

Snow Fun for Some But Work for Others

A welcome warming trend moved into the Wayneland area this week with temperatures expected to top the 30 degree mark.

This is a marked contrast from last weekend when a snow storm was followed by bitterly cold readings and wind, pushing the wind chill factor past the minus 60 degree mark.

Most area residents thumbed their noses at the cold weather, and stayed inside. Others had to meet the storm head-on or the young-at-heart got out their sleds to skim the snow cover.

Delmar Holdorf (right) cuts down a snowbank as he plows out a county road. The wind caused heavy drifting on east-west roads.

Fire Damages House in Allen

A fire believed to have been caused by an overheated chimney from a wood burning stove damaged the new recreation addition at the Vic Carpenter home in Allen about midnight Tuesday, Jan. 9.

The building was constructed last summer. Allen firemen contained the blaze to the east end of the building, which sets only a few feet away from the Carpenter home. An estimate of damage has not been determined.

Carpenters had just gone to bed when the east end of the building exploded into flames.

Door-to-Door

Girl Scout Cookie Sales To Cover Wayne, Winside

What has become an annual American tradition — Girl Scout Cookie Sales — will begin this Friday and continue through Jan. 29.

Twenty-four Girl Scouts in the Wayne and Winside communities will be taking cookie orders door-to-door. Cookies are $1.35 a box, with each local troop receiving 20 cents a box profit.

Cookie certificates will be given to all girls who sell cookies, and patches will be awarded to those who sell 25 boxes or more.

Mrs. Duane Jacobsen, cookie sales chairman, said this year six varieties of cookies and Cheddarette Crackers will be available. A new addition is the Country Crisp, a golden cookie made without artificial flavors, color or preservatives.

Other cookies which will be for sale are Chocolate Chip, Chocolate and Vanilla Creme, Savannahs, Mints and Scot-Tea.

The sale is conducted as part of the drive to raise funds for troops in the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council.

Funds from the cookie sale help local girls participate in national and international Girl Scout events, to purchase equipment and property in their behalf, for campships and for other council and troop activities.

Anyone not contacted about the sales by a Girl Scout can call Mrs. Jacobsen at 375-1249.

Mrs. Jacobsen said 1,776 boxes of cookies were sold last year in Wayne and Winside.

Stock Up On Emergency Food Supplies

A severe winter storm can strand both shoppers and food deliveries.
Tama Krause, area home extension agent at the Northeast Station, near Concord, says Nebraskans should stock up on emergency food supplies by maintaining an emergency pantry.
The first step in setting up an emergency pantry, says Mrs. Krause, is to take stock of your kitchen supplies before a winter storm hits. With an inventory of food items already on hand, homemakers can make a shopping list of items needed for emergency food supplies.
First on the list should be foods which would not be readily available during a storm, such as milk, bread and fresh fruits and vegetables.
Many perishables, such as bread, can be frozen for emergency use, while a supply of powdered milk can take the place of fresh if needed.
An emergency food supply also should include some foods which require little, if any cooking since fuel supplies and electricity may be cut off during a storm. For this purpose, keep a good supply of canned foods on hand. These can usually be eaten without heating and they may supply liquids when water is scarce.

Home canned, low-acid foods, however, should not be eaten without heating. Canned foods will be more useful than frozen foods during a power failure. When there is a blackout the freezer should be opened only when absolutely necessary to keep the cold air in and prevent foods from spoiling.
The emergency supply also should include foods from the four food groups for good nutrition. Examples of specific foods that would be good choices for emergency eating include:
— From the milk and dairy group, include dried or canned milk, cheese foods and spreads and hard cheeses.
— Keep on hand some fresh winter produce, including carrots, potatoes and canned or frozen fruits and vegetables.
Juices, dry juice substitutes, instant potatoes, and dried fruits are other ideas.
— Canned meats, nuts, peanut butter, frozen meats and poultry all will keep well.
— Pasta, instant rice, crackers, a box of biscuit mix and breakfast cereals will supply foods from the grain and cereal groups.
Be certain to carefully store and rotate emergency foods with those in use everyday to ensure quality, warns Mrs. Krause.

Despite Ragged Play —

Trojans Do Win Rematch

By WILLIS MAHANNAH
An offensive letdown by Wakefield at the end of the first half nearly proved fatal, but once again a second half spurt rallied the Trojans to a 57-48 win over Emerson-Hubbard Tuesday night at Wakefield. The victory avenged an earlier loss suffered by Wakefield at the hands of the Pirates.

Emerson-Hubbard, relying on its front line strength, took advantage of Wakefield's man-to-man defense early in the first quarter to gain a four-point advantage. The Trojans countered with good outside shooting by Tom Preston to gain the lead 11-10 at the end of the first stanza.

In the second quarter, Wakefield moved into a zone defense to combat the height advantage of the Pirates. This move, plus being aided by the Pirates' poor shooting, helped the Trojans to pull ahead by eight points before the opposition got back on track.

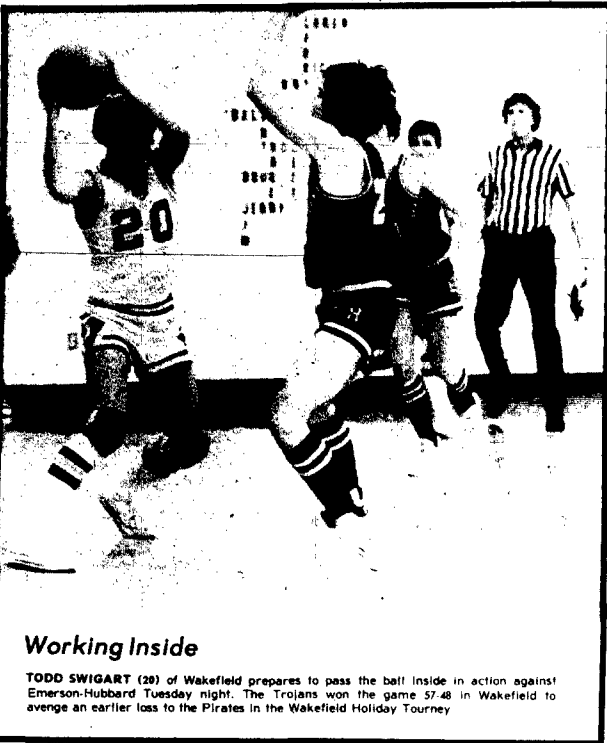

Emerson-Hubbard rallied in the closing minutes of the half to come within one of the Trojans. In the third period, Emerson-Hubbard scored first to regain the lead 29-28. Wakefield answered with two quick baskets to go ahead 32-29, and never again trailed in the contest.

