A California man has been offered the position as city administrator for the City of

DARRELL BREWINGTON
Wayne
Mayor Wayne Marsh appointed Darrell V. Brewington, Riverbank, Calif., to the position in a special meeting of the city council Tuesday afternoon. Councilman Keith Mosley Wednesday said he had contacted Brewington by telephone Tuesday evening and that he has verbally agreed to accept the position. He has until Friday to formally cement the agreement. Brewington's salary has been set at $22,500 annually with the city to pay his moving expenses from California. He is expected to take over as city administrator Jan. 15, 1979. The 53-year-old Brewington is a native of Idaho and has extensive experience as city administrator. He was city administrator at Riverbank and west city manager at Waterloo, Ill.; Cortez, Colo.; Sheridan, Wyo.; village administrator at Carol Stream, Ill.; and county manager of Eklo County, Nevada. Mosley said Brewington was selected from some 45 applicants for the position which was formerly held by the late Frederick Brink. He was the unanimous selection of the Selection Committee made up of Councilman Mosley, Council President Darrel Fueberrth and Councilman Larry Johnson. Three of the applicants were invited for personal interviews with the committee after they had sifted through the applications. "It was a difficult job because most of the applicants carried impressive credentials," Mosley explained to the council. The first demonstration will begin at 10:15 and a second at 10:45. If employers would like employees to attend, a similar demonstration will be held Friday afternoon, at 3 and again at 3:30 for their convenience. All Chamber members are urged to attend to learn this important function which may some day save property and lives in their stores, according to Gary Van Meter, chamber executive.

Schultz Reviews Street Program

Vern Schultz, Wayne street commissioner, appeared before the city council meeting in special session Tuesday afternoon, to review the one and six year proposed street plan.

Some four projects, totaling an estimated $295,000, are scheduled for the 1979 construction year. Schultz advised the council that the sooner the projects are firm-ed up, the sooner the bids can be let which means a better price for the city. A public hearing on the proposed one and six year plan will be held in January. Schultz said public input could help form the proposed plan. However, he emphasized the need for immediate action to get the projects in the mill for the coming construction season.

The Wayne County 4-H Beef Weigh-In will be held at the Wayne Sales Barn Wednesday, Dec. 27 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. 4-H Council members Kila Withler, Connie Roberts and Terry Janke will be in charge.

This is an earlier date than in previous years. The State 4-H Office changed to an earlier date, explains Don C. Spitzer, Wayne County Extension Agent, because the earlier date gives cattle a longer time to fatten and this is important for some of the larger framed crossbreeds now being fed. It is expected that around 200 market steers will be weighed.

Herald Reporter Salutes Air Age

By RANDY HASCALL
When Wayne Herald Editor Chuck Barnes asked (told) me to fly in a small airplane to commemorate the 75th anniversary of flight, I readily accepted. I'd never flown before and this sounded like a good opportunity. Then, the more I thought about it, the more apprehensive I became. The old Bernese former usually has a few tricks up his sleeve and this could easily be one of his plots. Nonetheless, as an obedient reporter I arrived at the airport Sunday at about 10 a.m. Just after my arrival I met Joan Hochstein of KTCB. She had been given the same assignment by her boss, Dean Craun. When Jumpin' Joanie told me that she had only traveled in an airplane once, I naturally became more suspicious. We put our heads together and came to the conclusion that Barnes and Craun had set up a conspiracy plot. Perhaps they had a premonition that the plane would crash. We just started to leave the airport to return to our nice, safe homes when Al Robinson spotted us. "Ready to go?" he asked. We couldn't think of an excuse to get out of that one, so we quietly boarded the plane. Naturally, Joan took the back seat. She said something about the back seat being more convenient for using a tape recorder. What tape recorder? Down the runway we went and before long, Al had the plane in the air. It was great. For centuries man had dreamed of air travel until finally the Wright brothers started it all way back in 1903. And here I was, 75 years later, taking my first trip in an airplane. We flew around the Wayne area for about 15 minutes and I enjoyed the view every minute. In fact, I really didn't want to come back down to solid ground, but didn't have much choice. After the flight, Joan and I talked to Al about the flight and the future of air travel. "Transportation is the name of the game," he said. "A town without an airport is like a town without a road."

Season's Greetings
From the Staff at The Wayne Herald

HOPING FOR a white Christmas is this "snow family" which is a little worse for wear as temperatures moderated the first of the week. However, snow showers set the scene Wednesday morning, paving the way for a "White Christmas."

As Storm Moves In Weather Sets Up Area For White Christmas

The possibility of a late winter storm was in the offering as Waynelanders went about their last-minute preparations for Christmas and the holiday season.

The storm was expected to track north of the area but there was a possibility of some rain or light snow. At last report, there was a strong indication the storm would by-pass the area and there was just as strong an indication it wouldn't. November was a cloudy, cold month in the area with officials of the UN-L Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources reporting temperatures averaging one to six degrees below normal throughout most of the state, except for the extreme southeastern portion of the state where the temps were a little above normal.

County Board Election Set

The Wayne County Extension Service is electing new board members in Commissioners District II and III this year.

Candidates for Commissioners District II are Mrs. Norris Langenberg, Mrs. Hans Burmeister, John Williams and Fred Temme. Candidates from Commissioners District III include Mrs. Larry Nichols, Mrs. Roger Luth, Jerry Dorcay and Edwin Vahlkamp.

One woman and one man will be elected from each district. Each household in electing districts will soon receive a ballot. These ballots will need to be returned to the Extension Office no later than Jan. 3. If a household did not receive a ballot they may obtain a copy from the Extension Office.

"It's important," says Don C. Spitzer, Wayne County Extension Agent, "that people vote and return their ballots. The Extension Service by law, can not be voted on during the regular election so we are using this method of mailing ballots instead. It's important, we believe, that everyone get a chance to vote because the Extension Service is for all of the people in Wayne County."

101st Birthday Merits Attention

Birthday greetings from President Jimmy Carter, telephone greetings and birthday cards from California, Virginia, Illinois and Washington, D.C., and visits from area friends and relatives combined to make Sunday, Dec. 17, a very special day for Mrs. C.H. (Mary) Morris of Carroll.
Mrs. Morris was born that day 101 years ago, in 1877, in Washington County near Blair. Her birth took place in a dugout home that her father, a Civil War veteran, had homesteaded.
The 101 year old Carroll woman was guest of honor Dec. 12 during a cooperative dinner held at the Senior Citizens Center in Carroll. And on Wednesday, Dec. 13, she was honored at a meeting of the Congregational Womens Fellowship where Mrs. Morris has been a member of the Womens Fellowship since her marriage to C.H. Morris in 1904.

Mrs. Robert I. Jones of Wayne baked and decorated a birthday cake for the meeting of the Congregational Womens Fellowship, and Mrs. Morris was honored by her friends at the church with cake and ice cream.
Still an active church member, Mrs. Morris says she has held several offices within the church and Womens Fellowship and has taught every grade in Sunday school. She also served as Sunday school superintendent.
The birthday observance continued Sunday when a no-host dinner sponsored by the Congregational Presbyterian Churches was held following worship services at the Presbyterian Church.

About 30 persons attended the dinner, where Mrs. Morris was presented a plant from the Womens Society. The Rev. Gall Axen had special prayer.
Mrs. Morris came to Carroll with her family when she was about 13 years old. The family moved onto a farm southeast of the community.

She attended Teachers College in Wayne and taught school for about seven years before her marriage to C.H. Morris of Carroll in 1904. The couple lived their entire married lives on a farm northwest of Carroll.

