

Fast Start for Yuletide Royalty

The 1978 search for Yuletide Princesses in 17-area towns got off to a resounding start with Trisha Frevert, Wayne, leading the first week parade with a total of 328,000 votes.

All of the 17 towns have candidates following the opening of balloting last week. There is still time to enter the contests in the various towns, officials stated. Wayne merchants are offering $1,700 in Birthday Wish Dollars in the 17 town area. A Yuletide Princess from each of the towns will be selected on total votes received. The voting ends at the close of the business day Dec. 23.

Wayne shoppers during the contest period can receive 1,000 votes for every $1 purchase. Ballot boxes have been placed in all of the places of business of participating merchants.

Others in the top ten after the first week of balloting are: Monica Hansen, Concord, 301,000; Jeannie E. Morris, See ROYALTY, page 10.

Apply for Grant

Propose Parking Ramp Project

The City of Wayne has applied for a government grant to build a three-tier parking ramp in the downtown business district, costing nearly half a million dollars.

The council also authorized Mayor Freeman Decker Tuesday night signed an application following council approval, for an Urban Development Action Grant that would provide funding for the innovative parking facility.

Both of the grants were announced and explained by City Clerk Bruce Mordhorst. Mordhorst explained the Action Grants are a fairly new funding program which requires specific projects when applying. He said the Wayne Chamber of Commerce recently held a public meeting to find out what projects the people would like to see undertaken to further the future of Wayne.

The meeting did not direct any projects, so Mordhorst, Gary Van Meter, Wayne Chamber executive and representatives of the department of Economic Development and the Mid Elkhorn Valley Council of Governments came up with the two proposals.

Mordhorst pointed out the funding of the proposals depends a great deal upon local capital investment which would justify such a project as a parking ramp.

He said two new downtown businesses, The Mineshaft Mall and the Windmill Restaurant, will enhance the prospects of funding the parking ramp.

Rick Hamman, director of the Mid Elkhorn Valley Council of Government, Norfolk, appeared before the council following a question by Councilman Cliff Gunn as to the need for additional parking in the downtown district.

Hamman said a survey taken by the department of economic development showed that 18 percent of those surveyed said they stopped out of town because there wasn't adequate parking facilities.

Hamman said that Wayne, being one of the first towns to apply for the grants under the new program, gave the community a small edge in getting the grants.

He said there should be some reaction to the application by the end of January, 1979. If the application is accepted and the project funded, the money would be available the last part of February, 1979, he said.

The projected cost of the ramp, which would be located just south of The Mineshaft Mall on a parking area owned by Clarence Kuhn, would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $500,000. See RAMP, page 10.

Council Sets

Hearing Dates

The Wayne city council will convene as a board of equalization at public hearings Dec. 13 concerning assessments for paving of Providence Road and Windom Street.

The hearing for Providence Road has been set for 8 p.m. The Windom Street hearing will be held at 8:15 p.m.

Providence Road assessments will be on a one-third basis between the property owners, the city and the county with the exception of the county which will pay less than one-third according to a prior agreement.

The assessments are set with property owners paying $18,391.22, the city $17,782.22 and the county, $15,000.

In other action, the council approved an ordinance bringing the city's electrical code into compliance with that of the state.

It approved some $35,700 in equipment for the Wayne volunteer fire department.

It agreed to approve plans and specifications and to advertise for bids for a new street sweeper for the city.

It is anticipated the new sweeper will cost $35,000 with $7,000 trade-in on the present 1966 sweeper.

Reading Plan

Is Paying Off

Eight months of evaluation of reading materials for Wayne elementary students are paying off, according to Principal Dave Lutt.

Lutt told the Wayne board of education Monday night that the reading materials purchased from the Holt, Rinehart and Winston Company, have proven to be very effective according to a survey of the teachers.

Lutt said there have been very few problems with the new reading materials. He said the main reason is that the teachers have taken an active interest in attending inservice workshops in preparation for the use of the materials.

He said the materials fit very well into the language block leading into the Middle School.

Lutt said one aspect of the old program is being kept active and that is spelling. He also stressed that the company provides strong backing to the program and that it gets the teachers involved with the program.

Jaycees' Choice

SELECTED OUTSTANDING young farmer-rancher in the Wayne area was Chuck Rutenbeck (at right) pictured here with Dave Zach, president of the Wayne County Jaycees. Rutenbeck was selected from a field of 14 by four West Point judges based on outstanding achievements in agriculture. He now moves on to state competition in David City, Jan. 27. Area competition was sponsored by Logan Valley Implement and the Jaycees. One farmer from the state will be selected to represent Nebraska in the nationals in February. Rutenbeck will be required to prepare an entry form, presenting information for the state judging.

The News in Brief

Second Time Winner

Mildred Thompson, Wayne, was the consolation Birthday Bucks winner Thursday night. This is the second time that she has been a winner in the contest. She came close Sept. 28. The winning date was Dec. 27, 1918. Mrs. Thompson's birthday is Jan. 6, 1917. The winning date was drawn at the Wayne Shoe Store.

Selling Tickets

Wayne volunteer firemen have been canvassing the town, selling tickets to the fireman's ball to be held Saturday night in the national guard armory. The firemen will be out again tonight (Thursday) selling tickets door-to-door in the residential section.

Chamber Coffee

The Chamber of Commerce Coffee will be held Friday in the Law Library of Olds, Swartz and Enz law office, celebrating Ken Olds 31st year of law practice. The coffee is from 10 to 11 and all Chamber members are urged to attend.

Committee Meeting

The newly-formed Sensitive Issues committee for the Wayne-Carroll school district will meet today (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the high school home economics room. Activities and reports by the subcommittees will be a part of the agenda.

Accepted at ORU

Janelle Gottberg, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G.W. Gottberg of Winside, has been accepted at Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla., and will enroll for the fall 1978 semester.

She plans to study computer science and mathematics while a student at ORU. She is a graduate of Winside Public High School's class of 1978.

Driver Injured

DEPUTY SHERIFF "Scotty" Thompson helps State Trooper Dave Headley tape the distance a car being driven by Leila J. Jensen, Wayne, traveled through the air after it went off the road five miles west of Wayne Saturday morning. According to the officers, the car was in the air some 75 feet before it hit the far bank of the creek and rolled to a stop on its top. The driver is a patient in Providence Medical Center where she is being treated for

Grain Spills

NO INJURIES were sustained in an accident four miles south of Wayne late Wednesday morning when this grain truck overturned. The vehicle, driven by Terry F. Kirby of Fremont, was northbound on Highway 15 and following another truck driven by Willis B. Reichert of Winside. Kirby attempted to pass the Reichert vehicle, not knowing that Reichert was turning west at the four mile intersection. Both trucks swerved to avoid a collision and the Kirby truck overturned. Reichert was hauling grain for Schmode-Weible while Kirby was hauling for Val U. Hi Supply.

Middle School Students Rate High on SRA Test

Wayne Middle School students rated high on an assessment survey conducted nationwide by Science Research Associates, Inc. Students in grade five ranged from the low 60's to the high 80's with the national percentile being 76.

The range was even higher for the sixth grade students who rated from the low 70's to the mid-80's. The national grade six percentile is 79.

Grade seven students dropped somewhat but Dr. Francis Haun, superintendent, told the school board that this is the trend of the survey. The higher the grade the lower the average percentile.

Grade seven students dropped to the mid-50's and topped out at the low 70's. Nationally, the ranking is 86 percentile for the seventh grade.

Wayne eighth grade students maintained the same trend as they ranged from the high 40's to the mid 70's. Nationally, 63 percentile is the average.

The national percentile were figured from a composite 3R core (reading, writing and arithmetic). Supt. Haun said the composite scores carry a high level of validity.

Supt. Haun said the SRA scores also provides a means of determining what a student is achieving and provides a "positive concept" of how well the materials being taught are being received and retained by the students.

More Than 100 Students

Expected for Tournament

More than one hundred high school students from 19 Nebraska and Iowa high schools are expected to compete at Wayne State College Saturday in the Second Annual Wayne State Invitational Speech Tournament.

The tournament will begin at 9 a.m. in Ramsey Theatre of the Fine Arts Building. Included will be competition in Oral Interpretation of Prose, Oral Interpretation of Poetry, Duet Acting, Informative Public Address, Original Public Address and Extemporaneous Speaking.

The public is invited to attend. Schedules of events can be obtained at the tournament headquarters in the lobby of the WSC Fine Arts Building.

Schools scheduled to participate include Lincoln North. See STUDENTS, page 10.

Mid-March Date

For Improvement

Improvement of Highway 15 north out of Wayne is expected to start the middle of March, according to an announcement Tuesday night at the Wayne city council meeting.

The improvement is expected to cost $191,669.60. The city, according to City Clerk Bruce Mordhorst, receives approximately $130,000 annually from the state highway department, with most of the money going toward upkeep of Highway 15 within the city limits.

Council Okays

Grant Increase

The Wayne city council Tuesday night agreed to a grant increase for a more intensive study of the city's water treatment facility.

Cost to the city will be about $2,000.

The study is to provide additional information to the Environmental Protection Agency for expansion of the lagoon. See GRANT, page 10.

California Wedding Rites For Deborah Lewis-Galon Miller

Oak Leigh Wedding Center at Sacramento, Calif., was the scene of the wedding Nov. 4 uniting in marriage Deborah Ann Lewis and Galon Dean Miller.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis of Sacramento and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Miller of Winside.

Elder Gary Kaiser of Sacramento officiated at the couple's double ring ceremony in an afternoon garden setting.

Friends and relatives attending the ceremony sang "I Love Thee Jesus" and "Simply Loving Every Day." Leanne Larson of Hayward, Calif., played the flute, and guitarists were Gordon Walhall of Sacramento and Hal Townsend and Dave Pafford of Pleasant Hill, Calif.

Vicki Kellar of Sacramento was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Sue Christiansen of Fremont, Calif., and Laurie Lewis of Sacramento. Best man was Steven Saladino of Pleasant Hill, and groomsmen were Randal Miller of San Diego and Dave Lewis of Sacramento.

