Cutworms, Corn Borers Stable

Picture Optimistic on Grasshoppers

In the wake of a serious diesel fuel shortage, area farmers can look forward to a more optimistic picture regarding grasshopper, cutworm and corn borer infestations.

Most farmers in the Wayne area completed planting of crops before the diesel fuel shortage worsened. There were scattered reports of fuel outages, and farmers are now bracing for a predicted shortage when harvest time rolls around next fall.

But in all the bad news, there is some good news.

Serious Potential

Wilkowski said a fall egg count by the US Department of Agriculture shows a potentially serious problem in Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Knox, Antelope and Stanton Counties.

While the eggs are laid in the fall, hatching occurs from May to July with most damage in the summer months. The "hoppers" are born with only small wing pads and are unable to fly. But once the wings develop, they "become very mobile," Wilkowski said.

While the potential exists, there have been no reports of any serious damage done by grasshoppers, corn borers or cutworms.

According to John Wilkowski, entomologist with the University of Nebraska Northeast Experimental Station in Concord, his office has yet to receive any alarming reports.

"As far as we can tell, there is no apparent influx of grasshoppers," the entomologist said. "But the potential is probably there."

The Experimental Station plans its regular spring hopper survey in the near future, Wilkowski said, and if samples show a sudden influx, area farmers will be warned to take appropriate measures.

Guilty Pleas in

Mischief Charge

Three persons pleaded guilty to charges of criminal mischief with two being assessed fines and costs while a third had to make restitution, and was remanded to the Wayne County jail and placed on probation for 24 months.

Neil Wagner, Winside and Vernon W. Smith, also of Winside, pleaded guilty to the charge which involved damage to a car owned by Sheila Taylor.

Jeffrey A. Dunn, Elkhorn, pleaded guilty to two counts of criminal mischief which involved damage to a car owned by Brian A. Hahn in excess of $100 and taking speakers and a rear deck rug from Hahn's car.

Dunn was ordered to make $525.62 restitution to the Wayne County court and was remanded to the county jail for five days and placed on probation.

Last year's grasshopper problem was limited and was spotty, according to Wilkowski. Although the district-wide problem was not serious, to some farmers there was a problem.

There are some natural controls which come into play in the early stages of grasshopper development. Wilkowski said grasshoppers are often plagued with a fungus that tends to limit the spread during the early spring.

The fungus appears to be more prevalent during periods of moisture and since rainfall to date has been adequate, the fungus may be inhibiting grasshopper growth.

Corn Borer

Officials with the Experimental Station are watching the development of the European corn borer. Wilkowski said the over-winter population was quite high and the problem could become serious.

Again, however, early indications are that a threat to area crops will not develop district-wide. There may be instances of scattered damage, but as a whole, the area should escape any devastating problems.

The same holds true for cutworms, which are just now ending their damaging cycle. Most problems have been in corn planted in ground which held oats, soybeans or alfalfa last year, Wilkowski said.

There was one case of a farmer having to replant, and then plant a third time because of cutworm damage. But on a district-wide basis, a serious problem did not develop.

Meat Animal Tour

Set for July 17

The Wayne County Extension Service is joining with several other counties in promoting a bus tour July 17 to the Meat Animal Research Center at Clay Center.

The USDA research center at Clay Center has been a major contributor to information on breeds of cattle, sheep and swine.

Breeding projects include long term experiments where various breeds of cattle are evaluated on traits ranging from calving difficulty to taste of the meat when cooked.

The tour will include a chance to visit with project leaders plus beef cow calf projects, confinement feeding and feedlot, swine breeding and feeding, swine research and building used in research.

Due to the possibility of disease transfer, the swine unit will be viewed from the bus, then a slide show will explain more in detail, according to Don Spitze, county agent.

The bus will leave the morning of July 17 and return that evening. Spitze said there will be a $15 per person charge plus noon buffet and evening meal.

The tour is open to all who wish to attend. Details on where the bus will load and the time of departure will be released in the near future, Spitze explained.

Two Plead Guilty

To Theft Charge

Two persons pleaded guilty to theft by exercising control.

Neil J. Wagner, Winside, paid a $50 fine and $8 costs after pleading guilty to taking a stop sign belonging to the City of Winside.

Neil Dorman, Rt. 1, Wayne, was fined $50 and $8 costs after pleading guilty to taking a box of Cofylenol tablets from the Pamida-Gibson Store, Wayne.

