'House Raising' for Hansens

A "barn raising" during the early years of the Waynoland area, was a fairly common practice. But a "house raising" in this day and age is not so common.

In the old days, friends of a farmer would gather at his homestead and work together to quickly put up a barn through a cooperative effort.

A "house raising" in Carroll carries even closer ties as the children of a well-known Carroll couple combined their efforts for two weeks to put up a two-bedroom house with a full basement. And only one of them really knows anything about carpentry.

The house is for Mr. and Mrs. Maurice (Bus) Hansen, Carroll farmers and operators of the Carroll grocery store.

Bus is retiring from farming and the children decided their parents needed a new home. They banded together and in six days, they had the house framed and by Thursday, the last of the siding was going on. Bus will finish the inside work this winter.

The children are Larry, Houston, Texas vice president of Consolidated Milling; Dennis, Bloomfield, a representative of Cargill Feed; Douglas, Omaha, State Trooper; Jackie (Hansen) Tucker, Tempe, Ariz., a medical consultant for Galbraith and Green, Inc. and her husband, Rush, Arizona underwriter supervisor for State Farm Insurance.

The house was designed by Dennis Hansen. Bus and his wife are natives of the Carroll area. He has served as mayor of Carroll.

Friends and neighbors in Carroll joined in the "house raising" by furnishing coffee and lunch and bandaid for smash-downs.

They commented the new house will mean so much for Bus and his wife, because it was built by their kids.

Dr. Lyle Seymour Celebrates 25 Years at WSC

BY RICK POMERVILLE

When Ed and Elizabeth Seymour were looking for a place to move their Appletan, Minn., creamery in 1929, they wanted to make sure their children would be able to have the advanced education that eluded them. They settled on Wayne, Neb., and so did their son Lyle.

The Seymour Creamery is gone (sold in the early '50s), but Lyle, now Dr. Seymour, is still with the Wayne community. He recently celebrated his 25th Anniversary with Wayne State College as an instructor in 1953.

He served as department head, dean of faculty and, since Sept. 1975, WSC president. "It may sound 'old foggy' but I have seen the institution change considerably since the early '40s," Seymour said with a friendly smile. "WSC has moved from a teacher's college to a modern, multi-purpose institution that is sensitive to and trying to meet modern-day problems."

Bear Backfield Rolls Up Yardage In Bear Romp

The Laurel Bears racked up 197 yards rushing to roll over Randolph 26-0 Friday night as their powerful backfield was too much to handle.

Laurel scored its first touchdown in the first quarter when Steve Anderson romped 25 yards to take a 6-0 lead. Don Dalton added another TD in the second quarter on a three yard run. Once again, the PAT attempt failed and Laurel held a 12-0 lead.

Matt Johnson scored on a 13 yard pass from Steve Anderson before half-time to take an 18-0 lead into the locker room.

Don Dalton scored his second touchdown of the night on a seven yard run in the third quarter and Dennis Anderson tallied the two-point conversion on a pass from Steve Anderson, for a 26-0 count.

Coach Nick Danze said he was pleased offensively and stated that his team displayed good execution for its first game.

The passing performance of

Steve Anderson — 7 completions in 10 attempts — was termed the highlight of the game by Danze.

Laurel will play at Harrington Central Catholic Friday night.

Nationals Are Next For Determined Zimmer

Fourteen year-old Keith Zimmer proved to himself that a little determination and a lot of practice can go a long way. And Zimmer proved to others that he can go a long way when he won the regional Mr. Peanut Target Tennis tournament in Kansas City last week.

Zimmer earned the right to play in the regionals by winning the local competition in Wayne and districts in Kansas City.

Now, after defeating district winners from St. Louis and Minneapolis, Zimmer has reached the last plateau — he will play in the national tournament at Boston, Saturday, Sept. 16.

Zimmer's competition in Boston will be regional winners from tournaments in Boston, Los Angeles, New York, Denver and Tampa.

To qualify for nationals, Zimmer scored a 208 point average for three rounds of target tennis, outdistancing his nearest competitor by 65 points.

Keith and his mother, Mrs. Jerry Zimmer will fly out to Boston from South Sioux City Thursday, Sept. 14 on an all-expense paid trip. Once in Boston, they will join a tour of the city set up by the Planners Planning Company.

The Target Tennis competition will be played during Intermission of the Los Angeles-Boston World Team Tennis match. Such stars as Willie Nastase, Martina Navratilova, Chris Evert and Guillermo Vilas will play in the match, which will be broadcast on television.

Zimmer's winnings include a marble paper weight for winning locals, and trophies and plaques for winning districts and regionals.

Underdog Blue Devils Stick It To South Sioux City

A few big plays and a defense that bent but didn't break were all that the Wayne Blue Devils needed to edge rival South Sioux City 7-6 in an exciting season opener Friday night.

