Residents Weather Conscious

Weather Radio Operational Soon

A hodge-podge of weather last week and over the weekend has made some area residents wonder if the weather cycle is really out of kilter.

March came in like a lion and went out the same way. Warm air gave way to cooler air, creating dense fog, hail, severe thunderstorms, freezing drizzle mixed with snow backed up by a strong wind.

And to top everything off, the area was under a "tornado watch" Thursday evening. Area residents have become more conscious of the weather because they are being given more weather information. And in the case of severe weather, more warning devices are being provided to give advance notice.

Officials at the Norfolk office of the National Weather Service said one warning device which will be operational soon is the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) weather radio.

Paul Woolard, official in charge of the Norfolk station, said the weather radio will be on the air the end of this month or the first part of May. It will operate on a frequency of 162.55 megahertz.

Woolard said the transmitter will be installed on the Nebraska Educational Television tower just west of Carroll and will have an effective range of about 40 miles.

He said an installer was in Norfolk recently but had to leave for three weeks in Philadelphia, but will return to complete the installation in the near future.

Woolard said the weather FM radio will transmit storm warnings and the latest weather observations and forecasts 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The chief said probably there will be morning and evening updates on the radio, except in emergency situations when the information will be put on the tape immediately. A schedule will be distributed when the programming is confirmed.

NOAA weather radio will have a feature which allows persons with special "warning alarm" receivers to be alerted automatically. See RADIO, Page 12.

ASCS Service Insures Size

Farmers who use the ASCS pre-measurement service prior to planting their spring crops will be guaranteed that the field sizes are known. Alden Johnson, chairperson of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, said. Pre measuring is encouraged because it assures the farmer that is complying with wheat and feed grain set-aside programs of his acreage. The service is offered at cost by the ASCS county office and includes measuring, referencing and marking out fields with stakes prior to planting. Johnson said, "We strongly encourage pre-measurement because of what happened last year. See INSURES, Page 12."

Kearney, Omaha Artists Guests in WSC Program

Artists Ray Schultze of Kearney State College and Mary Kuster of Omaha have been selected to participate in a Wayne State college (WSC) Visiting Guest Artists program, scheduled for April 9-10 at Wayne State. Store Nears Completion Another 'Blossom' On Main Street

Improvements in the Wayne business community continues at a rapid pace as merchants strive to provide the best in customer convenience. The latest "spring blossom" on Main Street is the new location of the Wayne Book and Office Supply store. Merle Rise, owner of the Wayne Book and Office Supply store as well as the Hallmark Card and Gift Shop, has been able to pull his operation together, so to speak. The Book Store formerly was located on the west side of Main Street in which is now T and C Electronics. It is now located in what was formerly Griess Rexall. The building adjoins the Card and Gift Shop. Finishing touches are being put on the new location with an interior archway connecting the two stores. The Book and Office Supply Store is open for business but the grand opening is scheduled for the middle of April. The new location has been completely renovated, with new interior decorations and completely carpeted. Rise said the 1,872 square feet will provide better merchandizing of his inventory. He said the front of the building will be painted and a new sign put up designating it as the "Wayne Book and Office Supply Store." The other section of the business also will have a new sign: "Rise Hallmark Card and Gift Shop." "We are very pleased to have the entire operation under one roof," Rise explained. "And we think our customers will appreciate the convenience." Rise has been owner of the operation since Oct. 1, 1977, when he purchased it from Wayne Marsh, presently mayor of Wayne. See MAIN STREET, Page 12.