Following her husband's death in 1966, Mrs. Morris continued to live on the farm with her son, Harold, until 1976 when they moved into Carroll. Harold has since married and Mrs. Morris continues to live with her son and daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Morris' other children are Mrs. Virgil (Wilva) Brewer of Falls Church, Vir., and Don, who resides at the Randolph Colonial Manor. She has nine grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. A son, Oberlin, died in an automobile accident in 1963.
Mrs. Morris was one of 10 children. Her only living sister, Mrs. Jessie Taylor, resides in Salem, Ore. Mrs. Morris also raised a niece, Gwillfa, who is now Mrs. Louis Rubin of Maryland.

Keeping busy is what Mrs. Morris feels is the main reason for her long, full life.

Anniversary Dance

FRIENDS AND relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Anderson of rural Randolph are invited to attend a dance at King's Ballroom in Norfolk on Saturday evening, Dec. 30, at 8 p.m. The event is in honor of the couple's golden wedding anniversary. No other invitations are being issued and the couple requests no gifts.

Family Dinner, Open House Held For Silver Anniversary

A family dinner and open house reception Sunday afternoon marked the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Gnirk of Hoskins, who were married Dec. 14, 1953 at Yankton, S.D.

The family dinner was held at noon, followed with a reception from 2 to 4 at the Trinity Lutheran School basement. Lori Gnirk of Hoskins registered friends and relatives who attended the reception, coming from Winside, Norfolk, Carroll, Hoskins, Plainview, Lincoln, Randolph, Battle Creek, Magnet, Stanton and Pilger.

Duane Kumm of Pilger, an attendant at the couple's wedding was among those attending. Gifts were arranged by Cindy Gnirk of Lincoln. Mrs. Ed Brogie of Hoskins baked and decorated the anniversary cake, which was served by Lynette Wendt and Dianne Effie, both of Lincoln. Barbara Gnirk of Hoskins poured and Cindy Bohl of Plainview served punch.

Waitresses were Patty Gnirk and Kathy Gnirk, both of Hoskins, and Jodi Dibbert of Lincoln. Members of the Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid assisted in the kitchen.

Gnirks have lived on a farm near Hoskins all of their married lives.

The couple's children are Mrs. Michael (Debra) Jones of Norfolk, Mrs. Gail Jones of Battle Creek, and Robert Gnirk, Reginald Gnirk and Lori Gnirk, all of Hoskins.

KEEPING BUSY AFTER 101 years is important to Mrs. C.H. (Mary) Morris of Carroll, who was born Dec. 17, 1877 in a dugout near Blair.

Summers Burns The Nets As Speedy Wildcats Win

BY DARWIN RUBECK

The Wayne State Wildcats used a combination of speed and control to defeat the Midland Warriors 63-75 Saturday at Wayne.

The Wildcats were again led by a pair of 5-11 guards, Zake Loric and Willie Summers. Summers, a junior from Hamlet, N.C., took game scoring honors with 31 points; 17 of them in the second half. Loric, a freshman from Lumberton, N.C., added 22 points to the Wildcat attack.

Both Loric and Summers used excellent ball control in the second half to pull Wayne State back from a 45-44 deficit at the half.

The Wildcats had trailed by as much as 9 points in the first half, but the teams exchanged the lead several times. Summers hit 9 of his 11 free throws with 9:51 remaining in the game to put Wayne State on top for good.

The Wildcats used their four-corner offense and the ball handling of Loric and Summers to build a 9-point lead 78-69 with 3:28 remaining in the game. The pair took turns driving with the ball to open the middle for several easy baskets.

Midland was led by Dale Engskov, a 6-7 sophomore from Omaha, who hit 23 points and pulled down 11 rebounds, keeping the Warriors in the game. Jay Muller, a 6-4 junior from Scribner, added 17 points and 3 rebounds to the Warrior attack.

The Wildcats dominated the board, pulling down 17 rebounds compared to 22 for Midland. WSC's Bob Reeson of West Point was the leading rebounder with 11. Dean Onken of Carroll, Ia., and Bill Milks of Springfield, each added 5 rebounds.

WSC, now 4-3 on the year, will host Doane at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Shorter Bears Fall To Pendragons 80-64

BY GENE RAY

Laurel's lack of size and inability to obtain high percentage shots took its toll on the Bears' boys varsity basketball squad Tuesday night, and they dropped an 80-64 decision to Pender at Laurel.

Pender started three players taller than the Bears' biggest man, 6-1 Steve Anderson. That factor kept Laurel from penetrating for good shots near the basket and kept the Bears away from rebounding position. Pender's size began to wear down Laurel in the second half as the Pendragons made it no contest in the final four minutes of play.

Laurel's only lead was in the opening minutes of the contest. From then on, Pender gradually built an advantage that grew to 17 points in the fourth period.

The Bears staged a rally in the final eight minutes and drew to within nine points, 66-57, when Russ Gade tallied for a three-point play with 4:27 remaining. The comeback came just as Pender was making the game a runaway.

Pender opened the period with a quick basket to take a 59-42 lead — their largest of the game. The visitors held a 17-point lead three times that quarter.

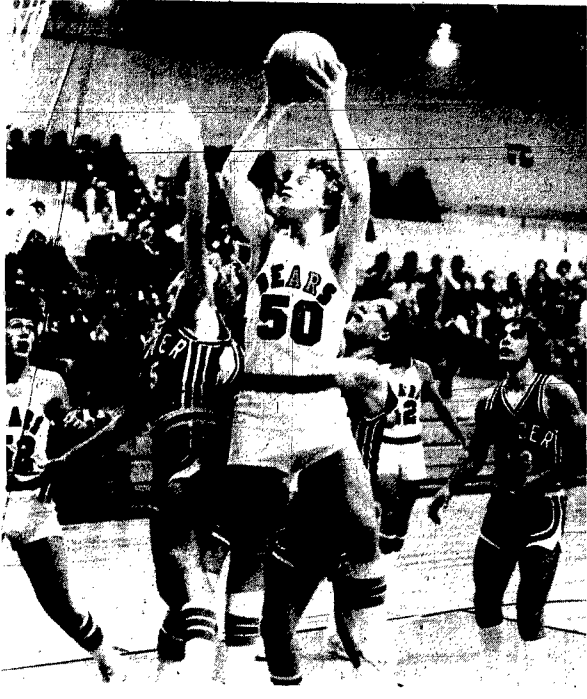

Laurel's troubles began in the first quarter when Pender's size screened the Bears away from the offensive boards. Laurel was patient enough on offense, but many trips down court resulted in only one shot as the big mer hauled down the rebounds.

Steve Anderson led the Laurel offense with 17 points before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Teammate Ron Gadeken contributed 16 points and Don Dorn chipped in with 11 points.

Pender's Mike Filiga, 6-5 center, led all scorers with 21 points.

Laurel's record now stands at 1-4 while Pender eved its season mark at 3-3.

Ponca No Match For Eagles

The Allen Eagles established their dominance early and had little trouble rolling over the Ponca girls 55-34 Monday night, for their third victory in three starts.

Ponca fell victim early as the Allen team came out shooting. Susie Erwin pumped in two baskets early and Stacey Koester and Lisa Erwin took over from there to put on an offensive display in a game even more lopsided than the score indicated.

The younger girls were hot as sophomore Lisa Erwin hit consistently from the post with nine field goals and junior Koester popped in eight baskets.

With Susie Erwin running the offensive plays and using a press on defense, Allen totally outplayed a young, inexperienced Ponca team. Fast breaks on steals opened the game up as the Eagles ended the first quarter on top 18-5.

The dominance of Allen continued into the third period as the Eagles ignited their attack with a good passing game.

Substitute Charlene Roth entered the game in the third stanza after her teammates had the game well under control, and finished out most of the second half.

Allen's Lisa Wood fouled out with 27 seconds left in the third mark as the team held on to a 46-18 lead. Ponca managed to close the gap some as the Eagles eased off in the final period.