Usher was Pete Winde of Sacramento.

For her wedding day, the bride selected a full-length gown of white polyester and chiffon.

Two rows of lace accented the long, sheer sleeves. The high neckline was open at the front. Delicate white lace accented the bodice and encircled the hemline. The bride wore a circular-veiled edged in white lace and carried white roses and baby's breath.

Her attendants were gowned in light blue polyester frocks in full length, designed with square necklines, long sleeves, and white lace at the neckline, waist and on the ruffle at the hemline. Each carried blue and white carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

The bridegroom wore a white seville tuxedo and his attendants wore ice blue seville tuxedos.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lewis chose a pink polyester dress in full length. The bridegroom's mother selected a blue full-length dress of decor.

A reception for 200 guests followed the wedding ceremony. The guests were registered by Marie Townsend of Pleasant Hill.

The bride was graduated from Hiram Johnson High School in Sacramento in 1972 and from San Jose State University in 1977. The bridegroom, a 1973 Wayne High School graduate, attended Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill and spent four and a half years in the U.S. Navy. He is employed as a program systems analyst with Hon. Computing System, Inc. in Daly City, Calif.

The newlyweds are making their home at 150 Cleveland Rd., No. 12, Pleasant Hill, Calif.

DAVE HESSE

JOE OBORNY

WSC Students Directing One-Acts

Directing the four one-act plays at Wayne State College this week will be Diana Williams, Michael Nemeč, Dave Hesse and Joe Oborny, all theatre majors at Wayne State.

The plays are "Number Nine" and "Curtains," which will be staged tonight (Thursday) and Saturday, and "The Shock of Recognition" and "The Bald Soprano," being presented Friday night and Sunday night.

Curtain time each evening is 8 p.m. in the Menagerie Room of the Student Center.

Miss Williams will direct Maruxa Vialla's "Number Nine." She comes from Hayward, Ia. and is a junior at Wayne State College majoring in theatre and speech. She has appeared in several productions, including "Rama and the Tigers," "Absurd Person Singular," "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Scapino" and "The Shadow Box."

Members of the cast for "Number Nine" are Scott Miller as Number Nine, Dale Cuffel as Number Seven, Mark Shuffelt as the boy, and Lori Yunker as the announcer.

The play takes place in the courtyard of a future factory at noon.

The assistant director is Cheryl Zdana.

The Wayne State "Tonight at Eight" presentation also includes "Curtains" directed by Dave Hesse, a senior at Wayne State College who has appeared in several productions. They include "Anything Goes," "An Enemy of the People," "Absurd Person Singular," "Pied Piper," "Scapino," "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Shadow Box."

Hesse is majoring in theatre and music.

The cast for "Curtains" includes Nancy Baum as Marcia, Rick Fairbanks as Ron, and Randy Van Kley as Jim. The assistant director is Pam Swartz.

Setting for "Curtains" is the living room of Ron and Marcia Behren's home in late evening.

"The Shock of Recognition" by Robert Anderson is being directed by a senior theatre major at Wayne State College, Michael Nemeč. Nemeč is a native of David City where he attended Aquinas High School.

Last year at Wayne State he performed in "Professor George" and this year was seen in "The Shadow Box." He has also done much work on the technical side of many productions.

Assistant director for "The Shock of Recognition" is Tim Ryan. Members of the cast are Wayne Hendricks as Jack Barnstable, Rick Huffman as Herb Miller, Lori Isom as Dorothy, and Dave Sindelar as Richard Pawling.

The play takes place in a producer's office.

The final one-act, Eugene Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano," is under the direction of Joe Oborny, assisted by Karen Ach- or.

Oborny is a junior at Wayne State and is a theatre and speech major. He has appeared in "Rain," "The Room," "Scapino," "Pied Piper," "An Enemy of the People," "Anything Goes," and "Threepenny Opera." He also has directed two other one-acts, "Rais" and "Saint Joan."

"The Bald Soprano" has a cast of six, including Don Green as Mr. Smith, Marty Blacketer as Mrs. Smith, Lyle Blevins as Mr. Martin, Kathy Loeffler as Mrs. Martin, Denise Lee as Mary the Maid, and Doyle Anderson as the fireman.

The production staff for the four one-acts includes Cheryl Zdana, Pam Swartz, Tim Ryan and Karen Ach- or as stage managers. Chris Hennig, who is charge of house management and publicity, and Jeff Carstens and Jeannie Robinson, the lights and sound crew.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for $2.50. Wayne State College students and faculty will be admitted free with identification.

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE

AAUW Workshop Will Focus On Women

Death and divorce, parenting the handicapped child, single parenting and financial planning for women are some of the issues which will be discussed during a workshop this Saturday sponsored by the Wayne branch of the American Association of University Women.

Title of the workshop is "Women and the Challenge of Change."

The workshop is open to all women of the Wayne area and will get underway at 8:15 a.m. with coffee and rolls in the Connell Hall foyer on the Wayne State College campus.

Sessions are slated to begin at 9 a.m. following orientation. The workshop is expected to end about 3 p.m.

Workshop leaders include Mary Tyler of Values Clarifier in Clarinda, Ia.; Jean Karlen, sociology instructor at Wayne State College; Judy Wesley of Northeastern Mutual Life in Lincoln; Glenda Davis, an outreach specialist with the Pilot Parent Program in Omaha; Carol Jorde, a human relations specialist from Wayne; and Melva Hamm, a pastor at Craig, Neb.

"Purpose of the workshop," said AAUW member Mrs. Debbie Boyle, "is to define some of the situations that women share and to discuss new ways of helping women as they discover and establish new or additional roles."

A $1 registration fee is being charged for the workshop and is payable Saturday morning. There will be free babysitting services for mothers of young children

Program on Region IV Given at Woman's Club

Representatives of the Region IV office in Wayne presented a slide program at the Wayne Federated Woman's Club Friday afternoon.

Rosalind Meier, area director, spoke of the general purpose and procedures of Region IV. Jean Haskell defined citizen advocacy, and Manjit Johar,

Interceptions, Penalties Hurt Wildcats In Final 28-14 Loss to Emporia State

By MIKE KOKORUS
Co-editor Wayne State
The Wayne State Wildcats, after fighting back from a 13 point deficit, fell to the Emporia State University Hornets, 28-14, in the season finale for both teams.

Pass interceptions and penalties prevented the Wildcats from finishing with a 500 record, as quarterback Rick Lade threw three interceptions in the first quarter, with Emporia scoring shortly after on two of the interceptions.

Hornet defensive back Rod Pauls intercepted a Lade pass at his own 45-yard line and returned it 10 yards to the Wayne State 45-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage following the interception, Ray Hanson threw a 45-yard touchdown pass to all-purpose back Greg Zickefoose. Emporia State added the extra point and led 7-0 with 8:13 left in the first quarter.

Things weren't much better for Wayne State on their next possession after the Emporia kick-off. Fullback Tim Dahl carried up the middle on first down for no gain. On second down, Lade elected to pass and was intercepted by Hornet defender Kevin Hunt at the Wayne State 21-yard line.

Zickefoose did some damage again as he swept 19 yards middle. Joe Pipoli missed the extra point, and with 6:58 left in the first quarter, Wayne was behind, 13-0.

Coach Del Stoltenberg decided to give Kelly Neustrom his chance at quarterback. Neustrom, a 6-0, freshman from Menville, Ia., put some spark into the Wayne State attack.

With 13:15 left in the second quarter, Neustrom capped a 71 yard drive by throwing 23 yards to split end Jeff Ingram for the first Wayne score, and the first touchdown pass of his young Wildcat career.

Stoltenberg said, "Neustrom needed a chance and I wanted to see him in game conditions. He should add a different dimension to our offense and give us a good one two quarterback situation for next season."

Stoltenberg said that Neustrom is an exceptional thrower and he displayed it during an 82-yard touchdown drive, bringing the Wildcats back from the 13 point deficit. He had pass completions of 11 and 18 yards to Bud Matthews and Pat Maxwell before Bob Barry drove over from the three-yard line to put Wayne State ahead, 14-13 at the half.

"After coming from behind in the first half, I thought it would give us a psychological boost in the second half," said Stoltenberg. The Wildcats didn't have much of a boost in the second half as they were shut out by the Emporia defense, along with being set back by penalties. In all, the Wildcats were hit with 157 yards in penalties. Early in the fourth quarter, Neustrom fumbled and it was recovered by Emporia on the 46-yard line. After a run by fullback Levy to the 43, Hanson threw his second touchdown pass, this one to wide receiver Barry Cochran. Zickefoose ran for the two-point conversion to give Emporia an all important seven-point lead.

With 1:11 left in the game, the Wildcats attempted to drive downfield, starting at the Wayne 24-yard line. Lade came back in at quarterback and after a first down pass went incomplete, he threw 19 yards to Ingram, only to have it called back by an illegal receiver downfield penalty.

Lade again passed on second down, completing a 19-yard pass to Barry, who also ran for 132 yards in the game. The drive stalled when Lade's pass on fourth down went incomplete and Emporia gained control of the ball on the Wayne 32-yard line. Emporia was aided by an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against Wayne after quarterback Hanson ran the ball for no gain. After Zickefoose ran the ball on a sweep right for 5 yards, he scored from the three yard line for the touchdown that clinched the game for Emporia.

Zickefoose did it all for the Hornets as he played quarterback at times, tailback, punt returner and kick off returner.

The game ended with three seconds left on the clock when a bench-clearing brawl took place after the Emporia kickoff. Stoltenberg said the fight could be attributed to an emotional high for Emporia and frustration on the part of the Wildcats. "They were really coming after us," said Stoltenberg. "We had the frustration of some late hits by Emporia that were not being called by the officials." The Wildcats finished 3-3 overall, and in conference play finished with a 2-3-2 record. Stoltenberg said the squad selected Tracy Norris and Dave Carlson as honorary captains for this past season.

