Unseasonably Warm Weather

Heat Hits Students, Crops, Animals

Unseasonably hot weather is causing stress in several areas in the Wayneland region. Temperatures in the mid-90's plus a fairly high relative humidity last week caused area schools to be closed from one to two hours early, crops are sweltering from the extreme heat and animals are suffering from the hot weather. Wakefield schools were dismissed at 1:30 p.m. the last three days of the week and Allen Consolidated schools were dismissed early Friday.

Wayne schools remained in session but some of the classes were held outdoors under shade trees where the students could take advantage of a gusty breeze. The hot weather didn't turn back area sports activities, however. The weather is taking its toll on area crops. Wayne County Agriculture Agent Don Spitz said farmers should be concerned about their crops, as the hot, dry weather is causing both the corn and beans to mature earlier than usual.

Spitz said the crops are under a lot of stress from the weather, but all-in-all they are "looking pretty good for this time of the year." He said there is no doubt the extreme warm weather will cause a decrease in yield. He said late planted soybeans are feeling the heat and the beans are shrinking, cutting down the weight and yield. He said the earlier planted beans seems to be standing the weather fairly well.

Spitz said he was not heard of any crop disease in the county but Russ Moomaw of Northeast Station said there is a good possibility of Charcoal Stalk Rot in the area.

The disease, which is caused by dry, hot weather, is a perennial one but is worse in some years than in others. "It looks like this is going to be one of those 'worse' years," he stated.

He advised farmers to check their fields. He said one good test is for a farmer to walk a field and check a corn plant by squeezing it with two fingers. "If it feels soft, then it has stalk rot. If it is fairly firm, the plant probably does not have the disease," Moomaw explained. He pointed out, however, that just because the plant feels firm, it does not have or will not get the disease.

The stalk rot causes the plant to lodge which decreases the yield and makes it difficult to harvest. He suggested that if a field is infested, it should be harvested as quickly as possible. Farm animals, especially those in confinement, are suffering from the heat, according to Spitz. He said the heat is especially hard on hogs.

Mayor Moves To Hire CA

Mayor Freeman Decker Friday met with Paul Harris, Norfolk city administrator, to talk over replacing the late Fred Brink, former city administrator.

In an informal meeting last week, the city council authorized Decker to proceed with securing a replacement. Advertisements are being placed in trade journals.

Mayor Decker said he anticipates many applicants for the position and hopes to have a replacement hired by Jan. 1, 1979.

He said he wants to have the new administrator hired before the new mayor and council convenes.

In the meantime, City Clerk Bruce Mordhorst has been authorized to sign those papers and documents needed to be signed by the city administrator.

Wayne Man Steps Down

Dan Sherry, Wayne, Lieutenant Governor of Division 14 of the Nebraska-Iowa District of Kiwanis, will step down tonight (Monday) during an installation ceremony to be held at the Norfolk Elks club, Norfolk.

Warren R. Wiborg, Norfolk businessman, will succeed Sherry. He will be installed by the Rev. Richard Hogan, Council Bluffs, Ia. Governor of the Nebraska-Iowa district for the administrative year beginning Oct. 1.

Sherry, a long-time Kiwanis member with a near perfect attendance record, has been serving clubs of Norfolk, Albion, Columbus, Morningside, Pender, Thurston, Sioux City, West Point, Elgin and Wayne.

He served on the district board of trustees and assisted in authorizing policy and programs for all the clubs in the two-state area.

Picking Up Dogs

Wayne police last week spent much of their time running dogs who were at large.

Police remind dog owners that dogs must be on a leash when outside. If a dog is picked up by police, it is put in the city pound. The owner has to pay to get the dog out of the pound and is issued a summons for letting the animal run at large.

JANET SIEBRANDT, Wakefield junior, checks the classroom clock and fans herself at the same time. Wakefield schools dismissed one and one-half hours early because of the extreme heat last week. Janet, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Siebrandt.

Storage Loans Available For Building, Remodeling

It looks like a near-record corn crop in the Wayneland area and farmers are encouraged to make full use of farm facility loans to add to or improve their farm storage and drying facilities.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's loan program to help farmers build on-farm storage is running more than double than in any full year since the program began in 1949, federal sources said.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service (ASCS), reminded Wayneland farmers that farm storage facility loans are now available for remodeling existing facilities to increase their efficiency as well as for building new structures. "Facilities capable of safely storing grains are necessary for the success of the farmer-owned reserve program," the administrator noted.

