

LISTENING INTENTLY to a presentation by a district specialist at Northeast Station is Edwin Vahlkamp, Wayne county extension service vice-chairman.

At Northeast Station

Latest in Ag Research Detailed During Field Day

The weather was tops, the program concise and the presentations professional during the annual University of Nebraska Northeast State Field Day Tuesday.

More than 800 farmers and their wives from 14 counties attended the event which annually provides the latest in agriculture research.

Tours of the research plots and facilities were divided into three groupings with each of them taking from one to one and one-half hours. They were scheduled so that those who so desired could take all three sometime during the day.

The Merry Homemakers Extension club had a refreshment and lunch stand.

Cal Ward, Northeast Station superintendent and extension supervisor, gave a brief report on the activities at the station during the lunch break.

Ward pointed out the state provides both agriculture research and cooperative extension service. There are 11 on the agricultural staff assigned to the Northeast district with most of them spending 50 percent of their time on research and 50 percent on extension work.

Ward explained the station was established to provide for research under the specific climate, topography and soil types of the Northeast portion of the state.

"The station provides a home base to make specialists more accessible to county agents, agricultural suppliers, commodity groups and farm operators," Ward explained. He pointed out since district specialists live and work within a more limited geographic area, they become more knowledgeable about local conditions and practices. They, therefore, can relate their research more directly to significant problems of the district."

The tours covered beef research, soil testing, nitrogen rates for dryland corn production, irrigation scheduling, forestry, insecticide treatments, stubble mulch in cropping systems and warm-season grass establishment with Atrazine.

A special mini-program was held Monday evening at the state for county agents, county extension board directors and news media. Also on hand were

Pigskin Prognosticators: Clean Off Crystal Balls

Area pigskin prognosticators should start cleaning up their crystal balls as the football season is underway in the Wayneland area.

Who will be the winner? You pick the winners of these and other games and you could win a $25 gift certificate.

The Wayne Herald Football contest begins this week with the first pairings included in today's issue.

There are 20 participating merchants in the contest this year with one football game placed in each of the 20 advertisements on the contest page.

Persons taking part should indicate the winner by writing in the name of the winning team on the proper line on the entry blank. No scores, just pick the winner or ties. In the event you feel the game will end even up, just write "tie" in the proper space in the entry blank.

Please use the entry blank in the contest page or a reasonable facsimile.

The tie-breaker will be the score of the "Game of the Week." The correct or closest score will be used to break ties and will be used only in case of ties.

Only one entry per family. However, members of a family See PIGSKIN, page 12

First Day of School

ONE OF THE first things explained to Rachel Haase, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Haase Wayne, are the different colors of traffic signals. Rachel began her first day in school in the afternoon kindergarten class of Mrs. Vi Hartman. Wayne district schools began Wednesday and motorists are asked to be especially alert for the younger children, such as Rachel, who may not be aware of the traffic dangers.

Legal Aid "Feeling at Home"

Personnel in the Wayne office of the Legal Aid Society are beginning to feel "at home" in their new offices at 420 Pearl Street.

Paralegal Linnaea Marvell said the free legal service for a nine-county area is being utilized, although not to its full potential.

"We presently have a client case load of 100 persons with three full-time attorneys," she said. "Our projected potential is about 250 active cases."

The paralegal said most of the clients are coming from the immediate Wayne county area. "We have been trying to reach the out-lying areas to let residents know the service is available, but we aren't getting the out-county response we would like to have."

She said the program has been explained in the nine counties — Wayne, Burt, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Stanton — but the clients have been confined mostly to the Wayne county area and to the Winnebago area where there is an office and attorney in the Inter-Tribal building.

"We just aren't as 'visible' in the out-lying counties as we are in the Wayne county area," she explained. "We hope to change this even if we have to advertise our service and right now that isn't practical with our working budget."

She said those clients who have availed themselves of the service have expressed the feeling they received professional advice and courtesy from the attorneys assigned to their cases.

The paralegal said two recently graduated students are working in the Wayne office and will be able to help with the case load following notification they have passed the Nebraska State Bar examination.

She pointed out that the legal service will be broken down into specialized areas of law and clients will be assigned to that attorney whose speciality meets the clients needs.

One of the problems encountered is that many persons are unaware they are in need of legal advice and sometimes seek help at the last minute, making it more difficult for the society to effectively help the person.

"We hope to do some public service education in this field to help to solve this problem," the spokesman said.

She also pointed out the new service has been accepted by most of the attorneys in the area. "We have made it clear to them that we do not take clients who are able to pay for professional legal service and make referrals when the case is on a contingency basis." She said, for the most part, there is a "positive attitude" by most practicing attorneys toward the legal service.

She also complimented the social services for its help in getting started in the Wayneland area. "The personnel have been courteous and helpful in all

Council Awards City Plan Revamp

The Wayne city council awarded Kirkham, Michael and Associates the contract to re-write the City Comprehensive plan Tuesday night at the regular city council meeting. After discussion and consideration of another firm, the council voted unanimously to award the $29,500 contract to the

Omaha firm. The council voted to participate in the All-Nebraska Community Program. Mayor Freeman Decker recognized Wayne as a fine city and recommended to the council that Wayne apply for the benefit of the community.

In other action, the council voted 4-2 to make Roy Coryell remove planters from his sidewalk on Second Street. The council decided that because the planters blocked the sidewalk where handicapped persons must walk, they should be removed.

It was also pointed out that Coryell made the request for building the planters after they were already erected.

Mayor Decker initiated and the council approved a resolution which will prohibit semi-trucks with boxes from parking in undesignated areas. The resolution which was passed unanimously will prohibit semi parking in unmarked areas.

A handicap parking lot will be established in the west-most section of the parking space north of the fire hall, the council decided, unanimously.

The council also approved the East Ridge annexation and ordinances 913 dealing with the transfer station and 915 which makes zoning comply with the state statutes.

The council approved the resolution to make improvements in District 78.1. In other action, the council talked about chickens, when they decided to approve a request from John Viotich to keep three chickens in his back yard.

Elect Three To Chamber

Three new board members will be elected in the first part of September to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Gerald Bofenkamp, Chamber president, said the nominees for the three positions are Merle Rise, Wayne Book Store; Jack Frohloff, Northwestern Bell Telephone; Luella Marra, Marra Home Improvement; Bob Enz, Old's, Swartz and Enz, Attorneys; Pat Gross, Triangle Finance; Harold Surber, Discount Furniture; Betty Addison, Wayne Federal Savings and Loan and "Sweden" Fredrickson, Fredrickson Oil Company.

Outgoing board members are Charles Surber, Dean Pierson and Gerald Bofenkamp. The new members will serve three year terms.

Bofenkamp said ballots must be returned by Sept. 11. The new members, he said, will begin serving on the board in October when officers are elected.

THIS PLANTER in front of the Roy Coryell building on Second Street was termed a sidewalk hazard and was ordered removed in action by the Wayne city council Tuesday night.

County Budget Given Approval

The Wayne County Budget was approved Tuesday by the Wayne County commissioners.

The $2,189,830 budget is $277,151 higher than last year, but represents a decrease in the total mill levy because of a property valuation increase in the county.

The increase came about despite a 30 percent rollback in valuations as mandated by the State Board of Equalization.

Classes Began Tuesday Fourteen New Faculty Members at Wayne State

A number of new faculty members were on hand to greet returning Wayne State College (WSC) students for fall semester, which began Tuesday, Aug. 29. Fourteen new faculty have been added to the WSC staff for 1978-79.

Carolyn Bliven has been added as a special education instructor. She holds a bachelor of science degree from Morning-side College and is a December master's degree candidate at WSC. She has served as an instructor in the Sioux City Community School District since 1967.

Helen Carroll has been added as both an instructor in health, physical education and recreation (HPER) and as women's basketball coach. She has a master of arts degree from Appalachian State University and a bachelor of science degree from Middle Tennessee State University. She served as an assistant basketball coach since 1967.

The News in Brief Returns Home

Tammy Thies, 21-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Thies, returned home Friday from an Omaha hospital, where she had been hospitalized for a week following an accident at her parents' farm near Winside on Aug. 20.

Tammy accidentally swallowed a solution used to sanitize bulk tanks. She was taken to Clarkson Memorial Hospital in Omaha for treatment. She spent two days in the hospital's intensive care unit.

According to her mother, Tammy suffered severe burns to her esophagus and stomach. She will return to Omaha for regular treatments.

Mrs. Thies said the container which held the cleaning solution was empty, however enough drops remained in the bottom to cause the injury.

No Wayne Herald Monday

There will be no Wayne Herald Monday, Sept. 4 because of the Labor Day holiday. The office will be closed Monday.

All of the weekend news will be included in the Sept. 7 issue of The Wayne Herald.

Up-minute sports briefs will be included in the weekend wrap-up of The Wayne Herald Sports Hotline sponsored by Wayne Cold Storage.

ANNA MARIE KREIFELS, at left, area home economist at the Northeast Station, near Concord, demonstrates spinning techniques during the Dixon County Fair last week in Concord. Miss Kreifels, who showed various steps used for spinning yarn, said the Bicentennial revised her interest in spinning. She purchased her wheel from Karl Ulthorn of Avoca, who makes spinning wheels for a hobby. Above, Betty Heath of Concord, demonstrates quilting for an onlooker. Mrs. Valters has been quilting for 10 years. Members of various other home extension clubs in Dixon County presented craft demonstrations during the three day fair.

Iris Chambers Selected To Represent Wayne BPW

The Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) of Wayne has selected a 26-year-old part-time psychology instructor at Wayne State College to represent the club in the Young Career Woman program. Iris Watchorn Chambers, who also is director at Berry Hall on the Wayne State campus, will represent Wayne during District III competition Sept. 17 at Fremont. There she will compete with representatives from clubs in Fremont, Norfolk, Omaha and Madison. Jana Barker, chairman of the Young Career Woman program for the Wayne club, said the program is sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women as a way to honor successful young career women while introducing them to the idealistic standards of the National Federation. Judging is based on personal accomplishments, a speech presentation, group interaction and a personal interview. Winners from each district in Nebraska will advance to competition at the state level. There is no national competition. Each Young Career Woman representing her state federation will be honored at the National Convention. Mrs. Chambers was born in Sioux City and graduated from high school in Ponca in 1970. She attended Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk until 1972 when she transferred to Chadron State College. She graduated from Chadron in 1973 with a B.A. in psychology. Following graduation, she worked for two years as an adult instructor and social worker with the Region IV Service office in Norfolk. She was director of social services in Wayne County for about one year, and area director for the Region IV Services at Lyons for six months. Mrs. Chambers returned to Wayne State College to begin work on her master's degree and was resident hall director last fall at Pile Hall. She received her master's degree at graduation exercises this past April. She is a member of the local Association for Retarded Children, the American Personnel and Guidance Association, and the American Association of Mental Deficiency. She also is a member of the Elkhorn Valley group of the Sierra Club and joined the Wayne Business and Professional Women's organization last March.

