Legislature Overrides Veto; Provide Construction Funds

The Nebraska State Legislature Wednesday over-rode a veto by Governor Charles Roberts and approved the commitment of $1.859 million for capital construction funds necessary to renovate the Wayne State College Humanities and Education Buildings. The legislature had approved the funds earlier on the recommendation of the Appropriations Committee, but Governor Roberts vetoed the measure. The legislature, however, over-rode the veto, 33-13.

The move committed $25,000 in 1979-80 for the drawing of blueprints and specifications for the project, $771,000 for 1980-81 to initiate the actual renovation and $703,000 for 1981-82 for project completion. Preliminary planning funds of $10,000 had been approved earlier for use in 1978-79.

The project is tentatively scheduled to begin after July 1, 1980, and is currently in the blueprint design phase. The project was recommended in a college needs assessment report which indicated added space was needed for the WSC Education and Humanities areas and could be gained through renovation. The remodeling is also necessary to meet health and safety codes and to meet federal requirements for facilities for

Regional Arts Council Announces Fund Drive

The Wayne Regional Arts Council is kicking off a fund drive to raise $6,250 locally.

Jane O'Leary, chairman of the Arts Council, said these funds, which will be used to support such activities as the Wayne Community Theatre, a community choir and arts events and workshops throughout the region.

According to Mrs. O'Leary and Jeff Carstens, president of the Wayne Community Theatre, contributions under $25 will be used to support either the theatre or the Arts Council, depending on the contributor's intention. Contributions over $25 will support all activities unless the patron stipulates that the money be contributed to the Community Theatre.

The spokesman added that all contributors of $25 or more will receive free admissions to theatre performances.

Checks should be made out to the Wayne Regional Arts Council and mailed to Jane O'Leary, 908 Circle Dr., in Wayne. Receipts and membership cards will be sent by return mail.

Events planned by the Wayne Regional Arts Council during the next four months include an art field trip on June 18, a Community Theatre performance of Hell on June 23; a talent show on July 4; a batik workshop in July; a puppet show, ice cream social and guitar workshop in August; and a dinner theatre and musical carnival in September.

handicapped students. "We anticipate coming out with a better total efficiency in those two buildings after the renovations," said Dr. Irvin Brandt, WSC vice president for planning and development.

"The project as planned will provide more assignable square feet. These buildings are both very old and these plans do not meet our space requirements."

Plans call for extensive remodeling to the interiors of the two buildings. The floors in both buildings will remain, but the layout of each floor will be completely changed, with a fourth floor gained in the Humanities Building.

"At this time there is no public access to the top of the Humanities Building, which is open from the third floor ceiling to the roof and resembles a big hayloft," Brandt said.

"The ceiling to the third floor consists of about 14 inches of concrete and will make a floor for the new fourth floor." The original plans of 1914 called for eventual use of that fourth floor.

Additional items included in the renovation plans are: — Elevators in both buildings. — Doorway access ramps to assist handicapped students.

Stairwells on both the east and west ends of the buildings for all floors.

— Renovation of the original college auditorium theatre. The plans call for that area to be restored close to original where possible.

Brandt said the buildings represent about 30 percent of all classroom space at WSC. The buildings will be renovated at the same time to attract better bidding. To accommodate the classes during the construction phase, the college will schedule more evening and weekend classes. Classes may also be scheduled in rooms not normally used for classes.

"We cannot get along without the buildings," Brandt stressed. "But for one year's time we will have to accommodate the best we can."

Addition 'Struggling' For Council Approval

There are still no clear cut lines concerning the Sunnyview Addition east of Wayne, although the council Tuesday night passed a "conditional final plat" of the project.

The next step is for representatives of the Vakoc Construction Company, developers, to meet with the city representatives and work out a mutual agreement concerning the development procedure of the addition.

The resolution passed by the council regarding the final plat stipulates the development be done in phases but still holds open certain options for the developer.

John Vakoc Tuesday night said he is going to request to city to draft recommendations as to how they would want the area developed and then negotiations will begin to formulate an agreement.

The Sunnyview Addition has been in the mill for more than a year. Vakoc said that See ADDITION, page 12

Lid Restrictions Explained to Council

The city's participation in a scholarship fund precipitated an update on the ramifications of the seven percent spending lid. The council, which has supported the electrical utility lineman scholarship to Northeast Tech with a $150 donation in the past, was told they may have to take second look at such "frills."

City Administrator Darrell Brewington told the council Tuesday night he and his staff attended a meeting recently which dealt with the seven percent lid imposed on city spending.

Brewington was fast to point out he wasn't picking on the scholarship "it's a worth while project, but it is an example where city spending may have to be chopped to meet the needs and services in other areas."

In the simplest terms, the seven percent lid pertains to moneys obtained through ad valorem taxes and state money increases in budget areas funded by these monies

Brewington said the cost factor will be cheaper for the city with the new firm, cutting the hourly rate about one-half.

The Chuck Ellis Tourney Of Upsets

Only Prep Stands In Way Of Wayne-Wakefield Final

Wakefield's eighth annual Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament has become a tourney of upsets. One by one, the touring favorites fell. All four teams which received byes were defeated.

First, Sioux City Heelan was eliminated by Norfolk 6-2 Sunday. Then, Wayne tripped powerful Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson 7-5. Creighton sent Sioux City North home with a 4-2 loss Monday and host Wakefield later dethroned three-time champion Sioux Falls 3-2.

In third round games matching the four Northeast Nebraska teams, Wayne dropped Norfolk 6-4 and Wakefield bombed

Creighton 14-2 in five innings. Only Omaha Creighton Prep, which received a triple bye into the semifinals, stands in the way of a Wakefield-Wayne finals matchup. Wayne is scheduled to play two-time Class A champion Prep at 6 p.m. tonight (Thursday).