"Hopefully producers have already assessed their storage and crop drying capabilities and have made plans to get their cribs and bins in shape in necessary so they can participate in the program," he said. "It may not be too late for a farm facility loan program to be helpful to farmers who need to improve their storage and crop drying operations."

From Norfolk Weather Office

Push-button Weather Operational Sometime in October

If all a person can do about the weather is talk about it, the weather in the Wayneland area should be getting an earful.

Humidity combined with unseasonably hot temperature has caused discomfort and inconvenience during the past week, placing stress on people, crops and animals.

Keeping in mind that the most that can be done about the weather is to talk about it, Paul Woolard, official in charge of the national weather service office in Norfolk told the Herald that his office is going to do more talking about the weather for Northeast Nebraska.

Woolard said the Federal Communications Commission this month is going to assign a frequency to the NOAA radio system to be operated by the Norfolk weather office. NOAA weather radio is a fast growing network that promises to saturate the nation within the next year with continuous broadcasts of storm warnings and the latest weather observations and forecasts, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Woolard said he hopes to have the Norfolk NOAA operational sometime during the early part of October, between the 1st and 15th.

"After we have our assigned frequency, we will distribute schedules as to when the broadcasts will be aired in the Wayneland area," Woolard stated. The transmitter is located on the educational television tower near Carroll.

Woolard said there probably will be morning and evening broadcasts which will also include travelers' warnings when needed. Woolard said some people call the new service push-button weather. He said more than 200 stations, operated by the National Weather Service are presently serving the nation and the pace of installations is accelerating because of public acceptance.

The weather official said another transmitter is scheduled somewhat later for the Bassett area to serve an eight county area. Both the Carroll and Bassett transmitters will be operated by the Norfolk office.

Just what is NOAA Weather Radio? It's a program begun back in the 1960's to serve recreational boaters, but since expanded to cover just about everyone. The NOAA part of its name stands for National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, a major component of the U.S. Department of Commerce and the parent agency of the Weather Service. Proof of NOAA Weather Radio's popularity is that, as word has spread, a great many states have volunteered to provide facilities, and in some cases manpower, to augment and speed its availability. The National Weather Service currently has more than 30 Federal-state agreements of one kind or another to accomplish this.

Editorialized a Nebraska weekly newspaper: NOAA Weather Radio "is probably one of the most beneficial systems that the Government has devised for the taxpayer. Yet too many of us don't take advantage of the protection the system provides." Here's how it works. During good weather, the latest observations and forecasts are tape-recorded by local Weather Service offices in messages that last from three to five minutes. These messages are replayed continually during a scheduled time.

The tape-recorded messages are revised every three to four hours, more frequently when appropriate. When severe weather threatens, forecasters at the local Weather Service office interrupt the broadcasts with storm warnings, either tape-recorded or "live" as the situation demands.

Furthermore, the system has a feature which allows you to be alerted automatically, if you choose, when dangerous weather such as a tornado or flash flood is on the way. Radio receivers available for as little as $35 will identify monitor the NOAA weather broadcasts and automatically either sound a siren or come up to audible volume when the forecaster presses a button in his office signifying that a storm bulletin is forthcoming. These "warning-alarm receivers" are especially valuable for schools, hospitals, nursing homes, factories, most radio-specialty shops and many other retail outlets have such "high band" receivers, some for as little as $10 or $15.

Effective range of the broadcasts is about 40 miles, depending upon the terrain and the quality of the receiver. Because of the high frequency, transmission is by line of sight, like television, and may be blocked or interfered with by hills, near-by buildings, or commercial radio transmitters. Such problems may sometimes be overcome, or listening range extended, by use of high quality receivers and high, outside antennas.

What kind of receiver is needed? One that will receive very high frequency FM broadcasts considerably above commercial FM broadcasts, which end at 108 megahertz. The frequencies used for NOAA Weather Radio, nationwide, are 162.40, 162.475, or 162.55 megahertz.