With 3:40 left in the game, Allen Coach Steve McManigal substituted Colette Kraemer, Des Williams, Sonya Ellis and Sharri Jones into the game with starter Pam Brownell, who was at the free throw line. Within the next minute, she was replaced by Janet Peterson, a 5-11 freshman.

The Indians outscored Allen 16-9 in the fourth quarter to get within 21 points for a 55-34 final tally. Lisa Erwin hit 20 points for Allen and Stacey Koester added 16.

The Eagles travel to Bancroft for a game tonight (Thursday) at 6:30.

Second At Pender

Wayne Wrestlers Five Pts Short

The Wayne wrestling team continued to perform well but fell just five points short of a tournament championship, as the Blue Devils finished second in the eight-team Pender Invitational. The Wayne junior varsity also competed in the meet.

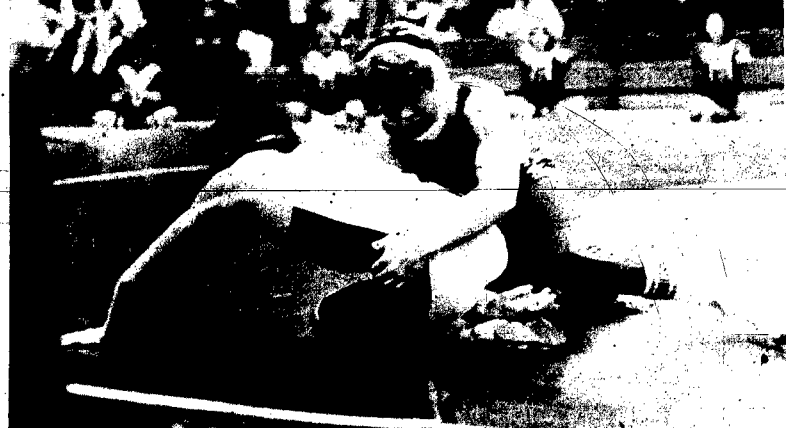

In a most unusual matchup, Rick Lutt of the Wayne varsity decided Mike Schock of the Wayne reserves 8-0 in the finals of the 112 pound class. Gold medal winner Lutt is undefeated at 10-0 in his class.

At 145, Rick Johnson claimed first place with a 5-1 decision over Balmer of Sioux City East. Dan Mitchell was the other Wayne champion with a 7-0 decision over Wojcik of Lakeview. His record is now 10-0.

Dave Schock placed second in the 119 pound class losing to McQuistan of Pender in the finals. Ward Wacker also placed second losing in the 155 pound finals, 4-2 to Greve of Wisner.

Blue Devils Trimmed by South Sioux Beardless Koenig Ready to Start

Mike Schock Picks Up A Win

Mitchell Gains 37 Second Pin

Wayne wrestling coach Don Koenig had to shave off a nearly three week old beard after his team lost a dual to South Sioux City Tuesday night.

Koenig had made a deal with his wrestlers that he would grow a beard as long as Wayne didn't lose a wrestling dual or place below third in a tournament. Tuesday night, the streak came to an abrupt end when a tough South Sioux team defeated the Blue Devils 28-19.

After the loss, Koenig said he would abide by his promise and shave, but quickly added, "That doesn't mean I can't start another one."

The coach hopes to get another good start this weekend when Wayne High travels to Blair to complete the Blair invitational, which was postponed because of a snowstorm on Saturday, Dec. 2.

The tournament was postponed after the first round and will continue with semifinals, Friday at 2 p.m. The Blue Devils will be making the trip down, hoping for a good showing.

In Tuesday's dual, Koenig said that his team didn't wrestle "all that badly" but had met up with a tough opponent. Coach Koenig had to do some shuffling around in his varsity lineup due to sickness and injury. Steve Pospisihil, regular 98 pounder, was sick but moved up to the 105 pound class to wrestle when Larry Hank failed to make weight. He filled the vacancy and Rocci Schultz replaced Pospisihil at 98.

Dave Schock, 119 pound wrestler, suffered an injury at the Pender Invitational and missed the South Sioux dual. His brother Mike filled in for him.

Wayne hung in close in the early weights, losing the first two matches but recovering when undefeated Rick Lutt and Mike Schock picked up decisions at 112 and 119 respectively.

Trailing 9-6, the Blue Devils had some opportunities to cut the lead but Dave Doescher and Kevin Echtenkamp both wrestled to draws to keep Wayne within three points.

Rick Johnson was the only Wayne wrestler to win the next five matches and the Blue Devils fell too far behind to win, with the score 28-13. Dan Mitchell extended his undefeated streak to 11-0 by pinning Marty Hohenstein in 37 seconds at the heavyweight class.

"Without the changes we had to make, the match might have been closer," said Koenig. "But they were stronger than us. I think we had more endurance though. We're not down in the dumps."

Results:

Wildcats Third Winside Tourney String Ends

The Winside Wildcats finished a disappointing third in the Logan View Tourney Thursday as Class C power Wymore Southern rolled up 147 points to win the tournament.

Logan View finished second with 116 1/2 points and Winside came in third with 106 points. This was the first time in three tournaments this season that the Wildcats didn't claim the championship.

Three Winside wrestlers did win their respective weight classes. Tom Anderson at 126, Tom Koll at 145 and Mitch Pfeiffer at 185 all claimed gold medals for the Wildcats.

Brian Foote at 112 and Rick Bowers at 119 both finished second in their classes. Anderson and Pfeiffer remain undefeated at 10-0.

Winside Coach Doug Reeves said he was disappointed that two or three of his wrestlers didn't come through.

The wrestling team will be in action tonight (Thursday) in the second part of double-header sports action. The Cats will grapple against Osmond at 8 p.m., following the Osmond-Winside basketball game. A special program is planned during the break between events.

Winside finalists: 112 — Brian Foote, Winside, was dec. by Dean Alberts, Scribner.

Wildkittens Hit Hard By Overpowering UNL

LORI ERWIN pumps the ball for a basket as Julie Petronis (42) and Ann Hamling (50) prepare for a rebound.

The Lady Huskers of UNL made an appearance in Wayne Saturday, Dec. 16, and stayed just long enough to deal the Wayne State Wildkittens a 98-35 thrashing.

The Wildkittens, now 2-6 on the season, could never mount an attack against the larger and more experienced Husker team. Wayne scored only 22 points in the first half action, compared to 44 for UNL.

UNL successfully combined the fast break and zone defense to score 54 more points while holding WSC to only 13 points in the second half. WSC shot only 27 times, making 4. UNL was 9-14 on free throws, while WSC was 7 of 11.

UNL's Ruth James led all scorers with 18 points on 9 of 12 field goals. Other top UNL scorers were Diane DeVigne with 14; Ami Berlinger with 12; Gairne Murray with 12; and Mathaline Otis with 11.

Lori Overlin of Concord and Ann Hamling of Columbus led WSC with 8 points.

Wayne State will host Central States Conference opponent Pittsburg State University at 5 p.m., Jan. 12, in Rice Auditorium.

Figity Fourth Quarter Hurts Winside Hopes

The Winside girls basketball team took a 10-point lead into the fourth quarter against Osmond Tuesday night but suffered a disappointing blow when the home team rallied to outscore the Wildkittens by 12 points in the final quarter for a 34-37 Osmond win.

Winside fell behind in the first period 8-3 but returned with an improved second quarter to tie the game 13-13 at the half.

The third stanza belonged entirely to Winside as the Wildkittens shutout Osmond and gained a 10-point lead at 23-13. The tables turned around for Winside in the final quarter as turnovers proved disastrous. The Tigers scored 21 points to win the game by one basket dropping Winside's record to 2-1 for the season and 2-1 in the conference.

