ONE-HUNDRED THIRD YEAR NUMBER THIRTY-ONE

Receive $14,800

Chest Drive Tops 1978 Goal

The 14,100 goal set by the Community Chest in Wayne has been surpassed. Drive officials reported last week that over 14,800 has been raised through donation, with still more donations to come in. Community Chest president B.H. Dickey said that several groups active in the city and area will be benefited.

From the monies received, the city recreation program, which provides such varied activities as football for youths and basketball for adults, will receive $3,600, the largest share of the total. The Wayne Recreation Association also provides other sports activities for youngsters and adults. There is also the Middle

Center for Middle School youngsters and summer recreation park activities. Hank Overin directs most of the sports activities. Association directors and many volunteers provide leadership. Receiving $3,200 will be the Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts, which benefits some 100 boys and leaders in the city. The Prairie Hills Council of Girl Scouts has requested $2,700. Wayne troops are active, with close to 80 girls and leaders. The Wayne Senior Citizens Center will receive $800. About 400 Wayne residents participate in the Centre's numerous activities and fellowship. The Salvation Army will receive $1,400 and the Arthritis Foundation will receive $750. Other allocations from the Wayne's Community Chest fund drive will be $300 to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation; $200 to the Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City, and $200 to the American Red Cross.

Dickey said many persons deserve special thanks for the time and effort they put forth to make this year's drive a success. Drive coordinators were John Dorcey and Dick Ditman. A thermometer at Seventh and Main Sts. which was used to keep residents up to date on the progress of the Community Chest fund drive was made possible with the help of Mike Mallette, who furnished plywood for the sign, and Ted Blenderman, who donated his time and materials to paint the thermometer.

City residents were kept informed of the progress of the fund drive by Gerald Bofenkamp who recorded the rising contributions on the thermometer. Dickey added that this year's goal was met with the help of KTCH radio and Wayne High School senior Tom Ginn, who were instrumental in organizing an all-dance disco dance to involve high school students in the campaign. Proceeds from the dance, which was attended by about 240 students, amounted to nearly $180.

Dickey continued by thanking board members, volunteers who helped solicit the funds, and secretary Marilyn Carhart. Working on this year's 12 member board under the direction of Dickey were Tom Ginn, Fred Webber, Ed Carroll, Steve Schumacher, Pat Gross, LaVon Bechman, Merle Rise, Tom Ormeier, Anna Mae Wessel, Wilma Moore and Dick Manley.

Dickey said that he was especially pleased that, because the goal was achieved, each of the nine agencies will receive the full amount of money allocated by the board. "It's a great achievement for the community of Wayne, and residents can be proud of the fact that the goal was achieved," said Dickey. "Thanks to you, it's working."

IT WASN'T MUCH of a job to recount the votes cast by Wayne county voters for a member of the Wisner-Pilger school board of education. County Clerk Norris Wiebel checks the two votes cast in Wayne county. A recount of the Stanton county votes is expected to decide the outcome of the race which has three candidates with only six votes separating them. Wiebel said, the Wayne county votes wouldn't have helped in deciding the outcome as they were cast for the top vote-getter

Beats State Average County Shows Strong Gain In Second Quarter Sales

Wayne County showed a strong resurgence in retail sales for the second quarter, according to compilation by the bureau of business research, University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Wayne county shows an 11.6 percent increase in net taxable retail sales for the second quarter of 1978 as compared with the second quarter of 1977. The rebound in sales is reflected in the first half sales with a 14.8 increase in Wayne county. The net taxable sales in thousands of dollars for the second quarter, 1978 was 9,221. The second quarter of 1977 was 8,261. The state as a whole showed a strong comeback in the second quarter with sales 8.7 percent above those of a year ago.

Warns of Possible Hopper Infestation

A warning of infestation of grasshoppers carries very little weight at this time of the year. Unless it is meant for next summer. A heavy infestation of grasshoppers in many sections of Nebraska, nipping the Wayne-land area is predicted for 1979, unless the weather or natural enemies intervene.