Wakefield coach Joe Coble labeled the game as "a very tight battle." Trojan turnovers shed light on this statement as they gave the ball up 15 times. Coble was pleased that the Wakefield running game finally got going toward the end of the third quarter. This enabled the Trojans to expand their lead to eight points, 43-34, with just under a minute to play in that period.

Wakefield held on to the lead in the fourth period, forcing the opposition into a press, and also forcing them to foul late in the quarter. Wakefield hit on 11 of 19 free throws for 58 percent, compared to Emerson-Hubbard's 8 for 18 for 44 percent. From the field, the Trojans shot a respectable 45 percent.

Scott Hallstrom led the winners with 17 points, followed by Barry Jones with 14, and Tom Preston's 12. Pirate leaders were Pat Cornish with 12 points and Bill Galtz with 9.

Emerson Hubbard won the rebound battle, pulling down 45 compared to 35 for Wakefield. Doug Starzi led the Trojans with 12 rebounds. Tom Preston had five assists to lead Wakefield in that department.

Working Inside

TODD SWIGART (20) of Wakefield prepares to pass the ball inside in action against Emerson-Hubbard Tuesday night. The Trojans won the game 57-48 in Wakefield to avenge an earlier loss to the Pirates in the Wakefield Holiday Tourney.

Wakefield JV 35, Emerson-Hubbard 32. The Wakefield junior varsity was also victorious, defeating Emerson-Hubbard's J.V.'s 35-32. Dean Miller had 10 points to lead the young Trojans, and Brent Kohl added 9. Jim Heeny and Jerry Assmusen each tallied nine points for the Pirates.

Wakefield takes its 5-4 record on the road this weekend with games at Wynot on Friday night and Laurel Saturday night. Wakefield's record is Dean Miller, 10; Jeff Hallstrom, 6; Brent Kohl, 9; Larry Soderberg, 2; Loren Erlanson, 4; Roger Echtenkamp, 2; Doug Verplank, 2.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Mascoll

DISCUSSION OVER A lunch counter last week involved doubleheader athletic events. The particular issue we discussed is whether high school boys and girls teams should play on the same night.

If an area school scheduled its games so that the night action opened with a girls game and followed with a boys game, the schools involved could kill two birds with one stone.

The same situation could be set up for a wrestling match and a basketball game. Winside High School has used this doubleheader setup for some of its athletic events. Looking at it from a sports writer's viewpoint, I could cover two athletic events in one night.

Fans could watch two varsity events in one night and the school would undoubtedly draw larger crowds and earn more proceeds.

Like everything else, the doubleheader situation has its faults too. Reserve action would probably be in jeopardy. If reserve games were played in the same day, the action would have to begin early or not at all.

HANK OVERIN IS BACK into another routine of community recreation. Hank has set up three men's adult recreation basketball leagues and also leagues for youngsters in the community.

The A League is composed of basketball players age 24 and under. The B League is comprised of ages 25 through 30 and the C League contains players over 30 years old.

Approximately 140 individuals are involved in the adult recreation basketball league this season.

PROFESSIONAL GOLFERS Tom and Paul Purtzer, nephews of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sandahl of Carroll, are both entered in the Phoenix Open this weekend. As you remember, Paul put on an exhibition at the Wayne Country Club this summer. Tom fared well in the Desert Classic last week, placing high on the list above Jack Nicklaus and other well-known golfers.

THE LAUREL BEARS exhibited their ability Saturday when they defeated Harrington on a last second basket by Steve Anderson. Despite a 4-4 record, the Bears are a better team than their previous outings have shown in a tough schedule. Harrington entered the game with a 10-0 record and rated in Class C.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL RATERS have their work cut out for them this year. Last week, 14 of the Top 20 teams in the country lost and six of those 14 teams lost two games. It's going to be one of those seasons where any team can beat anyone else.

IN A RECENTLY SCHEDULED girls basketball game, the Allen Eagles will meet Decatur on the Allen hardcourt tonight (Thursday) with varsity action set to begin at 8 p.m.

Allen is currently ranked fifth in the Omaha World-Herald's Class D ratings while Decatur is one notch above at fourth. Allen is 6-0 and averages 56 points a game to 30 for its opponents. Decatur, meanwhile, is averaging 41 points to its opponents' 25.

The matchup is sure to be exciting with the winner grasping a solid hold in the rankings.

WAYNE HIGH FANS are becoming excited about this Friday's basketball game with Harrington C.C. in Wayne. The Blue Devils are 7-3 and the Trojans are 8-3 entering this matchup. The two schools are great rivals and both will be fired up for this one.

Tony Rezek, 6-4 junior, will play in his first varsity game for Wayne. He moved to Wayne from Omaha and was ineligible to play varsity basketball for 90 days, I believe. His eligibility goes into effect tomorrow and his height should be an added asset for the Blue Devils. Varsity tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m. with a junior varsity game preceding it.

Wayne 8th, 9th Grade Drop Games To Trojans

The Wayne eighth and ninth grade teams dropped decisions to Harrington C.C. at home, Thursday evening.

The eighth grade team, coached by Brent Gulick, lost 46-23 and the freshman team, coached by Duane Blomenkamp, lost 63-43.

The freshman team fell behind the Harrington C.C. freshmen 24-11 after the first quarter and 44-22 after three quarters. That was as close as Wayne got.

Mark Hummel led the Blue Devils with 18 points followed by Richard Poehlman with nine. Poehlman led in the rebounding department with seven. Wayne is now 1-2.

"We got blown out early," Coach Blomenkamp said. "Our offense played well enough but we had a poor defense. Harrington played really well — we couldn't stop them."

The eighth grade team lost its second game 46-23 after falling behind early. Tod Heier led the Blue Devils with 10 points.

"We had a cold first quarter," Coach Gulick said. "We're 0-2 now but we showed an improvement over our first game."

Both teams play at Schuyler today (Thursday) with the eighth grade game beginning at 4 p.m.

Wakefield Girls Lose Games In Newcastle Tourney Action

The Wakefield girls basketball team had its problems Monday and Tuesday night, as the Trojans dropped both games in the Newcastle Tourney.

Wakefield opened the tournament with a game against Wynot losing that 47-30 and then lost to Newcastle 34-31 in the consolation round Tuesday night.

In Tuesday's game, the Trojans led most of the way before faltering in the fourth quarter. Wakefield led 10-5 after the first quarter and 20-11 at half behind a balanced scoring attack.

Jolene Bartels and Donna Kieckhafer scored eight points apiece and Kelly Murphy added seven for the Trojans.

