Herald Coloring Contest Winners are Announced

A 13-year-old Wayne Middle School student won first place honors in Division II of the Wayne Herald coloring contest. Michelle Sherlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sherlock of Wayne, an eighth grade student, won the prize for her coloring of the State National Bank ad in The Wayne Herald Christmas issue.

A second grader at School District 57, seven-year-old Chad Blecke, was the winner in Division I, open to students in kindergarten through the third grade.

Chad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Blecke of rural Wayne, colored the greeting ad placed by Discount Furniture of Wayne. The ad shows an outside lamp decorated with holly and ivy in front of a house adorned with Christmas decorations in the window.

The winning entry in Division II, open to fourth through eighth grade students, includes a large "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year" decorated by Michelle with gold and silver glitter, and a chair which Michelle colored in various shades. The entire ad was outlined with gold glitter.

Michelle and Chad received $8 each for their first place entries.

Second place in the junior division was won this year by seven-year-old Kristin Kay Rohde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rohde of Carroll, Kristin, a second grader at Carroll, chose "Happy New Year" decorated by Michelle with gold and silver glitter, and a chair which Michelle colored in various shades. The entire ad was outlined with gold glitter.

Michelle and Brad received $8 each for their first place entries.

Second place in the junior division was won this year by seven-year-old Kristin Kay Rohde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rohde of Carroll, Kristin, a second grader at Carroll, chose "Happy New Year" decorated by Michelle with gold and silver glitter, and a chair which Michelle colored in various shades. The entire ad was outlined with gold glitter.

Rhonda Suehl, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Suehl of rural Pilger, won third place in the junior division. See WINNERS, Page 10

The News in Brief

Rehearsals for Sinfonia

The Wayne State College (WSC) Northeast Nebraska Sinfonia will begin rehearsals for the second half of the 1978-79 season at 7 p.m., tonight (Monday) Jan. 8, in Room 23 of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building at WSC.

Director Michael Palumbo said all interested players from the Northeast Nebraska region are invited to perform in the group. Instruments are furnished for the rehearsals, held each Monday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. No audition is required but regular attendance is needed.

The Northeast Nebraska Sinfonia is affiliated with WSC and participating members are eligible for one-hour of college credit. The group performs concerts throughout the year.

For further information on the Sinfonia contact Michael Palumbo at 375-2200.

Schedule Meeting

Wayne's Izak Walton League will hold its regular meeting tonight (Monday) in the meeting room of the First National Agency.

Secretary-treasurer Norris Weible said the meeting is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

WSC Registration Begins

Second semester registration at Wayne State College begins today (Monday) Jan. 8, from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Residence halls opened at noon, Sunday, Jan. 7, and regular classes will begin Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Students not already enrolled should pick up a registration packet in the Computer Center in the basement of the Hahn Administration building. Students should complete the enclosed cards and proceed to the third floor to visit with advisers. Class cards from various departments should then be picked up and returned to the Computer Center.

Tuition for Nebraska residents is $17 per credit hour and $30 for non-residents. Tuition fees are assessed according to the number of hours the student is enrolled. Tuition and fees will be payable Jan. 23, 24 and 25, after all class changes have been made.

Students enrolling in evening classes only can register at regular registration and from 5 to 6:30 p.m. in the WSC Computer Center, the date of the first class meeting. Evening classes begin Monday, Jan. 8.

Registration for WSC Extended Campus courses will be See NEWS BRIEFS, Page 10

Area Farmers In Health Study

A number of Wayne county farmers and commercial pesticide applicators will be participating in a University of Nebraska study to determine health risks from exposure to certain pesticides.

According to Wayne County Extension Agent, Don C. Spitz, there will be approximately 300 applicators in 10 Nebraska counties participating in the study. The objective of the study is to determine possible pesticide contamination by applicators of organophosphorus and carbamate insecticides.

This is done by measuring pre and post application levels of certain blood enzyme. This enzyme is important in the normal function of the nervous system.

A survey made during the past year indicated that 70 percent of the applicators used the pesticides with safe limits. The remaining 30 percent showed significant contamination levels although none required medical attention.

This year's study will be conducted to confirm results of See STUDY, Page 10

Sizeable Increases

Tax Bite Gnaws Property Owners

Notices to Wayne county taxpayers show that real property is carrying the bulk of the tax load.

Many real property owners in the county are facing a 10 to 35 percent tax increase. Information from County Assessor Doris Stipp said that the tax load probably will not lessen in the near future.

She attributed three things to the increase in the property taxes — the first year of a three-year phase out of certain personal property taxes, a 30 percent rollback of appraisals as computed Jan. 1, 1978 and inflation.

Last year, farm machinery was not being taxed which means an assessed valuation loss of some $612,860. "This amount has to be picked up somewhere and that 'where' is real property taxes," Mrs. Stipp explained.

Mrs. Stipp said normally the county picks up from $1 million to $1 1/2 million in assessed valuations during a year. Because of the three factors, Wayne county picked up only $380,190 over the 1977 valuations.

She blamed the state board of equalization for a part of the taxpayers' woes as it mandated that Wayne county push back its assessed valuations 30 percent.

"Last year was a political year and the entire state was penalized for failure of the heavily populated counties of Douglas and Lancaster to meet the Jan. 1 deadline for completion of appraisal," Mrs. Stipp explained. The board ruled that Wayne and other counties rollback their property appraisals by 30 percent.

The county assessor said the 1978 taxes will be computed on 100 percent valuation but the second year of the three year personal property phase out will be taken into consideration. "And inflation will also be a dominating factor," she pointed out.

