Clouds May Hide Solar Eclipse

It will touch and go as far as getting a clear picture of the solar eclipse today (Monday). The National Weather Office in Norfolk Saturday told the Herald the weather for Monday morning is expected to be partly cloudy which would mean a possibility of the eclipse being partially blotted out in this area. Actually, the eclipse will only be about 85 percent in this area with a total blocking out of the sun in the northwestern states. The eclipse began at 9:36 a.m. today and peaked at 10:45 a.m. It finished at 12:12 p.m. While the weather wasn't expected to be the best, many persons attempted to view the eclipse, preferably through a projection method.

Solar eclipse occur when the orbiting earth and moon line up in front of the sun so that — seen from earth — the moon momentarily blots out all or parts of the sun. The National Geographic Society pointed out the next solar eclipse will be in 2017. It said an eclipse does not happen every time the moon swings between the earth and the sun because the orbit of the moon is slightly out of line with the earth's. As a result, the shadow of the moon usually misses hitting the earth and instead slabs off into space. Astronomers, armed with multiple instruments and with their eyes suitably protected, will be out in force taking advantage of the eclipse largely invisible in the sun's full glare. It is the corona, the sun's outer atmosphere, sometimes showing tongues of flaming gases flaring as much as a quarter of a million miles into space. For a few seconds, just before total eclipse, a sliver of the sun will peek from behind one edge of the moon, the black lunar shape circles by the sun's corona. At this moment, the combined effect is of a giant celestial diamond ring. Right afterward, and lasting for only an instant, Bailey's beads appear. They are brilliant points of sunlight shining between the mountains of the moon caught in silhouette a round the lunar edge. Eclipses were terrifying the ancients, except to those few wise in the ways of the sun, moon and earth. Knowing when an eclipse was coming — and that it would quickly — gave enormous power to men who seemed to be able to put things right again as the sun appeared to be going out and the world coming to an end. Chinese astronomers once were beheaded if their timing was off in predicting eclipses. Some clung to an earlier way of ending an eclipse: shooting arrows into the sky and raising a ruckus to scare off the dragon they believed was eating the sun. It always worked.

Special Training for Farm Youth

Youths 14 to 16 years of age are restricted from doing many farm jobs on farms other than their parents' farm. These restrictions have been made by the Dept. of Labor. Included in these restrictions is the operation of a tractor of over 20 pto horsepower. However, with special training these youths can receive exemption certificates which will exclude them from these restrictions. As part of the 4-H Youth Development program, county extension agents in Dakota, Thurston, Wayne, Cedar and Dixon counties in Nebraska will present a training program on March 17, 24, and 31 which will meet these requirements. The course will be given at the Northeast Station near Concord from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. the first day and from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. the other two days. Those interested in receiving this training or needing more information should contact their local county ext. agent. The training is provided for all youths without regard to race, color, sex or national origin. This course is excellent training for all young tractor operators, as safety and tractor maintenance are the main subjects taught.

There is a registration fee payable in advance. If a boy or girl will be 14 this summer, they are eligible to take the training also. Those completing the training will have an opportunity to obtain the Nebraska Tractor Driver's Permit as part of the training. Registration must be received by a county agent not later than March 9. Enrollment fee of $4 must be included with the registration. Checks may be made out payable to the District III 4-H fund. Your Social Security number is needed for the permanent record.

Survey Projects Labor Drop

The projected labor force for the Wayne area is expected to average less than that projected for the State of Nebraska. In a labor availability survey in the Wayne area, prepared by the research division of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development. The male labor force participation rates in both 1980 and 1985 are projected to be more than five percentage points less than for the state. Labor participation rates were at least 10 percentage points above the average, the increase in the labor force for the Wayne area would be 1,693 men and 4,451 women between 1970 and 1980 and 1,052 men and 2,742 women between 1980 and 1985, according to the survey. The survey took into consideration population trends, employment and unemployment trends, labor force participation rates and high school and post-secondary school enrollments. Population in the area has increased since 1960 and 1977, nearly 70,000 persons lived within 30 miles of Wayne. Continued population gains are projected through the first half of the 1980's. A monthly average of approximately 31,900 persons within a 30 mile radius of Wayne were employed during 1977 and 1,140 were unemployed. During December 1978, 32,800 persons were employed and 1,125 were unemployed. A monthly average of 404 males and 331 females were registered with Nebraska Job Services offices serving the Wayne area during 1978. As of Dec. 31, 1978, there were an estimated 287 male and 213 female Job Service registrants in the Wayne area. Approximately 84 percent of these registrants were under 45 years of age, 72 percent were high school graduates and 85 percent were not working. During the fall semester of the 1978-79 school year, there were 5,201 students enrolled in grades 9 through 12 within 30 miles of Wayne. Of these 1,265 were seniors. There were 856 men enrolled fulltime at Wayne State College and 214 enrolled parttime during the fall semester of the 1978-79 school year. Additionally, 1,031 women were enrolled fulltime and 392 were enrolled parttime at Wayne State. During the same enrollment period, 622 men and 317 women were enrolled fulltime at Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, and 232 men and 279 women were enrolled parttime.

