

Swedish Girls View U.S. On Month-Long Rail Pass

Oh, to be young at heart and strong of body.

A pair of Swedish lasses, one of whom is a Youth for Understanding student in Michigan, just completed a tour-by-rail of the United States.

Gilla Bonnedahl and Ingrid Forsberg, both from Ornskoldsvik in northern Sweden, were in Winside recently to visit Carla Berg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berg of rural Winside, and a 1979 graduate of Winside High School.

Carla stayed with Gilla and her family in Sweden when she (Carla) participated in the Youth for Understanding program last year. Gilla in turn decided to visit Carla and brought her best friend along.

Gilla began her visit to the U.S. in August, 1978, with the Michigan family. Ingrid arrived in the states about three months ago and the pair is just now completing the U.S. tour.

An inter-rail pass provided Gilla and Ingrid with a month's unlimited travel by train anywhere in the U.S. They visited California, Las Vegas, New York, Washing-

County Fair Program Is Announced

County Fair time in Wayne County is less than a month away, and fair officials say they are eager to inform the public of this year's program.

The buildings and grounds are being prepared now for the annual event July 26-29 at the fairgrounds west of town. County volunteers and 4-H members will spend the next weeks working the area.

Marilyn Koch, fair secretary and manager, said last week that a wide variety of events is planned for the entire family.

Each night of the four-day fair has a special attraction scheduled for the grand stand area.

The fair opens Thursday, July 26, and is Winside, Hoskins and Altona Day. The evening's attraction will be a mini-rod tractor pull at 7 p.m. with a disco dance planned near the midway afterwards.

Other Thursday events include judging of exhibits in the 4-H building, judging of 4-H and open class dairy entries, judging of rabbits, poultry and pigeons, judging of 4-H horses and judging of open class economics entries.

All exhibits and booths open to the public at 6 p.m.

Friday's headliner will be the Buddy Young Musical Show along with the sound effects comedy team of Mahan & Jaspering. That is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m.

The day's events will include judging of 4-H and open class hogs, judging of 4-H and open class sheep, judging of 4-H beef, judging open class horses, a public barbecue, the annual 4-H livestock parade and presentation of pioneer award and other special awards.

Friday also has been dubbed Wayne County Day.

Saturday, July 28, will be Carroll, Sholes and Wayne Day with the event feature a sanctioned pickup pull. In addition to area participation, there will be a class strictly for county pullers who are not members of the American Pullers Association. This is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Other events Saturday will include market hog show, judging of open class beef, horseshoe pitching and tractor pull.

The final day of the fair, Sunday, July 29, will feature the ever popular demolition derby at 7 p.m. Other events Sunday will be 4-H pen of three market beef show, 4-H livestock bonus auction and the releasing of all exhibits.

Those attending the fair are urged to visit the special commercial exhibits of the Nebraska Highway Patrol and state Game and Parks Commission.

Koch says more detailed information will appear at a later date.

Council, Planning Meeting Tonight

A joint meeting of the Wayne City Council and Planning Commission has been set for 6:30 p.m. Monday (today) at the Fredrick S. Brink Council Chambers in city hall.

Agenda items will be a comprehensive plan work session.

Cramer Named College Trustee

Gov. Charles Thone announced in a news conference Friday the appointment of Alan Cramer, Wayne Herald publisher, to the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees. Cramer was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Henry Ley who died last Saturday. The term runs until Jan., 1981.

The Board is the policy making and governing body for the Nebraska State Colleges at Wayne, Kearney, Chadron and Peru. Members are appointed to six-year terms by the Governor. Ley was appointed by Governor J.J. Exon in 1975.

Cramer had previously served on the Board from 1969 until 1975.

County's Comprehensive Plan Near Completion as Hearings Concluded

Minor Concerns On Pair of Issues

After four years of organization, discussions and public hearings, Wayne County's comprehensive plan is nearing the final stages of completion.

A spokesman for the nine-member Joint Planning Commission said his group has completed hearings and has passed along its recommendations to the county commissioners. They in turn must review the suggestions and if any major changes are made the plan will return to the joint commission.

Only two major concerns have cropped up during the hearings, and these involve size of feed lots and setbacks from county roads. Other differences have involved wording and are minor points, the spokesman explained.

Having completed the plan in preliminary form, the commission began a series of public hearings in February of 1977 to receive comments and reactions on the study.