The second year excludes business inventory which means a loss of $605,000 in valuation to Wayne county as well as the loss of farm machinery valuation.

The third year of the program will be even worse as livestock will be excluded from the tax rolls which will mean a whopping $2 million loss to Wayne county.

Mrs. Stipp said she feels the new appraisals of real property in the county are fair and equitable. "No property owner can truthfully say his property is over valued," Mrs. Stipp stated. She explained that property valuations are more equalized than they have been for a good many years.

The county assessor said the major complaint by taxpayers is that taxes are not equalized. She pointed out budgets of tax supported agencies are determined by need and levy. Where the property is located determines to a great measure its tax burden."

She referred to the several taxing districts in the county, stating that the cost of tax supported subdivisions will differ from that of another district, putting more of a tax load on the real estate.

Mrs. Stipp also used the City of Wayne as an example of where the tax money comes from and those areas where it is spent.

She said 80 percent of the valuation is taken from real property. Four percent comes from special assessments such as telephone, pipeline, etc. and See TAX BITE, Page 10

Council to Hear Resolution

A resolution concerning the All-Nebraska Community program will be introduced before the Wayne city council at its regular meeting to be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Frederic Brink council chambers in city hall.

Trial Date Set

A lawsuit aimed at blocking the proposed Willow Creek project near Pierce has been set for trial Feb. 26 in Pierce County District court.

The suit is being brought by ten Pierce county residents who want the project stopped. The suit was filed last Jan. 26 by the residents, three of whom own land in the project area two miles southwest of Pierce. Opponents contend the $5.2 million park and flood control project is not economically feasible and possesses an unfavorable cost-benefit ratio.

The council will also hold a bid opening at 8 p.m. for a new police cruiser. A public hearing is scheduled for 8:15 p.m.

Another public hearing on a request to rezone lot 7, and the south one-half of lot 8, block 5, and lots 5 and 6, block 6, John Lake's Addition to the City of Wayne at 8:15 p.m.

The council will also hold public hearing on the proposed one and six year street plan, set to begin at 8:30 p.m.

Other business includes a special permit request by Steve Schumacher, flashing red lights by the Wayne fire chief, a resolution to close alleys, acting on Ordinance 935 for rezoning, a resolution on parking on Clay comb and Grainland Road, Hillside Road access and storm sewer district 77-1 (both by city clerk).

The agenda calls for Mayor Wayne Marsh to adjourn the meeting at 9:15 p.m.

Four Elected To County Extension Board

Four new members have been elected to the Wayne County Extension Board, according to Don C. Spitz, Wayne County Extension Agent.

Mrs. Norris Langenberg and Frederick Temme were elected from Commissioners District II and Mrs. Larry Nichols and Edwin Vanh Kamp from Commissioners District III.

Newly appointed board members include Mrs. Herb Niemann, Home Extension Council representative, and Sam Schroeder, 4-H Council representative on the board.

Other members of the board are: Mrs. Duane Lutt and Merlin Heinemann from Commissioners District I.

Soil Data Meet Set

A public hearing Jan. 17 will unveil the new soil survey of Dixon county, according to Stan Stirling, Dixon county agent. The meeting will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the North East Station near Concord.

The Dixon county survey provides an acre-by-acre analysis of the county's soil. Stirling stated. He said this information can be a useful management tool to many people including farmers and ranchers who can determine a range site, the land's potential for irrigation and even production potential of grass or crops on the land.

Stirling pointed out engineers and home builders can also use the survey to determine the best construction or home sites, real estate and tax people can use it to appraise the land and govern.

Final Over-the-Shoulder Look at 1978... The Year that Was

The second six months of 1978 got off to a bang in the Wayneland area with traditional Fourth of July celebrations plus a promise of bumper crops. News highlights during the second six months include:

JULY

Work moves along on the Roosevelt Park storm sewer project. The newly located Legal Aid Society announces its Wayne office is open for business. An Aerospace workshop is scheduled at Wayne State College.

Some of the air in the agricultural balloon is let out as lack of moisture and corn borers begin to take a toll on area crops. Creighton University medical student learns "rural medicine" under the guidance of Dr. Bob Benhach. Temperatures top 100 degree mark for the first time during the new summer.

Ann Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Perry, is the 3,000th visitor at the Wayne County museum. Welcome rains back up some of the downtown storm sewers. District Judge Eugene McFadden orders new evaluation and continuation of sentencing of Kansas man who pleaded guilty to sexual assault.

A new twist as the Wayne Airport Authority asks for less money than the previous year in a budget presentation. Rural customers of Mother Bell in the Wayneland area are surveyed to find out means to provide better service. The Wayne-Carroll school system maintains AA rating.

Highway 15 North is scheduled to get a badly needed face-lifting. Wayne city council takes a long look at proposed city budget. Jackson County takes a walk through of the downtown district to determine those areas of sidewalks which need attention. Carroll plans improvements as proposed city budget is presented.

Grasshoppers crop up in crop picture. Two Wayne county farm families receive the Nebraska Pioneer Farm Family award during the Wayne County Fair. Introduction of Herald's "holme for sports briefs" is greeted with enthusiasm. Rains continue to bolster area crops.

Providence Medical Center, which showed an operating loss for 1977, makes a strong rally at the sixth month mark in 1978. Clean-up details herald the coming county fair. Donald Zeiss, principal of the Wayne-Carroll high school, earns his doctorate. Rains continue to give area crops their best shot.