This warning was issued by Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources Extension Entomologist Dr. David L. Keith, based on conditions associated with and following the grasshopper outbreak this past summer in many sectors of the state.

The greatest threat from hoppers in 1979, according to Keith, is likely west of a line running diagonally from Dakota City through McCook.

Surveys conducted in late August by the USDA animal and plant health inspection personnel, showed heavy localized concentrations of grasshoppers species in both rangeland and cropland.

Keith stated that "ideal fall weather conditions permitted female grasshoppers to deposit the maximum number of eggs in the soil."

The entomologist explained the current forecast for large numbers of hoppers in 1979 reflects a long buildup. "Three consecutive years of drought conditions suppressed the development of disease organisms which normally hold grasshoppers in check."

He pointed out the winter of 1977-78 provided a continuous insulating blanket of snow which enabled a high percentage of grasshopper eggs to survive until the spring hatch. "After hatching, the weather continued to cooperate by remaining warm and stable, allowing for maximum survival of the young, vulnerable grasshopper nymphs," he explained. The resulting infestation in 1978 was the most extensive since the 50's, Keith said.

Overall excellent crop yields reported for Nebraska this fall mask the reality of heavy infestations of grasshoppers in various areas of the state this past summer, Keith stated. He pointed out that high grasshopper populations of 1978 provide the potential for even greater numbers of the destructive insects in 1979.

Economic ingestations of cropland grasshoppers encompassed a large area of central and northeast Nebraska. Keith stated timely rains in eastern Nebraska kept grasshopper breeding areas (roadside ditches) green and attractive to feeding hoppers throughout the summer.

He said the longer period of time when attractiveness of grasses kept hoppers in the ditches, prevented them from invading cropland more extensively, Keith said. Prompt spraying of road side ditches by farmers, county and state personnel also helped to suppress the overall problem, Keith explained.

Previous quarterly gains over year earlier results were 4.1 percent, first quarter of 1978; 3.8 percent, fourth quarter of 1977; 2.7 percent, third quarter, 1977 and 5.5 percent, second quarter 1977.

The increase recorded in the second quarter of 1978 is the best gains since the fourth quarter of 1976.

The first half of 1978 retail sales statewide shows sales of $3,350 million, for a 6.6 percent increase over the first half of 1977. This increase in the dollar volume of retail sales, the report indicates, occurred simultaneously with improving commodity and livestock prices.

While Wayne county fared well above the state average, Region 11 of which Wayne county is a part, shows only a 4.4 percent increase during the second quarter—as compared with the same period in 1977 and 2.4 percent increase during the first half.

Stanton county was the only other county in the five county region. It had a 15.1 percent increase. Antelope county was down 6.6 percent, Madison county had an increase of 6.3 percent; Pierce county was down 7.5 percent.

According to the officials of the bureau, it would appear that the stagnation and sluggishness characterizing the state's retail trade sector has been overcome, at least temporarily.

They also pointed out that during the past two years while sales have been relatively unchanging, much of the dollar volume increase in Nebraska's retail sales has been concentrated in the eastern metropolitan markets.

While substantial gains were recorded in outstate markets during the second quarter of 1978, other areas—such as Western Nebraska and the central portion of the state—recorded handsome gains.

Western Nebraska, for example, has gains ranging from 10 percent to 20 percent. This marks the second consecutive quarter that dollar volume gains in Western Nebraska trade centers, exceeded the state average.

Sharp gains were recorded in the South-Central portions of the state. The officials pointed out, however, that while the second quarter increase in retail sales is very encouraging, it would be premature to suggest that it represents a significant turning point.

Nearly $3 1/2 Million Agency Reports on Loans In Wayne, Stanton counties

Loans totaling $3,402,380 were made to 133 Wayne and Stanton County farm and rural families by the Farmers Home Administration in Fiscal Year 1978.

LaVern Ostendorf, county supervisor, reported that loans were made to assist farmers in financing farm real estate or farm operations or to families to construct or improve their housing. Loans were also made to communities and organizations for water and sewer systems.