After consideration of public hearing comments, the final draft of the plan was prepared and adopted by the joint commission in July of 1977. The plan then was submitted to the county commissioners and Hoskins, Carroll and Winside for their consideration and subsequent action.

After completing the comprehensive plan, the joint planning commission spent another year developing zoning and subdivision regulations for the rural unincorporated areas of the county. Hearings on these were held in February of 1978.

The final draft was approved by the planning commission and sent to the county commissioners in August of 1978.

In addition, the governing bodies of the Winside, Carroll and Hoskins have developed land use regulations for their respective communities.

Any final action will be taken by the county commissioners -- either rejection or approval. The joint commission spokesman said the county commissioners have made some changes to the plan which now must be reviewed again by the joint commission.

Early Deadline Fourth of July

Due to the July 4 holiday falling on Wednesday, The Wayne Herald will print on Tuesday, July 3. Advertising deadline has been moved back to 5 p.m. Monday, July 2, and advertisers are urged to have their information to The Herald by then.

Area financial institutions will be closed July 4 as will the majority of businesses and service stations.

All county and city governmental offices also will be closed in observance of the holiday.

Holiday Gas Supplies Okay

Wayne residents who plan to leave town for the Fourth of July shouldn't have any problem getting the gasoline they need to fill their automobiles.

Most of the Wayne service stations report that they have sufficient supplies of gasoline after receiving shipments of fuel over the past week. Although reports vary from "running low" to "plenty for the next couple of weeks", generally the situation is improved and poses no threat at this time.

Several stations reported that they would be open on the Fourth, so travelers will be able to buy gas, even if they plan to leave Wayne on Wednesday. Most of the service stations which will be closed are those that close on Sundays.

Mary O'Halloran, Department of Energy (DOE) regional representative, has announced an all out crackdown on retail gasoline operators who are refusing to sell to purchasers who are not so called "regular customers."

Approval Given By NRD Board On Park Funds

Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Board of Directors Thursday adopted a resolution accepting Federal funds for land acquisition on the Willow Creek Project.

The $400,000 grant for the 1,700-acre park southwest of Pierce was approved 13-4. Among those voting in favor of accepting the funds were Robert Jordan and Val Peterson, both of Wayne; and Melvin Meierhenry of Hoskins. Voting against was Glen Olson of Wakefield.

The $400,000 grant and another $450,000 grant, accepted earlier, will be used to begin land acquisition for the park project which is estimated to cost $5.2 million.

Other action
 In other action, the board approved an application for Dog Creek Watershed under the U.S. Rural Clean Water Program. Federal funds would be used by landowners who live along the creek drainage from Sholes to north of Wayne to finance conservation measures. It is doubtful funds will be approved this year by congress for the voluntary program, the NRD general manager said.

Food stamp change
 Because the Fourth of July falls on Wednesday, food stamps will be issued Tuesday, July 3. Normal distribution is the first Wednesday of each month. Welfare office hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:15 to 4:30 p.m. in the courthouse.

Wayne: 'Middle America at Its Best'

Family Spending Summer Here Finds Home Away From Home

A Las Vegas, Nev., couple decided to provide their children with some rural exposure and is spending the entire summer on a farm south of here.

Don and Dorothy Perry brought their 13-year-old son, Steve, and 12-year-old daughter, Susie, from the concrete and neon world of the nation's entertainment capitol to Wayne.

Don, a brother to Coryell Auto Co. owner Mike Perry, is a native of Wayne, and after attending college here went to Riverside, Calif., to work for an aircraft company. A friend later talked him into moving to Las Vegas to become a teacher.

He later married and has spent almost two decades in Las Vegas.

Both Don and his wife, Dorothy, are high school counselors in Vegas and have seen the effects of large town living on teenagers. That is one of the reasons they decided to spend some time in rural America.

"This is middle America at its best," the elder Perry said. "We just love the kids being exposed to this type of life," added his wife.

The family is staying on his dad's farm about a mile south. When Mike Perry learned that his brother was "moving" to Wayne for the summer, he collected a variety of used furniture from his friends to stock the house.

"That attests to the friendliness of the area," Don said. "We've just been overwhelmed with our acceptance here."

The family has nothing but positive comments about their first days in Wayne.

"Everything they say in the brochures is true," Perry said. "Wayne has all there is to offer a family, and it has almost everything a large city has to offer."

There was some apprehension initially that Steve and Susie would have trouble adjusting to the rural life and making friends.

