

New Freshman Orientation Program Planned at WSC

The first year of college life hopefully will be less complicated and less of a transition for freshmen entering Wayne State College this fall.

That is the intention of a new freshman orientation program—called "The Wayne State Experience"—to be initiated at Wayne State this fall, according to Iris Watchorn-Chambers, coordinator of the orientation program.

The proposed orientation is scheduled over four days beginning Saturday, Aug. 25, and ending on Tuesday, Aug. 28, a day before classes begin for the fall term. The orientation program will be broken into academic and social preparations.

"The freshman orientation program is new at Wayne State and we hope it will help the typical freshman adjust to the first year of college," said Watchorn-Chambers. "The program has been needed for a long time and I think it will help students become aware of services, meet faculty and get to know one another quickly. It's a good start."

The orientation will consist of a community tour which will better acquaint the freshmen with the services and businesses in Wayne. The students will meet the faculty and administration at Wayne State, including resident directors and resident assistants in the dormitories.

Other activities include human relations training, picnics, individual classroom tours, free movies, a disco dance, planetarium shows, games and Playfair. Playfair is described as a totally new kind of comedy show where audience members get to meet each other while they're involved with the show. The show played at more than 50 different campuses in one month, making it the most popular campus attraction in the country.

In addition to the numerous programs, special speakers will be an added attraction. The Wayne Chamber of Commerce is planning to assist in the affair.

Registration for the orientation program must be completed and received at Wayne State College by Aug. 8. Registration fee is $20 and will cover the cost of the meals and program expenses for the four days. More information on registration may be obtained by contacting Wayne State College, 375-2200.

The freshman orientation program is sponsored by the WSC Student Services Division and the activities were decided upon by the Freshman Orientation Committee consisting of Watchorn-Chambers, dormitory resident director; Frank Teach, director of student activities; Marv Beamer, director of residence life; and Dave Ryan, Student Senate president.

'Tak' Will Be Back After Stay With Winside Family

He was known simply as "Tak" because no one could pronounce his real full name. But during the 10 months he lived with his American "family," "Tak" became a familiar name in Winside athletics and academics.

Takayuki Sakurai is his given name. "Tak" just returned to his home town of Tatsuki near Tokyo, Japan, after spending the school year in Winside with Lee and Rosie Koch and family.

"Tak" was here under the international Youth Fellowship program, and was placed in Winside by the IYF because Rosie Koch is herself a native of Japan.

Several years ago, a foreign student was a visitor to Winside. But because of poor communications, the student had problems during the school year. The fact that Lee's wife is a native of Japan helped in the decision to place "Tak" in Winside.

There were no communication problems with this foreign student, as "Tak" spoke English quite well and soon won the respect of his American counterparts.

The Japanese student participated in football (briefly), wrestling, track, band and American Legion baseball. He received letters in track, wrestling and band, and also received a rating at the state instrumental contest as part of a trumpet trio.

"Tak" said he had no choice as to where he would be placed in the U.S., but added that he is quite satisfied with Winside.

"I didn't have any problems," he commented. "I have really enjoyed it here."

As a guest of IYF, "Tak" was given a tour of the U.S. Southwest including Disneyland, Hollywood and the Grand Canyon. "We don't have places like that in Japan," he said.

"How does the U.S. differ from his country?"

Most items are much cheaper in the U.S., especially meat, produce and gasoline, he explained. And winter weather in his home area, although cold, does not compare to winters in Northeast Nebraska. "It's much colder and there is much more snow here," he said. "We get some snow but nothing like here."

"Tak" will have one semester of high school left when school takes up in his hometown. But, as he noted, "I'll be back someday."

From a town of about 80,000 people, "Tak" said one of the unique aspects of Winside was that "almost everyone knows everybody else. I like it that way."

In addition, "Tak" said that the relationship between students and teachers was enhanced because of the small ratio between the two. "It's really good that teachers know all of the students," he said.

A club in mathematics, "Tak" plans to study the subject in a college or university in his homeland. But, he added, "I hope to get back to the U.S. to study more math."

Lee Koch said Winside High School was contacted by the IYF for possible placement of "Tak" and the school—in turn contacted Lee and Rosie.

Don Koenig, elementary physical education director for the Wayne school district, reported on the progress of updating the school's various playgrounds.

Koenig, who is being assisted by David Luft, elementary school principal, said excavation work is nearly complete and equipment will be in place by the time school opens in August.

He said the Kiwanis Club and Jaycees have indicated they will provide volunteer help and possibly financial assistance with the project.

