UNO Study Indicates Tax Relief Fund Is Inequitable

The personal property tax relief fund, established by Nebraska LB 518 in 1977, is both insufficient to replace lost revenue to Nebraska counties and unequal in distribution.

The study, conducted by Allan J. Eurek, a University of Nebraska at Omaha graduate student, used Nebraska Department of Revenue annual report figures for the years 1973 to 1977 to project total assessed valuation lost due to the property tax exemption and the revenue lost beyond state reimbursement.

Wayne County behind

The study shows that Wayne County received only 57.7 percent of what it should have received in 1978 had the state reimbursement formula been workable.

Likewise, the county received only 50.1 percent this year, and projections for 1980 and 1981 show only 42.2 percent and 39.6 percent respectively of what normally should be received.

County Assessor Doris Stipp and Treasurer Leon Meyer agreed with the UNO student's assessment. Both said that because the county is receiving less than it should, the extra burden to maintain the county budget will be born by real estate taxes.

The student's figures show that Nebraska counties lost $82.8 million in 1978, of which $58.6 million was reimbursed by the state. In 1979, Eurek projects that $113.7 million will be lost and that only $62.2 million or 54.7 percent of the total will be reimbursed by the state.

Projections for 1980 and 1981 show that less than half of the lost revenues will be reimbursed by the state to the counties. The lost revenues will increase to $142.6 million in 1980 and $153.6 million in 1981. The state reimbursement to counties will be $70 million in both years, the study shows.

Stipp and Meyer say if it is too early to tell what kind of an impact the lost revenue will have on real estate taxes. Mill levies for each of the projected years have to be figured into the overall picture and those as yet are unavailable.

Even though the state will reimburse only part of the lost revenue through its property tax relief fund, some counties are doing better than others.

For example, Dakota, Cuming and Lancaster counties received 100 percent or more of their lost revenue through state reimbursement in 1978. This is due primarily to a larger tax base because of factories located in those counties.

Dakota fared the best by receiving 132.1 percent in 1978. The UNO student projects that Dakota County will receive 106 percent of lost revenue in 1979, some 92.3 percent in 1980 and 79.9 percent in 1981.

Unequal distribution

Eurek says his study suggests that because of the personal property exemption, farmers and ranchers will pay a slightly lower property tax. Rural and county businesses will pay a slightly higher tax, larger businesses will pay a significantly lower tax and wage and salary earners will pay a significantly higher tax.

The study also suggests that assessment of personal property should be continued to determine the proper amount of state reimbursement to counties, Eurek said. It also suggests that even if the property tax relief fund cannot be increased significantly to provide counties with a 100 percent reimbursement of lost revenue, that continual reassessment would change the distribution formula so that reimbursement levels to counties is equitable.

Projections for Cedar and Dixon counties are equally as dismal, according to the report.

Dixon is projected to receive 50.3 percent this year, 41.6 percent in 1980 and 36.3 percent in 1981. Cedar should receive 49.3 percent this year, 40.3 percent in 1980 and 34.8 percent in 1981.

UNO student Eurek worked with the Nebraska Association of County officials in compiling the data.

Dickey Named As President

Four new board members have been elected to the Wayne Community Chest, according to Bill Dickey, president.

Dickey said the new board members, who will serve three-year terms, are LaVon Beckman, Randy Pedersen, Verneal Ellingson and Doug Livermore. Miss Beckman also served on the board last year to fill the unexpired term of Bob Bartlett, who moved from Wayne.

Completing their three-year terms on the board are Dick Mantley, who will continue to serve as a consultant, and Steve Schumacher. Tom Ortmeyer has resigned from the board because of his heavy work schedule. His replacement will be named later.

Reconstruct Tracks

RAILROAD TRACKS from South Sioux City to O'Neill are being rebuilt by Burlington Northern, Inc. The project is costing more than $60,000 per mile according to Jim Bacon, of Hubbard, a Burlington official. About 30 men formed the crew which was working on the project two miles west of Dixon. Burlington Northern began track repair in June of 1976 and should complete the project by 1982. The tracks are still in use at nights despite the repair work. Work includes cutting new ties (as pictured) and placing them on the tracks and then putting rock under it. Most of the workers are from northeast Nebraska.

Scouts Prepare Meal at Camp

THE ANNUAL Girl Scout day camp was held at the Girl Scout cabin Thursday on E. Fourth St. All Brownies in first grade through junior scouts participated with assistance from cadet scouts. Activities include fire building and cookout, crafts and games, water fights and skits. Preparing a portion of last Thursday's meal are from left: Stephanie Watson, Julie Metteer and Sally Watson, who is unit leader for the Blue Jays.

Continuing their terms on the board of directors for the upcoming year are Dickey, Mrs. Marilyn Carhart, Fred Webber, Ed Carroll, Pat Gross, Merle Rise, Anna Mae Wessel and Wilma Moore.

Officers who were re-elected are Dickey, president; Gross, vice president; and Mrs. Carhart, secretary.

Dickey said Wayne businessman Dick Ditman will serve as drive chairman for the annual Unified Way campaign which begins in the fall. Ditman served as assistant drive chairman last year.

Still to be named by the board are an assistant drive chairman and a representative from Wayne-Carroll High School to involve high school students in the campaign.

