Fight Fire for Four Hours

Winside Dehy Plant Guttled by Fire

By MARK CRAMER

A fire that took more than four hours to put out gutted the Winside Dehy Plant, south of Winside.

Winside Fire Chief, Russell Prince, said the alarm sounded at about 12:50 a.m. Sunday.

Three units were dispatched to the site, one an equipment truck.

The main building resembled the inside of a well-used chimney.

The floor was strewn with charred debris from the remains of the ceiling, walls and equipment. Plant manager Marvin Cherry estimated that it will be at least two months before the plant is in operation again.

Fire Marshall Larry Pochop, Albion, said he believed the fire might have started in the dohy pellet cooler. Sparks from the cooler were carried out an air duct to the walls, and from the walls, spread to the rest of the building. Pochop added that this duct probably served much like a blast furnace on the walls.

Marv Domann, one of the plant's owners, said he believes all the equipment in the building to be a total loss, and the replacing the electrical control room will be a major problem.

The plant employs about 15 persons. The manager has two working on clean-up detail, but he added that the rest of them "are probably out hunting for jobs right now."

Cherry said that the plant has contacted area farmers, and asked them to store hay that would normally be processed at the plant. He said the plant will buy it when it is back in operation.

The Winside firemen noarly were required to do double duty when they returned to town to replenish their supply, to find 25-50 people involved in or watching, a large street fight which resulted in someone being pushed or knocked through one of the large windows of Miller's Market.

Deputy Sheriff LeRoy Janssen said that the crowd was asked to quite down and disperse, or else they would be sprayed with the fire hose. By the time the equipment had been unloaded, most of the crowd had gone, he said.

This was the second fire that has hit the plant within the last month. The plant had a small fire on July 4, but "nothing like this."

Hansen's Grocery, Carroll, was also hit by a small fire. Monday, around 5 p.m., Mrs. Ester Hansen was working in her store when she noticed that her overhead light was blinking. She immediately assumed it to be a malfunction of the air conditioner, and went to check. She noticed smoke and called the Carroll fire department.

Mrs. Hansen said "about ten firemen were there in less than five minutes" and "everybody helped. The fire started when the electrical insulation of the air conditioner's wiring caught on fire.

Mrs. Hansen said the air conditioner was still operable, but some paneling will have to be replaced. "We were very lucky," she added.

A SUNDAY morning fire destroyed the main building of the Winside Dehy Plant, stopping its production for at least two months. The fire has put at least 12 people out of work.

According to plant manager Marvin Cherry, no definite estimates have been given as to the dollar amount of damage done.

'Deuce' Dazed by Dog Day

EVEN A DOG'S life can get confused, especially during the annual Wayne Dog Day to be held Saturday. Merchants will have their merchandise on the sidewalks at 7 a.m. The popular money saving event will last until 4 p.m. Because of the many bargains, area residents are advised to be in Wayne early. Many of the bargains are advertised in today's Wayne Herald. "Deuce" is owned by the LeRoy Simpsons.

Stresses Accurate Acreage Reporting

"Crop acreage and use must be reported accurately on a field by field basis," Alden Johnson, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, reported.

Johnson indicated that the importance of farmers making correct reports on their 1978 planted acreage of program crops cannot be overemphasized. It's a requirement for eligibility for commodity loans, target price protection and disaster and emergency program assistance, he said.

"The local ASCS office staff helps farmers be accurate by using aerial photographs for marking field boundaries," Johnson said. "With these photographs, farmers will be able to identify the fields that are devoted program crops, set-aside, or diversion. The use of some crops also must be reported."

Final dates for making this certification report to ASCS on Wayne County crops are: corn, grain sorghum and soybeans to be certified no later than Aug. 31. Adjustment of acreages after the final certification date is not permitted.

Johnson said that if farmers wish still more accurate measurement of acreage, it is available at cost from ASCS.

For more information call ASCS on phone number 375-2453.

ASCs programs are open to all eligible persons regardless of race, religion, color, national origin or sex.

Car Totaled in Accident

A three car accident Friday resulted in one totaled car, but no injuries.

The accident happened outside the Wayne County fairgrounds. A car driven by Loren Bartels, Wakefield, rear-ended a car driven by Darrel R. Wagner, Wakefield. The impact knocked the Wagner car into a pickup truck driven by Mark Griesch, Wayne. The truck was owned by Robert's Feed and Seed. See CAR, page 9

Lyons Drivers Sweep Derby

Three drivers from Lyons took the first three places in the Demolition Derby held Sunday night at the concluding activity of the Wayne County Fair. Joe Minton won first place, Rocky Lane was judged second and John Minton was the third place winner. See SWEEP, page 9

Retail Sales Lag

Area Ag Output Climbs During Month of April

Price-adjusted retail sales in the Wayne area were slightly below the level of April, 1977, but there was a sharp rise in agricultural output following several months of decline.

Figures compiled by the Bureau of Business Research, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, show that real output in Nebraska increased during April, 1978.

William Gerbes, research associate, noted that the April increase in state economic activity was broadly based with three of the five sectors in the state economy recording gains for the month.

Nebraska agricultural output was up five percent for the month of April. With the exception of marketings last November, seasonally adjusted cash farm marketings in the state See OUTPUT, page 9

Commission Approves County Zoning Plan

The Joint Wayne County Planning Commission Tuesday night approved the planning and zoning regulations which have been three years in the making.

The regulations will be submitted to the county commissioners who will set up a public hearing to be held before the end of August.

Norris Weible, county clerk, said the county plan passed the commission by a 4-2 vote with two members not present.

Those voting for approval of the plan were Neil Sandahl, Stanley Hansen, Ted Hoeman and C.O. Witt. Voting against the measure were Mern Mordgrst and Frederick Mann.

Those members absent were Neal McQuistan and Art Behmer. A citizen attending the meeting voiced objections to the plan.

Weible said 33 copies of the planning and zoning regulations are available for public inspection.

"We have them in the clerk's office," Weible stated. "They will be checked out to individuals and returned to the clerk's office."

The proposed regulations will be reviewed by the county commissioners at their regular meeting Aug. 15. A public hearing date will be set up at that time.

Copies of the regulations will be sent to bordering counties and to villages in Wayne County.

Troop 175 Holds Court

Members of Wayne Boy Scout Troop 175 held a Court of Honor Monday at the Boy Scout island near Pilger with three advancements being announced.

Wedding Vows Exchanged

A 7 o'clock double ring ceremony July 22 at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Martinsburg united in marriage Marcella Book and Byron Roeber.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Book of Martinsburg. She graduated from Allen High School in 1975 and is a student at Wayne State College.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roeber of Wakefield, graduated from Wakefield High School and attended Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk. He is engaged in farming.

The Rev. Paul Friedrich of Martinsburg and the Rev. Ronald Hailing of Wakefield officiated at the wedding ceremony.

Wedding music included "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Al Fey of Papillion and accompanied by organist Mary Rahn of Martinsburg.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a white chapel-length gown. The bodice and Victorian sleeves were adorned with re-embroidered lace. A lace LaGoda princess panel enhanced the front of the skirt, and a full flounce encircled the hemline and train. Her three-tiered bridal illusion veil was attached to a headpiece of pearls and handclipped mollis. She carried roses and carnations.

Linda Korbel of Lincoln was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Rita Mattes of Waterbury and Mrs. Nancy Wickel of South Sioux City. They wore floor-length dresses of apricot and green print and carried long stemmed roses.

Best man was Bruce Roeber, and groomsmen were Garry Roeber and Mark Myer. All are of Wakefield. They wore tan tuxedos with apricot shirts.

Flower girl was Lynnette Book of South Sioux City, and ring bearer was Tim Book of Martinsburg. Candles were lighted by Brenda Nettleton of Wakefield and Thad Book of Martinsburg.

Lisa Kluever of Randolph registered the guests. Ushers were Randy Bargholz of Wakefield and Greg Book of Sergeant Bluff.

A reception was held in the church hall following the wedding ceremony. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Book of Sergeant Bluff.

Two Baptized

Baptismal services were held at the United Lutheran Church in Laurel Sunday morning for Tasha Sue Johnson and Joshua Lee Klauson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson of Omaha and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Klauson of Laurel.

The Rev. Kenneth Marquardt of Laurel officiated. Dinner guests afterward in the Roger Klauson home were the Harold Johnsons and the Dwayne Klausons of Omaha, and the Kenneth Klausons of Concord.

Challenge Canned, Frozen Foods

The most significant development of food packaging since the invention of the metal can may soon be available to consumers. Called the "retort pouch," this new packaging device may eventually replace many canned and frozen foods on grocers' shelves, according to food specialists.

Dr. Stan Wallen of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, says the retort pouch is basically a flexible foil pouch that combines the advantages of the metal can and the frozen boil-in-the-bag pouches.

It does not require refrigeration or freezing and has a longer shelf life than even canned foods. Retort pouches also take less time for processors to heat to sterilization, so nutritional qualities, flavor, texture, and color of the products are superior to those in a can, he says.

"The main advantages of the pouch are that it's convenient, lightweight, takes up less storage and disposal space and is easy to prepare foods in," he adds.

For example, food packaged in a pouch can be heated in hot water for three to four minutes and then served. The pouch can be handled with bare hands just a few seconds after removal from hot water and it can easily be opened by tearing from a side notch, eliminating the need for can openers.

