Christmas Activities Begin Sunday at Wayne First Baptist

The Wayne First Baptist Church has planned many interesting activities for members and friends of the church this Christmas season, according to the Rev. Vern Mattson.

Pastor Mattson said the church is centering all of the activities around the "Family of God" and "Advent Celebration".

Following the supper, the entire fellowship will join in singing, watching a film, creating a Cinquain Poem, working on Christmas crafts and decorating the church.

Pastor Mattson said a carnival atmosphere will be created the second Sunday of Advent, on Dec. 10. Several different booths will be set up where families can come and make Christmas decorations, listen to live Christmas music, eat different Christmas cooking, and join in other family activities. The Board of Christian Education has announced that activities will begin at 7 p.m.

Sharing is the topic of the third "Sunday of Advent and those who wish to may join with the church in an evening of activities which will include making something for another person, and making plans to take the handmade items to others in the spirit of sharing. The church also plans to go caroling. Activities that evening will begin at 7 p.m.

On Dec. 24, the morning worship and fellowship time will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will include a birthday cake for the Christ Child, the sharing of the Christmas story, and worship. The activities will end at noon.

"It is our hope that through these activities the message of Christmas will be brought to the community and that the love of God will be seen and heard as we share this Christmas season," said Pastor Mattson.

Boys Are Shaping Up

Blue Devils Are Improved

With 29 boys out for the Wayne basketball team, Coach Bill Sharpe plans to improve over past years.

"We won't be ready for the first game or two but we'll get it," Sharpe stated. "Things are looking up. We'll know a lot more after the Blair game."

Five seniors will line the squad for Sharpe, entering his seventh year as head basketball coach. They are Brad Emry, Al Nissen, Tom Ginn, Duane Smith and Don Straight.

Emry and Ginn join Jeff Zeiss as returning starters from a team that finished 5-13 last year. Nissen and Jeff Dion were part-time starters. Joining the experienced players is Tony Rezek, a junior from Omaha. Rezek will not be eligible to play on varsity until Jan. 19 or 20, Sharpe said, but will see action on the reserve unit until that time.

After watching his team in action in a scrimmage Tuesday night, Sharpe said he wasn't disappointed. "This was my first chance to look at them and some of the kids looked pretty good," Sharpe replied. "We need to work on our rebounding but we should be able to run."

"We're going to run as much as we can and we'll play zone defense," Sharpe explained. "We're experienced except for our tall players."

"This will be a better club than in the last few years," Sharpe added. "Some of the sophomores are good ball players and that'll help."

Sharpe termed Hartington C.C. the West Husker favorite and went on to say that Columbus Lakeview and Wisner-Pilger should be tough.

"We'll be competitive with anyone but Lyons," the coach predicted. "We'll be right in the game against most teams and win quite a few."

The Blue Devils open their season tomorrow night (Friday) at Blair in a game that Sharpe expects to be high scoring. The action will begin at 6:15 p.m. in Blair.

Wayne Boys

A SCRIMMAGE open to the public was played at Wayne High Tuesday night between members of the Blue Devils team.

Good Attitude

Wayne Grapplers "Pretty Good"

With six seniors and a large group of underclassmen on his team, Coach Don Koenig expects the Wayne Blue Devil wrestling squad to have a pretty good year.

"We should win some duals and place high in some tournaments," Koenig said. "I'm optimistic. We have a lot of underclassmen out and that should help."

Six seniors are vying for positions on the team along with 25 other wrestlers. The seniors are Larry Hank, 105 pounds, Rick Lutt 112, Dave Schock, 119, Ward Walker 155, Duane Kay 138, and Dusty Ruback, 167.

Kevin Echtenkamp 126, Rick Johnson, 145, Dan Mitchell, heavyweight and Brent Frevert, 185 are the other returning lettermen.

Last year, the Blue Devils compiled a 4-3 record in duals, won one tournament, placed second in another and tied for third in districts.

Koenig, entering his 12th year as head wrestling coach, says his team has a good attitude and indicated that that was very important.

"We lack a little quickness but it should come with experience," Koenig stated. "Carr (Chip), Schuett (Aron) and Thomas (Tim) are all injured. They'd probably be wrestling varsity otherwise. Barring other injuries, we should have a pretty good year."

Koenig pointed out that two first year men should help the team. Steve Pospisil and Mike Schock, both freshmen are looking good, he said.

Wayne opens its wrestling season by hosting Schuyler tonight at 6:30 p.m. Koenig said that the Warriors are a good team.

"Schuyler is a lot tougher than the year. It'll be no picnic, that's for sure," Koenig replied. "Otherwise, Albion will be exceptionally tough again and Tekamah has fine good individuals. Every team will have some tough guys."

After tonight's match, Wayne will travel to the Blair Invitational Saturday.

Wayne Wrestlers

WORKING UP A SWEAT, Wayne High seniors led the team in practice at the Middle School where the Blue Devils work out.

The acceptance of the fact of death by the bereaved is essential to mental health. Viewing the dead human body will not allow those who grieve to continue to deny the reality of death and also tends to initiate the necessary emotional release. Grief expressed is grief diminished.