As far as next season, Stoltenberg said he has a good nucleus of football players and he hopes to come up with another good recruiting year, but the loss of Norris, Carlson, Kevin Regan, Dale Pelland and Mark Erhart to graduation is bound to hurt.

Wildkittens Open Season Tomorrow

By SUE MICHALSKI
Wayne State SID
The Wayne State College women's basketball team will tip off the season Friday, as the Wildkittens travel to St. Joseph, Mo., to take on William Jewell College in 4:30 action in the Missouri Western Tip-Off Tournament.

Official practice for the Wildkittens started Nov. 1, but the women went through a very extensive four-week training for conditioning beforehand.

"This conditioning will play a big part in the game as far as our endurance and quickness is concerned," coach Helen Carroll said. She is replacing Chuck Brewer who coached last year's team to a 20-11 overall record and 10-4 CSIC record.

As compared to previous WSC teams, this year's Wildkittens are weaker due to lack of experience and will have a tough season ahead of them.

Barb Bettin of Vinton, Ia., is the only senior returning to this year's squad. She averaged 6.1 points per game last year and 8.1 points per game in CSIC play.

Also returning are juniors Peg Peterson of Sloan, Ia., who averaged 2.7 points per game and Kari Erwin of Concord, who averages 1.7 points per game. The final four returnees are sophomores Lori Erwin of Concord, who averaged 9.3 points per game; Lynn Larson of Irwin, Ia., who averaged 1.7 points per game; Julie Petronis of Sioux City, Ia., who averaged 5.3 points per game and Roxann Gade of Laurel.

Wildkittens Lynne Brandt of Papillion, Ann Hamling of Columbus, Kayleen Klaassen of George, Ia., Teri Prauner of Battle Creek and Cindy Stella of Bellevue make up the remaining portion of the team.

Despite the lack of experience, Coach Carroll is personally pleased with the group.

"The enthusiasm and pride of the team is high, if not higher, because they realize the season ahead of them and are willing to do what they have to do in order to win," coach Carroll said.

Kearney State, Pittsburg Top CSIC

Kearney State College and Pittsburg State University earned season ending victories Saturday to leave the leadership of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference in a tie.

Kearney State nudged Missouri Western State 7-6 in St. Joseph, Mo. to get their sixth CSIC win. Coach Claire Boroff's crew was led by sophomore tailback Jim Bolin who carried 28 times for 231 yards. The graduate of Lincoln's Southeast High had a touchdown run called back as well as catching a pass for five yards.

Pittsburg State insured their share of the crown with a rousing 50-34 win over Missouri Southern State that saw both Boney Green and Richard Overton score two TD's for the Corillas.

Emporia State avoided a winless conference season by downing Wayne State 28-14. The Hornets were sparked by the performance of Kevin Hunt, who intercepted three passes while getting in on 12 tackles. The senior from Shawnee Mission, Kansas saw two of his thefts converted into TD's by his offensive teammates.

Fort Hays State took sole possession of third place with a 17-10 win over Washburn University. Tom Doll nailed down the conference rushing championship with a 208 yard outing.

WSC Harriers Finish Season

The Wayne State College men's cross country team concluded its season Friday at Kearney where they competed in the NAIA District 11 Tournament.

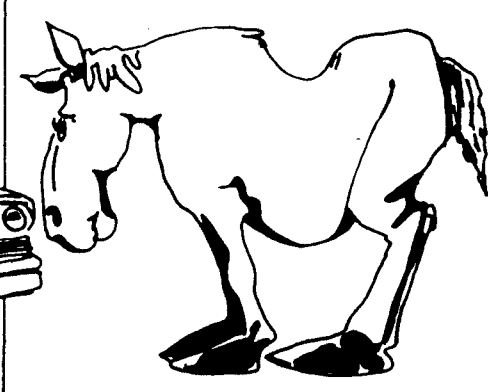

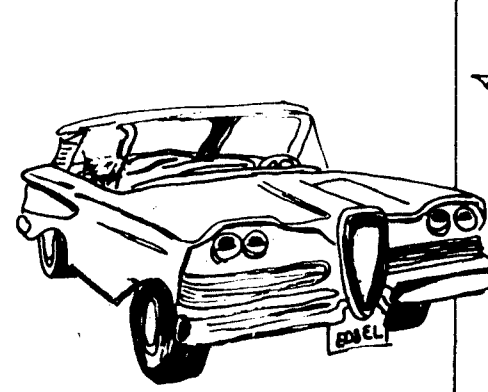

Dave Hauser of Marshalltown, Ia., was the first WSC harrier to finish. He finished 17th with a time of 29:09. The remaining harriers finished as follows:

1. Gerry Steinauer, 32nd, 30:32;
2. Mark Baumert, 33rd, 30:35;
3. Ron Keegan, 34th, 30:38 and Scott Schreiner, 42nd, 33:11.

Doane College won the tournament with 45 points followed by Kearney State with 49, Midland with 80, Concordia with 85, Chadron with 87 and Wayne with 147.

Wayne CARE CENTRE 918 Main Street, Wayne, No. 68787

As Nursing Home professionals we at Wayne Care Centre know that our residents need a generous diet of love and caring. And we strive to provide it. The staff at Wayne Care Centre knows that to make someone smile is a gift that brings so much in return, and we are all reminded that love and caring are nourishing to the human spirit. Each of us needs to feel that we are involved in our community. The same is true of the residents at Wayne Care Centre. Many of these people are active and concerned, and thrive on visits from people like you. Set aside an hour and visit your neighbors at Wayne Care Centre, you'll be surprised at what you get in return. You will learn as we have at Wayne Care Centre, that caring about others brings much more, in return. You'll find a whole lot of loving going on at Wayne Care Centre. Come and see for yourself.

Randy's RECAP

According to Randy Hascall

In a victory, they should hold on to the number two ranking. This is important because Paterno stated that he'll play the number two team.

This would match Penn State against the Cornhuskers in Miami to decide the national championship in the Orange Bowl. And I believe that Nebraska can beat Penn State although this is the strongest Nittany Lion team in many years. If only Missouri doesn't foul things up.

That was the bright side of the Nebraska Oklahoma game.

IT WAS REALLY SICKENING (to put it bluntly) to watch the Cornhusker fans following the big win Saturday. The majority, as is always the case, were well behaved, savoring the mouth watering victory after suffering through a six year drought!

But the minority exhibited a show of poor sportsmanship and thoughtless stupidity. Immediately following the game, an overzealous horde of fans erupted onto the field at the north end zone. They literally flattened the $3,000 aluminum goal post!

Then, they headed for the south end zone. This time security guards lined up along the goalpost offering protection to the structure.

But as the fans crowded closer and closer, it was apparent that the defensive goal post stand would be futile. The historical fans showed no respect for the guards and swarmed all over the goal post, rocking it back and forth until it could stand no longer. A lady in front of me turned to me and said, "that kind of takes the joy out of winning, doesn't it?"

Suddenly, the grand Memorial Stadium was shadowed by the $8,000 loss of both goal posts for the first time since '59. The Nebraska fans, often considered the greatest fans in the country, no longer displayed the type of sportsmanship they were known for.

As Nebraska students paraded down "O" Street with the remaining bits of aluminum souvenirs, Sooner Coach Barry Switzer told the press that Husker fans had displayed poor sportsmanship he had never before witnessed in Lincoln.

And Tom Osborne held his head high for the outstanding performance his team had shown but swallowed some pride because of the disgraceful behavior his fans had shown.

COVERING WAYNE STATE'S football game for The Wayne Herald this week was Mike KoKoruz. KoKoruz is co-editor of the Wayne Stater and was in Emporia, announcing the game on KWSC radio, Saturday.

Koko, as he's known by his friends at Wayne State, was sports editor of the Stater before moving to the editor's job, so he's had quite a bit of experience writing sports. We appreciate receiving his article.

A FINE RUSHING PERFORMANCE against Emporia State Saturday gave Bob Barry the NAIA District II rushing title. Barry finished the season with a 116.1 yard average per game to edge out Peru's Alvin Holder who averaged 114.5. Barry rushed for 1161 yards in 226 carries for a little over 5.1 yards per carry.

Tim Hurley was the only other Wildcat leading a category. He led the district in quarterback sacks with 11.

THE STATE FOOTBALL tournament is over and I thought I was fairly successful with my pre-tourney predictions. Grand Island defeated Creighton Prep for the Class A title. I predicted Creighton Prep to win.

In Class B, I predicted Central City to win but they lost in the semifinals to champion Lincoln Pius. I predicted correctly in the other four classes.

In Class C, I was Pierce, in C-2, Grant claimed the title, in D, Walthill wanted to the championship and in Eight man play, Beemer struggled to the top.

COMPUTERS FOR HOME STUDY

What can compete with the automobile, stereo, TV and other modern wonders for your child's attention? Quite possibly the micro-computer.

A new low-cost, complete microcomputer system designed for the home could be just the ticket to turn your boy or girl back on to studying and improving his or her grades in school. No more holding up cards, or calling out spelling words or questions if you're a concerned parent who wants to help.

Following the computer's easy-to-understand instruction/programming manual, you can program drills and subject-related activities for your student. Then, he can devise his own questions and test himself, or store vital background material on a tape cassette recorder that plugs right into the computer. And you can be sure he'll use it because using the microcomputer is fun!

When you give this handy instructional aid, with pre-recorded instructional programs like elementary math, algebra and computer programming itself, you'll probably find the interest was there. Until now, you just didn't know how to tap it.

$25.00 WINNER

NICK ZIMMER
Wayne

Would you believe Kansas State beat Colorado, Oregon State beat UCLA and Wisconsin tied Purdue, these were just a few of the games our entrants had to contend with. Of course, our No. 4 Cornhuskers beat No. 1 Oklahoma (most of the entries did pick Nebraska) so this game didn't affect the contest too much.