Margo Smith is announced as the headline for the Wayne County Fair. Council approves a $5 million budget for 1978-79, representing less than one percent of an increase over the 1977-78 budget. Dr. David Cooley, DDS, begins a new dentistry practice with Shupe, Wessel and DeNaeyer.

Joanie Bowers, Winside, shows the top steer at the Wayne County Fair. State Board of Equalization votes a 30 percent rollback of property tax valuations in Wayne County. Parent Aid program is announced for AUGUST.

It's called 'stagflation'

"Stagflation" — a combination of a lagging growth in the gross national product and a continuing increase in retail prices — may best describe the U.S. economy in 1979, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension economist.

Dr. Everett E. Peterson predicts an increase in the gross national product of less than three percent, adjusted for inflation, while retail prices are expected to escalate by 7.5 to 8 percent.

"Forecasts range from severe recession as in 1974-75 to a very mild economic setback," Peterson said.

Experts predicting mild recession or continued growth point to economic strengths, which include failure of retail sales to decline on a sustained basis, a low delinquency rate in paying off a large consumer debt, stimulation of demand for homes by liberalization of mortgage terms for young families, non-excessive business inventories and more industrial construction largely offsetting fewer housing starts.

The Carter Administration's anti-inflation program has a better chance for success than it would in an election year, Peterson commented. However, he warned that government policies will change if forces pointing to a recession intensify or severe inflation resumes.

Steps to combat a sluggish economy could lead to another round of inflation by 1980, which in turn would probably result in still tighter restrictions on the money supply and institution of mandatory price controls, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln economist analyzed.

In the agricultural sector, farm price-income and consumer food subsidy programs are set for 1979-81 by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 unless changed by Congress before it expires, Peterson pointed out.

While the American Agriculture Movement is planning further political activity to try to achieve its goals, little additional legislative or administrative action is expected, Peterson prophesied.

The only major piece of agricultural legislation in 1978 was the Agricultural Trade Act intended to "strengthen the economy of the United States through increased sales abroad of American agricultural products."

However, several agricultural policy issues remain on the national agenda and some may be settled in 1979, Peterson said.

"Congress will consider legislation to replace or extend the disaster payment program which ends with 1979 crops," he reported. "Another effort will be made to revise the 1974 model import quota law with one which operates counter-cyclically and would be acceptable to the President."

Peterson said other matters of concern to farmers and the general public are:

— Widening marketing margins and rising food prices

— Food safety, especially the use of preservatives in cured meats.

— Foreign investment in U.S. farm land.

— The future structure of American agriculture and the food industry

World economic conditions will be generally favorable in 1979, assuming no major disruptions in petroleum exports and less inflation in the United States.

For fiscal year 1979, the value of U.S. agricultural exports is forecast at about $29 billion, exceeding imports by $15 billion, he said. In the past two years, the value of U.S. agricultural exports has exceeded the value of imports by $10.5 to $13.5 billion.

While the U.S. dollar will gain some strength this year, it will not be enough to affect foreign demand for U.S. products, Peterson said.

"The world grain and oilseed crops will be more important determinants (of agricultural exports)," he stated.

Cheyenne outbreak - January, 1879

The Record of Events at Fort Robinson for October, 1878, contains this entry: "On the 21st Inst. Headquarters, and five Companies of the 3rd Cavalry left the vicinity of Post in search of hostile Cheyenne Indians, returning on the night of the 26th having captured 149 Cheyennes who are still in confinement at Post."

This interrupted the epic flight of Dull Knife's band from their Oklahoma reservation to their original northern homes. The Indians were being detained at Fort Cheyenne made a final attempt to retain their way of life.

Early in September, the Indians had escaped the agency near El Reno, Indian Territory, reportedly saying: "We are sickly and dying here and no one will speak our names when we are gone. We will go north at all hazards and if we die in battle, our names will be remembered and cherished by all our people."

Between Sept. 14 and Oct. 2 the band (92 men, 120 women, 141 children) made its way across western Kansas, slipping away from troops sent to intercept them. In a confrontation with the 19th Infantry Ladder (Beaver) Creek in Scott County, the commander, Lt. Col. Wm. H. Lewis, was killed. But Commanding General Pope said, "I do not believe they will kill anyone or do any damage except to kill what cattle they need for food... I hope we shall be able to arrest them before they reach the Kansas Pacific Railroad."

He has not yet heard reports of 6 killings in Barber County nor of Col. Lewis's death. The Indians crossed the KP without incident, killed one man in Gove County and 25 more in Decatur and Rawlins counties. As well raped women and confiscated well over 100 horses. Northwest Kansas incidents were said to be in retaliation for prior Indian deaths. An observation of the centennial of this tragedy was held last summer in the Oberlin, Kansas cemetery, where many of those slain are buried in a separate plot.

One soldier commented: "If we punish the Indians we are butchers and murderers, and if we fail to do so we are cowards... There is no doubt that these Indians are starving and dying of fever and were justified in leaving their (Oklahoma) reservation... But when we reached their trail of murder, rapine and desolation, our blood rose against them and there was not a man who would not gladly have risked his life to avenge the defenseless men, women and children who had been so barbarously murdered and outraged."

In northwestern Nebraska, the Cheyenne split into two groups, one commanded by Dull Knife, which surrendered to Fort Robinson troops, the other by Little Wolf. The latter, according to George Bird Grinnell's The Fighting Cheyennes (1915) followed down the Running Water (Niobrara River) to the Sandhills, and there all winter they lived well on the deer, the antelope and cattle, which were very plenty (sic) there. They kept a good lookout and sometimes saw white men — soldiers and others — but none of these ever discovered them. They left there in the early spring (March), and went on north, until they were near Powder River (Montana).

