First of its Kind

JIM YOUNGMAYER, Wayne, waits patiently as a technician prepares to draw a blood sample. Some 35 to 40 area farm chemical applicators participated in the program which is designed to determine if pesticides and herbicides used by the applicators contaminate the applicators. The program, the first of its kind in the United States, is being conducted by the Nebraska Extension Service and the University of Nebraska School of Pharmacy. This will be the first of three blood samplings taken in the last. Emory Nelson, extension service specialist, is in charge of the program. The first two tests establish a "norm" with the final one to be taken after corn planting to determine if there is contamination. The technician is Sharon Daniels.

Another Storm

Another weekend winter storm made life miserable for residents in the Wayne area.

Former Director

'Scholarship, Not Spys, Central CIA Concepts' -- Colby

BY RANDY HASCALL

"We have projected an image of the spy, but since World War II, the CIA has changed considerably—and the change began with Pearl Harbor. A spy is only a piece of the CIA — we must measure the other pieces."

This is what William Colby, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency told an audience of approximately 220, Wednesday evening in Wayne State's Ramsey Theatre.

Colby was brought to Wayne State College by the WSC Student Senate and received $2,500 plus expenses for his speaking engagement.

The trip developed into a reunion for Colby and John Swanson of rural Carroll, an intelligence officer for the CIA from 1958-1976. Swanson met Colby in Vietnam in 1960.

That year, Swanson's son Carl and Colby's daughter, Christine, were born in a Vietnamese hospital. Swanson was also stationed in Puerto Rico and Washington. When Swanson retired from the CIA, Colby was the speaker at the retirement program.

Colby said that three major changes have occurred in intelligence operations since Pearl Harbor. He explained that scholarship has become the central concept, modern equipment and technology and provide knowledge of other countries and American intelligence operates under American law.

"We know exactly how many defense missiles Russia has," Colby said. "We don't ask a spy to go to countries to count weapons because we know what and how many they have, due to modern equipment."

"We have more scholars in the CIA than there are in most universities. We're putting America's genius to work," Colby stated.

Evaluating on the CIA working under American law, Colby said, "It was always thought that law had to be broken for intelligence. Intelligence was the tool of the king until Viet Nam and Watergate."

Then the CIA research conducted and discovered illegal acts in the past. "A few of the things that we researched, leaked out and made the headlines. They were blown out of proportion and the people became frightened," Colby explained.

"Now we make sure our methods are proper. The CIA will work under the American law now."

Although modern technology has made it possible for the United States to learn secrets from other countries, Colby said that spys are sometimes necessary. "I can't say there are no spys. There are countries that keep secrets that our equipment can't find out, therefore, there still is a spy — more than one — around the world.

Pilot Walks From Crash

The son in law of a Wayne man walked away from an airplane accident Thursday night at the DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge east of Blair, which killed two staffers of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

Andy Nielsen, 54, son in law of Carl Wright of Wayne, was piloting the single engine, four-passenger Cessna 180 when it crashed upside down. Cause of the accident is not yet known.

According to a story Friday in the Omaha World Herald, Nielsen was found walking towards rescuers who rushed to the scene of the accident. Nielsen had placed a piece of wood where he emerged from the woods to help rescuers find the plane.

Nielsen, a resident of Lincoln, was listed in stable condition Thursday night with neck, arm and abdominal injuries.

Killed in the crash were Randy Schilling of rural Platts mouth, manager of the Platts mouth Waterfowl Management Area, and Jack Sinn of Ceresco, a commission biologist. Critically hurt was Leonard Kotz of Cedar Rapids. All three were biologists assigned to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's wildlife division.

The crash came while the staffers were counting deer at the refuge.

Nielsen has flown for the commission for years, first as a conservation officer based in Fremont and later as Lincoln district law enforcement supervisor. He became a full time commission pilot last August.

At Annual Meeting

Koch Elected President Of Fair Managers Group

Marlyn Koch, Wayne, was unanimously elected president of the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers, during the final session of the group's annual meeting held in Lincoln last week.

Koch has been vice president of the organization for the past two years.

Koch has been secretary of the Wayne County fair for the past seven years. He has been instrumental for the fair's continued growth.

Koch has worked hard to keep the unique atmosphere of the county fair in tact. "We have tried to make it a fair in which everybody can become involved rather than just a commercial undertaking."