With a 26-18 third quarter lead, Wakefield ran into foul trouble. The eight-point lead slipped and Newcastle took control of the game for the first time. Bartels, Murphy, Jackie Lueft and Kathy Gustafson all fouled out during the game.

Wakefield trailed 20-17 at the half, but fell apart in the second half dropping behind 34-24 after three periods and eventually losing 47-30. Deb Straman and Renee Becker led Newcastle with 14 and 10 points respectively.

"Wynot played really good defense and we committed 14 of our 19 fouls in the second half," Wakefield coach Elite Studer said. "I hope we can hustle more on defense and make better passes in the future."

Wakefield's record drops to 3-6 and the Trojans will face Wynot tonight (Thursday) in a rematch on the home court at 6:30 p.m.

Laurel Bears Show Potential, Hand Wildcats First Loss

The Laurel Bears proved they are capable of playing better basketball than their record indicates, by downing previously undefeated and state rated Harrington High 48-46 Saturday night.

Steve Anderson hit the winning basket on a last second shot to tack the loss on the Wildcats. After trailing through the first three quarters, the Bears outscored Harrington 17-9 in the final period. Anderson led Laurel in scoring with 20 points. The Bears trailed by as much as 10 points but staged the comeback for their fourth win in 10 games.

"It was a slow-paced game.

Both teams were playing conservatively," Laurel Coach Joel Parks said. "Harrington sort of let us back into the game when they missed one-and-one attempts. I was pleased with the way we hung in there and kept plugging away at them. It's an encouraging sign. We needed to pick up a close win."

Harrington hit 18 of 36 shots from the field for 50 percent to 19 of 54 for Laurel for 35 percent. The Bears grabbed a big advantage by outrebounding the Wildcats 36-21 and capitalized to score. Anderson led Laurel with 11 rebounds.

Laurel will take a 4-6 record into a game with Creighton

Friday on the home court. Laurel Reserves 45 Harrington 40

Joe Olsen and Scott Norvell led the Bears with 11 points each. Other scorers: Steve Stark, 4; Matt Johnson, 2; Blake Maxon, 7; Mike McCorkindale, 9; Kraig Lofquist, 1.

Two area girls basketball teams battled to a heartstopping finish on a cold winter's night when the Allen Eagles and Winside Wildkittens met in the Allen High gym Monday night. When the gym cleared, Allen walked away with a narrow 51-50 win in one of the most exciting finishes of the year.

Allen led 46-40 with three minutes remaining in the game when the real excitement began. Winside's Kathy Thomas closed the difference to 46-42 with a basket. Stacey Koester of Allen hit one free throw to put the Eagles on top 47-42 but Kathy Thomas stole a pass and scored to pull the Wildkittens within three points with 1:02 remain-

Eagles Win Area Cliffhanger

The Wayne (Nebr.) Herald, Thursday, January 18, 1979

The Wildkittens moved the ball down court quickly and Laurie Gallop hit a short basket at the buzzer for the final score, 51-50.

Neither team played up to its potential offensively early in the game but perhaps the reason was the defensive performances. Both teams played in the zone early and it shaped into a defensive battle.

Allen gained the lead in the first quarter and eventually increased it to 13 points in the third quarter, behind the fine offensive performance of Lisa Erwin, who finished with 20 points.

LAURIE GALLOP of Winside, grimaces as she puts up a shot over Allen's Lisa Wood.

Winside worked on the lead with patience and finally cut it to six points at 42-36. Then with a little over four minutes remaining the two teams duelled in a suspenseful finish.

Kathy Thomas, Laurie Gallop and Kathy Thies led the Winside attack, combining for 41 total game points. The three players teamed up well offensively in the final minutes. Stacey Koester and Susie Erwin played aggressively in the final minutes to complement Lisa Erwin's play and offset most of Winside's baskets.

"Winside penetrated really well. I have to give them a lot of credit, they came on strong," Allen coach Steve McManigal said. "I was pleased with our ball handling. We only had 10 turnovers and I feel good about that."

"With foul trouble, we had to take our press off. We weren't able to get many turnovers after the first half," McManigal continued. "Susie Erwin made some clutch free throws. The whole team shot well at the line. That's been a big plus for us all season."

"It was too little, too late," Winside Coach Kathy O'Connor said about her team's final rally. "We got off to a slow start but played a fine second half. Laurie Gallop played a real good game and Kathy Thomas was outstanding."

Allen, now 6-0, shot 32 percent from the field and 58 percent from the free throw line. The Eagles were led by Lisa Erwin with 20 points and 11 rebounds. Stacey Koester with 11 points and 8 rebounds and Susie Erwin with 9 points.

Winside, now 5-4, shot 35 percent from the field and 63 percent from the free throw line. Kathy Thomas led the team with 14 points and 14 rebounds, followed by Laurie Gallop with 13 points and Kathy Thies with 10 points.

Allen hosts Decatur Thursday at 6:30 while Winside hosts Wausa at 6:30. Allen is ranked fifth in Class D while Decatur is ranked fourth.

Play of Gotch, Stewart Not Enough

Despite the performances of Bart Gotch and Rich Stewart, who teamed up for 36 points, the Allen Eagles were defeated 63-50 by Winnebago Tuesday night.

"We gave Winnebago the ball too much," Allen coach Bart Knell said. "We shot 44 percent from the field but they shot 54 percent. We need to cut down on turnovers."

Gotch hit eight field goals and Stewart hit nine for the Eagles but the Indians took advantage of Allen turnovers to win.

Stewart led the Eagles with eight rebounds. The loss drops Allen's record to 4-5 on the season. The Eagles will host Newcastle Tuesday at 6:30 in hopes of evening their record at 5-0.

Battle Creek Topples Winside Girls

The Winside Wildkittens, running into the tough part of their schedule dropped a basketball game to Battle Creek 47-38 Saturday night.

Kathy Thomas led Winside in scoring with 12 points and in rebounding with 7 rebounds. Battle Creek established a 13-10 lead after the first quarter and opened up to a 30-20 half-time advantage.

The Wildkittens began a rally in the third quarter and got within one point but couldn't gain the lead. Battle Creek's height advantage took hold and the invaders held on for a 36-31 third quarter lead.

The fourth quarter belonged to the visitors and Winside's record fell to 5-3. Although Battle Creek held the height advantage, Winside outrebounded the opposition 32-26.

"We got within one point in the third quarter but didn't have enough of a surge," Winside coach Kathy O'Connor said.

Blue Devils Dropped

Cards Shut Down Wayne

The Wayne girls basketball team ran into a taller South Sioux City team for the second time this season and the Blue Devils were defeated again, 60-51, Tuesday night in the Wayne High gym.