Because of its unique warning capability, the NOAA Weather Radio system was designated in January, 1975 by the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy as the sole Federally-operated radio system to provide warnings directly into people's homes — not only for natural disasters, but also in the event of nuclear attack.

Because of these uncertainties, the Weather Service advised people to make final acceptance of a receiver conditional upon a test in the setting in which it is to be used. It urges institutional buyers to select a high-quality receiver with great sensitivity and selectivity.

It's also worth noting that persons can purchase receivers that will pick up NOAA Weather Radio broadcasts when you're traveling, as they move from the range of one station to another, so they will have a continuous source of local weather reports. As the system grows, they will seldom be out of range for very long of a local NOAA Weather Radio broadcast when traveling on interstate highways.

With all the enthusiasm being shown by the public for NOAA Weather Radio, it's no wonder See WEATHER, Page 7

OBSERVATIONS

Another example

Regulation for the sake of regulation is ridiculous... and costly.

Last January, the Wayne-Carroll School Board of Education was approached by Wayne Athletic Director Harold (Mac) Maciejewski to ask them to consider a storage building for athletic equipment to be located near the track.

After being convinced of the need, the board had Wayne Supr. Francis Hahn to have someone draw up plans and specifications for what was considered to be a minor project in terms of building and cost.

And then the state stepped in.

The State Department of Architect Engineering sent scolding letters to Supr. Hahn telling him they had received a complaint and the board was breaking state laws by not having a certified architect engineering firm draw up the plans and specifications.

Supr. Hahn finally convinced the state department the board did not intentionally circumvent the law, they just weren't aware of it.

The board was forced to hire a firm to draw essentially the same plans and specs which had been previously been drawn up by school personnel. The estimated cost for the service is $10,000.

Additional costs were figured in when the state department said the building had to have access and restroom facilities for the handicapped.

Because of these two regulations by a state department, the minor project has turned into a major undertaking cost-wise and will run more than $40,000.

We believe the building is needed. But we cannot agree with the state department that such strict regulations are required for a building whose use will be primarily storage.

It seems to us that the two stipulations by the state — cost and public access — is much too broad. If we, as taxpayers, are to support a state department, we should require that department to operate within a realm of reason which would take into consideration every project rather than subjecting each project to the two criteria.

This is just one example where over-regulation can de-regulate progress. If a project cannot be judged on its merits by those in the state department, then the department should then be judged... by you and me, the taxpayers. — Chuck Barnes.

With Chuck Barnes

The weather last week reminded us of typical Kansas weather... Hot, humid and windy.

We shouldn't put down our home state so much but as far as weather is concerned, there isn't too much you can say that is positive except that it is bad.

We went to a country school during our first year and can well remember being sent home because of dust storms. We also remember the other side of the coin when, after a winter storm, our uncle allowed us to use a horse and wagon to cover the mile and one-half to the one-room school. Even then the weather worked against us as we high centered the horse in a snow drift.

Number 5-6, Ray Murray, plant foreman for the Wayne Herald and an enthusiastic sports buff, Wednesday toured the Wayne golf course with a blistering 36 (par) under a blistering sun.

Those who are in charge of such things are looking for famous golf sayings to be inscribed in a specified area in the golf Hall of Fame, Pinehurst, N.C. The first has been selected, according to John Derr, the director. Said Derr: "It's very appropriate, perhaps the most famous, most often-used expression the game has produced. It's 'Oh, No!'"

Our Man Murray is bit more colorful in his favorite expressions when having one of his less-than-average days. They, also are appropriate, but they will never be inscribed in the Hall of Fame.

We got an uplift from the heat last week when we walked by a car with a bumper sticker: "Plains Ga., home of BILLY CARTER and Jimmy."

With inflation being what it is and the dollar being what it isn't, a bargain these days is anything you can buy at the same price that it was last week.

And have you found that at most parties there isn't much to talk about until one of the two couples have left.

And that, he said as he mopped his brow, is that!