Providence Medical Elects Layman As Board President

Felix Dorcey has been elected president of the governing body of the Providence Medical Center. This marks the first time that a lay member of the board has been elected president. Other officers elected at the annual hospital board meeting held last Monday were Sister Gertrude Marie Woller, vice president and Sister Cecelia Polk, secretary. Marcel Thomas, administrator of the center, reported that Dr. Willis Wiseman has been named chief of staff, replacing Dr. Bob Benthack who has held the post for many years. Dr. Benthack was named vice president and Dr. Tien Nguyen, Laurei, was named secretary. Larry Jenkins, consulting engineer with the firm of Mack and Jenkins, Omaha, reported that bids for proposed changes in the hospital energy plant are being let. Mrs. Thomas reported that projected savings in energy costs after the changes are completed could amount to about $30,000 annually. The changes are a result of an energy conservation study made of the hospital after it was determined the plant was not operating as efficiently as it might. "Actually, the findings of the study were not that dramatic," Mrs. Thomas pointed out. But she did say the results showed conclusively there could be more efficient use of the system. One change will be the addition of two thermostats which will have the capability of controlling temperature and the handling of the air flow. "The thermostats will turn down the air flow and the temperature in those areas not in use, such as the kitchen at night and the administrative areas, outside of regular office hours," Mrs. Thomas explained. She said the system will be shuttled through an integrate and retine control system which will help to determine if other thermostat controls are needed in other areas of the hospital to conserve energy. A heat transfer system will be installed in the kitchen which will allow the recycling of the heat from the kitchen to be used as an energy source. "This will have to be put through a series of filters before the heat can be reused," she explained. "We hope these and other changes will help to reduce and conserve energy in Providence Medical Center," Mrs. Thomas stated.

shall not exceed $25,000 per state per year. Three members will be appointed from each state — one appointed by the Governor and two by the Legislature — to serve on the commission. The compact, if it is to become a reality, must be approved by a minimum of five state legislatures.

The Nebraska Legislature's Agriculture Committee held its hearing on LB 515 last Friday. This bill would create this Interstate Compact on Agriculture Grain Marketing. Proponents said that the purpose of the compact is to protect, preserve and enhance the production and marketing of grain. This compact, if approved, they said, would give the states more clout and could put pressure on the U.S.D.A. to open the channels of overseas grain marketing. Also, that grain marketing is the life line of many midwestern states and we should be helping to promote this commodity.

Opponents remarked that this bill would just create another bureaucracy and we have enough of them already. Also, that this country became what it is by the free enterprise system and we should leave grain marketing alone.

The committee took no action on the bill.

Incumbents protection bill?

Fourth of a series of articles from the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants on preparing 1978 returns.

The various tax deductions, adjustments, exclusions, exemptions and credits available are so numerous that a short article such as this couldn't even list them all.

Rather than try to cover all possibilities for reducing your tax bill, let's zero in on the common errors that cause people to pay more (or less) taxes than they owe.

One widely ignored source of deductions is business expenses. People who work for others tend to assume that such deductions are just for those who own companies, but there are a lot of small tradesmen and even employees, which incur deductible job-related expenses such as union dues or the cost of tools, work clothes, etc. Even the investment credit available to businesses for investing in productive capacity can be available to self-employed individuals, such as the photographer who bought a new camera or the plumber who bought a new truck. It's good for up to 10 percent of the purchase price.

Also frequently overlooked are the costs of trying to find a new job, especially when those efforts fail to materialize in a new position.

Easy to slip by are the deductions for unrecouped moving expenses when a change of residences, although made primarily for reasons of personal preference, also qualifies as a move prompted by a change of job locations. Any time a change of living quarters coincides with a change of job sites, look into the possibility of deducting moving expenses.

On the other hand a business expense deduction that is frequently claimed but shouldn't be is the office in the home. For an employee with an office elsewhere, such a claim is almost certain to be denied. Similarly, job training or professional education costs cannot be deducted if the course is preparatory for a new or better position; they're deductible only if they improve your skills for your present job.

Other common tax-preparation errors include:

- Failing to deduct small interest charges paid on charge accounts, credit cards, etc., which can add up to a substantial amount.
- Failing to deduct interest previously reported as income, which you later forfeited because of a premature withdrawal from your account.
- Declaring an income so-called "dividends" on insurance policies, which are, in effect, refunds of premiums.
- Failing to deduct state and local taxes applicable to prior years which were paid during the current tax year. Careless failing to declare as income state and local tax refunds from previous

— Including drivers or auto license fees or taxes paid on alcohol or tobacco among deductible state and local taxes.

— Neglecting to claim an exemption for a child over 19 in the year the youngster finishes school, even though he was in school for five months of the year and the taxpayer parent provided more than half his support.