Bar Break-Ins

Bring Charges

Two men and a juvenile from Norfolk have been charged with burglaries involving break-ins at bars in Winside and Hoskins.

The two men have been identified as Daniel King and Scott Wayne Shippy. They allegedly broke into Charlie's Bar, Winside, and Danny's Place, Hoskins, on March 26.

Board Approves

Repair Estimate

The Wayne-Carroll Board of Education accepted a roof repair estimate of $3,305 from National Roofing of Sioux City.

The work will include the east wing of the high school building, the west wing of the elementary building and east wing and boy's entrance of the middle school.

Supr. Dr. Francis Haun said he has been trying for some time to get a roof repair company in to do the work and National Roofing is the most available.

Tuition Costs Given

Approval by Board

The Wayne-Carroll Board of Education established high school tuition for the 1979-80 school year at its regular meeting Monday night.

District 17 will charge $3,100 per year for each high school student. The old figure was $2,900.

The TMR tuition for 1979-80 was set at $3,050; a change from the $2,850 per year per pupil.

Supr. Dr. Francis Haun told the board that as far as he knew, the district will not be contracting for "EMH" or "LD" students for next year. "If they do," he said, "the costs would approximate those of the TMR class."

Supr. Haun recommended a tuition charge of $2,200 per year tuition for an eighth grade contract. The board approved the recommendation.

Concord Plans

50th Observance

The Concord community is finalizing plans this week for the 50th anniversary observance of the town bandshell.

The bandshell is one of very few such structures still in existence.

According to a spokesman for the community, the celebration will get underway at 8 p.m. on Saturday, June 23 in front of the bandshell. The event will include a special musical program, refreshments and an old-time movie.

JOHN WILKOWSKI, entomologist with the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Station, took an unofficial survey of grasshopper population behind the station near Concord Friday. His findings were negligible although a few were found.

KENT HALL looks over a world globe to pinpoint the countries he will be visiting this summer as a part of a People-to-People program.

Wayne Florist Selected For People-to-People Trip

Kent Hall, Wayne florist, has been selected as 1 of 19 florists in the United States to participate in a travel program to Sweden, Hungary, the Soviet Union, Romania and the Netherlands.

The group will depart from New York on Saturday, Sept. 1 and return to New York on Saturday, Sept. 22.

The trip, which is an approved People to People travel activity, is an informative, educational goodwill mission dedicated to improving relations and understanding between America and the people of Europe and the Soviet Union.

The majority of time on the trip will be devoted to special meetings, interviews and visitations but the group will also get to do some sightseeing.

Hall was selected for the trip because of his expertise as a florist. He said he believes he is the only Nebraskan making the trip. Each of the persons making the trip pays for his own expenses.

The florists will visit retail florist shops and greenhouses six days a week. In addition, Russian ballets, art exhibits and other cultural studies are included in the trip.

"I was very flattered when I was selected out of the clear blue sky," Hall said. "My first reaction was that I couldn't do such a thing. Then, I realized that it would be the experience of a lifetime and the highlight of my horticulture career."

The Goodwill People-to-People travel program is a massive program involving the people of the United States and people of other countries. It is non-political, non-partisan and completely without government control or financing. The program is dedicated to the improvement of communication and relations between the citizens of all countries.

The People-to-People program was described by Dwight D. Eisenhower as a diplomatic program. "As we all know, governments today speak only to other governments. . . If the peoples represented by these governments are mutually convinced of each other's goodwill, honesty of intention and decency of purpose, governments will begin to hear the voices of their own millions. And even the most dictatorial of rulers will have to listen," Eisenhower stated.

The group will arrive at Stockholm, Sweden on Sept. 2 and move on to Warsaw and Budapest, Hungary. From Budapest, the mission will continue at Moscow and Yalta. After visiting Bucharest, Romania, the group will complete its trip to Amsterdam in the Netherlands.

"I'm happy to have been selected for the trip and in my spare time, I plan to make acquaintances with others on the trip and study the everyday life in these countries," said Hall. At Amsterdam, we'll see the world's flower market, the Aalsmeer."

The florists will be the guests of the American embassies in each of the countries and will attend a state dinner at each of the embassies which will be attended by Heads of State of the countries. "They will be our guests at the dinner," Hall explained, "and we will pay for one guest at the dinner. We are paying our own way without financial assistance from the government which makes it less political and more personal."

Sweltering heat sets record

A blistering 101 degrees Thursday marked a new record in the Wayneland area as spring turned into summer in a big hurry.