Operating loans totaling $548,000 were made to 35 family farmers for purchase of livestock and equipment and farm operating expenses.

Long term loans for Farm Ownership in the amount of $226,230 were made to 5 families.

Emergency credit from farm operators hurt by natural disaster or for ranchers in the economic squeeze totaled $1,227,280 involving six loans.

In the housing program 49 loans for $1,372,380 bought, built or improved individual homes. Regular Farmers Home Administration loans are not made in competition with regular commercial lenders. Each person applying for credit will be given equal consideration with out regard to race, sex, creed, color, marital status or national origin.

Total FmHA loans outstanding in Wayne and Stanton counties total approximately eight and three quarter million.

Explains USDA '79 Program

USDA has announced the feed grain program provisions for 1979. Aiden Johnson, chairman of the Wayne County ASC committee, explained the changes in the program this week.

Barley, corn and grain sorghum are included in the program as they were last year. Oats are not included. The minimum set-aside requirements are 20 percent for barley and 10 percent for corn and grain sorghum. The minimum set-aside qualifies the farm for grain loans, deficiency and disaster payments, Johnson said.

A diversion payment will be made for those planting corn or grain sorghum and diverting an additional 10 percent. The payment will be $1 times the established yield times the additional 10 percent diversion for the crop.

There is no restriction to the prior year's planted acreage as there was in 1978, Johnson explained. Any corn or grain sorghum producer meeting NCA requirements may have volunteer. See USDA, Page 8

4-H Teens Hold Conference on Alcohol Education

Seek Answers To Problems

Over 50 interested youth and sponsors from all over Northeast Nebraska came to the Northeast Station at Concord to launch the "4-H Junior Leader Alcohol Impact '79." Learning about many topics related to alcohol use and abuse was the purpose of the overnight conference.

The conference began with registration and alcohol information quiz and a box lunch supper.

Dr. Robert G. Osborne, a psychiatrist in private practice from Lincoln, presented the keynote address entitled "Head Shrinking and Other Effects of Alcohol." Dr. Osborne stated to the teens that, "Alcohol is the most toxic substance injected by human beings." He described how alcohol affects the eleven organ systems of our bodies.

"A.A. Update" was hosted by Neil Boshart, a Certified Alcoholism Counselor from Laurel. Mr. Boshart explained the organizations of Alcoholics Anonymous. Alanson and Alanteen.

A Friendship Party, "Free Late Night Movies" concerning alcohol education and an evening closing completed Friday's agenda. The ceremony was led by Anita Sandahl, Wayne; Sheri Medow, Norfolk; Lisa Wood, Allen; and Roy Stohler, Concord.

The program on Saturday morning included a lively panel discussion about "Parents, Teens and Alcohol." Participating parents were Marving and Wilma Ropte of Coleridge, Ken and Doris Linafelter of Allen, plus Rev. Gaylen Burnett of Allen. Gary Troth, a teacher from Allen served as the discussion moderator. Some of the many ideas discussed were establishing a set of values at home, discussing family problems together, and having the courage to be the first to say "I'd rather not drink." To then find others following the example.

Several workshops were offered for the selection of the individuals. "Teenage Pregnancies and Alcohol" was hosted by Lisa Wood, a 4-H Jr. Leader and March of Dimes representative from Allen. Birth defects resulting from alcohol consumption by a mother during her pregnancy were discussed.

Dr. Linda Ohri offered a session on "Mixing Drugs and Alcohol." Dr. Ohri holds a doctor's degree in pharmacology and works in Omaha. She not only discussed the physical effects of alcohol and drugs in our bodies, but encouraged the groups to share their ideas about alcohol and drug use and abuse.

"4-H Alcohol Education Projects" was the workshop offered by Dr. Leon Rottmann, Extension Specialist in Human Development. See TEENS, Page 8 of the Nebraska State Patrol. As 60 percent of the traffic fatalities among youth involve alcohol, the groups were very interested in the legal aspects of the problem.