The winner will face Wakefield in the championship game scheduled at approximately 8 p.m. Should rain postpone tonight's action, Creighton Prep will probably be unable to play because of schedule conflicts and Wayne and Wakefield would meet for the championship later.

Wayne 6, Norfolk 4
After defeating Elkhorn 5-3 and upsetting Council Bluffs Tee Jay 7-5, Wayne won its third two-run ball game 6-4 over Norfolk. Tim Pfeiffer pitched for the locals, allowing eight hits and striking out six batters before receiving relief help from Jerry Goeden in the final inning with the score 6-4.

Tom Ginn was the gun for Wayne, smacking three base hits in four trips to the plate for two RBIs. Jeff Zeiss and Pfeiffer each scored two runs for the winners. Zeiss, Dan Mitchell, Dennis Carroll and Pfeiffer put Wayne ahead 4-1 in the fourth inning and Norfolk tied the game 4-4 in the fifth. Then Zeiss and Pfeiffer each scored one run in the sixth to secure the win for Hank Overlin's Legion team. The win advanced them into tonight's semifinal game against Omaha Creighton Prep at 6 p.m. in Wakefield.

Wakefield 14, Creighton 2
The Wakefield fans had plenty to cheer about as their team reached the finals of the Chuck Ellis Memorial Tournament with a 14-2 thrashing of Creighton in five innings, Monday evening.

To reach the semifinal game with Creighton, Wakefield had to defeat highly regarded teams Sioux City West and Sioux Falls. Both games were decided by one run, with Wakefield edging West 2-1 in nine innings.

The host team had a strong day at the plate as Todd Swigart and Joedy Sherer each collected two base hits. Tom Preston, Larry Soderberg, Rick Guy, Sherer and Blaine Nelson all scored two runs apiece to lead the winners past their Northeast Nebraska foe.

Coach Paul Eaton's third pitcher, Creighton on two runs and five hits while his teammates got all the runs they needed to advance into the finals against the Wayne-Creighton Prep winner tonight at 8 p.m.

Wayne 7, Thomas Jefferson 5
A five run sixth inning spurred Wayne past tournament seeded Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson 7-5 in second round action Sunday. Ginn and Goeden led the winners with two hits each and Ginn scored three of Wayne's seven runs.

Pitcher Jeff Zeiss held Tee Jay to three runs on five hits for the first six innings. Then, after walking the first two batters in the bottom of the seventh, Pfeiffer entered the mound as relief pitcher and although allowing two singles which scored two runs, completed the game for a save.

Trailing 3-1 after five innings, Mark Gansbom, Ginn, Tim Thomas, Dean Carroll and Jeff Sperry collected hits and scored the five runs in the sixth to take the lead. Dennis Carroll had an RBI on a squeeze play which scored Goeden. Ginn added an insurance run in the top of the seventh. His fine diving catch at the shortstop position prevented a run in the sixth.

Wakefield 2, Sioux Falls 1
Sioux Falls became the fifth large area team to fall from the tournament when Wakefield won a 3-2 decision in the second round.

Todd Swigart pitched one of his finest games, holding a powerful Sioux Falls team to two runs on seven hits. Tom Preston scored two of Wakefield's three runs including the winning run in the sixth inning. Joedy Sherer scored the other run as Wakefield took advantage of its six hits to dump the three-time tournament champion.

Wayne 5, Elkhorn 3
Wayne advanced through the first round of the tournament by nipping Elkhorn 5-3 in eight innings. Dennis Carroll held Elkhorn to five hits and three runs. Jeff Zeiss pitched to one batter in relief in the seventh inning but Carroll went back to the mound to complete the game and earn the win.

Wayne led 1-0 when Dan Mitchell scored in the top of the fourth and 3-0 when Carroll and Jeff Dion added runs in the fifth. Elkhorn scored one run in the sixth and two in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

In the top of the eighth, Dave Schwartz raised a double to score Jerry Goeden and Dean Carroll for the go-ahead runs. Dan Mitchell also hit safely in the final inning. Dennis Carroll retired three of the final four batters in the bottom of the eighth to secure the 5-3 win.

Wakefield 2, Sioux City West 1
Host team Wakefield opened the tournament with a 2-1 nine inning victory in a pitching duel between Rick Guy and West's Kirk Kukuk. Kukuk held Wakefield hitless while striking out 18 batters in nine innings. Guy gave up only three hits and fanned 15 batters to earn the win.

Wakefield's Tom Preston scored the first run in the fourth inning when he walked, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. West added its only run in the bottom of the inning on two hits.

The score remained tied until the ninth inning when Preston scored the winning run. He drew a base on balls, stole base and scored on a Sioux City error.

Coaches Share Insights At Clinic

By DARWIN RUBECK
Wayne State SIA
"Never give up on your team during a game, cause it's never over until the final gun," were among the spoke words of wisdom at the Wayne State College Football Clinic, held

May 25 and 26 at WSC.

Outstanding coaches and speakers explained their philosophies on different aspects of the game of football before a number of Nebraska and Iowa coaches participating in the clinic.

"The clinic went very smooth and the speakers were excellent," clinic director Ralph Barclay said. "The fact it was Memorial Day weekend kept the attendance lower than expected, but we're going to do it again next year."

The speakers included Paul Roach, offensive coordinator for the Denver Broncos; Andy MacDonald of the Seattle Seahawk staff; Jersey Jermler, former Kansas State Athletic Director and former head Wayne State football coach; Ken Fischer, head coach of the defending Nebraska Class A champion Grand Island Islanders; Bill James, head coach of Bellevue East; Tacy Stevens, head coach of Sioux City East and Lee Moran, former WSC coach and athlete, now with the Riddell Company.

Each coach shared insights to their success, and certain aspects of the game that were their specialty. Topics ranged from "The Fundamentals of Backfield Play" to "The 5-2 Defense."