South Sioux used its height advantage to take an early lead on Wayne and the Cardinals never trailed. The Blue Devils were shut off in the rebounding department and Wayne coach Curt Frye substituted frequently, seeking the right combination.

Wayne fell behind 34-20 at the half as 5-11 Cyndi Johnson controlled the boards and Sheila Hinds enjoyed a shooting streak. The Devils scored in spurts during the third period and with the help of two technical free shots by LaVonne Sharpe and a basket at the buzzer stayed within 18 points.

South Sioux's big girl fouled out early in the final stanza and Wayne closed the gap. With a good effort from Lesa Barclay and successful free throw shooting by Joene Bennett, the Blue Devils closed within nine points at 57-48.

LESA BARCLAY'S hair stands straight up as the Wayne athlete plays defense against a South Sioux City player. Wayne lost the game 60-51 Tuesday night.

WSC Wildcats Scare Hastings In Close Rematch On The Road

By DARWIN RUBECK
WSC Sports Information Assistant

The Wayne State Wildcats threw a scare into the Hastings Broncos Tuesday before falling 69-67 at Hastings. The Broncos had to fight from behind to finally defeat Wayne State.

The Wildcats, after a 45-45 half-time score, played impressively in the second half and built up an eight-point lead. Wattie Rhoda, a 6-5 junior from Elizabethtown, N.C., symbolized the play of Wayne State by hitting 13 of 14 shots from the field and added 2 out of 2 from the free throw line to lead the Cats in scoring with 26 points. Rhoda, who was playing just his fourth complete game of the year due to an injury, came back in style. He added 9 rebounds to his 28 points for one of the best performances for the Wildcats this season.

Wattie Summers, a junior from Hamlet, N.C., added 15 points to the Wildcat attack, as well as excellent ball-handling. Summers was followed closely in scoring by Jay Bellar, a sophomore from Wallhigh, who hit 14 points, his highest output this season.

Tim Shanahan and Denis Lessor led the Bronco attack. Shanahan poured in 32 points and grabbed 14 rebounds, and Lessor added 21 points and 6 rebounds.

Through the efforts of these two players, Hastings fought back and built up their biggest lead of the game at six points. The Broncos held on to this lead until about 30 seconds left in the game when the Wildcats, with a tenacious defense, came back to the final deficit of two points.

Both ball clubs hit 59 percent of their shots from the field for the entire game, as well as both hitting 43 percent from the field at the half. Also both teams hit nine free throws with the difference in the game being one more field goal hit by Hastings.

The Wildcats dominated the boards despite Shanahan's 14 rebounds, 36-29. Dean Onken of Carroll, Ia., added 9 rebounds and 8 points while Bob Reeson of West Point hit 9 points and grabbed 7 rebounds. Wayne State is now 5-4 on the season and Hastings is 8-2.

The Wildcats travel to Kearney State Friday and to Ft. Hays Saturday for CSIC games.

Wildkittens Drop Decision To Southern

By DARWIN RUBECK
WSC Sports Information Assistant

The Wayne State Wildkittens were stopped for the second time in as many nights as Missouri Southern defeated the Kittens 84-70 in CSIC action Saturday. Pittsburg State downed the Kittens 62-51 Friday.

The Lady Lions of Missouri Southern had the lead nearly the entire game, giving it up only twice and for just a matter of seconds both times. The balance of Missouri Southern was too much for the Wildkittens. Southern had five players in double figures, led by Patti Killian's 18 points.

The Wildkittens, behind Lori Erwin's 21 points, 10 in the first half, played a close match throughout the first half against Missouri Southern, trailing 35-33 at the half. The Kittens came out fired up in the second half only to have their hopes pressed away as they were outscored 16-1 in the first four minutes.

Wayne State was plagued by cold shooting, hitting 32 percent from the field and 51 percent from the line. The Wildkittens went to the line 15 times to shoot one and ones, and missed the first shot (thereby eliminating a chance at the second), 11 times.

Barb Bettin, a senior from Vinton, Iowa, hit 13 points, and was followed by Petronis with 11 points.

Wayne State controlled the boards against both Missouri Southern and Pittsburg State, pulling down 42 rebounds compared to Southern's 31 and held a slight 25-24 edge against the Lady Gorgons of Pittsburg State. Sophomore Julie Petronis was the workhorse for Wayne State under the boards, grabbing 30 rebounds in the two games (14 vs. Pittsburg and 16 vs. Southern).

WSC Kittens Lose Third

The Wayne State Wildkittens fell to Missouri Western 67-57 in conference action at St. Joseph, Mo. Tuesday night. It was the third consecutive CSIC loss for the Wildkittens.

The Kittens, as usual, played a fine first half trailing only by six, 39-33 at the half. In second half action, they played closely for the first six or seven minutes before Western built up a 13-point lead midway through the second half.

Sophomore Lori Erwin of Concord led Wayne State with 18 points, followed by Julie Petronis of Sioux City, Ia., and Barb Bettin of Vinton, Ia., each with 10 points. Petronis grabbed 14 rebounds to lead that category, followed by Lori Erwin with 10 rebounds.

The Kittens, now 4-10, overall and 0-3 in CSIC action, were on the road this weekend traveling to Kearney State Friday and Ft. Hays State in Kansas on Saturday. Both are Central States Conference games.

WSC Swim Team Doused

By BRAD WIELAND
WSC Sports Information Assistant

The Wayne State swimming team found the going tough against the University of South Dakota Saturday at Carlson Natatorium. The USD squad prevailed 49-47 over the Wildcats, tagging WSC with a 4-2 record in dual competition this season.

WSC coach Ralph Barclay said he felt his squad's overall performance was adequate, but individual times show the three-week Christmas vacation left off bad legs for the Cats. USD, however, proved to be the 100-meter swimmer for the match after training in Florida during Christmas vacation.

Saturday's most featured 100-meter double winners for the Cats, Marty Christiansen of Fremont and John Frick of Arvada, Colorado, Christiansen won the 200 meter freestyle and 200 meter backstroke, while Frick won the one and three meter diving competition.

The only other first place for Wayne was earned by the 400 meter freestyle relay team, consisting of Roger Lebbert of Omaha, Duane Hugo of West Point, Barry Burt of Hartley, Iowa and Christiansen.

The arrangements for the funeral are important in giving the mourners some useful and helpful things to do. This serves to confirm the reality of physical death so that grief can gradually give way to recovery of a whole, some mental attitude.

Fewer Teachers

WSC Enrollment Trends Changing

Figures released recently by the Wayne State College Placement Bureau show that although the majority of WSC's graduates are education majors, the number of teaching graduates has decreased in recent years, while the number of non-teaching graduates has increased. More than 95 percent of all bachelor degrees awarded by WSC in the early 1960s were in teaching areas. By 1975-76 that figure had declined to just 54 percent and has remained at 54 percent since that time.