Service complaint

Dear Sir:

On Labor Day, Sept. 4, 1978, my two brothers and I went to the Pizza Hut on the eastern edge of Wayne. We arrived around 8:00 p.m. and waited around five minutes for the waitress to take our order, which wasn't too long, considering the large crowd that was in there at the time. We ordered a pitcher of pop which came after waiting ten minutes, because she had forgotten us. She informed us that our pizza would be ready in one hour. When going to the Pizza Hut, I am usually used to waiting about thirty-five minutes for the pizza, but again, with the large crowd, an hour seems understandable. What was not understandable was why, even after most of the crowd had been there when we came had left 15 minutes prior to our ordering, we still had to wait an hour and a half (an exaggerated figure) for our pizza to come! In regards to their famous commercial "laughin' and smilin', and shootin' the breeze," there is a limit to the amount of breeze that can be shot while waiting, until it becomes rather monotonous. During the last half hour of our wait, the waitress started avoiding our booth by taking the long way around it whenever she had to pass by it. What mostly got on my nerves was the fact that when our pizza finally did arrive, nothing was said about the fact that we had just been sitting there for two hours in wait! Although the pizza was good, I feel that an order of one pizza is not complex enough to spend an hour and a half preparing it. We were not alone in receiving bad service that same night. Four of my friends had called in a pizza around 8:00, and were told it would be ready around 9:00. Arriving close to a quarter before nine, they were informed that our pizza had to pass by it, but was ready at nine and not before, however, they did not receive their pizza until close to 20 minutes after nine. Also, while waiting they were told to order something to drink or leave, even though the management was in error. I feel most people will not want to spend a night just waiting for a pizza, and will stop coming. I know I will, but I hope no one else will run into this much trouble when ordering a pizza. — Randy Fleer.

Views on working mothers

(Editor's Note: The following article from the Fremont Tribune was sent to us by Loren R. Park, Wayne, who said that he could relate to it as a former school administrator who employed several "working mothers." He points out that the article seems to indict ALL working mothers. He states, however, that it is unfair and untrue because, as he phrased it, "where would we be today without working mothers?")

By MIKE SCOTT
Gannett News Service

She is a working woman and an employer. Some time ago, Mrs. Frances Koehler wrote from Fremont, presenting another side to the problems working mothers face: the boss' point of view.

"In the past three years we have had three young mothers in our office. Tell me — do we, as employers, have the right:

- To deny the endless phone calls to and from her children, after school and before 5 p.m.?
- Or to suggest that checking a sick child at home, every hour, tends to distract from her concentration on the job?
- To say "no" to taking half a day off for Kindergarten Round-Up?
- To refuse to allow her to take one of the children to the allergist EVERY Friday at 3 p.m.?
- To insist she find someone else to run the multitude of dental, orthodontic and medical appointments inherent in raising a family?
- To refuse time off for countless errands that need to be done between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. — which just happen to be OUR business hours, too?
- To be annoyed when lunch hours are used for errands, or shopping, then lunch is eaten at her desk on our time?
- To refuse the two hours necessary for renewing her driver's license, because her Saturday mornings are "full"?

Difficult questions, Mrs. Koehler, but they're asked by many employers — male and female. And it's clear you've run into that exception to the rule, the working mother who hasn't "covered the bases."

Her letter continues, "We as co-owners of a small business are not concerned with docking her pay for hours not worked; we want an effective employee who will BE HERE full-time with her mind on the job.

"I suggest that if there are 'maternal responsibility' — and I am not implying that only she is responsible for her children — she should solve those problems before she presents herself to us as an applicant."

And her letter ends, "We would like to be assured she has done just that."

Any mother who works full-time will be guilty of at least one of the mistakes mentioned by Mrs. Koehler, at least once a year. I have been — I'd bet you have been, too. That doesn't mean we're incompetent, just that we're human.

But some mothers entering the job market simply haven't spent enough time on preparation before applying for a full-time job.

In skipping the preparation, they leave themselves open to just the sort of criticism Mrs. Koehler and many employers voice.

While, ideally, both parents should take responsibility for parenting, too often a working mother is the one to jeopardize her job and reputation for the sake of the children.

So what do you do, to avoid giving yourself and working mothers in general a rotten reputation?

First, read this employer's question again — and if you've been guilty of more than two — ever! — vow never to be again.

Then find other ways to handle those situations, and be willing to pay for them, if necessary. Your entire job future may rest on it.

Next time, we'll look at some of those alternatives.