So desperate was the condition of Dull Knife's followers that when apprehended on October 23 it seemed they could no longer resist. Yet it took two pieces of artillery to persuade them to accompany the troops to Fort Robinson. Requests by them into submission, refusing them fuel and food (except for the best yellow and maize the Indians had), and finally their water was withheld. Food offered to the children was refused. Armed with perhaps 11 rifles, 5 pistols, clubs and knives they had hidden, the Cheyenne planned their escape.

On the night of Jan. 9, 1879, with the barracks in darkness, they fired on their guards. Three sentries fell in the snow, one mortally wounded. Dull Knife's band in a break for freedom poured out of the barracks. Before they had gone a mile, more than half of their fighting men had been wounded by quickly reacting soldiers. The cold and inadequate equipment caused troopers to abandon the pursuit for the night. The Indians, now numbering 49 men, 51 women and 48 children, struggled on in 10 degree temperatures. For almost two weeks they eluded the soldiers in the rough butte country of Sioux County.

The final battle was fought on Antelope Creek, northwest of Fort Robinson, on Jan. 21. In all, 64 Cheyenne had been killed, 78 captured and 7 women and children missing and presumed dead. Some of the Indians may have chosen suicide rather than recapture. Eleven troopers were dead and 10, including Captain Wessels, wounded.

Indian and Army losses, the severity of a winter campaign, the lack of weapons and food, the ingenuity of military tactics by the Indians, made this a great epic, not only in the history of Nebraska but of the country.

Captain Henry Wessels, commanding the fort, for blankets and clothing for the Indians were given some freedom, but it was curtailed when one of them failed to return to the barracks. In January, Wessels received orders to purchase clothing for their return to Indian Territory. The Indians refused to cooperate, saying they would die rather than return to the agency. The Army tried to force

Farm-non-farm population survey

Farm residents are less likely to be out of work than their nonfarm counterparts, but they are more likely to be older and to earn less.

These are among the highlights of a description of the U.S. farm population published by the Bureau of Economic Analysis and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service (ESCS). The 1977 farm population, at just over 7.8 million, continued to decline while small town and open country nonfarm population showed renewed growth.

The Census, ESCS report also found the 1977 farm population:

— The average age of farm residents was 35.2 years, about 6 years older than the nonfarm population.

— Farm families were more likely than nonfarm families to be of the married-couple type and less likely to be headed by women.

— Farm males outnumbered farm females by 338,000. In contrast, females outnumber males in the nonfarm population.

— Farm people were just as likely to be working in nonagricultural industries as in agriculture.

— The unemployment rate for farm residents was 3 percent, versus 7.5 percent for the nonfarm population.

— The median income for farm families continued to lag behind that of nonfarm families.

The 112,000 Spanish-origin farm residents represented 1 percent of the total U.S. Spanish-origin population and 1.4 percent of the farm population. This is the first year the report separately accounts for Spanish-origin farm people.

— The number of blacks living on farms declined at a faster rate than the white farm population — a minus 53 percent compared with a minus 16 percent since 1970.

A related report published in September by ESCS provides additional information on farm population during 1970-77. This report found:

— The farm population decline has slackened. Annual net outmigration averaged 3.3 percent between 1970 and 1977, compared with 5.6 percent in the 1960's and 1950's.

— Births outnumbered deaths by an annual average of 28,000 among farm people during 1970-77, partly offsetting the annual average loss of 300,000 persons who either moved away from farms or

Facts about dental care

February 4-10 is the 21st annual National Children's Dental Health Week. As part of the observance, The Wayne Herald, in cooperation with the Nebraska Dental Association, today begins a series of six articles on the facts you should know about dental health.

Aside from an improved appearance, are there health related needs for orthodontic treatment that we should consider for our son?

If you child's teeth are crowded or overlap or fail to meet properly, they cannot function effectively. If the condition is left untreated, it may eventually lead to further deformities of the face and jaws which can cause emotional as well as physical problems for the child.

Malocclusion is the technical term used to describe various irregularities in the position of the teeth and jaws.

Every child is different and requires the utmost skill in diagnosis to determine what is best. But the patient should have an orthodontic consultation as soon as a problem is detected as many malocclusions should be treated while the child is actively growing.

If unchecked, some orthodontic problems can result in harmful effects on the general health of the patient. Some problems that can eventually arise include speech defects, psychological disorders and often undetermined personality difficulties that can influence a person's future social or career goals.

Failure of the teeth to meet properly can interfere with chewing which could prevent a person from selecting foods essential for good nutrition. Further, improper chewing of food puts an extra burden on the stomach and adds a strain to the jaw joints and muscles.

Teeth that overlap or are crowded are much more difficult to clean. To help prevent tooth decay and periodontal disease, plaque — the sticky film of harmful bacteria that constantly forms on everyone's teeth — must be thoroughly removed from all tooth surfaces at least once a day.

By starting orthodontic treatment at an early age, the dentist can supervise and guide the permanent teeth into a better position that could either shorten the orthodontic treatment or even eliminate the need for it altogether.

If you feel your child may need orthodontic treatment, obtain advice from the family dentist and an orthodontist, a dentist specializing in orthodontic treatment.

Longer warranties gain popularity

Even though vast improvements have been made on new-car warranties, and the 12 month or 120,000-mile warranties cover more components of the car than ever before, many people wish they could have coverage for a longer period of time.