The Wayne County fair is a leader in county fairs in North-east Nebraska.

Convention delegates heard from Craighton Knau, farm service director of KMA radio, Shenandoah, Ia.

Knau challenged his audience to become involved and motivated within their community. He said, "Nebraska represents farming and it's up to each individual to promote his industry. We have never had so many good things right in front of us."

Novral Utmark, West Point, was elected director of District 3.

The fair managers held their 70th annual meeting in conjunction with the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture meeting.

Orville Koch, Syracuse, was elected vice president of the fair managers and was recipient of the Fairman of the Year award.

The firemen housed down a shed near the house to prevent it from burning. June Coppinger, resident of the home, was home alone when the fire started.

Permits Use of Eye Drops

Wayne Optometrist Voices Support of Proposed Law

By LAVON BECKMAN

"Nebraskans should no longer be penalized by a law that was enacted many years ago and which prohibits them from receiving the full advantage of the professional help that is available to them."

This was the statement made last week by Dr. Donald Koerber, a Wayne optometrist, in commenting on a health service bill now pending before the Nebraska legislature.

Dr. Koerber was referring to LB 9, a bill offered in the current session of the Legislature by Sen. Robert Clark, Sidney. The proposed bill would permit certified optometrists to use certain drugs which dilate the pupil of the eye and diagnose problems of the eye.

At the present time, only ophthalmologists are permitted by law to use eye drops for diagnostic purposes.

Ophthalmologists are physicians who specialize in defects and diseases of the eye, including surgery when necessary. Optometrists are non-physicians specially trained in diagnosis and care of the eye.

In Nebraska, said Dr. Koerber, there are 105 licensed practicing optometrists who have taken special training in this procedure. They have passed professionally recognized examinations and are fully capable of providing this added service. He went on to say that the 105 did this on their own time and at their own expense.

The special training included 85 classroom lecture hours, 15 clinic hours and five hours of examination for a total of 105 classroom hours. Dr. Koerber said.

He pointed out the optometrist's training on the vision system far exceeds the training being given the majority of medical graduates.

Dr. Koerber went on to say that it is a recognized fact by all those in the health field that patients with diseases that are manifest through the eye should be diagnosed at the earliest possible time.

He said he was referring to such ailments as high blood pressure, glaucoma, diabetes, strabismus in children, hardening of the arteries, and several other diseases of the eye and body that can be detected by examination of the eye.

Dr. Koerber said today's optometrists have received four years of professional training in an accredited school of optometry. He added that 70 percent of the entering optometric students have graduated from a recognized academic college or university.

"This is probably one of the reasons why the Nebraska Board of Health last year endorsed the legislation that is now pending in the state legislature," Dr. Koerber said.

Dr. Koerber added "there is a real need for this legislation if Nebraskans are to receive the full professional services of the 105 optometrists who have shown they are fully capable of providing still greater service to Nebraskans in the field of health."

Dr. Koerber concluded by saying, "The official position of the Nebraska State Department of Health is to lift the 72 year old prohibition the department had placed on this license and recommends passage of this legislation."

But the spy is only a piece of the CIA. People must measure the other pieces. Looking toward the future,

Colby said that the CIA will remain important to the security

Purchasing a toothbrush

This is the last in a series of six articles on dental health published by the Wayne Herald in cooperation with the Nebraska Dental Association, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, February 4-10.

The last time I purchased toothbrushes for my family there were so many shapes, sizes and degrees of bristle firmness that I was confused. Is there a recommended brush? Also, how long can most toothbrushes be used before their effectiveness is reduced?

Most dentists recommend a toothbrush that has a straight handle, a flat brushing surface and soft, end-rounded nylon bristles. Soft bristles are less likely to injure the gingival or gum tissues.

In addition, the head of the brush should be small enough to permit easier access to the rear of the mouth and the tongue side of the teeth. Children require smaller brushes than those designed for adults.

Considering normal wear, a toothbrush probably should be replaced about four times a year. A worn-out toothbrush can't clean off the plaque and bent bristles can injure your gums. You should check your family's toothbrushes often. When they become bent or frayed they should be replaced.

While toothbrushing will remove plaque and other debris, a truly effective cleaning job actually requires the completed daily use of a toothbrush, fluoridated dentifrice and dental floss.