Money collected during last year's drive exceeded the goal and was divided among nine agencies. Receiving the biggest share of the money were the Wayne recreation program, Mid America Council of Boy Scouts and the Prairie Hills Council of Girl Scouts. Also receiving funds were the Salvation Army, Wayne Senior Citizens Center, Arthritis Foundation, Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Florence Crittenton Home and American Red Cross.

Board members will meet next month with representatives of agencies requesting money collected during the drive this fall.

Moonlight Madness Craziness Tuesday

Recent reports from reliable sources indicate Moonlight Madness will be a striking Wayne merchants once again on Tuesday, June 26.

"It's that time of year," reports Merle Rise, retail chairman for the Chamber of Commerce. "Local merchants will be going bananas by closing stores at 5 p.m. and reopening at 7 p.m. with bargains you gotta see to believe."

Stores will be open until all bargains are sold out and many merchants and clerks will be in their pajamas just in case the sales run late, Rise says.

An added feature for nocturnal bargain hunters will be a dunking machine run by the Wayne-Carroll High School varsity cheerleaders. The young ladies will be assisted by KTCH employees.

In addition, special notoriety will be given an event with the dunking of sports celebrities Randy Hascall of The Wayne Herald and Harvey Watson of KTCH. Cheerleaders and the media representatives will be dressed in a variety of night wear.

Proceeds from the event three shots for 50 cents — will go to the WCHS Pep Club. Advertising for Moonlight Madness appears elsewhere in this issue of The Herald.

Irene Jeffrey Fills Vacancy

At the June 18 meeting of the Northern Subarea Committee of the Greater Nebraska Health Systems Agency, Irene Jeffrey of Wayne was elected to fill the Wayne County consumer vacancy. Louise Jenness serves as the County's provider representative.

Mrs. Jeffrey is co-owner of Jeff's Cafe in Wayne and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce. She brings experience in hospital, mental health and geriatric care to the committee.

At the meeting, Mrs. Jeffrey and committee members representing 21 counties in Northeast and North Central Nebraska voted to approve the $75,000 application of Norfolk's Lutheran Community Hospital for diagnostic ultrasound equipment. They also heard a report on the approval of the proposal by Region IV alcoholism services to convert the remaining eight months' salary of the former regional coordinator, who resigned, to an employee assistance program. This program will be based in Columbus and will receive the $14,565 remaining in the salary fund.

Situation Here Relieved Agreement Boosts Gas Supplies

By Randy Hascall

Wayne residents planning vacation trips during the first week of summer can breathe a little easier.

An agreement reached Thursday between protesting independent truckers and several state senators will allow gasoline transportation from Nebraska terminals on a temporary basis to area stations.

Speculation that Wayne residents would not be able to purchase gasoline in the next few days may remain just that if the gasoline flow is maintained, according to service station owners and managers here.

Information gathered from a Wayne Herald survey indicates that gasoline supplies in the area vary from station to station.

One service station reported that its gasoline supply was adequate while other stations indicated their supplies of leaded and unleaded gasoline is dwindling.

Many of the managers and owners contacted by The Herald said their fuel supplies were uncertain. Most were expecting shipments of gasoline following Thursday's agreement, but were unsure when their shipments would arrive.

According to the agreement, truckers will be permitted to haul gasoline but not diesel. One Wayne station has run out of diesel fuel while another said it has not had any serious problems as yet.

Alerts patrol Governor Charles Thone alerted the State

Patrol to be prepared to enforce anti-picketing laws that would guard against truckers' unlawful actions. Before the agreement was reached, however, Wayne service stations were in danger of receiving no fuel shipments from Norfolk, the primary distributor in the area.

Independent truckers who picketed the Keneb Pipeline north of Norfolk prevented all pipeline gasoline, diesel and propane fuel from being moved in to or out of Norfolk. Wayne service stations were feeling the pinch until hauling resumed Friday.

The more serious reports in Wayne indicated that several stations had only a two- to five-day supply of leaded gasoline and one station had run out of unleaded. Some of the supplies were low because of the truckers' strikes while others were low because of decreased monthly allocations.

One service station was reportedly limiting customers to five gallons per purchase while others set no limits. Many drivers feared they would not be able to purchase gasoline over the weekend.

Supplies unpredictable

"We don't know from day to day how our supply is holding up," one manager replied. Another reported that he was "just keeping my head above water," and still another said his diesel supply was gone and farmers were becoming irate.

Local service station owners said their supplies will depend on truckers' actions within the next days.

If truckers follow the recent agreement, area drivers will be able to get the gasoline they need.

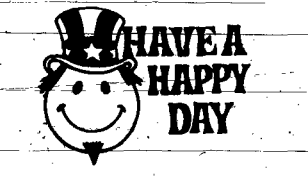

Farmers may not be as fortunate in obtaining diesel fuel to carry out their farming operations, however.

OBSERVATIONS

World Journalism Threatened

World journalism will suffer a blow to its freedom if a proposal by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is adopted. The draft would outline duties of journalists, including their contributions to the solution of world problems and the promotion of international understanding and human rights.

What journalists need is not more guidelines which in reality limit their freedom. The media should be free of such restraints which hamper the public's right to know.

Journalists, whether international, national or on the local level, do not need the type of "protection" UNESCO is proposing.

What is needed is continued freedom from outside influences, freedom of movement, freedom to transmit news, freedom from physical and bureaucratic intimidation, and uninhibited news sources.