Six entries tied for the top spot with 15 correct picks so the tie-breaker, once again, determined the winner. Emporia State defeated Wayne State 28-14 (in the tie-breaker). Nick Zimmer predicted 21-13. The other top entries with their tie breaker predictions were: David Creamer of Carroll 10-28, Andrew Stroh 9-10, Kyle Black 14-20, Margaret Schram 7-24, and Jerry Zimmer 17-14.

$10 Instant Winner: Lee Brudigam of Wakefield. Lee predicted Emporia State by a 27-13 count. (Actual 28-14, not bad!)

Congratulations to this week's winner Nick Zimmer. Nick was awarded a $25 gift certificate redeemable at any of the following sponsoring merchants locations:

Veterans Program Held Friday at School

The Winside American Legion presented the colors at the Veterans Day Program held Friday at the multi-purpose room of the Elementary school.

The national anthem was played by the Winside band under the direction of Vincent Boudreau.

The Rev. G.W. Gottberg gave the invocation and the band played "Spirit of a New Nation."

The pledge of allegiance was given by the Girl Scouts led by Mrs. Lee Gable and the Browns led by Mrs. Don Leighton.

Mrs. Lester Grubbs, president of the Federated Women's Club, had the presentation of the flag and the song "Lady of the Harbor."

The song "Lady of the Harbor" was sung by grades two through eight under the direction of Lance Bristol.

Dr. Robert Hartley of Norfolk had the address for the day. Grades two through six presented "What is America?"

The benediction by Pastor Gottberg was followed by the retiring of colors by the Winside American Legion Post No. 252. The program closed with "America the Beautiful" being played by the band.

Attend Workshop Members of the worship committee of Trinity Lutheran Church attended a workshop Sunday from 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

The New Lutheran Book of Worship was introduced at the meeting.

Those attending, the Rev. Roy Petersons, Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer, Mrs. Dean Krueger, Mrs. Lyle Krueger and the Rev. and Mrs. Lon DuBois, learned of the practice of worship by the early Christians.

A meeting was held Monday evening to reflect on the workshop.

Neighboring Circle Eleven members were present when the Neighboring Circle met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Ariene Zolka.

Stuffed toys were made during the afternoon to be given to the retarded children at Wayne.

The next meeting will be at 10 o'clock on host Christmas dinner on Dec. 14 at the home of Mrs. Henry Langenberg.

On the kitchen committee are Mrs. Robert Koll and Mrs. Henry Langenberg.

Mrs. Wayne Denkiau and Mrs. Richard Carstens are on the entertainment committee.

Attend Funeral Out of town relatives and friends that came for the funeral of Ed Carlson were the Leonard Simons, the Ivan Volks, Mrs. Esther Jensen, Mrs. Henry Clauson, Mrs. Esther Reimers, all of Randolph, George Carlson and Mrs. Irene Carlson of Fremont, the Gwen Atwells, and the Leonard Larsons, Omaha, Mrs. Edith Williams, Mrs. Lucille Larson and Mrs. Mabel Sorenson, all of Wayne, Mrs. Florence Romig, Oakland, the Oliver Koles, Minneapolis, Minn., and the Gilbert Westerhaus of Norfolk.

Library Board Meets The Winside Library Board met Nov. 4 with three members present.

The librarian's report was read by Mrs. Harry Suehl. Also read was the village clerk's report.

Mrs. George Gahl handed in her resignation at the meeting. Next meeting will be Dec. 2.

PNG Lodge The PNG Lodge met Friday at the home of Johanna Jensen. Displaying heirlooms and pictures were Mrs. James C. Jensen and Johanna Jensen. Mrs. Chester Wylie read "Communist Rules for Revolution" and lunch was served by Mrs. Howard Iverson.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 8.

Friends and relatives gathered in the home of Mrs. Twila Kahl Oct. 5 for her birthday. Prizes were won by Mrs. Minnie Graef, Frank Bridgman of Norfolk, Mrs. Minnie Weible, Wayne Imel, and the Herbert Jaegers.

The Alvin Niemans and Mrs. Louise Newman spent the Nov. 4 weekend in the Garfield Newman home at Stanton, Ia.

The Dale Millers left for San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 2 to attend the wedding of their son Gaylen to Debbie Lewis at Oak Leigh. The Gaylen Millers accompanied their parents back to Winside on Nov. 6.

There are also a number of different shrubs available. The Extension Office has a number of Nebguides that have pictures and descriptions of the shrubs, evergreens and broadleaf trees that are available for shelterbelt planting.

Trees may be ordered from either SCS or the Extension Office. But the thing to remember is order your trees now while a plentiful supply is still available.

What weight should gilts be when bred for the first time? Weight is not a good criteria for determining the time of first breeding. Sexual development is primarily a factor of age in gilt.

For greater litter size it is suggested that gilts be bred at eight months of age or during their third heat period. The economics of the situation may warrant breeding during the second heat period or around seven months of age, whichever occurs first.

Most of the increases in litter size occur when you breed during the second heat cycle as opposed to the first.

A small increase in litter size usually occurs when breeding in the third, or later heat period, rather than the second period.

Thought for Today By Rowan Wiltse "We are not at our best perched at the summit; we are climbers, at our best when the way is steep." John W. Gardner

Most of us spend all our lives chasing the elusive phantom we call "success," whatever form it takes. We try to amass more wealth, power, prestige or whatever goal we set. We dream about the day we will achieve the goal.

It may be fortunate that few of us actually reach our goals. Those who do succeed in a spectacular way are seldom happy people. Their biographies tell us that their satisfaction came in the struggle, not in the actual achievement.

Gardener's observation should comfort those of us who try so hard yet never reach the summit. Families of any faith may call on us with confidence. We can provide a comforting memorial service within the means of any family.

Have We Got A Christmas For You At The Wayne Book Store!

A Christmas Keepsake

The Little Gallery by Hallmark continues a tradition with its second Limited Edition Commemorative Powder Plate for Christmas, 1978. Inspired by the lovely legend of the little Drummer Boy, this fine powder plate portrays in exquisite detail the ragged boy who played his drum for the Christ Child on that first Christmas Day. A treasured keepsake this Christmas, and for many Christmases to come.

Star Light, Star Bright...

Give this sparkling "Wishing Star" pendant and all her wishes surely will come true! The delicate design etched into this faceted full lead crystal pendant will delight anyone who has ever made a wish upon a star. With rhodium-plated, tarnish-resistant 22" rope chain in sumptuous velvet gift box.

$22.50.

Make A Joyful Noise...

With Celestina, a heavenly little angel who rings in the holiday season with celestial sounds! Our very first Christmas bell in fine crystal was fashioned in France to exacting Hallmark specifications, and is decorated with the words, "God Bless." Nestled in its own gift box, this delicate bell begins a new holiday tradition.

$30.00.

A Handsome Remembrance

This lovely interpretation of the beloved partridge in a pear tree motif began a tradition in 1977 as the first Limited Edition Commemorative Christmas plate from the Little Gallery by Hallmark. Now it brings to mind warm memories of Christmas past as the cornerstone for your holiday collection. Delicate shadings and a hand-finished luster add elegance to this Fine Pewter collector's piece.

$39.00

Crystalline Beauty

The delicate tracery of a snowflake is etched into full lead crystal in this exquisite pendant... and its fragile beauty will never melt away! Faceted edges catch the light in a never-ending array of patterns, reflecting against an encircling rhodium band. With tarnish-resistant, rhodium-plated 18" chain, it makes a shimmering gift.

$20.00

Heavenly Harmony!

What enchanting tunes this charming cherub plays upon her celestial flute! In velvety, snow-white bisque porcelain, she stands 2 1/2 inches tall and waits for Christmas morning in her own pretty gift box.

Minerva Club Sees Grandma's View of Art

Mrs. Marvel Corbit presented the program on "Grandmother's View of Art" for members of Minerva Club Monday afternoon.

Fourteen members attended the meeting in the home of Mrs. William Koobar. Pauline Nuemberger of the program committee introduced Mrs. Corbit, who displays artistic articles she has received from her grandchildren. She also showed some of her own handiwork.

Each member of the club brought an art object from home and told about it. The next meeting of Minerva Club will be in the home of Beryl Harvey on Nov. 27 at 2 p.m.

No Electrical Rate Increase

City Clerk Bruce Mordhorst Tuesday night assured the city council there would be no appreciable rate increase in electrical rates by NPPD.

Mordhorst said a one percent increase in cost-of-operation might be forthcoming this year. He did say, however, a 6.5 percent increase is contemplated for 1980 by NPPD.

OBITUARIES

Mary Addison Newton

Funeral services for Mary Addison Newton were held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Congregational Church in Newcastle. Rev. Charles Mason officiated. Burial was in the Newcastle cemetery.

Pallbearers were John Addison, Earl and Brian Fish, Mike and Leroy Jensen and Richard Kimball.

The former Mary Leola Addison was born Nov. 11, 1902, the daughter of John Dudley and Anna Wyant Addison. Mrs. Newton died Nov. 10, 1978 at the Methodist Hospital in Omaha.

She grew up in the Newcastle area. She was a member of the Daily Congregational Church. Her membership was transferred to the Newcastle church in 1911. She was active in the Sunday school, Christian Endeavor and choir.

Mrs. Newton graduated from Newcastle High School, attended Morningside College, the University of Nebraska, and received a masters degree from Wayne State College. She belonged to the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority of Lincoln, the Midwest Federation of Chaparral Poets, the Sylvia Chapter of Easter Star of Genoa, Nebraska and was a past member of Royal Neighbors and Rebeccas of the Newcastle chapter.

In 1928 she was married to Dr. Raymond A. Newton of Oxford. The couple had one daughter, Mrs. Michael (Mary Ann) Murphy who survives her. Other survivors are two granddaughters, Mrs. Shawn (Coteen) Keenan and Leigh Ann Murphy and one great grandson. She was preceded in death by one brother, Huber D. Addison.

Melvin Comstock

Melvin Comstock, a former Allen resident, died Nov. 9 at the Veteran's Hospital in Omaha.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning in LeMars, Ia., where he had been residing. Burial was Saturday afternoon in the Eastview Cemetery, Allen, with members of Floyd Gleason American Legion Post conducting military services.