— For persons who held two or more jobs during the year, failing to claim the refund of excess Social Security taxes withheld.

You can avoid problems if you remember that when filing your return it isn't necessary, as a rule, to include receipts to verify your deductions. If you do wish to attach receipts or other supporting documentation, send a photocopy and keep the originals with your permanent records.

Should you send documentation at all? Although it is not asked for, it could be a good idea sometimes. In the case of claims that are out of the ordinary — contributions way in excess of the average for your income bracket, for example — sending along proof could answer IRS' questions in advance and head off an audit. But no originals.

Regarding "average" deductions, there is a common tendency not to claim a full deduction, although it's valid, because it is higher than usual. There is no magic to the published "averages." They cannot be claimed in lieu of actual expenses. Nor does the fact that your deductions coincide with the "average" mean that an audit is averted.

The saddest common error — saddest because it cheats people who can least afford it — has been the failure of parents with incomes under $8,000 to take the earned income credit which can put up to $400 in their pockets. IRS is attempting to overcome this "error" by so rewriting the tax forms that if a taxpayer qualifies he will receive the credit without having to apply for it.

Finally, there are the petty mistakes caused by carelessness that can cause your return to be bounced back, thus delaying any refund you may have coming. Under this heading are failing to sign the return (both names on a joint return), making mistakes in arithmetic, using the wrong tables and mailing the return at the last minute without getting proof that you beat the deadline.

From a tax advisor's point of view, a regrettable error is the failure by some taxpayers to dig through their records for the year to learn exactly how much they received and spent and for what, on the assumption that whoever prepares their returns can do the best job for them without this essential information. They can't.

SENATOR ELROY M. HEFNER
District No. 19
Box 34
Culeridge, Nebraska 68727

About the hottest issue to be debated on the floor of the Legislature this session has been the so-called "eye drop bill." LB 9 would allow optometrists (eye specialists who are not physicians) to use drops to dilate the pupil of the eye in order to diagnose disease. The ophthalmologists (medical doctors who can diagnose and treat disease of the eyes) violently oppose this bill.

The committee hearing was held Jan. 15. The hearing room was packed with both optometrists and physicians and their supporters. Members of the Public Health and Welfare Committee advanced the bill to general file by a 6 to 1 vote.

Optometrists say they can better serve the needs of their patients if they can use eye drop medicines to help in diagnosing eye problems. The law now forbids them from using medicines.

Proponents also say they do not want to be physicians and will refer patients with medical eye problems to ophthalmologists. They just want a tool that will help them diagnose problems so the patient can be referred to a medical doctor.

Opponents of the measure said that optometrists are not trained to use drugs and that it would be confusing the public about work of the two professions. They stated they are physicians who specialize in medical eye care, do surgery, prescribe medication and prescribe glasses.

Twenty-two states currently have such eye-drop legislation giving optometrists the expanded authority to use medicine for diagnostic purposes.

The bill was debated at length on general file, amendments added and moved to select file by a strong vote. It survived a "kill" motion at this stage and after a fiery exchange of statements by various senators, advanced to final reading.

This eye drop bill is very complex. Therefore it is very difficult for a legislator to make a decision.

In a few weeks we will be holding a hearing to legalize laetrile in the treatment of cancer. This is another very controversial issue I would appreciate any views that you have on this issue.

Common tax return errors

RICHARD L. LESHER, President
of the United States

WASHINGTON — Like most Americans, you probably consider yourself a reasonable person. So perhaps you would be surprised to learn that Congress has received a handsome payroll, more money for office allowances, postal patron mailings, staff salaries, recreation and travel expenses, that taxpayers finally be given a break. Silly you.

You see, certain Congressmen — thankfully not all — are going after something much bigger. They are pushing for passage of H.R. 1, a bill which would mandate public financing of their own Congressional campaigns. If that bill becomes law, it will be tantamount to offering House members job insurance at taxpayers expense — a kind of giant incumbents Protection Bill.

Stripped of its niceties, public financing legitimizes coercion, for it permits the federal government to force an individual to contribute to a candidate whom he or she may not support. Clearly, that is unfair. But public financing also suffers from two other fundamental flaws. Both the explanations of why it is needed and how it would work are false. Consider why.

At first glance, the argument for public financing seems as pure as newly-fallen snow. We are warned that we must pass it immediately, or witness the total contamination of our electoral process by the flood of campaign contributions which are coming from sinister and selfish special interest groups.

Sorry, but the latest official figures of financial activities through Nov. 27, 1976, from the Federal Election Commission prove precisely the opposite. During the 1976 Congressional campaigns, a total of $198.5 million was spent on all races. Of that total, more than $130 million, or about two-thirds, was donated by individual Americans, mostly in the form of small contributions of less than $100. That's a very healthy sign.

In contrast, all business and labor political action groups combined gave $32 million in contributions, or just 16 percent. A participation of 16 percent can hardly be called excessive or corrupting.