The high for June 14 a year ago was 94 degrees.

Scattered rain showers and thunderstorms Friday night and Saturday took some of the heat off those area farmers with irrigated lands who were beating the bushes for diesel fuel with which to run their units.

Farmers took to the fields whenever the weather let them as they worked to get their crops into the ground during May. A warming trend toward the end of the month allowed farmers to make a full-out effort to get their crops planted.

Moisture during May in the Wayneland area amounted to about five and one-quarter inches, which represented about an inch and one-half above normal for the month.

Precipitation varied greatly over the state during May. In the panhandle, there were only 1.12 inches recorded. The greatest total precipitation reported was 7.38 inches at Meadow Grove.

The greatest amounts of precipitation fell between May 8 and May 18 at most sites in the state.

The northeast section of the state fared well in cumulative precipitation for April and May as moisture was normal or above normal.

The panhandle and southeast sections of the state experienced the driest May for seven years.

Temperatures averaged slightly below normal to three degrees above normal over most of Nebraska, except in the extreme southeast where the average was a little above normal.

In the Wayneland area, the temperatures were about two and one-half degrees below normal for the month. The average daily maximum temperature in the area was about 70 degrees with the average low ranging near 45 degrees. The average for the month was approximately 58 degrees.

The warmest day of the month was May 28 when the temperature got up to 92 degrees. The nighttime low of the month was May 4 when the temperature dipped to 29 degrees.

May was a mixed up month weatherwise. Snow mixed with rain fell on May 8, 9 and 10 with amounts varying from 1 to 11 inches. Freezing temperatures were reported as late as May 24 at scattered sites across the state.

'Carnival' Is Fall Event

The Wayne Community Theatre is looking for persons to audition for its fall production, "Carnival."

Auditions will be held from 4 to 7 p.m., Thursday, June 21 and from 4 to 6 p.m., Friday, June 22, in the lecture hall at Wayne High School, or by special appointment.

Persons who cannot attend regular auditions Thursday or Friday should contact Ted Blenderman, 375-1598, to arrange a special time to audition. Blenderman is directing the production.

Dr. Helen Russell, a member of the Wayne Community Theatre, said "Carnival" will be presented as a dinner theatre on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8 and 9.

She said casting will be for singers, dancers, actors, gymnasts, sword swallowers, jugglers, magicians and other specialty acts. Ten men and seven women are needed to fill the parts, along with several extras.

Accidents often bring funny excuses

Confused accident victims give some unusual and often humorous reasons for accidents when trying to summarize exactly what happened in only a few words on accident or insurance forms.

Following is a list of zany excuses compiled from various sources by the Automotive Information Council.

"An invisible car came out of nowhere, struck my car and vanished," said one confused motorist.

"Coming home, I drove into the wrong house, and collided with a tree I don't have."

"I had been driving my car for 40 years when I fell asleep at the wheel and had an accident."

"I collided with a stationary truck coming the other way."

"I had been shopping for plants all day and was on my way home. As I reached an intersection a hedge sprang up, obscuring my vision. I did not see the other car."

"I pulled away from the side of the road, glanced at my mother-in-law and headed over the embankment."

"The telephone pole was approaching fast. I attempted to weave out of its path when it struck my front end."

"I was thrown from my car as it left the road. I was later found in a ditch by some stray cows."

"The other car attempted to cut in front of me, so I, with my right bumper, removed his left rear tail light."

"In an attempt to kill a fly, I drove into a telephone pole."

"I was on my way to the doctors with rearend trouble when my universal joint gave way, causing me to have an accident."

"The other car collided with mine without warning me of its intentions."

"A stop sign suddenly appeared where no stop sign had ever appeared before."

"The indirect cause of this accident was a little guy in a small car with a big mouth."

"The pedestrian had no idea which direction to go, so I ran over him."

"I was driving through the field and hit a fire hydrant."

An excuse would not be necessary, says the Automotive Information Council, if all drivers would stay alert and drive with care and caution.

Work continues for state senators

Even though the 1979 legislative session has officially ended, work does not stop for the 49 state senators. Beginning in the summer and continuing through the year, regular and special legislative committees will study a total of 119 issues detailed in interim study resolutions.

The resolutions, which may be proposed by individual senators or committees, direct studies of a variety of topics, including nuclear power, the use of radar to catch speeders, use of insanity pleas in court, scattered site housing in Omaha, the rights of adopted persons, the specific use of marijuana, tax equalization, the wisdom of permitting a coal slurry pipeline to cross the state, alcohol abuse among young people, and a host of other subjects.