Defense Strongest Part of Wayne Girls' Style

Four starters return from a Wayne High girls' team that finished with a 12-5 record last year. The Blue Devils captured second place in the West Husker Tourney the past two years, losing to Wisner-Pilger in the finals both times.

Returning starters for third year Coach Curt Frye, are Less Barclay, Peg Pinkelman, Susie Proett and Jolene Bennett. Other lettermen, who Frye says will see action, are Julia Dorcey, LaVonna Sharpe (the tallest player at 5-10) and Stacy Jacobmeier.

"Defense is probably the best part of our game," Frye said. "We work on defense really well with a hustling zone and an effective man-to-man."

Frye explained that on offense, his team will set the ball up when the big players are in the game and run when the shorter players are on the court. He stated that the Blue Devils should be successful at both.

"We have a good variety of personnel," Frye said. "We're looking for a good year, as good as last year and we lost a couple of close ones then."

Looking at the season schedule Frye indicated that Wisner-Pilger, Norfolk and Emerson-Hubbard would probably be the strongest opponents. The Blue Devils open their season tonight at Madison. The freshman game begins at 5 p.m. followed by the reserve game at 6:30 and varsity action at 8 p.m.

Wayne Girls

A PRACTICE scrimmage took place between Wayne High girls Tuesday afternoon in preparation for their season opener.

Short Wakefield Team Will Utilize Speed

When the Wakefield Trojans take the court, height will be their biggest limitation according to Coach Joe Coble, entering his eighth year as basketball coach at Wakefield.

"We have good team speed and good basketball heads. Hopefully, these will offset our height disadvantage," Coble said. "Pender has a couple of players 6-5 and 6-4 but outside of Lyons, we won't see that many big teams."

Returning from last year's 9-10 team are Scott Hallstrom, who started all games and part-time Barry Jones, Doug Starzl, Tom Preston and Todd Swigart. Other lettermen include Rick Guy and Von Portwood. Coble said that Hartington would be the odds-on favorite in the Clark Division but predicted that the division would be more balanced this season. "It should be a real good race and the division winner could have a loss," Coble added.

"We're coming off a football championship (Clark Division). That should boost our confidence and help our program," the Trojan coach stated. Coble described his team as "a good shooting club" and said that the Trojans will be hard to handle offensively. Because of their ability to shoot 20 to 25 footers, Coble said his squad will be hard to zone.

"We have to go into games thinking that we can win. That makes a good ball club," Coble stated.

Wakefield's wrestling team dropped down into Class D this year but the Trojans will wrestle mostly Class B and C teams this season.

Because of injuries, the team may be short a couple of weight classes for the Wayne State Invitational Saturday.

Coach Lyle Trullinger has only four regulars back from a team that went 5-4 last season but plans to have some good wrestlers. Returning lettermen are Joey Sherer, Alan Echtenkamp, Mark Muller, Mark Schopke, David Stelling, Steve Oberg and Blaine Nelson.

"Our top wrestlers will win and the others will have to wait until next year," Trullinger said. "We graduated seven wrestlers last season and six of those had winning records. We'll know how good we are in February."

Wakefield's record may be somewhat deceiving because of the competition it faces according to Trullinger. The team will wrestle Class B teams Wayne and Wisner Pilger.

A tournament at Elgin Pope John has been scheduled for Dec. 16 so that the Trojans can get a taste of Class D competition, an important preview for districts.

In his 10 previous years of coaching wrestling at Wakefield, Trullinger has always had a state qualifier and had four individual state champions.

"We have to wrestle as individuals and think as a team," Trullinger added. Ed Hula, Wayne State College student will assist Trullinger throughout the season.

The Trojans open in the Wayne State Tourney Saturday and will then host Wisner Pilger Tuesday night.

The Wakefield girls plan to run a quick-paced game when they open their season Tuesday at Osmond, according to second year coach Eric Studer.

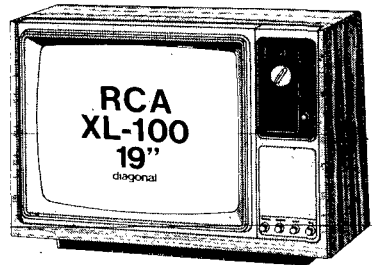

WSC Wrestling Tourney Saturday

The Wayne State College Invitational Wrestling Tournament will be held beginning at 11 a.m., Saturday in Rice Auditorium. WSC will host eight Northeast Nebraska high school wrestling squads including Burke, Creighton, Norfolk Catholic, Osmond, Plainview, Randolph, Wakefield, and Winside. A college match between Wayne State and Morningside will begin at 6:30 p.m., with high school finals starting at 8 p.m. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place individuals and medals for the remaining top four, for the 12 weight classes. Admission to the WSC Invitational is $1.50 for adults for each session or $2.50 for the entire day. Student prices are $1 per session or $1.50 all day.