The number of teaching graduates dropped from 422 in 1970-71, to 167 in 1977-78, a decline of about 60 percent. The number of non-teaching graduates, however, increased over 80 percent, from 79 to 143 during that same 8-year period. WSC Placement Director Deryl Lawrence said the figures show that in the past 15 years WSC has changed from almost exclusively a teachers college to a multi-purpose college. It does not show in the figures, Lawrence said, "but because of decline in the number of teaching graduates such as this, we are now seeing a critical shortage of some areas of teaching. The decline has already resulted in a severe regional shortage in areas such as industrial arts, math and physical sciences."

Lawrence also said the increase in non-teaching graduates at the college is the increase in business administration graduates, which accounted for 44 percent of all non-teaching graduates in the 1971-78 period. Dr. Neil Swanson, chairman of the WSC Division of Business, said the business administration increase is partly due to the increased demand for business graduates, particularly in the areas of accounting, data processing, marketing and finance. "Many students are choosing to pursue a degree in these areas because of the career opportunities that are available to business administration graduates who are liberally educated as well," Swanson said. "It allows them to concentrate on a definite career, while more than one-half of the degree is taken in other disciplines."

Placement Director Deryl Lawrence said several new WSC programs have also accounted for part of the non-teaching graduate increase. Since the early 1960s, WSC has added non-teaching programs in Industrial Management, Medical Technology, Political Science, Public Service, Recreation, Mortuary Science and others. Lawrence noted that the number of female non-teaching graduates has also increased in marking out fields with stakes prior to planting.

Producers who take advantage of premeasurement are then guaranteed that the fields are a certain size. This is important in helping them plan which fields to plant and which to set aside, said ASCS Administrator Ray Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald said premeasurement was available last year but few farmers took advantage of it. In many instances this caused producers to either lose program benefits or to destroy crops to comply with set-aside provisions, he said.

After planting their 1979 crops, program participants must certify or report their crop, set aside and other program acres to their County ASCS Offices. County offices will announce certification periods for 1979 crops at a later date.

Bake in 350 degree oven about 30 to 35 minutes, covering loosely with sheet foil. Let ring stand 10 minutes, then invert on rack to cool. When cold, heat apricot jam and brush over ring.

Ship of State sets sail

CAPITOL NEWS
by Melvin Paul
LINCOLN — Nebraska's Ship of State is underway with Charles Thone at the helm.

The 55-year-old Republican took over direction of the state's course for the next four years admitting he was "proud indeed" to have the honor but acknowledging his pride was "tempered by the heavy responsibility which is implied in this office."

He told those packed into the West Senate Chamber for his inauguration he is aware he must continue to call on Nebraskans for support, encouragement, counsel and honest criticism.

With his wife, Ruth, three daughters, mother and other family members in front row seats, Thone took the oath of office from Chief Justice Norman Krivosha of the Supreme Court.

Right after the new governor said "I do" to end the formal oath-taking, one of Thone's daughters let out a "yahoo!" to signify her joy at having her Dad the state's chief executive officer.

During his inaugural address, Thone sketched Nebraska's history and made comparisons between present-day Nebraska and pioneer days.

He pledged to "commit my heart, my mind and my energy to the task" of dealing with "the new problems our inventors and our energy keep creating for us."

He also used the occasion to reiterate his campaign pledge to offer "the firm hand of friendship and cooperation" to the Legislature, which during the past eight years had frequent and strong disagreements with Thone's predecessor, J. James Exon.

"We can work together," said Thone. "We can settle any differences amicably and reasonably, so long as both branches are committed to the best interests of the people of our state."

There will be differences between himself and the lawmakers, the new governor said, adding, "Sometimes verbal sparks will fly, to be sure. But I do have confidence those differences can be resolved in a civil and dignified manner with each side giving the other the right to hold opposing views."

Thone did not go into specifics of his program but did say he hopes the Legislature will pass fewer laws. He added bills that are enacted should include a sunset provision so state programs can be continually evaluated.

On one specific, he was in agreement with Exon. That was when he said "above all, we must live within our means."

Thone's restated pledge to adopt a cooperative stance in his dealings with the Legislature was singled out by many lawmakers as among the brightest points of the inaugural address.

Unicameral Speaker Richard Marvel of Hastings said, "It was one of the better inaugural speeches I've heard. The speech was comprehensive, challenging and was given by a very serious-minded man who wants to get things done. I'm looking forward to working with him."

Bills Introductions Slow

There always are more than enough bills introduced in a legislative session to keep the senators busy.

During the first week of the session, only 200 bills were submitted — the lowest total for that period in four years.

according to Speaker Richard Marvel.

But the first batch of measures included a number sure to spark considerable debate in the weeks ahead.

One of them was LB 188, signed by 14 senators, and described by chief sponsor John DeCamp of Neligh as the top proposal this session for coming to grips with the problems of property values and the funding of local governments.

The bill would set the maximum property tax rate at 1.5 percent of actual value.

That approach, of course, was questioned by some of the senators but was described as "interesting" and "deserving of study" by Gov. Thone, who said the property tax is too heavy in some parts of the state.

DeCamp said by providing incentives for setting values uniformly at the actual rate, the bill might adequately address the problem of equalizing property values within and among counties.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly did not sign the bill but said many experts have said the property tax is most fair when it varies between 1 percent and 1.5 percent of actual value.

Sen. Gerald Koch of Reiston labeled the DeCamp bill "a political aim" and Columbus Sen. Don Dvorak said he wasn't sure it was the final answer because the measure was only part of the taxation puzzle.

The proposal is utterly simple and does not have all of the mumble-umble of the various ill bid proposals and it goes directly to the heart of the problem," DeCamp said. "The problem is excessively high property taxes with no method of curtailing or stopping them. The solution is to install an absolute limit on the total amount that government can take from property."

Rules on Teacher Tenure

The state Supreme Court has ruled schools must attempt to retain tenured teachers whose positions have been eliminated.

In an opinion written by Judge Harry Spencer, the court said, "We hold a tenured teacher whose position has been abolished has a right to be retained to fill any vacancy for which she is qualified for the school year which occurs after elimination of her position."

The court, in reversing a Frontier County District Court decision, ruled a tenured teacher whose job is abolished must be given priority over outsiders in filling other vacant positions.

"In other words, no new teacher may be hired to fill a vacancy she is qualified to fill," Spencer said. "To hold otherwise would simply allow a total amputation of the tenured teachers act."