A new trend in service coverage permits car owners to do just that. Car owners can buy auto service contracts to extend their car's coverage up to 3 years or 36,000 miles, reports the Automotive Information Council.

The contracts are available for both new and used cars, and cost about $150 for a sub-compact to $300 for a luxury car.

Extended policies are offered by some automobile manufacturers and by many independent firms.

These contracts provide "insurance" in case the need for a costly repair occurs after the regular warranty expiration.

Rising car prices due to inflation, and resulting longer loan terms, can increase the possibility a car owner could be faced with heavy repair bills with several payments to go.

Car owners pay a one-time registration fee and usually a deductible on the parts and labor costs.

The contracts on used cars can also provide a "safeguard" to buyers of a high mileage used car.

The standard new-car contracts cover more components and with more depth than "add-on" warranties. New-car policies cover the entire car against defects. Extended plans normally cover the transmission, rear axle, brakes, steering, air conditioning and the electrical and suspension system. Some policies even have partial reimbursement for rental of a car while the owner's is in the shop overnight.

The Automotive Information Council recommends checking the extended policy carefully, to see what portions of the car are covered before purchasing the contract.

AIC points out that the first car warranty was issued in 1902 and it covered the car for 60 days.

Grant Permits Rural Libraries To Focus on Cultural Arts

The Northern Library Network, Inc., a non-profit organization for the promotion of library service in Northeast Nebraska, has been awarded an $18,000 grant by the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities. The grant is for the project "The Small Town Rural Library as a Cultural Arts Center." Area Extension Clubs have been working closely with the Northern Library Network in securing this grant, since their major emphasis theme for 1979 will be "The Cultural Arts."

The traveling cultural arts displays will tour 60 public libraries in the area for one month each during the one-year grant period. Ten public programs will also be held, each featuring a professional humanist from the area who will discuss the display at hand. It is planned that the displays will be ready in the first five libraries by March 1. The first public program will be held in March for Boone and Nance Counties.

Hallstrom Dealt Hot Hand And Wakefield In Finals

Scott Hallstrom unofficially set a new school scoring record by pumping in 38 points to lead the Wakefield Trojans to a 78-72 win over the Pender in the first round of Wakefield Holiday Tourney Friday night.

The win avenged an earlier loss to the Penderagos this season and moved Wakefield into the final of the Emerson-Hubbard Saturday at 8 p.m. In the previous meeting between the two teams, Hallstrom and Barry Jones had an early collision on the court and both players missed the rest of the game, with injuries.

Hallstrom hit 15 field goals in 22 attempts and went eight for 11 at the free throw line for his 38 point total. Jones was the other Trojan in double figures, scoring 12 points.

Despite the win, Wakefield coach Joe Coble said he was disappointed in the defense. "It was foul, foul, foul. We gave up 22 free throw attempts," Coble remarked. "We're happy to be into the final but we weren't weren't that sound. We just flat outscored them in the second half."

The Trojans, who totaled 35 rebounds, were led in that department by Jones with nine. Preston added six assists to the offensive spark. Tom Pallas and Dan Schroeder were the scoring leaders for Pender with 20 points each.

Wakefield held a slim 17-15 lead after the first quarter, fell behind 39-36 at half, staked a 59-56 lead after three periods and held on to win 78-72.

Wakefield Tourney Results

Emerson-Hubbard 44, Homer 29 (Girls)

High scorers: Emerson-Hubbard Paula Rager, 18; Homer - Vic Donnelly, 22.

Pender 53, Wakefield 34 (Girls)

High scorers: Wakefield - Kelly Murphy, 11; Pender - Lisa Reppert 18.

Emerson-Hubbard 53, Homer 49

High scorers: Homer - Alan Bates, 14; Emerson-Hubbard Bill Gatz, Pat Carman, Randy Fuscher, 11.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascell

TWENTY-ONE YEARS WITHOUT winning the WSC Tournament? Not so. Last week in my article about the Wayne Blue Devils basketball performance in the WSC Tourney, I mentioned that Wayne had not won the boys division in the Tourney began 21 years ago.

That may have sounded like a long time to some Wayne fans who remember back 15 to 20 years and it was. I received a call from the Wayne High sports experts, Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyer and they told me that the Wayne boys have won the tourney. I believe they said it was 1963 when Wayne defeated South Sioux City for the title.

I got my information from a couple of sources but apparently they were misinformed. I should have known enough to check with the Meyers about the information. After all, they are walking encyclopedias of Wayne High athletics and I appreciate their phone call.

BY THE TIME MOST readers set their eyes on this column, the holiday tournaments are over. As a sports reporter, I have to admit that I'm happy. My normal pattern of sports coverage was thrown into a grinder when the tourneys rolled around. I didn't know where I was going to be one night from the next. Now, I can calmly settle back into my usual routine of coverage.