Hanks Have Open House

About 200 friends and relatives attended a reception and dance at the Carroll auditorium Aug. 19 to honor the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hank of Carroll. Music for the dance was furnished by the All Knights of Norfolk. Hosts were the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hank of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hank, Larry Hank and Patty Hank, all of Carroll. There are two grandchildren.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Elwood Pilger of Wayne. Mrs. Dennis Gaskin of Dade City, Fla., Mrs. Michael Hank and Mrs. Darrell Hank were at the gift table. Mrs. Larry Ekberg of Wakefield baked the anniversary cake, which was cut and served by Ida Hank of Winside and Mrs. Fred Eckert of Wayne. Norma Anderson of Commerce City, Colo., poured, and Mrs. Bob Sundahl transferred.

Gilbert Sundahl of Carroll was transferred Monday afternoon from the Osmond Hospital to Began Mercy Hospital in Omaha. Sundahl was taken to the Osmond hospital late Sunday night by the Winside rescue unit after he became seriously ill at his home.

Mainard of Smithfield served punch. Waitresses were Julie and Janie Smith of Winside, and Shelly Granfield, Janie Isom, Lori Oberhelman and Patty Hank, all of Carroll. Women who helped serve were Mrs. Gene Rethwisch, Mrs. Lonnie Fork, Mrs. Richard Jansson and Mrs. Cliff Bethune. Betty Heath and Robert Hank were married Aug. 22, 1952 at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside. Their attendants, who were present for the silver anniversary fete, were Mrs. Don Painter of Belden, Mrs. John Bower and Richard Wendt, both of Carroll, and Ebert Anderson of Wilmer.

Following their marriage, Hanks lived at Beemer for two years and farmed in the Winside and Carroll area before moving to their acreage at the north edge of Carroll about three years ago. They are members of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside. Guests who helped them ob-

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

Public Library, Museum Reap Benefits of AAUW House Tour

Proceeds from a House Tour conducted in Wayne last fall are being used to enlighten women in the community and the surrounding area.

Men too will find an interesting new selection of books at the Wayne Public Library.

The publications, which deal with topics ranging from U.S. food policies, to education, battered wives, and the lifestyles of both sexes, were given to the library recently by the American Association of University Women (AAUW) in Wayne.

The new collection includes 32 books. Actually, the purchase of the books was made possible because of area residents who took part in the annual House Tour last October in Wayne.

Persons who participated purchased tickets to leisurely tour the homes of five Wayne couples during a Sunday afternoon, where they viewed a variety of table settings and furnishings.

Opening up their homes for that tour were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reeg, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pfifer, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin (Bud) Froehlich, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mallette.

The decision to use the proceeds to purchase books for the community came about because of the AAUW's interest in continuing education.

In addition to purchasing the books for the library, AAUW members have donated $100 to the Wayne County Historical Society for use at the County Museum in Wayne. Other monies from the House Tour went toward AAUW scholarships.

Mrs. Jane O'Leary was AAUW House Tour chairman last year. Mrs. O'Leary said another House Tour is tentatively scheduled for this October. More details will be released in an upcoming edition of The Wayne Herald.

The American Association of University Women strives to encourage continuing education for all women college graduates. This will be emphasized during their annual fall membership tea next month. A special invitation to the tea is extended to all women college graduates interested in learning more about AAUW.

Women are invited to attend the membership tea on Thursday, Sept. 7, between the hours of 8 and 10 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Joan Burst, 518 Lincoln St.

The first regular dinner meeting of AAUW has been scheduled for Sept. 14 at 6:30 p.m. with a program following at 7:30. The location of the meeting will be announced. Guest speaker will be Becky Whedon of Omaha, a state AAUW officer. Her topic will be "AAUW - A Means of Change."

AAUW meets the second Thursday of every other month from September through May, for a dinner and program. Currently there are about 45 members.

Officers are Cindy Nigh, president; Jane O'Leary, vice president in charge of programs; Becky Wilson, vice president in charge of membership; Sharon Boeckenhauer, secretary; Angela Denesha, treasurer, and Lucile Larson, House Tour chairman.

New books which the organization recently purchased for the Wayne Public Library include:

- "The American Woman at 40, the Prime of My America" by Janet Harris
- "Battered Wives" by Del Martin
- "Passages" by Gail Sheehy
- "On Death and Dying" by Elizabeth Kubler-Ross

John, Darlene Viken Observe Silver Wedding Anniversary

An open house reception at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Wakefield Aug. 20 marked the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Viken of Wakefield.

The event, hosted by the couple's children, was attended by 150 guests present from Chicago, Ill.; Des Moines, Glenwood, Marcus and Cherokee, Ia.; Rapid City, Vermillion and Sioux Falls, S.D.; Lawrence, Mass.; and area towns in Nebraska.

Guests were registered by Joyce Lynn Viken of Chicago, Ill.

John Viken Jr. was master of ceremonies for the afternoon program. Joyce Viken read newspaper clippings of wedding and poems. Bill Yost of Hartington spoke briefly and sang "Every Step of the Way." Myron Olson also spoke and had devotions, and Mrs. Paul Fischer sang "Jesus is the Answer."

The couple's children are Joyce Lynn Viken of Chicago and John Viken Jr., at home.

Working in the kitchen were Mrs. Harry Mills, Mrs. Myron Olson, Mrs. Paul Byers, Mrs. Jim Stout, Mrs. Gary Bennerotte, Mrs. Merlin Bressler and Mrs. Marvin Borg, all of Wakefield.

John and Darlene Viken were married at the First Assembly of God Church in Sioux City on Aug. 22, 1953. Mrs. Richard Gaskell of Lawrence, Mass., an attendant at their wedding, was present for the anniversary observance.

The couple's children are Joyce Lynn Viken of Chicago and John Viken Jr., at home.

Three Generations Baptized Sunday

Three generations were baptized during worship services Sunday morning at the Allen United Methodist Church.

Baptized were Joshua Loren Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Snyder, Joshua's mother, Deb Snyder, and his great grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Snyder.

Snyder served coffee following the worship service, and held a family dinner afterward in the Pete Snyder home.

Attending were Mrs. Elzene Lundgren of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Snyder, Mrs. Elsie Snyder, Paul Snyder of Goldfield, Ia., and Mrs. Larry Williams, Cindy and Scott of South Sioux City.

Marking 85th

Mrs. May Jewell, formerly of Dixon, will observe her 85th birthday on Sunday, Sept. 3.

Birthday cards and greetings can be sent to the Colonial Manor, Randolph, Nebr., 68771.

Meeting at Park

The Hillside Club plans to meet Sept. 5 at the East Park in Wayne. Hostess for the 2 o'clock meeting will be Minnie Heikes.

Four-H'ers who were present for a musical skit were Eric Grone, Dale Hansen, Tracy Prenger, Debby Bull, Bryan Grone, Connie Hansen, Kristy Bull, Deb Prenger, Rhonda Ostendorf, Rebecca Ostendorf, Marvin Hansen, Lori Prenger, Sandy Bull, Leslie Grunke, Judy Temple, Laura Haase, Paul Sutherland and David Hansen.

Guitar players were Sandy Bull and Laura Haase.

The 4-H club won a purple ribbon in the Wayne County Song Contest and will perform at the State Fair in Lincoln this Saturday.

Weldon Sundell and John Vio

lette played piano selections, and Anna Lage furnished refreshments. Guests were Barbara and Rick Holdorf, John and Don Starks, Mrs. Lester Hansen, Mrs. Gerald Grone and Mrs. Fritz Temme.

Bible study at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center Monday afternoon was attended by 23 persons.

The Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne opened and closed with prayer. The group studied the book of Romans. Refreshments were furnished by Henrietta Frost.

All senior citizens are invited to bring a friend and their favorite translation of the Bible to the next study on Monday, Sept. 11, at 2:30 p.m.

Flowers at the Senior Citizens have been shared in memory of Pam Jepsen, Mrs. Arthur Dugan and Wes Ruback by their families. Mrs. Jerry Kohl recently donated two boxes of get well cards to the Senior Center.

Club 15 Asking

Guests to Salad Luncheon

Club 15 plans to meet at the Woman's Club room in Wayne next month for a salad luncheon.

The luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Sept. 20. Each member is asked to bring two guests, a salad and the recipe. The program will be a project and craft demonstration.

Officers of Club 15 had charge of entertainment when nine members and their husbands met at the Black Knight in Wayne Friday evening.

Pitch prizes were awarded to Bob Foote and Mrs. Alvin Meyer, high, Louis Lutz Jr. and Mrs. Bob Foote, low, and Fredrick Janke, traveling.

Shower Given

Mrs. Cliff Burback of Carroll was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower Aug. 22 in the Jesse Milligan home, Carroll.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Dennis Oshelmeim and Lori and Karla Burback.

Mrs. Gary Landonger baked and decorated a cake for the serving table. Games furnished entertainment.

Daughters Lori and Conni Burback assisted with the gifts. Thirty-five guests attended from Norfolk, Randolph, Coleridge, Wayne and Carroll.

HARD TACKLING was shown by Laurel players during practice Tuesday as they ran through plays.

Emporia State

Hornets Will Rely On Quickness

Emporia State Coach Hoover's first recruiting class become seniors in 1978 and with this group rests the leadership necessary for a strong season. The senior group includes five players who are expected to become four-year starters: Mike Easter, Stuart Hamilton, Steve Henry, and Scott Smith and Jon Zeiger.

In 1977, the Hornets made a move up from the bottom spot in the CSIC to a 5th place tie with Missouri Southern. By mid-season the Hornets had upset victories over two of the 1976 conference tri-champions — Ft. S. 10-0 and Missouri Southern 15-10, and sophomore Greg Zickefoose was the leading rusher in the CSIC with over 100 yards per game average. The last half of the season saw a disappointing four losses.

The return of eight offensive and eight defensive starters along with some key support players, gives the Hornet camp strong optimism.

The defense is looking to improve its performance against the run and will rely on quickness and pursuit to attack the opponents offense.

The offense will count on 2-year rushing leader Greg Zickefoose (Jr.), and the passing arms of Kyle Sanders (Jr.) and Tony Brown (Sr.).

The offensive line will again be the key to their offensive success and is rebuilt with much needed size with the addition of tackle Rob Klivanta (So.) 6'6" 240 lbs., and guard Jeff Winslow (Jr.) 6'5" 240 lbs.

Joe Pipoll returns as the number one kicker. He provided the winning margin by kicking last minute field goals in two of the 1977 victories.

Greg Zickefoose gives the Hornets one of the best return men in the nation. He was the leading punt returner in the CSIC as a freshman in 1976 and 126th in kick-off returns as a sophomore in 1977.

Bat It Down

ATTEMPTING TO block a pass is a Winside player as they run through some plays in preparation for the season opener.

Winside Practice Execution Makes Reeves Optimistic

Coach Doug Reeves said his Winside Wildcat football players are executing well and although they make up a young team, they'll be good if they can stay healthy.

"We have a young team. I don't like to refer to it as a rebuilding year but more like an educational year," Reeves said. "The players had poor fundamentals early but if we don't have any injuries now, we'll be sitting okay."

According to the first year coach from Westmar College, the team is executing well. He said the defense is ahead of the offense but said that's always the case early in the year.

"They went 5-4 last year with a good defense but no offense," Reeves explained. "They could not get any points on the board."