The big plays were a 64 yard touchdown pass play to Jeff Zeiss, a blocked PAT attempt by Rick Johnson and a successful PAT kick by Al Nissen.

"We play defense and we play defense," Coach Cline jubilantly exclaimed after the game, and he was right.

After holding Wayne on the game's first series, South Sioux marched to a 43 yard drive to take the lead with 5:25 left in the first quarter. Junior speedster Brett Evans took the ball in from the one yard line for the score.

Rick Johnson blocked the extra point attempt for what later proved to be the game's winning margin.

Then, with 8:17 left in the second quarter, Wayne erupted for a quick touchdown. Quarterback Jeff Dion hit receiver Jeff Zeiss with a pass and the 135 pound junior roared and ran to the goal line, breaking tackles along the way.

The crowd suspected the PAT would be important and Al Nissen put the Blue Devils ahead for good 7-6 with a perfect kick. South Sioux mounted a drive following Wayne's touchdown but Tom Ginn intercepted a pass on fourth down to give the Blue Devils possession at their own 13 yard line, with a little over two minutes left.

A fumble with 1:08 remaining in the half gave the Cardinals a scoring opportunity but they fumbled with 36 seconds left and went into the locker room trailing by one point.

Wayne High gained scoring position in the third quarter by recovering a South Sioux fumble. The Devils couldn't move the ball effectively and the Cardinals took over at their own 32 yard line with 34 seconds. An incomplete pass, a quarterback run and a short completion left one second on the clock.

Dennis Carroll intercepted a desperation pass on the final play of the game and the Blue Devils avenged last season's 28-0 loss to the Class A team.

"The defense bends but it won't break," Cline stated. "This took three weeks of hard work. We may surprise some more people."

Zeiss, who scored the winning touchdown, said the victory felt great and credited the line for a good job.

Wayne will host Blair Friday night.

Pfeiffer's 100 Yards Rolls Winside Over Allen

Mitch Pfeiffer rushed for over 100 yards and one touchdown to lead Winside in a 20-0 romp over Allen in the opening game of the season for both teams.

The Wildcats took the lead in the first quarter when Dirk Jaeger scored on a 15 yard touchdown pass from quarterback Paul Roberts. A PAT made the score 7-0.

Brian Foote scored on a five yard run in the second quarter to extend the Winside lead to 13 points. The extra point attempt was unsuccessful.

Allen couldn't get its offense to move and Winside came back with another TD in the third period. Work horse Pfeiffer carried the ball in from the two yard line to add a little salt to Allen's wound.

Winside compiled 202 yards compared to Allen's 67 total yards. Winside will play at Osmond Friday night while Allen will host Wakefield.

Bad Trojan Snap Costly In Low Scoring Tilt

A bad snap from center gave Homer a safety in the third quarter and that was all that was needed to edge Wakefield 2-0 Friday night.

Wakefield's misfortune began on the third offensive play, when all-conference fullback Doug Star21 sustained an ankle injury and missed the rest of the game.

Although beating Homer in statistics, the Trojans suffered three interceptions. Blaine Nelson rushed for 102 yards on 23 carries to enlighten the Wakefield offense. Scott Hallstrom also caught the ball well, Coach John Torczon said.

Coach Torczon said his defense displayed a good team effort and was led by linebacker Tony Henshke. The Trojan defense allowed only two receptions for 19 yards.

Playoff In Scramble

The foursome was tied with two groups at a net score of 58. They shot 29-21-40 and with a two stroke handicap reduced their net score to 58.

The team of Wayne Marsh, Jim Marsh, Arnie Reeg and Bob Reeg fired 30-36-60 and with a two handicap tied the winners. The other team which tied for the lead was Jim Fredrickson, Ron Senfill, Ron Otte and Darrell Moore. They shot a 32-31-63 and with a five shot handicap ended up with a net total of 58. These two teams tied for second.

Doug Sturm, Darrell Danielson, Randy Workman and Scott Ehlers shot 31-31-62 and their net score of 61 put them in fourth place.

Thought for Today
By Brian McBride

"Beauty lies in the eye of the beholder."
Lewis Wallace

We are surrounded by beauty, if we will only learn to notice it. The sound of a child's laughter or a bird's song; the feel of a spring rain or a kitten's fur; the sight of a rainbow or a bird on the wing. Their beauty is ours if we are merely aware of it.

It is said "Two men looked through bars... one saw mud, the other stars." Beauty may be overlooked unless we develop an attitude which looks for it everywhere. With such an attitude our lives are certain to be enriched for beauty perceived and appreciated leads to beauty in actions and personal relationships.

We believe that a beautiful memorial service should prepare the bereaved for adjustment to loss.