"It's amazing in just one week how many friends they have. It's just like they belong here," he said.

Both are on the Wayne swim team. Susie is playing softball with a local team and has been involved with the Girl Scouts. Steve is helping his uncle Mike at Coryell Auto by washing and cleaning out cars.

Steve has the thought of moving to Wayne been considered by the Perrys? "That thought has occurred to us," Perry said.

The family chose to come to Wayne after deciding to get away from the hub-bub of city living. The long lines for gasoline, groceries, etc., were left behind for the slower, more deliberate pace of rural America.

The Perry children had never had a rural experience such as this, and the family decided this was the time for a prolonged visit.

THE DON PERRY family has been enjoying their first couple of weeks here, soaking up the rural life and forgetting about the hustle of the city. From left are Don, Steve, Susie and Dorothy.

Jaycees Plan Fireworks

More than $1,000 in fireworks will be displayed by the Wayne Jaycees during the annual Fourth of July event Wednesday night at the city ball park.

The show will begin at dusk and will include both ground and aerial displays. Local businesses provided contributions for purchase of the fireworks and the event is sponsored by the Jaycees.

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

by the Nebraska State Historical Society

Aboriginal Indians had no formal classrooms, yet exhibits, artifacts and research of the Nebraska State Historical Society prove they had an educational system. Lessons in Language, etiquette, customs, handicrafts, tribal lore and survival were given by the elders. Children were taught to hunt and fish, to sow and reap. With the coming of the white man a new era in education began for the Indian. Just how difficult it was for children from tepees and earthlodges to step into classrooms may be glimpsed in letters which the Commissioner of Indian Affairs received from their teachers. Excerpts follow: "One Agency (86 enrolled; average attendance, 53) — 9th month, 1870. Our Indians had never attended school, and (with the exception of one or two boys, who knew a few words) none could speak English. Our method is object teaching, from . . . toys, cards, illustrated, and pictures, and . . . household objects which we carry from our home. . . . The majority of our pupils know the alphabet perfectly, the figures up to 50, and can readily spell many names of objects and words of two syllables. . . . They can write their names on slates legibly. . . . They, too, understand much that we say to them without an interpreter. . . .

"This summer a philanthropic family of Philadelphia friends (Quakers) sent us 390 yards of calico, and money sufficient to buy quite a number of wash-tubs, some soap and many other things necessary to civilize. From the calico my assistant and I cut and fitted 44 dresses, 72 sun-bonnets and several aprons, which the women and children made up very well in our sewing school and at home. In the sewing school 60 bed quilts were started with patches. . . . Thine with much respect, Sallie C. Ely.

"Omaha Indian Agency (76 enrolled; average attendance 31; highest number attending, 53) — Aug. 25, 1870. Number reading in fifth reader, 6; in fourth reader, 7; in third reader, 9; in second reader, 12; in first reader, 16; in primer, 30; in alphabet, 8; studying geography, 13; practical arithmetic, 11; primary arithmetic, 23; writing, 32; drawing, 1; grammar, 5; declamation, 31; astronomy and philosophy, 1. . . . The school has been vacated since August 1, in consequence of the absence of most of the children, who are with their parents on the hunt. It is designed to reopen the school on the 3rd of October next. . . . Respectfully yours, Joel Warner.

"Great Nemaha Agency (63 enrolled) — 8th month, 1870. . . . The attendance, when not prevented by sickness (except through the planting and heavy picking seasons) has been good. . . . Our Indian children the past year have been well clothed in comfortable civilized dress. . . . Not a blanket comes into the school-room. . . . They are also furnished a lunch at noon, with a view to induce attendance as well as to supply the need. . . . Thine respectfully, Mary B. Lightfoot.

"Pawnee Reservation (400 school-age children; 73 enrolled) — 8th month, 1870. . . . There have been added to our number as regular boarders 22, and two as day scholars; one has been readmitted who left without permission two years ago; one is again with us who was suspended for misconduct; one has been permitted to return to the village as not a fit companion for the other members of the school; and one has died. . . . leaving 79. . . .