The straight T formation will be one of the main three or four formations Winside will use this year. They will be led by Mitch Pfeiffer, who Reeves termed "one of the best backs around."

He weighs about 210 pounds.

Currently, 27 players are vying for positions but Reeves said he hopes to get that number up to 30. Seven lettermen return from last year's team with only six seniors and seven juniors participating.

Paul Smith at quarterback, Bruce Smith at end and Dirk Jaeger at the running back position were three individuals, the coach predicted to have a good season.

Torture Test

AGILITY AND coordination are stressed in this football drill at Allen High School.

Small, Quick Allen Team Plans Balanced Attack

Allen High lost all conference linebacker and fullback Brent Chase to graduation and will be filling his position and others with 17 returning lettermen.

Head coach Bart Kneiff and assistant coach Gene Lauritsen said that their team will be small this year but should have a well-balanced attack, running mainly out of the straight T formation and variations.

"We are small but hopefully our quickness will make up for our lack of size," Lauritsen said.

"I think we can surprise a few people."

Both coaches said that Winside, Walthill, Wakefield and Homer would be tough teams this year but added that teams should be more even.

"I feel that the league will be even this season. You won't see the dynasty of the past," Lauritsen predicted.

Coach Kneiff in his first year as head coach, has 34 recruits trying to improve from last year's record of 4-5.

Danze Hopes Strong Backfield Will Improve Season

Six starters on offense and six on defense will lead the Laurel Bears through the 1978 football season according to Coach Nick Danze.

"We're not bad in size, probably average or above," Danze said. "Our strong point will lie in our backfield."

The backfield Danze refers to is made up of three returning starters. At the quarterback position is Steve Anderson, Ron Gudeken and Don Dalton are returning running backs. Laurel runs the split back formation with a variety of sets, Danze said.

"Our offense is much improved over last year, but we can't test our defense yet. The games will tell what our defense is like. I don't know what to expect," the coach remarked.

With 14 returning lettermen on the squad of 31, the Bears hope to improve on last year's 2-6-1 record. According to Danze, Norfolk Catholic, Harlington High and Emerson will probably be the three toughest teams to stop.

"We hope to get a lot more wins this year," he stated.

Eye On The Ball

DRILLING ON set shots, the Allen volleyball team begins its season tonight.

Inexperienced Allen Girls "Not Too Bad"

The Allen volleyball team will need some experience to develop into a powerful team according to third year coach Gary Troth. "We don't look too bad. We lost four seniors from last year's squad, so we're pretty young," Troth said. "We may be playing four freshmen on the varsity."

Three starters return from last year's 11.5 team. Led by all conference player Susie Erwin, Stacey Koester and Pam Brownell, Troth hopes some of the younger players will develop with some playing time. Looking ahead to his schedule, Coach Troth said that all the teams look tough, but Bancroft.

Pender and Laurel are probably the stronger teams Allen will face.

"We're fairly tall as a team and we hope to develop our power volleyball game," Troth remarked. "We've had some problems passing and setting, so we need to get those worked out."

Allen will open its season today (Thursday) in the Ponder Invitational. They will face Bancroft at 9 p.m. The winner will meet the winner of the Walthill-Laurel game Saturday. The championship game will be played at 9 p.m. Saturday.

With Excellent Spikers Winside Has High Hope

First year volleyball coach Rick Stauffers is optimistic about the Winside team this year and feels that by mid-season they can compete with anyone.

"We have excellent spikers and real strong potential to attack," Stauffers said. "I'm really optimistic about this group."

The Buena Vista graduate said 12 players are vying for varsity positions now. Of the 26 recruits, six are returning lettermen and two are returning starters. "We're working on quickness and stressing fundamentals in practice. This is a good size club," he stated. "We'll be where we want to be by mid-season. Then I feel we can compete with anyone."

Some of the top players Stauffers named included Kathy Thomas, who he termed "one of the best attackers", Lisa Longnecker, Kristi Duerling, Lori Gallop and Marci Thomas.

Last year, Winside compiled a 7-9 record.

JUMPING ROPE is part of the conditioning practiced by the Winside volleyball players.

Randy's RECAP

According to Randy Hascall

press what you've done for our boys, but actions do help. What those boys portrayed on and off the field is a tribute to you, Hank, and what you've taught them. Oh yes, there were tears — not really tears of defeat — but evidence of a job done to the best of their ability. We know that to you and to us they rank at the very top. I know your concern for each boy and the special problems he may have. Thanks for giving so much.

Mention must be made of the fine coverage by Randy Hascall for The Wayne Herald. He won the respect of all but especially that of the boys. Signed, One Who Was There.

THE WAYNE MIDGETS were presented State Class B runnerup jackets by their parents at a pig roast in their honor at the Dick Sorenson farm Sunday night.

I personally want to thank the parents for their warmth and generosity to the players and also to me. They made me feel like a member of the Midget team and I was especially honored to receive a runnerup jacket also.

Since the Midgets finished only a breath away from the state championship, they fell short of winning the championship jackets presented as part of the state ceremonies. Runnerup jackets were ordered by the parents from Wayne Sporting Goods as a consolation prize.

The players were surprised and excited to receive the jackets as awards of their accomplishments during the season.

I SEE TWO NEBRASKA schools are rated in the top 20 pre-season poll in the NAIA. Kearney State is rated eighth in Division I. In the final 1977 poll, they were in fourth place. Missouri Western of the CSC is rated 10th.

Chadron State is ranked 10th in the Division II ratings. They finished 10th in the final rankings last year. Dakota State is rated fifth while Hastings College and Midland Lutheran both received votes.

AFTER I INTERVIEWED professional golfer Paul Purizer, Monday, I was brought to my attention that a small article was printed about him in a 1966 edition of The Wayne Herald. It was written by editor Chas Greenlee under the headline, "Watch Out For This Boy" and is reprinted below:

You'll be hearing the name of Paul Purizer, Phoenix, in golfing for a long time to come if present circumstances are any indication. Purizer, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sandahl, Wayne, recently hit six birdies for a five under par 67 in an Arizona tournament piling his team to the championship and the governor's cup. Purizer, whose mother is the former Faye Sandahl, a graduate of WHS and WSC, hit 16 of the 18 greens and had 30 puts in his sensational round. He should go great guns on the greens in the future — he's only 16 years old.

I THOUGHT THAT was interesting. It seems Greenlee hit it right on the head 12 years ago.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL season is here already and I really didn't get a chance to make my pre-season top 20 predictions. However, I can't let the season begin without at least making a stab at it so here goes:

SPORTS QUIZ: Name the teams which won the state volleyball championships in their respective classes, last year.

Class B — Lexington, Class C — Sandy Creek, Class D — Lodgepole.

ANSWER: Class A — Lincoln East.

THIS LETTER was printed incomplete following the State Class B Midget Tournament in Beatrice. The submitter asked me if I would print the complete letter because it lost its meaning with the missing contents. Because of its worthiness, here is the complete letter:

Some thoughts on the Midget State Tournament at Beatrice:

Everyone was concerned for others — fans, parents, players alike. That unselfishness gave us all a warm feeling inside — a warm feeling that grew as the days went by and as we watched our young men take the field, pledge the oath of sportsmanship and abide by it throughout the tournament.

BOYS: Stand tall, walk proudly. We love you and you know we do! We have a lot of pride and — yes — respect for the way you conduct yourselves. The loyalty you have for each other is something you played your hearts out. No one can expect more. Continue to grow in the way that you have for you are the future.

PARENTS: These boys wouldn't have such qualities were it not for you. Be proud of them. Know you've given them the greatest gift of all — LOVE combined with discipline and guidance to enable them to become fine young men.

FANS: You were great. I heard so many good comments. No one gave up. Positive remarks get much greater results.

HANK: Words can't totally ex-

Laurel Girls Are Short But Quick And Determined

The Laurel volleyball team will lack in height but will be quick this year according to Coach Dwight Iverson.

"This group of girls have the best attitudes and are the hardest workers I've had," Iverson replied. "They are determined, their goal is to be better than last year's team."

Laurel lost an all-stater and an honorable mention all-stater from last year's 12-7 squad but returned three starters, Jan Cooper, Deanna Manz and Roxie Kraemer head the team.

They are a young team with only three seniors on the squad of 30 players. Two seniors, three juniors and one sophomore will probably comprise the starting team Iverson said.

"Serving is our strong point," the third year coach said. "The facilities in our new gym help a lot. We can use three nets to practice and are now building for the future."

Laurel will open its season today (Thursday) at the Ponder Tournament. They will play Walthill at 6 p.m. Iverson said this will be good experience for the regular season. Last year, Laurel won the district championship.

Doubles Champs

CAPTURING FIRST place in the Wayne Tennis Club doubles tournament, Jo Johar and Tom Roberts defeated Russ Swigart and Dewey Smith 6-4, 6-1 in the finals. Roberts also won the singles title and a tennis racket a week ago.

4th Jug Takes Title

Continuing to play winning softball, the 4th Jug captured the Thurston Fireman's six-pitch softball tournament Monday night by downing Snyder O'Gorman twice.

The 4th Jug topped Beck's Bar 9-7 in the first round over the weekend, bombed Thurston 18-7 and lost to Snyder 14-4. They came back through the losers' bracket by eliminating Waldbaum's 6-1.

The Jug trimmed Snyder 8-5 and 7-6 in the finals of the double elimination tournament to claim the first place trophy. Waldbaum's finished third in the eight team tourney with a 3-2 record.

Game Tonight

The challenge of the old and young is scheduled to bridge the generation gap tonight as the "Over 40 Gang" plays Danielson Dry-wall in a six-pitch softball game at the Wayne baseball diamond.

All men and women softball players are invited to attend wearing their uniforms to show support for new fields. The "Over 40 Gang" is in for a surprise since all wheel chairs and pacermakers have been prohibited from the field.

Zimmer Earns Trip To Districts

Keith and Nick Zimmer, daily inhabitants of the Wayne tennis courts, surprised some people with their performances at the Mr. Peanut Target Tennis national competition in Kansas City, Saturday.

Keith, 14, won the 14 years and under division and qualified for the district tournament in Kansas City this week. He left on the all-expense paid trip back to Kansas City Wednesday.

Brother Nick, 15, was runnerup in the 14-16 year old group, and although he didn't qualify for districts he said he was pleased with his performance.

Keith recorded the highest score in all age divisions by scoring 240 points in the "Punt, Pass, and Kick" of tennis. The object of the competition is to hit with accuracy on six different strokes.

Each contestant hit five forehand and backhand ball volleys, forehand and backhand volleys, serves and overheads. Well-placed shots scored as high as 25 points.

Keith finished first among 29 players in his division. "I was surprised to win," he said. "I hope I can do it again this week."

Nick lost the title in his age group by 25 points but recorded the third highest total in the competition at 195 points.

"Although one of us might have a chance to win," he said, "Our parents feel it's good experience."

Keith and his mother, Mrs. Jerry Zimmer, are now in Kansas City for the district competition. They receive two round trip tickets, all meals, two nights in the Crown Center Hotel and use of a taxi or rent-a-car during their stay in Kansas City.