Randy's RECAP

According to Randy Hascall

SIoux CITY SPORTSCASTER Gene Sherman received an unexpected surprise Friday night when the underdog Blue Devils nipped South Sioux 7-6. Sherman had predicted that South Sioux would roll over Wayne 24-6.

JUST A NOTE: I counted 76 South Sioux players suited up at the game Friday.

YOU MAY HAVE noticed something different about the sports section this week. I called up Mike McInnis, graphic artist for the Wayne Stater and asked him if he'd like to do an occasional cartoon for me. This week was his first one.

Mike and I worked together on the Stater staff the last two semesters of college and I like his work so I thought a cartoon every now and then might liven things up.

A REMINDER THAT Wayne State opens its football season, Saturday with a home game against Chadron State, at 1:30 p.m. Chadron is rated 10th in the NAIA Division II national ratings. So, if you want to see a good ball game you might stop by Memorial Stadium.

THE SOFTBALL GAME between Danielson Drywall and the "Over 40 Gang" Thursday night was fun-filled for everyone and yet stressed an important point in the community.

A crowd of about 140 fans attended the game and displayed their support for new softball fields, while enjoying the hilarious antics during the game. Interest in softball was demonstrated at the game by businessmen, women, and children as well as the regular softball players. The interest is there, the only thing missing is the facilities.

SPORTS QUIZ: How many women's softball teams played in the summer league? How many men's teams played in the six-pitch softball league this summer? How many city-owned softball fields are there in Wayne?

ANSWERS: 10, 12, 0

"Over 40 Gang" Plays Like 60

Styling their pattern of play after that of the Harlem Globetrotters, the "Over 40 Gang" and Danielson Drywall battled in a wild and hilarious slo-pitch softball game Thursday. Danielson edged the old timers 12-11. An occasional dollar bill or two was seen being handed to plate umpire Hank Overin and base umpire Bob Nelson, but of course they didn't let the bribes change their calls — at least not all of the time.

The "Over 40 Gang" began to look a little weary after the third inning but received a little relief when an ambulance drove up and administered first aid.

At one point in the game, Danielson's found their defense sagging so they asked "Over 40" player Ralph "Handlebars" Barclay for a demonstration on improving defense.

Barclay ran the team members through some of the Wayne State football defensive drills and Danielson's quickly improved. People thought that the "Over 40 Gang" lacked power but one player tugged a home runs' heads when he slammed the fans run over the fence.

The ball carried off of the bat and cleared the foul fence by the dugout for a home run according to the rules installed for the special game.

Some of the other "special" rules contributed to the success of the old men. They were allowed to use pinch runners (runners automatically advanced to first base until the batter hit the ball).

Trailing by one run going into the bottom of the seventh, Danielson's scored to tie the game up. Tasting defeat, the "Over 40 Gang" quickly substituted players to play the prevent defense. But Danielson's broke the 24 man defense and scored the winning run pushing the final tally to 12-11.

Piling On

FORGETTING JUST what sport they're playing, Danielson Drywall players piled on one of their own players to congratulate him on scoring a run against the "Over 40 Gang."

Wayne Sweeps Schuyler

The Wayne varsity, junior varsity and freshman volleyball

teams swept their matches from Schuyler Tuesday night, but Coach Mavis Dalton wasn't pleased with the performance of her varsity team.

Emerson Tough For Wakefield

Wakefield gave tough Emerson Hubbard a scare but couldn't rattle off enough points to defeat them in varsity volleyball action Tuesday night.

The varsity failed to win the final two games 15-9, 15-9 after losing the opener 9-15. Coach Dalton said that her team didn't play well but still came out on top.

Wakefield won the opening game 15-8 before falling 13-15, 9-15. Coach Ernie Kovar said that Kathy Gustafson served well and Lisa Greve played a good game in the losing effort.

Lynn Surber scored nine serving points to lead the reverse team to a 15-8, 15-4 win over Schuyler's junior varsity. In freshman play, Wayne lost its first game 4-15 but came back to win the next two games 15-7 and 15-4 for the victory. Jill Zelsus was the leading scorer with seven points.

Next action for Wakefield will be at the Winside Invitational Monday and Tuesday.

Wayne will host Laurel tonight (Thursday) at 6:30.

Blue Devils Finish 2nd In Volleyball Tourney

The Wayne Blue Devil volleyball team played second fiddle to nemesis Wisner at the Beemer Invitational over the weekend, but still came home with second place in the tournament.

Coach Mavis Dalton's squad squashed Scribner 15-2, 15-3 in the opening round and defeated Beemer 15-8, 15-6 in the semifinals before meeting Wisner Tuesday night.