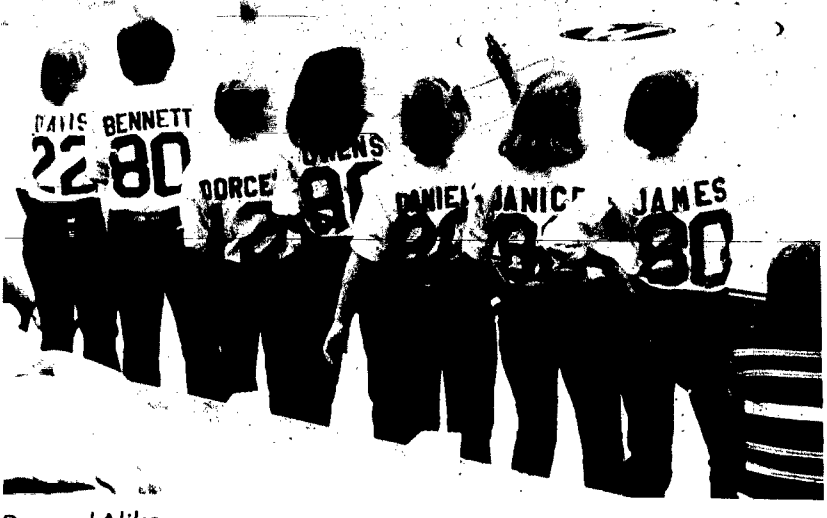

Most of the area basketball teams were in tourney action, this year. Some were successful, some were not. What amazes me is the number of tournaments over the Christmas holiday. Holiday tourneys have received criticism and praise from different viewpoints. There are many angles to consider.

In Iowa, I guess they don't have tourneys during the holidays. Some people have suggested even opening the basketball season in January and running it through March.

THIS IS THE FIRST year in some time that the Wayne State Wildcats didn't play in a holiday tourney. They'll be returning from a three-week layoff for a home game tomorrow night (Tuesday) against Doane at 7:30.

The WSC Wildkittens opened up the new year with a new start. The Kittens were suffering through a disappointing season in a rebuilding year. But at Chadron State's tourney, they reversed the trend.

After losing the tourney opener to tough Mankato State, they came back to win the remainder of their games for a fourth place finish in an eight team field. Incidentally, with 48 teams entered in the high school and college divisions, the tourney was billed the largest in the world.

Wayne Blue Devils Dump Madison For Road win

The Wayne Blue Devils picked up a win on the road Friday night by defeating Madison 57-53 to up their record to 6-3. They host Stanton Friday night.

Coach Bill Sharpe warned that it would be tough to win at Madison despite the Dragons' mediocre season and he was right.

Wayne played poorly according to Sharpe and turned the ball over many times. "I'm happy to go to Madison and win anytime. It's tough to win there," Sharpe said. "Their 1-3-1 zone bothered us. We played hard but not smart. Tom Ginn and Jeff Zeiss both played very well."

Ginn led Wayne with 19 points, followed by Zeiss with 14 and Brad Emry and Al Nissen with 10. Madison took the first quarter lead by a 10-0 count. Then, the Blue Devils came back to mount a 28-26 halftime lead. They increased their lead

Wayne Wrestlers Pin Wisner-Pilger

The Wayne High wrestling team upped its record to 3-1 with an easy 40-16 win over Wisner-Pilger Thursday night at Wisner.

Three Wayne wrestlers won by pins, three by decisions and two by forfeit as the Blue Devils continued to have a strong season.

Rick Luff and Dan Mitchell extended their undefeated streaks for Wayne. Luff at 112, won by forfeit and Mitchell pinned his opponent in 43 seconds.

Wayne will try to win dual number four tomorrow (Tuesday) at Neligh at 6:30 p.m.

Results:
98 - Steve Pospishil (W) dec. Terry McGuire 7-5.
105 - Dave Von Seggren (W.P) pinned John Melen 3-0.
112 - Rick Luff (W) won by forfeit.
119 - David Schock (W) pinned Tim Hjorth in 41.
126 - Kevin Echtenkamp (W) won by forfeit.
135 - David Doeschler (W) pinned Joe Gentrup in 4:52.
138 - Chuck Popken (W.P) dec. Nick Sieler, 13-4.
145 - Rich Johnson (W) dec. Steve Dinklage, 9-1.
155 - Joel Greve (W.P) dec. Ward Wacker 6-3.

South Sioux Rolls By Wayne Girls

The Wayne girls basketball team was soundly defeated by South Sioux City Thursday night 57-27.

"It wasn't one of our finer efforts," said Wayne coach Curt Frye. "It was just one of those frustrating evenings."

The Blue Devils held a slim 9-6 lead after the first quarter but the tall physical South Sioux team took over control of the game in the final three periods and spelled the win. The two teams are scheduled to meet again next Tuesday in Wayne. The Freshman game will begin at 5 p.m., followed by reserve and varsity action.

"We hope to run on them next time," Frye said. "We'll try to move the ball effectively and then pressure them. I think we can beat them."

Lusa Barclay was high scorer for Wayne with eight points. Lori Strong scored 16 for South Sioux and Sheila Heins followed with 15. The Blue Devil record now drops to 5-2.

Winside Girls Avenge Osmond Win Coleridge Tourney Title

The Winside Wildkittens used revenge tactics to defeat Osmond 36-20 Friday night and claim the championship title of the Coleridge Holiday Tourney.

Winside lost to Osmond by two points earlier in the year after letting a big lead slip away. This time, the Wildkittens were determined to get the lead and keep it.

Winside held a slight 7-6 advantage after the first quarter but increased its lead as the game progressed. Led by Andrea Mann, who did an exceptional job of quarterbacking the team, Winside moved in front 17-10 at the half and 23-14 early in the third quarter.

Then, both teams hit a scoring drought. Over four minutes expired before Mann put Winside on the scoreboard with a free throw. The Wildkittens held on for a 26-14 mark after three periods.

Kathy Thomas took control of the offensive reins in the final period as she drove inside several times to score. Kathy Thies also ignited the offensive punch. Winside didn't break down in this game and increased its lead for a final 36-20 win.

