven percent local government spending limitation. The bill, LB 899, died the last day of the legislative session, he said.

Hay Fever: Spring Misery

Most people who suffer an attack of sneezing and sniffling conclude they are in the throes of a bad cold and take it easy for a few days. But to one person in 15, these symptoms signal the onset of hay fever.

Hay fever is a disorder that should not be ignored, according to John D. Furrer, Extension agronomist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Besides causing weakness and discomfort, it can lead to more serious problems such as infection or asthma.

Hay fever is caused by sensitivity to airborne plant pollens or mold spores, Furrer says. And as hay fever sufferers know all too well, it can be a problem from early spring to late summer and fall.

Beginning about the first of March, tree pollens are the major cause of hay fever in Nebraska, he says. "The flowers of wind-pollinated trees such as maples, elms and oaks are so small and inconspicuous that most people are unaware of their flowering. Many people believe they are suffering from a bad cold."

Tree pollens usually disappear from the air in mid-May, but it's about this time that grasses and certain weeds start releasing their pollen into the air, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist notes.

"Summer hay fever is some times called 'rose fever' because of the belief that it is caused by sensitivity to rose blossoms," he says. "Actually, roses and other large, colorful, fragrant flowers which depend on attracting bees for pollination cannot cause hay fever unless one comes into close contact with them. Even then, such cases are rare."

The real villain, he says, is the small flowers of wind-pollinated plants which release the large amounts of pollen that cause hay fever. This pollen may be carried by the wind for several hundred miles.

Nebraska plants for hay fever sufferers to avoid include rag weed, hemp, cocklebur, lambsquarters, Kochia, marshelder, bursage and Russian thistle or tumbleweed.

The agronomist points out that many people wrongly identify goldenrod as a hay fever plant. "Goldenrod, however, is an indicator plant of hay fever," he says. "It comes into bloom at the same time as many of the big offenders begin producing pollen."

In addition to pollen, mold spores can be a cause of fall hay fever. But unlike pollen, the mold spore problem is not ended by a hard frost, Furrer says.

It's impossible to avoid breathing pollens and spores while they're in the air, but medical treatment and avoiding excessive amounts of allergens can help hay fever sufferers reduce their discomfort.

"Pollen-sensitive people should avoid physical contact with hay fever plants during pollination time," he says. A person brushing into a pollinating plant inhales many more times the pollen than he or she otherwise would encounter.

Persons with spore allergy may find some relief by staying out of barns and places where straw and hay are stored, and by avoiding such activities as mowing grass and raking leaves. "Most grasses, hays and grains make excellent media for fungi and molds," he says.

Seasonal activities such as spring or fall housecleaning can cause symptoms which may be mistaken for pollen or mold spore allergy, Furrer notes. Hay fever symptoms which persist through the year usually are not caused by pollens, but by such allergens as house dust, leathers, cosmetics, foods or chemicals.

Police Blotter

May 4. Dale Lessmann reported an unknown vehicle struck and damaged his vehicle as it was parked in the 700 block of Winwood.

May 4. Brakes failing was the reported cause of a three-vehicle accident in the 200 block of Pearl Street. A vehicle being driven by Carl Bichel, 615 Douglas, was backing into a parking place when the brakes failed and he hit a parked vehicle belonging to Jewel Mau, 312 Louisa. Bichel pulled ahead and hit a parked vehicle belonging to Loren Kuster, Laurel.

May 3. A vehicle being driven by Fred H. Rickers, 422 Lincoln, and one being driven by Connie Jo Phelps, 827 Fairacres, were involved in an accident.

Police reported Rickers had stopped at the South Alley exit in the 200 block of West 2nd Street, waiting to turn onto 2nd Street. The Phelps vehicle had just exited from the Post Office parking lot stopped behind Rickers as Rickers backed into her vehicle. Rickers stated he had to back up before leaving the alley to avoid hitting a parked vehicle on West 2nd Street.

OBITUARIES

Richard Pinkham

Richard Pinkham of Wayne died Wednesday in a Norfolk hospital. He was 86. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne with the Rev. Doniver Peterson officiating.

Pallbearers were William Lueders Sr., Melvin Froehlich, William Fredrickson, Robert I. Jones, George Owens and Stan Morris. Burial was in the Bethany Cemetery northwest of Carroll.