Wayne won the opening game 15-11 but lost its momentum in the second game and was defeated 15-7. Wisner won the final game 15-10 to claim the championship.

Lesla Barclay led the Wayne club with 22 serves and seven aces. LaVonna Sharpe had 21 serves and also seven aces. At the net, Peg Pinkelmann led the runner-up team with nine ace spikes.

Pinkelmann and Sharpe were named to the all-tournament team. Six of the 48 players were selected to the team. Wayne played Schuyler Tuesday night and hosts Laurel tonight (Thursday) at 6:30.

In Tough Match

Allen Netters Top Winside

Behind the fine play of freshman Des Williams, Allen stopped Winside in area volleyball competition in three games Tuesday night, 12-15, 15-5, 15-9.

Allen coach Gary Troth said he was pleased with his team's performance and said that it was definitely a team effort that won the match. "Our defense played a lot better than in our first match, but our offense didn't spike as well," Troth added.

Troth attributed Winside with good spiking and said that his team's blocking performance was the deciding factor.

Although losing the varsity match, Winside Coach Rich Stauffers said he was proud of his team. He added that he thought the two teams played outstanding.

"There was a lot of spiking and blocking. Our one weakness was serving," Stauffers added. "I'm happy about it. Our junior varsity really played well too."

Stauffers said that sophomore Laurie Gallop, Terri Hartman and Julie Krajcick all played well.

Winside won the junior varsity match 11-15, 15-7, 15-9.

Winside Invitational Monday and Tuesday, while Allen will travel to Ponca Tuesday.

In earlier action, Allen opened its season Thursday at the Pender Invitational. They were eliminated by Bancroft in the opening round 15-11, 15-9.

Troth said that statistic-wise his team played well but serving was a sore spot. Bancroft played the floor well and Allen made mental mistakes that Troth hoped were only first game jitters. He replied that his team played with little enthusiasm.

Susie Erwin passed well and Lisa Erwin and Pam Brownell spiked well, he said.

Laurel 3rd At Pender

Consistent serving was the key to success as the Laurel volleyball team claimed third place in the Pender Invitational over the weekend.

Coach Dwight Iverson said his team's spiking was better than he expected it to be and together with 87 percent success in serving led to his team's fine performance.

Laurel beat Walthill in two games 15-2, 15-7, Thursday in the opening round of the tournament. Pender proved too tough Saturday in the semifinals and the Bears wound up on the short end of the scores. Laurel won the first game 16-14, lost the second 5-15 and the third 9-15.

In the consolation bracket, Laurel regained its composure and knocked off Clarkson 15-2, 15-2 to capture third place. Next action will be the Winside Invitational Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 17 and 18.

Dr. E. Kuebler-Ross studied the reaction of several hundred patients who had been declared medically dead, but who were later revived. Such patients "can describe in detail what they experience — how they float out of their body. They have a feeling of peace and wholeness, a tremendous feeling of 'stop all this attempt to revive me — I'm all right' — a perfectly good feeling," so reports Dr. Ross.

recognition of the first WSC president (1910-1935), Dr. U.S. Conn; he attended WSC as a student under the second president (1935-43), Dr. J.T. Anderson; he interviewed for a teaching position with Dr. Victor P. Morrey (1945-51); was hired by Dr. John D. Rice, the fourth president (1951-56) and worked with Dr. William A. Brandenburg, the fifth WSC president (1956-75).

"In fact," Seymour said, "I was a high school classmate with the grandson of the WSC founder, J.M. Pile, so I guess you could say I've in some way known all the past WSC presidents."

Dr. Seymour has long been active in various roles as an educator in the Wayne area. Following graduation from Wayne High School in 1940, he attended Wayne State for two years. He took a short leave from the area during WWII to enter the air force as a bomber pilot in Europe.

He then earned a bachelor of science in chemical technology from Iowa State University (1947), worked in private industry until 1950, returned to WSC for a teaching certificate and bachelor of science degree in education. He later taught at Wayne High before joining the WSC faculty in 1953.

In 1954 he received a master of science degree from Iowa State and later (1961) earned a Ph.D. in biochemistry from the University of South Dakota.

Seymour said he has stayed with WSC primarily because "the challenge has always been there."

"I have always felt there was and is a great deal of potential in both the Wayne State faculty and students to have a significant institution that makes an important contribution to the education process," Seymour said.

"Over the years I have very much enjoyed working with the students and faculty at WSC," he added, "but I couldn't have done it alone. I think I should recognize my wife's contributions because she has been very much a partner in the process."

Dr. Seymour was not the only child from the Ed and Elizabeth Seymour family to be connected with Wayne State. His brother, Melvin, attended WSC for two years and his sister, Marion, graduated from the college.

"I think my parents lived to see the results of their goals," Seymour said. "Seeing me inaugurated was beyond my expectations and their expectations too. I'm sure."