The purpose of the hearings, which are held across the state, is to allow the committees to obtain as much information as possible on the subject being studied. Often, information obtained through interim study hearings prompts the introduction of proposed legislation at the next session. Sometimes, study resolutions are proposed to study bills already introduced, as was the case with a bill requiring minimum competency testing in the high schools, which is being held by the Education Committee pending the results of an interim study.

The legislative research office will be publishing a booklet of all the interim study resolutions, as well as schedules of hearings of those interested in testifying.

Allow school lunch option

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued proposed regulations that would allow schools participating in the national school lunch and breakfast program the option on procedures they use to announce income eligibility criteria, according to Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman.

Currently schools must notify parents of the income scales for both free and reduced price meals.

Under the proposal, when sending out the required notice to parents, schools would have the option of including the maximum income standard for reduced price meals alone or they could also include the income standard for free meals.

"The maximum income for reduced price meals is the pertinent information that parents need to know to apply for either reduced price or free meals," Foreman said.

Under the proposal, a letter might advise parents that children from a family of four with an income of $12,000 would be eligible to receive either reduced price or free meals. Schools would continue to make both free and reduced price income scales available to local news media.

The national school lunch and breakfast programs provide meals free or at reduced price to children based on a poverty standard issued by the secretary of agriculture that takes family income and size into account. Eligibility is determined on information provided in the parent's application.

The new option would impose no additional administrative burden on schools. At the same time, it can reduce the public perception that the application process may encourage families to report their income incorrectly," Foreman said.

The proposed regulations appeared in the May 25 Federal register. Comments should be sent to Margaret O'K Glavin, director, School Programs Division, USDA, FNS, Washington, D.C. 20250, before June 25.

Memories of the Model T Ford, 1912

The Model T Ford was an important mode of transportation for Nebraskans during the early years of this century. It was more expensive to keep and operate than the horses it replaced but maintenance was less burdensome. And it opened up a whole new world to thousands of rural and small town families, many of whom had seldom before ventured far from home. An account by Mrs. Vivian Roder of Sun City, Arizona, on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society, recalls her family's experiences in Nebraska with a 1912 Model T Ford:

"We purchased our first and only family automobile in the summer of 1912. At this time Papa was needing faster and more reliable transportation. He was an early western Nebraska homesteader, and a self-taught veterinarian. Ford was rugged enough to get him over the prairie, so he bought one for about $500."

"My first sight and sound of our new car was of Papa behind the wheel, weaving from one side of the street to the other. We thought he was having a good time, but soon realized he was continuing to drive because he was frozen to the wheel and couldn't stop. My brother jumped on the running board and turned off the ignition switch to stop the motor. It was the only time Papa ever tried to drive a car. The task was transferred to Mama, along with the maintenance."

"My brother was 10 years old when we bought our car so he was a big help to Mama. It was not until 1929 that the state required a driver's license for anyone over 16 years of age. In 1937 the State Patrol started giving driver examinations. I don't believe any of these laws concerned mama, but in 1912 the car had to be registered and in 1915 state-issued license plates were available."

"No option was given on color or tires, so we had black. There was no speedometer or bumpers. The tires were 30 inches by 3 inches in front and 30 inches by 3 1/2 inches in the rear. The wheels each had 12 wooden spokes with a wheel base of 100 inches. The clincher type tires were made of rubber with an inner tube sized to fit on the inside, then slipped on the inside of the rim of the wheel and filled with pressurized air by a hand operated tire pump. If a tire blew out it could be cold patched, and if the inner tube was weak, a cold patch could be placed on the outside of the inner tube as well as on the inside of the casing."

"The gas tank was located under the front seat. You raised the cushion, and used the ruler kept there to measure the gas already in the tank. The gas pump attendant at the garage would insert a nozzle and hand pump the number of gallons needed into the tank."

"You started the motor by turning a crank attached to the front. If the spark was not correctly adjusted this crank would spin in the opposite direction, which we termed 'kicking,' and if it didn't break your arm or wrist it might knock you backward with emphatic authority.

"The motor was easily understood because the design was simple. Its power was deliberately restricted by reducing the carburetor and inlet passages in size to gain reliability from an unstrained engine."