"It's super. It feels really good to win, especially to beat Osmond after they beat us," Winside coach Kathy O'Connor said. "We used a half-court press this time. Tonight will help for the tough schedule ahead."

Rebounding leaders for the 4-1 Wildkittens were Kathy and Marci Thomas with seven rebounds each. Kathy Thies led the team with four steals. Kathy Thomas also led Winside with 13 points. Shari Krohn was Osmond's top scorer with 10 points. The Wildkittens play at Beemer tonight (Monday) and host undefeated Hartington tomorrow.

Free Throws Aid Wausa

Winside Second In Thriller

Two free throws late in the game, gave the Wynot Blue Devils, a two-point victory over the Winside Wildcats in the finals of the Coleridge Holiday Tourney Friday night. Wynot won the game 48-46, for the championship while Winside collected the runner up trophy.

The game was a crowd-thriller all the way with neighbor team establishing more than a six-point lead.

Winside took an early 4-2 lead but Wynot took over 20-18 with two minutes left in the first half as a full court press bothered the Wildcats. Wynot established a six-point lead at 26-20 at the halfway mark.

Winside came back in the third quarter to tie the game at 26 points. With Chuck Peter on the bench in foul trouble, Bob Hawkins took control under the bucket, putting Winside on top 32-29 at the end of the third quarter. The Cats couldn't hold onto their lead long and soon the Blue Devils jumped on top 35-34 with six minutes in the game.

At 1:30, Wynot opened up a five point lead. Chuck Peter reentered the game, hit some baskets and blocked some shots to put the Wildcats in range. Paul Roberts hit an 18 foot jumper for a 44-43 Winside lead with 1:30 remaining.

Peter fouled out with 1:18 left and Wynot drove for a basket and a one point lead. A missed Winside basket gave Wynot the ball with 50 seconds remaining and the Blue Devils dropped into their stall game. With time running low, Winside fouled Wynot's Kary Schroeder.

The junior hit the first free throw for a two point lead. The second free throw attempt bounced out but Wynot controlled the rebound. The Devils dropped into their delay game again and Bruce Smith fouled Doug Ketter with seven seconds in the game.

Both free throws were good and Wynot led 48-44. Paul Roberts sunk a field goal at the buzzer for the final 48-46 count.

"It was a good game, but we lost it on free throws," Winside coach Dennis Gonnerman said after the game. His team's record drops to 4-2.

Roberts and Hawkins led Winside with 14 points each, followed by Peter with 10. The Wildcats are now without the services of Bill Gottberg, who moved from Winside. Ketter led Wynot with 14 points. Winside plays at Beemer tonight.

UP FOR two points goes Bob Hawkins of Winside as he becomes airborne from near the free throw line.

Rec Teams One, Six and Four Win First B League Games

Bob Keating and Bob Nelson teamed up for 47 points as Team One defeated Team Two 71-60 in the first week of recreation B league basketball.

Keating scored 28 points including 20 in the first half and Nelson added 19 after being held scoreless in the first half. Bob Krueger and Randy Jacobsen scored 21 and 20 points respectively for Team Two. Team One held a slim three point lead before exploding to outscore their opponents 24-6 in the second period.

However, Team One had to forfeit the game because not enough team members participated and the substitute limit had to be broken.

Three players scored in double figures for Team Six as they dropped Team Three 53-38. Roger Fleeer led the winners with 15 points followed by Roger Geiger with 10 points each. Moe Green had the hot hand for Team Three with 18 points.

Team Four was led by a balanced attack as they stopped Team Five 60-52. The game was tied 41-41 after three quarters when Don Larson and Dave Olson connected for eight points and six points respectively to lead their team to victory.

Larson finished with 18 total points and Olson scored 14. For Team Five, Reggie Swanson scored 21 points including 12 in the third quarter and Lynn Lessman hit 15. Team One — B. Keating, 28; B. Nelson, 19; Shaw, 10; M. Dunklau, 6; Sturm, 4; Engler, 4. Team Two — Krueger, 21; R. Jacobsen, 20; Creighton, 8; Weible, 6; T. Jacobsen, 3; Waggoner, 2.

Bears Give Walthill A Scare

The Laurel Bears gave undefeated Walthill all they could handle Friday night but came up short in an upset bid as Walthill won the Laurel Invitational championship 63-58.

Laurel played even with Walthill during most of the game before falling behind by 11 points at one time. Then, the Bears closed the gap to three points behind the shooting of Ron Gadeken and Steve Anderson. The two hit 18 and 21 points respectively.

With one minute left in the game, Walthill held only a one-point lead but Laurel was forced to foul. With free throws in the final minute, Walthill claimed the tourney title by five points, 63-58.

"I feel we outplayed them except for our shooting percentage," said Laurel coach Joel Parks. His team hit 35 percent from the field compared to 42 percent for Walthill.

"Overall, I was pretty pleased. Walthill has a good team and it was a one-point game going into the final minute," Parks remarked. "This proved we can be a good team. Our record is 3-6 but I feel we're a lot better team than that. I think we'll be a real good club when the season's over."

Laurel outbounded Walthill, 45-32, as the Bears captured second place in their own tourney.

John Miller with 20 points, Perry Miller with 15 and Ed Stansberry with 11 led Walthill.

Win Number Four

Eagles Move to Finals

The Allen Eagles moved into the finals of their own holiday tourney by ouing Newcastle 52-38 Friday night in first round competition.

Bart Gotch and Rich Stewart named up for 34 points as the Eagles led all the way. Allen held a 10-6 first quarter lead, then moved out in front 23-14 at half and 40-26 after the third quarter before taking a 52-38 win.