Pouched food also can be heated in a microwave oven simply by removing food from the pouch before heating rather than after, notes the specialist.

Foods like fruit and applesauce also can be eaten directly from the pouch, while other foods that aren't normally found in canned form will be offered, including entree items and a wide variety of ready-to-eat cakes.

Because pouched foods don't require refrigeration, are lightweight and resistant to handling abuse, they're ideal for military use and recreational camping, Wallen notes. In fact, the military has already accepted the foods and will begin using them next year.

The ability to provide single-serving portions also makes pouched foods desirable for the growing number of single-member households, the elderly and hospitals, he says.

Although retort pouch products have been test-marketed on the east coast and are available in some other countries, it will still be a couple of years before they reach in Midwest, Wallen projects.

Consumers will then be able to buy everything from frankfurters, beef stew and chicken loaf to fruit cake, cherry nut cake, pineapple and beans in small foil bags instead of cans, boxes or frozen packages.

Chicken Recipe is Fifth Best; Wins $1,000 for Wayne Woman

By LAVON BECKMAN

What do you get when you cross a chicken with a good cook?

The answer could be a check in the amount of $1,000.

At last that proved to be the answer for a local wife and homemaker, who also happens to be a whiz in the kitchen.

Mrs. Alice Albertsen of Wayne won the check for $1,000 for her "Chicken Hawaiian" dish which was named the fifth place winner in the National Chicken Cooking Contest cookoff held in Tampa, Fla., July 26.

Her recipe, which uses coconut and orange-pineapple concentrate to flavor the poultry, appears on the recipe page in today's Wayne Herald.

Sponsored by the National Register Council, the annual contest awarded a total of $20,000 in prize money to the top five recipes. Grand prize winner, Mary Corami of California won $10,000 for her cheesy chicken pizza recipe.

Contestants for the chicken cookoff came from 50 states and the District of Columbia. Eight were men.

Mrs. Albertsen was notified in June that her chicken recipe was judged best in the State of Nebraska for 1978, which meant that she would be the state's representative in the national cookoff in Florida. Over 30,000 recipes were entered nationally in the contest.

The 51 finalists won an expensive paid trip to Tampa, Mrs. Albertsen and her husband, Roy, chose to drive the distance and took in some sightseeing along the way.

Upon their arrival in Tampa, the contestants were guests of honor at several champagne receptions, dinners and press conferences.

The actual cooking, on Wednesday, took place at the Curtis Hixon Convention Center in Tampa. Each contestant entered carrying her state's flag. The contestants were escorted onto the convention floor by military representatives.

Mrs. Albertsen said each cook was instructed to make two dishes of his or her recipe — one for the judges to sample and one to be viewed by the audience.

Nebraska's representative, Mrs. Albertsen, almost had to concoct one of the ingredients for her recipe. She was notified before the cookoff that the contest chairmen were unable to find any orange-pineapple concentrate in Tampa. The ingredient was finally located, however, the chairmen had to drive a distance of 142 miles to purchase it.

Even in a town as far away as Tampa, the chances of running into a "neighbor" aren't all that slim.

One of the 12 contest judges, who met the contestants for the first time following the cookoff, was a former Allen man, Merle Ellis, who is the grandson of Mrs. Nell Ellis of Allen, helped judge the chicken dishes. Ellis writes a nationally syndicated column, entitled "The Butcher," for Chronicle Features. His column appears regularly in the Omaha World Herald.

After the cooking, the contestants were interviewed by several reporters, including food editors of several national women's magazines, and reporters from all three major television networks.

Mrs. Albertsen and her husband arrived home last week with the $1,000 check. Other mementos the winner brought home included a silver trophy and ribbon, cookware, and a set of measuring cups and spoons.

The Wayne cook is no stranger to recipe contests. She has won several cash and appliance prizes in other contests she has entered throughout the years, including $25 as The Wayne Herald's first place Recipe-of-the-Month winner in February.

A BEAMING Mrs. Alice Albertsen of Wayne holds a check for $1,000, which she won at the National Chicken Cooking Contest cookoff in Tampa, Fla. last week. The local woman, who placed fifth in the national finals, is pictured with the silver trophy she also received.

Former Postmaster Is Hospitalized

Former Allen postmaster Fay Clough is a patient in a hospital in San Juan Capistrano, Calif.

Cards and letters will reach Clough if addressed to his wife, Beva, who is residing at 29652 Orinda Rd., San Juan Capistrano, Calif., 92675.

Son Baptized

Fredric Raymond Otte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Otte of Carroll, was baptized Sunday, July 23, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Mrs. Otte's brother, the Rev. Harold Buse, officiated. Fredric's godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Betik Jr. of Omaha.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buse, West Point, and Mrs. Marjorie Otte, Wayne. Great grandmother is Mrs. Ella Beyer, West Point.

Wayne Midgets Now State Bound After Stylish 12-1 Final Romp

The pressure mounted and the adrenaline flowed for the Wayne Midgets Sunday afternoon as they met Hartington in the finals of the Class B Area 3 Tournament at West Point but the Midgets didn't succumb to the pressure.

They will now meet in first round state tournament action Friday at 1 p.m. against an unnamed opponent.

Cherished on by a good size crowd, the Midgets played fired up baseball and took advantage of Hartington mistakes to trounce their opponents 12-1. The enthusiastic crowd played its role, giving the Midgets standing ovations after good plays and coming onto the field to congratulate the victors after the trophy presentation.

Dennis Carroll drew a walk to start the game and Jeff Zeiss laid down a sacrifice bunt to move him to second base. Catcher Dan Mitchell brought Carroll home with a single for an early run. Hartington immediately responded with a run in the bottom of the inning on a single, a stolen base and an error, to tie the game.

Rick Metteer and Jeff Sperry collected hits in the second inning but the Wayne drive was shut down. Winning pitcher, Tim Pfeiffer, who gave up only three hits, got the Midgets out of a jam in the bottom of the inning when he picked off a runner at second base with men on second and third.

Carroll took the pickoff throw from Pfeiffer and made the tag in time for the second out. The next player popped out to Kevin Nissen to complete the inning.

With walks issued to Jeff Zeiss and Pfeiffer in the third, Mitchell sacrifice bunted to advance both runners. However, two consecutive outs ended the Midget attack.

With the score tied, 1-1, last year's state runner-up team exploded for 11 runs in the top of the fourth to blow Hartington out of the game. Every starter scored for Wayne in the inning.

1) Runs in Fourth
Tim Thomas led off the fourth with a walk and the fireworks began. Jeff Sperry singled into left field and as the left fielder charged, the ball rolled past him. Thomas scored and Sperry went to second.

Carroll followed with a single and Sperry moved to third. The bases became loaded when Jeff Zeiss was hit by a pitch and Pfeiffer bunted in a suicide squeeze attempt. The throw went home but it wasn't in time and Sperry scored.

Mitchell hit a ground ball to third base with the bases loaded and the third baseman made a wild throw home. Both Carroll and Zeiss scored. Pfeiffer added another run when he scored on a passed ball.

Balk Called

With Mitchell all alone on third base, the frustrated pitcher balked allowing Mitchell to walk home for the seventh run of the game.

With one out, Jeff Dion beat out a ground ball for a single. Metteer continued the drive with a single to center field and Thomas walked to load the bases. Nissen then, drew a base on balls to score Dion.

The Hartington coach, tasting defeat, brought a new pitcher into the game. His first two pitches were wild and Metteer and Thomas scored. After Sperry walked, Carol grounded out for the second out of the inning, but Nissen scored and Sperry moved to third.

Sperry scored his second run of the inning on a passed ball and when the dust cleared Wayne led 12-1. The Midgets held Hartington scoreless in the final two innings and went on to qualify for state on the 10-run rule victory.

Semi-Final Victory

Midgets Capitalize On Mistakes

The Wayne Midgets slipped by Elkhorn 4-0 in the semifinals of the Class B Area 3 Baseball Tournament at West Point, Saturday.

Dennis Carroll went the distance on the mound for Wayne, giving up only five hits in seven innings, and Jeff Sperry played a good defensive game to hold Elkhorn scoreless.

Tim Pfeiffer scored Wayne's first run when he walked in the first inning and scored when Dan Mitchell singled. Elkhorn had a runner on second base with one out in the bottom of the inning, when second baseman Sperry snagged a line drive and threw the ball to Pfeiffer to catch the runner off second base for the double play.

Elkhorn threatened again in the second inning, but good defense by Pfeiffer at shortstop and pitcher Dennis Carroll caught two runners at home plate to end the threat.

Dennis Carroll caught a runner again in the third inning attempting to go to third base on a grounder to the pitcher, as the Midgets held Elkhorn again.

A double play in the fourth inning checked the visitors again as Sperry grabbed a ground ball, stepped on second base and relayed to first baseman Jeff Dion for the second out.

Wayne's offense came around in the fifth inning and with the help of some Elkhorn mistakes, the locals added two runs to their lead.

Rick Metteer pounded the ball over the center fielder's head for a lead-off triple. Then, Tim Thomas reached base when the shortstop mishandled his ground ball.

Thomas drew a throw to first base and headed toward second. Metteer, meanwhile went home, and both runners were safe. Kevin Nissen laid down a sacrifice bunt and the ball was overthrown at first base. Thomas scored and Nissen advanced to third base, where he was stranded after three straight outs.