The problem begins with plaque which is the sticky, colorless substance that constantly forms on everyone's teeth. The bacteria in plaque utilize sugars to produce harmful acids that attack the tooth enamel and cause decay. This same substance can also irritate the gums, making them tender and likely to bleed. If plaque is not thoroughly removed at least once a day by careful brushing and flossing, plaque will harden into a deposit called calculus. As calculus accumulates, the gums slowly detach from the teeth leaving deep pockets where bacteria and debris continue to collect, eventually destroying the tissues and bones around the teeth and the teeth themselves.

An especially crucial area to keep clean is where the hard and soft tissues meet. Brushing should be done carefully in this area. One recommended method is to place the head of the brush at a 45-degree angle alongside the tooth at the gumline. A series of short back and forth strokes, using a gentle scrubbing motion, should be used to cleanse each individual tooth. Use the same manner of brushing to scrub the inside and outside surfaces of each tooth, upper and lower, as well as the chewing surfaces of all the teeth.

While there are many sizes, and designs of toothbrushes on the market today, ask your family dentist to recommend the toothbrush that is best suited for your oral health care needs.

Unicameral Review

SENATOR ELROY M. HEFNER
District No. 19
Cokeridge, Nebraska

An avalanche of bills "hit the hopper" last week in the Legislature. Wednesday, Jan. 17, was the last day an individual state senator was able to introduce legislation under rules of the legislature. A record number of 175 bills were introduced on this day, making a total of 535 for this session. This compares to 471 bills introduced in 1977. Committees can introduce bills after the 10-day deadline if 30 of the 49 senators agree to grant permission. So when the appropriations committee and other committee bills are in, we should have a total of nearly 400 bills. It will take a lot of midnight oil to read and study all of these.

At the present time each senator is allowed to introduce 10 bills each year, but there is no limit to the number of bills which a committee can submit. Some of us have tried to pass legislation to limit committee bills and reduce the number of individuals bills, but have been unsuccessful.

During the past week we were in session in the past chamber during the morning and held public hearings on bills in the afternoon. It was gratifying to see people from northeast Nebraska at some of these hearings.

Hearing dates and times are published weekly in the daily newspapers. Also, this information and the status of a bill are available by dialing a toll-free number (no charge to customer) 1-800-742-7456, or call my office in Lincoln, 471-2624. The Nebraska ETV also presents Legislative Review each week day night at 10:30 p.m. This program broadcasts the highlights of each day in the legislature.

This year the Department of Economic Development is again sponsoring the Nebraska Community Improvement Program. The success of this program through the years has been astounding because of the strong support from our communities and neighbors. Last year over 200 communities and neighborhood heads participated which included 11 from my legislative district.

BarneStorming

With Chuck Barnes

This winter has been something else. Old timers, who hark back to the "year of the Blue Snow," are willing to put this winter up against any in the past for being down-right mean.

The ice-cover is where we aim our wrath, only to have it gobbled up and entrenched with the rest of the slippery stuff. We just cannot handle ice, walking or driving. In a glass, maybe.

Of course, ice is especially hazardous to drivers. And it doesn't help our confidence any to be meeting a vehicle on a city street during a snow storm, which bears the sign: "Slippery Driver."

And speaking of hazards. We just learned that the mellow man of the media, Dean Craun, has solved under the able tutelage of Al Robinson. When we hear or see an airplane afloat now, we are somewhat apprehensive. Maybe a sign should be painted underneath the wings: "Student Pilot." Then if the thing falls on you, you'll have an opportunity to know who it was who killed out. What, ever.

We are operating under Murphy's law. It is and will continue to be.

Coming up for air, we find that a wife is, "someone who remembers every word you said at the party last night!"

A friend of ours once said: "I'm really not hypochondriacal. Though the fear of a seizure cardiac makes me jumpy and tense and maniacal."

With each inhalation of breath, I'm really not hypochondriacal. I'm merely allergic to death."

And with that, he's no longer our friend.

This week's lesson as presented by our trustworthy left-hand dictionary: Free thinker — A miscreant who wickedly refuses to look out of a priest's eyes and persists in looking into them with too searching a glance. Free thinkers were formerly: shot, racked, drowned, impaled, burned, flogged, hanged, beheaded, boiled, cropped, disemboweled, skinned.