The key item mentioned by nearly every coach was to know your personnel and to coach with enthusiasm.

"Each speaker had a certain item in their philosophy that they felt was important and was really worthwhile to know," said Pat Donohoe, a WSC graduate assistant.

Another important point stated by a number of the speakers pertained particularly to high school coaches. That is not to talk over the athletes' head.

"Many coaches go over the fundamentals very fast and don't realize that their players may not understand what he said," Jersey Jermler said. "The speakers were very effective and explained things in a way everyone could understand, said coach Barclay. I think those who attended found the information presented valuable."

DENVER BRONCO coach Paul Roach was one of the featured speakers at the Wayne State Football Coaches Clinic this weekend.

Signing Of WSC Recruits Brightens 1979-80 Outlook

BY RICK POMERVILLE
WSC PUBLIC INFORMATION DIRECTOR
 Wayne State College head basketball coach Bill Ivey has announced the signing of three recruits to play for Wayne State in 1979-80, including Doug Emanuel of North Bend, Grady Hansen of Omaha and Leon McRee of Durham, N.C.

Emanuel, a 6-8 forward from North Bend, averaged 14 points, 2 rebounds and 4.5 assists per game in his senior year, leading North Bend to a 19-5 season. Emanuel was named to the East Husker All-Conference team and will play in the Fremont Tribune All-Star game, June 9, in Fremont. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emanuel of North Bend.

Hansen, a 6-8 3/4 three-sport athlete for Omaha Central, will play both basketball and baseball for WSC. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Hansen of Omaha, lettered 3 years in basketball at Omaha Central. The forward averaged 17.5 points and 10.8 rebounds per game last year. He was named to the Omaha-Metro Conference All-Star Team, June 16, and will compete in the Nebraska North South All-Star game later this summer. Hansen, who lettered 2 years in baseball, had a .50 batted run average and 4-4 record for Omaha Central this spring.

"I was talking with Paul Forch of Lincoln East about my clinic here June 16," Coach Bill Ivey said, "and he told me that after facing Grady and his teammates last year, he would have to say Grady is one of the three best players in the Omaha area. We certainly welcome his coming to play for us."

Leon McRee, a 6-6 guard-forward from Durham, N.C., will transfer to Wayne State from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, where he averaged 8.6 points per game. McRee played for coach Ivey at Ft. Scott Community College, Ft. Scott, Kan., in 1977 and averaged 17.5 points per game.

Leon is a super individual," Ivey said. "He was voted the Most Valuable Player when I was at Ft. Scott and earned just about every honor possible at his high school, including All State, All Conference, Most Valuable Player and All State. He has already played with three of our other team members which should help him adjust easily," Ivey added that because McRee is transferring, he will not be eligible to play during the first semester, 1979.

Ivey said the depth and overall outlook for his 1979-80 team has improved significantly with the addition of the three new players.

"It should look super for next year," he said. "I am still looking for the big guy — I'm talking 6-8 or better and I have one scholarship left for that person. But with the players like Grady, Doug and Leon complimenting what we already have returning, we should be in great shape."

"I always say wait and see," he added. "But if I do sign one more big guy, look out kiddies and bar the doors because some teams are going to be singing the blues. I'll tell the writers coach and I'll write the stories."

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

"To stumble twice against the same stone is a proverbial disgrace."

Cicero

We should try to learn and benefit from our mistakes, bypassing the pitfalls that have claimed us before. To make the same mistake twice is an admission that we have difficulty in learning.

It is sad but true that some of us tend to stumble not only twice but many times and against the same "stone" before we learn certain lessons that experience should teach. We could save ourselves trouble by learning from the first stumble.

We are able to arrange for funeral services anywhere in the country. At a time of need, your first call should be to us. We will provide the kind of help you would expect from a friend.

CONFUSED BY ALL THE DIFFERENT PERCENTAGE RATES OFFERED ON MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATES?

Let First National Bank of Wayne give it to you straight. No matter what formula you use, the interest received at maturity is exactly the same. Here's why. The interest rates on all 182 day money market certificates are regulated. That means all banks and savings and loans offering insured money market certificates pay exactly the same amount of money to you in the form of interest at maturity of your CD. Don't let all the numbers confuse you.

See the First National Bank of Wayne for the highest interest allowed on insured money market certificates.

Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless a month of the interest on the deposit is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate. Federal law also prohibits the compounding of interest.

Schroeders from Norfolk Hoskins Pioneers Decedents Leave $100,000 to Westmar

The grandchildren of a pioneer Hoskins couple have established a $100,000 annuity trust and bequest for Westmar (LeMars, Ia.) College's endowment fund.

Margaret and Clarence Schroeder, decedents of Grandfather Schroeder and Grandmother Fuese, both devout church supporters who helped establish the old Evangelical church in Hoskins, established a charitable remainder annuity trust with Westmar as the beneficiary in 1976.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder, Norfolk, died last year.

Schroeder was a life trustee at Westmar. Last summer, he and Mrs. Schroeder visited with the Westmar Development office about the annuity trust.

At that time, Schroeder noted: "Sentiment plays a large part in decisions people make, especially in the matter of charitable gifts.

We felt both our grandparents were looking over our shoulders with approval."

Through the annuity trust, the Schroeders received an income during their lifetime. With their death, $100,000 will become part of Westmar's endowment fund.

"The annuity trust is a very practical and sensible way to help both ourselves and the college," reflected the Schroeders. "As a trustee on the Westmar board, I was made sensitive to the needs of a church-related college. It leaves us with a good feeling. The greatest reward in life is in giving."

Hal Kamm, vice president for development, said "We are saddened by the loss of such dear friends, but in knowing the Schroeders we feel their spirit lives on at Westmar. This memorial is typical of their outlook on life and it will keep their memory alive in Westmar's heart for generations to come."