Steve Sorenson, pinch runner for Mitchell, added the final run in the sixth when Jeff Dion and Thomas singled. Thomas made a nice catch in the seventh when an Elkhorn batter ramed the ball down the left field line near the fence. Thomas charged to his right and made a backhand snatch to save an extra-base hit.

All Smiles

SMILING FROM ear to ear are the littlest Midget fans, Bill Sperry (below) and Jess Zeiss, after a 12-1 final win which sends the Midgets into State competition at Beatrice Friday.

A New Dance Step?

"JOHN TRAVOLTA eat your heart out!" Jeff Sperry shows his moves as he dances in to home plate to score a run against Hartington in a lopsided 12-1 victory.

Heavier Lincoln Star, Nate Woods Will Remember All-Star Camp

By MIKE SWEENEY
North All-Star Public Relations

Nate Woods of Lincoln High School will take a lasting impression of Wayne with him when he returned to Lincoln after the All-Star Games.

He'll be reminded of his week at the All-Star camp on the Wayne State Campus whenever he steps on his bathroom scales. Although Bryan Hunter of Creighton Prep said he lost ten pounds since camp opened, Woods said he has gained five, thanks to the good food and gracious hospitality of the community.

But Woods will have other memories of camp. "I'll remember the hard work," Woods said with a smile. "It took a little getting used to." "And I'll probably remember most of the team's players. Everybody's pretty cool," he said. His best friends at camp are Kevin Janata of Howells, Bryan Hunter of Creighton Prep and Brian Hollingsworth of Omaha Northwest, whom Woods calls "Hollywood."

Woods said that in the past week at Wayne, the team has developed a good attitude in practice, and believes it can beat the latter South team. No Outstanding Player

"There's no outstanding player on our team. Each player has his own individual qualities. And if we work together, I think we can beat the South," Woods said.

The Lincoln High star said he has been impressed with several of the North's players. He cited Hollingsworth for his jumping ability, Mark Hiatt of Fremont for his smooth shooting, and the great rebounding of Mark Kruse of Norfolk. He added that Paul Reinertson of Ravenna has one of the best attitudes on the team.

Woods is the only player on the North team who will play one of the All-Star Games in his home town. The first All-Star game is Thursday, August 3 in North Platte, and the second is the following night at the University of Nebraska Sports Complex in Lincoln.

"That makes you work a little bit harder," Woods said of playing in front of a home town crowd. "Knowing that there's somebody out there who cares." Monday afternoon, Woods and his 11 teammates held a mini-camp for boys entering grades six through nine in Rice Auditorium. The All-Stars instructed 85 area youths in various basketball skills, including dribbling, passing, defense, and shooting.

Players Become Coaches
After the instruction, the players became coaches, and directed the mini-campers through scrimmages.

North head coach Neil Nannen said that the coaching experience was good for his players, because it allowed them to "find out what it's like on the other side of the fence." Nannen said the team enjoyed giving instruction to young players, and getting the afternoon off from the practice schedule.

"The mini-camp provides a little mental relief," Nannen said, "but they're working hard out there."

The North head coach added that physically, the two and a half hour mini-camp was just like another practice. The mini-campers may have been impressed by the All-Stars' ability, but then again the All-Stars were impressed by the participants. They were enthusiastic and willing to learn, the All-Stars noted.

"Some of these guys are pretty slick," Brad Williams of St. Edward said.

The mini-camp is just one way the All-Stars say "thank you" to Wayne for their hospitality this week.

An even better thank you would be two All-Star victories.

Randy's RECAP

According to Randy Hascall

IT'S STATE TOURNAMENT TIME again and the area is well represented. The Wayne Midgets qualified for state competition by winning the area tournament in West Point.

Meanwhile, Wakefield's Legion team qualified for the state tournament which they will host beginning Friday. The 4th Jug will represent the Wayne County Softball League at state next week and in girls' action, the Wakefield 18 years and under team finished state play in the top twelve with a 3-2 record.

That's not bad for the immediate area.

SPORTS QUIZ: How many consecutive years (including this year) has Coach Hank Overin gone to state tournaments with either his Midget or Legion teams? (2 years, 4 years, 5 years, or 6 years?)

ANSWER: 5 years.

THERE IS NO LONGER an Ugly Body in Wayne now that the North All-Star team and staff have left the community. You see, Ugly Body is a nickname planted on Rod Henkel, a member of the public relations staff for the North All-Stars.

But Ugly Body is no ordinary nickname. Everyone knows him by that ironic name. Very few people know his real name. His mother back in Ong (that's right-Ong), Nebraska wears a T-shirt that reads "Ugly Body's Mother." Strange.

The man responsible for Ugly's nickname is Larry Faus, head PR man for the group. So what's his nickname? The Great Pumpkin of course. But when he's not wearing his Pumpkin shirt, he's often seen with an "Ugly Body Publicist" shirt.

I'D LIKE to publicly thank Faus, Hankle, Mike Sweeney of Lincoln, and Mike McCarthy of Geneva for the press releases and information on the All-Stars. They were a fun group to work with, and made information readily available.

Couch Ivey:

"I Got Who I Wanted."

Bill Ivey is entering his first year as head coach of the Wayne State College Wildcat basketball team, but with the returning players and recruits he has gathered, Ivey said the team should be in fine shape. Ivey recently completed several recruiting trips that took him to his home state of North Carolina, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska. Ivey said he recruited only a short time in each state, but the five players he signed when combined with returning players, are all he will need for the '78-79 season.

"All in all my recruiting was short because I got what I wanted as far as my guards and my forwards," he said. "I guess I could use one more big guy, so I'd have four players who could really bang the boards."

Ivey has a right to be optimistic. He signed three top players from Ft. Scott Community College (Kan.) where he has been head coach for two years.

Wattie Roda, a 6-5, 210 pound junior transfer is a key player signed by Ivey. Roda, originally from Elizabethtown, N.C., averaged 11.1 points per game at Ft. Scott last year.

Another key Ft. Scott transfer will be Willie Summers, a 6-1, 170 pound junior from Hamlet, N.C. He averages 14 points per game at Ft. Scott last year.

Completing the list of signed transfers is 6-1, 170 pound Doug Hutchinson, also from Ft. Scott. Originally from Council Grove, Kan., he averaged over six points per game at Ft. Scott and was selected "Most Inspirational Player" in his senior year of high school at Council Grove.

Ivey said he has also signed two outstanding high school players for the coming season, including Joe Lyndsey of Ivey's hometown, Wadesboro, N.C. At 6-2, Lyndsey was selected for "All Conference" and "Most Valuable Athlete" awards last year at Bowman Senior High in Wadesboro.

The final player signed was Zake Loric, a 5-11, 170 pound freshman from Lumberton, N.C., where he averaged over 21 points per game for Lumberton Senior High. He was named "All Conference" in three sports basketball, baseball and football. He was also selected "Most Valuable Athlete" at Lumberton.

"You are talking about high schools with enrollments of over 2500 on these two (Loric and Lyndsey)," Ivey said. "As far as the total recruiting effort, I don't think I could have gotten any better players at the guard and small forward positions."

Wayne State lost six seniors to graduation last year, but with the returning players and several expected "walk-ons", Ivey said he is very optimistic for the 1978-79 season.

"Based on the players I have lined up, I think we are going to have a fine ball club," Ivey said. "If the other teams are good, but not great, I think Wayne State is going to have a great year."

Ivey is replacing former coach Jim Seward, who resigned earlier this year. Seward is now head coach at Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio.

Wakefield Championship Sends Juniors To State

With a 5-4 extra inning win over Creighton, Monday night, the Wakefield Juniors gained a berth in the state tournament at Wakefield which will begin Friday.

Creighton scored the first run of the game on a walk, sacrifice, and infield out in the first inning. Wakefield tied it up in the top of the second when Larry Soderberg reached base on an error, stole second and scored on a base hit by Tom Preston.

Doug Starzl scored another run in the third inning when he singled, stole second and later came home on a base hit by Jon Kline. Creighton regained a 4-2 lead in the bottom of the third on two singles and a home run by Mike Raiston. The lead held until the sixth when Wakefield rallied for two runs.

Winning pitcher Brad Jones singled, Dean Sharp walked and Rick Guy reached base on a Creighton error which allowed two runs to score.

In the top of the ninth inning, Kline led off with a base hit and Tom Swigart sacrificed him to second with a bunt to set up the winning run. Jones drove Kline home with a base hit for the lead run and Wakefield held off Creighton in the ninth to win the game 5-4.

In earlier tournament action, Wakefield dumped Oakland 10-0 in six innings on Tod Swigart's two-hitter and good batting by Starzl and Jones.

In the first round they topped Wausa 4-2. Brad Jones was the winning pitcher and Starzl collected two hits.

In grief, people will talk about the last thing the deceased person said and did — the 'last' time mother went to church — the 'last' time dad went fishing. The 'last' thing daughter said when she left the house. It is important for them to tell you these things, which they will cherish and remember always.

Next Year's Midgets Win With Shutouts

Coach Hank Overin gave a preview last night of next year's Midget team and what the fans saw looked impressive.

In the first game of a double-header against the Norfolk B team, Doug Proett pitched a no-hit shutout in a 1-0 win. Proett also added a hit and scored his team's only run in the bottom of the fifth and last inning.