Basic Crepes and Dessert Crepes

- Basic Crepes:
- 3 Eggs
- 1/2 cup Milk
- 1/2 cup Water
- 3 tablespoons Butter
- 3/4 cup all-purpose Flour
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- Dessert Crepes:
- 3 Eggs
- 1 cup Milk
- 3 tablespoons Butter, melted
- 3/4 cup all-purpose Flour
- 2 tablespoons Sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt

To prepare crepe batter, combine the eggs, milk, water and butter in a mixing bowl. Beat until combined. Add flour and salt, and beat until smooth. Refrigerate for 1 hour. This method is the same for the dessert crepes. Add the sugar with the salt and flour. When preparing the first crepe, brush a pan lightly with melted butter. Heat pan on medium-high heat until hot enough to make a drop of water dance. Pour in just enough batter (about 1/4 cup) to cover bottom of pan. Quickly tilt and tip pan to move batter over the bottom. Pour off any excess batter.

Don't worry if the crepe has holes, just add a drop or two of batter to patch. In just seconds the edges should be a golden brown and the top dry. Loosen the edges with a spatula. Crepes may be turned and browned on the other side. However, crepes to be filled need only be browned on one side. Use unbrowned side for filling.

Yields 2 cups batter, 12 crepes.

Hot Chicken Salad Crepe Filling

- 2 cups diced cooked Chicken
- 2 cups Celery, chopped
- 3 tablespoons Onion, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon Salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Pepper
- 3/4 cup Mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup Pecans, chopped
- 1 can (4 oz.) sliced Mushrooms, drained
- 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) Cream of Chicken Soup
- 12 warm Basic Crepes

Mix all filling ingredients. Divide between crepes and roll up. Place in a large greased oven-proof baking dish or in 6 individual baking dishes. Bake at 300 degrees for 30 minutes.

Sour Cream-Strawberries Dessert Crepes

- 2 cups Commercial Sour Cream
- 4 tablespoons Sugar
- 1 pint sliced Strawberries
- 1 tablespoon Butter
- 16 Dessert Crepes
- Powdered Sugar

Blend sour cream and sugar. Roll up crepes with a filling of 1 tablespoon sour cream mixture and 1 tablespoon Strawberries. Refrigerate, covered, until serving time. In a pan or blazing pan of chafing dish, melt butter over direct high flame. Turn crepes to heat evenly. Add strawberries. Heat. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Seven seek chief justice appointment

CAPITOL NEWS
By Helen Paul
Statewide Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN—At this writing, seven men had applied for consideration for appointment as chief justice of the Nebraska Supreme Court.

One of the seven is a member of the court. He is Leslie Baslaugh, who was elected to the court in 1960, was reconfirmed by voters in 1966 and 1972 and whose name will be on the ballot again Nov. 7.

After Baslaugh announced he would apply for the post being vacated by Chief Justice Paul White, three other Supreme Court judges, C. Thomas White, Hale McCown and Donald Brodkey, said they would not be candidates.

White issued a statement in which he described Baslaugh as "a distinguished and capable judge." He also said he was pleased his colleague filed for the position.

White refused to say why he decided against becoming a candidate.

McCown said he would have applied only if someone on the court had not sought the appointment. At 64, he added, "I don't want to take on any additional responsibilities."

Brodkey, who is 68, said he had decided some time ago he did not want the appointment.

The other two members of the court are not eligible to advance to the top spot. Harry A. Spencer will retire later this year, and Lawrence Clinton was ruled out because he is the head of the state's Housing Commission, that will screen applicants and recommend at least two of them as possible successors to Paul White.

Baslaugh said he discussed his decision with his colleagues on the court but with his colleagues on whether his candidacy stopped other judges from applying.

Baslaugh is the senior member of the court. He will turn 61 this month. He replaced his father, Paul Baslaugh, when the older Baslaugh retired.

The Nominating Commission will meet Sept. 13 in Lincoln to take testimony on those who have applied. At least two names will be sent to the governor, who will make the appointment.

Those besides Baslaugh who have applied are District Judges William Colwell of Pawnee City, John Burks of Omaha and Mark Fuhrman of Fremont; attorneys Dixon G. Adams of Papillion, Marvin Weems of Ord, Norman Kri-vasha of Lincoln and Assistant Attorney General Mel Kammerloh.

There was a possibility other names would be added to the list by Sept. 13.

Parole Hearing Set
A man sentenced to life in 1953 for murdering State Patrolman Vern Rolfs of North Platte will have a parole hearing Sept. 14.

James Leroy Fish, now 57, was given life in the penitentiary for shooting Rolfs after the trooper had stopped Fish for speeding.