Reported for Wayne County Population Decline Still

A decline in student population at Wayne State College has helped to place Wayne County near the bottom of the list of Northeast Nebraska counties as far as population growth is concerned.

According to provisional estimates prepared by the Bureau of Business Research, College of Business Administration, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the percentage change in Wayne County from 1970 to 1978 was a little less than 1,000, for a minus 9.4 percent change and a net migration rate of minus 11.9 percent.

Local officials pointed out, however, that industrial growth in Wayne County is helping to offset the student decline and that the picture is not as grim as it appears.

Northeast Nebraska has the second fastest growing county in the state with Dakota County's population increasing 27.8 percent from 1970-1978 — ranking second only to Sarpy County.

Iowa Beef Processing is the major reason for Dakota County's rapid rise in the population.

Of the 16 counties in the Northeast Nebraska area, population growth more rapid than that of the state as a whole — 5.4 percent increase — was also estimated for Madison County, 8 percent; Platte County, 6.9 percent and Stanton County, 6.4 percent.

Population growth of Madison and Stanton counties reflects the growth of Norfolk. Consistent with its behavior of the past few years, Madison County recorded a net in-migration of 3.6 percent. In contrast to its relatively high in-migration rate of the past few years, Stanton County's in-migration rate for 1970-78 slowed to 2 percent. However, both Madison and Stanton Counties have continued to reverse the net out-migration exhibited in the 1960-70 decade.

Of the three other northeastern area growth counties, two — Colfax and Thurston — appear to have reversed population declines reported from 1960 to 1970.

Although the growth rate recorded for Pierce County is relatively small at .3 percent, it reflects a reversal of the population loss that characterized it from 1960 to 1970 and throughout most of the 70's.

Population decreases from 1970 to 1978 were estimated for eight other northeastern counties. For most, including Cuming, Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Boone and Burt, the 1970's rates of decline are somewhat less or about the same as the 1960's rates.

Wayne-Laurel Pilot Parents Meet Friday

The Wayne-Laurel Pilot Parents met Friday in the Larry Haase home, Wayne.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Carmichael and family, Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Magdenz and Chad, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Boeckenhauer and family, all of Laurel.

Following the business meeting and discussion of future activities, the group viewed a slide presentation entitled "Handicapism." It dealt with the stereotypes that society commonly holds about handicapped persons and ways to begin to eliminate them.

The Pilot Parents program is one in which parents of handicapped children help parents of newly diagnosed handicapped children.

The Wayne-Laurel Pilot Parents organized a day of training during the past month through which they gained a general background in various disabilities and area services.

The Pilot Parents are a voluntary organization of parents dedicated to giving emotional support and information to parents who have recently learned that their child is handicapped.

The Wayne-Laurel Pilot Parents hope to receive contributions from local individuals and organizations to help defray the expenses of travel, telephone calls and postage.

For more information about the Wayne-Laurel Pilot Parents, call 584-2698.

If you or someone you know could benefit from talking to a Pilot Parent, please call 375-2243 or 256-3127.

because of the delays and certain requirements, the cost for a house in the addition will probably be some $2,000 higher than a year ago.

The council also passed a request to rezone from A-1 to R-1 and R-2 in the Sunnyview Addition. They also followed Planning Commission recommendation that B-2 be dropped from the development.

The agreement entered into provides for a broad scope of services and responsibilities as well as a termination clause for both parties.

Two professional engineers from the firm were on hand Tuesday night to answer questions by the council members before the final agreement was voted upon.

He cautioned the council to take a very careful look at those areas where expenditures might be cut so as not to endanger the funding for necessary services to the residents of Wayne.

He suggested the council postpone any action on the request for participation until such time the budget is prepared and they can better deal with such areas as scholarship participation.

Chris Vakoc — Award for Excellence in English scholarship to Concordia College, the Concordia Teachers College Scholastic scholarship and a Professional Church Workers grant to attend Concordia College.

Significant additions to lawbooks

CAPITOL NEWS
BY MELVIN PAUL
THE NEBRASKA PRESS ASSOCIATION LINCOLN—This year's session of the Legislature has ended, and a review of the record shows the lawmakers made a number of significant additions to the lawbooks.

They started the session with most of them committed to working up a budget that would not force the state to exceed the prior year's spending by more than 2 percent.

They managed to stay within that limit and were loudly praised by Gov. Charles Thone for doing so.

During a brief speech to the state senators just before final adjournment, the governor said he campaigned on a promise of an efficient and economical administration, the "hallmark" of sound government.

Because he and the lawmakers kept a close rein on expenditures, there is no danger of a tax revolt in Nebraska, Thone said.

He acknowledged the state is confronted with a number of important challenges and issues. But he said those could be addressed and solved.

Thone, who said early this year he would strive to have a harmonious relationship with the Legislature, did accomplish that objective.

There were occasional disagreements between the executive and legislative branches but there was a total lack of harsh rhetoric, such as that which marked the previous eight years of the Exon administration.

Some legislative observers said this year's session was comparatively dull. But others described it as a smooth session and praised Speaker Richard Marvel for making it so.

While addressing the senators just before the final gavel came down, Thone said he was deeply appreciative of what each of them had done. He added he could not mention each of the legislators individually but made one exception by complimenting Marvel for a "bang-up job."

The Speaker's colleagues responded to the governor's remark by giving Marvel a standing ovation.

'HASEBROOK DIES'
 The final two days of the legislative session had a note of sadness because of the death of Sen. William Hasebroock of West Point.

He was hospitalized two days before the Legislature adjourned and died on the next to last day of the session.

A gentle person who had served in the Unicameral since 1961, Hasebroock was a low-key legislator but one who was accorded the highest honor the Legislature can give. That was his selection as Speaker during the 1971-72 session.

Hasebroock had also served as chairman of the Legislative Council Executive Board and was a long-time member of the Appropriations Committee.