Six of our boys are apprenticed: one as a miller, one as an engineer, one as a tin-smith, one as blacksmith, and two as carpenters. Seven are laborers on the farm. . . . The girls aid in the laundry, cook-room, dining, sewing and sleeping rooms. . . . Our building stands upon the open prairie, exposing us to untimely visits from the Pawnees, thus hindering our work, and also preventing our prescribing proper limits for our children

A fence around our yard is one of our great necessities. . . . Elvira G. Platt. "Winnebago Agency (240 enrolled; average attendance 160: — 8th month, 1870. . . . Early last winter, with thy consent, I opened a new school at the agency in one of the rooms of the house that my family occupied, and continued it there until spring, when it was removed to an old storehouse. . . . One of the other school-houses had been built near a swamp, which, in wet weather, is almost impassable, and. . . is now being rebuilt upon a more elevated and central site. The rough and unfinished condition of all these schoolhouses renders their use in cold weather precarious to the health both of teachers and pupils. Comfort as to warmth is an essential element of success in school-rooms and it is hoped that they will be made at least tenable.

"Interest in education seems to be increasing. . . . We have also kept, throughout the year, one first day; or Sunday school, with an average attendance of 61. A large number of bibles and testaments have been given to those who can read.

"Sioux Agency (110 enrolled; average attendance, 55) — Aug. 30, 1870. . . . Influences which have hindered their development, are the teachings they unfortunately received from some quarters, that they are too poor to do anything in support of their own institutions or in benevolence, that they are too poor for anything except to receive other people's charity. Such instruction makes paupers, but never men. . . . The chiefship, as the embodiment of the old heathen life, should be at once abolished. . . . Alfred L. Riggs."

"SUDDENLY THERE CAME A TAPPING... AT MY CHAMBER DOOR..."

Lock Up Those Mopeds

Motorized bicycles, or "mopeds," long popular in Europe and Asia, are becoming increasingly common not only on the streets of America but in their reports of local police departments. These two-wheeled vehicles, which operate on either gasoline or leg power, are extremely vulnerable to theft. Since most models require no key to start, a thief can simply climb on a "moped" which has been left unsecured and drive or pedal it away. Some crime resistance measures that can help protect "mopeds" against theft are as follows: When not in use, "mopeds" should be secured with a sturdy chain and strong padlock. The chain should be run through both wheels and the frame and fastened to a solid, stationary object. Whenever possible, "mopeds" should be parked where they can be observed by the operator. A personal identifying number should be etched or stamped into the frame of the vehicle. Local law enforcement agencies can provide information regarding personal identifying numbers that will be traceable to the owner. If a vehicle is marked with a personal identifying number (preferably in more than one location), a sticker or decal should be put on the vehicle indicating that it is so marked. This may deter thieves by informing them that the vehicle can be traced if stolen and recovered. Local law enforcement agencies can advise citizens where to obtain such decals. "Mopeds" should be registered by serial number and/or personal identifying number with the appropriate local law enforcement agency to facilitate recovery in the event of theft.

OBSERVATIONS

Help Sought for Truckers

At least U.S. Rep. Doug Bereuter is not doing nothing about the independent truckers' demands. First, he is co-sponsor of a bill which would amend the Internal Revenue code to give truck operators, who buy fuel at retail and engage in interstate commerce a tax credit in lieu of a deduction. Second, he is co-sponsoring legislation which would temporarily permit loads of 80,000 pounds and 60-foot trailer lengths on interstate highways nationwide. Congressman Bereuter and Nebraska Sen. Elroy Hefner hosted a meeting with independent truckers in Wayne June 23 at which the truckers listed a variety of demands.

Although some were unreasonable (roll-back of diesel fuel costs, roll-back of speed limits), the truckers did make some valid points. In the face of considerable disrespect from a few of the truckers present at that meeting, Bereuter has taken at least two of the truckers' requests back to Washington, D.C. with him. He is attempting to put the ideas into legislation which would help relieve the plight of the independent trucker. But truckers should remember that Bereuter is just one of 435 representatives in the nation's capital. — Dan Field, Editor.

The Family as a Unit

Family life in America is alive and well and withstanding many of modern day society's changing values. A survey undertaken by a well-respected national home and garden periodical indicates, for example, that 85 percent of respondents say their expectations of happiness in marriage are being fulfilled. That's good news to hear after dismal reports in recent years that divorce rates were almost ahead of marriages. In California, divorces are outdistancing marriages. While respondents perceive their own marriages and families as sound, the survey indicates they take a different view of overall family life in America.