The Midgets managed only three hits themselves but collected two of them in the final inning when they needed them. Proett led off with a single and Jere Morris sacrificed him to second with a bunt. Kevin Nissen drove Proett in with a single to win the game, with one out.

Jeff Brandt had the other hit for Wayne in the fourth inning. In the late game, Nissen and Tim Pfeiffer combined for the second no-hit shutout of the night in another 1-0 victory. Brandt had two hits including one in the fifth to spark an attack and Brian Fleming and Doug Proett walked to load the bases. With one out, Brandt scored from third base on a wild pitch to win the game.

53 Wins Best Ball Tourney

With a 19 under par 53, handicaps subtracted, Ken Carlsen and Don McPherson won the Member-Guest Best Ball Tournament at the Wayne Country Club Saturday and Sunday.

Doc Koerber and R.J. Meyer teamed-up for a 56 and a second place finish. Three teams tied for third place at 57. Ron Otte and Leigh Clarkson, Ken Christenson and Ron Allison, and Kevin Johnson and John Collins were all grouped at third place but Otte and Clarkson broke the tie with a cut of cards.

The tournament included the golfing, bridge for wives, and a buffet dinner. A total of 36 two-man teams competed.

HOSKINS NEWS Mrs. Hilda Thomas 545-4549

Hoskins Horse Show Saturday

The 13th annual Senior Horse Show will be held this Saturday at the Hoskins arena, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Trophies and trophy ribbons will be awarded in 22 events. More information can be obtained by contacting Doug Deck at Hoskins.

Hospitalized
The Hoskins rescue unit was called Friday morning to take Jerry Wacker to a Norfolk hospital.

Wacker was injured in a fall at the Bleyhl construction site southwest of Hoskins.

Bales Burn
The Hoskins Volunteer Fire Department was called about 1 a.m. Sunday to where some hay bales were burning near Nucor Steel.

Firemen extinguished the blaze before any extensive damage was done.

Garden Club Meets
Christine Lueker was hostess for the Hoskins Garden Club meeting, held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lena Ulrich.

Guests were Mrs. Ulrich and Mrs. William Janke. President Gladys Reichert opened the meeting with a poem, entitled "Friendship Is a Garden." The group sang "Blest Be The Tie."

For roll call, members told of a historical place they would like to visit. A poem, "Little Things," was read by Mrs. Carl Hinzman.

The president reported on the recent family dinner. Plans were made for guest day on Sept. 28.

Christine Lueker gave the comprehensive study, "Flowers, Fruits and Vegetables." She also conducted several contests. The lesson, "The Bird and Flower of Colorado," was given by Mrs. George Wittler.

A special program on Hawaiian flowers was given by Mrs. Erwin Ulrich.

The special prizes were won by Mrs. Reuben Puls and Mrs. Carl Hinzman.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Bill Fenske on Aug. 24.

Members Barbecue
Members of the Wednesday night mixed bowling league met at the Dallas Schellenberg home July 27 for a no-host barbecue supper. Thirty-five attended from Norfolk, Winside and Hoskins.

Reunion Set
The annual Puls reunion will be held this Sunday at the clubhouse in Ta-Ha-Zouka Park, Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ulrich, Reuben Puls and Mrs. Arthur Leu are in charge of arrangements.

Boy Scouts Meet
Boy Scout Troop 148 met Thursday evening at the Peace United Church of Christ.

Scouts and leader Steve Davids finished work on their campsite and completed final plans for the campout, which was to have been held July 30 through Aug. 4.

Next regular meeting is Aug. 10.

Rally Day Held
Sunday School Rally Day was observed at the Zion Lutheran Church Sunday, beginning with a no-host picnic dinner.

Mrs. Mel Freeman, who retired after serving as a Sunday school teacher for 15 years, was presented a Bible.

Faithful Awards were given to Kim, Scott and Kara Welch, Lisa and Michelle Kruger and Darin Kooke.

Games and contests furnished entertainment, and the afternoon closed with cake and ice cream.

In charge of the event were

Kimberly Neuhaus July Bride of David White

Kimberly Neuhaus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvyn Neuhaus of Wakefield, and David White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane White of Dixon, were married July 21.

A unity candle and altar baskets of yellow gladioli and white daisies decorated St. Mary's Catholic Church in Laurel for the 7:30 p.m. double ring ceremony. The Rev. Thomas Ward of Dixon officiated.

The guests were registered by Amy Neuhaus of Wakefield, and ushered into the church by Delwyn Penickler of Wayne and the bride's brother, Timothy Neuhaus of Wakefield.

Organist was Marilyn Sundell of Wakefield. Both Gards of Wakefield sang "You Light Up My Life," "Colour My World" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Gema Giese of Wayne.

Coleen Neuhaus of Wakefield served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was the bridegroom's sister, Denise White of Norfolk.

The bridegroom was attended by his brothers, Dennis White, as best man, and Dale White as groomsmen. Both are of Dixon.

Flower girl was Danielle Auman of Willard, Mo. Candles were lighted by Alan Neuhaus of Wakefield, brother of the bride, and Danny White of Dixon, brother of the bridegroom.

For her wedding day, the bride selected a floor-length gown of white sheer organza. Lace and pearls outlined the high neckline, long, flowing sleeves, bodice and skirt. The full back fell into a chapel-length train edged in lace and ruffles. The bride's fingertip veil of double illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of lace and pearls, and she carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies, orange roses and baby's breath.

The maid of honor wore a yellow crepe frock in floor length. Lace trimmed the bodice and sleeves, and ruffle edged the skirt. The bridesmaids wore an identically designed dress in tangerine. Both wore daisies in their hair and carried nosegays of yellow and white and tangerine and white daisies.

The men in the wedding party wore beige tuxedos trimmed in brown. The bridegroom wore a white shirt and his attendants wore shirts to match the bride's attendants.

Mrs. Neuhaus wore a green floor-length polyester knit dress styled with a sheer green floral overlay. The bridegroom's mother chose a tangerine polyester knit, also in floor length.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson of Verdigris. Gifts were arranged by Diane White of Dixon and Julie Crisp of Laurel.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Marle White of Allen and Mrs. Merle White of Ponca. Mrs. George Prochaska of Winnetoon poured and LeAnn Salmon of Wakefield served punch.

Waitresses were Debbie White of Dixon and Denise Auman of Willard, Mo.

The couple took a wedding trip to Colorado and are making their first home near Dixon. The bride graduated from Wakefield High School in 1978. The bridegroom, a 1976 graduate of Laurel High School, is employed at the Dixon Grain Elevator.

The first drinking chocolate was reputedly sold in England in the 17th century, having been imported from the West Indies.

Russell, who has served six years on the council, charged in a printed statement that "I do not feel the council is looking out for the interest of the taxpayers in any way and resist arguments for change in this direction."

He said he regretted having to resign but pointed out because of the reasons stated "I have no alternative left but to resign."

Russell, who operates a refuse service, also stated the "recent decision of the council to go into competition with my business, control prices and dictate all aspects of my refuse service," also prompted his resignation which is effective immediately.

Mayor Freeman Decker said he has a couple of possible candidates to fill out the unexpired term of Russell, but was not prepared at this time to state their names.

Output —

($29.6 million in April) were higher than any month since January, 1974.

Construction activity, which is evident in the Wayneland area, increased in April for the third time in the past four months. A sharp jump in seasonally-adjusted residential construction was primarily responsible for the growth. However, in the Wayneland area, commercial construction was a strong factor.

Despite recent increases, the index of construction activity in the state remained well below its peak which occurred in April, 1977.

The manufacturing section continues to be a source of strength in the Nebraska economy. In the Wayneland area, Heritage Homes of Nebraska, Inc., a new manufacturer in modular home construction, shared in this sector.

The index for the manufacturing sector, which has climbed for six consecutive months, reached a new high in April and was 52.8 percent above its 1967 base-period level.

Distributive sector output fell for the third time in four months in April, according to Gerbes. In the Wayneland area, the net taxable sales for April were 96.8 percent of the mark for the same period last year. It lagged 95.1 percent of year to date (April) as compared with the same period last year.

Museum Getting Sign, Flagpole

The Wayne County Historical Society has announced that a new sign and flagpole will be placed on the lawn of the Historical Museum sometime in August.

The museum is located at Seventh and Lincoln Sts and is open each Thursday evening from 7 to 9 and on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4.

Special tours can be arranged by contacting Mrs. Clifford Johnson, curator, at 375-1137, or Mrs. Lucile Larson at 375-1861.

The Historical Society met at the museum July 25 for a business meeting and lunch. It was reported that the museum is completely furnished. The four floors house many antiques, including furniture, farm equipment and hobbies.

Public Invited

The public is invited to tour the Wayne County Historical Museum during visiting hours from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight (Thursday), and from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Sharer and Roberla Welte will conduct tours tonight, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gilliland and Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson will greet visitors Sunday.

Reception Honors Bakers

Hosting a reception in honor of the Marvin Bakers Sunday afternoon at the Catholic Center in Bancroft were the Clarke Kais.

The Edward Zachs and Sonya of Hastings came for the reception and were weekend guests in the Kai home.

Vacation

Mrs. Wilbur Utecht and Mrs. Martin Sanders of Denison, Ia., accompanied the Jerry Kingston family of Tempe, Ariz., to Island Lake at East Tawas, Mich., where they spent two weeks.