This country's media have a guaranteed constitutional right to these types of freedoms under the First Amendment. Despite recent court decisions which we feel are contrary to this amendment, journalists in the U.S. do have more freedom than other world countries.

Under our system of government, the public has a right to know. We believe, as do the courts, that this includes access to public records, open meetings and open government.

Unfortunately for the world's public, there is a division between countries that consider the press as the critic of the government and countries that consider it an instrument of the government. — Dan Field, Editor.

THE issue of fluoridating the city of Winser's water was resuscitated last week as Mayor Willis Toelle and the city council met in regular session in city council chambers. Councilmen learned that an application for a federal grant to fluoridate the city's water has just arrived and application has not been made.

PLANS are to have Pilger Days on July 28 and 29. Activities will get underway with the serving of the pork barbecue on Saturday evening at the park. The 4-H clubs of Stanton County have indicated that they plan to have the usual booths and stands on Pilger's Main Street following the barbecue. Sunday's activities will include a demolition derby and possibly softball game.

FIRE June 13 caused extensive damage to the upstairs apartment on Pierce's Main Street occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Rick Walton, and lesser damage to the downstairs firm of Walton Electronics. Pierce fire officials estimate damage at near $50,000. Officials believe the fire was caused by wiring.

RANDY Rhondeau began new duties as district conservationist in the Pierce County Soil and Water Conservation District. He is replacing Jim Harder who was recently transferred to the southern part of the state. Rhondeau was born in Idaho and raised in California. He graduated from the University of California in 1977 and his first position was at Ogallala where he was range conservationist.

The board of directors of the First National Bank in Walthill have announced plans of an extensive remodeling program. Jim Miller, chairman of the board, stated that construction will begin immediately. A new section will be added to the east side of the present bank building. The 26' x 42' addition will provide additional office space.

THE suit filed by the Winnebago Indian Tribe against Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD), Iowa Public Service and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers was dismissed last week by U.S. district judge Albert Schatz. The suit had sought an injunction preventing the construction of a power line across the Winnebago Indian Reservation.

ACCORDING to Al Maul of Samuelson, Mills and Maul law firm in Pender, construction on the firm's new office building located east of Thurston County courthouse in Pender is due for completion near the beginning of September.

Double-Digit Inflation Brings Budget Surplus

Thanks to double-digit inflation, Washington's tax collectors are laughing all the way to the bank. With your money.

Tax collectors had a big month in April. Tax payments gave the government its first monthly budget surplus this year, according to Treasury Department figures — $52.2 billion in tax receipts, or almost $10 billion higher than April a year ago.

Tax receipts from last Oct. 1, when the fiscal year commenced, through 1978 — a whopping increase of $41.4 billion or almost 20 percent.

According to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, double-digit inflation already has helped reduce the size of the federal budget deficits for fiscal 1979 and 1980 by extracting larger tax payments from workers' paychecks and from corporate profits.

Inflation pushes people into higher tax brackets as they obtain pay increases trying to offset inflation. Thus, a larger percentage of their earnings goes for income taxes.

Dr. Jack Carlson, chief economist of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, estimates $15 billion in higher federal revenues helped bring down the 1978 deficit to $33 billion. In January, 1979, the budget deficit was projected by President Carter at $61 billion. A slower rate of federal spending, some appropriation changes by Congress, and a smaller-than expected reduction in revenues from the 1978 tax cut voted by Congress accounted for the remainder of the $28 billion reduction in the estimated deficit.

"This is not what taxpayers had in mind when they adopted tax-cutting proposals like Proposition 13 and the host of other tax protest measures," said Dr. Carlson. "They want control of spending, not higher taxes."

Now Congress is counting on at least $5 billion in additional revenues — again largely due to inflation — to hold down the size of the deficit for fiscal 1980, which begins Oct. 1.

Estimated at $29 billion in January, the deficit for the new fiscal year now will be $23 billion, according to the 1980 budget resolution just adopted by Congress. This resolution sets targets on spending and revenues and the size of the projected deficit.

But when a group of House members thought it would be a good idea to let the public (in on the sleight of figures, by which the deficit is reduced, the House voted down the amendment, 112 to 56.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook (R-Ohio), who sponsored the amendment, said it would be helpful if the House Budget Committee would bring in a special report indicating anticipated increases in revenues in the ensuing year, with the portion of such increases attributed to inflation, growth in GNP (Gross National Product), etc.

"It is, in fact, a truth in government bill," said Rep. Barber B. Conable, Jr. (R-N.Y.), one of its supporters in the floor debate. "This simply requires the Congress but as a result of inflation or other reasons, and it permits also the inclusion of a statement estimating the impact of each of the items so specified on individual taxpayers according to family size and income level."

"Frankly, I think we owe to the American people to let them know what is happening to them, whether we have done it by direction or whether the interaction of inflation and the graduated income tax are the reasons for the increases that are inflicted upon us."

If inflation persists, Washington may yet produce a balanced budget for 1981 by greatly increasing the tax burden on all American workers and business people.

But is this any way to fight the war against inflation?

Washington Update

By Congressman Doug Bereuter
No pay raise

A prudent Congress this past week stopped short of granting itself a pay raise.

By a 232 to 186 margin, the House rejected an appropriations bill that incorporated a 5.5 percent pay raise for Congressmen and other high-ranking Federal Officials. That increase would have pushed Congressmen's yearly earnings to $60,662.50.