Comstock is survived by his widow, Agnes, of LeMars; three stepsons; two brothers, Marvin and Fay, both of Sioux City; and a sister, Loma Clements of Sioux City.

A Glimpse of the Past

Paxton Casts Lead Soldiers for Hobby

In this age of plastics, lead soldiers are scarce, but for John Paxton, casting the remembrances of the past, has become quite a hobby.

Paxton, business instructor at Wayne State College, received his first set of molds at age 12 or 13 as a Christmas present from his dad. He had never seen lead casting done before that time.

Since then, he has purchased two more molds, one which he found at a hobby shop in Sioux City last summer. Paxton said the mold was so old that the year wasn't even marked on it.

"I knew it was an ancient mold because it came with model paint that was marked 19 cents. Today, the paint sells for 35 cents so you know it's been there awhile," Paxton said. The soldier hobbyist gets lead for his molds from old tire weights and car batteries. Then, he uses a simple process to cast the 2 1/2 inch soldiers.

While the lead is being melted by a small electric heater, Paxton lights a candle and smokes the steel mold so the lead will adhere.

When the molten lead forms a film, it is hot enough and Paxton pours it into a milk, which forms three figurines. The figurines resemble late 1930 and early 1940 soldiers.

Although the soldiers cool rapidly, Paxton keeps the lead figures in the mold until he's ready to pour again, thus keeping the molds warm.

"It's a constant process until you've poured all the soldiers you've wanted or have run out of lead," Paxton explained.

He added that the process he uses is the same that is used to pour lead shot and sinkers.

"I used to paint them when I gave them for gifts. It was fun for the kids to see how they were formed, instead of going downtown to buy some manufactured plastic ones."

When asked why he spends his spare time casting soldiers, Paxton simply replied that lead casting is practically a lost art today. "It's like my other hobby, rigging ships — I hate to see something like this become obsolete."

Club Goals Discussed

Goals chosen by the Merry Mixers Extension Club for the upcoming year include writing TV networks about programming, and learning more about the legislative process.

Mrs. Charles Maler entertained the club Tuesday afternoon. Eleven members responded to roll call with a sewing hint: Mrs. Leslie Alleman led the club collect.

Mrs. Kenneth Haller read minutes of the previous meeting, and Mrs. Fred Mann gave a health quiz.

A get well card was sent to Mrs. Lawrence Backstrom, who is a patient in a Norfolk hospital. The club voted to purchase a Christmas gift for a resident at Wayne Care Center.

Mrs. Harvey Reeg showed articles she made during a craft workshop held recently at the Northeast Station near Concord.

Lesson for the November club meeting, "Be Aware of What You Wear," was given by Mrs. Werner Mann.

The club plans to meet at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 12 in the home of Mrs. Fred Mann for a cooperative Christmas dinner. Each member is to bring a homemade gift for an exchange.

THE CANDLE smoke collects on the soldier molds as John Paxton prepares the molds for pouring. Above: The smoke causes the molten lead to adhere when it's poured. Above right, is a lead soldier after it was removed from the mold by Paxton. Immediately above, the molds are separated and the soldiers are ready to be removed. The molds cast three soldiers at one time.

They are Remembered

It was a cold, wet Veterans Day Saturday, but Color Guards and Bearers and the Wayne high school band braved the elements to pay tribute to the nation's veterans. Allen O'Donnell, 20 year veteran in the United States Air Force and currently an associated professor of political science at Wayne State College, presented the address. "The Eleventh Day of the Eleventh Month." The activities were sponsored by the Wayne VFW, American Legion, World War I Barracks, Disabled American Veterans and their auxiliaries.

Seven Named To Conference

Seven area high school students have been selected to participate in the 43rd annual Nebraska Music Educator's In-service Conference-Clinic to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Hastings High School, Hastings.

The seven are Penny James, Holly Mallette and Kenley Mann, all of Wayne and Jana Lamplot and Benjamin Miller, both of Pender, selected for the clinic chorus and Randy Fleer and Susan Wiener, both of Wayne, selected for the clinic band.

The in-service conference will provide a variety of excellent individual music training forums for elementary, junior high, high school and college music instructors.

Guest conductor for the clinic orchestra will be Dr. William Jones, music director and administrator of the Greater Twin Cities Youth Symphonies, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. Douglas McEwen, director of choirs at Arizona University, Tempe, Ariz., will conduct the 500-voice Nebraska State clinic chorus.

Alfred Reed, well-known composer and arranger currently teaching at the University of Miami, will conduct the clinic band.

Grant—

A representative of Bruce Gilmore and Associates said the study will include land application concerning the system. He said it is possible the city could get funding for 93 percent of the cost of the expansion.

The grant increase was not an agenda item and the council declared an emergency session so that it could act on the request.

Ramp—

$477,000. It would provide parking spaces for approximately 75 cars.

The grant would include the cost of the land, the building of the project (including facilities and aids for handicapped persons) and the moving of overhead and buried electrical lines.

A meeting of Wayne businessmen Tuesday morning brought 100 percent backing when the project was explained.

Hamman said there is no way of telling if the applications will be accepted. He added, however, representatives of the department of economic development have expressed a favorable opinion of the proposed parking.

He also stated that in his personal opinion, the "unique-ness" of the project may be attractive to those who will pass judgment on the applications." He said that as far as he knows, there is no parking facility such as that being proposed, outside metro areas such as Omaha and Lincoln.

While the parking ramp attracted much interest, Mordhorst said it was imperative that the city acquire the 60 acres for the industrial park.

"The park is a direct lifeline to the future of Wayne and we should do everything possible to acquire the acreage," Mordhorst stated. The city has until May to exercise its option to purchase the property which is valued at $215,000.

Here again, Mordhorst said capital investment has to be shown, such as having prospective industry interested in locating in the site. The purpose of the grant program, according to Hamman, is to create jobs and activity and this had to be evident before the projects can be funded.

Both projects, if approved, would be funded 100 percent.

It was common knowledge among his colleagues that William Wrigley, Jr. attributed the success of his chewing gum empire to constant and forceful advertising.

Once he was traveling to California on the famous but now extinct Super Chief with a young accountant from his firm. As they were reviewing the figures for a quarterly statement, the young man said, "Sir, Wrigley's gum is known and sold all over the world. We have a larger share of the market than all of our competitors combined. Why don't you now save the millions you are spending on advertising and shift those dollars into the profit column for the next quarter?"

Wrigley thought for a moment and then asked "Young man, how fast is this train going?"

"About sixty miles an hour," replied the young accountant.

And Wrigley asked, "Then why doesn't the railroad remove the engine and let the train travel on its own momentum?"

Hot Cross Buns

- 4 1/2 to 5 cups Flour
- 1/2 cup Sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon Salt
- 1 package Active Dry Yeast
- 1 cup Milk
- 1/2 cup Margarine
- 1 Egg
- 1 cup Seedless Raisins
- 1/4 cup Candied Orange Peel
- 1 Egg Yolk

About four hours or the day before, combine 1 cup flour, sugar, cinnamon, salt and yeast in a large bowl. In a 2-quart saucepan over low heat, heat milk, margarine and 1/4 cup water until very warm. (Margarine need not melt completely). With mixer at low speed, gradually pour liquid into dry ingredients, beating until just mixed. Increase speed to medium; beat 2 minutes. (Yeast should be completely dissolved). Beat in egg and 1 cup flour or enough to make a thick batter. Continue beating 2 minutes. With spoon, stir in enough additional flour (about 2 cups) to make a soft dough.

Turn dough onto a well-floured surface and knead 5 minutes. Add raisins and candied orange peel and knead until smooth and elastic (about 5 minutes), adding more flour while kneading. Shape dough into ball and place in a large greased bowl, turning over so that top is greased. Cover with towel; let rise in warm place until double (about 2 hours).

Punch dough down and turn onto lightly floured surface; cover with towel for 15 minutes.

Grease a 9 x 13-inch pan. Divide dough into 12 equal pieces. Shape into balls and place in pan. In cup, beat egg yolk with 2 teaspoons water. Brush balls with egg yolk mixture. Let rise until doubled (about 30 minutes).

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. With back of knife, make a cross about 1/4 inch deep in top of each bun. Bake 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

Remove from oven and spread icing on crosses. Serve warm.

To serve later, do not ice buns. Cool completely and about 20 minutes before serving, preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cover pan with foil and bake 15 minutes; spread with icing.

Icing

- 1 3/4 cups Confectioners' Sugar
- 2 Tablespoons Milk
- 1 Tablespoon Margarine
- 1/4 teaspoon Lemon Juice

Beat until smooth.

Mrs. Bruce Luhr
Wayne, Nebr.

Quick Chip Cake

- 2 cups Milk
- 1 package Coconut Cream Pudding Mix
- 1 package Butter Brickle Cake Mix
- 3 ounces Real Chocolate Chips
- 3 ounces Butterscotch Chips
- 1/2 cup chopped Walnuts

Bring milk and coconut cream pudding mix to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and immediately add the butter brickle cake mix, stirring with a spoon to mix fairly well. Pour into a 9 x 13 inch greased and floured cake pan. Sprinkle chips and nuts on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes or until done.

Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen
Wayne, Nebr.

Coffee Cake

- 1/2 pound Butter
  - 1 cup Sugar
  - 2 Eggs
  - 1 cup Sour Cream (canned sour cream, such as Pelt, may be used)
  - 1 teaspoon Baking Powder
  - 1 teaspoon Vanilla
  - 2 cups Flour
  - 1 teaspoon Soda
  - 1 teaspoon Salt
- Topping:
- One-third cup Light Brown Sugar
  - 1/2 cup White Sugar
  - 1 teaspoon Cinnamon
  - 1 cup Nut Meats

Cream together butter and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and mix well. Butter and flour pan. Put in 1/2 mixture, then 1/2 topping. Repeat. Bake at 325 degrees for 40 minutes.