Lori Gutz, an Alcoholism Counselor from Norfolk, hosted a workshop entitled "Living in a Family with an Alcoholic." The teens learned more about how normal family life is lost when a family member is an alcoholic.

Meeting Focuses on Citizen Advocacy

The Wayne Ministerial Association hosted a program on citizen advocacy for mentally retarded persons Tuesday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Jean Huskell, advocacy coordinator for Wayne County, described advocacy as a one-to-one relationship between a local volunteer "advocate" and a developmentally disabled "protégé."

The advocate defends the rights and interests of his protégé and encourages involvement in community activities, she added. Persons interested in becoming advocates were asked to contact Ms. Huskell at 375-4684.

Services of the Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities were outlined by Linda Anderson, director of public information, who said that the goal of Region IV is to insure basic human and legal rights of each person receiving services.

The Human and Legal Rights Committee is a representative group of consumers, Region IV staff and interested local citizens who meet quarterly to insure that client rights are protected within regional programs. Region IV is seeking members for this committee, and requests for more information are directed to Ms. Anderson at 375-2880.

Ms. Huskell and Ms. Anderson added that they are available for presentations to community groups upon request.

Bears Lack Height

Laurel Will Run, Press

"I don't expect to blow people away or be blown away," said veteran coach Joel Parks as he described his Laurel Bears basketball team.

Laurel returns three starters from last year's 15-9 team along with three other lettermen. Returning starters are Steve Anderson, Don Dalton and Ron Gadeken. Other lettermen include Russ Gade, Dale White and Clark Maxon.

"We won't be real tall but our overall quickness will be improved," Parks stated. "There are some question marks but if things work out we'll be competitive. I'm optimistic."

Four juniors who might see action on the varsity team are Paul Guern, Lon Swanson, Blake Maxon and Steve Stark.

Parks said that his squad will fast break and press most of the time. "There are no weak teams and no overpowering teams on the schedule. We should have a competitive season. It'll be interesting and fun," Parks replied.

Looking toward the season, he predicted that Norfolk Catholic, Hartington C.C., Bloomfield, Hartington and Wayne would probably be the toughest teams the Bears will face. He added that Laurel and Wayne end up in a dogfight every year.

Yelkin snagged a 91 pound, 8 ounce spoonbill at the Gavins Point Dam Tailwaters on Saturday, Nov. 18. The fish measured 71 inches in length and had a 36-inch girth.

The old paddlefish record of 91 pounds was set by Chandler Freng of Mission Hill, S.D. on New Year's Day, 1975. That fish was also taken from the tailwaters below Gavins Point Dam.

Bears Ready

QUICKNESS WILL be the key to success for the Laurel Bears according to Coach Joel Parks. Laurel returns three starters from last year's team.

Nebraskaland Features NRDs

The special section describes the makeup and functions of NRD's and their responsibilities in management of Nebraska's water, soil, range, forest and wildlife resources.

The December NEBRASKALAND features a few of the pieces of wildlife art submitted by Nebraska artists in the design competition of the 1978 Habitat Stamp. The issue also includes stories of a historical nature, dealing with a grasshopper plague of the 1930's, and a short biography of Loron Bunney, one of Nebraska's first conservation officers.

Stories for hunters, including a late-season quail hunt near Fullerton, a duck hunt on the Platte River near Schuyler and an outing with beagles for bunnies near Lincoln, are also highlighted in the magazine.

NEBRASKALAND Magazine, the official publication of the Game and Parks Commission, is available on newsstands across the state, or by subscription at $5 per year, $9 for two years, or $12.50 for three years. A subscription to the magazine also includes the monthly outdoor newspaper, Nebraska Afield and Afloat.

Flying For Coyotes Illegal

Using airplanes to spot coyotes for hunters on the ground is a violation of federal law, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The only legal use of an airplane in taking coyotes is with a special permit from the Game and Parks Commission which is issued only in response to landowner complaints of livestock losses. In such cases, a permit to shoot coyotes from a plane is issued, but most of the time the actual control is done by personnel of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Animal Damage Control Branch.