And with nothing more than a fleeting glance, that is that!

Tips about credit cards

Do you know your rights if you lose your credit card or if you purchase unsatisfactory goods with it? If not, you'll be interested in the latest in a series of consumer education pamphlets issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

"If You Use a Credit Card" explains the Federal laws which provide protection to users of credit cards and which limit risk if a card is lost or stolen. The pamphlet also suggests that a consumer find out how much he will pay for the use of the credit card—how the creditor will assess the finance charges, and when the finance charge will begin to be charged to the account.

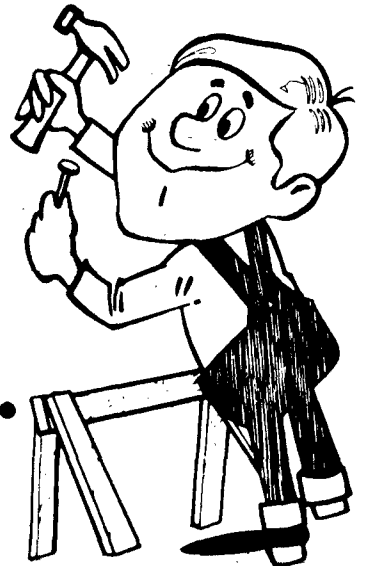

The pamphlet also offers the following tips to consumers who use credit cards: shop around for the best terms; make sure you understand all the terms of the credit card agreement BEFORE you sign; pay bills promptly to keep your good credit rating; and keep a list of all credit card numbers in case of loss or theft.

Copies of this pamphlet will be made available by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City to all commercial banks, other financial institutions, and public libraries in the Tenth Federal Reserve District. Individuals in this area may obtain copies by contacting the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, Kansas City, Mo 64108.

OBSERVATIONS

Worth consideration

The legislature today (Monday) is expected to begin debate on LB 9, a bill if allowed to become law would permit greater latitude by state licensed optometrists.

An in-depth story about the bill and the views of a Wayne optometrist is included on the front page of today's Herald.

It seems to us that with health care, or the lack of it, being what it is, we should get the most out of what we have. We feel LB 9 is good legislation which will benefit the entire state if it is given approval by the Unicameral and the governor.

The bill would permit certified optometrists to use certain drugs which dilate the pupil of the eye and diagnose problems of the eye.

We have discussed the bill with optometrists who have been in the field for some time and they feel they can give better service if allowed to use eye drops. It has been a hindrance to optometrists and a inconvenience to their patients to not have the option to use dilating drugs so they can better diagnose eye problems. As it is now, their field of functions is confined to a relatively small area of eye examination.

And it will save money to the patient who has problems. The most an optometrist can do at the present time is to make an educated guess as to the problem and then send the patient to a community which has an optologist.

But the most important factor, we believe, is that the optometrist will be able to provide added health care service to his community. We don't believe the added area of service would step on the toes of medical doctors who are being worked by the maximum. We ask area residents to consider this bill and if they favor it, to contact their representative in the Unicameral so that he can better get the feel of those who the bill will serve if it is passed. Chuck Barnes.

Laurel Dumped By Hartington

The Laurel girls basketball team found out why Hartington High is rated in Class C as they lost a well-played first quarter game down the drain in a 58-39 loss Thursday night in Laurel.

The Bears stayed even with Hartington at 11-11 after the first quarter but the Wildkittens dominated the next two periods to post the win. Kay Anderson led Laurel with seven points and Paula Chace, Deanna Manz, Rozzie Kraemer and Lisa Galvin were lumped together at six points each.

Lisa Galvin displayed good ball-handling, with Paula Chace and Rozzie Kraemer hustling on defense as the Bears held Hartington early. Then the Bears fell behind as Hartington warmed up and took a 31-22 halftime lead.

Laurel couldn't contend Hartington's height in the third quarter, and Herbelshelmer, the Wildkittens top scorer, hurt the Bears with a strong offensive performance. She finished with 20 points.

"They just outthrust us in the third quarter," Laurel coach Ev Jensen said. "Paula Chace and Rozzie Kraemer played well but we couldn't control Herbelshelmer. They have a good team."

A big difference in the game was at the free throw line, where Hartington hit 18 of 30 attempts while Laurel hit only 3 of 16. Chace snatched 12 rebounds for the Bears and Manz added eight. Hartington won the JV game 25-24. The Laurel JV team is now 7-2.