On paper, public financing at least seems plausible. Candidates who could certify they had raised $1,000 in private contributions could receive matching public funds of up to $60,000. In exchange for accepting taxpayers' money, each candidate would have to agree on a spending limit of $195,000. And no candidate could spend more than $25,000 of personal funds.

But, in reality, this so-called reform could quickly degenerate into a political nightmare. How? Let us count just a few of the ways.

First, because of several perfectly legal loopholes, public financing would undoubtedly lead to more, not less spending on political campaigns. For example, any time one candidate in a district wants to spend more than $25,000 of personal funds, which is his or her Constitutional right, or raise more than $75,000 from any legal source, then the spending ceiling for all other candidates accepting public funds is removed. The taxpayers could be stuck with unbelievable costs.

Second, contrary to the will of the people, public financing will result in more bureaucracy. Fifteen presidential candidates who took advantage of the presidential public financing law in the 1976 campaign generated 12 million pages of information for the Federal Election Commission. If that is not true, then why have only 27 percent of all federal taxpayers agreed to support political campaigns for the presidency through the income tax checkoff system?

Third, public financing would, in theory, make it easier for challengers to compete. But in reality, the law would permanently lock in the tremendous advantage already enjoyed by incumbents. In 1976, 95 percent of all House incumbents running were re-elected.

That was no accident. Even before a campaign begins, an incumbent is busy increasing his name recognition through such tax-supported "nonpolitical" activities as mass mailings, press releases, press conferences and newsletters, all of which are worth about $1 million over the course of a two-year term. Starting out this far ahead, an incumbent has every thing to gain by locking an unknown challenger into a spending limitation when the campaign begins.

I do not believe Americans are ready to relinquish control of their elections to a federal bureaucracy, the Federal Election Commission. If that is not true, then why have only 27 percent of all federal taxpayers agreed to support political campaigns for the presidency through the income tax checkoff system?

People intuitively understand that ultimate control of the political process must remain in their own hands at the local level. We can be thankful the wise words of Thomas Jefferson have not gone unheeded:

"That government is the strongest of which every man feels himself a part."

Presently we are in session in the legislative chamber in the morning and hold committee meetings in the afternoons.

The Midwestern Council of State Governments' Agriculture Committee met in Chicago last Saturday. Another senator and I attended this meeting. Fourteen grain states were represented. The main topic for discussion was the proposed Interstate Compact on Agriculture Grain Marketing.

The purpose of the compact will be to create a multi-state commission to investigate grain marketing practices of the big grain traders, who long have been suspected by farmers of manipulating the marketplace. Also, they will study grain marketing in the United States and try to open overseas marketing channels.

Financing of the commission will be apportioned among member states and

Final Shot Lifts WSC To Miracle Win

TWO HAPPY Wildcats, Bob Reeson and Zake Lorick are jubilant after defeating Pittsburg on a last second basket by Reeson, Friday night. (Photo by Rick Pomerville)

Bob Reeson hit a turn-around jump-shot at the buzzer to give the Wayne State Wildcats a 60-59 CSIC victory over the Pittsburg State Gorillas Friday at Wayne.

The Cats upped their record to 11-5 overall and 6-3 in the CSIC while the Gorillas dropped to 11-14 overall and 4-7 in CSIC action.

Pittsburg State outscored the Wildcats 8-0 from 4:05 left in the game to 1:36 remaining, to pull from a 56-51 deficit to a 59-56 lead. The Cats came up empty handed in the final minute of the court, but the Gorillas turned the ball over.

Zake Lorick of Lomberton, N.C. hit his 15th and final point with 1:20 left on the clock to pull Wayne State within one point at 59-58.

The Wildcats were forced into a fouling situation after Curt Hicks rebounded the ball for the Gorillas. Hicks was fouled by Wattie Rhoda with only one second left on the clock. Hicks went to the line in the one-and-one situation, but missed every thing on his first shot, thus giving the ball to the Cats.

Wildcat Coach Bill Ivey wisely substituted Bill Milks to allow his players to best set up. Milks threw the ball three fourths the length of the court into a crowd of players from both teams. Reeson went up the highest to pull the ball out of the air and scoring in the final jump shot.

Wayne State needed a 12 point scoring streak midway through the first half to pull from a seven point deficit at 8:15, to a five point lead by 20:15. The Cats hung to lead by three at the half, 29-26.

Lorick hit 11 of his 15 points in the second half, to top Wayne State in the game, but it was Reeson's last second shot that won it. The final basket was only the fourth point for Reeson in the ball game.

Reeson was named Friday to the NAIA District 11 "All-District" team and the Nebraska College Conference "All-Star" team. Lorick was also named to the NCC "All-Star" team and received "Honorable Mention" to the NAIA District 11 "All-District" team.

The Wildcat defense was tenacious, holding the Gorillas' top scorer Gene Daniels to only nine points. Daniels was also the top scorer in the CSIC averaging 24 points per game.