"It all boils down to the fact that an airplane cannot be used in sport hunting of coyotes in any way," said Bill Bailey, the Game and Parks Commission's Assistant Director. "Anyone using an aircraft in spotting coyotes or any other wildlife for hunters on the ground risks a substantial penalty under federal law," he said.

Farmers or ranchers experiencing livestock damage from coyotes can apply through the Game and Parks Commission, or the State Department of Agriculture.

Three Laurel Starters Return

Girls Are Quickest Yet

The Laurel Bears basketball team returns three lettermen from a club which finished 10-7 last year.

Deanna Manz, Lisa Galvin and Roxie Kraemer form the returning nucleus of the team. All three were starters for Ev Jensen's squad last year.

"This is probably the quickest team in four years of basketball at Laurel," Coach Jensen said. "We're not very big with one girl who's 5-9, then dropping down to 5-6."

Jensen, who is in his fourth year as head girls coach, said that the rest of the varsity team will be made up of last year's junior varsity players.

Paula Chase, Kay Anderson, Deb Thompson, Jan Cooper and Donna Lofquist, all played on the junior varsity team which finished with a 10-1 record last season. This year they will move up and fill in the slots that are open.

"By Christmas, we'll have an idea what kind of a team we have," Jensen stated. "We'll fastbreak a lot since we're small. We have the type of girls who can do a lot of running and pressing."

Jensen said that his team will open up with a pretty tough schedule including Allen, Wayne and Bloomfield, all considered tough opponents.

Wildlife

Meeting Set

For Tomorrow

The northeast Chapter of Nebraska Wildlife Federation will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. at the Carhart Science Building, Wayne State College.

Special guest speaker for Tuesday's meeting will be Mrs. Russ Lock, non-game specialist of Nebraska Game and Parks Commission of Lincoln. He will be speaking on various topics including Rare and Endangered Wildlife Species in Nebraska. The public is invited.

Preparing For Season

THE GIRLS' team at Laurel will rely on quickness because of a lack of height. Three starters return.

Game And Parks To Meet

The Game and Parks Commission's next meeting will be held on Friday, Dec. 1, on the third floor of the Commission headquarters at 2200 North 33rd Street in the Capital City.

The agenda includes an 8:30 a.m. public hearing on proposed changes in boating regulations for Fremont State Recreation Area. The regulations would prohibit boaters on Victory Lake from towing more than one water skier at a time. They would also restrict boating on Lake No. 20 to five miles per hour from one hour before sunset to 10 a.m., thus allowing fishermen to use the lake during the evening, night, and early morning without being disturbed by high-speed boating. Other items on the agenda include management of Willow Creek Reservoir in Pierce County, and Maskentine Reservoir in Stanton County, both of which are now managed by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District.

Randy's RECAP

According to Randy Hascall

Team spiker on the Omaha World Herald's All-Star volleyball team for Class B. Kathy Thomas, Winside, was selected Honorable Mention Class C and Pam Brownell, Allen, was named Honorable Mention Class D.

I'D LIKE TO RECOGNIZE one individual for an outstanding job of statistic formulating. I'm talking about Jim Winch, athletic director of Winside High School.

Jim accumulated stats for the Lewis and Clark Conference and compiled them neatly on a 13 page statistics booklet. He listed stats from all 13 conference teams, classifying them into different categories, covering every area of football.

Statistics just don't come any more complete than the ones Winch formulated. The coaches also appreciated the fine job Jim did as they indicated to me in telephone conversations.

SOME PEOPLE WOULD probably be upset if I didn't make mention of the Nebraska-Missouri game this last weekend. How a defense can look so superb one day and then so miserable the next week, I'll never know. I listened to the game, suffering as the Big Red had all kinds of trouble stopping Missouri. Heck, it had still been a great season. Then, the bad news came. Nebraska isn't known for starting and finishing a season on a winning note.

After the game, I told myself that Nebraska would redeem itself in the Orange Bowl. Heck, it had still been a great season. Then, the bad news came. Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl? You've got to be kidding.