Governor Thone said Hasebroock's death was "a real shock." Thone said it was at his request that Hasebroock first filed for the Legislature.

The governor said while he was a congressman he occasionally visited Hasebroock's legislative district and was always impressed with the high esteem in which Hasebroock was held by his constituents.

During his final months in the Unicameral, the West Point lawmaker rarely engaged in debate but his colleagues said he thoroughly enjoyed his legislative role.

DEATH PENALTY REMAINS
 Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha finally managed to steer to passage a bill calling for repeal of the death penalty. But within a few hours after the measure was passed, it was vetoed by Gov. Charles Thone—and there was no effort to override the governor's action.

Thone, in his veto message, said his decision was the most difficult he has had to make since becoming governor last January. He said he believes the death penalty serves as deterrent in some cases.

Additionally, said Thone, the Nebraska capital punishment law is a "model" in the nation and has "all possible safeguards" to protect against being abused. Just before the lawmakers cast the vote giving their final approval to the repeal bill, Sen. Patrick Venditte of Omaha tried to have it killed. That move was unsuccessful, but Venditte warned if the measure somehow became law he and about a half dozen senators would "gear up" a petition campaign to place the question of the death penalty on the ballot.

He and Sen. Bernice Labedy of Omaha said they did not believe the 30-year mandatory minimum prison term that the repeal bill provided for those convicted of first-degree murder could become a reality. They noted the state Board of Pardons, a constitutional body made up of the governor, secretary of state and attorney general, could not be forced to abide by the 30-year mandate.

Those advocating repeal said repeatedly the 30-year provision would be enforceable. They also cited statistics showing those convicted of first-degree murder spend an average of about 15 years in prison before being released.

The measure was passed and sent to the governor, with the consent of most of the senators.

Sen. David Newell of Omaha, chairman of the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee which sponsored the legislation, tried to get the veto overridden. He needed 30 votes but could muster only 28.

Under terms of the bill, major political parties in Nebraska could have chosen their own conservative delegates instead of letting voters elect them.

The measure was aimed at aiding the Democrats in meeting their national party requirement that delegates be divided equally according to sex and proportionately according to the presidential candidates' shares of the primary election votes.

Thone said he believed the adoption of the bill would have been a step backward.

The bill "would allow the national Democratic Party to return the selection of national convention delegates to the smoke-filled rooms and take this important choice from Nebraska voters and give it to the Democratic Party hierarchy," Thone said.

REFUSE TO OVERRIDE
 The Legislature refused to override Gov. Charles Thone's veto of a bill its supporters said would help the Nebraska Democratic Party comply with national party rules in selection of national convention delegates.

OBSERVATIONS

Saluting the Vietnam Vet

Making the best out of a bad issue is not the best solution. But at least, it is a solution.

America has been asked by the President and the Congress to set aside this week to honor nearly 9 million men and women who were in our armed forces while we fought in Vietnam.

This is an appropriate request. Until now, we have mostly ignored the deserving and unhonored individuals involved in the conflict.

Vietnam veterans deserve recognition for a job well done. A job about which they had little knowledge and one which did little good. But no matter the moral lesson, a bullet kill in a so-called conflict as well as it can in an all-out war.

We need to take the time this week to reconsider the indifference that has generally characterized our attitude toward a remarkable group of young people we sent to do a difficult job for us abroad.

It would be near heresy to say this week of recognition is long overdue. But perhaps if it had been proposed earlier, it would have been cast aside as not worth the effort.

Certainly, such a week of recognition would have been a cause of tension and division while we were in Vietnam and in the period shortly after we withdrew. There was no middle ground upon which those who supported and those who opposed the conflict could have stood to salute those who were caught up in it.

We hope this is not true today. Vietnam Veterans Week is not a time to re-fight the war or to discuss the right or wrong. Time alone will provide the answer.

Vietnam veterans were neither the perpetrators and miscreants of an unjust war nor uneducated and unheroic bumbler who frittered away American honor on victory less battlefields.

These veterans are citizens who gave as much as Americans in wars past. They performed with all the skill, bravery and devotion to cause and country as those who have been feted and applauded for service in other conflicts.

There certainly has been a delay in proclaiming the Vietnam vet. But it is not too late. They deserve tribute in the full sense of the word. We urge you to help by showing your appreciation and your attention to what they did for us as a nation. — Check Barnes.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 Years Ago
 June 2, 1949: "Spring planted crops look tough," is the comment heard lately from many farmers, says D.E. Warner, Wayne county agricultural agent. Wayne's reputation as the "shopping center of northeast Nebraska" gets another boost this week as local merchants feature Dollar Day bargains for Friday and Saturday. . . An American flag, 5 feet by 10 1/2 feet, was dedicated and raised at the Wakefield Cemetery Monday in memory of all the war veterans. . . LETTERS

In recognition of Loyalty Day held earlier this month, local VFW commander August Lorenzen presented a flag to Erving Doring, chairman of the board for the Veterans Memorial Cemetery, located at Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne. A picture of the flag presentation appeared in The Wayne Herald and drew a response from a former Wayne resident, Bill Martin. Martin's father, the late Orra Martin, was active in the Wayne Legion. His mother, Pearl, resides in California. Martin is now owner-manager of the Getels Valley Mortuary in Getels, Calif. He has the following letter to a family friend, Erving Doring of Wayne.

Reader Reminisces

Dear Erving:

In case you don't remember me, but do remember Billy Martin, I am one and the same, Orra and Pearl Martin's youngest son. I take The Wayne Herald and just saw your picture in the paper regarding the Veteran Section of the Cemetery. I had to smile for a moment because I would almost wonder if dad hasn't, somehow, managed to move over there.

I say this because he just about lived for the Legion. When he gave up to have his surgery in 1961 at the VA Hospital in Lincoln, it was with the idea that he would be over with everything and be back to march in the Memorial Day Parade and again be the oldest veteran to march. He was found to be back for the parade. Sorry to say, he was buried about a week beforehand. If he wasn't between two close friends, I'd ask that he be moved to the new section.