Murphy, Jolene Barfels and Janet Siebrandt all return from starting positions last year. "With seven juniors and only one senior, we'll be a young team. We're average height and we'll play at a quick pace, centering our game around a tough defense," Studer stated. As the Trojans prepare for their season opener, 19 players are vying for positions on the Class C team. "We will definitely be improved from last year and we'll look toward the juniors for teamwork," Studer said. "I feel we have more to work with than we did last year, even though they will be young." Looking toward the season, Studer added that Pender and Allen will probably be two of their toughest opponents. The Trojans are scheduled to travel to Osmond Tuesday, Dec. 5 for their opener. The first game will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Winside Wrestlers

DRILLING TAKEDOWNS occupied much of the practice time for Winside grapplers as they began to get ready for the Wayne State Tourney Saturday.

5 Staters Back

Winside Strong Again

With five state qualifiers returning, the Winside wrestling team looks promising for the 1978-79 season. Last year the Wildcats placed third in the state Class C tournament, but have lost three of their top wrestlers.

This year, under first year coach Doug Reeves, the team hopes to enjoy another successful season. Reeves moved to Winside from Australia, where he coached wrestling at an all-boys school near Melbourne for two years.

Returning state qualifiers for Winside are sophomore Brian Foote at 112 pounds, junior Rick Bowers at 119, and seniors Eric Vahkamp at 155, Tom Kott at 145 and Mitch Pfeiffer at 185.

Last season, Bowers placed fifth, Kott placed fourth and Pfeiffer placed second at heavyweight. This year, the team dropped to Class D.

The Wildcats will open their season Saturday at the Wayne State Tourney. Last year, they placed second in Pender in the tournament.

Filling in the empty gaps will be two top prospects, Mark Koch at 98 pounds and Kent Glassmeyer at heavyweight. Both are freshmen who Reeves described as promising. The team is young this season. We'll have to mature quite a bit. We hope to be a strong, punishing and aggressive team, Reeves stated. "Once our opponents are down, they should be pinned."

Reeves stresses weight training in his wrestling program and believes this will help develop the wrestlers.

The potential is there, we have to bring it out. If we work hard it should be a fun season and we should do real well," Reeves said. "We'll open up into weight training more as the season progresses."

Tonight's Activities Open Winter Season

The winter sports slate will open up in fashion this week and first as the area high schools open their seasons in boys and girls basketball and wrestling.

Tonight (Thursday), two area teams will clash when the Allen boys travel to Winside to open at 6:30. The Wakefield boys team will play at Pender at 6:30, completing the boys schedule tonight.

In girls action tonight, Wayne travels to Madison with the first game scheduled at 5 p.m. Laurel will be hosted by Crofton in the other game.

Wrestling also opens up tonight as the Wayne Blue Devils host Schuyler on the mats at 6:30. Tomorrow night, 1h boys competition, Wayne travels to Blair for games beginning at 6:15. Wakefield hosts Morningside Christian at 6:30, Allen hosts Coleridge at 6:30 and Laurel travels to Norfolk Catholic at 6:30. In a college tournament, Wayne State travels to Maryville for a two-day event.

Saturday, Winside and Wakefield will join some other teams in the Wayne State Tournament for high schools. The affair will begin in the morning and continue for most of the day.

Many of the teams will see action next week, when the other area girls teams open their seasons.

Wildcat Height Will Be Useful

The potential is there, we have to bring it out. If we work hard it should be a fun season and we should do real well," Reeves said. "We'll open up into weight training more as the season progresses."

Top Five Allen Girls Return

Not many basketball teams return all five starters from a squad that finished fifth in state, but the Allen girls team does just that. After a 15-3 season and a fifth place finish in the state last year, the Eagles starting lineup is back.

Entering his fifth year as girls basketball coach, Steve McManigal says experience will be his team's biggest strength.

"These girls have a lot of playing time behind them and they've matured," McManigal said. "They're playing good team ball in practice. I hope it continues."

Returning to the starting lineup for her fourth consecutive year is Susie Erwin. Pam Brownell and Stacey Koester will be three-year starters this season. Completing the starting five for the second year will be Lisa Erwin and Lisa Wood.

Behind the returning starters, McManigal said that senior letterman Charlene Roth will be an asset to the team.

"We have a good bench with some experience," McManigal replied. "And our freshmen players were undefeated in junior high."

McManigal said that his Class D team is not tall but is consistent in size, ranging from 5-10 to 5-7 in the starting lineup. He added that rebounding should be to the Eagles' advantage and stated that his team matches up well against most of the teams in the area. He plans to run the fast-break and press.

"We were successful last year and we're expected to be successful again. With five starters back there's pressure, but the girls are responding and working harder than expected," McManigal added.

The coach said that the season opener against Laurel, Tuesday will be a tooth and nail game just like always. He then went on to say that conference foe Bancroft will be the team to beat.

Allen Girls

RETURNING ALL five starters from a team that placed fifth in state, Allen is expected to be strong again.