Playing the Sooners once in a season is more than enough. I was satisfied with one victory over Oklahoma, although I WOULD like to see another. The only problem is that Oklahoma has a chance for revenge and Nebraska has little to gain. Good luck Huskers.

BECAUSE LAUREL High is not in a conference, The Wayne Herald recognized some outstanding athletes last week who deserve special honors for their play. I feel these players would have been named to an all-conference team if Laurel would have played in a conference.

In football, Steve Anderson and Pete Dieckler were the selections. In volleyball, Deanna Manz and Jan Cooper were picked.

WITH HUNTING SEASON here, the county courts are full of hunting violations. Hunters are shooting from the road, hunting without a license, driving with loaded shotguns, hunting without permission, hunting out of season, hunting with spotlights and committing many other violations.

Six people were picked up in Dixon County last week for hunting with spotlights. Hunters should respect and abide these laws that govern the wildlife. Misuse of privileges leads to loss of privileges.

ENCOURAGE KIDS IN KITCHEN
Give the little ones of the household a chance to help in food preparation for holiday meals.

Children delight in the chance to do things for themselves and to be helpful. Besides, many times a child will be more willing to taste a new food that he or she has helped prepare.

Choose simple tasks that children will be able to do with some degree of success. Lumpy puddings, burned cookies or a few egg shells in the pancake batter are not catastrophes.

Here are some holiday food activities that many preschoolers can do and enjoy: Wash the table, help set the table, scrub vegetables with a brush, break or tear lettuce, cut out and decorate cookies, make their own "mini pies" with leftover pie dough.

Debaters Lose to SDS

The Wayne State College debate squad returned from a tournament at South Dakota State University with a 4-8 win-loss record after two days of competition.

Debate coach Jay VerLinden said the WSC debaters are not discouraged after the South Dakota debate. Although it was a letdown for the students after a successful outing at the previous tournament, VerLinden said they are all beginning debaters and often are facing very experienced opponents.

"Three of our debaters have no previous interscholastic debate experience, and one debated only one year in high school," VerLinden said. "They are really in the learning stage and part of the learning experience includes losing some. Now it's a matter of sitting down and figuring out what to do to improve."

VerLinden also said he was quite pleased with the progress of the WSC debate team this year.

"Both Lori Yunker and Karen Forrester are doing exceptionally well, especially considering they had never debated before this year," VerLinden said. "Crystal Bach and Lori Eden are progressing well, and if they keep working as they have been will start winning the close ones they're now losing."

The WSC debate team will travel to Ames, Ia., the last week in November to compete in the Iowa State University tournament.

Four Area Students Among Campus Leaders

Four area students were among the 22 students from Wayne State College, who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders in the 1978-79 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,000 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1924.

Area students named this year from Wayne State are:
Gordon R. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Cook of Carroll. He is a 1974 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and a senior business administration major at WSC.
Christine L. Fletcher, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Peterson of Wayne. She is a 1972 graduate of Wayne High School and a junior English and library media major at WSC.

Park Development In Subdivisions

The Wayne city council Tuesday night authorized the city attorney and city clerk to draft an ordinance providing for park areas in subdivisions with the cost to be shared by the city and the subdivider.

City Clerk Bruce Mordhorst said the dollar amount to the subdivider would be determined by the city council at its next meeting in December.

The consensus of the council was that figure should be "fair and equitable" to the subdivider and to the city.

Mordhorst urged the council to take action, pointing out that two large subdivisions are being shaped into a stage where the preliminary plats can be submitted to the Wayne Planning Commission.

He said a survey would be made of cities comparable to the size of Wayne to determine the dollar figure.

Fall plowing in sod of heavy soils will increase growth and survival rates for seedlings planted next spring.

CLARKE-McNARY TREES NOW ON SALE

This year over 3 million trees and shrubs are available for distribution to Nebraska through the Clarke-McNary program, administered by the state forestry office.