'Tell Valuable Information' Hobby Pays Off as Study Unit for WSC Students

Jewell Schock and Wayne Mollhoff don't like to see dead birds and animals along Nebraska highways, but they're sure not to let such creatures go to waste. Schock, an associate professor in biology at Wayne State College and Mollhoff, an Albion medical technologist and WSC graduate, both are contributors to the Wayne State College study collection of birds and mammals and many times collect specimens found along roadways. The WSC collection, which includes over 500 donated stuffed birds and 20 animals, serves as a study museum for Wayne State science students. Schock said although he is always on the lookout for new specimens, Mollhoff has been the leading contributor to the collection. The Wayne State Foundation recently recognized Mollhoff's contributions with a $500 grant in appreciation for his work. "Wayne (Mollhoff) has contributed probably three-fourths of the WSC collection," Schock said. "He just enjoys it as a hobby. I enjoy it as a hobby also but have difficulty finding the time it takes to prepare the specimens." Included in the WSC collection are a variety of bird specimens, including pheasants, herons, sparrows, owls, and a large variety of others. Mammal specimens include weasels, mink, rabbits, fox, porcupine and others. We try to have a number of both sexes from because they tell valuable information about things such as breeding cycles, age, sex, abnormalities and other characteristics," Schock said. "If we find a number of animals from an area with similar abnormalities, perhaps we can suggest a contributing factor in the environment," he added. The collection serves as a valuable study tool for WSC students. The students prepare study specimens and perform autopsies to determine such things as the cause of death and the condition of the specimen at the time of death. "We keep careful records on things such as the location of the specimen when found, the weight, the kill date or conditions of the death," Schock added. "This is very valuable in the study process." Schock added that a federal salvage permit is needed to authorize the collection of dead birds and mammals by private individuals. He said that unless a specimen is a game bird or animal taken during the regular hunting season, private individuals are not allowed to keep a prepared specimen, individuals with permits may, however, donate prepared specimens to public collections such as the one at WSC. Both Schock and Mollhoff have federal permits. Schock said WSC has been fortunate to have a contributor such as Mollhoff. He said Mollhoff's specimens have added to both the study value and the money value of the collection, which is estimated at over $5,000.

Inflation and misinformation

RICHARD L. LESHNER, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

WASHINGTON — Isn't it interesting, as reports show inflation continuing to get worse, how those in government always find a way to blame the problem on someone else? In recent weeks, the Administration has been doing precisely that — looking somewhere, anywhere, else for the cause and solution to a problem which was essentially created in its own back yard.

More and more, inflation is being blamed on greedy businesses and selfish workers. For its part, the Administration simply says that government alone cannot stop inflation. Oh really?

When the Administration recently criticized corporate profits for the end of 1978, it blatantly ignored the normal adjustments for inflated inventories, inadequate capital consumption allowances and a huge 20 percent increase in federal corporate taxes which were routinely provided by the Department of Commerce and which must be included if the profits picture is to be accurate.

When these adjustments are made, the figures show that from the fourth quarter of 1977 to the fourth quarter of 1978, profits per unit of output increased a small 2.7 percent in contrast to an overall inflation rate of 7.5 percent. And the key point is this: During that same period, the increase in workers' wages was three times greater than the increase in profits, and the increase in federal taxes was eight times greater. The Administration has an obligation to clear up this inaccurate information. Why has it failed to do so?

Look at the facts over a longer period. If government's influence has been so inconsequential, then during the last ten years, why have federal taxes increased more than one and a half times as fast as workers' wages, and nearly two and a half times as fast as corporate profits? Who's been taking money from whom? If business has truly been so robust and profitable, how in the world could the stock market today be lower than it was ten years ago?

This whole problem of finding scapegoats for inflation has been going on for years. During the 1970's, for example, many of Washington's so-called experts have also blamed inflation on: The OPEC cartel; reduced meat supplies, and bad weather, which reduced other food supplies.

No one should deny that OPEC's monopolistic pricing is a tremendous economic burden which is contributing to inflation. But if the cartel has caused inflation, then how can Switzerland and West Germany be enjoying two of the lowest rates of inflation in the world, while they are simultaneously importing a far greater share of their total energy needs from OPEC than the United States?

Nor is inflation caused by temporary scarcities of commodities, some of which are weather induced. If not manipulated by governments, markets can correct these imbalances. And weather problems have existed before — for example, the dust bowl days in the 30's. Yet we did not have inflation then, but we do now in a period of record crops. How curious.