Coach Kathy O'Connor said that her team made too many turnovers, caused by bad passes and other mistakes. She added that the Wildkittens hit only 24 percent of their shots from the field.

Marci Thomas led the team with 11 points and 11 rebounds followed by Krisi Duering with eight points and Laurie Gellop with six points and nine rebounds. Osmond was led by Donna Koshier with 13 points.

Allen Runs Cold Tuesday In Loss To The Indians

A tough boys basketball team from Ponca handed Allen its second loss in five games 57-37 in Ponca Tuesday night.

Allen coach Bart Kneiff termed Ponca the "dominating team" and said that 6-3 center Don Bourn killed the Eagles inside. "We couldn't shut him off," Then, they pressed and we committed 20 turnovers. They were a good ball club," he added.

The Eagles fell behind from the beginning, hurt by the 24-point performance by Ponca's Bourn.

Allen was led by Bart Gotch with 10 points and five rebounds followed by Steve Stewart with 8 points. Lee Hansen grabbed six rebounds. The Eagles, now 3-2 will play in the Allen Tourney Jan. 5-6. Ponca is now 4-1 for the season.

LINAFELTER, LANSAR HOT
Rob Linafelter with 14 points and Frank Lansar with a dozen paved the way for the Allen reserves in a 45-30 win. Allen scorers: Linafelter, 14; Lansar, 12; Duane Stolle, 9; Rick Gotch, 4; Terry Brewer, 4; Leonard Wood, 2.

Trojans Start Slowly Then Romp Past Wausa

The Wakefield girls basketball team played conservatively but patiently Tuesday night as the Trojans rolled past Wausa 39-25. The Wakefield scoring attack was well balanced with six players scoring from four to eight points.

The locals started out slowly establishing a 7-5 first quarter lead. Then, with 13 points in the second period held on to a 20-16 lead.

Coach Ellie Studer brought her team out hustling in the second half and the Trojans broke the game open with a 33-21 lead after three periods. Jolene Bartels and Ardie Barker shared scoring honors with eight points apiece. Bartels pulled down 13 rebounds and Kathy Gustafson added eight.

The Wakefield reserves entered the game in the fourth quarter as Bartels, Gustafson and Donna Kieckhafer got into foul trouble. Coach Studer credited her substitutes with a good performance when they were needed.

Kelly Murphy with 7 points, Kieckhafer with 6, Gustafson with 6 and Jackie Lueth with 4 points rounded out the scoring for Wakefield. The Trojans, now 2-2, will see next action in the Wakefield Holiday Tourney Jan. 4. Pegg Koshier scored seven points for Wausa.

RESERVES VICTORIOUS
Kris Mitchell led Wakefield's reserve team with eight points in a 17-0 win. Trojan scorers: Kris Mitchell, 8; Rita Wilson, 2; Lisa Biggerstaff, 2; Teri Schwartz, 2; Kim Fredrickson, 2; Joan Miller, 1.

Sherer, Oberg
Win Medals

Joedy Sherer and Steve Oberg were the only two bright spots for the Wakefield Trojans as the locals were outdistanced in the Elgin Pope John wrestling tournament Saturday.

Sherer, wrestling at 126, pinned Kelly of Burwell in 3:55 to place third in the tourney. Oberg finished fourth at 145 when he lost a 2-0 overtime decision to Isom of Randolph in the consolation round.

The Trojans finished last in an eight team field. Wakefield will take the mat tonight (Thursday) in a home dual with Pender at 7 p.m.

New Soils Map Now Being Used

A new soils map has been released for Dixon County.

Two meetings have been planned by the Dixon County Rural Development Committee to explain these maps and to distribute maps to those who have not previously received a copy.

The first meeting is designed for businessmen, county officials, members of agricultural boards and similar individuals interested in the county as a whole. This will be an informational meeting in mid-January and letters will be sent to notify participants.

The second meeting is designed for landowners, farmers, and others who have interest in specific plots of land and how to apply the maps to their own situation. This will be a public meeting involving many interested parties and no invitations. This meeting is planned for mid-to-late February.

Watch for announcements regarding these meetings.

Dixon County Beef Weigh-In

Stan Starling, Dixon County Extension agent, reports that beef weigh-in for the Dixon County 4-H rate of gain contest and Market Beef project is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 6, 1979, from 9:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Northeast Station.

Storm date is the following Saturday.

Ninety-seven percent of the earth's waters are in the oceans.

Area Mothers Invited to LLL

The public is invited to the Dec. 26 La Leche League meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the Tim Piehl home in Hartington. Children also are welcome at all LLL meetings.

This last meeting of the series will deal with "Nutrition and Weaning."

Karen Heimes, a registered nurse from Hartington, says LLL mothers the world over have found that "natural is best."

"Thousands of healthy LLL babies," said Mrs. Heimes, "have proven that babies thrive on breastmilk alone until they are about six months old."

Introducing solids before the child is ready is unnecessary, expensive, messy and encourages the possibility of food allergies, she added.

Mrs. Heimes said that reprints, books, natural food cookbooks and various other material are available from the LLL Library Contact Mrs. LaVerne Heimes, RN, Hartington, for more information.

Mrs. Heimes added that the next series of prepared childbirth classes will start at 8 p.m. on Jan. 3 at the Hartington library. These classes provide couples with information and techniques necessary to participate actively in the birth of their baby.

Dairy Beef Pilot Project

According to Stan Starling, Dixon County Extension Agent, Dixon County will have a pilot project in Dairy Beef in 1979. Dairy steers (no heifers included in project) can be weighed in at weigh day and are eligible for the county rate-of-gain contest.

There will be a separate class for these steers at the Dixon County Fair with the same premiums as the beef class (no classes yet at the state level).

Project calves must of straight dairy breeding from the five major breeds (Holstein, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Jersey).

Starling reported that all breeds will be judged together in one class. Steers will be judged as beef animals, but are not expected to have the same conformation and degree of finish as beef crosses. Recommended goal is a high good to low choice finish.

That glorious time of the year! The crisp, invigorating air — perhaps the whiteness of new snow — the sparkle of cheer in most everyone's eyes — the excitement of the children — the uplifting Christmas music — the joy of giving and receiving. Yes, it's that wonderful time of the year!

Soils

The use of lime will be described and discussed. Soil nitrogen and the use of various fertilizers will also be covered.

The third session focuses on phosphorus, sulfur, potassium, calcium, magnesium and the micronutrients.

The final session discusses theories behind soil testing and soil test recommendations and also ties together all the topics presented.

Participating farmers will have the opportunity to feel various soil textures, and see pH run on soils. Those who wish may bring samples from their own farm and compare them to standard soils. The course imparts information which will allow farmers to maximize profits by applying the proper amounts of fertilizer for various soil types. Improved timing of application for increased plant uptake will also contribute to more profitable production.

There is no charge for the school itself, however, a nominal charge to cover purchased items kept by participants will be requested.

Elementary Students Break Pinatas At Christmas Party

Brewington, we feel he is the man for the job.

Mayor Marsh concurred with the recommendation and appointed Brewington to the position. The appointment was affirmed by the council in the form of a motion.

Brewington has 16 years of experience during which time he has successfully organized financial and accounting departments and initiated procedures for proper fiscal reporting, purchasing and inventory control.

In a letter to the council, Brewington said he is knowledgeable of the federal and state grants available to municipalities and "keep well informed on current and future programs."

Brewington has an extensive background in public works and utilities. His experience includes water, wastewater, gas and electric utilities and paving and street projects.

He has also completed courses in California State University, Sacramento and a water and wastewater school at Neosho, Mo.

He is affiliated with the International City Management Association, American Public Works Association, National Municipal League and Masonic Lodge and Shrine.