The Jack Kingstons of Wayne and Jack Kingston Jr. of Flint, Mich., joined them at the cabin of Jack Kingston Jr. at Island Lake.

Celebrate Birthday

The Kenneth Thomsen family were Sunday dinner guests in the Melvin Anderson home in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Thomsen.

The Merlin Greve family were evening guests in the Thomsen home and the Randy Larson family were Monday supper guests.

Public Invited

April marked the beginning of the fourth year of the current business expansion in the Nebraska economy. While economic activity was depressed in January and February of this year, it rebounded sharply in March. Given the longevity of this expansion, trends in the state economy should be monitored carefully, according to Gerdes, for the remainder of the year.

RECIPES

Never Curdle

Scalloped Potatoes For 50

- 25 to 30 pounds Potatoes (red will not mush as bad)
- 15 cups Milk
- 1 pound softened Oleo
- 15 level tablespoons Flour.
- Salt
- Pepper
- Onion Salt to taste (or 1 finely chopped onion)
- Cubed Velveeta Cheese (optional)

Peel and cook potatoes the day before you want to use them. Cool in refrigerator and cover when completely cooled.

In one kettle, put milk and beat. In a separate kettle, put softened oleo and flour. Blend together. Add this to heated milk (not boiled). Then grease electric roaster pan. Add 1/4 of the white sauce, salt, pepper and onion salt or finely chopped onion, and 1/4 of the potatoes until all are used. Cubed Velveeta cheese may be added if desired.

Cook in electric roaster with lid on for 2 hours at 350 degrees. Some roasters stick on bottom so check by stirring up occasionally.

Mrs. William Garvin
Dixon, Nebr.

Lemon Pudding Cake

- 1 regular package Lemon Cake Mix
- 1 (3 oz.) box Instant Lemon Pudding
- 2 Eggs
- 2 cups Milk

Mix all ingredients together and beat thoroughly. Bake in a 9 x 13-inch pan for 35 minutes or until done at 350 degrees.

Very moist and delicious. Frost with lemon frosting or serve with ice cream.

Mrs. Emil Thies
Winside, Nebr.

Apple Gelatin Salad

- 1 (3 oz.) package Lemon Gelatin
- 1 cup boiling Water
- 1 cup Pineapple Juice and Water
- 1/2 teaspoon Pineapple Flavoring
- 1/4 teaspoon Lemon Flavoring
- 1 cup raw grated Apples
- One-third cup grated Cheddar Cheese
- 1 small can crushed Pineapple
- 1 cup Miniature Marshmallows
- 1 cup Whipped Topping

Dissolve lemon gelatin in water. Add juice and flavorings and chill. When gelatin begins to congeal, fold in grated apples, grated cheddar cheese, crushed pineapple and miniature marshmallows. Fold whipped topping in last.

Pour into a 9 x 13-inch pan.

Mrs. Donald Westerhaus
Winside, Nebr.

Hamburger Casserole

- 1/2 cup Rice
- 1 pound Ground Beef
- 1 small Onion, diced
- 1 cup Celery, diced
- 1 can Cream of Chicken Soup
- 1 can Cream of Mushroom Soup
- 1 small can Mushrooms
- Salt and Pepper to taste
- Onion Rings

Cook rice. Brown ground beef, onion and celery together. Add soups and mushrooms. Mix all ingredients together with salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a 9 x 13-inch baking pan. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Ten minutes before removing from oven, top with onion rings and return to oven to brown.

Mrs. C.J. Volwiler
Norfolk, Nebr.

Raspberry Ribbon Pie

- 1 (3 oz.) package Raspberry Gelatin
- 1/4 cups Boiling Water
- 1 (10 oz.) package Frozen Red Raspberries
- 1 tablespoon Lemon Juice
- 1 (3 oz.) package Softened Cream Cheese
- One-third cup Sifted Confectioners' Sugar
- 1 teaspoon Vanilla
- Dash of Salt
- 1 cup Heavy Cream, whipped (or whipped topping)
- 1 9-inch baked Pastry Shell, cooled

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add frozen berries and lemon juice. Stir until berries thaw. Chill until partially set.

Blend cream cheese, sugar, vanilla and salt. Fold in small amount of whipped cream; then fold in remainder of whipped cream.

Spread half of the cheese mixture over bottom of pastry shell. Cover with half of the gelatin mixture. Repeat layers. Chill until set.

Strawberries may be substituted for raspberries.

Mrs. Russell Lindsay
Wayne, Nebr.

Chicken and Rice

- 7-ounce box Minute Rice
- 1 can Cream of Mushroom Soup
- 1 can Cream of Celery Soup
- 1/2 cup Milk
- 1 Chicken
- 1 package Dry Onion Soup

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Grease a 9 x 13-inch pan. Sprinkle Minute Rice in pan. Mix and heat soups and milk. Place chicken parts on rice and pour soup mixture over chicken. Sprinkle dry onion soup on top. Seal pan with foil. Bake for 2 1/2 hours.

So good and so easy. Great for Sunday.

Ellie McBride
Laurel, Nebr.

Apple Banana Crunch Pie

- 3 medium Apples, pared, cored and cut into chunks (3 cups)
- 2 medium Bananas, peeled and cut into chunks (2 cups)
- 2 tablespoons Lemon Juice
- 1 cup Flour, sifted
- 1/2 cup Granulated Sugar
- 1/2 cup Brown Sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon Ground Cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon Ground Nutmeg
- 1/2 cup Butter, softened
- 1 9-inch Unbaked Pie Shell

Combine fruit and lemon juice. Let stand 10 minutes. Combine dry ingredients and cut in butter until mixture is crumbly. Arrange fruit in pie shell. Sprinkle with crumb mixture. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Chicken Hawaiian

Wins Wayne Woman $1,000

Mrs. Roy Albertsen's recipe for Chicken Hawaiian is featured on today's Recipe Page. Mrs. Albertsen's recipe won her fifth place and a $1,000 check in a contest sponsored by The National Broiler Council. The story appears on page 3 in today's paper.

Chicken Hawaiian

- 1 Broiler-Fryer Chicken, cut in parts
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- 1 Egg, beaten
- One-third cup Frozen Pineapple-Orange Juice Concentrate, thawed
- 1 cup Corn Flake Crumbs
- 1/2 cup shredded Coconut
- 1/2 teaspoon Curry Powder
- 1/4 cup Butter, melted

In large dish place chicken. Sprinkle salt on chicken. In bowl mix egg and juice. Pour over chicken. Marinate 1 hour, turning pieces once.

In shallow dish mix together crumbs, coconut and curry. Remove chicken from marinade and drain slightly. Dip chicken, one piece at a time, in coconut mixture, turning to coat.

In large shallow baking pan place chicken, skin side up, in single layer. Drizzle melted butter over chicken. Bake, uncovered, in 350 degree oven about 1 hour or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease.

Makes 4 servings.

Mrs. Roy Albertsen
Wayne, Nebr.

Chocolate Zucchini Cake

- 1/2 cup Margarine
- 1/2 cup Oil
- 1 3/4 cups Sugar
- 2 Eggs
- 1 teaspoon Vanilla
- 1/2 cup Sour Milk
- 2 1/2 cups Flour
- 4 tablespoons Cocoa
- 1 teaspoon Soda
- 1/2 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- 2 cups grated Zucchini (with peeling)
- 1/2 cup chopped Nuts
- 1/2 package (6 oz.) Chocolate Chips

Cream margarine, oil and sugar together. Add eggs, vanilla and sour milk. Blend thoroughly. Sift together flour, cocoa, soda, cinnamon and salt. Blend with creamed mixture. Stir in zucchini. Put in a greased and floured 9 x 13-inch pan. Sprinkle with nuts and chocolate chips. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes.

Bonnie Lund
Wayne, Nebr.

Frozen Maraschino Cherry Salad

- 1 (9 oz.) carton Nondairy Whipped Topping
- 3/4 cup Sugar
- 1/2 cup Sour Cream
- 1/2 cup chopped Nuts
- 1 (16 oz.) can crushed Pineapple, drained
- 1 (8 oz.) jar Maraschino Cherries with juice, cut up or chopped

Mix all ingredients together and freeze in a bowl or a 9-inch square pan. Cut when ready to serve. Salad is easier to serve if partially thawed.

Serves 8 to 10.

Summer doldrums

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — The summer doldrums have reduced political oratory to some degree, but some of the issues that will be decided in the November election keep popping into the news.

One of them is the so-called lid proposition to place a limit on local government budgets financed by the property tax.

Ross Rasmussen, executive director of the Nebraska State School Boards Association, said recent approval of the lid amendment to the constitution could force the establishment of a state-run school system.

He reasoned adoption of the spending limit proposal would force the slight revisions necessary to incorporate local schools into the state government, which cannot levy a property tax.

If they were state-controlled, Rasmussen said, school districts would be in a position to avoid the five percent annual budget increase restriction but would no longer be able to levy a property tax.

The outgrowth of that situation would mean "the $435 million or so cost of operating the public schools of the state would then be funded from state sales and income taxes," Rasmussen said.

Constitutionally, he noted, the Legislature is required to provide for the free instruction in the common schools of all persons between the ages of five and 21. By statute, however, the districts are operated by locally elected boards of education.