The case involved a Curtis teacher, Elaine M. Witt, whose position in a special reading program was terminated because the school district in 1975 hired a teacher specially trained to instruct children in learning disabilities.

The following year the Curtis superintendent recommended that the school board eliminate the special reading program because of duplication of effort and expense.

Spencer said the board apparently believed because it eliminated the program, it terminated the contract. It did not have that effect because Mrs. Witt was a tenured teacher and was entitled to continued employment unless just cause existed for her removal, Spencer said.

Share basic qualities

Each of us is unique. Yet, despite our differences, we Americans share some basic qualities, including love of freedom, belief in the future, and a sense of caring.

As a volunteer health agency made up of concerned Americans, the March of Dimes is impeded with these same qualities.

The March of Dimes seeks freedom for all children from the threat of birth defects. March of Dimes believes in protecting our future children and our children's futures from lifelong damage, or death, at birth.

Birth defects can strike any family anywhere in the country. No family is immune by ethnic, economic, or cultural background. This is why so many different, caring people become involved with the Mothers March on Birth Defects.

And not only women are involved. Men and young adults also are committed to good health at birth. After all, birth defects affect the entire family, not just the newest, smallest member. That means that aunts, uncles, brothers, sisters and fathers must all take action to see that America's number one child health crisis is finally prevented.

This Sunday, Jan. 21, members of the Wayne Mrs. Jaycees organization will be knocking on doors in the Wayne community seeking your support for the March of Dimes. Be generous!

Remember the qualities that tie you to every other member of this community and give as much as you can to the Mothers March on Birth Defects.

Thomas Jefferson, Letter, 1786

What's happening in Washington

SENATOR EDWARD ZORINSKY (D-Nebr.)

Later this month, the President will hand Congress a proposed $532 billion budget for the fiscal year beginning next October.

That budget, though large, will nonetheless strike many as austere. It is $16 billion less than what would be required to keep federal programs fully funded after inflation. Clearly, therefore, significant cuts are to be expected.

Though Senators will not be told the specifics until Jan. 21, I have some idea about which programs may be affected.

Broad purpose health grants to states, for which $90 million was authorized last year, will reportedly be budgeted only $57 million.

The grants were worth $87,700 to Nebraska last year, accounting for roughly seven percent of the state Health Department's budget. At least one quarter of the funds are passed on by the state to local health officials for use as they please. The rest go to state-run high blood pressure clinics, nursing and mental health activities, and similar services.

The Agricultural Conservation Program may also be curtailed. ACP is a legacy of the Dust Bowl of the 1930's. It encourages the use of sound soil and water conservation practices on farms by offering to pay 75 percent of the cost of approved conservation projects.

The program is so popular in Nebraska that the state could easily absorb three times the $4.6 million that has been allocated to it for fiscal year 1979.

The Administration wanted new budget authority for ACP reduced from $190 million to $100 million last year. Congress refused. The President will undoubtedly recommend that spending on it be reduced again this year.

Federal economizing may also affect some 30 Nebraska school districts that were given over $9 million in impact aid last year.

Any district with children of federal employees is now eligible for the program. But the Administration will probably ask to have the aid restricted in the future to school systems with so-called "Class A" students — students whose parents both work and live on federal property.

The Senate voted down a similar proposal last August.

Finally, CETA is a job-training program that has helped economically and educationally disadvantaged persons in Omaha, Lincoln and throughout the state prepare for private sector employment. It has also, in the past at least, provided public service jobs for persons who can't find work elsewhere.

Over 1,600 Nebraskans will work in CETA positions this year. They will serve, among other things, as secretaries, ambulance drivers, campus securitymen and mechanics.

The Administration apparently wants the number of CETA jobs cut back by 30 percent nationwide.

Holding the line on federal spending will be congress's most difficult assignment this year.

There are many political benefits to be had by increasing spending on programs of interest to one's constituents. Few politicians go far, on the other hand, by remaining true to a platform of austerity and fiscal restraint.

But the political rules may be changing.

Proposition 13, and the similar ballot initiatives in other states, performed some very important "consciousness raising." There exists now, where there had not before, a relatively strong "tax-paying" constituency with a recognized stake in slowing the rate of growth in government spending. In addition, new budget review procedures, instituted in

The 'fewer and bigger' trend

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

The number of Nebraska farm and ranch units continues to decline while the average size of the units continues to increase, a pattern that has been virtually uninterrupted since 1935.

The most recent estimate of farm numbers for 1978 in the state, issued by the Nebraska Crop & Livestock Reporting Service, is 65,000, a decline of 1,000 units from 1977. The preliminary estimate for 1979 is 63,000 units, and that would represent a decline of 6,000 units from the 69,000 estimate of 1975.

Average farm and ranch size unit in Nebraska for 1979 is estimated at 759 acres, up 22 acres from the 737 average in 1978 and 44 acres greater than the estimate for 1975.

The latest report states succinctly, "Declining farm numbers have been the result of consolidation of farms." Most farmers and ranchers looking around their neighborhoods would accept that brief explanation as reasonably adequate. They know that in their own neighborhoods as farmers retire or leave the farms and ranches, adjacent farmers have simply increased the size of their operations and bought bigger equipment to handle their increased acreage.

This has been going on for a long time because of the squeeze of inflated production costs and the amount of capital required to keep up with modern farming. Farmers and ranchers have simply had to increase the size of their operations to withstand the financial pressures of lean years and to adopt new technology and expensive equipment.

There are just about the same amount of acres in farm and ranch units in the state now as there were in 1935 when there were 124,000 farm and ranch units on around 48 million acres. The latter figure has remained almost constant. It is interesting that the biggest decline in farm numbers in the period since then occurred in the 5 years between 1935 and 1940 when the total dropped 11,000 units to 122,000. During that period the accumulated effect of severe drought and the low prices of the Depression knocked off farmers wholesale. Again, the figures demonstrate that economic conditions — not corporate farming or a host of other reasons that are so often projected — account for the steady decline in farm and ranch numbers.

By 1950, the average size unit was up to 444 acres and there were 109,000 units left. By 1960 the average size unit was 518 acres for 93,000 units. By 1970 there were 73,000 units left in the state and the average size was 659 acres.

In the brief period of farm prosperity of 1973-74-75, there was a distinct slow down in the attrition rate but it has apparently picked up again in ratio to the inflation rate and worsening of the cost-price squeeze.

If it is any comfort, the national decline in farm and ranch numbers has paralleled that experienced in Nebraska. In 1935 there were 6,813,700 farms in the United States. By 1950 there were 5,647,800; in 1960, 3,962,520; and by 1970, 2,949,140. The estimate for 1979 is that 2.33 million farms and ranches will be in operation and the average size will be 450 acres.