Coach Jensen said that his ball club, now 5-5 for the season, should win some of its next games. The girls play at Pierce tonight (Monday) at 6:30 and at Coleridge Thursday.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Mascoll

SELECTED AS THE MVP for Wayne High School's basketball team this week was Al Nissen. Coach Bill Sharpe said that Al has done an excellent job and is a great hustler. "No one works harder for us," Sharpe said. "Al makes lots of contributions."

The Most Valuable Player award has become a regular award, presented by the Second Guessers at their meetings on Thursday.

PERRY NELSON is struggling along after an earlier run-in with pneumonia. Nelson missed several games because of the pneumonia in late December and early January. Now, Perry has an infection and will probably miss another game at least. Coach Sharpe said that he would not have played in the West Point game that was originally scheduled for Friday night, but postponed.

THE SEVENTH ANNUAL West Husker Conference Basketball Tournament will be played at Wayne High School Monday through Saturday, Jan. 29 through Feb. 3. The tourney features all six teams from the West Husker Conference competing in single elimination play. The girls division opens tonight while the boys begin play tomorrow night. Finals in both divisions will be played Saturday with the girls championship scheduled at 6:30 and the boys at 8:15.

I NEVER WAS ONE to care much about halftime presentations but some presentations are alright. For instance, during the halftime break of a recent Laurel boys basketball game, some elementary students put on a basketball exhibition. It was a break from the old routine to watch these kids play and it was entertaining.

Thursday night, I attended the Laurel girls game and this time the elementary girls played at the half. They were fun to watch and filled the halftime break well.

Eagles Win Lewis Title

The Allen Eagles won the Lewis Division of the Clark Conference with a $236 win over Walthill on the road Thursday night. The win gives Allen a 5-0 record in the Lewis Division play and an 8-0 record overall.

Slace Koester and Lisa Erwin were instrumental in the win, with Koester netting 16 points and Erwin scoring 13.

"We are pleased to win the division as it attains one of our goals we set for the season,"

Allen coach Steve McManigal said. "We played exceptional ball in the second quarter. Walthill is an aggressive, hustling team and the second quarter developed into a running game, in which we were able to score well."

Allen used a strong second quarter performance to open the game up from 12-6 at the end of the first quarter to 32-14 at half. The Eagles outscored Walthill 25-8 in the second period.

In the third quarter, senior playmaker Susie Erwin was injured and the Eagles scored only two points. With Erwin out, Allen had problems adjusting. Coach McManigal solved the problem in the fourth quarter when reserves Des Williams and Beth Stalling demonstrated some fine play.

In addition to the fine play by

Williams and Stalling late in the game, three Allen players gave the Eagles an edge on the boards. Lisa Erwin pulled down 10 rebounds and Pam Brownell and Lisa Wood were close behind with 9 and 8 respectively. Allen is scheduled to play in the Ponca Tournament Feb. 1, 2, and 3.

Allen Jr. High 32, Walthill 16

Washburn Teams Take A Pair From Wayne In Friday Night's Doubleheader

BY DARWIN RUBECK
Sports Information Director

The Washburn Ichabods escaped Wayne Friday night with an 82-72 CSC victory over the Wayne State Wildcats.

The Ichabods, 12-3 overall, 1-2 in the CSC, ranked 14th in the nation according to the latest poll, used a combination of a stingy defense and a stall game to keep the Wildcats from scoring in the last three minutes of the game.

Jeff Stromgren, the games leading scorer, hit 16 of 22 points in the second half to put Washburn in the lead for the first time in the game 56-54 with 11:30 remaining.

The Wildcats kept it close from then on, tying the score three more times, with the last time at 66-66 with 5:53 left to play. Joe Lindsey, of Wadesboro, N.C. hit all seven of his points during this nearly six minute stretch to keep Wayne State in battle.

Tom Hicks, second high in scoring for Washburn with 19 points, converted on a three-point play with 5:30 remaining, which put Washburn in the lead to play.

The Wildcats last score of the game came with 3:28 left, when Zake Lorick, of Lumberton, N.C., connected on a 15 foot jumper to put Wayne State within one at 73-72.