"The most effective features of the engine were its ignition and transmission systems. Ignition was by a flywheel magnet running in an oil bath. The transmission consisted of an epicyclic gearbox with only two speeds. The gear change was worked by two foot pedals. The left one changed the two forward speeds (the center pedal was reverse) and the right pedal operated the transmission brake. Sometimes the reverse was used to slow the speed to equalize wear on the drive bands."

"The cylinder head was detachable which allowed easy access to the valves and four cylinders. The block was cast in one piece and the valves were all on one side."

"Another clever feature of the Model T Ford was the generator, which was energized by flywheel-mounted magnets which revolved close to a ring carrying 16 coils. The current was fed to the distributor, then to the four trembler coils, and finally to the spark plugs."

"The simple four-seater body looked very insecure sitting on top of the chassis, which was supported both front and back by transverse leaf springs. However, the Model T was built of vanadium steel which was much stronger than normal steel. The car was very light, weighing around 1,700 pounds."

"Mama drove most of the time with the top up. First, she was very particular about the sun and wind spoiling her complexion; and second, it was easier to get the side curtains on if it started to snow or rain. The curtains were stored, along with the tools, under the cushions in the back seat. They were made of a black waterproof material with squares of singless to look through. Large snaps held them in place on the car. After the snow or rain they had to be dried, retolded, and again stored under the back seat cushions."

"The prestone gas car lights were very inadequate. The gas was from a tank stored on the driver's side of the car, and the pressure was maintained by pumping it up with a hand pump. The head lights were lighted with a match, and quite a task if the wind was a typical Nebraska one. The horn was sounded by squeezing a rubber bulb type Klaxon by hand. It was placed on the left of the driver."

"Winter driving was very popular. Most owners stored their cars. They put them up on blocks to hold the weight off the tires. Papa had to answer his sick calls, so we kept our car as near ready to travel as possible. We drained the water from the radiator when we thought it might freeze. We had an old heavy comforter we placed over the hood to keep some of the cold out, and before we tried to start the motor we poured boiling water from the teakettle over the manifold. Mama always had bricks in the back of the oven ready to wrap and put in the bottom of the car to keep our feet warm."

"The roads were usually two ruts down the center between two fences. Information of interest to the driver would be printed on a sign and nailed to one of the fence posts. Ranch roads would be trails angling across the prairie. I remember looking forward to riding on some of these trails because they went through several prairie dog towns."

"It was a hardship to operate a car in 1912, but I am leaving the worst to last. Horses were afraid of automobiles. If you met or tried to pass them on the road, they would rear up in the harness or run away and tip the wagon or buggy over. The farmer or rancher was often injured and always mad, so the introduction of the automobile was an uphill struggle. However, the Model T Ford was the poor man's friend. It opened many new fields, and was an exciting pleasure to those who experienced the first years of its production."

New services for small business

Support Services Alliance, established one year ago by an $800,000 grant from The Rockefeller Foundation, announced today new services and training materials for small businesses. It also announced the publication of its official magazine, In Business.

"The largest disadvantaged group in America is the small business person," said Herbert Heaton, President of SSA, a nonprofit organization. Speaking at the organization's headquarters in the Crossroads Building, 2 Times Square, New York, Heaton continued, "Twenty-five percent of the work force is self-employed or in organizations of less than 20 people. They are recognized as the country's economic backbone, most recently by officials of the Carter administration, yet they are artist, merchant, or farmer, they lack access to services available routinely to employees of large corporations or governmental agencies, and they suffer disproportionate burdens of paperwork and taxes."

The premier issue of In Business, 64 pages, size 8 1/2 x 11", shows a magazine exclusively dedicated to individuals who are self-employed or in small businesses, or who want to be. There are 51 drawings and photographs. A partial listing of the table of contents indicates a unique blend of human interest and how-to-do-it practicality: Living the Restaurant Dream, Entrepreneurship on Sweat Equity, Business Use of Your Home — Tax Considerations, $15,000 on 50 Acres, Securing Small Business Financing, See Your Accountant Before You Start and Fighting Administrative Oppression.

Members of SSA have access to service contracts, ranging from Blue Cross and major medical insurance to guaranteed college loans for children of members, not otherwise available to individuals or small groups — at least not at reasonable cost. Access to professional buyers for a fee, participation in an office duplicator contract pricing plan and auto rental discount arrangements are among the services available to a group basis.

Motor club suggest gas rationing tips

Cutting unnecessary near-home car travel is the key to eliminating the need for gasoline rationing and weekend service station closings proposed in a standby federal plan, according to a national motor club.