Winside Girls Will Fast Break

Six lettermen return to the Winside girls' basketball team

WSC Attack Balanced

Wildcat Free Throws Turn Back Peru

By Rick Pomerville

WSC Information Director

Before entering their Nebraska College Conference game against Peru State College Monday, the Wayne State College Wildcats vowed not to be defeated from the foul line by any opponent this season. That vow proved to be important as the Cats defeated Peru State 66-50 at Peru.

"It was the first game for us this season that was decided from the foul line," said Coach Bill Ivey, "because both teams had made the same number of field goals and we won it by making our free shots." WSC, now 2-1 on the season, made 12 of 16 free throw shots and shot 48 percent from the floor against Peru.

The Wildcats presented a balanced attack Monday with five team members scoring in double figures. Sophomore Jay Bellar of Watthill scored 12 points, senior Bob Reeson of West Point scored 12, along with junior Wattie Rhoda of Elizabethtown, N.C. Junior Willie Summers of Hamlet, N.C., contributed 10 points along with freshman Zake Lorick of Lumberton, N.C.

Coach Ivey said the balanced attack has been a trait of the Wildcats this season. "There have been a number of different individuals who have come into the gym at different times to give us a lift when we needed it," Ivey said. "We have a number of players capable of coming in and doing the job."

had played consecutive games on Friday and Saturday evenings and Ivey said the Wildcats expected to "wear them out."

"With only one day of rest we felt we could maintain a fast game and hopefully they (Peru) would get tired and during the last 5 minutes of the second half they were tired," Ivey added. "They went to a zone defense in the second half which isn't as tiring."

Ivey added that he was impressed with the Wildcats' pace Monday. Wayne was down 18-4 at one point, but narrowed that margin to 32-27 at the half. WSC tied the score midway through the second half, took the lead and went on for the victory.

The win was the second in a row for the Wildcats on the road. Wayne defeated Belknap 66-70 Saturday,

Winside Boys

A TALL Winside basketball team practiced driving to the hoop Tuesday afternoon in a practice session.

With 17 players out for the Winside boys basketball team, Coach Dennis Gonnerman has four starters returning from a team which went 1-12 last season. Chuck Peter (6-4), Paul Roberts (6-0), Bob Hawkins (6-3) and Bruce Smith (5-11) form the nucleus of a team that will make use in height. In addition to these four players, Bill Gottberg (6-1) returns with considerable experience but will be moving in December.

The remaining two lettermen are Randy Ritze and Todd Hoeman.

"It's hard coming off a 1-12 season but if we win a few early, we'll be alright," Gonnerman said. "Basically, we'll run a set offense because of our height." Promising players who are not lettermen, are Lonnie Carstens, Byron Schellenberg and Brad Roberts, according to Gonnerman. He pointed out that the toughest competition will come from Hartington, Wakefield, Wynot and Wausa.

"If we get some leadership, we'll be alright," Gonnerman stated. "Peter, Roberts and Hawkins should all have a good season. I think they'll come through — hustle is the key."

Winside opens its season at home against Allen Thursday night with reserve action beginning at 6:30 p.m. and varsity play following.

Eagles Emphasize The Basics

Allen Boys

GETTING UP high to prevent a basket is an Allen High player in practice Monday.

Allen coach Bart Kneiff believes that good basketball teams are teams that know the basics well and that's what he's emphasizing to his Eagles.

"Our team will be more deliberate this year and more disciplined. We plan to run our game, not run with other people," Kneiff stated.

Returning starters on the Allen team include seniors Bart Gotch, Richard Stewart, Mark Creemer and junior Greg Carr, who was a part-time starter.

Other lettermen who return are Bob Stewart, Steve Stewart, Lee Hansen, Doug Koester and Frank Lansar. All are juniors except Lansar who is a sophomore. Kneiff indicated that guards Mark Koch and Terry Brewer also look promising.

Last year's basketball team finished the season with a 4-12 record but Kneiff hopes to improve on that mark. "Our players are pretty well matched. We'd like to hit 500. We hope for better but we'd like to hit that mark," Kneiff stated.

Allen opens up the regular season at Winside tonight (Thursday) and will host Coleridge tomorrow. Reserve games begin at 6:30 both nights.

Looking toward conference play, Kneiff said that Homer will be the top contender. He also pointed out that Watthill, Ponca and Wakefield will be tough.

"We're going to concentrate on teamwork this season, not individual play," Kneiff added.

WSC Wrestlers Ready To Open

By Sue Michalski

Wayne State SID

If enthusiasm and eagerness to begin a new season means anything, the Wayne State College wrestling team should have an excellent season.

"We are very eager to get into the season," WSC coach Nick Pederson said. He added that his team is looking forward to a good season for 1978-79.

"The team is young with only three juniors on the squad, but the freshmen are bringing in a lot of potential," Pederson said. "There are no limitations to what we can achieve."

Returning to this year's squad are junior Ron Anderson, a 126 pound contender from Lincoln; Marc Gillespie, a 145 pounder from Norfolk; and Todd Porter of Plattsmouth, who wrestles in the 167 or 177 class. Sophomores returning are Don Scherinkau who wrestles in the 118 pound class and David Ulch, a 116 pound contender. Both are from Beaver Crossing. The remaining sophomore returner is Russel Rensch of Avoca, Ia, who wrestles in the 134 or 142 pound weight class.