The Ichabods, then went into their stall game to run down the clock and force Wayne to foul. The strategy worked on both accounts as nobody scored until Hicks was fouled with 49 seconds left in the game. Hicks could only hit the first of his two free throws, but Washburn got the rebound to continue their strategy.

The frustrated Wildcats could do nothing but foul in attempts to get the ball back.

Washburn thus scored 9 points in the last 3:22, compared to Wayne's zero in the same stretch. The charity stripe provided 7 of those 9 points for the Ichabods.

The Wildcats were led by Wattle Rhoda, of Elizabethtown, N.C., with 17 points, and 7 rebounds. Two Wildcats were tied for the runner-up spot with 14 points apiece. They were Bob Reason, of West Point, Neb., and Zake Lorick.

Reason hit 11 of his 14 in the first half, while Lorick hit 10 of his 14 in the first half action, as the Wildcats built up a 41-37 halftime lead.

Willie Summers, of Hamlet, N.C., dumped in 8 of his 12 points in the first six minutes of the game to power Wayne State to the biggest lead by either team, 11 points, 19-8.

The first half was topped off by a crowd pleasing slam dunk by Bob Reason with 16 seconds left in the half. Reason grabbed the ball out of mid-air, took a jump ball in the center circle, on a dead run and drove in on two Ichabods to make the stuff.

Kittens Fall

The Wildkittens were plagued by a six minute cold shooting spell midway through the first half, while the Lady Blues of Washburn hit 12 points during the same stretch. The cause of the spell could be attributed to the fact that Lori Erwin, of Concord, Neb., was temporarily injured about five minutes into the first half, and was forced to sit out the rest of the half.

Brenda DeGroot, the Lady Blues' leading scorer, who had been averaging 13 points per game, exploded for 27 points. DeGroot poured in 17 of her 27 points in the first half alone, enabling Washburn to build up a 31-18 half-time lead.

The Wildkittens came back in the second half to play good ball, only being outscored 39-25 in the second half action. Lynn Larson of Irwin, Ia., was the Kittens, leading scorer with 16 points, 13 of them in the second half. Lori Erwin came back from her injury to score 10 of her 12 points in the second half.

Julie Petronis, of Sioux City, Ia., was again the dominate factor under the boards, grabbing a game high 13 rebounds and added 8 points to the Wildkittens offense.

Pam Watkins hit 7 of her 13 points in the second and pulled down a total of 10 rebounds for the Lady Blues.

The Wildkittens could not close the gap any closer than 14 points in the second half.

ALTHOUGH WAYNE State lost its basketball game with Washburn Friday night, Mary Reason had a good game for the Wildcats.

LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT

WILDLIFE HABITAT PROGRAM

Landowners can make up to $27.50 per acre for establishing or preserving good habitat for wildlife. Signups for the Wildlife Habitat Program will be taken during January, February and March.

The Wildlife Habitat Program is a cooperative effort of Nebraska Game and Parks, Soil Conservation Service and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District to improve the amount and quality of habitat on private land. For several years there has been a decline of good wildlife cover and consequently a decline in numbers of wildlife. This has occurred mainly because of economic conditions which favored more intensive farming practices. Mowing or burning of road ditches increases the problem by destroying some of the remaining prime nesting areas. Much land has been put into crop production, that is marginal because of erosion or production limitations.

The Wildlife Habitat Program provides an incentive to revert this marginal cropland back to permanent cover. It is also an incentive to preserve tracts of woody or grassy cover, which may otherwise be converted to cropland. Besides reducing erosion, this habitat can provide buffers for lakes and streams to filter sediment out of runoff waters, thus improving water quality.

The Wildlife Habitat Program offers several options to landowners. Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District modified the program for 1979, and now offers the following:

PRACTICE II

PROTECTION OF EXISTING WILDLIFE COVER

1. Five year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
2. Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of three acres per plot with a maximum of 40 acres in 4 plots.
3. Cover types may be grasses, legumes, or woody species that are existing at the time of application.
4. Payment to landowner is $7.50 per acre annually.

PRACTICE III

SWEET CLOVER PLANTING WITH OATS

1. Two year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
2. Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 10 acres per plot and a maximum of 50 acres annually.
3. Yellow sweet clover is to be planted as a companion crop with oats. Following the harvest of the oats crop, the clover is to remain undisturbed through the second February following seeding.
4. Only the oats heads may be harvested, with the stubble to be left standing.
5. A payment of $25 per acre will be paid at the end of the two year contract period.