Keith meets the winners from Minneapolis and St. Louis and he should win districts he will travel to Los Angeles Sept. 16 for the national tournament. Finalists will play during intermission at the World Class Tennis match there.

"We played on a tennis court surrounded by skyscrapers in Kansas City, it was neat," the two replied. "There was a crowd of about 100 people watching."

The brothers began their tennis careers at about age nine, when their aunt and uncle taught them the sport in Minden. Both are members of the Wayne recreation tennis program now.

2nd Guessers Meet Today

The Second Guessers have scheduled their first meeting for 12 noon today (Thursday) at the Black Knight. They also have a watermelon feed planned for 6 o'clock tonight for all Wayne High and Wayne State football players. The feed will be held east of the Wayne State football field.

Hunter Safety Training

With dove, cottontail, and squirrel season openers approaching on September 1, it's time for Nebraskans to brush up on their hunting lore, particularly their hunter safety.

Of course, safety is important for all hunters, but it's especially so for the young, less-experienced hunter. In fact, state law requires youngsters 12 through 15 years of age to have passed the Game and Parks

Commission's Hunter safety course before going afield. The same law requires hunters under 12 to be accompanied by a licensed adult while hunting.

Thus, youngsters serious about their hunting should enroll soon in a hunter safety course. A good share of Nebraska's 2,500 volunteer hunter safety instructors are planning classes to coincide with season openers. They often recruit students through sportsmen's clubs, civic group, and local newspapers.

Conservation officers or Game and Parks Commission offices also keep tabs on hunter safety instructors and their activities.

Of course, hunter safety training is not limited to youngsters. Most instructors welcome anyone over 12 who is interested in learning more about responsible hunting techniques.

Golf Pro Visits Relatives In Wayne

When Paul Purtzer arrived in Wayne from Phoenix to visit relatives Monday, he spent his afternoon golfing. That's really not surprising, considering Purtzer is a professional golfer and his relatives enjoy golfing also.

Paul, brother of PGA pro Tom Purtzer, played the back nine at the Wayne Country Club with relatives Maurice Sandahl, Roy Coryell, Warren Bressler and Kip Bressler. His aunt, Marion Biermann, of Winser also followed the group.

Purtzer played on and off for three years on the PGA tour before he decided to play the Asian golf tour for three months. He traveled to tournaments in 10 different countries during an 11 week span.

While on the Asian tour, Purtzer placed second in the Philippine Masters and third in the Korean Open. He decided to come back to the United States after finishing in the top 10 on the Asia tour but failed by two shots to qualify for the PGA tour.

This year, he won the Colorado Open, the biggest non-PGA tournament in the country. To claim the $10,000 first prize, Purtzer had to defeat Dave Hill and Billy Casper.

He won the Continental Open in Flagstaff, Ariz. the next week and the San Juan Open of Formington, N.M. after that. Purtzer earned more money in the past year than in his previous four years of golfing, he said.

His next stop will be the Kansas Open, next week.

Unlike many pro golfers, Purtzer didn't start golfing until age 14.

At age 30, he is anxious to join his younger brother on the PGA tour and will play in the PGA qualifying round at Huntsville, Texas in October.

Changes At Creek

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission has announced that the annual August drawing for seasonal blind holders at the Clear Creek controlled hunting area will not be conducted this year.

According to Dick Nelson, area manager, "The regulation change to discontinue the annual drawing is an effort by the Commission to provide more hunting opportunity for more people."

In the past, blinds were allocated to individuals for the season by use of a statewide public drawing. Successful permit holders had priority use of blinds, while daily drawings were employed to place hunters in blinds not occupied by permittees.

This year, Nelson said, "there will be no season blind holders. Instead we will conduct daily drawings 45 minutes before legal shooting time on the area to determine blind use."

According to Nelson, "The decision has placed an additional burden on land management personnel, that being the construction and maintenance of hunting blinds." In the past, blind responsibility rested on the seasonal permit holders.

According to Nelson, "Clear Creek will offer twenty blinds this goose season, eight of which will be newly constructed. The rest of the blinds are currently being renovated, and eventually will be replaced."

Thone Discusses Problems With Area Residents

Gubernatorial candidate Charles Thone did some off-the-road campaigning Tuesday by visiting individually with residents of Wayne at the Wayne County Courthouse.

Thone met with persons to discuss any problems they had.

PUT YOUR MILITARY EXPERIENCE TO WORK PART-TIME.
THE ARMY RESERVE. PART OF WHAT YOU EARN IS PRIDE.

from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Wayne was his second of four stops Tuesday, as he traveled around Northeast Nebraska.

Thone said the reason he decided to run for governor rather than congress is that he's "basically frustrated with the overregulation and over-taxation out of Washington."

In reference to the effect of the LID Proposal on school systems, the Congressman replied there is no question that school districts would have to tighten their belts. He also said that the proposal would be a signal to state and federal governments to curtail extravagant spending.

Drop in Sheep Numbers Slows

Higher lamb, sheep and mutton prices in recent years, coupled with an assurance of high returns from wool, have caused a slower rate of decline in sheep numbers and greater demand for replacement ewe lambs, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist.

The current 1978 lamb crop is up compared to past years due to previous lamb prices and current mid-fall and winter price projections, said Lynn Lutgen, assistant professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Despite weaker prices in September—which may result from a drop in feeder lamb prices to below slaughter prices as a result of higher feeding costs and a surge of summer range lambs entering the market—"choice slaughter lambs should be in the $60-65 per hundred-weight range by mid-fall and strengthen as we move into 1979. Feeder prices should be above last year throughout the fall and winter and into 1979. Feeder lamb prices should be in the $63-66 range during the fall months of 1978," Lutgen said.

An increased demand for wool apparel also should lead to gradually improved prices for domestic wool in the coming years, he said. However, prices for domestic wool will not exceed the 1978 incentive price of $1.09 per pound.

Since the rise in sheep prices, "it would appear sheep numbers are beginning to level off, or at least the rate of decline has slowed down," Lutgen explained. The January 1, 1978 USDA figures report sheep and lamb numbers are down nationally by 3 percent as compared to 4 percent in 1976 and 6 percent in 1975. U.S. sheep numbers have declined from 50 million head in 1942 to less than 12.4 million in 1978.

The current high demand for replacement ewe lambs is a result of both domestic and foreign demand, he explained.

And this fall there should be a reduction in culling due to improved grass and forage conditions throughout most of the U.S., he said. The reduction in culling should result in a large 1979 lamb crop which will approach the 1978 crop of 8,260,000 head, he said.

However, "despite the more realistic optimism concerning U.S. sheep numbers, stock sheep will continue to decline in 1978." Prices of replacement ewe lambs may decline in 1978 or 1979 as range lamb supply remains tight.

Water Data Meeting Set

A conference on "Nebraska Water Data—Collection, Storage, Retrieval Use and Needs," will be held September 15 at the Nebraska Center in Lincoln. It will be hosted by the Nebraska Water Resources center and co-sponsored by the Nebraska Water Data Coordination Committee and the U.S. Geological Survey.

The conference is open to all water interests and is designed to facilitate communications and coordination among data collecting agencies, to help identify data and data analysis needs of public groups and to suggest water data program modifications and innovations to meet the needs of state and local governments and public interest groups.

Interested persons should contact Dr. Gary L. Lewis, Water Resources Center, 310 agricultural Hall, East Campus, East University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583.

Nebraska's sheep producers have until September 1 to complete their voting in the national referendum to determine if they wish to continue support for promotion and education programs for lamb, sheep and wool through the American Sheep Producers Council (ASPLP).

The ballot can be returned by mail — it must be postmarked by midnight Sept. 1 — or can be delivered to respective county ASCS offices.

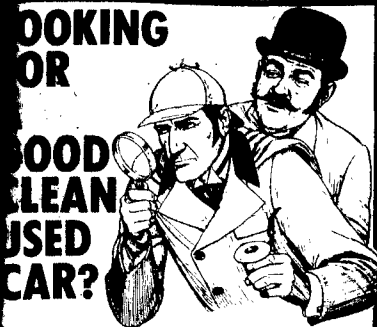

The proposed payment for each of the ASPC program in the referendum are 2 1/2 cents for each pound of wool and 12 1/2 cents for each 100 pounds of eastern lamb sold. The cotton market will pay 1/2 the third of the producers voting approval of producers with two thirds of the total volume of production represented in the ballot approval. Deductions would be made from sheep wool and eastern lamb payments for the years 1979-1981.

A funeral in the family gives rise to all kinds of needs to be met — seeing that someone is available to go on errands — to care for children — to take over in the kitchen. Notification of family advisors, such as the attorney, insurance agent, the bank where a safe deposit box is held. Close relatives and friends can render such kindly assistance.

OBITUARIES

Otto Maas

Otto Maas, age 71, of Laurel died Sunday at Osmond Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel.

The Rev. Frederick S. Cook officiated. Honorary pallbearers were Bert Mitchell, Art May, Larry and John Maxon, Zeb Thompson, Art Lipp, Howard Pehrson, Jack Holmes, Albert Heullig, Cy Smith, Wayne Vogel and Clifford Anderson.

Active pallbearers were Archie Lindsay, Red, Duane, and Jim Maas, Gene Thomson and Virgil Kling. Burial was in the Laurel Cemetery.

The son of Chris and Katherine Wageman Maas, he was born Feb. 13, 1907, at Ponder, Growing up in the Hoskins area, he was baptized Sept. 22, 1907, and confirmed Nov. 11, 1942, at the Zion Lutheran Church in Hoskins.

Maas was united in marriage to Joy Jensen on Jan. 29, 1930, at Sioux City, Ia. The couple farmed near Hoskins until 1944 when they moved to a farm near Laurel. He continued to farm after losing his sight from diabetes 27 years ago.

He is preceded in death by one son, Myron in infancy; one grandchild, and two brothers. Survivors include his widow, Joy; two daughters, Mrs. Floyd (Marilyn) Puntney of Wausa, and Mrs. Carl (Patricia) Putman of Madison; five grandchildren; one great grandchild; five brothers, Louie of Ringsted, Ia., Chris of Potter, Elmer of Pierce, Edwin of Elm Creek, and Raymond of Norfolk; six sisters, Mrs. Frieda Thomson of Dixon, Mrs. Anna Browner of Fairfield, Ia., Mrs. Laura Kling of LeRoy, Minn., Mrs. Katherine Dietz, Mrs. Nora Lambrecht, and Mrs. Mary Ann Heckman, all of Norfolk; his step mother, Mrs. Annie Ruebig of Wayne, and several nephews and nieces.

Edna Pfeiffer

Memorial services for Edna Pfeiffer, age 82, of El Segundo, Calif., formerly of Concord, were held Monday at El Segundo. She died Thursday.

Edna Pfeiffer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Swan Anderson, was born May 30, 1896, near Concord. On Sept. 9, 1914, at Collegeport, Tex., she was married to Amandus Pfeiffer. Around 1922 the couple moved from Concord to California.

She is preceded in death by her husband; one son; one daughter; two brothers, Amos and Harry Anderson; and two sisters, Mrs. Gust Cary and Tilda Anderson. All had been Concord residents at one time.

Survivors include two sons and two daughters in California.