Let's stop kidding ourselves. The major driving force behind our recent increase in inflation has been the explosive growth of government. Since the mid-60's, by indulging in a binge of deficit financing, and printing money more than twice as fast as the economy could produce new goods and services, the federal government has become the biggest spender, borrower and employer in the economy. That's inflation.

The results of this spend now pay later philosophy are dramatic. Low inflation once permitted Americans to save a good portion of their earnings — earnings generated, incidentally, by healthy profits! The investment capital from these savings created tremendous resources in the form of more efficient tools of production, resulting in technological leadership, and in a rapid and sustained increase in our standard of living. That's why profits don't create inflation, they help fight it.

Today, inflation makes it more difficult to save. And seeing the dollar's value depreciate so rapidly, Americans are less willing to save. We are becoming a nation of super-consumption, living from paycheck to paycheck and dependent upon more and more credit to maintain the same standard of living. Result? Last year, the United States had the second worst rate of investment of any western industrialized country, and fewer patents were issued than in any year since 1964. Those are warnings of more inflation.

But big government also fuels inflation by pushing up costs and imposing needless regulations. Government itself is the most burdensome cost of all. Taxes have shot up more than one and a half times as fast as the Consumer Price Index during the past 10 years. And buried in the price of everything consumers buy, from hamburgers to single-family homes, is the rising cost of government, taken out in taxes on every part of a product's cost, production and distribution. But since these taxes are usually invisible, business bears the blame for higher prices.

Finally, the federal government inflates all the basic necessities of life even further through its excessive regulatory manipulation of markets and products by: Propping up the price of milk and sugar; limiting planting acreage of corn and wheat; placing irrational restrictions on farmers' access to pesticides; virtually forbidding any exploration for energy or harvesting of lumber on some 300 million acres of wilderness; placing the nuclear energy industry in a hammerlock, and taxing domestic production of oil while actually subsidizing purchases from OPEC — to cite but a few examples.

Will Washington ever heed the truth? Probably not. For to err is human; but to blame it on someone else is even more human.

A worthy cause

When you give to the Nebraska Easter Seal Society you know where your money goes.

Ninety-five percent of your donation to Easter Seals stays right here in Nebraska.

Ninety-five cents of every dollar you give goes to providing direct services to disabled people and their families, not to big national offices which could eat up your contribution.

That means your money has more buying power for services for your handicapped neighbors in Nebraska. You can see the services your money is helping provide.

Nebraska Easter Seals provides transportation to medical centers, special schools and to recreational facilities for handicapped children and adults in Nebraska.

Easter Seals also uses the money you give to furnish medical evaluation, physical, occupational and speech therapy; wheelchairs, braces and hearing apparatus for the handicapped people you know.

A summer resident camp for handicapped people from ages seven to 19 is also maintained on the money you give.

Your Nebraska neighbors, friends and relatives with handicaps caused by accident, illness or birth defects benefit from what you give.

You can contribute to this worthwhile effort when your neighbor calls with the Easter Seals envelope.

If you haven't given before, wouldn't you like to start contributing this year? If you have given before, you can continue to help Nebraska Easter Seals provide services to the disabled people of the state.

If this sounds like a good buy to you, give to the Nebraska Easter Seal Society this Easter.

Export subsidy dilemma

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

There is a world surplus of wheat thanks to several years of good harvests in the major wheat producing countries and a number of countries, particularly the European community, are subsidizing their surplus wheat at bargain prices to the disadvantage of traditional U.S. suppliers.

That is what prompted Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland to comment recently to a Congressional subcommittee about the situation. "The United States would not hesitate to use authority to use (export) subsidies if that is the only instrument available to guarantee the U.S. market share" for wheat and other grain exports.

The Secretary indicated he is hesitant about plunging the United States into a "battle of subsidies" with other wheat exporting nations because in the end it is counterproductive to wheat producers everywhere. The authority to subsidize U.S. wheat exports is contained in the Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act of 1948 and wheat export subsidies were paid to compete in world markets until they were cut off on Sept. 22, 1972.