Industrial bond expansion

"Constitutional amendment to expand the powers of counties, cities and villages to issue revenue bonds to include bonds for commercial or business enterprises, and to provide that such bonds shall not be a charge on the general creditor or taxing powers of any such county, city or village."

Purpose: Currently, communities and counties can issue bonds to finance facilities for lease to manufacturing and industrial firms. This amendment would expand that power to make eligible commercial and business enterprises, such as warehouses corporate headquarters and distribution centers — but not retail establishments.

Support: The amendment would improve Nebraska communities' ability to attract new business by improving the competitive position with neighboring states that already have such programs. Opportunities for industrial expansion are limited and passage of the amendment would open a new area for improvement of local economies.

Opposition: Among arguments against the amendment — which was defeated by the voters in 1976 — are that it puts city and county governments in the development business, might dilute sources of credit for private investment and gives certain businesses an advantage over others.

The announcement was made by Stan Sherman, president of Sherman Produce, Sioux City.

Both women's recipes were among 12 area recipes picked for publication in the Sherman brochure.

Mrs. Albertsen's recipe for Chicken Hawaiian was selected as the Nebraska State Winner, and was selected first best in the National Chicken Cooking Contest cookoff held at Tampa, Fla. July 26.

"We're extremely proud of the local response," Sherman said, "especially when six percent of the entire national total came from this area."

The brochures will be available to the public at no charge through retailers who stock Sherman products.

Allen Plays Tough First Half Hangs On To Edge Wakefield

For Allen High School, Friday night was a dream come true, but for Wakefield High it was a nightmare as the Trojans finished a hairbreadth away in a wind-blown 13-12 Eagle victory.

Allen opened its home season in fashion, following a 20-0 loss to Winslow last week. They gained the early lead when they took advantage of a Wakefield fumble and marched 52 yards in nine plays.

Lee Hansen ran the ball across the goal on a one yard quarterback sneak. The PAT attempt failed and Allen held a 6-0 lead.

The Eagles' second touchdown came in the second quarter after Mark Creamer intercepted a pass in Wakefield territory at the 48 yard line and returned it to the 36.

From there, junior running back Greg Carr took over and ran the ball in from 24 yards out. This time the extra point conversion was good and Allen led 13-0. Carr finished the game with 91 yards rushing.

In danger of attaining their second consecutive loss, Wakefield mounted a 35 yard drive in four plays to get on the score board before halftime. Von Portwood connected on a 24 yard pass to Scott Hallstrom and after an unsuccessful PAT attempt, the Eagle lead was cut to seven points.

Staging a comeback, the Trojans drove 44 yards in 9 plays in the final quarter to get within one point. Blaine Nelson ran around the right side with 4:40 on the clock to score from 10 yards out. Nelson rushed for 101 total yards.

Ejecting to go for the win rather than the tie, Coach John Torczon's club lined up in the do-or-die conversion attempt. Quarterback Todd Swigert was tripped up after the snap from center and the Eagles swarmed in on top of him, to thwart the attempt.

Clinging to their one point lead, Allen received the Wakefield kickoff and attempted to run out the clock. The Trojan defense tightened and held Allen, forcing them to punt.

The punt carried from Allen's 25 yard line to Wakefield's 39 giving the visitors 2:26 to score the winning points.

The Trojans ran the ball on first down, and followed with two incompletions to set up a fourth and 10 situation. Blaine Nelson carried the ball outside around the end for a 10 yard pick up and a first down to keep the drive alive.

With the ball near mid-field, Allen's Randy Smith intercepted a pass on second down to put the game away. With 1:30 left, the Allen team snapped the ball and lay on it to run the clock out.

Allen coaches Bari Kneiff and Gene Lauritsen termed their opponents "a great Wakefield team." "The deciding factor was our offensive line, you have to give credit to them," they said.

"Kevin Kraemer played with a lot of desire and Greg Carr had a super game. Mark Creamer, Randy Smith and Ken Hohenstein played a good defensive game," both coaches agreed.

On the other side of the field, Coach Torczon was a little less pleased. "You've got to give Allen credit," he said. "They look it to us the first half. They look advantage of our turnovers."

"Allen showed excellent determination running the football on the second touchdown. Basically, our defense isn't that bad," Torczon said.