Rasmussen said the NSSBA believes the current public school financing system does not satisfy all provisions of the Nebraska and U.S. Constitutions and that the Legislature should correct existing statutes so the public school funding scheme will meet the requirements of both constitutions.

The annual five percent budget increase contained in the lid amendment "is not realistic for many of Nebraska's public schools," Rasmussen said. It reflects, he added, a budget level unrelated to the constitutional requirement to provide a free education for all between five and 21 "and may very well violate the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution."

If current inflationary trends continue, a five percent annual increase in school budgets would actually mean a five percent annual reduction in terms of "real" dollars, Rasmussen said.

Over a period of 10 years that would mean schools would be operating at a level 40 percent below their present level in terms of programs and services, he said.

He said most districts could survive one five percent cut in their budgets by eliminating certain non-mandated services such as driver education, hot lunch programs and summer sessions.

If the day ever comes when property tax revenue cannot be used by local schools, Rasmussen said, there would be a sharp reduction in property tax levies "but sales and income taxes would take a drastic and unrealistic upturn."

The lid proposition does include some exceptions under which local government budgets could exceed five percent annually. This point has been emphasized by several of the leading proponents of the proposed amendment.

John Halloran of Hastings, one of the chief promoters of the proposed constitutional amendment, disputed Rasmussen's comments.

Halloran said the Legislature would "never" revise the laws to bring schools under the umbrella of state government and thus place school districts in a position where they could avoid the five percent limit on local spending.

He admitted inflation is a problem but said it is one for the taxpayer as well as for government.

University Budget Being Prepared
The chairman of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, Ed Schwartzkopf of Lincoln, says a budget lid would be workable — if citizens are willing to settle for less from NU in research, teaching and service.

His comment was made before the regents began discussions of a university budget that would require an increase of about seven percent in state appropriations.

Some months ago, University President

Ronald Roskens pledged to hold spending down and investigate ways costs could be reduced.

Schwartzkopf said a tuition increase is probable because that is part of the bargain made with senators when state financing of the institution is increased.

This year the university received $107 million from the Legislature — about $6 million more than during the previous year.

The institution's total budget is about $207 million of which the state supplies about 47 percent and tuition and fees generate about 13 percent.

Tuition was increased last year $1.50 per credit hour — a hike of 7.1 percent.

Against Hearings
Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh, head of a legislative committee studying certain operations of the State Patrol, is opposing the holding of any more hearings.

What he would rather do is have several committee members meet with a couple of county attorneys and representatives of the patrol to discuss ways and means of providing law enforcement agencies better tools and procedures for doing their jobs.

Earlier this summer, it was announced the committee would hold a public hearing on the death five years ago of Ida Fitzgibbons, an elderly McCook woman who died in a strange way. The woman was found in her burning home. She had a cord wrapped around her neck and had suffered a broken leg and a stab wound. Yet her death was ruled a suicide, and the patrol said after an investigation it could not contradict that finding.

DeCamp's Committee said the initial investigation of the death was "inadequate" and the patrol's follow-up work on the case became, "for whatever reasons," a coverup of the initial investigation.

DeCamp said no one on the committee believes the Fitzgibbons investigation was adequate. But he said no committee member ever said anyone purposely covered up anything.

The Neligh lawmaker recommended the committee examine the chain of command in criminal case investigations. Also in need of study, he said, are the rules of procedure and chain of command for coroner's juries, as well as the availability of pathology work in homicide cases.

DeCamp tried during the 1978 legislative session to restructure the patrol through creation of separate traffic control and criminal investigation bureaus under a new Department of Law Enforcement and Public Safety.

He said he still believes some restructuring would be helpful.

Intervention Denied
Federal Judge Warren K. Urbom of Lincoln has refused to permit the Nebraska Hospital Association and five of its members to intervene in a lawsuit challenging the state's Medicaid reimbursement plan for nursing homes.

Urbom also turned down a request that he prevent the state Welfare Department from submitting a modified rate reimbursement plan to the federal government.

The judge said there were no grounds for issuance of an injunction against the administrative proceedings. "If I stayed all proceedings, I would be, in effect, judging the new plan which is not yet in existence," he said.

The hospital association and other institutions which tried to intervene, had argued their interests were not adequately represented in negotiations to change the state's plan for reimbursing nursing homes for the care of Medicaid patients.

They objected to a provision that eliminated a separate and higher reimbursement classification for hospital-based nursing homes, arguing the higher rate was justified because of higher costs associated with such facilities.

State Welfare Department officials and representatives of two nursing home associations said reimbursement should be based solely on the level of care provided.

One attorney involved in the case said the issue lies with the federal government and what type of recognition it chooses to give high-cost long-term care facilities, such as nursing homes based at hospitals.

OBSERVATIONS

A pressure proposition

This is not original thinking, but it follows fairly close with how we view the recent order by the state board of equalization to reduce valuations in Wayne and 42 other counties in Nebraska.

The action was prompted by practical politics. Counties which complied with the state law are being penalized by extra work to make it easier for at least two of the larger counties to have more time to do whatever it is they're going to do.

Hollis Gustafson, executive secretary of the Northeast Nebraska County Officials Association, showered the state equalization board with an important question, the answer to which may put them in more hot water than they already are in.

He asked: "If you have the formula to reduce property valuations, how come you don't have the formula to raise them?" A prudent, proper question. The answer obvious. Practical politics determined it.

But cutting valuations in those counties which have brought their figures up to date (Wayne County among them) in compliance with state law, the situation now is eased for the two major counties, Douglas and Lancaster, along with several others, which have not yet done so.

Wayne County Assessor Doris Stipp and the other assessors in some 42 counties have a right to be disappointed about the board's action. They worked hard to comply with the law which seemed to be a step in the right direction — a serious attempt to equalize valuations. If not at full value figure as the law demands.

The board members also felt threatened by possible lawsuits should they order across-the-board readjustments upward for some of the counties. Apparently no such threat will emerge from the reverse action, even though the practical effects on taxpayers through mill levy changes ought, theoretically at least, to be the same.

It seems the lines of communications were somewhat clouded. The state board should open wider the lines of communications with those officials in counties which have been willing to comply with the letter and the spirit of revaluation requirements.

Revaluations have long been the center of controversy — especially when they are upgraded. Experience of the past has proven that the longer revaluations are postponed, the more painful they are. The board's decision amounted to postponement of inevitable change. — Chuck Barnes.

Pro-consumer bill chances good

President Chamber of Commerce
Of the United States

WASHINGTON — During the long fight over the proposed federal Consumer Protection Agency, we insisted that there are better ways to help the consumer than establishing a new bureaucracy in Washington. We even named a number of them.

Naturally, our opponents accused us of being interested in the consumer only until we could kill the plan for a federal CPA.

Well, the CPA is dead now, but we haven't lost our interest in finding better ways to help the consumer. Since 1975, we have been trying to get an effective consumer redress program adopted at the state level. We are continuing that effort and expanding it to include the federal government as well. . . and I'm pleased to report that we're making progress at both levels. The Senate just passed a bill, S.957, which embodies the heart of our program. The House is starting hearings, and we have appeared there to support the bill, as we did in the Senate.

This legislation has attracted support from a broad range of interest groups representing nearly all points of the political spectrum. Included are: The Carter Administration, the American Arbitration Association, the American Bar Association, Consumers Union, the Council of Better Business Bureaus, the National Conference of Governors, the National League of Cities, and Public Citizen, a Ralph Nader group.

The theory behind our approach is that the best place to settle consumer problems is where the consumer is, rather than in Washington. To make such settlements easier, we urge all businesses to do certain things. Among the most important:

1. Make warranties, contracts, directions as simple and easy to understand as possible.
2. Make sure the consumer knows how to talk to within the company when he — or she — has a complaint.
3. Provide for an impartial third party to mediate disputes that cannot be settled directly between the company and the consumer.

Most companies value good customer relations and many have made great strides toward eliminating consumer dissatisfaction. But of course, there are always a few rotten apples in the barrel. Therefore, when all else fails, we think the consumer should go to court to secure his rights. By doing so, he performs a service both for himself and for the reputable business people of his community.

Unfortunately, the quality and availability of small claims courts vary greatly around the country. In some places, there are no small claims courts; in others, they are inaccessible; in still others, they function more as collection agencies for unfeeling business people than as champions of justice.

But when the small claims court system works well, it is the closest, quickest and most decisive remedy for a consumer with a problem. So we are doing our best to get the states to establish good small claims courts. We have even drafted a model small claims court act that can be introduced in a state legislature and passed as-is. So far, Arkansas, Kentucky and Texas have established small claims court systems based on this model act.

The key to our model court act is its features designed to encourage use by consumers:

1. Court hours should include evenings and weekends, so working consumers can appear without having to take time off from their jobs.

2. Courts should be located conveniently to the consumer, perhaps in public libraries.
3. The clerk should help consumers file their claims.
4. Parties to the case should represent themselves. They may be advised by lawyers (court appointed if necessary), but lawyers may not argue the case in behalf of a client.
5. The judge should help the contending parties to present their cases. Informal pursuit of justice should be the rule, rather than strict adherence to legal technicalities.

6. The court should have the power and the means to enforce its decisions.

The purpose of the congressional legislation I mentioned is to help the states set up these mechanisms. And that's our objective, too. After all, business people have two good reasons for favoring protection of consumer rights. First, they make a living by pleasing the consumer. And second, they are consumers themselves.