Freshmen this year are Tim Fuhrer of Norfolk, a 112 pound contender; Dan Heeren of Hawarden, Ia, a 150-158 pound grappler; Joe Horn of Tecumseh, a 150 pound wrestler; Rusty Knerr of Washington, Ia, who wrestles heavyweight; Roger Reich from Pender, Rolando Saldivar of Axtell, a 134-142 pounder and Charles Salar, a 142-150 pound contender from Peterburg.

The grapplers open their season Thursday at home as they take on Nebraska Wesleyan and Northwestern in Rice Auditorium.

CAPITOL NEWS

LINCOLN — The opening gavel of the 1979 Legislature is still about six weeks off, but the jockeying for position of influence in the next session is already being done.

State senators and lobbyists are discussing persons they expect to see in positions of leadership when the lawmakers convene in January.

Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue, who was somewhat subdued during the 1978 Unicameral, has given some indication he would like to become head of the Executive Board of the Legislative Council — a position some past members of the board have used to wield influence.

The current chairman is Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, who has said he wants to be the Speaker of the next Legislature. Legislative observers expect him to get his wish.

Sen. Larry Stoney of Omaha has said he will probably challenge Lewis for Executive Board chairman.

Also to be decided are chairmen of the Judiciary, Business and Labor and Revenue committees.

Sen. William Nichol of Scottsbluff has announced his intention of being a candidate for the Judiciary Committee chairmanship. And Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha, who will be graduated from Law school in December, says he may be a candidate.

Nichol has been serving as chairman since last spring after the resignation of Wally Barnett, who was appointed state fire marshal.

The general speculation is that Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora will have no difficulty in obtaining another term as chairman of the Public Works Committee, and that Sen. Sam Cullen of Heringford will be the choice for head of the Public Health and Welfare Committee.

Sens. Orval Keyes and Cal Carsten are expected to battle it out again for the chairmanship of the Revenue Committee, a fight Keyes won last time around.

Sen. Bill Burrows of Adams and Sen. Richard Marsh of Milligan will oppose each other for the Business and Labor Committee assignment, and Sen. Gerald Koch says he's considering seeking the chairmanship of either the Education or Government Committee. Some support of Sen. Martin Kahle of Kearney for the education post was reported.

Grand Island lawmaker Ralph Kelly says if he doesn't win the job as head of the Committee on Committees, he might go after the top post on the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee. Sen. David Newell of Omaha was also in the running for the latter job.

Sen. Maylan Dies

One of the quiet gentlemen in the Legislature for the past 14 years died recently. He was Sen. Harold Maylan, 75, who died of a heart ailment.

Maylan, who announced near the close of the 1978 session that he would not seek re-election, was elected for the first time in 1964 and won re-election in 1966, 1970 and 1974.

Although his participation in legislative debate was infrequent, he occasionally delighted his colleagues with flashes of Irish wit. When he did debate, it often was to argue the merits of a bill dealing with helping the mentally retarded, the blind or the aged.

Maylan was respected by his fellow senators for his willingness to listen to both sides of an argument before making up his mind on how he would vote.

Exon Announces Eight Appointments

Gov. J.J. Exon recently announced the selection of eight key staff members who will be his staff in Washington and Lincoln offices when he becomes a U.S. senator next January.

The governor said he will have local Nebraska offices in each of the three congressional districts. Named to head the offices were Mrs. Edie Van Naste of North Platte, Mrs. Fran White of Lincoln, and Mrs. Bernice Labезд of Omaha.

Mrs. Labезд, a state senator, will be given leaves of absence during legislative sessions.

For the past eight years, Mrs. White has been the governor's administrative secretary. Mrs. Van Naste and Mrs. Labезд both worked closely on Exon's successful senatorial campaign.

William Hoppner and Jon Oberg will head Exon's Washington staff. Hoppner has been the governor's legal counsel for five years while Oberg has served the Exon administration in several capacities. He is currently director of Administrative Services.

Also part of the Washington staff will be Mrs. Dorothy Obbink, a long-time employee in the governor's office who will be Exon's executive secretary, and Mrs. Doris Peterson, who has been a secretary in the governor's office.

Exon tabbed as his agricultural specialist Richard Fitzsimmons of Minden, who is Nebraska deputy director of agriculture.

The governor said he did not expect to announce other staff appointments until he begins his Washington duties and receives his committee assignments.

Thone's First Appointment

Gov. elect Charles Thone named Kay Orr of Lincoln to be his chief of staff when he assumes his new duties in January.

Mrs. Orr, who handled many of the details of the gubernatorial campaign, was the first person Thone named to be part of his staff.

In his announcement statement, the governor-elect said Mrs. Orr, 39, "demonstrated during the campaign that she has a broad grasp of details and a talent for planning that is required in this demanding task."