"Our offensive line will have to get its stuff together, we're not getting running room," Coach Torczon replied. "We lost two games by a total of three points and that's tough to take."

"Carr ran over the top of us. We hit him three times but he didn't go down."

Torczon credited Scott Hallstrom for totalling 37 yards on pass receptions. Nelson and Dean Miller also added yardage to that department.

Wakefield will host Wausa Friday while Allen will travel to Ponca.

Following in the path of its opening 26-0 win over Randolph last week, the Laurel Bears scored two fourth quarter touchdowns to roll over Hartington Cedar Catholic 24-6 Friday night.

Laurel's offense was led by Steve Anderson and Don Dalton. Anderson completed eight passes in 14 attempts for 163 yards and two touchdowns. Dalton rushed 11 times for 85 yards to balance the attack.

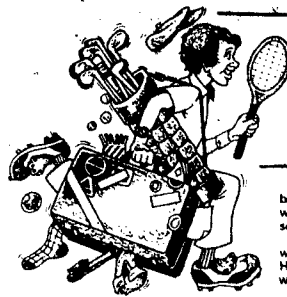

The Bears scored first when Matt Johnson snatched a pass from Anderson for a 23-yard touchdown play. The two point conversion attempt failed and Laurel held a six point lead.

Cedar Catholic tied the game up with a second quarter touchdown and went into the locker room tied up after an unsuccessful PAT attempt.

Laurel came out storming in the second half, scoring three touchdowns while the defense led by Russ Gade and Ron Gadeken held Hartington scoreless.

Gade collected nine tackles for this game and Gadeken recorded 14.

Randy's RECAP

According to Randy Hascall

AS I GLANCED THROUGH the weekly bowling scores, I noticed that the scores were very high. However, two particular scores stick out like sore thumbs.

Val Klemast will have to bowl pretty well to live up to his average this week. He had high game in the City League with a 243 and high series with a 692.

That means he'll have to average about 230 pins a game to maintain his high average.

COVERING AREA FOOTBALL games this season should be a little bit simpler and more extensive now, thanks to Jerry Shottenkirk. As I mentioned in my column sometime in August, Jerry is the new WSC sports information director.

He contacted me and asked if I could use a hand in covering Friday night games. So, as of last Friday, Jerry and I will be sharing duties on the high school grid iron, whenever possible.

A little bit about Shottenkirk's background — He is a freshman from Grand Island, where he wrote some sports stories for the Grand Island Independent.

COLLEGE STUDENTS don't need to look for things to do at Wayne State this year (or any year for that matter). The intramural program, directed by Frank Teach, coordinator of student activities for WSC, will begin this week on campus.

Teach has lined up about 30 intramural activities again this year. Events range from a walking race to football, softball, ping pong, golf, handball and numerous other events. I really doubt that there is a better intramural program in the state and I'd put Wayne State's up against almost any program.

Nearly 90 percent of the WSC students have participated in intramurals each year — a figure that's hard to top.

IF YOU FEEL LUCKY and would like to try your luck at picking winners in the high school and college football games, turn to the Wayne Herald's football contest in today's paper and make your predictions for games the week of Sept. 15 and 16.

If you win, you'll be $25 richer and there's nothing to lose. Try matching your skills against those of other readers.

Interception

RETURNING AN interception is Greg Carr (22) of Allen in action against Wakefield Friday night. Carr's interception ended a Trojan drive with Allen in the lead.

Sack Him

NUMBER 89 Mark Bolenkamp sacks the Hartington C.C. quarterback at the one yard line in action from the Wayne freshman game Thursday.

Wayne Frosh Lose Opener

The Wayne High freshman probably didn't enjoy donning pads in the 95 degree heat Thursday afternoon, and dropping their season opener to Hartington Cedar Catholic 14-6 didn't make matters any better.

After many schools were dismissed early because of the intense heat, the freshman football teams from Wayne and Hartington C.C. tangled on the field in a tough hot battle.

Hartington scored its two touchdowns in the second quarter. The first one came on a 35 yard drive following a long punt return. The PAT failed. The other touchdown was scored on a 38 yard drive. This time, Cedar Catholic ran a successful two point conversion.