Sally Reiss

Sally Lucille Reiss, age 64, of Sioux City, formerly of Allen, died Aug. 21 following a lengthy illness. Funeral services were held Thursday at the Nelson-Berger Morning-side Chapel in Sioux City with the Rev. David R. Wendel of the Crescent Park United Methodist Church officiating.

Pallbearers were David Harris, Douglas Johnson, and Roger Robert, William and Russell Schroeder. Burial was in the Graceland Park Cemetery.

The daughter of Earl and Sella Pickrel, she was born June 3, 1914, at Van Tassel, Wyo. She grew up in Kennebec, S.D., graduated from the Newell, S.D. high school and from Nettleton Business College at Sioux Falls, S.D.

At one time she lived with her parents in Allen, who operated the Allen cafe in the late 1940's. During WWII she worked as a secretary for the Treasury Dept. in Washington, D.C. In 1948 she moved to Idaho, where she worked as a secretary to the manager of the Twin Falls radio station for many years. She moved to Sioux City in 1975.

Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Earl Pickrel, with whom she lived, and several cousins including Mrs. Clarence Schroeder of Allen.

Christina Rissell

CORN ROOTWORM BEETLE (ADULT) CONTROL

The following is quoted from a newsletter written by David Keith, Extension Entomologist.

"Can a spray for beetles now reduce egg laying enough to eliminate the use of rootworm soil insecticide in the fall? In spite of improved results in the 1977 Nebraska tests, our recommendations with respect to this practice have not changed. In short, we do not recommend adult control as a substitute for a planting or cultivation treatment for corn rootworms. The reason for this is simple. In over 40 replicated tests conducted by Dr. Z.B. Mayo beetle spraying was as effective as the soil insecticide about half of the time. In other words, a single spray for beetles in late July or August cannot be counted upon to protect next year's corn crop from rootworms, while it might work sometimes, other times it won't.

The results from other states in the corn belt support this position. Until the timing of the application is more thoroughly researched, we can't advise farmers to use the practice."

DON'T PRUNE NOW

August is not the time to get out the pruning shears. Many trees and shrubs can still be stimulated into active growth if fertilizer, watering, and excessive pruning are completed in August. This is not desirable as the new growth will freeze in a short time.

Any pruning done now would be to clean up broken branches and severely diseased or insect-infected wood, which could weaken the tree or shrub going into the winter season.

Apply just enough water to maintain foliage on the plants during the fall season. Fertilize trees and shrubs next spring, not during the August heat. Now is the right time to rake up diseased leaves.

BITTERNESS IN CUCUMBERS

The bitter flavor in cucumbers is caused by stress conditions of hot, dry weather. The solution is to keep plants well watered and mulched during this period. The bitterness is worse in the peel and in the upper end of the cucumber.

HARVEST SUMMER AND WINTER SQUASH

Summer squash skin should be soft and easily dented with a thumbnail at harvest time. Harvest fruit before they mature if you want summer squash vines to keep producing.

Winter squash or pumpkin should be harvested when the fruit is full sized, well colored and the skin sufficiently hard to resist denting by thumbnail. Slight cuts and bruises will heal but the fruit should be handled carefully to avoid bruises or excessive damage. The soft bulbous stem of some squashes may fall off during harvest, but the scar will heal over.

Winter squash should be cured 10 days at 85 degrees in high humidity. Then it will keep from 10 to 12 weeks if stored between 50 degrees to 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

Farmers Must Consider Marketing Alternatives

Recent weakening grain prices coupled with the approaching feed grain harvest, have forced Nebraska farmers—especially farmers who hold maturing 1977-crop price support loans—to consider several corn and soybean marketing alternatives, according to an institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist.

With some shortages in fall grain storage space and support loans maturing within the next few weeks, farmers are now looking at continued storage, cash sales, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service grain reserve programs or delivery to the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) as marketing alternatives, explained Dean Linsenmeyer, assistant professor of agricultural economics.

Other alternatives for marketing the new crops include forward contracting for later delivery, sales at harvest time, or storage, he added.

However, since cash corn prices in most of Nebraska are at or below the loan rate—the current market price for corn is approximately 30 cents below the loan level of 1977 there is little incentive for farmers to sell old crop corn and repay the price support loan plus interest charges, he said.

Many farmers who do hold 1977 crop loans have indicated a desire to deliver the grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation in lieu of paying the loan plus interest.

Some farmers also have indicated an interest in the ASCS grain reserve program which involves a three-year commitment to store the grain (corn, wheat or other feed grains), Linsenmeyer said.

In the next two or three months loans will mature on more than 500 million bushels of U.S. corn, and with market prices at or below the loan level in many areas, it is expected that farmers will consider the reserve as a market alternative, he said.

However, the reserve program does feature a penalty if the accompanying loan is repaid before specific "release prices" are reached. For corn, the release price is 125 percent of the current $2 U.S. average loan rate of $2.50 per bushel. But once the 125 percent release price is reached farmers may repay the loan without a penalty. When the national average market price reaches 140 percent of the loan level the loans will be called for repayment, he noted.

Farmers participating in the reserve program receive advance storage payments of 25 cents per bushel per year for corn, wheat, barley or grain sorghum and 19 cents per bushel for oats, Linsenmeyer explained.

A primary advantage to going into the reserve program is the possibility of an increase in market price at some future time during the program.

If grain must be stored at an elevator, the 25 cent storage payment usually will not cover the elevator storage charge plus interest on the price support loan during the first year of the program. However, no interest is charged during the two following years of the reserve program.

Farmers wishing to take advantage of the price support loans for the 1977 crop corn and sorghum have until Sept. 29 to apply for the program, provided the grain is immediately placed in the grain reserve program, he said.

Farmers who are contemplating storing grain for the next marketing year may be considering a generally high risk alternative, Linsenmeyer noted, although hedging or contracting the new crop for future delivery may be an effective means of managing price risk.

Storage of both corn and soybeans for the first few months after harvest has typically been a profitable marketing alternative, except for years when the crop was below expected market requirements. In years of large crops, returns for short-term storage often are about normal, Linsenmeyer concluded.

Satellites to Reveal Crucial Crop Period

Agriculture operations and irrigation scheduling programs may become more precise and efficient within the next ten years through the use of satellites, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources researcher.

Studies funded by a grant from the Office of Water Resource and Technology are currently being conducted at the University of Nebraska Field Laboratory near Mead to determine the relationship between crop temperature and water requirements, said Blaine Blad, associate professor of agricultural meteorology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Researchers are using instruments to measure the temperature of crops which have received varying allocations of water. When a crop does not obtain enough water, the temperature of the plant will rise, he explained.

In the future, data produced by satellites could be used to determine the proper irrigation date and the correct amount of water to be allocated, Blad said.

"Satellites could be used as a tool in conjunction with irrigation scheduling," he said.

Research data currently are being analyzed to determine if crop temperatures can be measured with sufficient accuracy to enable farmers to detect when crops first begin to show signs of stress. "Using this information in conjunction with data on crop water use farmers will be able to determine when to irrigate with greater precision than is currently available," he said.

During a drought, satellite data might reveal the crucial crop period when irrigation would be required to survive. "It is a means to determine when to apply water if only a limited amount is available," Blad explained.

Satellites also may be useful in determining the critical crop life period when the plants would require water applications to ensure an ample yield. The satellites would serve as a plant stress warning device, he said.

Recently, satellites have been launched which produce temperature maps of the earth's surface, but the size of the fields which currently can be detected are larger than the average farm field, he explained.

"The technology is available to produce satellites capable of viewing smaller fields, but we are probably looking down the road five to ten years before this technology actually will be utilized," he explained.

Because satellites may be one of the most useful agriculture tools of the future, further research will be conducted on the crop temperature-plant water relationships, Blad noted.

"Researchers at NASA have indicated a desire to cooperate with UNL specialists this year by providing aircraft to Nebraska to measure crop temperatures and complete research necessary before satellite data can be utilized by farmers," Blad said.

Card of Thanks
I WANT to thank my family, neighbors and friends for the wonderful things they did for me. And to all those who sent flowers, cards, gifts and visited, to Dr. Bob Benhack, Gary West, Sister Gertrude, the nurses and nurse's aides for the wonderful care they gave me while I was in the hospital. Festa Thiel. a31

I WOULD LIKE to thank the Gamble's Store for the portable television I won in their recent drawing. Arthur Bargholtz. a31

MY FAMILY and I would like to thank all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their cards, letters, flowers, phone calls, visits, prayers and concern when I was in the hospital and since returning home. A special thank you to those that helped at the time of my accident, brought in food and helped with the field work. Your kindness was very much appreciated and will long be remembered. Chuck Victor. a31

WE WANT TO THANK our dear wonderful friends and neighbors for prayers, telephone calls, flowers, monetary gifts, cards, and gifts, and food brought in while we were both ill, while we were here in Providence Medical Center and in the Omaha hospital. We especially want to thank Father McDermott and dear Sister Gertrude for their prayers and blessings. Also we want to thank Dr. Walter and Bob Benhack and Gary West and the nursing staff for the very best of care. May God Bless all of you as He has so blessed us. We shall always be grateful. Mrs. Luell Hansen and Kathleen McQuigan. a31

TENDERLY... time will heal our sorrow. GENTLY... friends will ease our pain. SOFTLY... peace will replace heartache and only warm memories will remain. Our sincere thanks for ALL kindness shown during the lengthy illness and death of our beloved Wes. The Family of Wesley Rubeck. a31

Seasons To Be Set

Regulations for upland game, waterfowl, and furbearer seasons in Nebraska will be set by the Game and Parks Commission following public hearings Friday evening at Commission Headquarters in Lincoln.

The 7 p.m. hearing will include recommendations for bag limits on an annual basis from Commission biologists, based on game population surveys. Usually, the hearing also includes testimony from sportsmen's clubs and other interested individuals. The evening session was scheduled to allow maximum public participation.

Following the hearing, the Commissioners will set hunting regulations for ducks, geese, pheasant, quail, and crow, and trapping seasons on mink, muskrat, beaver, raccoon, and opossum.

At a Friday morning session, the Commission is scheduled to discuss the agency's budget for Fiscal 1979-80, land acquisitions, employee salaries, and recreation development of the North Loup Project. Public hearings at 8:15 and 9:15 a.m. will deal with permits to hunt coyotes with aircraft and the tagging of bobcat hides taken during the open season.

cases and we appreciate their assistance."

In essence, the Legal Aid Society provides the same legal services provided by private attorneys except the corporation guidelines do not provide for acceptance of criminal cases or cases being heard on contingency basis.

However, a refusal by two private attorneys to accept a given case, generating case with out advance fee payment, permit the Legal Aid Society to accept the case from an otherwise ineligible applicant.

Eligibility for Legal Aid Society assistance is governed by three considerations: The residency of the applicant, the financial circumstances of the applicant and the nature of the applicant's case.

The Legal Aid Society is a non profit corporation, the purpose of which is to provide legal help for those who are unable to afford it. Its major funding source is the Legal Services Corporation, a federal corporation directed by a National Board of directors and receiving its money via congressional appropriation.