Mrs. Orr worked on Thone campaigns for Congress and in 1976 was co-chairman with Milan Blah of Grand Island of Ronald Reagan's successful presidential primary in Nebraska.

That same year she was a delegate to the Republican National Convention where she served on the platform committee.

In a prepared release, Mrs. Orr said she expects a cordial relationship with officials of the outgoing Exon administration.

Exon has several times pledged he would do whatever he could to assure that the transition from one governor to the next will be handled smoothly.

WASHINGTON — It had to happen sooner or later. The Federal Government is spending an estimated $5 million to save an endangered fish... which eats two other endangered fish. The Colorado Squawfish doesn't discriminate — it eats practically anything. But among its favorite dishes are the "endangered" Bony fall Chub and the "threatened" Razor-back Sucker (where do they get these names?). The squawfish was once considered such a nuisance that governments were paying to get rid of it. Now we're paying to save it. But why is it OK for the squawfish to eliminate the Bony fall Chub and not OK for homo sapiens to eliminate the squawfish?

Plowing a field raises dust, as is called "particulate matter," environmental study shows. Particulate matter's bad for us, or so the theory goes.

'Running Water' in every home

The introduction of labor saving devices into rural and urban homes has increasingly lightened the domestic labors of several generations of Nebraska housewives. The great advance in home comfort and convenience, especially during the last fifty years, has raised the standard of living and general level of health of both men and women. Mrs. Will Minier, 1927 president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, reported in that year on the improvements effected by the introduction of running water into Nebraska homes. Excerpts follow from Mrs. Minier's article, reprinted from the Omaha Sunday News in the Feb. 11, 1927, Rushville Recorder on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society.

"How wonderful it would be for the 'home-maker' of Nebraska if there were running water in every home in the state. Just think what it would mean to the conservation of 'mother energy' if there could be eliminated the backbreaking trudging with a water pail from the outside water pump to the kitchen. Especially on these cold winter days, what a relief it would be to the 'home-maker' — the housewife as she is commonly known — if all she had to do was to turn a faucet that more than two-fifths of the houses in towns of 2,000 to 5,000 population and one-fifth of the houses in towns of 5,000 to 25,000 population reporting, do not have kitchen sinks with running water. Even in Omaha there are 2,000 dwellings without this first essential to good house-keeping. This means that houses that do not have running water in the kitchen seldom have stationary basins or bath tubs with running water. Also many houses having kitchen sinks do not have running water elsewhere in the home. According to the survey, it is interesting to note that in towns of under 1,000 population two-thirds of the houses are without stationary basins and one-fourth of the houses in towns of 5,000 to 25,000 population are without stationary wash basins.

"Why this sudden interest in kitchen sinks and running water? Some may ask." In answer to this question Mr. Minier cites statistics indicating that introduction of running water into the home reduces the infant death rate and raises the general health level of the house holder and his family. She concludes that evidence then (1927), available "should satisfy anyone who doubts that modern sanitary household conveniences in the home make for health."

"To obtain these conveniences it will take more than the mere desire on the part of the women of our state. The men of our state, we feel confident, have a desire to see home life raised to a higher plane and 'home-making' made more pleasant and easier for the 'home-makers' — their wives, mothers and sister. We are depending upon the interest and the energy of the men to help create public sentiment for energy-saving and health conserving home conveniences, and we are depending upon the men for their introduction into Nebraska's homes.

"Electricity, gas and the telephone have made great progress in our state because of the interest of the menfolk. Ninety-eight per cent of Nebraska towns under 1,000 population already have central station electricity. Nebraska is an outstanding state from the standpoint of both gas and electrical conveniences. Now that electricity is being rushed to the farmer's door, there is an additional inducement to the farm to bring running water into the kitchen as well as many other conveniences made possible by the great master-servant, electricity."

Development or destruction?

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

Old-time ranchers of Nebraska's Sandhills who spent a lifetime containing sandblowouts and protecting their rangelands must be turning over in their graves all reports of developers tearing up vast areas to install center pivots to start raising corn.

According to news accounts, these plans reported so far, involve not just the protected valleys but 5,000 to 10,000 acres blocks of rough rangeland to be bulldozed and leveled, exposing the pure old blizzard which, when it starts to move, ignores property lines and fence lines. The danger to the ranch country is worse than from a prairie fire, because as has been proved through the ages, the tough native grasses that developed over millions of years and tamed what was once a shifting desert, can recover from a fire. But man's plows and bulldozers are something different.

What is such development all about and why is it being done? The latest developer has been quoted as saying his corporate group will first develop around 5,000 acres with 40 irrigation wells for center pivot systems, raise corn for 7 or 8 years and then sell the development.

Reportedly a center pivot manufacturer is supplying much of the capital.

The developer answered honestly that he thought he could control the erosion but of course he couldn't guarantee what the next owner would do about it. The profits are to be made in taking relatively cheap, poor land, developing it, taking advantage of all the depreciation factors, and finally selling it for a big capital gain. It is a pattern which has been followed for the past 10 years or more and has made some opportunistic investors a great deal of money.