"Any rationing plan would cripple state tourism and would not achieve any appreciable fuel savings since vacation travel accounts for only 2.5 percent of all auto trips," stated Barc Wade, the club's director of public affairs.

"Earning a living, social visits and family business trips account for 93 percent of all auto trips. Seventy-five percent of those trips are under 10 miles each," said Wade.

"An added incentive to motorists now driving 10,000 miles yearly would be the $125 savings in fuel, tire and maintenance costs realized by reducing mileage 40 percent," added Wade.

An affiliate outlined seven steps motorists can take to dramatically cut near-home gasoline consumption:

1. Drive less. Commuting is the largest single category of auto use. Two possible car-pooling to work daily can save 25 percent of the fuel used weekly by each.

Combine near-home trips. Fifty-four percent of all trips by car are under five miles. Make one trip for all errands in the same area, in metropolitan areas travel during non-rush hours. Share shopping trips with neighbors.

Drive conservatively and maintain cars. A motor club economy driving demonstration proved that with a tune-up and a motorist accelerating smoothly, driving at a steady speed, and within the speed limits, over an 80-mile urban-rural course can increase gasoline mileage 23 percent.

Drive at moderate speeds. Most cars get about 21 percent more miles per gallon at 55 than at 70 miles per hour.

Keep a daily mileage log. Denote the length and number of all trips to find out which can be eliminated or combined. Maintain cars. Tests show that routine maintenance improves mileage 10 percent. Just keeping tires properly inflated can add one mile per gallon.

Do not idle a car's motor more than a minute. It takes less gas to restart than to idle the engine.

The club also visited the site where the youngsters, ages 4 to 16, were murdered. The tour continued to St. James to visit a church and the schoolhouse where Pauline Lutz first taught. AN INTENT Barry Bowers awaits a late throw to home plate as Wayne's Tod Heier score a run in Midget action against Winside.

Strikeout Night in Winside

Wayne Sweeps Two From Winside

The large crowd which watched the Wayne-Winside Midget and Legion doubleheader in Winside Friday night, witnessed an amazing 45 strikeouts in two games. That figure is over one-third the number of batters - 124 - in the two contests.

Wayne swept the games, winning the opener 5-0 and winning the Legion contest 6-1. In addition to the total strikeout performance, fans were treated to a rarity. Wayne Legion pitcher Jeff Zeiss fanned four batters in the sixth inning. Winside batter Mitch Pfeiffer reached base after the third strike got away from catcher Dan Mitchell. Then, Zeiss struckout the next three batters.

The Wayne Midgets scored three runs in the second inning on a double by Jere Morris and three walks. Todd Skokan and left Brandt both scored on the hard rap by Morris. Tod Heier scored a fourth run in the third inning and Brandt added the final one in the fourth for the final 5-0 margin.

Mark Koch pitched the first four innings for Winside, holding Wayne to two base hits and striking out three batters. Brian Foote relieved Koch for the final two innings, retiring six consecutive Wayne batters, including the final four on strikeouts.

Meanwhile, Tim Pfeiffer started on the mound for Wayne, pitching four complete innings with eight strikeouts and allowing two hits. Doug Proett relieved Pfeiffer and continued the shutout with three strikeouts and gave up two hits.

game continued in much the same fashion with Zeiss pitching for Wayne and Tom Koll and Rick Anderson sharing duties for Winside. An RBI single by Dean Carroll and RBI doubles by Zeiss and Dennis Carroll in the second inning put Wayne on top 4-0 in the early going.

Tim Thomas, Dave Schwartz, Dean Carroll and Jerry Goeden scored the Wayne runs. Zeiss silenced Winside's bats, scattering four hits and striking out 14 batters. Zeiss and Ginn scored in the bottom of the fourth for a commanding 6-0 lead.

Winside's lone run was scored in the fifth inning, when Lonnie Carstens walked, stole second base and scored on a single by Rick Anderson. Anderson had two hits in four plate appearances for Winside.

The final two innings were scoreless although Wayne did have one scoring threat. Left fielder Jeff Dion thrashed a line drive to the right-center field fence for a triple with one out. Mark Ganseborn hit a long fly ball to left field but Bob Hawkins made the catch and threw Dion out on the tag-up for the final two outs.