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — Supporters of petition efforts to place on the Nov. 7 ballot proposals providing for mandatory deposits on beverage containers and a limit on what local governments can spend were advised recently by Secretary of State Allen Beermann their propositions will be placed before the voters.

The leaders of the signature-gathering campaigns said they were happy to receive official confirmation their many hours of work had been successful. But they acknowledge they still have a big task confronting them — convincing enough voters of the merits of their proposals.

Pat Jerrison of Lincoln, chief spokesman for the deposit legislation, said her group, Nebraskans for Returnable Containers, will need financial support to get its message before the public. She didn't doubt that the opposition will have more money to spend.

During the press conference at which Beermann said enough names had been collected to place both issues on the ballot, Mrs. Jerrison announced Winifred Uhlinger of Lincoln will be co-chairman with her in the drive to convince voters of the need of a mandatory deposit law. Mrs. Uhlinger said the organization is at work on an advertising campaign. Opponents of the so-called bottle bill have indicated they will conduct an extensive — and expensive — campaign to defeat the measure.

One of the first things the opponents said they will do is review the 33,373 validated signatures on the bottle bill petitions to make sure the petitions satisfy legal requirements.

Because the bottle bill would become a part of the statutes rather than the constitution, only 31,591 names — 7 percent of the total ballots cast in the last gubernatorial election, were required.

The spending lid proposal would amend the constitution. For that reason 45,130 valid signatures — or 10 percent of the total cast in the last gubernatorial election — were needed to put that issue on the ballot.

A total of 79,018 signatures were submitted and 49,473 were found valid, Beermann said.

The secretary of state said he was surprised so many of the names had to be disallowed. He said confusion over the two petitions and the short period during which the names were collected may have been the reason for the higher than normal amount of invalid signatures. He said most of the names that were thrown out were those of unregistered voters, persons not registered at their current addresses, or persons who signed a petition more than once.

The next step in getting the two proposals on the ballot will be up to the attorney general who will write the language in which they will be presented to the public. After the attorney general has completed that task, time will be allowed for appeals of the proposed wording, Beermann said.

He noted there will be 10 proposals on the November ballot. Eight will be for constitutional amendments. In addition to the bottle bill, there will also be a referendum on the law that would increase state aid to schools by $20 million annually for three years.

That law survived a gubernatorial veto but was later suspended, also by a petition drive.

S.H. Brauer Jr. of Lincoln, executive secretary of the Nebraska School Improvement Association, and one of the chief spokesmen for governmental spending limits, said he expects the Nebraska State Education Association to be in the "forefront" of the opposition.

He also said he is taking nothing for granted and hopes enough money can be collected so his side can adequately present its side of the question to the voters.

Water Atlas Published
A new atlas named "Groundwater Quality Atlas of Nebraska" is available to Nebraskans interested in the quality of their underground water supplies.

The atlas was published by the Conservation and Survey Division of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources and is the first of its kind produced in the state.

Fourteen maps show the concentration ranges of the major chemical constituents of the state's underground water. Another map shows sampling sites for seven trace constituents discussed in the atlas.

Copies of the publication are available at $3 each from the survey division.

Authors of the atlas are R.A. Engberg of the U.S. Geological Survey and R.F. Spalding of the UNL Conservation and Survey Division.

Dworak Unopposed

State Sen. Donald Dworak apparently will be unopposed in the Nov. election. Harry A. Schumacher, withdrew from the 22nd District race last week, Secretary of State Allen Beermann said.

Schumacher and Dworak, both from Columbus, were automatically nominated in the primary because their names were the only ones on the ballot.

Beermann said a petition candidate could get on the ballot if the candidate acted before the Aug. 29 deadline. A write-in candidate was another possibility, Beermann said.

Dworak is completing his first four-year term.

Another Power Study

For the third consecutive year, the Legislature has hired an outside consultant to take a look at the state's power industry.

This time the work will be done by an Overland Park, Kan., economist, John Dunn, who will be paid a maximum of $8,100 through the year's end.

The last two studies cost $50,000 and $30,000. What the lawmakers got for the $50,000 expenditure was described by some of them as "a fiasco" and "a disgrace." The report submitted consisted of a seven-page sketch and basically recommended more study.

Dunn was officially hired June 27 but is still to take the assignment. Sen. Richard Lewis of Halbrook, an advocate of state regulation of the power industry, said Dunn and other interested parties will have to go together soon to decide precisely how to proceed.

Dunn's duties, according to the Legislature's contract with him, will include training three legislative staff members to begin analyzing possible regulatory schemes.

Lewis also noted that power lobby is one of the very strongest in the state and that can make it difficult to get legislation dealing with power through the Legislature.

OBSERVATIONS

Don't take a chance

Writing a piece about safety seems to be a continuing lesson of futility, but none-the-less we keep trying in hopes that others will try as well. To use common sense rules of safety.

The Labor Day weekend is a time for a final summer fling. For many, the holiday signals the end of summer and its fun-filled outings to lakes, parks and other recreation areas.

We hope the weekend measures up to expectations and not "unexpectations." And one way to eliminate the unexpected is exercise caution while driving. Many accidents occur because people fail to observe simple safety rules.

Last year, 469 persons were killed and another 19,000 injured in traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend.

Alcohol (or the consumption thereof), excessive speed and fatigue were responsible for many of the accidents. To put it as simply as possible, don't drink before driving, observe the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit and rest frequently.

We urge motorists to do as much driving as possible during daylight hours since statistics show there are more fatal accidents at night.

And check this—An estimated 12,000 lives a year would be saved if all passenger car occupants used their seat-belts.

A complete safety check should be made of all vehicles used for recreational purposes—automobiles, boats, campers, trailers or trucks—BEFORE leaving home.

Among these safety checks are ignition system, the exhaust system, tires, brakes, taillight, wheel alignment, windshield wipers, hood latches and any equipment used for towing a vehicle.

And it is also wise to allow adequate time to get from one place to another. Many accidents result from persons hurrying and are not destined at a specific time. "Leave in time to arrive alive."

Not all accidents happened while traveling to or from an outing. Many accidents occur at both public and backyard swimming pools and during other backyard activities. Don't swim alone and never have an electrical appliance plugged in near the pool. Diving into shallow pools should also be avoided.

Other hazards include glass patio doors, especially if the surrounding area is slippery, and outdoor cooking. An open fire should never be left unattended, and no matter how sluggish the fire may seem, gasoline, kerosene or liquid starter should NEVER be added to a smoldering fire.

This partial list of "do's" and "don'ts" is original with us. It has been compiled from statistics. Take care. Don't be a part of the statistics that will be used to compile safety tips for next Labor Day — Chuck Barnes

Wage-Price controls

Richard L. Leshar, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

WASHINGTON—President Carter and his economic experts have often stated publicly that wage-price controls don't work, which is true; and that therefore, they will not use them, which is questionable.

In fact, there is a consistent pattern of creeping wage-price controls in the policies of the Carter Administration. It's easy to spot when you put the pieces together in chronological order: January, 1977—The President rejects mandatory or voluntary controls. February, 1977—He proposes continuation and expansion of the Council on Wage and Price Stability (COWPS).

March, 1977—He supports increases in the federal minimum wage, a form of wage control.

April, 1977—He proposes price controls for intrastate natural gas. (Currently, only gas that crosses state lines is controlled.)

August, 1977—He signs a bill giving COWPS use of subpoena power to extract wage-price information from business and workers by force, a form of intimidation.

January, 1978—He announces "voluntary" across-the-economy wage-price controls. Prices and wages are supposed to grow more slowly than the average of the previous two years.

April, 1978—He announces a salary freeze on federal political appointees and proposes a 5.5 percent limit on federal white collar pay increases. He suggests that business do likewise.

May, 1978—The Director of COWPS threatens business with use of COWPS subpoena power.

June, 1978—The President's economic troubleshooter, Robert Strauss, in a letter to me, proposes detailed and tighter "voluntary" controls.

With this track record, it is understandable why a majority of America's business people now expect mandatory wage-price controls within the next year or two.

I can understand, too, why many people, feeling pressed by government-caused inflation, are tempted by what looks like a simple solution: Pass a law against higher prices. But it won't work. Inflation is too much money chasing too few goods. There are only two ways to reduce it: (1) Cut back on the production of new money, which is controlled by government; (2) Produce more goods and services more efficiently.

When prices can't change to reflect changes in supply and demand, shortages develop. When the market can't ration supplies by price, it will ration them by some other method: Long lines, "influence," bribery, black markets.

Trying to stop inflation with wage-price controls is like pumping air into a balloon and demanding it not to get bigger.

Voters to determine fate

"Power to the people" is a slogan best known for its use by the flower children and anti-war protestors of the 1960's.

But it also applies to provisions of the Nebraska Constitution that reserve for the people certain powers that are denied the Legislature and other state officials.

Nebraskans will get a chance to exercise those powers when they go to the polls for the Nov. 7 general election. But it also applies to provisions of the Nebraska Constitution, the right to repeal a state law without interference from the Legislature, and the right to pass the Legislature and enact new laws.

The November ballot will include 10 such issues. Eight of them are constitutional amendments, including seven proposed by the Legislature and one proposed by the people through petitions.

A ninth is an attempt to repeal the LB 33 school aid program passed by the 1977 Legislature, and the 10th aims to write a new law: the bottle bill.

The outcome of the vote will have major impact on various aspects of Nebraskans' public and private lives. Among them are measures affecting taxes: community development, solar energy and treatment of sex offenses.

Receiving the most attention so far is the lid petition effort, which would write into the Constitution a limitation of 5 percent on local governments' year-to-year budget increases. Some 77,000 Nebraskans affixed their names to the petition to put the issue on the ballot, many said they were responding to talk of a nationwide tax revolt.

Impetus for the petitions came after the Legislature three times refused to write a spending lid law conforming to

Gov. J.J. Exon's criteria. Exon supported the petition effort.

Closely linked with the lid measure is the LB 33 referendum, which will render a final decision on a 1977 law raising state aid to local schools to $115 million from the current $55 million over a three-year period.

Legislative pay, an oft recurring ballot question, has a new wrinkle this year. Senators' monthly pay is fixed at $400 in the Constitution and cannot be changed without an amendment.

This year's version of the issue would leave the $400 unchanged but allow senators to establish a system under which they could receive expenses and a daily sum for days on which they were engaged in legislative business.

The bottle bill, also rejected by the Legislature, would require 5-cent deposits on the cans and bottles in which beer and soft drinks are sold. It was put on the ballot as a result of petitions circulated by a coalition of farm, wildlife, veterans, political, recreation and gardening organizations.

Concern about the state's procedures for dealing with sex crimes prompted the Legislature to propose an amendment that would allow judges to deny bail release to people accused of serious sexual assault cases. Currently, bail can be denied only to people accused of murder and treason "where the proof is evident or the presumption great" prior to trial.

Community development projects prompted two of the amendments. One would allow the Legislature to set up a system of tax increment financing for the redevelopment of substandard property.

Such property, once improved and placed on the tax rolls, would generate higher local property taxes than it did in its previous condition. The tax increment system would allow cities and villages to apply the amount of the increase—but not the original tax—to financing the redevelopment.