Though inflation no doubt is taking bigger and bigger bites out of everyone's paycheck, I don't think a pay raise by Congress for Congress would have been appropriate at this time. I am fundamentally opposed to members of congress boosting their pay for the term in which they are serving.

Extending fuel priority
In view of the chronic diesel fuel shortage, I have written Energy Secretary James Schlesinger asking that the effective date of Special Rule No. 9 be extended past July 31.

The special rule, recently issued by the Department of Energy, gives diesel fuel priority for agricultural production and trucking of perishable goods. But what about trucks coming back after hauling perishables?

It's extremely difficult for truck stop operators to discriminate among truckers to determine those who have fuel priority. I think that's an unreasonable burden. The special rule should be amended to better accommodate truckers.

The energy picture for coming weeks does not look bright. I continue to get calls from farmers and jobbers complaining that pumps are dry. Meanwhile, I have repeatedly prompted energy officials to pressure oil companies to step up production of diesel fuel.

At a recent House Small Business subcommittee hearing, I prodded Federal energy officials to keep an eye on the weather in gauging fuel needs for the Midlands, particularly in the event of continued dry weather.

I suggested the National Weather Service be consulted as DOE determines fuel requirements. Douglas Robinson, an acting deputy administrator within DOE, told me that he will take steps to see that my suggestion is followed.

Share draft accounts
Lately I have received a number of letters from constituents regarding legislation pertaining to share draft accounts used by credit unions, interest on checking accounts and automatic transfers from savings to checking.

The bill (H.R. 3864), now before the House Banking Committee, would reverse a recent ruling of the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington. The court ruled illegal share drafts, interest-paying checking accounts and automatic savings-to-checking transfers.

The court delayed the effective date of its order until Jan. 1, 1980, permitting Congress to act in the meantime. The bill is expected to go before the full House shortly.

Visits
This past week in Washington I was pleased to meet with members of the Nebraska Bankers Association and Future Farmers of America in town for a leadership conference.

I also had a chance to greet 4-H'ers from these counties: Otoe, Richardson, Johnson, Pawnee, Thurston, Polk, Platte, Dodge, Butler, Colfax, Boone and Nance.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

Save gas with a tune-up

You're wasting about 10 per cent of today's precious gasoline if your car needs a tune-up, says the Automotive Information Council. At the same time, the untuned engine is pushing out more pollution than it should.

How do you know when it's time for a tune-up? Check the car's maintenance schedule and it will tell the recommended interval. Remember, though, that the mileage intervals will be for average operating conditions.

If you've neglected the recommended service, your car will give you some symptoms. It may become hard to start when cold (or hot), it may stutter while accelerating, and have a rough idle, lowered fuel economy, and the tail pipe might emit dark smoke.

Those ailments might go unnoticed, however, because when a person drives the car every day the changes are so gradual that a driver might be unaware of them until the no-start or no-run condition occurs. Again, that points out that the maintenance guide is the best method to follow.

A tune-up is not expensive when you consider the gasoline savings which should result, says AIC.

The average price paid for a tune-up in 1978 was $20.16, with an average of $24.97 for a major tune-up and $24.46 for a minor, according to a nationwide survey by Champion Spark Plug. The survey covered work done at car dealerships, repair shops, service stations, department stores and ignition specialty shops. The averages include four, six and eight-cylinder cars. About one-third of all tune-ups are performed by cost-conscious car owners.

A minor tune-up includes plugs, points and condenser, or plugs only on newer cars, plus a timing check and adjustment if needed. A major includes one or more of the following, in addition to a minor tune-up: air filter, work on the distributor or carburetor, gas filter, rotor, PCV valve, ignition wires, vacuum control.

When going in for a tune-up, or for any other maintenance or service work, the car owner should have a clear understanding of what will be done and how much it will cost. Tips on dealing with a service facility are available in a free pamphlet entitled "Communicate with Your Mechanic and Save." ## OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA by the

Nebraska State
Historical Society

Nebraska high school commencement exercises, traditionally held in May and June, are less elaborate than those in which our grandparents and great-grandparents participated. Newspapers on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society report the pomp and ceremony of early graduation exercises which made them the focal point of spring social life in many Nebraska communities.

From the May 20, 1904, Alliance Semi Weekly Times: "The progress of exercises begins with Sunday evening, when the annual baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class will be given in the Methodist church by the Rev. G. B. Clark of the Episcopal church. The principal part of the next week will be occupied with the closing examinations.

Graduation exercises will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 26 and 27. Thursday evening is the time to which the class of '04 has been looking forward with interest and doubtless with some degree of solicitude for some months past. On Friday evening at the opera house, N.K. Griggs of Lincoln will give his lecture, "National Character Illustrated by National Song," for the benefit of the graduates. (The late Ruth Moore Stanley has reported on the varied career of Beatrice lawyer-lecturer Nath and Kirk Griggs in the Winter, 1976, issue of "Nebraska History.")

Some graduation ceremonies featured an "oration" by each graduating senior instead of one address by an outside speaker such as Griggs. The May 28, 1897, Hay Springs Leader published the title of each senior's speech: "True Education," "Peter the Great," "Greek Influence on Present Civilization," "The Aim of Life," "The Station Agent's Story," and "Hambel." The June 5, 1906, Table Rock Argus published not only titles but summaries of all speeches, as well as accounts of numerous musical and vocal selections inserted "in the program to break up what must have been a long evening of student oratory."