The State Parole Board, during a previous hearing recommended Fish's life sentence be commuted to a definite 45 to 65 years, which would make him eligible for parole this year.

The state Parole Board later commuted Fish's term, even though State Patrol officials opposed the commutation and possibility of parole.

Only three other inmates have been at the Penitentiary longer than Fish and one of them has been transferred permanently to the Lincoln Regional Center.

Cited for Unsafe Water
The state Health Department has cited four public water systems for failing to demonstrate the biological safety of their water for a 90-day period.

The department said they also did not make the required public notification of the failure.

Cited for not submitting enough samples to the department laboratory were Eastern Heights and Sunrise in Madison County and Tingle's Mini Village Mobile Home Court in Antelope County.

According to the department, the village of Decatur and Evergreen in Platte County did not submit the required number of check samples when more than four bacteria were present in a single sample.

It was the second consecutive violation of a similar nature for each of the systems, the department said. It noted violations of state and federal public water supply regulations are punishable by fines.

Under federal law, any consumer can also sue a well suit against the owner of any public water system who does not comply with the law.

Request Backs Committee
The state Justice Department, claiming a special legislative committee studying State Patrol operations had "inadequately" and "injustly" attacked in the courts, has requested a lawsuit against the committee and its counsel be dismissed.

Assistant Attorney General Mel Kammerloh made the request of U.S. District Court in which former McCook Police Chief William Green filed the action.

Green sued the committee and its counsel, Tony Redman, alleging the committee violated his constitutional rights of due process during its inquiry into the 1973 death of an elderly McCook woman.

Green asked for an unspecified amount of damages and for an injunction that would preclude the committee from taking any further action in the McCook case.

The former police chief said he suffered loss of reputation after issuance of a report in which Green's handling of the woman's death was described as "totally inadequate."

In brief filed in the federal court, Kammerloh said the legislative unit violated the bounds of legitimate legislative activity and its issuance from liability under the Federal Civil Rights Act.

Investigator committees, such as the special one set up by the Legislature, are an established part of representative government, Kammerloh said.

Under the free speech guarantees in the constitution, Green, acting as a public official, may not recover damages for alleged libel, unless he can prove actual malice, the assistant attorney general said.

Special Meeting Planned
The Nebraska State Education Association's 500-member delegate assembly will hold a special meeting in Lincoln Sept. 23 to plot strategy that will be used in attempts to defeat the constitutional amendment proposal for a government spending bill.

But the association won't forget that a referendum against LB33 will also be on the Nov. ballot. LB33, enacted in 1977, would increase state aid to schools by $20 million annually for three years.

Paul Belz, NSES executive secretary, says the two issues cannot be divorced. He said he is convinced voters would approve the higher state aid and would reject the spending limit amendment if they understood the proposals.

Belz said after the special delegate assembly meeting, the teachers will return to their hometowns to explain the local impact the proposals would have.

OBSERVATIONS

Your life... and ours

The Wayneland area got through the long Labor Day weekend without any major traffic mishaps. We commended our drivers but we hasten to add just because the last major holiday of the summer is over, safe and sane driving is still very much in order.

The Nebraska Highway Safety Program (NHSP) has done a commendable job of its safe driving campaign which has paid off during the normally high traffic fatality months of summer.

Because more of the state's young people have access to more cars the campaign was directed at those drivers between the ages of 16 and 24. They didn't just plug this age group out of the air. They went to the records and came up with substantiating evidence to show that even though this age group makes up only 19.5 percent of the state's licensed drivers, they are involved in 61.4 percent of all fatal and injury accidents.

The campaign was active during July and August, the two months when more auto accidents occur in Nebraska than during any other time of the year.

In its effort to appeal to young drivers, the campaign featured a contest around the "Stay Alive" take off on the popular Bee Gees song, "Stayin' Alive." It was backed up with safe driving tips dealing mainly with speeding or drinking and driving as these dangerous driving practices take more lives than any other cause.

Still, why the young drivers? R. James Pearson, director of the department of motor vehicles, said the survey presented the highly visible problem area to be confined to the 15-24 age group.

He pointed out that during the summer months, persons might expect traffic fatalities to include mainly tourists and out-of-state drivers. Not so. He said his department has found that alcohol and speed are taking many more young Nebraska lives, many very close to the houses in which they grow up.

Hence the reason for the campaign. And hence the campaign apparently paid off.

We hope the appeal for safe and sane driving carries over throughout the year. Now that schools are in session many students and out-of-state highways to attend school functions. There is a tendency for young drivers to take advantage of their drivers' permits. They know better. They have been trained to know better. But for many reasons, they ignore the basics of their training and driving experience.

Driving responsibly is the responsibility of the driver. It is not one which is to be shirked or spotted. By accepting this driving responsibility, the life you save may be your own, a friend of yours, or ours and that is why we make this plea for safe driving the result of reason — Chuck Barnes.