Consider these factors: The largest reserve of groundwater in the state lies beneath the Sandhills which are the headquarters of the Loup system, and the Elkhorn, with major contributions too to the Niobrara and of course, the Platte. Contamination of water resources from the excessive amounts of fertilizer and water which must be applied to such sandy soils to raise corn and other intensive farming crops is a demonstrated problem. Development of Sandhills irrigated farming units on the scale envisioned by present developers poses potential contamination far beyond anything which has resulted so far. And like destruction of the native grass cover, it is largely irreversible... once done, it is done.

In developments so far, corn has been the major crop and it is already in surplus. Corn growers in good corn production areas of the state and nation are having trouble recovering their production costs. "Set aside" programs are being applied to take legitimate corn ground out of production in Nebraska and the great corn country of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and other parts of the Midwest.

Does it make sense to develop and risk the resources of "God's Greatest Cow Country" to make money for people who want to make a "quick bundle" without regard for the environmental chaos that they can create? This is no different from the corporate land development schemes hatched the last couple of years by Chicago and New York promoters.

When these developers raise their corn crops, the law will permit them to take advantage of government loans, target prices, grain reserve programs, et cetera, ostensibly designed to keep "family farms" in operation.

If such development is wrong and unscrupulous, all Nebraskans will be the poorer for it. But in the final analysis, the residents of Nebraska's great Sandhills will sustain the greatest losses and it is up to them to make their wishes known through their Natural Resources Districts and their legislators. If they take a stand, they will find most Nebraskans rallying to their cause.

Unfortunate

Dear Editor:

It is an unfortunate situation, when the Wayne JC's organization chooses to go into direct competition with a Wayne established private enterprise. It is noted that the competition is not with any product they individually merchandise, but with Mineco's painted Christmas trees. Local Wayne youth are employed at Wayne private enterprise and Kent and Susan Lindsey, Wayne, are cutting, bundling, and loading the trees, at our Lincoln, Nebraska plantation. — V.V. Jacobsmeier.

Congratulations

Dear Mrs. George:

Congratulations and thanks for your letter on the painting lamp. It is good, good because you present some very real and helpful suggestions; better because you made the effort to speak out to represent the unorganized majority. I hope others will follow your example. — Warr Tolson.

Unprotected Red Fox Being Studied

What's the current status of the red fox in Nebraska? Research on the ecology of the red fox currently is being conducted in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources in cooperation with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, according to Dr. Robert Timm, Extension vertebrate pests specialist.

Concern has arisen since the advent of higher fur prices which has resulted in an increase in the hunting and trapping of the red fox, he said. In addition, some trappers and fur buyers have expressed a need for research to investigate claims of declining red fox populations.

Soybeans On Agenda

The latest in product information, new techniques, the world market and the latest agronomic trends in growing soybeans will be on the agenda for the 1979 annual meeting of the Nebraska Soybean Association.

All growers and others interested in attending the meeting Feb. 26-27 are welcome, said Dr. Donald G. Hanway, professor of agronomy and Extension agronomist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The meeting will be held in Lincoln at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, 33rd and Holdrege.

he said. The greatest number of the fox are found in eastern Nebraska. Radio-telemetry collars have been placed on foxes in the southeast portion of the state to aid in tracking their movement. Other red foxes have been ear-tagged to gain information on their dispersal.

Protection Clinics Planned

Ten Crop Protection Clinics are scheduled around the state in January, according to John D. Furrer, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources Extension agronomist.

The clinics are designed to help farmers, applicators, dealers, managers and consultants deal with crop pests more effectively.

Furrer said new information will be presented in all areas of weed, insect and plant disease control.

Area Swine Days Set In January

The first of four Area Swine Day programs making up the 1979 series sponsored by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources will be held in O'Neill Jan. 23. The same day-long program will be held at Aurora on Jan. 24; a somewhat different mix of speakers and topics will make up programs at Grant on Jan. 25 and Scottsbluff on Jan. 26.

shooting animals which have colored collars around their necks, Timm said. Study animals also can be released from leghold traps if no bones appear to be broken and caution is used.

Fur buyers report that pelt prices of collared animals are reduced 50 percent due to the mauling and wear of the hair in the neck region, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln specialist added.

Researchers also are collecting information on age and sex of the foxes, Timm said. Fox carcasses are needed so reproductive tracts and teeth can be removed for later analysis of the reproductive potential and age structure of the fox population, he said.

Rodent Control Planned

A program to reduce agricultural losses charged to rodents has been initiated by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, according to Robert M. Timm, Extension vertebrate pest specialist.

The project will concentrate on decreasing damage caused by rats, mice, pocket gophers and prairie dogs in Nebraska, Timm said. He noted that better information is needed on the extent of damage rodents cause each year to crops, structures, and stored agricultural products to allow calculation of a cost-benefit ratio of damage control practices.

One objective of the program will be to develop ways of accurately monitoring the severity of pest infestations to provide better guidelines on when to initiate controls, Timm said.