Richard Pinkham was born Oct. 3, 1891, in Torrington, Devonshire, England. He came to the U.S. in 1913, settling in the Welsh Community west of Carroll.

On Dec. 28, 1919, he married Amy Willis in Omaha. They lived on a farm west of Carroll and south of Randolph. They later left the farm and went into the poultry business in Carroll and Wayne.

They lived in Carroll, Norfolk and Wayne, and had made several trips to Wales. They had made their home in Wayne since about 1930, where he was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Preceding him in death were his wife, one daughter and 14 brothers and sisters. Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Lloyd (Marjorie) Morris of Carroll, and Dorothy of Australia, and nephews and nieces.

Herbert Peters

Funeral services are pending at the Hiscox-Schumacher Funeral Home in Wayne for Herbert Peters, age 81 of Wayne, who died Saturday morning.

New Bookkeeping Leaf

For many consumers who barely met their April 15 income tax filing deadline, the thought of going through their records again, for any reason, may seem intolerable. "But, like most people, you probably found piles of receipts that were useless, misplaced important papers and found your medical deductions, filed under "housing," notes Kathy Prochaska, Extension family economics and management specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. "If you were in this situation, now is the time to turn over a new leaf in the whole area of recordkeeping," she says. The specialist suggests reworking your record system and starting now to keep orderly track of all those things you want to deduct next year. "This is much easier than trying to remember it all on April 14," she says. "Keeping an accurate record also will prove an immeasurable help if you're ever called in for a tax audit or need to prove itemized deductions, other deductions or tax credits, she adds. The first issue to be addressed is what should be thrown away and what should be kept - and for how long, according to the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist. "Tax records really should be kept indefinitely since you can be audited for up to three years after a return is filed in the case of suspected fraud, there is no limit to when an audit can be done," she says. For tax purposes, Prochaska says these items should be kept on file: paycheck stubs, bank deposit slips and cancelled checks; receipts for charitable contributions; sales slips, especially for cars or large-ticket items; brokerage account records, and records of unreimbursed business expenses. Other items that should be included in a tax file are: medical and dental bills; records of support of dependents who live outside the home; car expenses; business travel expenses with receipts and paid bills for lodging and food if they were not reimbursed by your employer; home improvement bills and payment records; and copies of your completed tax returns and withholding statements from previous years. Most of these items can be kept in a file at home, but those that are almost impossible or time consuming to replace should be kept in a safe-deposit box, she adds. Government bonds, certificates for securities, deeds, car titles, copies of wills and family certificates for birth, death, adoption, divorce and other such matters are among those papers that belong in a safe-deposit box. Prochaska says one orderly way of setting up your tax filing system is to keep separate tax files by year. Within these files, separate envelopes can be used for each of the categories you want to keep track of, such as charity, medical expenses and housing. It's also a good idea to keep an on-going file that can easily be added to for the current tax year.

Elect Republican candidate for Congress
First District

Doug Bereuter
 (Pronounced BEE-writer)

Editorials

Bereuter, a good man

At 38, Bereuter offers Nebraska Republicans a personality and a talent capable of helping the tottering and aging party find fresh, more moderate moorings. Forward-looking new leadership, bred to the bone with principles of fiscal responsibility, is what the Nebraska GOP badly needs. And Bereuter's four years on the Legislature's Appropriations Committee have schooled him to confront spending proposals and trim smartly and tightly. Attractive, a moderate capable of pulling Democratic votes in the general election, thoughtful, although perhaps a bit stiff for the Billy Carter-type gang, Doug Bereuter is a first-rate, highly qualified individual speaking for and voting for Nebraska's First District - for Norfolk, Nebraska's First District - for Norfolk and Falls City, for Fremont and Lincoln, for Center and Avoca, for pasture and pizza parlor. In short, we're for him.

"We appreciate the attitude of leadership and honesty which Doug Bereuter has brought to our political service." Seward County Independent.

This newspaper doesn't subscribe to the notion that Nebraska's farm interests can only be represented by a working dirt only be represented by a working dirt farmer. Ask the farmers in York and Seward Counties if Bereuter, with rural roots, hasn't worked tirelessly on their behalf. The Lincoln Journal