The other development measure would allow the Legislature to expand the provisions of the state's Industrial Development Bond Act to include warehouses as well as manufacturing facilities.

The solar energy amendment would exempt from property tax assessments any increases in value to a property caused by the addition of solar or wind energy equipment, solid waste conversion or water-powered alternate energy systems.

Another amendment would clear the way for the surviving spouses of certain public employees to receive pension benefits after being widowed.

Also up for voter approval is Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner's L.R. 1 from the special session of the Legislature last June. It directs the State Board of Equalization and Assessment to adjust tax rates where necessary for equalization in taxing districts that cover two or more counties if one of the counties is more than two years behind on reappraisal of property.

That procedure would be in force until 1981. After that, the Board would equalize valuations instead of tax rates when one county falls behind.

When a common rate is applied to similar parcels of property assessed at different levels, a tax inequity develops. The Warner amendment is an attempt to avoid such inequities.

My first nest egg

The eggs were still warm. Felt just like a pillow that's been slept on all night. I picked the last one up and gingerly placed it in the basket. That's when she came at me, wattles flying, wings flapping. Chased me out of the hen house and right into the arms of my grandpa.

"Ol' Mabel get ya? Bet you accidentally took her nest egg."

He poked into the basket and drew out an egg. "This one here, see? It's china. Put it in there just for Mabel. Little something of her own so she's not sitting there all alone. Mighty comfortin' to a hen, boy. Nest egg can be mighty comfortin' to some folks, too."

Later that day, Grandpa gave me my first Savings Bond. Said he'd planned to give me a lecture about saving, but Ol' Mabel had done it all for him. Told me that the Bond was my start on a personal nest egg. A little something stashed away to keep me going.

Every year after that, Grandpa gave me another Bond. And every time I got a chance, I added a Bond of my own to the pile. Those Bonds grew up right along with me.

Today, I run one of the biggest ranches in the Southwest. And you know how it all got started? From a little bitty nest egg. Guess I owe a lot to Grandpa. And Ol' Mabel.

Start building your nest egg. Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan at work. Or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you save. Whether you're saving for an education, retirement or even a new home. Bonds can make sure there's a fund in your future.

Take stock in America.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 Years Ago
Sept. 2, 1948: Complete revision of traffic control in downtown Wayne, including the installation of three stop and go signals at the establishment of two through streets, was recommended to the city council Tuesday evening by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce Civic Affairs Committee. Milton B. Childs has been named secretary of the local Kiwanis Club succeeding Clarence McClinton who has moved to California. R.G. Fuelberth Wednesday began the construction of a new business building on his property across the street from the city auditorium. In addition to one house already completed and another nearly finished, the firm of Cory and Dier, Wayne, will erect four more "factory-built" type houses in this city this fall.

25 Years Ago
Aug. 27, 1953: Last of the summer drive-in church services, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday at the drive-in theatre. A. R. Carlson, son of Prof. and Mrs. Albert G. Carlson, was named winner over seven contestants on an Omaha television junior talent show Wednesday night. Nineteen Wayne Girl Scouts, members of Lone Troop, will receive their Tenderfoot badges in ceremonies Monday night at the Methodist Church auditorium. Mark Oct. 29 with a red circle on your calendar. That's the date for Wayne's annual Employer-Employee banquet.

Aug. 28, 1958: A fish pond school sponsored by the Dixon County SCS will be held Friday at the conservationist Waldo Rodene reported this week. The newest addition to the WSTC coach staff is Russ Young, whose appointment as head football coach was affirmed by the State Normal board last week. Wayne High bandmen have been holding daily two-hour rehearsals this week in preparation for their appearance at the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln Saturday. Ed McQuistan and sons swept both firsts in the market hog class at Wayne County Fair last week.

15 Years Ago
Aug. 28, 1963: Sgt. Francis J. Homer, Sr., son of Judge and Mrs. David Homer, Wayne retired Aug. 15 after 30 years service in the Air Force. Ray Schreiner, Wayne State College chairman of Applied Art Division, attended a workshop for college teachers of traffic education at Michigan State University Aug. 12-22. Ted Armbruster, State National Bank employee, is among 1,250 students attending the annual two-week residence session of the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

10 Years Ago
Aug. 29, 1968: Concord's Evangelical Free Church will hold its 50th Anniversary service today through Sunday. Featured speakers will be some of the former pastors of the congregation. The beginnings of two construction projects will greet some 3,000 students coming to Wayne State College in September. Foundation work started in July on a new science building and an addition to Conn Library. About 25 members of the Wayne County Historical Society met Monday evening to make plans for beginning a canvass of the county for new members. The memberships are to be used to construct a new Wayne County Museum.

Agriculture, Energy and the Economy.

No two ways about it. Agriculture is the heart of Nebraska's economy. Hard working farmers and ranchers have helped to make our state a worldwide giant in agriculture, but they had some help putting Nebraska in its position of leadership. Not to be overlooked is the far-sighted planning done by the utilities to meet their electrical needs.

What does electricity have to do with agriculture? Plenty. Your Nebraska Public Power District believes agriculture and energy go hand in hand. For without electricity, today's modern methods of farming would be impossible.

Nebraska's agriculture depends on electricity for irrigation, grain handling, drying and feeding—almost everything you do on your farm or ranch. And in the years to come, demand for electricity will continue to increase. NPPD is ready to meet your needs without getting in your way. Agriculture, electricity and the economy. In Nebraska they all go together to give us the good life.

Nebraska Public Power District.

Traditional Smokehouse Cooking May Hold Answer

Although more efficient and profitable bologna production methods may be available, processors may adhere to a traditional smokehouse cooking humidity rate because it may appear to produce the best, most delicious bologna available.

However, a recent study conducted to determine the effects of smokehouse relative humidity on cooked bologna characteristics and smokehouse energy loss revealed that the quality and palatability of bologna is not altered significantly by a change in the humidity rate used to cook the meat product, according to Roger Mandigo, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources meats specialist.

"Relative humidities did not significantly influence taste panel scores, nor did they affect the corresponding analyses of cooked bologna," said the University of Nebraska-Lincoln animal science professor.

But the increasing humidity rates used to cook the test samples did result in a greater loss of energy from the smokehouse, Mandigo said.

Three relative humidity treatments (35 percent, 55 percent and 75 percent relative humidity) were used during the cooking of the raw bologna, with each treatment replicated once a week over a four-week period.

"Acceptable products were produced from each treatment," Mandigo said, although energy losses increased with higher relative humidity rates.

Analyses on bologna prior to cooking revealed there were no significant differences between the raw samples. These tests show that the characteristics of the samples were all essentially the same, he said.

Cooked analyses also showed no significant changes or differences due to the treatment of relative humidity on fat, moisture, protein, ash, salt and nitrite, Mandigo noted.

However, a three-week holding period—the normal distribution time—resulted in significant changes in fat, moisture, and protein. Dehydration during this storage period caused moisture from the product to evaporate and "thereby increased the concentration of fat and protein relative to the weight of the sample," Mandigo explained.

Some color change was noted in the samples treated with higher humidity rates due to the moisture in the air. The color of the product also lightened during the three-week post-processing storage period, he said.

"The fading in color took place probably due to a denaturation of pigments with storage time," Mandigo noted.

Firmness and hardness also increased in samples treated with lower humidity rates, Mandigo said.

Although these differences were noted with sensitive testing devices, "taste panels, which were held to judge the consumer rating of the bologna samples produced by the three relative humidity treatments, scores showed no significant difference due to treatment," Mandigo said. "These results would indicate that differences found in other analyses were subtle and not measurable by the consumer panel."

But the researchers did find that energy losses increased with higher relative humidity rates due to the high energy content in the air "being exhausted," humidity resulted in decreased cooking times. And cooking losses also declined with higher humidities. "At higher relative humidities the greater amount of moisture in the air slowed the transfer of moisture from the product," he said.

"The results indicated that increasing humidity decreased cooking time, shortened processing times, but also increased energy losses," Mandigo explained. Quality meats can be produced at higher levels of relative humidity, but producers will have to determine which is most economical and profitable.

"With these results in mind, recommendations for increased smokehouse efficiency would be to process at a medium relative humidity (about 55 percent relative humidity). This would cause a decrease in cooking time and cooking losses over the lower relative humidities, but would increase energy exhausted from the smokehouse without affecting the overall product to the consumers' eye," Mandigo said.

But to attain better energy efficiency, an energy recapturing system—a system which could reprocess and reuse the energy—might be necessary. "This would allow for use of increased relative humidity processing schedules, which would ensure decreased cooking times, less cooking losses and the excess energy could be utilized for some other function," he said.

Pumpkin, Squash Harvest is Here

The harvest season is upon us, and with it comes an abundance of pumpkin and squash. There really are more than a couple of ways to fix those vegetables.

The quick-growing tender-skinned summer squash that are harvested and used when immature are delicious when steamed and buttered or sliced and baked with onions, bacon, tomato sauce, and Italian-seasoning. Long, dark green "Italian" summer squash varieties may be used raw like cucumbers in salads or sliced and boiled with tomato, onions and Italian seasoning.

Smaller, hard-skinned winter squash varieties are good when cut in half, baked and served in the shell after salted and buttering with brown sugar. They also are good as a main dish when baked with sausage, sliced onion and bread crumbs in the seed cavity.

Pumpkin usually has finer-textured flesh than squash and is better for pies or custard. Squash or pumpkin pulp is a good ingredient for preparing moist quick breads. The large male blossoms of squash or pumpkin are tasty when dipped in egg batter and fried. Male blossoms are more numerous than the female blossoms that have a miniature fruit at the base of the flower. These male blossoms eventually dry up and fall off so no damage is done when they are removed—if a few are left to supply pollen for fertilizing miniature fruit.

Lions Test Defense

Defense will be the emphasis in the Missouri Southern camp in 1978. Far too many surprises with the opponent granted quick touchdowns in the 1977 season was the chief concern during spring drills.

The forward wall of Roy Jones, 6'2", 230, and Marly O'Brien, 6'11", 230, both seniors, will be joined by talented Terry Hartzell, 6'4", 260, at the nose position and will offer a solid foundation on which to build a quality defensive unit. Senior Leon Bolding returns at line backer with an all new secondary surrounding him. The real tests for this unit are expected to come early in the season.

A strong defense is imperative for the Lions to be contenders in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference. A positive morale plus a willingness to gamble will add to the defensive stability.

Two-time all conference running back Larry Barnes begins his senior year with 2,800 yards rushing behind him.

A strong defense with a quality kicking game could make the Lions a strong CSIC contender in 1978.

Washburn

Ichabods Rebuilding

Rebuilding the record setting offense of a year ago is the main task for this year's Ichabod coaching staff. Washburn was 6-3-1 in 1977 and the WU offense set three school records: season scoring 268 points, first downs, 152, and game passing average, 152.1.

"We're definitely going to have our hands full," head coach Larry Elliott said, "since we did lose so many lettermen who had played four years for us. We lost a lot of talent so our young people are going to have to come through for us."

The offensive strength is the receivers where two starters and one part time starter return. Back is All-CSIIC sophomore Mike Keelley (6' 10", 170), who caught 30 passes for 538 yards and four touchdowns in '77.