The editor of the Leadron Citizen (June 11, 1891) poked gentle fun at several fledgling orators being graduated from Chadron Academy. "After a piano solo by Mrs. Barlow and prayer by Rev. Whitsitt, Mr. (Percy) Powers delivered his oration. The title was 'The American Voter,' and Percy handled the subject like an old politician. After some more music Miss (Edith C.) Farr regaled the audience with an essay on 'The Grumbler,' and she pictured him (there were no female grumblers) not in his worse form perhaps, but in a way that convinced her hearers that she had given the subject careful thought." The Citizen further reported that the only real deficiency of the evening was the necessity of presenting the seniors with certificates of graduation in place of diplomas, which through rush of other matters had not been prepared."

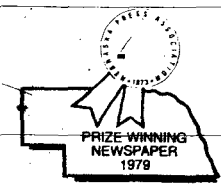

Perhaps weary of lengthy student orations, Holdrege school officials in 1904 decided to make "a new departure in the former program and (to) give each one in the class a character in Shakespeare and put it on in two parts, one entitled 'The Shades of Shakespeare's Women,' and the other 'A Shakespearean Conference.'" (Holdrege Citizen, May 20, 1904)

Accompanying the more formal ceremonies were numerous parties, banquets and other social affairs honoring the graduates. The May 22, 1903, Holdrege Citizen reported that a reception given for the seniors by the junior class featured "two booths decorated in junior colors," from which punch was dispensed; musical selections; toast to the seniors; class prophecy; and high school song with class yell. An 1891 "commencement spread" given seniors by Chadron Academy Principal Ferguson included an address on "The Need of the Secondary School" by Addison E. Sheldon (later State Historical Society Director, 1917-1943). (Chadron Advocate, June 12, 1891)

The Advocate of the previous June (June 13, 1890), justified the elaborate commencement proceedings characteristic of that day: "These young persons will have for life a lingering, pleasant memory. . . . It may be the closing epoch in school experience, and the more serious education that life and living will bring is happily, perhaps, veiled or lost sight of in the joy of the present."

4-H Workshop Will Focus On Modeling

Young men and women in the area are invited to attend a 4-H Dixon County workshop, "It's Fun to Be a Model," on Thursday, July 5, at 10 a.m. at the Northeast Station, Concord.

According to Val Schellpeper, area home extension agent; the group will discuss posture, the how-to of modeling, review a handout on modeling and hold a practice session on modeling.

"We are models every day and the way we dress, walk and act are all important in the picture we present," said Ms. Schellpeper.

Persons attending the workshop are asked to bring a sack lunch and stay for a demo-clinic in the afternoon.

Peg Schaeer Honored at Laurel Bridal Shower

Fifty guests, welcomed by Mary Ann Hirschman, attended a bridal shower at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Laurel Wednesday evening for Peg Schaeer of Norfolk.

Decorations included a silk floral centerpiece in the bride's colors, candy pink and ivory. The centerpiece, which was made by Jane Reifenrath, was presented to the honoree by the hostesses.

The program included a skit by Mrs. Dick Collins and Mrs. Verneal Gade, entitled "What Goes on After 20 Years of Marriage, or Why You Should Get a Divorce."

Helping the honoree with her gifts were her sisters, Sally Roberts, and Sue Mittles of Ottumwa, Ia., and the bridegroom's sister, Maureen Machmuller of Norfolk. Ginny Tuttle fashioned a pillow out of the package bows.

Mary-Pratt poured for the dessert luncheon.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dick Collins, Mrs. Joyce Dalton, Mrs. Jim McCorkindale, Mrs. Darrell Gowers, Ginny Tuttle, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Mel Olsen, Mrs. Verneal Gade, Carolyn Peterson, Mrs. Rollie Granquist, Mary Ann Hirschman, Mrs. Jim Hirschman and Joleen Skovbo, all of Laurel.

Miss Schaeer, daughter of Pat Schaeer of Laurel, and Marvin Schaeer of Doniphan, and Brian Machmuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Machmuller of Norfolk, will be married July 6 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Norfolk.

Finn-Gathje Exchange Vows

Sally Ann Finn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Finn of Carroll, and Randall John Gathje, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gathje of Wayne, exchanged marriage vows June 16 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

The 2 o'clock double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas McDermott. Ron Carnes sang "Wedding Song" and "Follow Me," and the congregation sang "All That I Am." Organist was Mrs. Janna Rutledge. All are of Wayne.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Debra Finn of Carroll and ushered into the church by the bride's brother, Mike Finn of Carroll, and LeRoy Gathje and Terry Meyer, both of Wayne.

Lector was Alan Finn of Carroll, brother of the bride, and mass servers were Jeff McCright and Jon McCright, both of Wayne.

Lana and Mona Peterson of Lincoln handed out the programs and Mrs. Eileen Ottman of Lincoln, a sister of the bride, and Paula Peterson of Lincoln pinned on flowers.

Honor attendants at the couple's wedding ceremony were their sister and brother, Mary Pat Finn of Norfolk and Rick Gathje of Wayne. Bridesmaid was Amy Finn of Carroll, also a sister of the bride, and groomsmen were Tom McCright of Wayne.