Mayor said Brewington should fit into the community and should "represent Wayne well."

STUDENTS AT Wayne Elementary School played games and broke pinatas at a Christmas party last week. Each one of the students had an opportunity to swing at one of the pinatas which were suspended in the air. Some of the youngsters missed the pinatas altogether while others made contact but couldn't break the outer shell. Finally, the pinatas were broken and the students rushed for the candy that fell out of the containers.

Dear Santa,
I would like a big Ford tractor, even though Daddy has one here. Bring my little brother Colby a new wagon.
Could you make my friend Chad's Christmas extra special this year because he's been in the hospital a lot?
We'll leave you milk and cookies, and you'll reindeer some hay. We've tried to be good.
Love, Cory Jensen
Winside, Nebr.

Dear Santa,
I have tried to be a good boy this year. I am 6 years old. For Christmas I would like a fuzzy pumper pet shop, a stuffed animal (Kermit Frog), and the game Jaws (where you take things out of his mouth). I will put some cookies and milk out for you and some carrots for your reindeer.
Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
Denny Junck
Carroll, Nebr.

Robinson explained that of the top 1,000 industries in the country, over 430 of them have their own air systems. Speaking specifically of the Wayne Airport, he said that Wayne must remain open to change or get left behind.
I asked Al what he predicted flight would be like 75 years from today. "Seventy-five years ago, no one could fly, now we fly to the moon," he replied. "I can't imagine what will happen in the next 75 years."
After receiving an invitation to fly with Al again on the 100th anniversary of flight, Joan and I left and on my way back I stopped to buy that generous old Barnesmorner a box of candy.

Fix Cranberries

The widespread use of canned cranberry sauce means that many children today may have never seen a whole cranberry. The situation can be easily corrected — and with a delicious result — by making homemade cranberry sauce as a holiday treat this year. Teresa Shaffer, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources Extension foods specialist, says fresh whole cranberries are in good supply this year and can be purchased in one-pound packages in the produce section of most grocery stores. A pound of berries should cost less this year than last, she added. They are selling at 35 to 40 cents a pound in most places. One pound will produce about one quart of sauce with the addition of three cups sugar and one cup water. Simply dissolve the sugar in water, heating slowly and stirring while bringing to a boil. Boil the syrup for two or three minutes. Add cranberries. Bring back to a boil and continue boiling until the cranberries pop, usually within three or four minutes.

Best Wishes

Arriving right on time with wishes for the merriest Christmas ever! Thanks.

Education financing attracts crowd

CAPITOL NEWS
By Mainline Paul
Statewide Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN — A recent meeting of the Legislature's Education and Revenue committees attracted a crowd into one of the hearing rooms at the Capitol.

The committees were meeting in accordance with a legislative resolution calling for an interim study into alternate means of financing local education.

The leadoff witness was Adams Sen. George "Bill" Burrows who made another strong pitch for consideration of his bill, which proposes replacement of the property tax as a primary source of finance of the public schools with an adjusted gross income tax.

According to Burrows, it's the taxing system, not spending per se, that has triggered protests from so many about his taxes.

He insisted, as he did during the past session of the Legislature, that ownership of property cannot be equated with ability to pay taxes. He also noted the property tax base has been eroded through a series of legislative authorized exemptions. The result of that "fragmentation," he said, has been imposition of an even heavier burden on owners of real property.

Burrows told the committees that "income, rather than property, is the most stable base of revenue for education."

Burrows' bill came within a few votes of passage in this year's session. And he promised he will re-submit the legislation in the 1979 session.

Burrows and Dr. Bert Evans of the University of Nebraska, who worked closely with the Adams lawmaker in writing the bill, said the measure should have a minimum of deductions on the adjusted gross income tax, which would amount to about 3.5 to 4 percent.

Passage of his bill, Burrows said, would make it easier for young persons to buy homes, would diminish problems stemming from unequal assessments across the state, and provide relief for low income people who are saddled with high property taxes.

Financing of the public schools could be a major issue of the next legislative session because voters rejected increased state aid and because of the continuing problem of achieving property tax equalization.

Sen. Neil Simon of Omaha told the committees he is preparing a bill that will propose allowing local school districts to impose a local 2 percent income tax. If a majority of the district's voters approved, the tax would be in effect.

Guard Bonus Announced
The holidays were brightened for Adj. Gen. Edward Binder by news that a new federal enlistment bonus plan has been made available to the state's 67th Infantry brigade.

Under the program, high school graduates or seniors without previous military experience who enlist for six years can choose between a $1,500 cash bonus or up to $2,000 in educational assistance benefits.

Participants, however, would not be eligible for the state's $300 enlistment bonus but could receive the Nebraska Guards' 75 percent tuition waiver at any state-supported school.

The state bonus can be received by anyone who signs up in certain units for at least three years.

The guard has been having trouble keeping its ranks filled. Binder believes the new program should help considerably in that regard.

He said the bonus would be paid at the rate of $750 upon the enlistee's completion of basic and advanced training, $200 at the conclusion of the second and third years of the enlistment and $350 following the completion of the fourth year.

If a person failed to serve out the six years, he would have to repay some of the bonus money, Binder said.

He said the $2,000 in educational benefits would cover costs of books, labs, supplies and up to half the tuition costs.

Committee Discusses Bingo
Nebraska's revised bingo law isn't working out as well as some persons had hoped.

This year's Legislature made a number of changes in the law, including one which raised from $1,500 to $3,500 the amount that can be paid out during one bingo session.

One of the reasons for that change was that operators of comparatively small games in Omaha said it was difficult to complete for customers when neighboring Iowa had no limit on the amount that could be paid out. Many Omahans were crossing the Missouri River to participate in Iowa games, according to testimony given to the Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee.

Some of the witnesses said the new law is fine, but there were many who said it would help if the amount of allowable prize money were cut back to what it formerly was.

Other witnesses suggested not all games are conducted by volunteers for the license holder, as the law provides. This has led to "hired" workers in some of the bingo parlors; several witnesses said, adding that it might be difficult to obtain the evidence to prove the point.

Rasmussen Resigns
Sen. Dennis Rasmussen of Scotia has asked Gov.-elect Charles Thone he will resign from the Legislature on Jan. 5 or 6.

Rasmussen, in the middle of a four-year term from the 1st District, said economic reasons prompted him to give up his legislative goal.

The Scotia lawmaker, who has spent the past several years on the Health and Welfare Committee, said he will become a lobbyist for medical and health care organizations.

Rasmussen was a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in the May primary, which was won by Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln.

His resignation had been expected, and aides at Thone have already begun a search for a replacement.

Expect Good Relationship
Most of the state senators contacted during a pre-session poll believe they will have at least a good working relationship with Gov.-elect Charles Thone. Some of them think the relationship will be excellent.

During his campaign for governor, Thone said he would seek to develop rapport with the lawmakers so they could address the problems of the state in a harmonious manner.

During the past eight years, some harsh rhetoric has been exchanged between Gov. J. James Exon and the legislators. Many of Exon's strong statements accused the senators of losing their sense of fiscal responsibility — a charge that was hotly denied by some of the lawmakers.

Several of the senators said it is easy for a governor-elect to preach harmony but that it may prove difficult, at least in certain occasions, for Thone to maintain cordial relationships with the Legislature.

Water policy and public interest

By CECIL D. ANDRUS
Secretary of the Interior

The public interest is a many splendored thing. Everybody loves it, and sometimes it seems everyone has a different impression of what it is and where to find it.

That thought hit me rather hard one day recently as I faced a national group meeting in a Southwestern state. The organization is dedicated to water resources and development. Its members are hard working and sincere about their particular point of view.