The "new" definition for a farm unit used by the Bureau of the Census is "places of agricultural products of $1,000 or more." The "old" definition was "places of 10 acres or more that had annual sales of agricultural products of $50 or more and places of less than 10 acres that had annual sales of $250 or more." While this change distorts the historical figures somewhat, it does not change the clear-cut evidence of the trend of the past 44 years.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

Clean car can save fuel

Washing your car in the winter can save you money by reducing gasoline consumption, says the Automotive Information Council.

Ice and snow can build up under the fenders and undercarriage — as well as on the hood, roof and trunk lid — adding up to several hundred pounds of weight to the car. This added weight can have a negative effect on gas mileage.

A freshly washed car also seems to run smoother, and that may not be just your imagination. Slush, snow and mud can get caked in the wheel wells, and a heavy build-up can affect steering and ride. The high-pressure spray of a car wash can remove the grime, leading to a smoother ride. In addition, spraying under the car — especially under the fenders, can help to clean areas where rust can form.

Do-it-yourselfer can do this with a garden hose on a warm day.

Cars should be washed once a week during the winter. For the best do-it-yourself job, use a mild dishwashing type soap. Laundry or dishwasher machine soaps may have a high alkaline content, which can damage a car's finish. Even the water you use can make a difference.

Hard water should be avoided because it can lead to a spotty finish.

Use a sponge, towel or soft brush. A hard brush used directly on the car's paint can scratch the finish. For the same reason, wipe the car with a damp towel or chamois, not a dry towel.

If, after inspecting the car, you should find a scratch or two, dab them with wax to stop rust from forming. Better yet, fill-in the scratch with touch-up paint. Just touch the paint on and let it run and spread into the scratch for even coverage.

Never paint over rust. Spots which have rusted should be rubbed out with steel wool before painting. Also, use only a very fine steel wool on rusted chrome. Coarse steel wool will mar the finish.

Preserve your car's appearance by finishing with a coat of wax. Your car needs a wax job when wax no longer "beads-up" on its surface of the car. Buy a good paste or liquid wax and follow the directions on the label for the best possible finish.

Keeping a car's appearance clean and sharp might net you several hundred dollars extra at resale time, says the Automotive Information Council.

Nice to know

Wayne

Dear Editor:

On the night of Jan. 11, 1979, we had what we thought was a severe gas leak at our home. This, of course, alarmed some of the residents.

We made a non-emergency call to the fire department. Just minutes after the call, we had the police, fire and gas crews at the house to search for possible dangers.

We would like to offer our many thanks to all those men for coming out on a very cold night. I'm sure many had to get out of bed. It's nice to know that we are well protected with quick, courteous forces. Our sincere appreciation. — Paul M. Schmitt, President, Phi Sigma Epsilon.

Prices Expected Higher

Prices for fed cattle increased substantially in 1978 and further increases are expected during 1979, according to Dr. Al Wellman, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension economist.

Wellman says choice steers at Omaha may average in the upper $50 per hundred weight range, or perhaps as high as $60. The rise in fed cattle prices will be highly dependent on supplies of competing meats and consumer demand for beef, he adds.

"Unless fed cattle prices rise more than currently expected, profit margins in 1979 will probably be very slim given the expected level of feeder cattle prices. In fact, losses are likely at times," Wellman says.

Farmers Financial Position Improved

The financial position among most farmers in Nebraska and across the United States is considerably improved as the new year begins, according to Ron Hanson, associate professor of agricultural economics in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Loan renewal requests are down from last year and loan repayment rates are reported good by farm financial lenders. Loan delinquencies and payment defaults continue to run at a very low level among farm borrowers.

A year ago, much concern was directed toward farmers who were facing serious cash flow problems. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln staff member said it was uncertain whether these farmers would be able to keep their farm business operations financially liquid in order to pay expenses and meet loan payments coming due during 1978.

Most speculation centered on the potential rate of loan delinquencies among farm borrowers. Another trouble spot was whether farm lenders could meet the farmers' needs for refinancing and extending beyond their present debts. Hanson added.

The survival rate among farmers through 1978 was extremely high, much higher than many were willing to project a year ago," he noted. Most of these farmers weathered the adverse financial conditions of 1978 fairly well by postponing capital purchases, "tightening the belts" on cash expenses, restructuring their present debts, and taking advantage of government emergency farm credit programs and farm price deficiency payments. Two major concerns of farm borrowers in the year ahead are rising interest rates and the availability of loan funds from farm lenders. The improved financial position of farmers over the past year should increase their ability to secure the necessary credit dollars for their farming operations, the economist said.

Climbing interest rates, however, will increase the cost of borrowing and will mean larger loan repayments and potential cash flow problems if farm prices should drop sharply within the year.

Because farm debt rose at a faster percentage rate than did farm asset values, the debt to asset ratio increased slightly to 1.17 in 1978, compared to the 1.08 percent ratio a year earlier, Hanson said.

The total farm debt rose by $17 billion during 1978, a 14 percent increase, and stands at nearly $136 billion for Jan. 1, 1979. The 1978 debt increase is the largest dollar amount ever recorded, although the 14 percent increase for 1978 was less than the 16 percent rise reported for 1977.

Hanson said the net worth or equity in farm assets now totals more than $68 billion after the $11 billion increase during 1978. This 8.3 percent gain was $10 billion greater than the increase for 1977, as there was a larger dollar increase in the value of farm assets than in farm debt.

Hanson attributes the continued large increase in farm real estate debt to higher land purchasing prices, a slight increase in land transfers, securing of some short term debts with real estate mortgages, and refinancing short-term debts into longer term repayment periods.

Farm real estate outstanding now stands at just over $72 billion, up $9 billion from a year ago. This 14 percent increase during 1978 is the largest since 1973 and is higher than the 12 percent rise reported for 1977.

The level of nonreal estate farm debt during 1978 fell short of the 18 percent rise reported during 1977, but exceeded the 12 percent rates of increase in 1975 and 1976. The 1978 debt increased 14.5 percent, or $7 billion, and now totals $58.2 billion for Jan. 1, 1979.

The estimated value of all U.S. farm assets, on the other hand, increased nine percent to $74 billion during 1978. Hanson said. The increase, totaling $6 billion, matched the nine percent levels experienced in 1976 and 1977 but was less than the 12 percent increase in 1975.

Also showing a nine percent increase over the past year was farm real estate, accounting for just over $53 billion, or 78 percent of the total value of all farm assets.

Other physical farm assets, such as machinery, equipment, grain and feed inventories and livestock, increased 17 percent during 1978, almost double their increase for 1977, the economist said. Their total value as $163 billion at the start of 1979.