How is Irma (Mrs. Albert Damme). It's hard to believe, but I haven't seen you people for at least 33 years. Wow, YOU'RE getting older — I'm not, even though I have a five-year-old granddaughter. Mom is still doing pretty well. She has an apartment. She is 79, still cooks and does most of her own cleaning. Jay (Martin's brother), lives in Medford, Ore., married, with two daughters and two grandchildren, all living in Medford. I hit 50 in March and Jay hit 58. It just doesn't seem that it was that long ago that we were going with the folks to all those barn dances, etc.

Well, best of luck to you often of how the Legion treated us out when I was just a kid — you're really in a fine group. By the way, I'm a member of the Santa Barbara, Calif. group. — Bill Martin, Getels, Calif.

Unicameral Review

SENATOR ELROY M. HEFNER
 District No. 19
 Box 36
 Coleridge, Nebraska 68727

The Legislature is winding down toward the end of the session with only four days left as I write this. We should adjourn sine die on May 24. Last week we met only on Monday and Tuesday to allow the printers extra time to get some of the bills printed in final form.

On Wednesday I flew to Washington, D.C. to testify before two House small business subcommittees on the diesel fuel supply problems facing farmers this spring.

This joint hearing was held by the Subcommittee on Antitrust and Restraint of Trade and the Subcommittee on Energy.

I, along with three other members of the panel, some committee congressmen and staff personnel, met at a breakfast briefing at 8:00 a.m. on Capitol Hill. Congressman Bereuter also attended as he is a member of the Subcommittee on Energy.

The hearing started at 9:00 a.m. and the Deputy Secretary of the Department of Energy was the first witness. He acknowledged that there is a diesel fuel shortage and that agriculture would receive 100 percent of its needs until June 30.

This would be accomplished by implementing rule No. 9 of the Emergency Petroleum Act of 1973. Farmers would certify their needs to their dealer and he in turn would certify them to the supplier.

He also said that the Department of Energy is ordering the petroleum companies to produce more diesel fuel than gas in the coming months to try to alleviate the diesel shortage. Both products would be in short supply this summer.

I testified later and challenged the deputy secretary's statement about agriculture receiving 100 percent of its needs. I told the committee that this was not true and impossible because the pipeline terminals were out of product more often than not.

The secretary then admitted that at times agriculture may only receive up to 90 percent of its needs because of petroleum distribution problems.

In a few other remarks I testified that I feel we have a shortage of diesel fuel this spring for the following reasons:

1. The past three winters have been very severe and we had much colder than normal temperatures. This took more No. 1 and No. 2 heating oil thus refineries had to curtail production of diesel fuel.
2. Railroads have been hauling more coal through Nebraska thus consuming more diesel fuel than usual.
3. Railroads have been abandoning branch lines in Nebraska forcing trucks to haul grain, lumber and other products. Trucks use more diesel fuel for each ton mile of product delivered.

4. Also, I understand that the utilities have been building up their stocks of middle distillates in fear some of the nuclear power plants will be shut down. We have two of these power plants in Nebraska.

5. Oil exporting companies are restricting their sales to us.

One of the biggest areas of growth in the diesel fuel usage in Nebraska is irrigation. Our farmers have drilled nearly 6,000 new wells in the last two years making a total of approximately 42,000 wells. About 36 percent are powered by diesel engines.

These wells are pumping water on an average of 45 days per growing season and use 125 gallons of diesel fuel per day. The increase in the use of diesel fuel for these wells in just the past two years would be nearly 12 million gallons. Heavy use of diesel fuel for irrigation will prevail during the coming months of June, July and August.

The demand of course is dictated by the weather. Less than normal rainfall would require more pumping — more than normal rainfall requiring less.

If we do nothing concerning the diesel fuel shortage, agriculture production will be curtailed. Food prices will rise causing more inflation.

Agriculture is the backbone of this nation's gross national product. We will have to conserve more, cut back on foreign and domestic travel, sacrifice family vacations, community and school activities to provide agriculture with its needs. We must keep agriculture producing or our entire nation will suffer.

In our state the saying is "As agriculture goes, so goes the State of Nebraska." I feel we all need to work together to solve this problem and provide a national energy policy for our country.

The six and one-half hour hearing was informative and interesting, but not very encouraging. It is good to have our Congressman Doug Bereuter on the House Subcommittee on Energy. He is doing a great job in seeing that agriculture will not be short changed during this energy crisis.

While in Washington, I also attended the National Conference of State Legislatures' State-Federal Assembly serving as a member of the Government Operations committee.

Survey your home

Burglars are opportunists. They look for targets that appear to offer a reasonable expectation of success — success in the form of loot and the opportunity to escape without detection. Simple, low-cost, crime safety measures can help to prevent burglaries by reducing the opportunities on which burglars rely.

The FBI suggests to help make your home less vulnerable to burglary, ask yourself the following questions:

- Is your address visible from the street at night so that police can locate your home quickly if you should call for assistance?
- Is shrubbery trimmed to preclude its use as a hiding place by intruders?
- Are front, side, and rear doors properly lighted to illuminate anyone entering or leaving?
- Are storage sheds kept locked and are they adequately lighted?
- Are all boats and equipment stored out of doors properly secured?
- Are all standard (non-flashed) exterior doors and any doors from the garage to the interior of the home equipped with quality deadbolt locks?
- Are all standard exterior doors and any doors from the garage to the interior of your home made of steel or are they of solid core construction?
- Are all exposed hinges on exterior doors pinned or otherwise secured to prevent the door from being removed from the frame if the hinge pins are extracted?

— Is there a door viewer in exterior doors if there is no other way to observe who is at the door?