They were also angry — at me, and at what they believed they knew of the President's water policy. And as they glared at me, a funny thing happened. I got the feeling that I had been there before. Almost instantly, I began to understand why; many of the faces were familiar. I'd seen them all at similar meetings in Idaho, in California, in Washington and other places as well.

As I paused to size up the group, it dawned on me that those all-too-familiar faces belong not to the ranks of working farmers, but to federal, state and local water agency officials and other white collar professionals of the water development bureaucracy. I realized then that instead of explaining our policies to the hundreds of thousands of genuine farmers and other water users, I was trying, once again, to persuade the people whose very jobs hinged on defending every water project that comes down the pike, regardless of whether it's good for the greatest number of Americans.

Understandably, these folks come to equate their own interest with the public interest.

So I put aside my prepared speech and tried instead to talk straight from the shoulder to the real farmers in the audience. I can tell you it was a frustrating experience, because frankly, I didn't see all that many farmers, with calluses on their hands or broken fingernails or sun-burned faces and pale foreheads. But I tried to get through them, just as I'm trying to get through now.

The essence of my message was that we stand at a crossroads today. Either we can continue to waste time fighting over the "dots" that aren't worth building, or we can work together to determine where we are going to build the worthwhile projects.

If we adopt this positive approach, we can also decide what's happening to the quality of life in our country. We can sound water resources. We can devote the time and effort necessary to working with the Congress, and to consulting with the States and local interests to determine what their real needs are, and to ensure sound planning of our water resource projects.

—We can do all this if — and it's a critical if — we don't continue to let ourselves get bogged down in endless debates over pork barrel fiascos that would return only fifty cents in benefits for every dollar spent, or that waste millions of hard-earned taxpayer dollars on projects that benefit a relative few.

You see, the positive side is that there is an abundance of good projects already on the drawing boards. The Bureau of Reclamation alone has a backlog of 83 projects with a total price tag of some $14.2 billion. The Corps of Engineers has hundreds more already authorized. And the Administration recommended 27 new starts for the 1979 budget year — the largest number of new starts recommended by any President in the last eight years.

We should concentrate on completing those projects, and, at the same time, continue to develop worthwhile new ones, instead of dredging up the unsound ones that seem somehow to seep into every budget cycle. Projects that don't cut the mustard should not be unloaded onto the backs of the groaning American taxpayer.

That's the message President Carter put across when he vetoed the Public Works Bill. He was saying, loud and clear, that the public interest lay in sparing the taxpayers the old business-as-usual habit of dropping in a few million here, a few billion there, for projects which cost us all, but only benefit a few.

Obviously, the Congress agreed, because it sustained his veto, and came up with a cleaner bill. My object is not to gloat over this small victory for fiscal sanity. Both the President and I would have been infinitely happier to have moved ahead with the good projects alone, and spared everyone the hassle that confrontations bring.

There's no mystery about how to accomplish this. It's a matter of recognizing that times have changed and we can get much more done by working together for the good of all, rather than scrapping over the perceived interest of the few.

The true meaning

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to commend Swans' Apparel for Women for their following announcement: "Our store will be closed all day Sunday, December 24 (Christmas Eve). We believe our employees deserve this day. 'Christmas Eve, to relax at home.'"

For many years, I have felt that all the stores that close no later than noon on December 24, it is totally unnecessary for any of the stores to be open when Christmas Eve falls on Sunday. By the time Christmas arrives the employees are totally fatigued.

Ever since about 25 years ago when all the towns started putting up Christmas decorations before Thanksgiving things have got progressively worse. At that time comments such as this were heard: "At least they could wait until after Thanksgiving." Now we are bombarded with store windows totally decorated for Christmas before Halloween even.

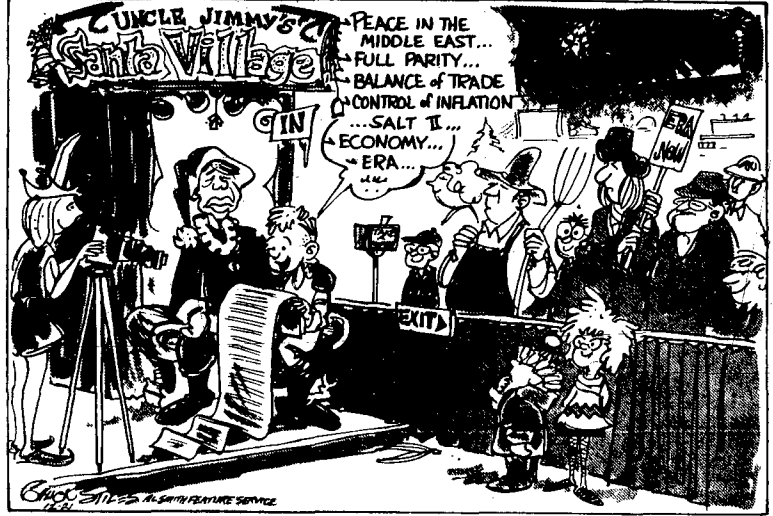

When the Yuletide-Princess promotion was announced, I heard the following comments: "At least we don't have to mess with those dumb tickets anymore!" as well as "Why can't they just run some good specials at this time instead of all those dumb promotions?"

I know you merchants will say the public demands all of this, but I don't believe this is true; otherwise, there wouldn't be so many adverse comments on the subject.

It's no wonder some of the non-Christian cuts took on Christmas with such disdain. The way some Christians "celebrate Christmas," it seems like a pagan holiday. Many of the "office parties" that are held at Christmas time have nothing at all to do with the true meaning of Christmas. If you must have such a party, why not do it at another time of year so you don't dishonor the name of Christ during this holy season?

Many of you merchants are professing Christians. Why not show it by honoring your Savior more and the sanctity of his name less at this time? If your heart is really in the right place, you don't have to worry about making a living. (Please read Matthew 6:27-33).

Again, I would like to say "Thank You" to Swans. Hopefully, this will start a trend toward something better in the future. — A Christian.

Better to be uninformed?

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
Director of Information

A surprising percentage of farmers and ranchers are opposed to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service and its issuance of crop and livestock estimates and projections.

Main argument against them is the claim that they are inaccurate and misleading and have an adverse effect on the market and thus should not be issued. These contentions have been going on for at least 25 years but they ebb and flow in proportion to the prevailing economic conditions of the agricultural producers.

It is true that the market does react to the information contained in the reports and make adjustments. Right now for example, feeder cattle prices reflect the fact that the nation's total cattle inventory is at a low point and feeder cattle numbers are going to remain on the short side for a considerable period of time.

At the same time, slaughter cattle prices are influenced by the fact that placements of cattle in feedlots in the 7 major cattle feeding states have been heavy this summer and fall and feedlot numbers are at record highs. This means that a great deal of grain fed beef is going to market in the immediate future and probably extending up to the mid-point of next year.

Those who argue against government agricultural statistical reports seem to feel that if such information isn't reported, then the market would be more stable and everybody would be better off. In other words, "What we don't know won't hurt us."

Reality says however, that this country had high and low grain and livestock prices long before the government got into the statistical reporting business. Older farmers and ranchers can remember the 1920's when corn prices got down to as little as 13 cents per bushel and cattle and hog prices were as low as $4.75 and $5 per cwt. and there were no government monthly supply estimates to blame them on.

Actually the government crop and livestock estimates on average over an extended period prove very accurate and are getting more so because the reporting service is using many different methods including aerial and satellite surveys to supplement their more conventional methods of gathering the information. No other nation in the world comes close to providing the complete and accurate farm production information that is available without direct contact to U.S. farmers and ranchers.

Those who argue that such reports have a damaging effect seem to assume that if the government didn't provide this information then everyone, including the meat packers and the grain traders and processors, would be equally uninformed. Surely they don't really believe this.