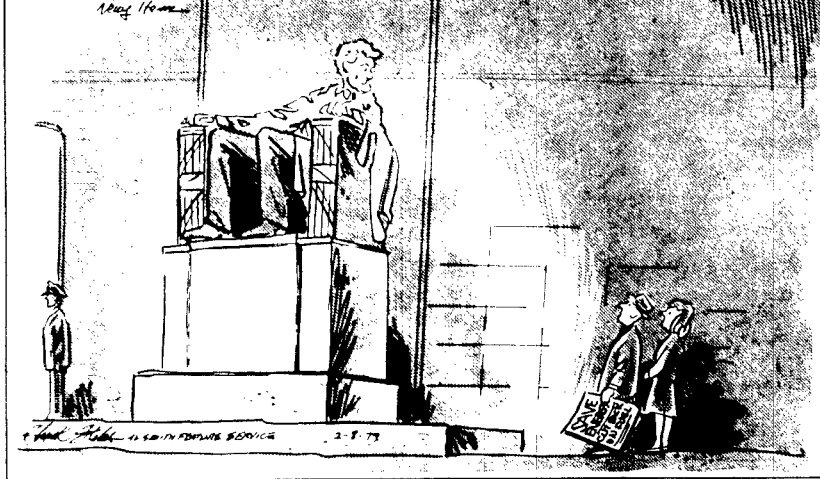

The U.S. wheat subsidy program was cut off by former Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz after the Russian grain purchases in the summer of 1972 when world wheat demand eliminated the need for such subsidies. Perhaps wheat producers and politicians have forgotten the hue and cry surrounding the Russian wheat sales and the condemnation that attended the revelation that those first grain sales to the Russians were subsidized under the 1948 Act.

Purpose of the 1948 law was to make U.S. wheat more competitive in world markets and the practice had been going on for 24 years. But it suddenly became a political bombshell. One may be sure that Secretary Bergland is well aware of that history, and why it is dangerous to start down that road again.

But the dilemma is there. The facts are that international wheat agreements and price fixing have been tried and haven't worked. U.S. grain producers can compete with those of any nation in quality of product and costs of production but not when the European Common Market countries and others are paying subsidies to their domestic producers to enable them to export their surpluses.

Legislative Look

SENATOR JOHN R. MURPHY
District No. 1

How do you kill a bill once it has been presented to the Legislature? Last week I was about to believe that it was impossible.

Legislation was proposed which would have mandated that all schools in this state add to their curriculum a course designed to teach the students a better understanding of those who are handicapped. The concept is a compassionate one and I would encourage local school boards and administrators to incorporate such a philosophy into their existing curricula.

However, it seems highly improper for the Legislature to begin to dictate in our laws what the teachings in our local schools shall be. Once this legislative body becomes involved in dictating curricula by law, there will be no end to it.

We have elected a state board of education and have amassed a department of education that employs almost 750 people to carry out the design and delivery of curricula to our local school boards.

The bill did nothing to provide for specially trained teachers, for additional staff, for the extent of the teaching and most importantly, it provided another mandate for the local school board, but offered no funding from the state.

Accordingly, I moved to have the bill killed and after an extensive discussion, the vote was taken and the bill was indefinitely postponed — or so I thought. Senator Chambers switched his vote in order to be a member of the prevailing side and thereby become eligible to offer a motion to reconsider our action.

Our rules provide that he has five days in which to move to reconsider. I was pleased when that five days had expired and the motion had not been offered.

I was not nearly so pleased when Senator Chambers requested that the Legislature vote to suspend our rules and allow him to take the matter up at a later date.

However, this motion fell short of the required votes and once more, I thought the bill was dead. Wrong!

Once more life was breathed into it when Senator Chambers offered the concept as an amendment to another bill dealing with education. Even though I protested that this was in fact reconsideration, the Chair took a nearsighted view and ruled that it was permissible.

He and I had an interesting discussion of the amendment on the floor and once again, when the vote was taken, my position was reaffirmed and the bill was once again dead — or so I thought. However, such was not to be the case.