Pittsburg State had only two players score in double figures, Calvin Jones with 11 and Phil Scourten with 10 points, while WSC had three. Lorick had 15 followed by Rhoda with 12 and Jay Bellar of Wathill with 10 points.

The Cats were scheduled to host Missouri Southern Saturday, before taking to the road for the all important game, Tuesday at Chadron State. The Chadron game will decide the second NCC representative in the playoffs. The winner of the game will play Hastings College.

Reeson, Lorick, All-District

BY DARWIN RUBECK
WSC Sports Information Asst.

Wayne State College Wildcat's Bob Reeson of West Point and Zake Lorick of Lomberton, N.C. recently received honors for their performances this year. Reeson was named to the NAIA District 11 "All-District" first team and to the Nebraska College Conference (NCC) "All-Star" team. Lorick was also named to the NCC "All-Star" team and received honorable mention to the District 11 "All-District" team.

Reeson, the 6-6 senior center for the Wildcats, is the top rebounder on the team averaging 8.8 rebounds per game. He also hits 43 percent of his shots from the field to average 11.5 points per game. Reeson leads the Central States Intercollegiate Conference rebounding and fielding goal percentages.

Bob has improved more consistently than anyone else for us this year. Wildcat coach Bill Ivey said "He's been a great asset with his board play and his consistency from the field and the free throw line has been very important."

Reeson hit 68 percent of his free throws on the season and even though that is not the best on the team, he went from 50 percent to his percentage by setting a new Wayne State record of hitting 26 consecutive free throws.

Zake Lorick is a 5'11 freshman guard for WSC and is the Wildcat's leading scorer averaging over 14 points per game.

Lorick is also the assist leader, handing out over four assists per contest.

"Zake has provided very good leadership for a freshman and is constantly improving," Coach Ivey said "He has been a constant outside threat not only with his shooting abilities, but also with his passing abilities. Coach Ivey went on to explain that it is hard to pick out a leader on the team since there are only a little over two points separating the number one scorer from the number four scorer.

"There are five or six players that deserve credit for their fine play, but we are glad that Zake and Bob have been recognized," Ivey said.

Kittens Lose Finale

The Wayne State Wildkittens were eliminated from the Nebraska AIAW Small College tournament in the second round by top-seeded Midland 85-61 at Lincoln Friday.

To reach the second round the Kittens downed Doane College 44-61 Thursday behind Kari Erwin's 24 points.

The balance of Midland was too much to handle for Wayne State. The Warriors netted four players score in double figures, led by Folberg with 16 points.

Julie Petronis led Wayne State in scoring and rebounding with 12 points and 17 rebounds. Petronis was followed by Peg Peterson with 11 points and Lori Erwin with 10 points.

They finish their season with a disappointing 6-25 overall record and 1-13 in CSIC action. Barb Bettin is the only player who will not be back next season, so the Kittens are looking to a bright future.

Kari Erwin dumped in the most points of a Wildkitten this season with 24, to lead Wayne State to a 64-61 victory over Doane College Thursday in first round action of the state tournament. Erwin also led for the lead in rebounding with Petronis, each grabbing 10 rebounds.

Doane, too, had four players score in double figures, led by Mary McCarthy with 16 points.

Seven WS Wrestlers To National Meet

BY BRAD WIELAND
WSC Sports Information Asst.

When the National NAIA Wrestling Tournament opens in Wheeling, W. Va., on March 1-3, seven Wayne State College wrestlers will be looking to make their mark on the mat. The seven wrestlers qualified for Nationals by finishing in the top three in their respective weight divisions. Those making the trip will be Don Schernikau, Dan Heeren, Ron Anderson, Russell Reisch, Dave Ulrich, Ron Berrie and Dave Ullrich.

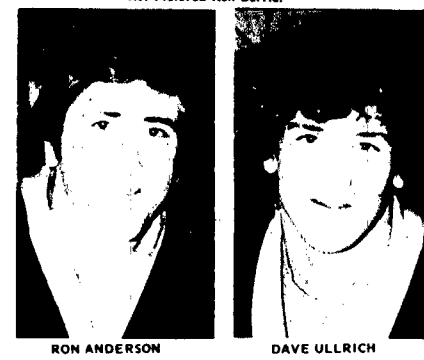

Wayne State finished second to Kearney State at the NAIA District 11 Tournament held at Kearney, Wednesday. Kearney scored 94 points followed by Wayne with 65; points: Chadron, 47; Dana, 27; Midland, 26 and Peru, 2.

The tournament featured five individual champions for Kearney, two for Wayne and one each for Midland, Chadron and Dana.

"There wasn't a one team dominance, but Kearney won an impressive victory on overall dominance," said WSC first-year coach Nick Pederson.

Finishing first in their respective weight classes at the NAIA Districts were 126 pound Don Schernikau, Beaver Crossing, and 150 pound Dan Heeren, Hawarden, Iowa.