— Are sliding doors and windows protected by adequate locks, and are these locks used?

— Are all windows equipped with adequate locking devices?

— Are all other openings (vents, skylights, window air conditioners, etc.) secured?

If you have answered "no" to any of the above questions, you may want to consider improving the level of protection you are providing to your family and property by addressing these areas of potential vulnerability.

EXTENSION NOTES

By Anna Marie Kreifelts

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

That's right! There's no place like home for having fatal accidents. Your home may be an oasis of comfort and security, but it also may be a booby trap for your children. This is especially true in summer when children are home from school.

Evidence provided by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare indicates that the leading cause of injury and accidental death of young children today is accidents in the home.

Experts cite these two major reasons: 1) A child is naturally active and curious. But his sense of balance and fear of danger do not develop until he matures and has some experiences. He gets that experience at the wrong time in the home, if nobody's watching him, look out! 2) For the child, an average home, unfortunately, is full of danger. What an adult can do with ease — stairs, hot stoves, electric-wires, "delicious" looking substances in colorful containers, etc. — can be killers and maimers to children.

So parents, take warning! The leading accidents suffered by children include severe falls, blows, cuts, animal bites, suffocation and strangulation, poisonings, drowning, fires, burns and electric shock. Of all these, the most common home injury to the very young results from falls.

Take a look around your house, garage and yard. Are you and your children living in an oasis of security or in a booby trap set for accident victims?

17,000 Systems In The State

Steady Climb In Center Pivots

Center-pivot irrigation systems in Nebraska continued to increase rather steadily in 1978, although at a reduced growth rate from the 1976 peak.

This is one of the conclusions that can be drawn from a new 1978 inventory map of center-pivot irrigation systems in Nebraska, published by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources' Conservation and Survey Division.

"Perhaps the biggest surprise was that the 1978 increase was not down as far as some persons expected," said Dr. Richard O. Hoffman, project director and associate professor in UNL's College of Engineering and Technology. The 1978 increase was 2,239 new center-pivot systems, he said, which was only 203 less than the 1977 annual increase.

Hoffman noted that development of center pivots in the eastern part of Nebraska is more noticeable today than in the past. In some locations, he said, blocks of center pivots have been installed in groups of 15 or 20.

"We are beginning to see some movement of pivots," he stated, adding that some pivots are getting old and probably will be replaced soon. "In fact," he said, "we are already seeing some replacement of pivots."

The largest annual increase in center-pivot systems occurred in the following three counties: Holt, 98; Hamilton, 96; and Antelope, 93. Those counties reported as having the largest number of active pivots in 1978 included Holt, 1654; Antelope, 903; Chase, 870; and Perkins, 620.

At the other end of the spectrum, the following eight counties were reported as

Magic Fingers 4-H Club
The Magic Fingers 4-H Club met after school May 24, at the Lions Club Park in Laurel. The club walked to the cemetery and back to the north side of the school, picking up rubbish along the way. Afterward they held a wiener roast at the Lions Club Park.

Each year before Memorial Day the 4-H club cleans along the highway. The next regular meeting of the club will be in the Jim Lipp home on June 18.

having added no new center-pivot systems in 1978: Cass, Dakota, Hooker, Nemaha, Otoe, Pawnee, Sarpy and Thurston.

Of the statewide total of 17,266 center pivots installed in Nebraska through 1978, some 16,468 were observed to be active last year. In other words, 95 percent of the center pivots installed continued to be operational in 1978.

The total number of Nebraska acres irrigated by center-pivot systems rose from 1,999,000 to 2,190,000 in 1978. That was an annual increase of 9.5 percent.

According to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, there were 6,650,000 acres irrigated in Nebraska during 1978. One-third of that total — or 2,190,000 acres — came from center-pivot irrigation systems.

Folded copies of the new center pivots map are available at 50 cents each, plus sales tax for Nebraska residents, from the Conservation and Survey Division, 113 Nebraska Hall, Lincoln, NE 68588.

FERTILIZER FOR SOYBEANS

Phosphorus is the major nutrient that needs to be added in a fertilizer program for soybeans. The amount of phosphate needed varies with the phosphorus level of the soil. For fields with a very low level of phosphorus (0 to 5 ppm). A rate of 40 lb. P2O5 (phosphate) per acre is suggested.

The rate can be reduced to 20 lb. P2O5 per acre for soils having a low level of phosphorus (6 to 15 ppm). No phosphate fertilizer will be needed for soils having a higher level of phosphorus. The best method of application of phosphate is in a starter fertilizer.

IMPLANTS FOR CATTLE ON GRASS

Yearling steers and heifers going to pasture this spring and heifers going to pasture this spring and summer should have growth stimulants implanted. It can mean 20 pounds more additional gain per animal during the grazing season.

The cost is small and it is simple to do yourself operation for cattlemen. The resulting gain of 20 pounds per animal can add up.

Researchers have run tests on different growth implants and found little difference in results. Ralgro, Synovex S, and Synovex-H all showed similar results — about 20 pounds per head more on yearling steers and heifers. Ralgro was used on both heifers and steers. Synovex S is designed for steers. Synovex H

Weed Tour Starts Soon

The three-day 1979 Nebraska weed tour will include stops at weed control research plots in Lincoln, Clay Center, Curtis, North Platte, Sidney and Scottsbluff, according to an extension weed control specialist.

John D. Furrer, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agronomist, said the tour will begin in Lincoln on Monday, June 18, at 5 p.m. with a stop at agronomy at 84th Street and Havelock Avenue.

The tour will resume Tuesday in Clay Center at 9 a.m., the University of Nebraska Lincoln specialist said. From the weed control research plots for corn and soybeans in Clay Center, the tour will move later that day to ecofallow plots in the Curtis area. A tour of the North Platte station is scheduled for Tuesday evening.