Also back is Honorable Mention All-CSIIC receiver Mayo Schmidt (5' 10", 170, Sr.) and last season's semi-regular tight end Jim Silver (6-2, 200, Sr.).

men return. Two-time All-CSIIC All-District 10 guard Steve Fina silver (6' 1, 240, Sr.), and Kerry McIntyre (6' 1, 235, Sr.), who was Honorable Mention All-CSIIC.

Washburn's all time leading passer Mike Grogan graduated and sophomore Mike Atkins (6-1, 195) is expected to be the Ichabod quarterback. As a substitute last season, Atkins completed 17 of 36 passes for 279 yards and four touchdowns.

Six starters and one part time starter return on defense. Four of the returnees are in the defensive secondary. The defensive backs - Pat Grogan (5' 10", 176), Mike Medill (6', 183), Steve Burkdoll (5' 9", 170) - are seniors. Burkdoll was All-CSIIC in '77. Sheahan was Honorable Mention.

In returning on the defensive line are starters Travis Beltan (6-3, 203, Sr.), Honorable Mention All-CSIIC and Alex Sian (6-1, 190, So.). WU's Rookie of the Year.

With 27 Returning Lettermen Wildcats Expected To Be Tough

by RICK POWERSVILLE WSC NEWS BUREAU

After a surprisingly successful season last year, conference members are expecting the Wayne State Wildcats to be tough in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference this fall.

A pre-season coaches poll has WSC pegged for fourth place or better this year. The Wildcats were picked to finish last in 1977 by CSIC coaches. Wayne State is the smallest school by far in the conference and not many in the CSIC had even heard of the Wildcats before last fall.

By the end of the 1977 season, the WSC team had defeated five of the seven teams picked to finish ahead of them, compiling a 5-2 CSIC record, which was good for second place.

"We upset the basket a little for some of the other teams last fall," Coach Stoltenberg said. "They'll be looking for us this year."

Stoltenberg, who is heading into his 10th year at WSC, was selected CSIC "Coach of the Year" last year by his conference counterparts. With the 7-3 overall finish in 1977, Stoltenberg has coached more winning games than any other WSC football coach - a respectable 44-2-2.

This year's Wildcat roster shows a promising 27 lettermen returning, including several from the Northeast Nebraska region. Another 27 freshmen from the region showed up for the first practices, held the week of Aug. 21-25. All total, 113 were on campus for the opening week.

Among the 27 lettermen are five offensive and seven defensive starters. The remaining 15 added needed depth last fall. Stoltenberg said both veterans and newcomers are being considered for starting positions this fall. A closer look at the team's roster shows a number of area youths vying for starting roles.

Leading the list of returning starters on offense is a 1977 second-team NAIA "All American," Bob Barry, a junior from Battle Creek. Barry accounted for 113 of the team's 184 yards per game rushing average last fall. The 6-3, 195 pound work horse led the WSC rushing record of 1,130 yards for nine touchdowns last season.

He was named to the "All Central States Inter Conference," second team in 1977, as well as the "All World Herald State College" team and the "All NAIA District 11" team. Barry's performance will undoubtedly be important to the Wildcat's success this year.

Joining Barry in the backfield competition will be Rick Lade, a 6-2, 180 pound quarterback from Battle Creek. Lade directed the Wildcats last year as a freshman, scoring four times on touchdown runs, completing 51 passes for 656 yards and throwing for another four touchdowns.

Other returning offensive players hoping to retain their starting positions include Jeff Ingram, a 6-3, 180 pound junior from Sioux City, Ia., teamed with quarterback Lade.

last fall and caught 14 passes for 240 yards and one touchdown. Also returning is Dale Pelland, a 6-3, 255 senior offensive tackle from Medinah, Ill.

With seven starters returning, defense is expected to be a strong point for the Wildcats. The WSC defense led the CSIC last fall and was rated among the NAIA top ten in the nation, giving up only 86.7 yards in 10 outings - or a stingy 86.7 yards per game.

Included in the defensive losses this fall is NAIA second team "All American," Duane Carlson, a tenacious guard from Hooper. Carlson accumulated 146 tackles last year and recently set a single-game solo tackle record of 16 for the Omaha Mustangs.

Other defensive losses from last year include Dave Carper, a defensive end from Scribner; Bill Hughes, a linebacker from Battle Creek and Ray Wagner, a defensive back from West Point. Front runners to retain defensive starting duties include the team's second leading tackler, Greg Welch of Norfolk. The 5-11, 215 pound guard from Norfolk High gathered 103 tackles in action last season.

Area contenders on defense include Dave Carlson, a 6-1, 205 pound senior tackle from Hooper; Bob Kenken, a 6-0, 200 pound junior defensive back from Niobrara; and 5-11, 170 pound Mark Ehrhart, a senior defensive back from Springfield.

Rounding out the list of defensive positions are Tim Hurley, a 6-3, 210 pound defensive end from Omaha; Steve Alaman, a 6-0, 175 pound sophomore defensive back from Schaumburg, Ill.; and Charlie Curry, a 5-10, 170 pound senior from Omaha.

Stoltenberg said he is pleased with the outstanding recruits this fall. He added that both veterans and new recruits are providing stiff competition for positions. The final starting calls are not likely to be made until the week before the home opener Sept. 9 against Chadron State.

Promising recruits on offense this fall from Northeast Nebraska include - Offense: Running back Jeff Beller of Walthill, offensive tackle Lonny Clausen of Arlington, tailback Larry Finkral of Battle Creek, running back Pat Hoffman of Osmond, quarterback Bob Hughes of Battle Creek, end Steve Martin of Pender, offensive guard Brad Peterson of Craig, fullback Kelly Pfanz of Emerson, split end Bob Pluge of Norfolk, wide receiver Lance Polly of Winnebago, offensive lineman Jerome Prubal of O'Neill, end William Schwartz of Wayne and split end Tom Voss of South Sioux City.

Defense: Lineman Dan Bazata of Howells, linebacker Douglas Casal of Belden, lineman Steve Dennis of Margaret, defensive end Leo Gramke of Tekamah, nose guard Clayton Hoefs of Wisner, linebacker Alan Hollman of Thurston, halfback Patrick Maxwell of Tekamah, defensive back Ronnie Peister of Petersburg, linebacker Philip Prusa of Howells, defensive end Rusty Rimovsky of St. Edward, middle guard Tom Servino of Waterbury, nose guard Paul Sobansky of Oakland, linebacker Michael Warnock of South Sioux City and linebacker George Wright of Ewing.

Kearney State

Antelopes Strong Again

Eighty players who completed spring drills were joined by 40 freshmen at Kearney State's fall football camp.

Thirty-seven lettermen reported along with 16 players who were red-shirted last year and several transfers. Gone from last year's 8-2-1 squad, which finished fourth in the national NAIA rankings, are 21 players who completed their eligibility and several others who did not return to school.

There is at least one letterman at each position.

Coach Clair Boroff doesn't rate his players. "We'd rather have the men perform on the field instead of reading about how they are going to do," he said. "We feel we have some outstanding men and know the team will continue the Kearney State tradition of winning again this fall."

Boroff did make the exception and talked about Doug Peterson. "Pete is the best linebacker we've ever had at Kearney, and that is quite a statement," he said. "He is just a super player."

Defensive Coach Terry Renner said, "Doug just knows what to do and when to do it. I just don't worry about his work at all. He's stronger and bigger than last year when he was an honorable mention NAIA All America choice."

The Antelopes have only one starter back from the offensive line but last year's back-up men are available and all saw considerable action last season. On defense, all four front starters are gone, but experienced lettermen are available for all spots.

Mo. Western

Barnes Backs Griffons

Missouri Western State College's Head Football Coach Bob Hicklin and his staff welcomed 123 prospective football players when fall practices opened on the college campus.

The 133 includes 83 freshmen and 70 squad members from a year ago. Of the returning 70 squad members, 30 are returning lettermen from last year's 8-2-1 season including the Missouri NAIA District Championship and the Championship in the annual Boot Hill Bowl played in Dodge City, Kas.

Three year lettermen returning include Jim Fisher, 6-1, 199 pound runningback from Goway; Mo. Mark Storey, 6-6, 265 pound offensive tackle from Augusta, Ga.; and Bill Sharp, 6-3, 230 pound center from Merrilville, Ind.

Fort Hays

Tigers Have Depth

Seventeen starters and 24 lettermen return to give Fort Hays State University Head Football Coach Bill Giles a strong nucleus for the 1978 season.

Heading the list of returnees on offense is 1975 All-America selection Tom Doll. The Clifton senior rushed for 988 yards a year ago and is 60 yards from the 3000-yard career rushing milestone. The 5-7 tailback scored eight touchdowns on the ground and caught two passes for scores, leading the Tigers with 62 points.

Gone, however, from the third best offense in the CSIC in 1977 are All-America selections Skip Nurmich (quarterback) and Dave Carper (receiver).

Nurmich holds all the Tiger's single season and career passing marks, while Meter led Fort Hays State University the past two seasons with 44 and 42 receptions, respectively.

Despite the losses, the offensive backfield receiving corps will be strong. Filling the void at quarterback should be Mike Lybarger, Arvada, Colo. Junior, who started in a few games at the end of the 1977 season.

On defense, the Tigers boast All-America candidates Jim DuBois, West Monroe, La. senior Mike Carney, Kansas City, Mo. junior, DuBois, at his defensive back position, led the Tigers in interceptions and ranked fifth in total defensive plays a year ago. Carney was second in total defensive plays and tackles for losses and was chosen to the second team All-CSIIC squad at a linebacker position.

"We are still going to be a young football team," Head Coach Bill Giles said. "We concentrated on filling in some spots and adding depth at many positions."

All defensive line sophomores Bob Heider, Pleasanton, Neb., and Bill Turner, Grand, Neb., and juniors Bill Sand, Overbrook, and Rick Peters, Kansas City, Kan., head the list of returnees. Several transfers and incoming freshmen will also be counted on.

"We have some outstanding players coming back with the transfers and freshmen-we have things look bright for this season," Giles said.

Fort Hays State will open its 12-game season September 2 at Alamosa, Colo., against Adams State. The Tigers defeated Adams State in Lewis Field Stadium last year 24-7. FHSU will open home play Sept. 9 against the host Oklahoma

Mississippi Mud Cake

- 2 sticks Butter or Margarine
  - 1 1/2 cups Flour
  - 1 cup Nuts
  - 2 cups Sugar
  - 1 teaspoon Baking Powder
  - 1 cup flaked Coconut
  - 1/2 cup Cocoa
  - 4 Eggs
- Mix all ingredients except eggs. When mixed, add eggs, one at a time. Pour into a greased 9 x 13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until a toothpick inserted comes out clean. Let cake cool 15 to 20 minutes. Then spread 1 jar marshmallow cream over warm cake. Frost with recipe below.

- ### Frosting
- 1 stick Butter or Margarine
  - One-Third cup Cocoa
  - 6 tablespoons Evaporated Milk
  - 1 box Powdered Sugar
  - 1 teaspoon Vanilla
- Melt butter or margarine. Stir in remainder of ingredients. Spread over top of cake.