Schernikau met Jed Dobberstein of Kearney for the third time this year, entering the Wednesday match 1-1 against Dobberstein. Schernikau decisively won 5-2 in the rubber match to claim his first place at Districts. Schernikau compiled a 1-1 record at Nationals last year and will carry valuable experience into this year's competition.

Heeren, a first-year wrestler at WSC, defeated Dean Sims Chadron, 12-6 in the finals to vault him into the Nationals. In first round action, Heeren pinned Steve Walton, Peru, 3-30 in the match.

"Schernikau and Heeren were the most dominant wrestlers at Districts," coach Pederson said.

Finishing second at Districts for the Wildcats were 134 pound Ron Anderson, Lincoln, 142 pound Russell Reisch, Avoca, Iowa, 190 pound Dave Ullrich, Brookings, S.D. and heavy weight Ron Berrie, Davenport, Iowa.

Dave Ulrich of Beaver Crossing secured a third place finish for the Cats in the 167 pound division to round out the field of wrestlers going to Nationals.

Anderson, Reisch and Ulrich will join Schernikau as veteran WSC wrestlers going to Nationals for the second consecutive year. Last year Anderson, Reisch and Ulrich ended their wrestling season with losses in first round National competition.

"National experience is very important to us because we are so young," Pederson said. "We're going to score points." The Wayne State wrestlers finished their regular season with a 12-8 dual record.

Laurel Advances To Semi's

The Laurel Bears carried their late season momentum into the first round of Class C-4 districts Friday night and came away with even more momentum after a 60-47 win over Randolph in Plainview.

"It was a well played game for both sides. It was one of our best games in the last three weeks," Laurel coach Joel Parks said. "It was a close game until near the end. I was pleased with our play."

Steve Anderson poured in 23 points and Ron Gadeken followed with 14 as Laurel shot 33 percent from the field to 33 percent for Randolph. Kevin Gubbels scored 11 points to lead the losers.

Laurel held a big advantage on the boards, outrebounding Randolph 47-31 with Lon Swanson clearing the board 13 times. The Bears hope to carry their momentum into a game tonight (Monday) against Hartington at 6:30 in the Plainview gym. "I'm looking forward to a real good game," Parks said in reference to the Hartington game. Laurel defeated the Wildcats earlier in a nip-and-tuck game.

The Bears led 9-6 after the first quarter and 19-16 at half as Randolph battled with them. Then, Laurel turned a 26-30 third quarter lead into a 13 point win with 24 points in the final period. "Everyone who played, contributed well," Parks stated. "It's fun to prepare for districts because it's the most relaxing time. If you lose, you hang up the uniforms and don't worry about what went wrong and what to change for the next game."

The winner of tonight's Hartington Laurel game, is scheduled to play the winner of the other bracket at 8 p.m. tomorrow in finals at Plainview.

Allen Wins With 'Best Game'

The Allen Eagles saved perhaps their best game of the season for district action and eliminated Newcastle from the tourney with a 49-40 first round win Friday night in D-4 districts at Wakefield. The win advances Allen into the semifinals tonight (Monday) at 6:30 p.m. against the Watthill Bancroft winner.

"Everybody just played super. We changed our game plan and ran more. It worked well," Allen coach Bert Kneiff said. "We outthudded and outplayed them with good team work. We looked great."

Steve Stewart pumped in 15 points and Bert Gotch followed with 14 to lead the Eagles to the first round victory. Gotch snagged 14 rebounds to 11 for Stewart. Mike Marron and Troy Madge scored 10 points each for Newcastle. Allen shot 39 percent from the field to 22 percent for Newcastle.

Allen built a nine-point first quarter lead into a 12-point lead in the second quarter. Then, the Eagles had what Kneiff termed "a little lapse" and fell back to a 24-19 first half lead. The Eagles slipped by Newcastle in each of the final two periods to post the win. In a preliminary game, Bancroft defeated Cole ridge to set up a matchup against Watthill, Saturday.

Allen will meet that winner tonight at 6:30. "It's been a long time since Allen has reached the semifinals of districts. Now we hope to give Watthill a good game," Kneiff stated.

TALK ABOUT FANTASY endings! The Wayne State Wildcats' chances of winning their basketball game Friday night were about like the chances of the inflation rate dropping - very slim.

Trailing by one point with one second left in the game is not a basketball coach's ideal situation. However, WSC coach Bill Ivey didn't throw the towel in and, congratuating Pittsburg State's coach before making one final desperation attempt to win the game.

Ivey called on Bill Milks to throw the full court pass to Bob Reeson on the last play of the game. It was doubtful Reeson would even gain control of the ball. No one would ever expect him to make it. Then it happened.

As most of the fans cleared out of Rice Auditorium, sure that Wayne State had picked up another loss, the miracle happened. Milks threw the ball the length of the court. Reeson grabbed it just before it sailed out of bounds, the clock started to tick off the last second and Reeson threw an off-balance shot through the basket to win the game.