Seedling costs this year will be $17.25 per hundred, which includes delivery. This does not include planting and spraying. Those rates are 20¢ per tree with a $45 minimum in Spring. Fall spraying is 9¢ per tree with a $25 minimum. SCS personnel are available to plan various types of tree plantings and will assist landowners with ordering the trees. A variety of species are again available:

EVERGREENS: Eastern Redcedar, Rocky Mt. Juniper, Austrian Pine, Ponderosa Pine, Scotch Pine, Jack Pine, Colorado Blue Spruce, Black Hills Spruce.

BROADLEAF: Cottonwood, Black Walnut, Green Ash, Hackberry, Honeylocust, Silver Maple, Siberian Elm.

SHRUBS: American Plum, Autumn Olive, Chokecherry, Honeysuckle, Lilac, Nanking Cherry, Russian Olive.

SCS Offices in most counties of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, will forward tree orders to NRD tree planters who will be ordering, storing, planting and spraying trees. Tree planters are responsible for the following counties:

Lee Landholm, West Point, NE — Cumings and Dodge.

Charlie Peters, R.R. No. 2, Pierce, NE — Pierce and Madison.

Star Tree Service, Hartington, NE — Cedar, Dixon, Knox and Wayne.

Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District will plant trees in Stanton and Coffax Counties. Landowners in any county may order through the mail if they wish to arrange for planting the trees themselves.

WINDBREAKS

Most new windbreak plantings in the NRD are for farmstead protection. Studies have shown reductions of 20 to 30 percent in heating requirements through the use of windbreaks, along with simply making the farmyard more comfortable. Windbreaks can be of benefit to cropland and livestock also. On cropland they reduce soil erosion, supply more soil moisture by trapping snow, and reduce evaporation losses in summer. Very little research has been done on livestock gains with windbreak protection, but windbreaks certainly are beneficial during blizzard weather. With the good variety of seedlings available, it's possible to design windbreaks to fit any situation from single to multi-row plantings.

WOODLOT AND WILDLIFE

Woodlot plantings are on the increase in the NRD. Black walnut plantings are by far the most popular, and with good reason. A walnut plantation on the right site, and properly managed can bring a net profit of over $20,000-acre at today's prices at the time of harvest. With the high costs of energy today, there is increasing interest in firewood plantings also. Concerned landowners continue planting for wildlife. With so much land under cultivation, it's good to see landowners set aside small areas strictly for wildlife habitat.

LAND PREPARATION

Two of the most common problems of tree survival are preparation for planting and care of trees after planting. Few newly planted seedlings can compete successfully with a heavy cover of sod. Under this condition, even if the trees survives, it will grow very slowly. Anyone planning to plant trees on an area of heavy soil or sod, should fall plow the area to insure good planting conditions the following spring. On sandy soils this may not be possible, due to the risk of wind erosion. Trees also need to be cared for after planting. Time spent for weed control in new plants will pay off in faster growth, which means you will enjoy the benefits of the trees much sooner.

ASSISTANCE

Rural landowners are encouraged to contact the Soil Conservation Service in their area. They can help you design your plantings and can give advice on the best species to use with your soil and moisture conditions. Cost-sharing assistance is available in most counties through the ASCS and the Lower Elkhorn NRD. If the benefits of trees sound good to you, the time to act is now. Contact your local SCS Office.

Game & Parks Commission personnel post these signs along public roads where a Wildlife Habitat tract does not border the road. You must walk to these from the road.

WILDLIFE HABITAT PROGRAM CHANGES

Lower Elkhorn NRD has made changes in the Wildlife Habitat Program for 1979. These changes will affect landowners who will be signing up for the program.

In 1979, public access by foot traffic will be first priority. Applications by landowners which include public access will be approved on a first come first served basis, until the limit is reached. Applications which do not include public access will be approved on or after April 1, if the limits for the program have not been reached. This change should benefit those who finance 75 percent of the Wildlife Habitat Program, by purchasing habitat stamps with hunting licenses.

Other changes to the program allow landowners to sow a greater variety of cover types including cool season grasses.