Seventy-six percent of respondents say they feel family life in America is in trouble and many see the changing values of society reflecting on the basic unit of American culture. The greatest threat to the American family was judged to be inattentive parents. We put our vote in this category. For reasons unclear to us, there now days is a lack of communication between parents and their children. Parents seem to be afraid to offer advice for fear of misquoting them or "turning them off." We're of the opinion that despite outside social pressures, families should make special efforts to spend more time together as a unit. — Dan Field, Editor.

Air conditioning 25 years old

Automobile air conditioning now has been with us for 25 years, and in that time it has risen to be one of the most popular options ordered on new cars, reports the Automotive Information Council. In its first year fewer than 30,000 units were sold, mainly because of the price and because it was offered on only two of the most expensive cars. Some so recently as the early 1940's, the installation rate was less than 10 percent, while today more than 80 percent of all new cars are purchased with factory-installed air conditioning. In many cases of conversion specialists, the cost of the car is increased, but the overall rate might be closer to 90 percent, AIC estimates. Air conditioning obviously is considered a virtual necessity by most car buyers. It is a boon, not only to those who just want comfort, but to the millions who suffer from dust and pollen allergies. It also reduces driver fatigue, a safety factor. But in the process of becoming so popular, air conditioning also dealt a knockout blow to convertibles, the last of which were built two years ago. Car air conditioning of today is a far cry from what it was in its infancy. The early units were heavy and bulky, with components scattered throughout the car. One car veteran recalls that the compressor and other components in the trunk cut the luggage room in half.

Clear plastic tubes, which carried the cool air into the passenger compartment, flanked the sides of the rear window. The clear plastic often yellowed but, says the Automotive Information Council, the yellowed tubes became a status symbol because they showed other drivers that the car had air. The disappearance of the tubes a few years later, when a better system was developed, prompted jokes such as: "The husband arrives home, covered with perspiration and says to his wife, 'It sure is hot driving with the car windows closed.'" She asks, "Why didn't you open them?" He sighs and replies, "I don't want people to know we don't have air conditioning."

'Hell Hath No Fury Like a Woman's Scorn' National WIFE President Tells Farm Women

by LaVon Beckman
"Hell hath no fury like a woman's scorn," said Mrs. Betty Majors, who spoke to a record crowd of area farm women during the annual Farm Ladies Appreciation Luncheon in Wayne Thursday noon.

The phrase which Mrs. Majors quoted is the motto of WIFE (Women Involved In Farm Economics). Mrs. Majors, who has farmed with her husband Jim near Osceola for 26 years, is the national president of WIFE.

Mrs. Majors drew several spontaneous outbursts of applause from the more than 525 women in attendance Thursday as she outlined the goals and purposes of the organization.

As the national president of WIFE, Mrs. Majors attended by presidential invitation the White House conference on balanced national growth and economic development in January of 1978 and was appointed by Governor Exon to meet with Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland in Omaha that same month.

Mrs. Majors has organized many WIFE chapters and has spoken across the nation as well as in Washington, D.C. on a variety of farm topics.

"The sole purpose of WIFE," she said, "is the promotion and development of agriculture." The organization currently has over 700 members in 14 states and was organized in western Nebraska.

"I guess you could say I'm very liberated," the farm wife said in introducing herself to the women. She went on to explain that she gets to help irrigate, harvest corn and vaccinate hogs.

The speaker told the women that Thursday's luncheon was significant in the interdependence of rural and urban America. "Economic prosperity in agriculture most generally means a boom in the nation's economy," she said, adding that rural and urban women need to join hands and be concerned about each other.

WIFE was the very first farm organization to lobby in Washington, D.C. as a group. Each time the group travels to Washington its members wear red to point out the fact that farmers are operating in the red. Mrs. Majors said the group has been well received in Washington and is frequently asked to testify before Senate hearings on the plight of the farmers.

Mrs. Majors said that some of the most urgent concerns of WIFE include the energy situation (Mrs. Majors testified in Washington in May in favor of gasohol), water rights (she feels that state laws should supersede those made in Washington, D.C.), and meat labeling (consumers should know if they are buying USDA or imported meat).

"We women are an untapped resource," said the speaker, adding that the day of accountability is here for local, state and federal government, and women must make themselves heard by sending telegrams and letters to their state and federal representatives voicing their opinions.

"Each of you has a special gift or talent," she said, adding that women must meet the challenge and make their contributions today. "You can affect change in the laws and regulations concerning agriculture," she said, pointing out the fact that the problems of farmers can no longer be ignored.