After six losses that could have gone either way this season, the Wildcats finally won a close one.

THE WIN HAS to give WSC some needed momentum going into the Chadron game. A win in Saturday night's game (results too late for publication) would have given the Cats even more momentum. And they'll need it.

After losing a one-point game to Chadron State at the buzzer earlier in the year, Wayne State is in a most crucial situation tomorrow (Tuesday) at Chadron. The Wildcats must win the game to qualify for NAIA District 11 playoffs. A win will help the Cats against Hastings on the road Saturday. Wayne would have one shot to beat the Broncos. And they've come close twice this year.

Should the Wildcats defeat Chadron and Hastings, this would set up a game against the winner of the other pairings involving Kearney State and probably Doane. If the Cats would beat Hastings, they would most likely play at Kearney and that's tough. It's not an easy road and the odds aren't in Wayne's favor but basketball is unpredictable.

THE WAYNE Women's City Bowling Tournament was played quite some time ago but results are just being published this week. Pictures of the winning women are scheduled to be taken tonight (Monday) so the champions should be pictured in Thursday's issue.

Homer Ends Wakefield Season

The Wakefield Trojans lost the final shooting of their leading scorer, Scott Hallstrom, when Homer applied a box-in defense and Homer eliminated the Trojans from districts 68-59 Friday night at Wayne High.

Wakefield finishes the season with a 9-9 record after losing five of six close games during the year. Hallstrom was held to only five points, far below his game average, and as a result the Trojans couldn't get un-corked.

When a coach comes up with a defense to stop Scott Hallstrom it hurts. Wakefield coach Joe Coble said. "He was boxed in and only got off six shots."

Tom Preston, Barry Jones and Doug Startz attempted to pick up the slack in scoring by adding 12 points each, but it wasn't enough to stop Homer. The Knights led by three after the first quarter and 31-22 at the half as Wakefield just couldn't find the scoring it needed after trailing 49-35 after three quarters. The Trojans scored 24 points in the final period to get within nine points.

"I'm disappointed on their account," Coble stated. "Their effort this season was great."

Wakefield shot 45 percent from the field and made 35 rebounds, led by Doug Startz with 11. The team turned the ball over 15 times. Allen Bates led Homer with 17 points.

"I'm disappointed on their account," Coble stated. "Their effort this season was great."

Winside Loses in District Play

The Winside Wildcats couldn't find the offensive punch they needed Friday night as Elkhorn Valley eliminated them from district basketball action 64-43 in Norfolk.

Winside was within two points after the first quarter when Elkhorn Valley took over, scoring 17 points in the second quarter compared to six for the Wild cats.

Chuck Peter scored 11 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Winside but Mark Smith, Chris Myhre and Shawn Schuff all scored in double figures for Tilden.

Gonnerman said after the game that he wanted to thank everyone who helped the team and the fans who gave them support during the season.

"We had a good season at some points and at other points we didn't." Winside coach Dennis Gonnerman said regarding his 58 season. "The team has nothing to be ashamed of."

LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT

ADDITIONAL WILDLIFE HABITAT PAYMENTS

Nebraska Game & Parks Commission is now offering an addition to the private lands Wildlife Habitat Program, which would pay landowners up to 100% of the cost of seed and trees used in establishing habitat areas. This addition must be approved by participating NRD's and would apply only to new planting or seeding applications, which are approved by the NRD.

Restrictions on the program are that the eligible cost of trees is limited to the current price of Clarke-McNary trees ($17.25 per hundred for 1979). Also alfalfa seedlings must contain at least 25% grass. Payments for materials do not include planting costs.

Signups for this and other options in the Wildlife Habitat Program will be accepted through March. To apply for the program or for information contact your local SCS Office.

LANDS FOR CONSERVATION

Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District will again offer payments to landowners for terrace construction, under the Land for Conservation Program. In fiscal year 1979 Lower Elkhorn NRD paid landowners over $365,000 for installation of conservation practices on their land. Of this total $117,000 was through the Lands for Conservation program as incentives to construct terraces during the months of June, July and August.

Payments to landowners are $40 per acre with a limit of 60 acres per cooperator. The terraces must be constructed between June 1 and September 1 and the landowner may also harvest a small grain crop, such as oats, before or after construction. The contract area is that which lies between the upper and lower terraces, but the terraces must protect the entire field. Applications for this program must be received by April 1, 1979.

Cost-share payments for terraces are available in most counties through local ASCS Offices. The ACP funds will pay 75-80% of the construction costs of terraces, up to the limit of $3,500 per cooperator.

Lower Elkhorn NRD also offers cost-share payments on terrace systems. The NRD cost shares at the same rate as ACP in each county, if a terrace project requires more than the $3,500 ACP limit, or if ACP funds for that county are exhausted.

SCS personnel provide the technical assistance in designing, staking, and inspecting terrace systems.