May be served with one layer of dates or raisins on top of first topping layer.

Hazel Fritschen
Concord, Nebr.

Vennelle's Date Torte

- 3 Eggs
- 1 cup Sugar
- 1 cup Soft Bread Pieces
- 1/2 cup Broken Nutmeats (walnuts or pecans)
- 1 teaspoon Vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon Salt
- 1 cup chopped Dates

Separate eggs. Beat whites until they form peaks and beat yolks until creamy. Beat sugar into egg yolks. Fold in egg whites, bread pieces and other ingredients.

Bake in a 325 degree oven about 25 minutes. Serve with creamy topping. Delicious!

Mrs. Ioan Reber
Hoskins, Nebr.

Dried Beef Casserole

- 1 can Cream of Mushroom Soup
- 1 cup Milk
- 1 cup uncooked Elbow Macaroni
- 1/4 cup Chopped Onion
- 1 cup Dried Beef
- 1 cup Shredded Cheese
- 1/2 cup Green Pepper
- 2 Hard Boiled Eggs, chopped

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 1 hour.

Connie Meyer
Wayne, Nebr.

Monster Cookies

- 12 Eggs
- 1 pound Butter (do not use oleo)
- 2 pounds Brown Sugar (5 cups packed)
- 4 cups White Sugar
- 1 Tablespoon Vanilla
- 1 Tablespoon Syrup
- 3 pounds Chunky Peanut Butter
- 18 cups Regular Oatmeal, slightly packed
- 8 teaspoons Soda
- 1 pound Chocolate Chips
- 1 pound M & M Candies

Mix in a large pan. Chill. Drop by spoonfuls on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Do not over-bake.

This makes a very large batch. Recipe can be cut in half or fourth.

Mrs. Reynold Loberg
Carroll, Nebr.

Peanut Butter Pie

- 1 cup Powdered Sugar
- 8-ounce package Cream Cheese (at room temperature)
- 2 heaping teaspoons Super Chunky Peanut Butter
- 1 large carton Whipped Cream

Mix all ingredients together for 5 minutes in an electric mixer. Pour into a graham cracker crust and chill well.

Mrs. Cliff Baker
Wakefield, Nebr.

Pumpkin Squares

- 1 (1 lb.) can or 2 cups Pumpkin
- 1 cup Sugar
- 1 teaspoon Salt
- 3/4 teaspoon Ginger
- 1 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon Nutmeg
- 1 cup chopped Pecans (toasted)
- 1/2 gallon Vanilla Ice Cream, softened
- 36 Ginger Snaps or Vanilla Wafers

Combine pumpkin, sugar, salt, ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add chopped pecans. In a chilled bowl, fold pumpkin mixture into ice cream. Line the bottom of a 9 x 13 x 2-inch pan with half of the ginger snaps or vanilla wafers. Top with half of the ice cream mixture. Cover with another layer of ginger snaps or vanilla wafers. Add remaining ice cream mixture. Freeze until firm, about 5 hours.

Cut into squares and garnish with whipped cream and pecan halves.

I got this recipe from Mary Lou Jardine, my sister-in-law in Bartlesville, Okla. It is simply delicious.

Wilma O'Harra
Wayne, Nebr.

Sauerkraut Beef Casserole

- 1 can (16 oz.) Sauerkraut
- 1 cup pre-cooked Rice, uncooked
- 1 pound Ground Beef, browned and cooked until done
- 1 can undiluted Tomato Soup
- 1 can undiluted Chicken Noodle Soup

In a 2-quart casserole place sauerkraut, rice and beef in order given. Over the top pour undiluted tomato soup and undiluted chicken noodle soup. Do not stir. Leave in layers.

Bake uncovered for 1 hour in a 350 degree oven.

No major surprises

CAPITOL NEWS

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN — There were no major surprises in the outcome of the general election, although voter sentiment apparently changed on two major issues on the ballot — the bottle bill and the proposed lid on local government spending.

Gov. J. James Exon broke more than a century of Nebraska political tradition by easily defeating Republican Don Shasteen in the race for the U.S. Senate. For the first time in the 111-year history of Nebraska, the state next January will have two Democrats in the Senate.

The governor will take over the seat of Republican Carl Curtis, who decided to retire after serving a record-breaking 40 years in the Congress, first as a representative and then as a senator.

Exon, a prohibitive favorite in the pre-election polls, led all the way in his smashing victory over Shasteen, a former newspaper reporter who served as an aide to Curtis for about 17 years before seeking to succeed his former boss.

Congressman Charles Thone, also a favorite in the race, just about held his own with Lt. Gov. Gerald Whelan, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in heavily Democratic Douglas County, and ran well ahead of him in most of the rest of the state to emerge the winner with a commanding lead.

While Thone, a Lincoln lawyer, will be returning to Lincoln next January to succeed Exon in the gubernatorial suite at the Capitol, Exon will begin residence in Washington, D.C., where he said he plans to battle to control inflation by holding down federal spending and become a strong spokesman for agricultural interests.

The victory of Exon marked the first time in Nebraska's history that an incumbent governor was elected to the Senate. Six of the nine men who preceded Exon as governor tried to win election to the Senate.

Thone will be succeeded as 1st District congressman by Republican Douglas Beruter of Uricca, a state senator for the past four years, who handily defeated Hess Dyas of Lincoln.

That race had been rated a toss-up by most political observers but after all the ballots were counted, Beruter came out well ahead.

In the 2nd District, Democratic Congressman J. Cavanaugh withstood a stiff challenge from Omaha lawyer Hal Oslub to win re-election, and in the 3rd District incumbent Republican Virginia Smith swamped Marilyn Fowler of Lexington.

In other decisions in the election, voters rejected increased state aid for schools, mandatory deposit legislation for beverage containers, and a proposed ceiling on local government spending.

Except in the final polls that were released the weekend before the election, the bottle bill and spending lid propositions appeared to have excellent chances for passage. The final polls indicated voter sentiment on those two issues changed considerably during the final days of the campaign.

An estimated 20,000 teachers worked hard against the spending lid proposal. After the battle of the lid backers had been lost, Jack Malloran, a Hastings farmer and one of the leaders to lock a spending limitation into the state constitution, said money and organization of the opposition proved decisive. He added the Nebraska State Education Association had sufficient funding and was well-organized.

In some of the early polls, the lid measure had been favored by margins of 2-to-1 and 3-to-1.

The biggest vote of endorsement among seven constitutional amendments on the ballot was given to the one allowing judges to deny bail to those accused of rape.

Sen. Herb Dula of Gothenburg, who introduced the legislation that led to the amendment, said his hope was that the amendment would serve to prevent a number of crimes of sexual assault.

The amendment was approved by a margin of about 4-to-1.

Unclaimed Money Invested

State Treasurer Frank Marsh, who won re-election easily, said $265,000 of unclaimed property has been invested since July 1 in the permanent school fund.

Marsh said the money was received from corporations, insurance companies, businesses and banks that have held unclaimed property for seven years. The money had been held for persons whose last known addresses were in Nebraska.

The names of the claimants will be published in newspapers early next March so anyone whose name is on the list may contact Marsh's office to file a claim.

The state treasurer said his office has also found and returned more than $157,000 to many original owners and heirs since Jan. 1.

Recommendations Delayed

Two years ago, the state Revenue Department released its projections on receipts, expenditures and tax rates on election days.

But a department spokesman said the federal income tax cut and the referendum on higher state aid to schools delayed its recommendations for 1979 sales and income tax rates.

Assistant Tax Commissioner Gary Chunks said it would be some time before a complete assessment of the federal tax cut could be completed. He said the increase in the standard deduction from $750 to $1,000 and the dropping of the tax credit will have a negative impact on the state income tax base.

Nebraskans Think Alike

Most Nebraskans differ little in values and attitudes, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln survey.

The survey showed farm residents tend to be slightly more conservative than urban residents but most of the differences are small and some are inconsistent.

Lynn White, director of the Nebraska annual social indicators survey, said the similarity in attitude among rural and urban Nebraskans was unusual. He said national polls uncovered stronger urban-rural differences than the Nebraska survey indicated.

White and Alan Booth, who co-authored the report, said one reason Nebraska didn't follow the national trend was that the education level of rural and urban populations are about the same.

There was a marked difference in Nebraskans' attitudes about working mothers. Fifty-five percent of urban and small town residents favored mothers working but only 41 percent of the rural residents went along with that view.

Laetrile: Politics and medical issues

Laetrile, around since the early 1950s, has only recently progressed through legislative action. Four groups, (National Health Federation, Internal Association for Cancer Victims and Friends, Cancer Control Society, Committee for Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy) lobbied with the McNaughton Foundation for introduction and passage of bills relating to laetrile through state legislatures.

Politics and medical issues went hand in hand. "Freedom of Choice" was a chant heard often. Some states were calling laetrile food and others, a drug. Thirteen states removed the legal barriers against laetrile and a number of states that had "legalized" laetrile are now trying to repeal the original legislation.

In a recent issue of the Annals of Internal Medicine, Robert T. Dorr, M.D., R.P.H. and James Paxinos, R.P.H. of Tucson, Arizona, discuss the current legal-judicial aspects of laetrile use in cancer therapy. The article seeks to provide information on the subject, so that one can make his own interpretation. The Annals of Internal Medicine is the official journal of the American College of Physicians, a national professional association of more than 40,000 specialists in internal medicine and related areas.

According to Mr. Dorr and Mr. Paxinos, the situation could be summed up as follows:

"The FDA's response, from a legal standpoint, is that it will continue to take regulatory action against commercial distribution of laetrile when federal laws are violated. States that have legalized laetrile use must produce the drug completely within their state boundaries, including obtaining the raw product, if they are to be in compliance with federal laws. This prevents any massive influx of laetrile into the state from other countries and other 'legalized' states. Until in-state manufacturers are established, laetrile will not be generally available, and importation will probably continue on an individual basis."