The bride's personal attendant was Margaret Hansen of Pasco, Wash.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white wedding gown. The fitted bodice was fashioned of roseprint Chantilly lace, designed with a V yoke bordered with a wide lace ruffle which formed short, capelet sleeves. A lace ruffle trimmed the high neckline, and the front of the gown was defined with a satin ribbon belt at the waistline accented with a dainty front bow and back tie bow and streamers. A wide ruffle of lace bordered the hemline of the dirndl skirt, fashioned of shadow tucking in tricot. The wateau train of lace swept to a graceful coltillon length.

She wore a tiered illusion veil in fingertip length accented with lace appliques and bordered with lace. Her veil was attached to a headpiece of lace highlighted with pearls and crystal appliques. She carried a bouquet of yellow, blue and white daisies and carnations accented with baby's breath.

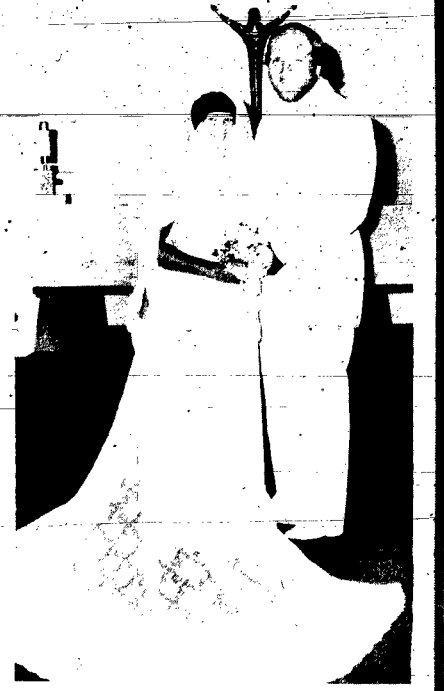

The bride's attendants wore romance blue luster knit gowns in formal length styled with blouse tops and three-quarter push-up sleeves. Double needle shirring highlighted the necklines, and the circular skirts fell from belted waistlines. They carried white baskets of blue, yellow and white daisies.

The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo with a white lace shirt and his attendants wore light blue tuxedos with white lace shirts.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Finn selected a floor-length gown of dusty pink knit designed with a gathered scoop neckline. The bridegroom's mother chose a light green floor-length dress with a matching jacket. Both wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson of Wayne greeted the 300 guests who attended a reception at St. Mary's School Hall following the ceremony. Gifts were carried by Annette and Joseph Finn of Carroll, brother and sister of the bride, and Deb and Diane Gathje of Laurel.

Esther Gathje of Laurel and Lois Waltermeyer of Omaha cut and served the cake. Mrs. Luella Hansen of Sholes poured and Sandra Luschen and Pearl Hansen, both of Wayne, served punch.

Waitresses were Shirley Gathje, Jean Arp and Myrna Wacker, all of Wayne, and Carolyn Oberkow of West Point.

A wedding dance was held that evening at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll. Music was provided by Leafy Spurge.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Laurel High School and a 1975 graduate of Wayne State College, was media center director at West Point Junior-Senior High School for the past three years. The bridegroom was graduated from Wayne High School in 1971 and is engaged in farming. They will reside in Wayne.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York has announced a series of over 90 "Living Hope" district conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses for this summer.

R.E. Rogers, spokesman for the religious group in Wayne, said 950,000 delegates are anticipated at the meetings scheduled in over 60 cities in the United States.

Rogers said 60 persons will represent Wayne at a four-day meeting planned at the Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln on July 5-8.

"People are in need of hope," Rogers said, adding that these conventions are designed to explore the reasons for stress, unhappiness and hopelessness in modern society and how to cope with the problems.

Rogers said the sessions are planned for all age groups and all meetings are open to the public.

Wayne Begins New Little League Program

The brand new intra-city Little League program began in Wayne Thursday evening as the four Little League teams opened action before a good-sized crowd of parents and fans.

The season opened in style as the Gold team scored three runs in the sixth inning for a 4-2 win over the Green team. Ron Heikes drove in two runs with a single in the sixth, scoring Brent Pick and Kevin Koenig. Heikes scored when Skip Gamble drew a walk with bases loaded. Pick struckout 15 batters in six innings for the pitching victory.

Don Larsen and Rick Haase each scored a run for the Green team. Larsen was the leading batter with two triples and one RBI. In the second game of the evening, the Blue team defeated the Red team 6-3. Steve Overin drove a three-run double and a triple for the winners' only two hits. Tim Fleming, John McCright, Overin and Lance DeWald scored all six Blue runs.

The Red team scored all three of its runs in the first inning when Ted McCright, Chris Wieseler and Jason Jorgensen crossed the plate. The Reds managed only one hit in the game.

Improved Bancroft Edges Wayne

Bancroft's Midgets, composed of nearly the whole Bancroft High School team, proved that they may be a contender in the Ralph Bishop League this season by nipping Wayne 2-1 in 10 innings, Wednesday.

Tim Pfeiffer pitched the full 10 innings for Wayne and allowed only two runs on seven hits and four walks, while he struckout 13

Bancroft batters. But, Bancroft's starting pitcher, Brown Ing, had similar success with Wayne. He held Wayne to one run, six hits and three walks while striking out 11 batters in 10 innings.

Bancroft took a 1-0 lead in the second inning but Wayne's Kevin Nissen tied it up in the top of the seventh. He led off by ripping a double, reached third base on a sacrifice by Brian Fleming and stole home on a passed ball. That sent the game into extra innings.