At this point, Senator Venditte moved to alter three or four words in the issue and re-state it again as an amendment to another bill. By now I had begun to believe, I was dealing with a nine-headed monster. I questioned the propriety of the Chair in permitting this reoffer of an amendment and voiced rather sharp criticism of the procedure.

I was more concerned with our procedures than with this last attempted amendment and reminded the body that unless we were willing to accept a majority vote on an issue and go forward from that point, that a great deal of precious time was being lost that should be devoted to other issues.

I was rather strong in stating my position and as a consequence, Senator Venditte withdrew his amendment and bill is, for the moment at least, dead once again.

A friend of mine once told me that the only way you can kill a catfish is to cut his head off and then hide it. I'm giving serious consideration to doing just that.

'Let's Move It' Lesson Available

Nervous tension, fatigue and overweight are three big problems with one thing in common - lack of exercise.

A new study lesson available through the local County Extension Office, entitled "Let's Move It," has information on how to get in shape.

Obesity and lack of fitness are usually not caused by genetic inheritance or sugar and starch intake. Such conditions are largely due to inactivity.

Likewise, nervous tension and that "lired all the time" feeling can often be relieved through exercise. Although most people realize the value of physical fitness, many go on an exercise program like they would a crash diet.

Staying in shape is something that should be fun, relaxing and a scheduled part of every day.

The study lesson, "Let's Move It," includes a discussion of what physical fitness and exercising can do for you. It gives everyday tips on keeping in shape and some exercises for the home or office.

Setting aside a few minutes each day to walk, jump rope, or perform some other exercises will help you sleep better, think better and feel better.

"Let's Move It" is a packaged lesson ready for use by any home extension club or other organized group. Club or individuals interested in using these materials should contact the County Extension Office.

The couple plans a June wedding at Church of the Cross in Omaha.

A May 5 wedding is being planned by Carolyn Burcum Bliven and Dennis Carl Linster, both of Wayne.

Ms. Bliven is the daughter of Mrs. George Burcum of South Sioux City. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Linster of Apache Junction, Ariz.

The couple are faculty members at Wayne State College.

'Beauty And the Beast' Is Delightful, Magical

Sunday was opening day for the 21st annual children's theatre production at Wayne State College.

This year's show, "Beauty and the Beast" will be performed the remainder of this week, Monday through Friday, at 1 p.m., with two more performances scheduled at 10 a.m. for Tuesday and Thursday.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, and early reservations may be made by calling the college at 375-2200, ext. 234.

The play, directed by Dr. Helen Russell, takes place in the enchanted palace of Prince Armand. The Prince is preparing to become king, but before he can do this, he must choose a queen. Problems, however, arise when he is changed into a terrifying beast by the evil magician Renard, and his daughter Antoinette.

The spell can only be broken if someone agrees to be queen with the Beast. The Beast wishes Beauty to be his queen, but he fears that she will not realize that despite his ugly appearance, he is truly the Prince.

All ends happily when Beauty does agree to become queen, and the Prince is returned to his proper form.

Portraying the parts of Beauty and the Prince are Pamela Mentzer and Robin Edwards.

Edwards, a senior at Wayne State, is a music major who appeared last on the Wayne stage as the clock in "The Bald Soprano." Miss Mentzer is a speech and English major with her first role at Wayne State. She is a senior.

Renard and Antoinette are played by Rick Fairbanks and Pat Meis. Fairbanks is a theater major, and Miss Meis is a biology and communication arts major. Both are sophomores who recently appeared together in the production, "The Miser."

Pam Swartz, a senior theatre and speech major, plays the Queen, and the Fairy Godmother is portrayed by Claudia Orneil, a junior and an English and speech major.

Mike Nemeck plays the part of Beauvais, Beauty's father, and Chris Hennig and Karen Achor play Beauty's sisters, Aurelie and Alphonse.

Nemeck, a senior, and Miss Achor, a freshman, are both theater majors. Hennig, a freshman, is a theater and broadcasting major.

Denise Lee, Carl Wilson and Dale Cuffel play the parts of the court entertainers. Miss Lee, a sophomore, is a theater and speech major. Wilson, a junior, and Cuffel, a freshman, are theater majors.