Europeans admit buying

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

European sources say that foreign investments in U.S. farmland amounted to $800 million in the past year and if that is true, a good many American farmers and ranchers have reason to say, "Let's get the facts on the table."

Results of a recent probe by the General Accounting Office were relatively inconclusive. Results of the special study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture reportedly won't be available until the fall of 1979, but they may separate the facts from the rumors.

Some of the most forthright statements on the subject were contained in an article in the May-June issue of the magazine, "European Community," published by the European Community Information Service, a magazine aimed generally to put the best light on economic interests of the Common Market countries. The article was entitled, "Buying U.S. Farmland, Europeans Face an Emotional Issue." It was written by Axel Krause, who covers food and agriculture for Business Week magazine and previously was the magazine's European economic correspondent.

The gist of the article is that Europeans are definitely buying U.S. farmland and can't understand why Americans object to the idea. One should read the entire article, but the following excerpts are very positive in their assertions:

"Although much of the foreign money coming in is hard to trace, the European Investment Research Center, a private consulting firm based in Brussels, estimated that foreigners invested some $800 million in U.S. farmland last year, which according to U.S. Commerce Department calculations, would come to a startling 30 percent of all new foreign direct investment in the United States."

"While other investment markets have waned, the combination of a cheap dollar, political instability, and a long record of rising prices have in effect made U.S. farmland the single most attractive market for a wide range of investors — Germans, French, Italians and Dutch, as well as Japanese and Latin Americans, although, despite rumors to the contrary, there has been virtually no Arab oil money involved."

"Bankers and brokers who act as intermediaries of the foreigners report that attractive right now are the relatively soft prices of U.S. land caused by continuing cost-price squeeze on American farmers and worsened by depressed farm prices. But even if land prices begin soaring again, these advisers are telling their clients to buy, particularly the Europeans. The reason: farmland prices in Western Europe are still roughly double the price of the same quality land in the United States — $3,000 an acre for prime farmland in Germany and France versus $1,500 an acre in the United States last year, according to Chicago's Northern Trust Company, which manages about 400 farms in 35 states, including some for European clients."

"Unlike Europe, where successful rural investments by foreigners quickly become known, it is difficult in the United States to pinpoint where foreigners are buying most heavily. Jules Horn of the European Investment Center says the so-called Sunbelt, running across the bottom third of the United States, is attracting the most money. He considers prices ranging between $600 and $1,000 an acre to be particularly attractive to European clients. But until the present sag in the land price boom — which incidentally is expected to reverse itself by the end of the summer — Europeans were far more interested in California and the upper Midwest states such as Illinois and Wisconsin."

The article did say that Europeans take a dim view of attempts at outside investors to acquire their farmland because they increasingly fear conversion of productive land into recreational and other leisure related activities.

If U.S. brokers are huckstering U.S. farmland around to European clients as the article very well indicates, it is high time to put the spotlight on their activities.

LETTERS

Bedside manner

Dear Editor:

With reference to the two letters printed lately concerning our county attorney. While it may be true that our C.A. does not exactly have what might be considered a bedside manner in the office. And he may not always say what one WANTS to hear. The odds are extremely high however that WHAT he says is true and fact. If someone wants to hear some assorted comments or gossip, perhaps they should go to a neighborhood coffee. If they want some facts, go to their attorney. If they want some comfort perhaps they should find a loving husband. — Name Withheld By Request.

North All Stars says thanks

The North All-Star Basketball team owes a debt of thanks to the people of Wayne and Wayne State College for the fine manner in which they have hosted the team this past week.

This has been the tenth year that the North All-Star team has availed itself of Wayne's hospitality and facilities. Each of the ten years has given the All-Stars a treasure of memories and feelings about their hosts in Northeast Nebraska.

The All-Star Basketball game has always represented the highest of ideals, that what happens off the court is as important as what happens on the court. In ten years, the Nebraska Coaches Association has attempted to bring to Wayne 12 of the best persons — not just basketball players — to represent the northern part of the state.

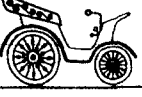

In turn, Wayne has proven to be larger than the All-Star game, itself. The cordiality and sincere interest with which the All-Stars are treated make Wayne a special place. It is a record that all Wayne residents and the college may be proud of.

Thank you for rolling out the red carpet. The good life is alive in Nebraska — especially in Wayne and at Wayne State College. — The North All-Stars and Nebraska Coaches Association.

'Super Slurper' Soaks up Starch

"Super slurper" appears to be just one of the several novel ways of using starch to soak up the nation's grain surplus while saving energy, easing pollution and promoting more efficient agricultural production.

Starch's additional potential as a source of paper, plastic and rubber products makes research on the complex plant carbohydrate "one of the more relevant areas of any in the country regarding the present grain surplus and the number of new uses for a product," said Dr. William Tallent, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Northern Regional Research Center at Peoria, Ill.

Tallent recently addressed a meeting of Women Involved in Farm Economics at Coltenburg and a seminar at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources' North Platte Station.

The Northern Regional Research Center is one of four in the nation designed to improve the processing and usages of American farm products. The Northern center, which consists of six separate laboratories, conducts research primarily on cereal grains and soybeans.

One of the biggest potential uses of starch is "super slurper," a derivative that can soak up several thousand times its own weight in water, Tallent said.

He said there is a prospective "super slurper" market of about two billion pounds a year, half of which is starch. About 30 pounds of starch is extracted from a bushel of corn or wheat, he noted.

"The substance already is being used successfully to absorb body fluids in soft goods, such as diapers, hospital linens and nightwear," Tallent said. It also has been employed in solid cosmetics and as a way to dry out flooded basements in the Chicago area, he said.

"Super slurper" even has been touted as a way to remove water from soggy synthetic athletic surfaces, Tallent said. Under the process, he said, the material would be sprinkled on a field to convert the water into a solid state that could be scraped off.

In agriculture, Tallent said, the substance can be added to water in a trickle irrigation system to form an almost solid-like substance from which plants still would be able to extract moisture "very effectively." Seeds also can be coated with "super slurper" so they can hold morning dew more effectively and thereby increase their germination rate, he said.

The paper industry currently ranks as the second largest starch market following the corn sweetener industry, Tallent said.

"Every sheet of paper we use has somewhere between 1 and 6 percent starch added as a retention aid to keep smaller fibers glued to the paper during the manufacturing process and as a filler to keep ink used in writing or printing on paper from running," he said.

Research now underway on the role of starch in paper production is geared to increasing the recyclability of paper and solving some of the paper-pollution problems, he said.

"What we're trying to do in this particular case is to save this market for starch," Tallent said.

He said one of the biggest future markets for starch will be molded and extracted plastic products such as silverware, trays and dishes. The plastics market currently amounts to 30 billion pounds annually, he said, in which 20 percent starch may replace oil-based chemicals, because of its biodegradable properties and energy-saving potential.

Starch also can be incorporated into plastic film and vinyl plastics, such as hospital laundry bags and pre-measured detergent and pesticide packages, because they dissolve in water.

"We're also using the tremendous versatility of the starch molecule and the resourcefulness of our chemists" to replace non-renewable fossil energy sources in manufacturing rubber, Tallent said.

A starch derivative can be added to rubber from a latex base to form a dry powder "which can be manipulated, molded and extracted much more readily than the conventional slab rubber, which requires energy," he said.

"It's predicted that adoption of this technology would save 1.5 million barrels of oil a year just in the energy required to process rubber," Tallent said.

Starch also can be used to replace traditional carbon black fillers of rubber for tires, he said. Using starch also would allow manufacturers to add dyes to produce differing colors which would increase versatility while saving energy, he said.

"Currently 2.8 billion pounds of carbon black is used annually in fillers," Tallent said. "We could realistically hope to replace half of that (1.4 billion pounds) with starch."

Beef Producers Form Co-op

Midwest beef producers, concerned about the decline in the number of markets available to them, took the bull by the horns on July 7 and organized their own livestock marketing cooperative.

Their organization, Midwest Cattle Producers, Inc. (MCPI), intends to purchase and operate the meat slaughtering and processing facilities of Spencer Foods, Inc., Spencer, Ia. It is owned by the producers and Land O'Lakes, Inc.

Jack Chace, a beef producer from Pilger, Neb., and one of the organizers of the new cooperative sees MCPI as the answer to the demise of traditional livestock markets. "In 1969, he says, 35 firms accounted for 50 percent of the U.S. livestock slaughter. By 1974, only 11 firms were left to handle the same amount of business. The exodus if frightening in that it leaves cattlemen with fewer alternatives and greater uncertainties."

According to Chace, "MCPI is dedicated to establishing a dependable and lasting market." "Our number one priority," he says, "is to maintain competitive market at the procurement end as well as at the retail end of the pipeline."

Ralph Hofstad, president of Land O'Lakes, says, "While assuring producers of the secure, dependable market they seek and deserve, MCPI would also pass on to the farmer-members any dollar savings generated from the business. This would include any earning extracted from the food market and not now available to farmers simply as producers of beef. In other words, MCPI would extend the producer's operation beyond his feedlot and the slaughter house, and farmers would own and control the entire operation."

The general objectives of MCPI as established by the new organization are as follows:

To maintain a competitive market.

To provide members with the latest in feedlot management information and services.