The game remained deadlocked in the eighth and ninth as both defenses took hold to prevent any scoring. Wayne coach Hank Overin said he lost the game in the top of the 10th when he sent Fleming to third base from first on Jeff Brandt's single. Fleming was thrown out by the center fielder for the second out of the inning. Jer Morris followed Brandt's base hit with one of his own but both players were stranded on base.

Nottleman laced the game winning single to score Gardes in the bottom of the 10th for a 2-1 Bancroft win. Leading batters for Wayne were Morris and Nissen with two hits each.

New Diamond Lights Installed

REPLACING LIGHTS at the Wayne baseball diamond was a project handled by the Wayne Fire Department Thursday evening. Over 20 lights were replaced to accommodate the summer baseball program. These lights were replaced just before intra-city Little League action.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

WHAT THE HECK. I've been humiliated and embarrassed before. That was my reply when I was asked to sit on the Wayne Carroll varsity cheerleaders' dunking machine tomorrow (Tuesday) evening. So I stuck my foot in my mouth. After I agreed to risk my life (I can't swim), I also found out that I'm supposed to wear pajamas.

But barring some emergency or disaster I will be there Tuesday night and people will get their chance to give me a dunking. Coaches and athletes will get a chance to repay me for misspelling a name or making them look bad in print. I tried to get a stipulation set up that wouldn't allow baseball players to take their turn at the dunking machine. After all, they're supposed to be experts at throwing the ball at targets.

But they too will get their turn and like everyone else will receive three chances for 50 cents. However, I will be keeping track of the baseball players' statistics and will give them to Hank Overin later this week. Any players who can't dunk me at least once will find themselves benched during the next baseball game.

Seriously, the dunking machine is actually a money raising project that is hoping to make some cash for the Wayne Carroll pep club and cheering squad. I hope the project fulfills its intended purpose.

MOTHER NATURE has thrown a blind into the Ralph Bishop League this spring. Every time that the fields are dry enough to play on, another half inch or two of rain seems to develop. I'm not complaining. I lived on a farm for 20+ years and I usually appreciate the rain while we can get it.

But the Midget and Legion teams are suffering, as games continue to be postponed. All Ralph Bishop games were postponed from Monday, due to rain and most of Friday night's games were postponed because of afternoon showers. Rescheduling these makeup games is often a difficult task.

LOOKING OVER MAJOR LEAGUE baseball I really don't see too many surprises. League leaders are Baltimore, California, Montreal and Houston. Not too many surprises you say? True, of the four leaders, none were division winners last year. But, look down the line.

Behind Baltimore, which has been a contender for many years, is Boston, Milwaukee and New York. Boston is within striking distance and always a strong team. Milwaukee, although a much-improved ball club, will fade late in the season and the Yankees will make their move again. It should turn into a three way race.

Montreal is the biggest surprise of the Major Leagues this year in my opinion. The Expos are four games ahead of Pittsburgh — the team I picked to win the NL East. St. Louis and Philadelphia are third and fourth respectively.

California leads the AL East and could be there at the end of the season. However, I think Kansas City will repeat as champions when the dust clears. Texas will probably be the third team after Minnesota and Chicago fall back.

Houston is another surprise team. The Astros hold a 4 1/2 game lead over Cincinnati. My preseason predictions gave Los Angeles the division championship over San Francisco and Cincinnati. The Dodgers are in a slump and may not make it to the top. The Giants are winning less than 50 percent of their games now so they may be through as well. I'll be cheering for Houston but keeping an eye on the Reds.

BY THE LOOKS of the AP picture a week or two ago which showed Muhammad Ali in his boxing shorts, I think the world champion boxer should have retired last year. At 250 pounds, Ali looked more like a sumo wrestler than a world class boxer. You should have retired with style Ali.

Size Limits Protect Fish

Size limits on various species of Nebraska game fish help the state's fishermen safeguard their sport by allowing young fish to reach spawning age and a reasonable size before harvest.

Larry Zadina, the Game and Parks Commission's fisheries biologist for southeast Nebraska, called attention to minimum size limits in effect on four species in Nebraska. Walleye, northern pike, two varieties of muskies, and three species of black bass are covered by such limits in various zones of the state.

Muskellunge and tiger muskies under 30 inches must be released throughout Nebraska. Walleye under 12 inches are protected in Douglas, Lancaster and Seward counties. Northern pike under 24 inches taken east of U.S. Highway 81 must also be released.

For the black bass — largemouth, smallmouth and spotted bass, the situation is a bit more complex. A 12-inch size limit is in effect in most of the state, except for the Panhandle and western one-third of the Sand Hills.

The exempt area lies west of U.S. Highway 83, which runs through Valentine and North Platte, and north of U.S. Highways 30 and 138 between North Platte and the Colorado border near Julesburg. But, even within this exempt zone, the 12-inch size limit is in effect in a few waters. These are Lake McConaughy, Merritt Reservoir, Bridgeport State Recreation Area, and Carter P. Johnson Lake at Fort Robinson State Park.

The Missouri River and its oxbows are not included in the bass, walleye or pike regulation. Details of the size limits and other Nebraska fishing regulations are found in the 1979 Nebraska Fishing Guide, available wherever fishing permits are sold, and from Game and Parks Commission offices in Lincoln, Omaha, Norfolk, Bassett, Alliance, and North Platte.