Rounding off the cast are the townspeople, portrayed by Mark Shufelt, Curtis Carstens, Pam Meyer and Deloris Zimmerman. Shufelt is a freshman theater major. Carstens is a freshman whose major is not declared, and Miss Meyer is a sophomore elementary and special education major. Zimmerman is a junior elementary education major.

The technical aspects of the production are being handled by Art Dirks.

There are many interesting special effects in the production which will serve to make the play an interesting and delightful event for young and old.

Lori Smith, Kevin Frevert Set Wedding Date

The engagement of Lori Diane Smith to Kevin Frevert has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith of Norfolk. Frevert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenville Frevert of Winside.

The bride-elect was graduated from Norfolk High School in 1976 and attended Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk. She is employed as a secretary at Custom Feed Services Corp., in Norfolk.

Frevert, a 1971 graduate of Winside High School, served four years in the United States Air Force and is now employed as production manager at Custom Feed Services Corp.

Plans are underway for an August wedding at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside.

Oops, Dinner at Winside Is For Pastors, Council

Installation services for the Rev. John Hatermann were to be held Sunday, April 1, at 7 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Winside.

A story in Thursday's edition of the Wayne Herald incorrectly reported that a congregational polluck dinner would precede the installation at 5:30. The dinner, however, was for pastors who participated in the installation service and their families, and Winside and Carroll Church Council members and families.

A reception for all persons attending the installation service was held afterward in the church parlors.

Pastor Hatermann is a native of Alma, Neb. His education for the ministry began at St. John's College, Winfield, Kan., and continued at Concordia Teacher's College in Seward. He taught school in Ufa for one year and then enrolled at Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., now Ft. Wayne, Ind., where he graduated May 20, 1977.

He served as pastor of Hope and Faith Lutheran Churches, Sonora and Ozona, Tex., from June of 1977 to March of 1979.

The Hatermann family includes his wife, Gay, and three children.

First Conference Game

Trojans Get Two-Hit Win

For the Wakefield Trojans, the opening game of the Northeast Nebraska High School Baseball Conference was a total success. The Trojans dominated the Bulldogs in an 11-1 season opener at Bancroft, Wednesday.

Rick Guy allowed only one hit in four innings and Doug Starzl completed the five inning game, called by the 10-run rule. Wakefield scored three runs in the first inning off Bancroft errors and added eight more runs on 10 hits in the following three innings.

Scott Hallstrom and Larry Soderberg led the Wakefield attack with two hits apiece and Guy held control on the mound, fanning eight batters and walking none. Starzl threw three strikeouts in the fifth inning to put the game away. Bancroft scored an unearned run on an error.

"I was pleased with the way we played since we've only had two outdoor practices," coach Joe Coble said. "We relied on experience and got 10 hits with only two nights of batting practice. Guy was overpowering and Starzl did a good job of pitching too. We didn't give up any walks."

Coble added that Bancroft is a young team but said they show potential and will be back. The Trojans are scheduled to host Laurel Friday, April 6 at 4 p.m. in another NEN game.

Looking Ahead

Looking toward the rest of the season, Coble said that his team hopes to defend the district championship if it won last year and play in the state tournament at Ralston. He has 11 lettermen back from last year's state runnerup team.

"We're tickled to death to be a member in this new conference. Now the Northeast won't have to take a second seat to anyone. We'll battle with the rest," Coble stated. "It looks like Wayne is going to be the team to beat again this year. Mike (Mallette, Wayne High baseball coach) has his best hitting team and will be real tough if he can replace his pitching staff."

Returning lettermen for Coble are seniors Doug Starzl, an all-state selection the past two years, and Todd Swigart. Junior lettermen are Scott Hallstrom, Barry Jones, Tom Preston, Larry Soderberg and Rick Guy. Joedy Sherer, Jim Urbaneck, Dale Phipps and Jeff Hallstrom are the sophomore lettermen. Senior Tony Henschke, who is playing baseball for the first year, Kent and Keith Roberts and Mark Starzl make up the rest of the squad.