To encourage members to produce what the market will buy, to share cooperatively in any savings generated.

To support the cattle producers' interests in governmental and legislative issues.

The acquisition of Spencer Foods will be in the form of a tender offer for all outstanding shares of common stock at $12 per share, for Series B preferred shares at par, and for Series A at prices up to par. Initiation of the tender offer by the cooperative is contingent on obtaining satisfactory indications of support from prospective MCPI members, compliance with applicable regulatory requirements, and certain other conditions included in an agreement with certain major shareholders of Spencer Foods.

Spencer Foods' operations include a killing plant at Spencer and a killing plant with adjoining fabricating facilities at Schuyler, Ne. Other assets not needed by MCPI would be sold.

Beef producers in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota are being invited to join the new cooperative at informational meetings now being held throughout the four state area. Membership is available to each producer for $2,500. Each membership carries 100 votes with additional votes based on the number of cattle the producer markets through the organization. Members, not required to market any minimum number of animals in any given year.

As the holder of all preferred stock, Land O'Lakes will have a vote at membership meeting on all matters other than the election of producer-directors. In turn, the cooperative's food processing and marketing skills and management ability will be available to MCPI.

It takes electricity to farm today.

It will take more tomorrow.

Every year Nebraskans demand more electricity. The demand for electricity supplied by Nebraska Public Power District was up 9.6% over the year before. Agriculture is one of the largest users of electricity in Nebraska. And no wonder. Agriculture is the state's largest industry. More and more electricity is needed every year to keep it number one.

As farming methods become more sophisticated, agriculture will demand even more electricity. That means more construction of electrical generating facilities and power lines. NPPD is dedicated to bringing you enough energy at the lowest cost possible and with the least amount of impact. Agriculture and electricity have been compatible in Nebraska for years. In fact, without electricity today's modern methods of farming would be impossible.

So next time you wonder if another power line is necessary, think what your life would be like without it. Agriculture and electricity do go together.

Price

The government's CPI report said beef prices have risen 30 percent since October of 1977, Dittmer said. "What the government report doesn't say is that beef prices are also up 30 percent since October of the last several years," he said. "These increases would barely have been noticed at all by consumers if they had not done several years' worth of catching up in two months," he explained.

that projecting annual rates from increases in one or two months is very misleading. If prices of a commodity are stable for the first three months of the year, rise sharply for three months and then drop the rest of the year, an annual rate based on the second three months of the year is going to be an inaccurate reading, Dittmer said.

Government economists don't seem to understand this at all, Dittmer said. Barry Bosworth, head of the White House Council on Wage and Price Stability said recently that beef prices have been going up at an annual rate of 34 percent, Dittmer explained.

"To help reduce the impact on food budgets, we still recommend using the inexpensive cuts like round and chuck," Dittmer counseled homemakers. Information on the proper methods to cook these cuts is available free from the NBF in Gibbon.

The early settlers in America ate used tea leaves, with salt and butter.

ONE MINUTE ADDS 70 CENTS

Do you browse leisurely when you shop in the supermarket? Recent studies of shoppers' habits reveal that every extra minute spent browsing through the aisles could add 70 cents to your bill at the check out counter. The average supermarket shopper spends about 25 minutes looking and choosing. The average bill totals about $18.00. The supermarket owner would, of course, like to have the shopper stay longer and buy more. This is done through page-size newspaper ads, miniature billboards, product promotions, shelf and counter displays. The average supermarket might have 63 such displays at any given time. Shoppers' habits have changed in the last twelve years. People now take more time to shop and spend about twice as many dollars. Six out of ten shoppers visit the supermarket no more than twice a week. That's up from five out of ten in 1965. A few more shoppers now prepare lists and check newspaper ads. One person out of five cashes in coupons.

Although customers plan their shopping better, almost two out of three purchase decisions are still made in the store, mostly on impulse.

For shoppers the message becomes clear. Plan purchases in advance, fight off impulses to buy unnecessarily, and don't go browsing through the aisles. Every extra minute could cost you an extra 70 cents.

Hoskins Girl Shows Top R-O-G Steer

Sue Meierhenry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Meierhenry, Hoskins, exhibited the Champion rate of gain steer at the Wayne County Fair. Sue's steer made an average daily gain of 4.46 pounds per day.

Reserve Champion rate of gain steer was shown by Todd Willers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Willers, Wayne. Todd's steer gained an average of 4.42 pounds per day. Both received purple ribbons.

Other purple ribbon winners were Tanya Willers, Trisha Willers (2), and Todd Willers (Todd showed 2 calves), Brad Roberts (2), Barbara Wichman, Jerry Kramer, Brian Bowers (2), Blaine Nelson, Shaun Niemann, Deborah Lutt, Kaylie Greve (2), Mark Janke, Kurt Janke (2), June Hansen, Shell Topp, Chad Janke, Joanie Bowers, Paul Roberts (2), Dallas Hansen, Rick Bowers, Penny Roberts, Kim Lage, Jon Meierhenry, Wes Greve, Sue Meierhenry (she had 2 animals who were purple ribbon winners), Kurt Wittler (2), Keith Roberts.

Blue ribbons were awarded to Kita Wittler, Deb Greve, Joanie Bowers, Kent Roberts (2), Shaun Niemann, Bruce Wichman (2), Mike Anderson.

Red ribbons in the rate of gain contest in beef were awarded to Amy Lutt, Bill George, Kay Meierhenry, Jeff Baier, Kenny Kramer, Dallas Hansen, Penny Roberts, Keith Baier, Kent Roberts, Keith Roberts, Janelle Anderson, Hugh Jager, and Tommy Baier.

Each 4-H'er could enter 2 beef in the rate of gain contest. White ribbons were awarded to Barry Bowers and Mike Heinemann.

Heifers entered in the Rate of Gain contest received the following awards. Chad Janke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Janke of Winside received a purple ribbon in the market heifer rate of gain competition. His heifer gained 2.75 pounds per day. He was the Champion of the Market Heifer Rate of Gain competition.

Reserve champion rate of gain heifer was shown by Deb Lutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lutt of Wakefield. She also received a purple ribbon.

Other purple ribbon winners were Rick Bowers. Blue ribbons were awarded to Barry Bowers and Janine Baier. Reds were awarded to Jeff Baier and Jim Roberts.

Thought for Today

"In everything the middle course is best; anything in excess brings trouble to men."
Plautus

Many of us probably lack the moderation, the common sense and sound judgment to make good and practical use of an overabundance of even the more desirable things in life.

Conversely, it is seldom that we can benefit from anything of an undesirable nature, unless we take pride in our ability to weather an uncommon amount of adversity. Fortunately, life is normally patterned along a middle course, with only occasional peaks and valleys of excesses of good or bad.

Our friendly, experienced funeral counselors are available to advise you and to answer your questions. We suggest that you drop in and get acquainted before you face an emergency.

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska. The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met per adjournment with members Boiermann, Eddie and Bill present. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in The Wayne Herald, a local newspaper, on July 20, 1978.

Delinquent Personal Tax list was examined and approved. Loren Park, Wayne County School Superintendent, met with the Board to discuss a change and a title change for Maxine Kraemer who served as Secretary to several County Superintendents. The Board agreed to change her title to "Assistant to the County School Superintendent," and to change the salary from $870 per month to $866.95 per month effective in July, 1978.

The Board also granted Mr. Park permission to dispose of old books in that office.

The motion was made by Boiermann with a second by Burt to grant permission to the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. to bury telephone facilities in the County right-of-way in Logan, Hunter, Leslie and Plum Creek precincts if they will sign an agreement to comply with several conditions and also the telephone company will furnish the County a set of prints. Roll call vote: All ayes.

The motion was made by Eddie and seconded by Burt to approve the agreement between the State of Nebraska and Wayne County for the improvement of the Wayne North road, designated as Project No. RS 3110 (2) and to authorize the Board Chairman to sign the agreement.

The Commissioners will again cooperate with the State Game Commission in the roadside seeding program during fiscal year 1978-1979 and will apply $100 lbs. of seed again this year.

The following claims were audited and allowed. Warrants to ready for distribution on August 4, 1978.

With DARREL FUELBERTH

People looking for a house to buy are always greatly interested in the kitchens and bathrooms of the houses they inspect. Assuming that the location suits them, they want a house with a cheery, well-lit and well-equipped kitchen and baths with modern fixtures. Women, especially, realize that much of their time will be spent in the kitchen; it's been called the "heart" of the house. As a seller, should you spend money in remodeling and modernizing to enhance the value of your property? If done within reason, yes. Major remodeling may cost more than can be recovered but many changes which add real value can be made at small cost. We'll be happy to inspect your house and suggest inexpensive ways to make it more saleable. We'll tell you about how much it will sell for, too. Interested? It will pay you to "Talk It Over" with us.

DESIGNED FOR BETTER LAWN AND GARDENS.

Some of the best mowers you can buy say Snapper on them. So let the size of your lawn determine which Snapper you buy. Our "High Vacuum" riding Mower with optional Bag-N-Wagon holds a big 30 bushels of clippings. Our standard rider cuts a big yard down to size fast with its optional 6 bushels grass catcher. Or maybe you've got a V-Series sized lawn. If so you've got 13 choices. And when it comes to gardens, Snapper Tiller's the one.

All Snapper mowers meet A.N.S.I. safety specifications.