Koll was credited for two strikeouts for Winside, while Anderson retired 11 Wayne batters on strikes. Wayne is scheduled to play Wisner tonight (Monday) in Wayne. The game had originally been scheduled to be played in Wisner but was changed. Winside is scheduled to host Laurel tonight.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascell

THE RECAP IS BACK from vacation and ready to go again. After sitting in front of my typewriter, sweating more than I was typing, I knew a vacation was needed. People around the Wayne Herald office must have thought I was going crazy. They told me to either take a vacation or I'd be committed to a home of some kind. I took the first suggestion.

Talk about good timing! While I was passing through South Dakota last Sunday, I purchased a copy of the Argus-Leader, the Sioux Falls newspaper. I turned directly to the sports page and ran across an article about Gerald Bruggerman, a Hoskins race driver, who has done well in the races at Husets Raceway in Sioux Falls. I clipped the article and am reprinting it in The Wayne Herald because I felt it would provide worthwhile reading for area racing fans.

SPECIAL CONGRATULATIONS to Bill Schwartz and Steve Anson of the Wayne State baseball team. Schwartz, a Wayne native and WSC freshman, played third base for the Wildcats this season and was named to the honorable mention listing of NAIA All-America baseball team for 1979. He batted .393.

Anson, interim WSC baseball coach, was selected District 11 baseball "Coach of the Year". Anson, who was baseball coach for one year, coached the Wildcats to a District 11 championship and a regional NAIA playoff berth. He will take over coaching duties at Washburn University in August.

Only two other Nebraska college players were named to the honorable mention list. Steve Daeges of Dana College, and Jerry Donahue of Kearney State, both seniors, were selected to the elite list as well.

I DROPPED IN TO VISIT Bill Ivey's boys basketball camp at Wayne State College this week and he and his coaches seemed to have the camp running smoothly. I talked with a couple of the players and they seemed very satisfied with the camp and felt they learned much.

The girls' cage camp is scheduled to run throughout this week with WSC women's coach Helen Carroll taking over the reins.

WITH THE WARM SUMMER weather, many area people are turning to tennis as a means of exercise and entertainment. One individual, Chamber of Commerce president Gary Van Meter, is showing promise as a newcomer to the sport in the Wayne area. A couple of weeks ago, he broke his tennis racket playing a friendly match (?) on the hard court.

Goeden KO's Walthill For Legion Triumph

Wayne pitcher Jerry Goeden pitched through a third inning jam, struckout 14 batters, and pitched a five hitter to lead the Wayne Legion team past Walthill 10-3, Wednesday.

Goeden allowed three of Walthill's five hits in the third inning and three runners crossed the plate to give Walthill a 3-0 lead. The fastballing righthander then struckout the next three batters.

Wayne scored its first runs in the fourth inning when Tom Ginn and Dan Mitchell both singled and scored. Doug Broderson added another single and Tim Thomas and Jeff Dion collected sacrifices in the inning. Ginn's double drove Jeff Zeiss home in the fifth inning and Ginn scored to put Wayne up 7-3.

The local Juniors put Walthill away in the bottom of the sixth with Dean Carroll, Goeden, Zeiss, Ginn, Mitchell and Thomas scoring runs. Mitchell had a perfect night at the plate, collecting four base hits in four appearances and scoring two runs. Ginn rapped two base hits and scored three runs in four appearances. Zeiss added two of the other five Wayne runs.

Winside Finds Its Ups And Downs In Double Loss To Wisner Teams

The Winside Midgets, hampered by players on vacation, fell apart in the fourth and fifth innings and the Juniors, plagued by throwing errors, both wound up on the losing end in a Ralph Bishop League doubleheader against Wisner Monday.

The Midgets were held hitless but managed two runs by Bill George and Brian Foote in the fourth inning. Wisner countered with one run in the second, two in the third, five in the fourth and four in the fifth for a 12-2 win on the 10-run rule after five innings.

Lonnie Carstens and Rick Anderson scattered 10 hits as Winside's pitchers and the Winside offense scored nine runs on nine hits. Leading the scoring were Tod Hoeman, Tom Anderson, Rick Anderson, Mitch Pfeiffer, Bob Hawkins, Tom Koll and Carstens. Hoeman collected three hits and Koll added two to lead the locals at the plate. Winside totaled four doubles and one triple in the contest.

Coach Dick Munter's team broke down on defense, despite a strong offensive showing, and allowed 10 runs, aided by several Winside throwing errors.

Bruggeman Seeking Third Straight Race Title

Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the Sioux Falls "Argus-Leader" on Sunday, June 10.