PRACTICE IVa

GRASSLAND HABITAT

1. Three year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District.
2. Each cooperator can enroll a minimum of 10 acres with a maximum of 5 acres per plot. A maximum of four plots with a total of 80 acres.
3. Priority will be given to mixtures of sweet clover, red clover, alfalfa, native prairie grasses, or cool season grass. Cool season grass mixtures must contain at least 25% legumes. Seeding rates will be established according to SCS standards.
4. Payment to the landowner is $25 per acre annually.

PUBLIC ACCESS OPTION

Cooperators in any of the above Practices may receive an additional $2.50 per acre annually for agreeing to permit public access on contracted land by foot traffic only. This access may be for the purpose of hunting, fishing, hiking and trapping. Public access is not required if this option is not used under this option must be 200 yards from inhabited dwellings and feedlots. Contracts including this option will have first priority.

GENERAL RULES FOR ALL PRACTICES

1. Public Access will have first priority in all practices. Contracts which include the Public Access Option will be approved on a first-come-first-served basis, until the limit is reached. Contracts which do not include the Public Access Option will be approved on or after April 1, if the limits in each practice have not been reached.
2. Lands under contract in this program must be cropland conversion except in Practice II. Land within 200 yards of inhabited dwellings or feedlots does not qualify.
3. Farm ponds, up to 5 acres, will qualify if an equal area of surrounding land is included. Stream borders also qualify, but not the stream itself.
4. Grazing, haying, or other harvest measures are prohibited unless stated as acceptable in the specific practice.
5. Weeds shall be controlled as required by noxious weed law and with prior approval by NRD. Control must be accomplished without destruction of wildlife cover.
6. Contract areas which call for seeding must be seeded the first spring of the contract period or the fall previous to the contract.

ORDER CLARKE-McNARY TREES SOON

Order of Clarke-McNary trees have been going on since November 1, and several species are in short supply or sold out. These seedlings are made available at very low cost for windbreaks, wildlife plantings, or general forestry plantings. Local SCS Offices will assist in ordering trees and planning the planting. Seedlings are priced at $17.25 per hundred. Lower Elkhorn NRD tree planters will machine plant and spray the seedlings at a cost of 20¢ per tree, minimum $45. There is also cost-share money available for this in some counties through ASCS. Species in short supply are: Black Walnut, Green Ash, Chokecherry, Black Hills Spruce, Siberian Elm, Cottonwood, Canada Red Cherry, and Autumn-Olive. Species sold out are: Colorado Blue Spruce, Hackberry, Honeylocust, Linc, Nonesuckie, and Rocky Mountain Juniper. For information or to order trees, contact your local SCS Office.

$40 PER ACRE TO BUILD TERRACES

Applications are now being taken for Lower Elkhorn NRD's Lands for Conservation Program. This program, established in 1977, pays landowners $40 per acre to construct terraces during the months of June and August. This is over and above any cost-share payment, and is intended to extend the construction season for terrace building. In this way, more terraces can be built. This cutting down erosion and runoff. In 1978 Lower Elkhorn NRD made payments of $117,000 for this program. For more information, or to sign up for the program, contact your local SCS Office.

Probation Officer Talks in Wakefield

Probation officer Merlin Wright of Wayne spoke to members of the Junior and Senior High Leagues of the Wakefield Covenant Church during a combined meeting Jan. 21.

A film made in the Swiss Alps, entitled "Whispering Mountain," was shown. Myron Olson closed with prayer.

Wright captured the attention of his audience with such questions as "Who Are You?" "What Are Your Needs?" and "Where Are You Going?"

"Each of us has needs and each of us seeks to fulfill these needs in various ways. Love is something everyone desires and acceptance is so important, not only with you but with everyone," said Wright, adding that it's vital to know that the greatest love we can experience comes from God's son, and yet this is not known by scores of people.

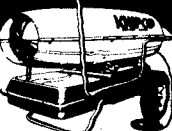

Wright's counseling with persons who have broken laws involves a seven county area. Persons attending the meeting and program enjoyed a pancake supper and celebrated Wright's birthday with two decorated cakes.