Gary Van Meier, executive vice president of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the Farm Ladies luncheon, echoed Mrs. Majors' enthusiasm over the number of farm women attending Thursday's luncheon and program.

The women were welcomed by John Dorsey, president-elect of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Carol Rethwisch of rural Wayne responded on behalf of the farm women.

Mistress of ceremonies was Sheryl Marra, chairman of the luncheon committee. The invocation was given by Mary Edmonds. Entertainment was provided by the Treble Clef Singers of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne, including Mary Edmonds, Norma Ehlers, Kay Marsh, Sandy Anderson, Cindy Nigh, Gerelda Lipp, Becky Wilson, Nancy Fuebberth, Becky Keidel, Donna Liska and Marty Anderson. The singers presented a variety of garden tunes to go along with the luncheon theme, "Country Garden Party."

Women receiving door prizes included Corliss Krusemark, Toole Jusis, Mrs. Roger Williams, Emma Heinemann, Mrs. Hirschal Manning, Mrs. Roger Johnson, Mrs. Lloyd Robber, Mrs. Art Grono, Patty Gamble, Rhonda Blecke, Sally Hammer, Mrs. Glenn Loberg, Bonnie Mohlfeld, Phyllis Wageman, Mary Bose, Mrs. Merle Lund Lessmann and Mrs. Leo Bose.

Women who worked with Mrs. Marra to prepare for this year's luncheon were Rozan Pedersen, Debbie Rise, Cindy Nigh, Sandra Elliott, Donna Ewing, Anita Fuebberth, Jan Brown, Jennifer Carney, Jackie Ditman, Phyllis Leach and Claudia Koerber.

Hadl Speaks At Wayne

John Hadl, former professional quarterback in the National Football League and present offensive coordinator for the Kansas University football team, spoke briefly to a small crowd of about 40 persons at Wayne State College, Thursday evening.

Hadl was the featured speaker at the banquet which was sponsored by the Wayne State athletic department and the Second Guessers Club. WSC Athletic director John Merriman was the initiator of the banquet and also spoke briefly to the group.

Hadl spoke about his career in the NFL which lasted 16 years. He played 11 years with the San Diego Chargers before joining the Los Angeles Rams and Green Bay Packers. Hadl recalled some of those years.

"We were playing the Chiefs once and we got the ball on one foot line with a two-point lead," Hadl remembered. "I didn't know what to call but Alworth (Lance) said 'Throw me the deep one, I'm always open. I'll get it.' I told him that if the pass was intercepted, he would have to go to the bench and tell the coach he called the play. The coach saw me dropping back to pass and I heard him calling me names. The Alworth caught the ball over a defender and the coach started jumping up and down cheering."

"I've been very lucky," said Hadl. "I played with a lot of great people in my career. At Los Angeles, I played with Harold Jackson, who is a great receiver and we made the playoffs both years."

The Kansas University graduate said all of his success was due to his college career and stated that he is trying to repay the school by teaching Kansas athletes more than athletics. He pointed out that 90 percent of the athletes won't become professionals and they must learn a career to fall back on.

In a post-banquet interview, Hadl said that his most memorable experiences as a professional football player were the first time the Chargers beat the Rams and when he played for the Rams and hit Harold Jackson with four bombs against the Dallas Cowboys.

At Kansas University, Hadl said he is now busy preparing for the fall football season. He hopes that Kansas will again become competitive and win the Big Eight Conference its share of the time. Rumor has been circulated that Hadl, as offensive coordinator, is being prepared for the head coaching position, but Hadl said that he and head coach Don Fambrough are just worried about the 1979 football season.

Florida Man Named WS Assistant Coach

Steve Jucker of Casselberry, Fla., has been named as assistant basketball coach for the 1979-80 season at Wayne State College. He replaces Steve Anson who has accepted a position at Washburn University, Topeka, Kan.

A varsity basketball player at Rollins College, Jucker was nominated for the Rollins School

Wayne Legion	3000 77X — 12 4 4

The Wayne Juniors blew Wisner's Legion team off the field in the nightcap with a 12-4 onslaught. Wayne starting pitcher Jerry Goeden got off to a slow start and lasted only two-thirds of an inning as Wisner scored three runs in the top of the first inning.

Jeff Zeiss relieved Goeden and completed the game, giving up five hits and one run. Zeiss, Dennis Carroll and Dan Mitchell scored three runs in the bottom of the first to offset Wisner's quick start. Jeff Dion was credited with an RBI on a sacrifice bunt.