Gerald Bruggeman is in a "slump." The Hoskins driver hasn't won the sprint car feature in his last two appearances at Huset's Speedway and has taken the checkered flag in just two of the four main events run this year on the 3/8-mile track. "Boog" has been a fixture in Huset's victory lane the last two seasons as he's put together back-to-back point championships. This year he would like to become the first driver in the track's 20-year history to win three consecutive titles. "I sure hope I can win it again," said Bruggeman. "I know I'm sure going to try. The competition is real tough this year and if I do win it again I know I'll have earned it. It means something when you win."

against good competition but that's not meant to take anything away from the 1977 or 1978 championships.

Bruggeman leads the 1979 standings after winning two features and finishing third and fourth in the others. One of his wins came after a classic duel with Jack McCorkell, of Redwood Falls, Minn., in which the lead changed hands some 30 times. Boog looks for similar action the remainder of the season.

Bruggeman was born in 1930 and the family moved to Hoskins four years later. He's lived there ever since. Boog never attended high school but has built a successful service station and trucking business in Hoskins.

"I started racing in 1951 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds in Wayne," said Bruggeman. "I raced continuously through 1957. Then, in August of 1957, I dislocated a shoulder during a race at Norfolk. It wasn't what you'd call a serious injury, but at the time I was involved in long distance hauling so I got out of racing. Then I started up again in 1963 and have been at it ever since.

"I have driven nothing but open-wheeled race cars. They were called modifieds and nothing like the sprint cars of today, but they were open-wheeled. I've never been in a late model but if I were to drive one I'd have to have high class stuff. And the way it is today, a late model is higher priced than a sprint. "I guess I just like the handling and quickness of a sprint car."

It's the quickness-handling combination that has made Bruggeman tough to beat since he began driving at Huset in 1976.

Bruggeman does all his own mechanical work with capable assistance provided by his three sons — Larry, 23; Terry, 19 and Keith, 17.

"If it wasn't for the boys I probably wouldn't be in racing," said Bruggeman. "They're all for it. Really gung-ho."

Bruggeman, who alone is responsible for the chassis setup on his race car, prefers short-track racing and traffic. And he's a master at getting in and out of a crowd in a hurry.

Gerald, now nearly 50, is looking forward to the remainder of the 1979 season because there is more "traffic" since Huset and the VFW Speedway in Jackson, Minn., are running identical rules.

"I'm not much of a sportsman, you know, when it comes to hunting and fishing. And I'm getting to an age where I'll probably just keep racing. Besides, I kinda get a kick out of beating the kids."

GERALD BRUGGEMAN kneels beside his racing car.

Logical Deduction.

Are bills turning your life story into "The Case of the Disappearing Paycheck"? Does all your hard-earned money seem to vanish without a trace left to save? Then perhaps you should investigate United States Savings Bonds. Because saving with Bonds is so simple, it's elementary. Especially if you join the Payroll Savings Plan. Once you sign up, you see, a small part of each paycheck is automatically set aside to buy Bonds. Which means as soon as you're paid, you save. Before you're left trying to deduce where it all went. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. And take the mystery out of saving.

Take stock in America.

However you figure it

...our dollar spent at home does a $4 or $5 job for our community (all of us)

Some dollars that get into our local moneystream will pass through ten or a dozen hands before getting swapped for something or some service somewhere else. Others get carried away sooner. Money experts say the average turnover of dollars in a community like ours is four or five times.

Which means that $1 which is carried off somewhere else before its time will take away with it $4 or $5 in trade, wages, local taxes, bank deposits and other enrichment.

Pool Hours Set

Gordon Emry, manager of the Wayne swimming pool, said the family hour at the pool will be from 5 to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday.

It was common knowledge among his colleagues that William Wrigley, Jr. attributed the success of his chewing gum empire to constant and forceful advertising.

Once he was traveling to California on the famous but now extinct Super Chief with a young accountant from his firm. As they were reviewing the figures for a quarterly statement, the young man said, "Sir, Wrigley's gum is known and sold all over the world. We have a larger share of the market than all of our competitors combined. Why don't you now save the millions you are spending on advertising and shift those dollars into the profit column for the next quarter?"

Wrigley thought for a moment and then asked "Young man, how fast is this train going?"

"About sixty miles an hour," replied the young accountant.

And Wrigley asked, "Then why doesn't the railroad remove the engine and let the train travel on its own momentum?"

Moral: Cut your promotional dollars and you cut your own steam. Keep your momentum going with a regular advertising program in