Wayne State Students Marry June 16 at Columbus Church

Wayne State College students Claudia Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dale Black of Ralston, and Douglas Coffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coffey of Columbus, were married June 16 at St. Luke's United Church of Christ in Columbus.

The newlyweds took a wedding trip to Florida and will reside in Columbus.

The bride was graduated from Ralston High School and from Wayne State College last December. She is employed at First Data Resources in Omaha.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lakeview High School in Columbus and will graduate from Wayne State College in May of 1980. He is currently serving as interim pastor at St. Luke's United Church of Christ, Columbus, and will return to Wayne State College in the fall. He plans to attend seminary following graduation from Wayne State.

The Rev. John McGee of Nuelle, Ia., and the Rev. David Arch and the Rev. Greg Carlson, both of Papillion, officiated at the couple's double ring six o'clock ceremony.

Mrs. Deborah Tunick of Lincoln registered the guests, who were ushered into the church by Brad Black and David Black of Ralston, brothers of the bride, and Rick Fairbanks of Norfolk and Dan Griffiths of Lincoln.

Lighting candles were Kimberly Coffey of Columbus and Jodi Finch of Omaha. Singers were Mrs. Nancy

The elephant shrew of Africa weighs just six ounces!

Travnicek and Steve Kollers, both of Wayne, and Deanna Marshall and Mark Marshall, both of Omaha. Organist was Jack Gross of Columbus and pianist was Greg Thomas of Omaha.

Music included "We've Only Just Begun," "Colour My World," "Climb the Hill Together," "Wedding Song," "There is Love," "We'll Walk With God" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Sally Morse of Council Bluffs was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Cathy Moreland and Mrs. Jane Pierce, both of Omaha, and Rita Ware of Orchard. Junior bridesmaid was Janelle Ludwig of Ralston.

The bridegroom's brother, Roger Coffey of Seattle, Wash., served as best man. Groomsmen were Rick Lindeman and Bob Schietler, both of Columbus, and Bill Black, brother of the bride, of Ralston. Troy Coffey of Columbus was junior groomsmen.

For her wedding day the bride chose a gown of white satapeau trimmed in Chantilly lace. It was styled with a Queen Anne neckline, bishop sleeves and an attached chapel train. She wore a matching chapel-length veil and carried yellow daisies and blue carnations.

The bride also carried the handkerchief that her mother carried at her wedding 31 years ago.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length blue and white checked gingham frocks designed with lace at the bodice and cuffs. They wore white lace picture hats and carried baskets of yellow daisies, blue carnations and baby's breath.

All of the flowers for the wedding were made of silk and were designed and made by Mrs. Sue Mecek of Silver Creek.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo trimmed in black, and his attendants were dressed in white and black tuxedos. They all wore light blue shirts.

Jan Coffey of Seattle arranged gifts at a reception afterward in the church fellowship hall. The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everingham of Wakefield and the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Coffey of Columbus.

Mrs. Rachel Greenfield of Newport and Mrs. Wilma Krumland of Columbus cut and served the wedding cake. The groom's cake was cut and served by Mrs. Gertrude Coffey of Columbus.

Mrs. Lorene Mueller of Columbus poured and Mrs. Karen Finch of Omaha served punch.

Wayne Area Is Without Rail Crossing Problems

The Nebraska Department of Roads in Lincoln said it is speeding up preparations for installation of railroad grade crossing protection devices throughout the state. A department spokesman said the accelerated program is needed to cope with the increasing numbers of railroad crossing accidents and the steady increase in the number of coal trains passing through the state. Department records show 183 rail crossing accidents involving trains, resulting in 18 fatalities in 1978. This is 28 more accidents and five more fatalities than in 1977.

A department study has identified those crossings throughout the state which need attention. They will have the highest priority for installation of flashing lights and gates to protect motorists.

A check with the department Friday morning indicated there are no such plans for Wayne or surrounding counties. Seven problem areas have been identified around Norfolk and one in South Sioux City, a spokesman said. Those are the closest to Wayne.

Funds for the program came from federal, state and local sources through a 90 percent federal, 5 percent state and 5 percent local match. The state funds are available through the State Grade Crossing Protection Fund established by the Legislature. In addition, the State grade crossing fund may be used for installation of protective devices at locations which may not qualify for Federal participation.

The original legislation requiring local government to provide 10 percent of the costs of installing railroad grade crossing protection devices. This local requirement was reduced to 5 percent by Legislative Bill 42, passed by the 1979 Legislature, and signed into law by Gov. Charles Thone.

The department is notifying all local political subdivisions initially affected by the accelerated program and has requested their cooperation and financial participation.

Estimated costs of the installations vary from approximately 50 thousand dollars to more than 200,000 depending upon the complexities and locations of the various projects.

The rail crossing protection program will be an ongoing one. As soon as one installation is completed, another will be added to the schedule, as long as funds are available.

The aircraft's two engines enable the F-4 to fly as slowly as about 160 m.p.h. or at speeds in excess of 1,600 m.p.h., more than twice the speed of sound.

Several models of the F-4, including a reconnaissance version, have been built. For those who have considered taking part in an international adventure, there's an organization that can help fulfill those dreams.

Youth for Understanding, the largest high school student exchange program in the world, will place some 4,000 teenagers from 26 overseas countries with American families this August.