Sperry passed 30 yards to Todd Pfeiffer to cap a 52 yard drive. The conversion attempt failed.

Sperry was the leading rusher, racking up 37 yards. He also had three eight completions in 13 attempts for 93 yards and one touchdown. Mark Bolenkamp made five receptions for 46 yards. Pfeiffer caught two passes for 40 yards and a touchdown, and Steve Pospisil made one reception for seven yards.

Leading the Blue Devils in defense was Richard Pughman with 17 tackles. Pospisil added seven and Dallas Hansen made six tackles.

Coach Duane Bolenkamp's team will host Pierce Thursday

Blair Breezes By Blue Devils

BY JERRY SHOTTENKIRK
 Jim Thompson may never be an all-state running back, but if he keeps up his 63-yards-per-carry rushing performance, he may be all-world before the season is over. The Blair halfback rushed twice, his first try a 53 yard jaunt into the end zone, while his second shot at it turned out to be a 73 yard touchdown run. The junior speedster obviously made the difference in the outcome of the game as the Bears blasted Wayne High 27-7 at WSC's Memorial Stadium Friday night.

Wayne quarterback Jeff Dion unleashed a 56-yard bomb to junior wide-receiver Jeff Zeiss, and Al Nissen followed it up with a perfect PAT kick to give the Blue Devils a 7-0 lead with just 8:37 left in the game. But after Wayne kicked off, Blair, which started from the 36 yard line, reset off a first down in three plays and followed it up with Thompson's first TD, to give the Bears a 12-7 lead with 6:40 remaining. Then, it was all down hill for the host Devils. Blair attained possession of the ball after Wayne forced the Devils to punt. On the first play, Thompson once again broke through the mid-section of the Wayne defense, on the same play as his first score. That made it 18-7. The PAT kick by Larry Sheets resulted in a 19-7 lead. The final score came on a 67 yard interception by Blair's Russ Campbell. John Jarosz ran for the two-point conversion. According to Blair coach Mike Lehl, Thompson's game was changing tactics, previously, in fact, the 5.0 40-yard dash sprinter fumbled five times in Blair's season-opening loss to Plattsmouth last week. The loss puts the Blue Devils at 1-1 on the season. Stew Cline's crew will travel to Hartington Cedar Catholic Friday.

Wildcats Bump Osmond

The Winside Wildcats used two long pass plays to push their record to 2-0 with a 14-0 blanking of Osmond Friday night.

The two teams were evenly matched throughout the game but Winside pulled some big plays that turned the game in their favor. The Wildcats got on the scoreboard first when quarterback Paul Roberts passed to Bruce Smith for a 78 yard touchdown play. Brain Foote ran into the two point conversion and Winside took an 8-0 lead.

Osmond threatened to score in the second quarter with the ball on the five yard line and first and goal, but Winside held. With a strong goal-line stand the Wildcats held their opponents scoreless in four attempts and took over the ball on an important exchange.

Both teams were unable to score in the quarter and they went into the lockerrooms at half time with Winside on top 8-0.

Osmond pressed the Winside defense again in the third quarter and once again threatened to score. This time, the Winside defense began its goal-line stand at the 10 yard line, and he had to shut off the Osmond attack.

Winside added an insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter when Paul Roberts once again connected with Bruce Smith. This time, the touchdown pass covered 22 yards and put the Wildcats ahead by 14-0.

They held on to their 14-0 lead and the clock ran out giving Winside a conference victory.

Coach Dennis Gonnerman credited Bill Gottberg with an outstanding defensive game. Gottberg tallied seven unassisted and 13 assisted tackles in the game.

"It was a hard fought battle from beginning to end," Coach Gonnerman said.

Wayne Slips By Laurel

After the Wayne High volleyball team easily handled Laurel 15-1 in the opening game of their match Thursday, Laurel insisted to produce a dramatic rally to produce a thrilling match before yielding to the die-hard Blue Devils, in the final game.

Laurel's rally included a 15-12 win in the second game and a neck-to-neck finish in the third game before losing 16-14. LaVonna Sharpe served the first nine points for Wayne in the first game and finished with a three game total of 29. She was also the leader at the net with seven spikes, two of which were aces.