If the laetrile is defined as a drug, then each state must issue guidelines to its manufacturer, labeling, distribution, prescribing and administration, the article notes. These procedures are the same for any drug and when the guidelines are established, laetrile can be legally manufactured in a state. Some problems remain: there are no clinical data on which to base dosage and administration standards, or the length of laetrile therapy.

The authors foresee the possibility of laetrile clinics being established in some states. Many of their patients are likely to be newly diagnosed patients who decided to bypass regular medical care.

The present level of activities with laetrile will probably continue until interest wanes as the negative scientific findings gain more notoriety," the article concluded. (The negative findings include a number of cases of cyanide poisoning.)

The recent legislative activity gives the medical professional the opportunity to encourage, discourage or ignore the use of laetrile for cancer therapy.

The authors state, "The patient who is now aware of his 'rights' for laetrile therapy can no longer be ignored. The physician must assure the patient that all of the currently accepted modes of cancer therapy have been tried, and thus eliminate the possibility of a patient delaying potentially beneficial treatment in lieu of laetrile therapy. The use of laetrile must be no detriment to the patient. Each health professional must make his own determination on the ethical issues."

Keep it realistic

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information
"Direct marketing" from farmer to consumer is receiving some promotion by the USDA in Washington and among farm groups, but there should be no unrealistic dreaming that it is going to replace the farm to market chain.

A Wisconsin Farm Bureau editor treated the subject recently with a bit of knowledgeable, good natured humor. He noted that recently some farmers pulled up to the parking lot of the USDA in Washington to sell produce out of their pickups as part of a demonstration promoted by the USDA. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland provided an appropriate quote. "By developing a direct market linkage, we think there can be an economic advantage to both producers and consumers."

Commented the editorial, "Here in Wisconsin, farmers markets have become quite popular in the past few years, especially in our cities. The farmers bring in their produce and sell directly to consumers. There is nothing at all wrong with this. Such affairs are fine, and city consumers appreciate getting good fresh produce. However, there are some who seem to feel that this is the way to solve the so-called 'farm problem,' and that it will eliminate that so-called terrible fellow who's ripping everyone off... the middleman."

"There are two reasons why the direct market approach is not a complete answer.

"There are not that many small truck farmers in Wisconsin. Most of the produce off the truck is surplus from large farm gardens. There is no way that all consumers could line up to buy their vegetables from the back of a pickup truck, even if it were available. In addition, it would require the thousands of farmers in this state to completely change their type of farming and go into truck cropping, and they can't get the labor to do it. If it were profitable, they would already be doing it.

"Most of the crops now grown by farmers require processing. Can you imagine a soybean farmer trying to market his beans directly to the consumer? There is no way a consumer could handle that? Or what about a live hog, or steer, or broiler or fresh milk, or wheat or corn. Do you think the city housewife is going to once again wring the neck off a broiler as mother used to do, and let the chicken flop all over the well manicured city lawn before she places it in the boiling water to get the feathers off? And what if she lives in an apartment? Messy, messy!!

"There are a lot of dreamers out there when they think direct marketing is the coming thing. We still must have a market chain, and the middleman who does the housewife's former job of processing, packaging, shipping and marketing is a vital link in that chain. It will not be short circuited by the dream of a few who think they have the answer to the farm problem."

Here in Nebraska a "farmer's market" operates on Saturday mornings during the summer in the downtown Lincoln area and is fun and profitable for both buyers and sellers. Across Nebraska there are, in season, roadside stands and popular direct sales points but they are the exception rather than the rule. Some highly competent truck gardeners have ceased operations because it is a pressure-packed business of long hours, and tremendous problems with weather, disease, seasonal help, vandalism, customer complaints, and relatively low profits.

"Direct marketing" sounds good but it is for those who "test the water" and know what they are getting into.

Damagaging the tax bill

President Chamber of Commerce
of the United States

WASHINGTON — In a fit of end-of-session grumbling, Senator Edward Kennedy described the recently passed tax cut as "the worst tax legislation approved by Congress since the days of Calvin Coolidge and Andrew Mellon."

His complaints were two: the tax cuts were not generous enough to the middle income wage earner, and they were too generous to those in upper brackets.

Regular readers will know I share this belief that the tax relief was not as large as it should have been. And I think my expressed concern for the plight of the middle income American, considerably antedates the Senator's. Senator Kennedy is, after all, a charter member of the liberal clique that has swelled the federal budget (and the federal deficit) with dozens of ill-considered social welfare schemes, which is why middle income Americans are now having trouble paying the bills. He's still at it, too, trying to launch a massive government health care program — another of those something-for-nothing goodies we are supposed to have faith in, like the tooth fairy and the Easter bunny.

But where I really part company with the distinguished senior Senator from Massachusetts is over his attempts to picture reductions in the capital gains tax as an irresponsible tax break for the rich. That's the most damaging kind of demagoguery

Capital gains tax reductions are obviously going to benefit directly those with the most capital, who are likely to be wealthy. For that reason, it takes a great deal of political courage for a member of Congress to vote for them.

The relevant question, though, is will such tax reductions be good for the economy and thus for everybody, rich and poor alike?

It takes about $40,000 to create one industrial job now. Likewise, it takes large amounts of money to develop a new product, a new drug, or a new oil well.

Where will that money come from? People will contribute their savings, if they are confident the potential return is worth the risk. But if the return is taxed away, if inflation is destroying the value of a savings account, if it's easier to quit and apply for unemployment compensation, then where is the incentive to save?

And if a society is taxing away its seed corn to support the unproductive, where do we look for tomorrow's crops?

America is really built to the concern that thrift pays and sloth doesn't. Simple and moralistic though that may sound, it is nonetheless quite true.

As President Kennedy himself put it, all boats rise when the tide comes in. All Americans benefit when the economy prospers. And the economy prospers when those with capital are willing to risk it on new ventures.

Take the Roaring Twenties, for example. It was Andrew Mellon's drastic tax cuts as Secretary of the Treasury to Coolidge that made them roar. The comparisons to the present are fascinating. From 1923-29, the Coolidge years, annual unemployment averaged 3.3 percent. It is 6 percent now. Manufacturing output per manhour — a measure of productivity — increased 4.9 percent a year. It is 2.3 percent now. Annual increase in the Gross National Product averaged 3.2 percent, the only key figure that is slightly below present performance (3.8 percent).

And inflation? From 1923 to 1929, the average level of prices rose but 0.2 percent. That's a yearly rate of increase of 0.0006 percent. Today, inflation is running an annual rate of 8.2 percent.

Yet the Honorable Senator says we have just had the "worst" tax cut since then. I'd say we could use a few more like that.

SHELTERBELT TREES
There have been some changes in prices and ordering in regard to handling of shelterbelt trees for 1978-79. There will be a $45.00 minimum charge. The cost will be 20 cents per tree for spraying and planting. The purchase cost will be $17.25 per hundred trees.

You may order in less than 100 tree lots from the Star Tree Service in Hartington. You would also have to go to Hartington next spring to pick up these odd lots. The SCS and Extension Service will accept orders to odd lot trees for the Star Tree Service as well as regular orders in multiples of 100. Order your trees as soon as possible as they have already run out of one of the more popular species.

SOIL TESTING
I'd like to pass on these comments from George Rehm, area agronomist.

With harvest nearly complete and prospects for reasonably good weather ahead, farmers may have time to catch up on some things. These two conditions should also allow some time for collection of soil samples this fall.

In regard to sampling fields this fall, there are some points that I would like to emphasize. These are:

1. Getting results does not take as long as it once did. Results usually reach me from 7-10 days after they are received at the lab. I write the recommendations and they are in the mail the next day. This time delay is comparable to the commercial lab.

2. Research with N rates during the past 3 years shows that deep sampling for N is crucial for making accurate N recommendations for corn, sorghum and small grains.

3. Fertilizer dealers are happy to take samples (including deep ones) as a service in a competitive world. The majority of the dealers will send samples to any lab that the farmer chooses. The farmer can have a dealer collect samples and request that these samples be sent to the UNL lab.

4. In addition to the standard test for N, P, K and Zn, special tests will be run on request. The soil will be analyzed for Fe, Cu, and Mn if the code OA is written in the TEST Desired Column. Sulfur will be run if the code OS is written in the TEST Desired column. These special tests will delay the samples in the lab by a few days.

5. The results of our research trail which compares recommendations from various soil testing laboratories has shown that over a 5 year period UNL recommendations have cost less and have not reduced yields.

The first crease-proof fabric was introduced in Manchester, England, in 1932.

Planning a Windbreak?

The Soil Conservation Service has begun to plan windbreak plantings for next spring.

Trees are available and ordering has begun.

Arnold Marr, district conservationist, said farmers planning a windbreak next year are strongly urged to fall plow the site. He added that conservation technicians are available to help farmers determine site area and assist in planning and ordering the trees.

Marr said the Lower Elkhorn NRD has a free planting service available again this year. This service includes furnishing trees, providing a planter and spraying with a herbicide following planting. There is a nominal cost for this service.

Marr warned area farmers that the tree planting stock appears to be limited again this year.

Cattlemen Can Check Silage

Cattlemen who treated corn silage with non-protein nitrogen at ensiling should check their rations to be sure all nutritional needs are met, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources animal scientist says.

Paul Q. Guyer says that growing and finishing cattle must be fed minerals and other nutrients that nitrogen sources such as ammonia or urea do not supply. In addition, hormone implants and feed additives may improve rate and efficiency of gain.

Rations containing silage treated with an ammonia/mineral molasses mixture (such as Pro Sil) may still be low in calcium, Guyer says.

He advises plant protein should be fed for the first two or three weeks cattle are in the feedlot. After that, performance will usually be slightly reduced by leading nonprotein nitrogen treated silage instead of soybean meal with regular silage.

Farmers who did not add nitrogen at ensiling may lower costs of nitrogen supplementation by feeding high urea dry or liquid supplements at present prices of soybean meal compared to corn and urea prices. Though growing gains are slower and about as expensive during the growing phase, cattle should compensate during finishing so that total gains are as rapid and should be lower in cost, Guyer concluded.