Guy, who finished last season with a 4-1 record will do most of the pitching for the Trojans and Doug Starzl, who batted .500 last year, is expected to lead the team in hitting while playing third base. Swigart is the team's number one catcher and a pitcher. Coble said that Swigart could play any position because of his versatility.

Winside Triangular Opens '79 Track Season

Winside, Wakefield and Cole-ridge boys track teams opened their seasons in 28 degree temperatures at the Winside Triangular at Wayne State College, Monday.

Cole-ridge won the triangular with 45 points over Winside with 35 and Wakefield with 13. Mitch Pfeiffer and Bruce Smith did much of the scoring for Winside while Jeff Carlson led Wakefield's team.

Smith and Pfeiffer placed one-two in the shot put with top throws of 37.6/5 and 36.9/5 respectively. The two captured the same spots in the discus with winning marks of 109.2 and 92.11. Brent Miller placed fourth in the discus for the Wildcats.

Pfeiffer came back to win the 400 meter run in a time of 56.3 and teammates Tom Willis and John Hawkins took fifth and sixth places. Winside's Rick Bowers placed third in the 800-meter and 1500-meter. Joel Brockmeier grabbed fourth in the 100-meter (12.2) and third in the 200-meter run (27.3). Byron Schellenberg finished fifth in the 100 in 12.3.

Wakefield's Vaughn Nixon took sixth place in the shot put and fifth in the discus to help the Trojans. Jeff Carlson ran the 100 in 12.0 to place second, then ran the 200 in 27.3 for second place again. Other Wakefield finishers include Jerry Roberts third in the 400 meter in 58.2, Dean Miller fourth in the 800-meter (2:26.5) and Kendall Paulson, second in the 1600-meter in 5:15.

Next action for Winside is set for tomorrow (Tuesday) in a dual with Laurel.

Doug Reeves' Wildcats have 10 returning lettermen, seniors Pfeiffer, Smith, Tom Koli in the hurdles, Brent Miller and Paul Roberts in the triple jump. Junior lettermen are Rick Bowers in the 800 and 1500-meter runs and Randy Ritze in the high jump and hurdles. Brockmeier and Schellenberg are the meter and Schellenberg are the two lone sophomore lettermen.

Other hopefuls are sophomore Robbie Harmeler in the long jump and freshmen Tom Willis in the 100, 200 and 400, Kent Glassmeyer in the shot and discus and Scott Farrants in the discus.

Wayne Girls Place Third At Lakeview Invitational

Four underclassmen and senior Laura Lessmann paved the way for the Wayne girls track team, as they placed third in a field of eight teams at the Lakeview Invitational, Friday.

Freshman Jill Zeiss won the 80-yard hurdles with a time of :12.6 and sophomore Lisa Peters won the 440-yard dash in 1:06.9 to lead the Blue Devils in individual events. Then, the 440 relay team of Laura Lessmann, sophomore Kim Blecke, junior Shelly Davis and Zeiss captured first in a time of 55.7 seconds.

Second places were won by Jolene Bennett in the discus with a throw of 85.8' and Sandy Jacobmeier in the 220 yard dash with a time of :29.15. The mile relay team of Lynn Surber, Lisa Daniels, Davis and Peters placed second (4:36.1) and the 880-yard relay team, composed of Lessmann, Blecke, Davis and Jacobmeier, placed second (1:58.4).

Wayne scored 74 points to finish behind Wisner-Pilger with 94 points and Grand Island Central Catholic with 91. "I was real pleased with our performance," coach Mavis Dalton said. "But, I hope it's the coldest meet of the year," she added jokingly in reference to the 30 degree temperatures.

Other finishers are: Tracy Stotenberg, fourth in the long jump, 15-5/8'; fourth in the 80-yard hurdles, 13.0; sixth in the high jump, 4.8; Surber, fifth in the mile run, 6:15.8; Jacobmeier, sixth in the 100-yard dash, 13.6.