Although suffering through the heat and humidity in the Wayne High gym, the fans were entertained in the final two games as neither team would give up.

After sending the match into a third game by winning the second, Laurel grabbed a 14-13 lead, but failed to score the match point.

Wayne junior Jolene Bennett served frantically 14-13 and her team tied the game up at 14. On the next serve, the Blue Devils gained the lead but still had to win by two points. Bennett served for one last time and a Laurel player returned the ball over the net and into the ceiling, securing the Wayne victory.

"We took them too lightly after the first game came so easily," Coach Dalton stated, in response to Laurel's comeback. Wayne's record is now 4-1. Wayne High will be idle this week.

In the opening game, the Laurel freshman edged Wayne in two games 15-12 and 16-14. Key players for Wayne were Traci Haason with 16 points and Jill Zeiss for her line floor play. Wayne High will be idle this week.

Mathematics, probability and statistics, risk theory, computer interest, numerical analysis and life contingencies. Nelson is an actuarial specialist with the Sentry Life Insurance Company, Stevens Point, Wisconsin.
Public Hearing — A special legislative committee formed to study property tax assessments and the problems of equalization of property taxes is scheduled to hold a public hearing in Norfolk at 10 a.m. Sept. 18 in the Public School Administration building.
 The special committee was formed by legislative resolution 136 to address the problems of uniform property assessment. The committee is also looking into the provisions of LB 170 which was introduced in 1977 that proposed a computer assisted centralized real property reappraisal system.

Storage — A total storage capacity of 1,320,721,000 bushels, with 83,795,000 bushels of on-farm storage and 487,926,000 bushels of off-farm commercial storage. The survey showed on-farm storage capacity of 715,594,000 bushels for permanent on-farm storage and 45,631,000 bushels for wet storage for high moisture grain in Nebraska.
 Fitzgerald encouraged farmers to make use of the reserve for their 1977 corn crop. Corn prices have been declining recently, influenced by reports of a record 1978 crop. He pointed out, "more corn going into the reserve would serve to strengthen corn prices to more profitable levels and encourage more orderly marketing of grain. Another manufacturer is unable to keep up with customer demand. His last production run increased sixfold over the previous one."
 "The Kentucky network, the first one to go in under a cooperative Federal-state agreement two years ago, is getting remarkable results. The meteorologist in charge at Louisville estimates there is at least one Weather Radio for every eight Kentucky families.
 "Kansasfield's Omer, wants to donate a total system for us to operate. Several other cities have already done so. South Carolina is working on a bill to provide receivers for every school in the state. Many school districts in other states have already done so."
 — Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi have passed legislation providing for expanded networks beyond the Federal plan. Other states, for example, Minnesota and Wisconsin, are considering similar action.
 In Estelle's view, testimonials such as these bear the same authority as a popular referendum — people voting for a program with their dollars — and the response is snowballing.
 In sum: Try it. He thinks you'll like it.

WEEKLY Health TIP
No one can feel young and peppy when carrying excess weight... it is straining hard on the heart, and a threat to health. A well balanced diet is most important - lean meat, cereals, fresh fruit and vegetables. Skim milk may be one good way to cut down on excess fats while retaining milk's wholesome proteins and vitamins. Get rid of that excess weight and discover how much more fun life can be. Have your doctor phone your prescription to us.

CONTEST RULES

One football game has been placed in each of the 20 ads on this page. Indicate the winner by writing in the name of the winning team on the proper line on the entry blank. No scores. Just pick the winners, or ties. In case of tie, write "tie." Use the entry blank below or a reasonable facsimile.

Pick the score of the "Game of the Week" and enter that score in the appropriate blanks. The correct closest score will be used to break ties, and will be used only in the case of ties.

One entry only to each contestant, but members of a family may each submit an entry. Entries should be brought or mailed to The Wayne Herald office not later than 5 p.m. Thursday, or if mailed, should not be postmarked later than 5 p.m. Thursday. You need not be a subscriber of the Herald to be eligible for prizes.

The Winners will be announced weekly on the Thursday sports page of The Wayne Herald. There will be duplicate prizes awarded if winning scores are identical. Employees of the Herald and their immediate families are ineligible. Judges' decisions will be final in every case.