THIS THREE-YEAR-OLD farmstead windbreak stops winter snowdrifts.

Farm Openings Available

Mick Clark, farm business management coordinator at Northeast Technical Community College, has announced that openings are now available in the college's Farm Business Management program for next year.

The six-year-old Farm Business Management program at Northeast Technical Community College provides northeast Nebraska area farmers and ranchers with training in farm business record keeping and analysis to aid in their management decisions.

The program, which is currently serving 76 cooperators in the 20-county area, is a three year program consisting of monthly evening classes in the area and also individual visits to the cooperator's farm or ranch. As part of the program, NTCC also provides each cooperator with the necessary record book and year end analysis.

According to Clark, the monthly classes instruct the participating cooperator in the use of the record book and also in the practical application of depreciation knowledge and income tax planning. Cooperators also receive additional individual help during the Farm Business Management coordinator's monthly visits to the farm or ranch.

Clark said that the Farm Business Management program enables cooperators to evaluate the different facets of their operations through accurate recordkeeping and analysis, make comparisons with others, and make sound management decisions.

Cost for the entire program, which includes record book, close-out, analysis, classroom instruction, and farm visits, is $75 per year. Persons interested in the program are asked to contact Mick Clark, farm business management coordinator at NTCC, (402) 371-2020, Ext. 269.

Boost Lamb Consumption

From spicy East Indian curries to flavorful Greek moussaka, lamb dishes are popular around the world.

One of the most versatile of meats, lamb can show up on the table as special gourmet or as a simple main dish for everyday meals. Mini lamb loaves—a delicious departure for the standard meat loaf—fall into the latter category. They're easy to prepare and economical too.

Lamb is a prime source of many nutrients essential to good health. Young people learn-by-doing about the nutritional values of lamb, and how to identify wholesale and retail cuts, in the national 4-H sheep program supported by Wilson Foods Corporation and conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

4-H members also study types and grades of wool—another important commodity sheep are bred for. Actually caring for one or more animals helps 4-Hers acquire and demonstrate sheep breeding, production and management practices on the home farm and in the community.

Boys and girls can earn awards for outstanding accomplishments in the 4-H sheep program. Recognition includes a $50 U.S. Congress plus a $1,000 scholarship for six national winners.

Awards are donated by Wilson Foods and arranged by National 4-H Council. Winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service. National winners will be honored at the 57th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 26-30 in Chicago.

Young people can learn more about the program from their county extension agents.

You're ready to cut costs, and I can show you how!
You know how it is — it seems like you're just trading dollars on the farm today. Think of the money that passes through your check book in a year.

But, there's a way to cut your costs. HARVESTORE System Owners feed protein-rich HARVESTORE processed Haylage with a ration of High Moisture Grain. Compared to owners of conventional storage, they keep the money you spend for purchased protein — the money you spend to dry and stucc corn — and money you lose in field losses, storage losses, and wasted time and effort.

Find out for yourself. Ask me how you could cut costs and keep more of your money on the farm. Call Vic Kathol, Your HARVESTORE Representative, at Norfolk, NE 371-7840. YES-YOU CAN!

Consumer

ted hormone drugs were not used in beef cattle production, there would be a 3.75 percent reduction in supply and initial reduction in prices to consumers of $12 per person per year, Gustafson quoted from the report. After a period of years, it was projected that this would be reduced to $7.75 per person per year.

Gustafson said growth promoters and antibiotics have made it possible to produce more human food with less feed for livestock. "Very important in view of the present and future energy situation and the problem of feeding a hungry world."

The Nebraska cattle feeder said feed additives over the past 25 years has been a major factor in revolutionizing livestock raising, and "nearly tripled productivity in the industry."

Dr. S. E. Sterner, Regional Medical Veterinary Officer, U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Denver, Colo., said the sales and use of veterinary drugs and antibiotics has increased 193 percent the past 10 years, with sales of $1.2 billion in 1977. Two thirds of the total was for drugs used as feed additives, he said.

Dr. Sterner stressed that "no disease has ever been eliminated by the use of drugs or antibiotics," and said they are only an aid in the control of animal disease. "They are not a substitute for good management nor for adequate nutrition."

Dr. Ronald E. Engel, Acting Deputy Administrator for Science, Food Safety and Quality Service, USDA, Washington, D.C., said the mission of FSQA is "to keep adulterated meat and poultry out of the marketplace."

He pointed out that management practices of producers are often responsible for above-tolerance residue levels of chemical substances.

Dr. Engel said the mechanization of agriculture, and particularly the shift to confinement systems for raising large numbers of animals in a small area, has made livestock production more dependent on chemicals.

He said the question ultimately must be asked, "is it possible under today's food animal production system to expect the producer to raise and market animals with chemical residues?"

Both Engel and another panelist, Steven Buckley, vice president for policy, National Pork Producers Council, Des Moines, Iowa, expressed optimism with the educational campaign being mounted to deal with the problem of sulfonamide (sulfa) drugs residues in pork.

Dr. Engel said "a solution to the problem of sulfa residues (in pork) may be near, now that an industry government producer self-help program is underway, by eliminating sulfas as a residue problem, producers would be allowed to continue using these essential drug compounds to control disease and improve production efficiency."

Buckley said pork producers are opposed to proposals to continue use of low level antibiotics in feeds by prescription only. He also objected to the importation of other products from European other countries in which livestock were fed additives not approved for use by U.S. producers.

August Fromuth, director of consumer alert, Darien, Conn., said his organization observes "no obvious negative effects on humans or animals" after 30 years of antibiotic use. He stressed the point that any changes in food production made in the name of consumers' well-being need to be documented to assure that extra costs, ultimately passed on down to the consumer, are really justified.

Farmers Can Save Their Money Through Proper Soil Care

Nebraska farmers can save $82 million through proper irrigation and soil nitrogen management, Paul Fischbach, Extension irrigationist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said Tuesday, Nov. 7, at the first Energy Conservation in Agriculture conference.

The two-day conference, at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, was sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy. The main topic of the conference was energy conservation in irrigation systems.

Program manager Bruce Cone of the Pacific Northwest Department of Energy, said although agriculture, in relation to other industries, doesn't use large amounts of energy, it is of such vital importance that no aspect of its production should be left to chance.

He stressed that the spread of present day technology will give farmers an energy option during any future oil shortage or embargo.

Cone said the major point of the conference is to encourage interaction and coordination of energy conservation by the agricultural and technology communities.

Twenty-two representatives from five universities and five manufacturing firms from across the United States attended the meeting.

Tuesday's topics centered on groundwater supply and well design and efficiency. Wednesday's sessions concerned pipeline design and irrigation scheduling.

Speaking at Tuesday's opening session were University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Agriculture Engineering Head Bill Splinter, an engineering associate professor Jim Gilley and Fischbach.

Splinter opened the conference with a summation of present day agricultural technology and possible future advances. Although he expressed concern for the lowering of the water table in some areas of the state, he said the problems can be resolved through proper resource management by the use of water recycling and irrigation scheduling.

Gilley spoke about the development of low-pressure center pivot irrigation systems, one of UNL's energy conservation projects.

Fischbach said Nebraska

farmers could save as much as $10 per acre, or a total of $82 million in energy costs through a rigorous program of irrigation scheduling and soil nitrogen conservation. Last year, Nebraska farmers saved $12.9 million through irrigation scheduling.

Fischbach noted that Nebraska is the only state where the government has a cost-sharing program of water testing and water flow equipment.

Tuesday: Afternoon Social Club, Mrs. Jim Spiedel.

Helping Hands
Mrs. Irene Strate was the hostess for the Helping Hand Club the evening of Nov. 8.

Card prizes went to Gus Perske and Mrs. Cecelia Jackson, high; John Thietje and Mrs. Henry Mittelstaedt, low; and Bob Marshall and Mrs. John Thietje, traveling.

The club is planning a potluck supper to be held at the home of Gus Perske on Nov. 18.

Mrs. Cecelia Jackson will be the hostess for the next regular meeting on Dec. 13 at which time a Christmas party will be held.

Six girls were guests of Pam Peter, for a slumber party Friday for her birthday.

Those guests were Kathy and Patty Gnrk, Julie Bruggeman, Ellen Woodman, Mary Wanch and Joanne Brudigan.

On Saturday the girls went to Norfolk for a roller skating party to further celebrate the event.

WITH YOUR FIRST ORDER WE HAVE A FREE GIFT FOR YOU!

YOU WILL RECEIVE A $5.00 GIFT CERTIFICATE* WITH YOUR FIRST ORDER . . . OF $15.00 OR MORE WHEN ORDERED FROM THIS HOLIDAY CATALOG.

We believe you will find this catalog a remarkably convenient way to shop for beautiful things—and save time as well as money. Simply use our order form as your "shopping list" and jot down the catalog numbers, sizes, colors and price. Also indicate whether or not you want the item gift wrapped. Of course, should you wish to send any item as a gift to an address different from yours, just include the information in the space provided. Remember, Gift Certificates available at $5.00 or more will allow your friends or relatives to select their own favorites from our catalog. A perfect idea for the hard-to-please.

If you prefer to shop by phone, call us Toll-Free Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at 800-228-4323. Nebraska residents call 800-742-7322. We suggest that you have the catalog handy, as well as your credit card number, to facilitate placing your order. You can charge your purchase to your McDonald's Charge Card, BankAmericard (Visa) or Master Charge. And you're welcome to use this credit card option on mail orders too. All we need is your signature, your credit card account number and the expiration date.

Please note that your full satisfaction is guaranteed. You are welcome to return any purchase in its original condition within 30 days for full refund—regardless of the payment option you choose. All returns must be sent insured to protect against loss or damage.

Remember that just for taking advantage of our newest shopping convenience with $15.00 or more mail or telephone order, you will receive a free $5.00 Gift Certificate, redeemable between January 15 and February 15, 1979, at your local McDonald store.