People in the meat business and grain trader already have their own sources of information. There is an abundance of private statistical reporting services and there is no evidence that their reports are any more accurate than those supplied by the government. From a practical standpoint, the only people who wouldn't have all the information would be the smaller operators who might not wish to subscribe to a private service.

Any knowledgeable agricultural observer driving around Nebraska last July and August could predict that the state was going to have a tremendous corn crop. And it doesn't take a professional packer buyer to notice whether feedlots are a third, half or completely full of cattle.

Is it better to base decisions on information which is almost pinpoint in its accuracy and available to everyone who is interested, or to attempt to limit such information to a chosen few with the resources to get it by their own means? Surely there can be only one answer to such a question.

Plant Early Up Yield

Earlier planting in some corn production areas may be a means of increasing yields, according to research conducted by Dr. Charles Gardner and K. R. Karim in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Speaking to the American Society of Agronomy at their annual meeting in Chicago Dec. 3-8, Gardner said earlier planting permits a farmer to spread his planting and harvesting seasons and may permit pollination to occur ahead of hot, dry weather. Results of experimentation have shown that seed selection for cold tolerance can be done without any major effect on other agronomic traits. In the populations studied, the selected populations yielded slightly better than the original.

Deer Hunting Was Improved

Nebraska's firearm deer hunters had a better season this year than in 1977, according to check station figures tabulated by Game and Parks Commission wildlife biologists.

This year, despite a reduction in either-sex permits, 47 percent of the permit holders bagged deer. In 1977, 43 percent were successful.

"I am very encouraged by the increase in success, particularly in the face of the more restrictive season. The fact that success increased even though very few hunters had 'doe' permits indicates that our deer herd is responding to management," said Ken Johnson, chief of game management for the Game and Parks Commission.

Johnson explained that the deer population in many parts of the state is below normal and still recovering losses from a disease outbreak in 1976. Restrictive deer seasons, with very few permits valid for antlerless deer, allows the herd to increase in number by keeping does in the breeding population. Such regulations have been enacted by the Commission the past two years.

Johnson was particularly pleased with the figures from the Pine Ridge Unit. "In 1977, only 27 percent of the hunters were successful, the lowest figure on record in that area. That unit was once our top deer hunting area, and we were very concerned last year. But this year, 37 percent of the hunters in the Pine Ridge were successful, and that's fairly good for bucks only hunting."

Water Reuse Harmful

Reuse of irrigation water may result in the dissemination of plant disease-producing organisms unless preventative measures are taken, according to a paper presented by Dr. James Steadman at the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, Dec. 3-8.

Steadman, plant pathologist in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, indicated that studies confirmed that runoff water from an irrigated field is able to spread disease caused by pathogenic bacteria and fungi.

Concentrations of chlorine injected directly into irrigation reuse water can reduce the level of bacteria and fungi, but infested plant tissue contained in the water needs to be removed prior to pumping by sedimentation and a mechanical filter designed into the reuse system.

Wayne Resident Kubik Included In Dairy Days

Because high-yielding dairy cows are under higher stress, they are more likely to encounter disorders related to nutrition and feeding than are ordinary cows, according to Dr. Foster Owen, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension dairyman.

Owen will emphasize recently discovered feeding program solutions as a part of a presentation entitled "Feeding High Producers," which is one of 13 topics to be discussed during the Dairy Days educational programs sponsored by the IANR Cooperative Extension Service. The programs which are scheduled to run from Jan. 4 through Feb. 9, are designed to provide dairymen and others interested in dairying with up-to-date information on techniques for economical dairy production. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln departments of animal science, food science and technology, agricultural engineering and veterinary science are participating.

Father-son partnerships will be discussed by Don Kubik, Wayne, IANR northeast district extension dairy specialist, with a presentation of a plan for increased investment and ownership by sons. Dr. Elbert Dickey and Gerald Bodman, IANR extension agricultural engineers, will discuss manure management. Barn systems for manure removal, methods for land application of manure and storage alternatives will be covered.

Phil Cole, IANR extension dairyman, will outline the benefits offered by DHIA programs, while Dr. Stanley Wallen, IANR extension food scientist, will explain new regulations concerning somatic cells and Dr. Alex Hogg, IANR extension veterinarian, will cover causes of mastitis, as well as management procedures to reduce the problem.

Other topics to be covered during the series of 15 Dairy Days are: "Reproductive Health," "Computerized Ration Formulation," "Special Feeding Techniques," "Calf Health Programs," "Ketosis and Milk Fever," "Calf Raising Programs," and "Forage Quality."

Generally focused on a county or area, the programs will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m. and will conclude at 3 p.m.

AMARYLLIS
 This lily is not winter hardy in this state, but it is a popular indoor plant during the winter. Amaryllis can be flowered indoors from January through April. They should be placed in bright light, which should include at least four hours of direct sunlight each day. The optimum day temperature is around 70-75 degrees Fahrenheit with night temperatures at 60-65 degrees. The soil should be kept uniformly moist, but not wet. Very often the flowering stalk appears first, which is then followed by the strap-like leaves. The blooms generally last three to four days, opening in succession, therefore providing continuous color for over a week.

The amaryllis resents much root disturbance. It is common practice to grow it for relatively long periods in the same pot or at least one of the same size. If the plant needs a larger pot, after blooming is a good time to make the shift.

The soil mixture should be well drained. Do not allow the roots to dry during transplanting. Pot with one half of the bulb above the soil to induce early flowering.

COLD WEATHER PROBLEMS FOR PLANTS
 The cold weather has initiated the indoor heating season which brings plant care problems. Heating causes relative humidity in homes to drop. With-outdoor temperatures of zero degrees or lower, humidity may drop to 5 to 10 percent. This is a desert environment.

What effect does this desert environment have on plants? Tip and leaf margins may turn brown. Lower leaves on the plant frequently become yellow and drop. Ferns, and other plants demanding high humidity show the first symptoms. But most plants, with the exception of the succulents, eventually show stress from low humidity.

To improve the indoor environment, use a room or furnace humidifier. A lower room temperature will also maintain a higher humidity. Plants may be moved into the kitchen or bathroom which have higher humidity than other rooms in the home. If light is limited, consider installing fluorescent fixtures in those areas to overcome the light problem.

Feeders Elect Officers, Brenda Gustafson On Auxiliary Slate

Over 800 representatives of the 4,300 member Nebraska Live Stock Feeders Association closed out their 3-day 35th Annual Meeting and Convention at the Holiday Inn, Omaha, by taking close looks at such matters as market reporting, inflation, government controls and the water situation, then adopting official association policies to guide their organization in the coming year.

The livestock feeders elected a new leader for 1979, giving unanimous approval of Rowland McClymont, a Holdrege, cattle feeder, as their new president. He was moved up from 1st vice president and succeeds William Krejci, of Fairmont, who served as president two years.

The feeders elected Max Kellough, a cattle feeder from Friend, as their 1st vice president. He was previously 2nd vice president. They named as their 2nd vice president for the coming year, Larry Schram, a feedlot operator at Papillion.

The Nebraskans re-elected as their directors to the National Cattlemen's Association, with which the Nebraska group is affiliated: Wayne Hendrickson, Kearney; John C. Klosterman, David City; Melvin O. Kuska, Fairmont; William Krejci, Fairmont; Rowland McClymont, Holdrege; and Max Kellough, Friend.

Wakefield Women President
The Feeders Auxiliary also elected a new slate of officers. Brenda Gustafson of Wakefield was elected the new president to succeed Karen Forbes of Palmer. Beth Klosterman of David City was elected as 1st vice president and Ann Bruntz of Friend became the new 2nd vice president. Joan Krabel of Hastings was elected as the new Secretary-Treasurer.