John A. Maguire...Democrat

Several of Nebraska's politicians, past and present, have maintained a Republican affiliation and a moderate political ideology. One Nebraska Democrat, through liberal persuasion was Congressman John A. Maguire. In his first campaign for the House of Representatives in 1908 he espoused such reforms as election of U.S. senators by direct vote, physical valuation of railroads, publicly owned high lines for electric power, rigid corporate regulation, an eight hour work day for government employees, improvement of inland waterways and the establishment of a federal income tax.

Because of his vigorous campaign stands and strong legislation, Congressman Maguire holds a prominent place in Nebraska political history. Yet his name and correspondence are unaltered and unlocated. The Nebraska State Historical Society is currently going to find these documents and requests any aid from the public.

John Arthur Maguire was born on Nov. 27, 1892, at Elizabeth, Ill. He attended public schools and for a time an agricultural trade school in Brookings, South Dakota. In 1908, he entered the University of Nebraska and has graduated with a law degree in 1919. He was immediately appointed treasurer of the Democratic State Committee. In 1902, he established a law practice, following a short teaching career, which had supported him throughout his university education. In 1904 he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in St. Louis, and the following year he was appointed secretary of the state committee.

Maguire was nominated for 1st District U.S. congressional candidate in 1908, by direct primary vote. He was elected on the previously described platform and re-elected in 1910 and 1912. During those years he was a steadfast supporter of President Woodrow Wilson.

Several projects in Congress focused the attention of John Maguire. Among these were the establishment of the Federal Reserve Banking Act, the Federal Trade Commission, the Clayton Anti-Trust Law, legislation to limit factory hours for women and children, and measures to extend foreign trade.

Following his congressional term Maguire returned to active life in Lincoln. He was appointed to a judgeship in 1918, briefly, to complete a term, but was defeated when he sought reelection to the office in 1928. His death came the following year, ending a notable chapter in Nebraska politics.

Consumers' day in court

American consumers may still receive some needed help from Washington in dealing with manufacturers, suppliers, repairmen, merchants and other retailers whose products and services leave them dissatisfied.

But it won't be the kind of help envisioned by consumer zealots who wanted to establish a super, new bureaucracy in Washington, staffed mostly with lawyers, to intervene in proceeding of other agencies ostensibly on behalf of consumers.

Instead of this sort of "protection," which consumers neither want nor need, Congress is working on legislation to provide help consumers really need—a quick, fair and inexpensive method of settlement of their individual complaints.

Small claims courts, specifically designed or improved to handle consumer problems, would be the key. These would be readily accessible in the neighborhood, in such places as libraries, with evening hours, minimal fees and perhaps the absence of lawyers.

In addition, to redress procedures, such as mediation and arbitration by third parties, also would be available. Generally speaking, these services would be available after a consumer felt he or she did not get satisfaction by dealing directly with the seller.

By voice vote (without objection) on June 29, the senate passed such legislation, known as the Dispute Resolutions Act (S.957), and the bill is now before two House subcommittees. It has stellar support from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The measure would implement to a large extent the Model Small Claims Act drafted by the Chamber several years ago, which has served as a pattern for measures adopted in several states, as well as other main elements of the Chamber's consumer redress program, "Up With Consumers."

"The bill transcended ideological line," says Mark Schultz, a regulatory affairs attorney for the Chamber, and "enjoys the support of the Administration, consumer and business groups, as well as those of lawyers' groups and representatives of state and local governments."

Essentially, the Federal government would assist the states in the establishment and improvement of consumer redress forums, particularly small claims courts. Once successfully established and improved, the state and local governments would carry on the system.

As envisioned by Schultz, in testimony before the House Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and Finance, the Consumer would first go directly to the merchant in question to seek a face-to-face settlement. If that fails, mediation and arbitration could be tried next. If formal adjudication is necessary, then the small claims courts would hear the case for a small fee.

These court procedures should be fair, should be dignified, and at a minimum cost to consumers," Schultz said. "We would like to see weekend and evening hours and improved accessibility, perhaps by having small claims courts located in public libraries and other public institutions."

Almost anyone can become involved in a consumer problem. In fact, businesses and business people are "consumers," as well.

And the biggest question for most of us is: Where do we go for a fair settlement when we have a complaint?

The Dispute Resolution Act may very well be the answer to that question. Millions of U.S. consumers are waiting for an answer.

LETTERS

Wayne

Dear Editor,

In my first year in Wayne after a five year absence, I have sponsored both a bowling and softball team, and met many people involved in all aspects of the total city recreation program.

The reason for this letter is to voice my concern over the lack of facilities the city provides for all of the people involved in our program.