The win qualifies Allen for the finals game against Bancroft. The Eagles won a previous matchup by one point. The Bulldogs clobbered Santee 96-41 in the first round action. The two teams were scheduled to meet Saturday at 8 p.m.

"Rich Stewart played a real good game," Allen Coach Bart Knief said following the win. "We were kind of ragged after vacation but the team played well on defense and everybody contributed. It was a good win," he added.

Gotch scored 18 points and Stewart scored 16 for the Eagles. Gotch also tallied 15 rebounds and Steve Stewart added eight.

Allen hit 41 percent from the field and 76 percent at the free throw line, missing only three shots. The win upped their record to 4-2. Mike Marron led Newcastle with 10 points.

Teams Two, Four and Six Top Rec C League Play

John Dorsey hit 22 points and teammate Jack March added 16 as Team Two topped Team One 56-41 in the C League Wednesday night.

Team Two led 34-30 going into the fourth quarter and March added two baskets and six free throws to open up the lead. Schulte led Team One with 11 points.

Team Four used balanced scoring to edge Team Five by four points in Wednesday Recreation League action. Don Zeiss, Wayne Wessel and Bill Blecke each scored 10 points to lead the winners. Bill Woehler scored 13 for Team Five and Bob Nelson added 12.

Laurel Over Wausa

The Laurel Bears moved into the finals of the Laurel Invitational basketball tourney by downing Wausa 69-54 Thursday night.

Laurel took command of the game early but continually increased its lead to the final 15 point margin.

Ron Gadeken scored 20 points to lead Laurel offensively. Steve Anderson scored 16 points and Don Dalton added 16. Blankenship and Eldorado each had 20 points for Wausa.

In the other first round game, Walthill upended Oakland-Craig 93-61.

Allen Girls Roll Past Newcastle

The Allen girls basketball team upped its undefeated streak to five games with a lopsided 73-21 trouncing over Newcastle Thursday night.

Three girls scored in double figures for the Eagles who hit 60 percent from the field. Lisa Erwin pumped in 22 points and Pam Brownell and Stacey Koester scored 15 points each for Allen. Erwin hit an amazing 83 percent from the field while Brownell and Koester both hit 64 percent of their shots. Deanna Hagman led Newcastle with six points.

The Eagles put the game out of reach in the first quarter as they outscored their outclassed opponents 25-7. The second quarter went much the same way and Allen held a 39-6 half-time lead. With the outcome of the game decided, Coach Steve McManigal took out his starting five of Erwin, Brownell, Koester, Susie Erwin and Lisa Wood.

Des Williams, Beth Stalling, Shari Jones, Colette Kraemer and Janet Petersen took over where the varsity left off, hitting a high percentage of shots and rolled to a final 73-21 win.

"We came out strong again," Coach McManigal said. "We got some quick baskets and shot well. We were exceptionally hot. Our defense worked hard and successfully. I guess the holiday layoff didn't hurt."

Allen Reserves, 33, Newcastle 8
The reserve game also proved to be a mismatch as Allen rolled to an easy win with all B team players scoring. Beth Stalling led the Eagles with nine points and Des Williams added eight.

last years study as well as determine how pesticide contamination occurs. The researchers will be attempting to determine whether the pesticides enter the body through the skin, lungs, or stomach.

The Cooperative Extension Service, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the College of Pharmacy at the University of Nebraska Medical Center initiated the 1978 study to improve the pesticide applicator training program and to reduce the incidence of applicator exposure in the new study for 1979.

The Wayne County Extension service is assisting with selection of volunteer applicators and making local arrangements for testing.

Dr. Robert Benthack, a local physician, is also participating in the study by drawing the blood samples and advising on the incidence of pesticide exposure. This program, says Spitz, benefits farmers and commercial applicators as a whole, but it also is of real value to the individuals participating in the tests.

6 percent comes from personal property.

Wayne schools are getting 61 percent of the total tax collected. Some 22 percent goes to the city, 13 percent to the county, 2 percent to Northeast Nebraska Tech, 1 percent to NRD and 1/2 percent each to education services unit and to the county fair.

Mrs. Stipp said it is indeed a "bad picture," but pointed out there are a good lot. "We want to have services, but we don't want to pay for them."

She added that people should be aware of how fortunate they actually are and how close they are to losing total local control they have in keeping taxes down.

As was expected, the bill was re-introduced in this Unicameral as LB 18. Taxpayers should contact their legislators and let them know they want to keep their tax structure on a local level rather than let a bureaucracy gain control. She said there is no clear-cut answer to the tax question. "My own personal observation is the state and income taxes should be raised to lessen the load on real estate property."

Fires Destroy House, Barn

Fires in Waterbury and at Allen caused considerable damage and loss last week.

About 1:15 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 2, Allen-Waterbury firemen were called to the Harry Warner farm one mile south of Allen, where Warner's barn was completely destroyed by fire.

A passerby turned in the alarm. Warner said nine cows and about 70 little pigs were lost in the blaze. The barn also contained baled hay.

Sunday afternoon, Dec. 31, the Allen-Waterbury Fire Department and firemen from Ponca battled a house fire in Waterbury. Mary Vanston's home burned to the ground, however she was uninjured. Several animals were killed in the blaze.

Dean Hansen, son of former Carroll residents Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hansen of Bloomfield, has completed eight weeks of Army basic training at Fort Knox, Kan. Hansen is in the artillery tank division and tentative plans are that he will be stationed in Germany.