"For ever rat seen in the daytime, it's likely there are 50 to 100 more present but unseen," he commented. In the way of prevention, it is believed that certain changes in agricultural practices can aid in controlling rodent damage, Timm stated.

Other topics for the two meetings serving eastern and east-central Nebraska producers are avoiding the summer breeding blues, decks in swine nurseries, fertilizing with swine manure and ventilation for young pigs.

Of special interest to Panhandle, west-central and south-western Nebraska swine producers are topics on getting sows bred, swine facilities, life cycle nutrition and the relationship between size of operation and production costs.

Three new staff members in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources — ag engineers Jerry Bodman and Elbert Dickey and animal scientist Roger Johnson will bring their expertise to hog raisers for the first time.

Out-of-state resource specialists include Leif Thompson of the University of Illinois and Robert Wetteman of the Oklahoma State University animal science department.

Producers appearing on the programs to relate their experiences include Ann Jeanette Lee, Tri-Curry Swine Farm, Atkinson; O'Neill and Aurora; and Ron Kahle of Kearney, on swine facilities (Grant and Scottsbluff).

Four days after the first American atomic bomb was detonated on Bikini Atoll in the Pacific, the first bikini swim suit was modeled in Paris. The suit was to express the idea of the "ultimate."

LOYAL LASSIES
The Loyal Lassies 4-H Club met in the home of Sandy Blendenman Nov. 20 with six members present. The girls painted their paper mache bows and made puddings. They also saw a film about 4-H demonstrations.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 4 in the home of Andrea Marsh.

Ten Percent Food Stores Give Stamps

Back in the 1950's and early 1960's, following a major spurt in the growth of supermarkets, trading stamps became an important merchandising tool. But according to Anthony Gallo and William Boehm, economists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the food industry became saturated with them. Trading stamps stopped making a positive impact in attracting and holding consumers.

Primarily because of changing farm price conditions, retail food prices began to rise sharply in 1976," Boehm said. "Promotional incentives such as trading stamps began to lose much of their appeal. Stamp volume declined sharply in the early 1970's as many retail food chains stopped using them. Another sharp drop occurred in 1974 amidst the food price increase, Boehm said.

Gallo and Boehm used historical data to measure supermarket price levels in the late 1950's before and after the introduction of trading stamps in 21 selected cities. They compared food prices between stores using and not using trading stamps. Food trading stamp stores increased by about 0.6 percent in relation to prices in those not issuing stamps. The study concluded that the cost of stamps was covered in part by reduced costs resulting from volume increases, higher prices and a decline in profit per dollar of sales.

Discontinued use among gasoline service stations probably also curtailed use in food stores because of the complementary nature of trading stamp savings. They were alike because both the gasoline service and food retailing industries are charac-

WSC Sorority Plans Bowl for Hope Project

Wayne State's Phi Mu Sorority is once again planning a Bowl for Hope to take place this Saturday at Melodee Lanes from noon to 5 p.m.

Project HOPE (Health Opportunity for People Everywhere) is associated with the People-to-People Health Foundation, a non-profit organization.

Bowlers who sign up for the fund-raiser are sponsored by non-bowlers, businessmen, housewives and others who pledge to pay an amount per pin. Each bowler gets as many sponsors as he can.

Bowlers will register for one hour of bowling and will pay a $1 registration fee. The dollar includes the game, the shoes and the pins for Hope. All of the proceeds go toward Hope.

Chairman are Ann McWilliams and Linda Barris. For more information contact the Phi Mu house at 375-2003.

Annual fund raising for the hospital ship Hope is the national philanthropy of the Phi Mu. This is the third year bowling has been organized in Wayne. Last year 40 persons bowled and raised a total of $800.

The hospital ship Hope visits places around the world where health care is lacking. The ship is a floating hospital with staff of over 140 doctors, nurses, and allied health personnel aboard. The ship Hope is now being built because the project had outgrown it. Similar programs have been developed in the United States.

Stratton House Grand Opening This Weekend

The Stratton House was 50 years old Tuesday and in commemoration, owner Jerry Brandstetter has planned a grand opening for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 1, 2 and 3.

The Wayne State drama department will present a dinner theater during these days and door prizes will be given away.

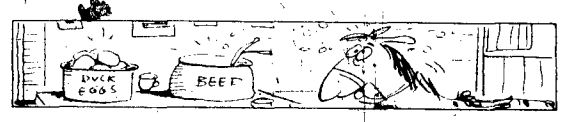

Looking back 50 years, the Stratton Hotel was opened on Nov. 28, 1928 under the management of E.O. Stratton.

A group of 12 businessmen gathered for the designing of the building under President A.R. Davis. C.M. Craven was the chairman of the building committee.

The Stratton Hotel was built for endurance and comfort with a ballroom, dining room and a bus lobby where the lounge is today.

At the grand opening in 1928, E.W. Hughes gave the financial report. Of the $53,000 allotted for the project, $5,000 was left over.

Fifty years later, the Stratton House will hold its renewed grand opening. The building contains the original brick and original areas of the dining room are still there.