Example No. 1. The Wayne County Softball League which includes 10 of 12 teams from Wayne is forced to play their games on the two fields provided by WSC. Although I appreciate the college support, the fields are lopsided and full of holes, which has caused a broken leg, a few black eyes and sprained ankles, and numerous minor injuries. The city should realize and acknowledge the fast rising interest in Slo-pitch softball, and provide adequate facilities for the league to properly function.

Example No. 2. The Women's Softball League holds their contests in the open area behind the National Guard Armory, and in a pasture near the hospital. These "athletic" areas are a definite hazard and hindrance to the potential quality of women's softball in our area.

Example No. 3. In Okemah, Ne., a facilities consists of two tennis courts, with plans next year to expand to four, an Olympic-sized swimming pool, a two year old football and track facility, a softball field, a baseball field, and two outdoor basketball courts. If a town of just over 2,000 people can provide their people with facilities of that caliber, I find it difficult to believe that Wayne can't provide the same things and more for their population.

Again, if our city recreation program is going to reach it's maximum potential, the city of Wayne will have to take the responsibility to provide adequate and safe athletic facilities. Or will it take a serious injury to open everyone's eyes?

— Ken Jorgensen.

Editor's Note: The District Six Slo-Pitch Softball tournament (at which the 4th Jug team qualified for the state tournament for the third consecutive year) was played at Tekamah this year. They had three fields together with two of them lighted. The reason the tournament was played at Tekamah was because there were no adequate facilities closer to Wayne. And the ironical thing about it is that Tekamah is not in District Six and no Tekamah teams were competing even though the tournament was held in their town. The District Six tournament could be played at Wayne IF there are two softball fields. Just think—30 teams plus fans converging on Wayne for the district tournament.

Meat eaters by choice

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

Americans ate 41 percent more red meat in 1977 than they did in 1920 and continued a decided preference for beef that has been increasing steadily for years.

That is just one of many interesting pieces of information contained in the American Meat Institute's 1978 edition of "Meat Facts," which reflects a steady change in eating habits and how livestock producers adjust their production to fill customer demand.

Last year, per capita consumption of red meat in the nation totaled 193 pounds (figured on a carcass weight equivalent basis) of which 125.9 pounds was beef, 49 pounds was veal, 17 pounds was lamb, and 61.5 pounds was pork. This compares with 136 pounds per capita consumed in 1920 of which 59.1 pounds was beef, 8 pounds was veal, 5.4 pounds was lamb and 62.5 pounds was pork.

Note that virtually all of the increase came in beef consumption. Pork lost one-half of its per capita market, and lamb nearly dropped out of the picture. The biggest increase in beef consumption has occurred since 1950 when the per capita figure was 63.4 pounds. Since then beef consumption has approximately doubled.

Many things affect the yearly historical figures among them price and availability. For example, pork producers had their biggest year in 1946 when per capita pork consumption hit a high of 75.8 pounds. The closest they have come to that mark since was in 1971 with 73 pounds per person. In 1946, World War II had just ended and competitive beef supplies were tight. In 1971, hog prices were disastrously low for producers and pork had a definite price advantage.

The increase in beef preference since 1950 corresponds to what has been generally a prolonged period of relative prosperity and high employment on the part of the consuming public. Affluence was reflected in an appetite for quality meats, and the figures say that the leading choice was beef.

What happened to lamb? The market was traditional in eastern United States but the bulk of lambs among ethnic groups, but enough other Americans enjoyed lamb in 1945 to boost per capita consumption to 7.3 pounds per person. The trend has been downhill ever since. A World War II veteran would probably say Army and Navy cooks who didn't know how to prepare lamb and mutton properly did the product a horrible injustice. Today, cooking and serving lamb properly is a lost art among most housewives and outdoor chefs.

If you think Americans are the biggest eaters of red meats, you are wrong. In 1977, Australians as usual held the honor with 230 pounds per person, followed by New Zealanders with 228 pounds; Argentines with 222 pounds and then Americans, 193 pounds.

With the dollar sliding in the world money market, it is interesting to compare U.S. red meat consumption with that of other leading industrial and financial nations—West Germany, 154 pounds per person; France, 153 pounds; Sweden, 117 pounds; Japan, just 41 pounds; and the Soviet Union, 93 pounds. One has to keep in mind that some of these nations depend on substitutes more than they do on their economies such as fish, dairy products and poultry.

Much is being made these days by food fanatics and diet activists promoting the idea that Americans should eat less meat yet apparently there is little in medical statistics to indicate that nationalities with low per capita meat consumption are any healthier or living any longer than those who eat more. In fact, Americans today compared to 115 million in 1920 and they have been growing taller, stronger and living longer... a pretty good indication that their preference in diet is not all wrong.