Afterward the youths sponsored the family night service, which was led by Kim Fredrickson. Loren Erlanson had devotions and the Rev. Neil Peterson opened with prayer. Kathy Lundin led group singing, accompanied by Sharon Croasdale.

Dynne Byers, Kris Fredrickson, Leigh Crossdale, Angie Stout and Renee Wenstrand sang "He's Everything to Me."

Telephone Pioneers Purchase Teletrainer

Cookies, transistor radios and community spirit will help 365 mentally retarded children and adults in northeast and central Nebraska develop their communication skills. Through the sale of baked goods, and novelty items, members of the R.Y. Hyde Council Telephone Pioneers of America are purchasing a device called a Teletrainer. It will be donated to the Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities, a community-based program serving citizens who are mentally retarded in Bloomfield, Columbus, Norfolk, Lyons, South Sioux City, O'Neill, Wayne and Valentine.

Doug Engel, president of the R.Y. Hyde Telephone Pioneers, says the retired Northwestern Bell employees became interested in the community service project through correspondence with Jack Frohloff, Bell's former manager in Wayne, and Julie Hohnbaum, the company's education coordinator in Grand Island. He states council members from Fremont, Norfolk, and several surrounding telephone exchanges participated in the fund-raising effort. Engel will dedicate the Teletrainer on behalf of the council at 11 a.m., Tuesday, Feb. 6, at the Region IV Services office in Wayne. Ken Berglund, Bell's new manager in Wayne, will attend the dedication, and an inservice on the use of the Teletrainer will be presented to Region IV staff.

CIA—

(Continued from page 1) continue to have the best intelligence in the world as it had during the past. "If a brigade of troops march by and one soldier is out of step, the TV cameras focus on him — the exception. If you can see that one, then you don't know whether he's exceptional or typical," said Cobly. "It's the same way with CIA. The pressure will be on the CIA and they'll be subject to criticism. But we must protect the CIA just like journalists need sources protected. "We need protection of sources and laws governing former CIA members from disclosing secrets and names, and publishing books after leaving the CIA," he added.

The CIA is allowed to interfere with other nations only under certain circumstances, Cobly said. The agency is allowed to use force in self defense but not in aggression and will not overuse the force.

Following Cobly's presentation, he opened to a question and answer period. When asked how the CIA can monitor the agricultural production of the Soviet Union, Cobly replied that the CIA can't make absolute predictions but studies the weather and consults the Department of Agriculture to get an idea of agricultural outlooks in the Soviet Union.

Responding to other questions from the audience, Cobly said that the U.S. will learn more about China because of the new relationships and will do less spying in that country. He also made it clear that the CIA has a set of guidelines it must follow. He said that one of the future problems the nation must face is that of the bilinguals who move to the United States from Mexico and Puerto Rico.

In Cobly's final look at the CIA, he said, "There is a new meaning for CIA — Constitutional Intelligence for America. Are we going to have a conspiracy intelligence agency or are we going to have a new American intelligence? I like the new style and I think it's the only one Americans will accept. The power of the next 20 to 30 years will consist of use of the brain."

A reception was held in the Birch Room of the Wayne State Student Union following the two-hour speaking engagement.

The president read a tribute in memory of deceased member Mrs. Clarence Schroeder. Yearbooks for 1979 were distributed and reviewed. Mrs. Emil Gutzman gave the comprehensive on Minnesota, and Mrs. Fenske presented the lesson, entitled "Dates — Their Culture and Propagation."

Mrs. George Langenberg will be hostess for the Feb. 27 meeting and Hilda Thomas will have the lesson on Johnny Apple Seed.

Members of the Wayne Citizens Advocacy Program, and area organization representatives learned the role of the advocate and misconceptions of mentally retarded persons at a training session conducted Wednesday night.

John McGill, personal advocacy coordinator at the Nebraska Advocacy Services in Lincoln, spoke to a group of about 15 in the Region IV office at 206 Logan, in an effort to better acquaint them with the mentally retarded.

Most of us have less than healthy attitudes about the handicapped," McGill said. He went on to discuss the attitudes, labels and stereotypes given persons with disabilities and said that "the role of the advocacy program is to promote positive changes in individuals and communities. The advocacy program, which was implemented in Wayne last September, is similar to a "big brother" program. Advocates become friends of mentally persons and look after them, assuring them of their rights as human beings.