At the annual meeting the ladies presented an award to the Northeast Feeders Auxiliary for outstanding achievement in red meat promotion and membership. The Northeast president, Mrs. Mary Bruns of Pender accepted the award.

In the convention banquet Tuesday evening, the feeders presented their Distinguished Service Award to a past president of their organization, Robert Ray, a Norfolk cattle feeder for many years and now a resident of Cypress Gardens, Florida.

The association posthumously presented a special award for outstanding work in agricultural journalism to the late Donald Ringler, of the Omaha World-Herald. The award was received by his son, Scott Ringler, of Omaha.

The Nebraska Feeders Auxiliary presented their Individual Achievement Award to Mrs. Doris Royal, of Springfield, for her continued efforts to have the U.S. Congress improve the status of business and farm wives in inheritance tax laws.

Retiring NLFA president William Krejci was honored with a past-president's plaque by the trade group.

Miss Linda Kay Rodehorst, of Columbus was crowned 1979 Nebraska Feeders Queen at the close of the banquet program. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rodehorst.

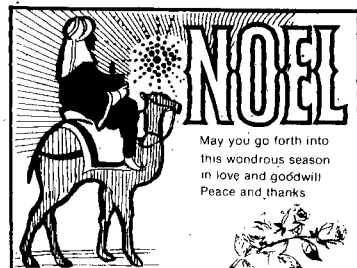

Named first-runner-up by the queen judging committee was Lori Muehlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Muehlich of Rogers. The second runner-up from the 18 queen candidates was Wendy Praeuner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Praeuner of Battle Creek.

At the Tuesday evening banquet program, the livestock feeders, wives and guests, gave repeated applause to Mrs. Barbara Keating, president of the Consumer Alert Council, New York City, for her remarks warning of too much government control and spending in many segments of the U.S. economy.

Throughout their 3-day convention, the feeders heard speakers on a wide range of subjects, including heart disease, succeeding in business, the promotion of red meats, the cattle scabies control program, the water situation in Nebraska, and a look at the one-year-old National Cattlemen's Association.

The Feeders and Auxiliary selected Kearney as the site for their 1979 annual meeting, convention and trade show. The dates will be Nov. 26, 27 and 28, 1979.

May you go forth into this wondrous season in love and goodwill. Peace and thanks.

WOMEN MILLIONAIRES outnumber the male of this species.

Marriages in the United States are on the increase; however, women are waiting longer to wed—their average age at marriage is now over 21 years. According to a recent poll, three out of four women say marriage and children are among the most important elements they need for an ideal life.

More and more women who graduate from high school are going on to graduate from college as well. About 25 percent are doing it now, as compared to 9 percent at the turn of the century. Increasingly, America's young women are moving on to graduate and professional schools. (About 22 percent of first year law students and 18 percent of medical students are women.)

Nebraska Grain Supply Makes Up 21 Percent of Nation

"Wait until next year." This oft-uttered phrase in athletics was voiced Tuesday, Nov. 28 as a concern that another large wheat and feed grain crop in Nebraska and the U.S. is likely to push the sides out of bins and the bottom out of prices.

The Nebraska Grain Storage, Marketing and Utilization Committee, meeting on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus with several members absent, assessed the current overall situation in Nebraska as being better than could have been hoped for at harvest time, despite some huge piles of grain along railroad sidings and on city streets.

The redeeming factor, members agreed, is the surprisingly good prices being paid for new crop corn in the face of an all-time record crop in Nebraska.

The sagging U.S. dollar, adverse to other facets of the economy, is credited with keeping exports of wheat and feed grains at a high level, thus buoying up the price.

Marx Koehnke, director of international marketing, Nebraska Department of Agriculture also said that the "pipeline" of wheat to U.S. ports is staying fairly open, which is keeping grain moving. Rail cars from large terminals are getting wheat to ports, and there is no backup of shipping such as is being experienced in Canada, to the detriment of Canadian sales abroad, he explained.

The Union Pacific will lower its rates to match those of the Denver and Rio Grande Western and the Southern Pacific for hauling wheat from Denver to the West Coast port. Rates will be credited to farmers as far east as Nebraska. This will directly benefit growers in western Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado, Koehnke said.

In reviewing the grain situation in Nebraska, the committee found that "disappearance" from existing stocks from June to September was substantially higher than earlier estimates. In essence, this only offset the increase in the estimate for the total Nebraska corn crop from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1 in assessing adequacy of grain storage capacity.

It also was noted that all listed storage is not usable — "for example, if a bin is half full of soybeans, you can't throw wheat in on top of it," and available storage is not always in the area where the grain glut exists.

Harold Rademacher of the Nebraska State ASCS office expressed the opinion that there is more farm storage actually constructed and in use than the 832.8 million-bushel capacity reported by the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service Nov. 22.

However, he said farmers "have borrowed to the hilt" to put up an unprecedented amount of storage this year, and warned that it is necessary for the state to have a disproportionately large amount of commercial and on-farm storage. This is related in turn, he said, to the transportation bottleneck of getting rail cars to move grain, especially from country elevators and on-farm storage to large terminals on main lines which can handle large hopper cars and unit trains.

Rademacher pointed out that Nebraska, with 225,800,000 bushels of grain accounts for 21 percent of the entire national grain reserve.

Dr. D.G. Hanway of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agronomy department and committee chairman, said the two overriding goals of Nebraska producers and the industry must be to keep working on market development overseas and to take care of grain in storage, which is an investment which must be protected from losing value.

The committee noted that possible increased domestic use of feed grains is not expected to receive much help in 1979 from the livestock industry, especially through beef cattle feeding, because cattle producers are still holding down herd inventories.

Two other factors cited by the committee which raise the odds of a 1979 bumper grain crop are the greater stability of the state's corn acreage in relation to water needs (more than two-thirds of this year's acreage is under irrigation) and doubts that a 10 percent cut in corn acreage by farmers would have significant effect on total crop yield in relation to total supplies.

Hanway noted that milo, wheat and soybeans in Nebraska continue to be primarily dryland crops, and thus are more at the mercy of weather conditions.

Much of the new on-farm storage is built to accommodate aeration and potentially can keep grain in good condition under correct management, he said.

However, concern was expressed that many western Nebraska wheat growers do not have good aeration facilities and run the risk of wheat going out of condition.

Rademacher reported that about three percent of 9,838 crop producers who have grain under loan in the farm program, has problems with grain in storage when a survey was made in September and October.

Of the 230 facilities where problems were identified by ASCS inspectors, 102 showed grain was heating, and 230 contained grain with insect damage. The two conditions are related, Rademacher pointed out, as insect damage can cause grain to heat. In 33 instances, both insect damage and heating were present.

The survey, which was state wide and covered all types of grain in storage, prompted 16 producers to rotate grain in the bin and 342 to rectify the problem in some way (drying, treating for insects, etc.). ASCS county committees were forced to call in 30 loans because insufficient action was taken to stop grain from being damaged, Rademacher said.

FACTS & FIGURES
According to the United States Bureau of Economic Analysis, Americans spend about $60 billion on clothing every year. Back in the 1950's, we spent less than a third of that.

According to industry economists, a new cotton dust standard would require the cotton industry to purchase up to $2.6 billion in new equipment and would drive up consumer apparel and home furnishings prices. Industry spokesmen say the unneeded regulations are an example of regulatory overkill.

What's the sweetest month of all? January, of course, for it's National Candy Month! So instead of succumbing to a postholiday slump this year, sweeten your winter with candy confections.

Although almost everyone appreciates receiving holiday, anniversary and birthday gifts, few gifts charm so much as the unexpected ones that simply say, "I was thinking about you." A gift of candy conveys "sweets to the sweet."