Terraces are one of the most effective means of controlling erosion and runoff on cropland with long or steep slopes. By breaking up the slopes and stopping the flow of water, topsoil is left in place and there is greater absorption of moisture into the soil. This can mean maintaining greater soil fertility, more available moisture for crops and less pollution of lakes and streams. Sediment in runoff from cropland is a major source of surface water pollution and one that can be largely controlled by adequate land treatment. By encouraging terrace building in summer months, the construction season is extended, making it possible to build more terraces.

Modern terrace systems are also much more attractive from a farming standpoint than terraces constructed several years ago. Terraces are now designed parallel to eliminate point rows and spaced wide enough to use the larger tillage equipment.

Landowners wishing to obtain further information or apply for the above programs should contact your local SCS Office.

Soil Testing May Pay In Fertilizer Costs

Farmers who didn't get around to pull soil samples last fall still may find it's worth the effort to get soil samples tested, even though getting samples in frozen or soggy fields may present a challenge.

That's the word from Del Knudsen, extension soil specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Knudsen said some farmers find they can obtain just as good of yields with the fertilizer investment they have been making — when based on good soil test recommendations — especially if they have been following a so-called maintenance program for several years.

Doing a good job of soil sampling and testing remains the only way to find out the most efficient fertilizer program for a field, the specialist in charge of the University of Nebraska Lincoln soil testing laboratory stated.

Spring is a busy time, but still a good time to get soil samples. Knudsen said, and satisfactory samples can be taken from frozen or mucky fields by following certain procedures.

Use a power drill and small diameter auger in frozen soil.

Snow-covered fields will present problems and slow things down, but wet fields still can be sampled when the soil surface becomes exposed. "It is important to air-dry the samples before sending them in — especially if you want the residual nitrate test," Knudsen advised farmers. However, he said soil samples should not be heated to dry them out.

Farmers should allow two weeks lead time for the samples to reach the lab, be tested and receive the recommendations back, Knudsen said. Both the UNL lab and commercial testing laboratories are geared to get results out quickly this time of year so farmers can study the results before ordering and applying fertilizer, he said.

The report based on the soil tests will show how much of each plant nutrient is needed to produce a given crop yield, within the limitations of available water and various management practices. The report also will advise if lime is needed to correct soil acidity. Instructions on taking a soil sample and getting tests made can be obtained at county extension offices.

New Action Prompts Loans

Savings and loan associations will soon be able to make additional home loans to rural and smalltown families by using a loan guarantee program now offered by Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

Action by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLB), currently underway, will change the rules under which savings and loan associations operate so as to permit them to use the FmHA home loan guarantee program.

In announcing the new cooperative effort, Leonard T. Hanks, FmHA State Director, explained that the agency may guarantee loans made by savings and loan associations and other lenders up to 90 percent of their value.

"This new initiative," Hanks continued, "will make it possible for rural families in the $15,600 to $20,000 adjusted annual income range to finance homes with smaller than usual down-payments and a longer payback period — up to 33 years."

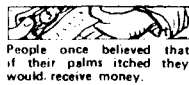

"The downpayment required by home buyers, under the new program, may be as low as 3 percent of the first $25,000 and 5 percent of the amount over $25,000."

"This is a part of an overall national effort to make it possible for rural Americans to live in a decent home in an acceptable environment," the official said.

The FHLB board rule change, which will be soon finalized, will make it possible for savings and loan associations and FmHA to jointly meet home financing needs of more families who have the ability to make monthly payments but lack resources to meet the customary substantial downpayment requirements.

"The program has the potential," Hanks explained, "to make a sizeable impact in meeting home loan needs in small towns — up to 20,000 population — and rural areas in that FmHA is authorized to guarantee these loans up to a total of $500 million during the current fiscal year."

Rural families with an annual income below $15,600 are often eligible for insured home loans made by Farmers Home Administration, Hanks explained.

People once believed that if their palms itched they would receive money.

NATURE'S WINTER WISDOM

Did you know that cherry tomatoes are the tastiest of all tomatoes, and that they make excellent garnishes? Or that a slice of green pepper will perk up any fish, meat, poultry, or vegetable dish?

Garden-fresh vegetables are available all winter long from Sunny Mexico!

Mexican tomatoes are hand-picked as they ripen naturally, unlike tomatoes from other sources that are harvested in a hard green stage, handled by machinery, and ripened with gas to give them color.

For low-cost "Winter Dinner Winners," try baked tomatoes stuffed with sausage and green chopped peppers... or sliced, breaded and fried, then topped with sour cream! Or, place thick slices of tomatoes on bread, top with cheese and broil for a family lunch treat!

Another South-of-the-Border treat is eggplant! Try pickling, dipping in batter, and French-frying. Serve with French dressing for a delicious vegetable or as a meat substitute!

Never put tomatoes in the refrigerator until fully ripe. Buy pink ones to use later and store at room temperature.