Livestock and poultry values were double those of the 1960s.

Expanded American production over the increased export demand, provided supplies for stable to higher domestic use, and led to a systematic rebuilding of American inventories. The May 31, 1978 inventory of 1.17 billion bushels of wheat substantially exceeds the level that existed in the 1960s, he said. The 340-million-bushel inventory of 1974 was the low point which triggered considerable popular concern over food shortages and world hunger, Turner analyzed.

Wheat plunged to an annual low of $2.31 per bushel for the 1977-78 marketing year, he said. However, the 1978 American crop at 1.78 billion bushels is the smallest since 1973. Total supplies remain at high levels, but are six percent less than a year earlier, he noted.

"In spite of these large supplies, the price received by American wheat farmers has improved considerably in the last year," the University of Nebraska-Lincoln expert said. During November, 1978, wheat prices averaged $2.90 per bushel compared to $2.27 a year earlier.

Factors which affected this improvement include the acreage reduced setaside program; weather-related problems in the soft red winter wheat areas last fall; large entries into the farmer-owned reserve; and a heavy rate of exports since late fall, Turner said.

More distant futures contracts — March and May — should be at progressively higher prices as compared to December, reflecting the added cost of storage. "The market is saying there is an immediate shortage of wheat," he said. Obviously the wheat is there, but producers are exercising considerable control over their marketings.

World grain reserves also are increasing with world grain stocks expected to reach an all-time high of 225 million tons by the end of 1979, he said. The American share of world grain stocks has nearly doubled in three years to about 40 percent of the total, yet the exports have remained strong, he said.

The persistent deficit in the United States balance of payments has resulted in dollars accumulating in foreign nations, he said.

on farms jumped a record $10.8 billion, largely due to much higher prices. Farm machinery values rose at the same rate as in 1977. Higher machinery prices offset fewer purchases and depreciation changes during the past year, Hanson explained.

Capital gains from farm real estate, machinery, grain and feed inventories, and livestock totaled $67 billion for 1978, a figure two and one-half times greater than the total U.S. net farm income last year, he added.

"From 1971 to 1978, these capital gains have reached $32 billion," Hanson said. "Farm real estate alone accounts for more than 80 percent of this accumulation." Farmers received nearly two-thirds of these farm real estate capital gains, the remainder going to non-operator landlords.

Other physical farm assets, such as machinery, equipment, grain and feed inventories and livestock, increased 17 percent during 1978, almost double their increase for 1977, the economist said. Their total value as $163 billion at the start of 1979.

Livestock and poultry values were double those of the 1960s.

Expanded American production over the increased export demand, provided supplies for stable to higher domestic use, and led to a systematic rebuilding of American inventories. The May 31, 1978 inventory of 1.17 billion bushels of wheat substantially exceeds the level that existed in the 1960s, he said. The 340-million-bushel inventory of 1974 was the low point which triggered considerable popular concern over food shortages and world hunger, Turner analyzed.

Wheat plunged to an annual low of $2.31 per bushel for the 1977-78 marketing year, he said. However, the 1978 American crop at 1.78 billion bushels is the smallest since 1973. Total supplies remain at high levels, but are six percent less than a year earlier, he noted.

"In spite of these large supplies, the price received by American wheat farmers has improved considerably in the last year," the University of Nebraska-Lincoln expert said. During November, 1978, wheat prices averaged $2.90 per bushel compared to $2.27 a year earlier.

Factors which affected this improvement include the acreage reduced setaside program; weather-related problems in the soft red winter wheat areas last fall; large entries into the farmer-owned reserve; and a heavy rate of exports since late fall, Turner said.

More distant futures contracts — March and May — should be at progressively higher prices as compared to December, reflecting the added cost of storage. "The market is saying there is an immediate shortage of wheat," he said. Obviously the wheat is there, but producers are exercising considerable control over their marketings.

World grain reserves also are increasing with world grain stocks expected to reach an all-time high of 225 million tons by the end of 1979, he said. The American share of world grain stocks has nearly doubled in three years to about 40 percent of the total, yet the exports have remained strong, he said.

The persistent deficit in the United States balance of payments has resulted in dollars accumulating in foreign nations, he said.

1979 Expected Active For Farm Estate Sales

The coming year should be highly active for farm real estate buyers and sellers, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural economist.

Dr. Bruce Johnson, of the UNL Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said farm land values probably rose about 10 percent during 1978. He noted continued increases are likely for 1979.

Johnson attributed the 1978 rebound in dryland, irrigated cropland and rangeland markets to "substantial farm income improvement."

He said the 1978 federal farm program helped to stabilize farm prices and offered market flexibility by its provisions for on-farm grain storage.

Increased buyer interest for long term investments is another factor in the increasingly active land market, Johnson said.

"Farm land has traditionally been a good investment. Over the past 10 years, Nebraska farm real estate has appreciated at an average rate of 10 percent per year compounded annually," he said.

Johnson added that the general rate of inflation in the U.S. economy averaged six percent per year, making investments in farmland an effective hedge against inflation.

The devaluation of the dollar has undoubtedly increased the interest in U.S. farmlands by foreign investors, Johnson said. Although foreign bidders now have a significant bidding advantage, he said foreign investment appears to be low, especially in Nebraska where regulations limiting alien ownership exist.

Because the majority of Nebraska farmland sales exceed $100,000, financing has become an important factor in the land market.

Johnson said one out of ten Nebraska land transactions involves the use of credit, but added that real estate financing has been adequate over the last year. However, he said higher interest rates may slightly slow the growth of the market.

Two-thirds as these animals continue to be bid out of the reach of packers. Cow slaughter may be down 20 to 25 percent. These likely developments suggest much lower supplies of lean beef in 1979.

Average dressed weights will rise in 1979 as fed cattle account for a greater percentage of the slaughter, and as feeders feed to heavier weights. Thus, beef production may decline only four to six percent while total cattle slaughter drops six to eight percent," Wellman says.

According to Wellman, the further declines in beef production expected in 1980 should continue to place upward pressure on cattle prices.

GREAT SCOT!

Eventually they built a line of forts between the Rivers Clyde and Forth and spent much of their time repelling the constant attacks of the Caledonians a very warlike race.

In AD 110 the Emperor Antoninus Pius sent new legions to Scotland and the new commander joined the line of forts with a wall 10 feet high, named the Antonine Wall in honor of the Emperor.

But Teacher's Scotch Information Centre explains, the Caledonians found ways of getting over the wall. They inflicted such trouble that the Romans eventually gave up the campaign and went home. You can still see small bits of the Antonine Wall, the only remains of the Roman "occupation."