Wayne scored seven additional runs in the fifth inning with four hits, two walks and a sacrifice. Mitchell singled, Dave Schwartz singled and drove in a run. Tom Ginn brought in a run with a sacrifice bunt and Tim Thomas lined a two-run double to lead the locals in that inning. Mark Gansbom added the final base hit of the fifth.

Laurel And Wayne Split

Dennis Carroll displayed his top form to pitch a two-hitter in one of his best season performances Friday night. The Wayne hurler struckout 10 Laurel batters for a 6-1 Wayne Legion win over Laurel.

Carroll surrendered only a single to Russ Gade in the second inning and a single to Dalton in the sixth. Gade, who pitched the complete game, scored the lone Laurel run in the second inning for a 1-0 lead.

Despite Carroll's performance on the mound, Wayne couldn't muster any runs until the sixth inning. Jeff Zeiss and Dennis Carroll scored the two sixth inning runs with Tim Thomas recording a key sacrifice bunt to score Carroll. Zeiss went home on a Laurel error.

In addition to his pitching, Olsen sparked his team's offense with three singles and Tiva RB's Shannon Hopkins scored four runs and Jamie Johnson added three to lead the winners in scoring. Scott Norvell also recorded two base hits.

A pair of errors in the seventh inning led to four more Wayne runs. Dean Carroll singled, Mark Gensebom reached base on an error and an error on Dennis Carroll's ground ball led to two runs.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascell

IT WAS AN INJUSTICE to northeast Nebraska and specifically to Wayne when only two baseball players from the area were named to the Nebraska All-Star team. Doug Starzl and Rick Guy will represent Wakefield in the July 14 and 15 games at Rosenblatt Stadium. No one is more deserving than these two men.

But what about the other quality northeast Nebraska players? Tom Ginn and Jeff Zeiss of Wayne are two players who come to mind immediately. They were both All-State and All-Conference selections who are very fine players. And another All-State player, Wakefield's Todd Swigart, of Wakefield, another All-State player.

Wayne fans can do as look toward next year. And next year I believe that next year will be represented. But it doesn't make up for this year's error.

SLOW PITCH SOFTBALL is taking over. Slow pitch tournaments are held nearly every weekend in some part of northeast Nebraska and 20-30 teams are drawn to most of these tournaments. In Wayne league alone, there are 13 men's teams and 13 women's teams.

In slow pitch play, teams are equalized because of the rules. In fast pitch softball and baseball, an overpowering pitcher can dominate play. Some teams used to hire top notch pitchers to win their way through games and tournaments. Now, almost anyone can pitch. The ball should have about three feet of arch from where it leaves the pitcher's hand to the plate. Strike zones are the same but batters must power the ball with their own strength.

It's an interesting sport that is here to stay for many years.

Juniors Win

Winside Splits With Wisner

The Winside Midgets outpitch Pender 10-7 in Ralph Bishop League baseball action last Monday but they lost a tough decision in seven innings 10-9. The Winside Legion team was more successful, pounding Pender 10-2.

Rick Anderson pitched for Winside's Juniors and held Pender to two runs on four hits, while striking out nine batters. Todd Hoeman led the offensive showing with a home run in the third inning to give Winside a 6-1 lead. Three more runs in the top of the fifth put the game on ice. Anderson, Bruce Smith and Tom Kolt each had two hits for the winners. Smith scored four runs.

The boys played good baseball with good hitting from top to bottom and took advantage of every opportunity. Winside coach Dick Munter said.

In the Midget game, Munter blamed himself for the loss, saying he made an error in judgment that gave Pender the game. Brian Fuotter suffered the loss for Winside, although the visitors had 10 hits in the game compared to 7 for Pender.

Leading batters for Winside were Mark Koch with three hits, Jon Meierherry with two and John Hawkins with two. Pender scored four runs in the second inning and five in the fifth. Winside was scheduled to play Emerson at home, Friday night.

Wildlife Seed Free

Seed for wildlife food plots is available free of charge to youth groups and individual youngsters at the Wayne County extension office and offices throughout the state.

The seed, a mixture of millet, and giant gray sunflower or safflower, is provided by the Game and Parks Commission. Each of 2,400 bags contains instructions for planting, and enough seed to plant about one-quarter acre.

The seed is for planting, only, and should not be fed directly to wildlife, since it has been treated with insecticides that would harm birds and animals.