With 24 girls out for track, Coach Dalton says she has a fine returning team in the running events. Sophomore Lynn Surber, in the mile run, and senior Sandy Jacobmeier in the 220 yard dash, are returning state qualifiers. Lessmann is the only other senior letterman.

Returning lettermen in the junior class are Bennett Daniels, Davis and Stacy Jacobmeier. Peters, Stotenberg, and

Coach Dalton said that her team hopes to defend the West Point Invitational title it won the past two years, the West Husker title it captured the last three years and the Wayne State title it claimed last season.

The Blue Devils see their next action in the West Point Invitational Friday.

$1 spent away from home

... gets you about 67¢ worth of goods and 0¢ worth of community upkeep in your community.

Total cost $1.00

Total value received 67¢

$1 spent in your home area

... gets you about 67¢ worth of goods and about 33¢ worth of community upkeep in your community.

Total cost $1.00

Total value received $1.00

But that isn't all

When you spend $1 away from home, the 33¢ worth of home community upkeep and maintenance costs it would have paid for if spent here, remains to be paid . . . probably by you . . . through higher taxes or higher prices. Then your total cost for 67¢ worth of goods adds up to $1.33.

A highly questionable bargain.

Lower Elkhorn NRD Winners

CONSERVATION Picture winners of the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources district are (top) Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Draghu who own and operate 400 acres three miles north and five miles west of Wakefield, and rent an additional 80 acres. The Draghus became cooperators in 1948, which made them one of the first conservation farmers in Dixon county. Some 320 acres of their land is terraced with grass waterways and grass turning strips at field ends. Draghu practices conservation tillage and has a crop rotation system of corn, oats and beans. Draghu award is sponsored by the State National Bank and Trust Company, Wayne. (Bottom) Claire and Mary Ann Hirschman own and operate a 320 acre farm one mile north and one mile west of Larue. They rent an additional 450 acres and irrigate a total of 422 acres. The farming operation includes hog and cattle enterprises. Conservation work was started by Hirschman's father in the early 50's and was continued by Hirschman after taking over the farm in 1960. The farm is now protected by terraces, grassed waterways and one dam. Windbreaks were planted to shelter the farmstead and a feedlot. Hirschman is presently converting from moldboard plowing to chisel plowing and discing. He used a corn, beans, oats and alfalfa rotation system. The Hirschmans award is sponsored by the Security National Bank, Laurel.

ASCS to Make Program Payments

Wayne land farmers who complied with the 1978 corn and grain sorghum set-aside programs will join with farmers throughout the state who will receive between $46 million and $67 million in deficiency payments.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said the payments will be made in early April.

Corn deficiency payments have been estimated to be between $18 million and $27 million. Sorghum deficiency payments will be between $24 million and $30 million.

The administrator said the deficiency payment rates will be determined after publication March 30 of the national average prices by farmers for the first five months of the marketing year.

Based on the reported prices for the first four months and a preliminary report for February, the payment rate will be between four and six cents per bushel for corn and 33 to 35 cents ($9 and 63 cents per hundredweight) for grain sorghum, Fitzgerald said.

air Sunday when Norfolk's new radio station, KNEN-FM, will begin its first day of broadcasting. Bob Morris, former news director for Wayne radio KTCH-FM and AM, is news director for the new station. The frequency for the new station is 94.7 and the broadcast hours are 5 a.m. to midnight.

When dangerous weather such as a tornado threatens, forecasting of the Norfolk office can push a button which sets off an audible signal on the silent monitor, signifying that a storm bulletin is forthcoming. The monitors cost about $35. These monitors are especially valuable to schools, hospitals, nursing homes, factories, mobile home communities and other places where large numbers of people are congregated. Woodard explained. The system requires VHF receivers, considerably above commercial FM broadcasts which end at 108 megahertz. Most radio-specialty stores and other retail outlets have high band receivers, some which cost only $10 to $15. Weather officials suggested persons purchasing a monitor or "high band" FM radio should make certain it will pick up the signal in the location it is to be placed. Transmission is line-of-sight and may be blocked by hills, nearby buildings or commercial radio transmitters.