The Wednesday portion of the tour will include a visit to minimum tillage, ecofallow and wheat plots at the High Plains Ag Lab near Sidney. It will conclude with a trip to the Panhandle Station to view plots of sugar beets, field beans, alfalfa and row crops. Furrer said He added that the tour is open to any interested persons, who may join the tour or portions of it at any point.

Spotlight On Weeds

HEMP DOGBANE

DESCRIPTION
Hemp dogbane is a member of the milkweed family and may be confused with common milkweed during the vegetative growth stage. It is a perennial and reproduces by roots and seeds. Hemp dogbane initiates growth each year from crown buds or from roots. The above ground portions are the results of one year's growth.

The foliage is bright green in color during the growing season changing to a yellow-brown in the fall. The tough, smooth stems are erect and branches near the top give the plant a bushy appearance. Smooth, oblong leaves are opposite on the stem, and have very short petioles.

Small, greenish-white, bell shaped flowers are produced in dense clusters which generally are at the ends of the branches. Flowering occurs from late June through August. Each flower produces two brown, slender, sickle-shaped pods which may be two and one-half to four inches in length. The pods produce about 200 small, spike-shaped, reddish-brown seeds which have a tuft of soft, silky hairs at one end.

CONTROL
In corn fields, use one quart of 2,4-D plus 1/2 pint of Banvel after September 10th until Dogbane leaves turn yellow. Dogbane is small grain stubble can also be treated in September.

SPECIAL REMARKS
Dogbane is difficult to kill so plan to treat two or three years in a row. 2,4-D is much more effective with the Banvel. When dogbane leaves have turned yellow, treatment will be of little value.

Roundup may be used as a spot treatment for Hemp Dogbane in barley, corn, oats, sorghum and wheat.

1. It is a "spot" treatment only. Roundup will kill the crop in the treated area also. Take care to avoid drift outside target area.

2. Treatment must be made prior to heading of small grains and sorghum, initial pod set on soybeans and silking of corn. Do not apply when the crop has set seed.

3. For control of perennials, the weeds should be treated in the optimum stage of growth. Weeds should be growing actively.

4. Roundup should be applied at the rate of 1-gallon per 100 gallons of spray solution. According to the label only hand held gun equipment can be used.

5. A copy of the label must be in the possession of the user at the time of Roundup application for spot treatment.

Adding Resistance Blocks Can Save Irrigation Fuel

By P. E. FISCHBACH
Extension Irrigationist, Ag Engineering Institute of Nebraska and Natural Resources

If Nebraska irrigators are short of diesel fuel for the 1979 irrigation season, they may not be able to change to alternate energy sources such as propane, natural gas or electricity. However, they may have an opportunity to reduce their diesel fuel consumption if they act soon.

There is still time to purchase electrical resistance blocks to monitor soil moisture and water meters to measure the water for irrigation scheduling.

Pilot irrigation scheduling projects show that an average of 35 percent of the energy to pump the water can be saved, or a savings of about $11 per acre when diesel fuel is 60 cents per gallon. An irrigation scheduling procedure that makes effective use of the rainfall during the growing season could be crucial when diesel fuel supplies fall short. Consequently, monitoring the soil moisture within the crop's root zone with electrical resistance blocks and applying less water than is needed to completely refill the root zone becomes very important in using rainfall effectively.

Three NebGuides, "Scheduling Irrigations by Electrical Resistance Blocks" (G77-340), "Selecting and Using Irrigation Propeller Meters" (G78-392) and "Water Measurement Calculations" (G78-393) are available at county agents' offices.

Another possible management practice to save diesel fuel is to fine-tune irrigation pumping plants. Tests of more than 400 pumping plants in Nebraska show that the average plant is using 25 percent more energy than necessary.

The average pumping plant on a gated pipe irrigation system will use about 23 gallons per acre per year while a center pivot system will use about 54 gallons per acre per year when operating at 75 percent of the performance standard and irrigation scheduling is practiced.

If the pumping plant was operating at the Nebraska Performance Standard and irrigation scheduling was practiced, the systems would use about 17 and 40 gallons per acre, respectively, a savings of 6 and 14 gallons per acre. If each system irrigated 130 acres, the combined savings would be $1,700 and $2,520 per irrigation system per year for having the pumping plant meet the Nebraska Performance Standard and irrigation scheduling.

Five Students To State 4-H

Wayne County will have five delegates to the Nebraska 4-H Conference June 4-8 on the University of Nebraska Lincoln East Campus. Attending the event, formerly known as State 4-H Club Week, will be Anne Liska, Kristy Bull, Michelle Kubik, Penny Roberts and Marvin Hansen.

The Nebraska 4-H movement began in the 1890s, and the state may have been the first in the United States to hold a statewide conference in 1905. Since the first Boys and Girls Conference, 62 such conferences during that period were known as Club Week until this year. During this period more than 31,000 people have attended club week over the years.

The name of the event has been changed from 4-H Club Week to Nebraska 4-H Conference. The name was changed to prevent confusion of the conference with other 4-H "weeks."

Fire Friday
THIS CAR, plus motorcycle and contents of a garage at the Darrell Franzen residence were destroyed, along with the garage in a fire about 10:22 p.m. Friday. Fire Chief Dick Korn said the garage was valued at about $3,000. He said there was no dollar estimate of the contents. It's time for a Summer Comfort Tune Up!

Save money and energy this summer by checking your air conditioner's efficiency now.

Take a look around - summer's closer than you think. Suddenly you'll be uncomfortably warm, and you'll turn to your air conditioner for comfort.

That's why NPPD suggests taking a look inside your air conditioner now, before you need it to keep you cool.

An Air Conditioning Tune Up is a simple maintenance check that will find energy and money wasting problems in your comfort system.

Of course, an Air Conditioning Tune Up isn't the only answer to top cooling efficiency. NPPD suggests that you service your air conditioning unit regularly.