But Koenig added, "What we need more than anything is help. The more people we have, the faster we'll get done." In addition, Koenig said there is a need for used telephone poles. Anyone with poles or who is willing to volunteer his or her time is asked to contact him.

After the discussion, the board allocated $1,800 for the project.

Supt. Francis Haun reported that the Nebraska Department of Education unannouncedly has accepted the recommendations of the state Accreditation Committee that the Wayne-Carroll school system be continued as a Class 2 A school for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

Haun said the approval is on an annual basis and will be reviewed again next year.

"Everyone involved needs to be commended for their efforts in helping the school system maintain this rating," one board member stated.

A letter from the state Department of Education said "maintaining your school system as 2 A is indeed a compliment to your Board of Education, the administrative team, the staff and the school community which supports your school program."

The fact that the quality necessary for recognition as a 2 A school is maintained on a voluntary basis reflects the commitment of your school community to quality education. Other school systems in the state recognize this quality and look to your system for educational leadership."

There were no violations noted by the Accreditation Committee.

Budget work

Superintendent Haun also reported that the budget is in the final stages of preparation. However, he cautioned, it cannot be completed until data concerning projected income from the personal property tax relief allocation is received.

Haun said it appears the budget will be 67 or 68 percent of the allowable 7-percent increase (in anticipated receipts) that is mandated by the state.

Relatives of the late W.L. (Shorty) Ellis recently approached Superintendent Haun about their desire to donate $1,200 to purchase a computer for the school system as a memorial to Ellis.

The board discussed the matter and voted to match the donation and purchase an "Apple 2" computer system.

The board was notified by the Department of Education that schools within the Wayne-Carroll district have been selected to participate in the Education Commission of the States, 1979-80 National Assessment Program.

Haun and the board said they were unfamiliar with the program and hoped additional information was forthcoming.

To other action, Haun handed out a summary of pupil transportation costs for the 1978-79 school year.

Estimate total needed for pupil transportation was $58,321 and includes salaries, social security, gas and oil, tires and parts, repairs and maintenance, insurance and one new bus.

The largest expense was salaries at an estimated $17,692. A new bus was figured at some $16,613 and gas and oil totaled about $11,046.

Total bus route miles driven during the school year were 73,225 at an estimated cost per mile, including depreciation, acquisition, was 79.6 cents.

Carroll mileage costs were estimated at $48,960 and Wayne mileage costs were $5,360.

The board said it wanted to review the information in detail before taking any kind of action.

Resignation of Paula Kirkegaard, an educable mentally handicapped teacher, was accepted. She has taken a similar position in Sioux City, Iowa.

All members were present except Wilbur Giese and all actions were unanimous.

The board moved into executive session at 8:45 to discuss a personal matter. No actions resulted.

Chamber Alters Birthday Bucks

In an effort to "increase the interest," the Chamber of Commerce announces a new twist to the "Birthday Bucks" promotion.

Effective immediately, the Chamber has decided to drop the weekly consolation winner, and remove the ceiling from the $750 limit for the jackpot winner.

Merchants no longer will need to send in birthday dates each week. From now on, only an exact date will win.

If the jackpot is not won, the pot will grow by $25 each week. As of Friday, there was $400 in the pot.

Each week, the Chamber will draw a birth date and announce the date to each participating business.

If someone in the store at the time of the announcement has that exact birth date, he or she will win the jackpot.

Mayor Casts Deciding Vote Council Nixes Wayne Proposal

With Mayor Wayne Marsh casting the deciding vote, the City Council Tuesday night laid to rest a proposal to dedicate the city of Wayne in memory of the late movie actor John Wayne.

The proposal had been offered at an earlier Council meeting by Chuck Barnes, official liaison for the Chamber of Commerce with the city.

The Council tied the vote 4-4 on a motion "to press on. If we do get a positive response from the (Wayne) family," Mayor Marsh then cast the fifth and deciding negative vote.

After considerable discussion with Barnes, the Council felt that before any commitment was made, the family of John Wayne should be contacted concerning their support of the idea.

Spill vote

However, when a motion to do so was presented, it was defeated.

Voting in favor of the motion were Council members Carolyn Filter, Keith Mosley, Darrel Fuetlberg and Darrel Heier. Voting against were Sam Hepburn, Cliff Ginn, Larry Johnson and Leo Hansen and Mayor Marsh.

Prior to the vote, Barnes told the Council that most of the input he had received was in favor of an honorary dedication.

However, Mayor Marsh read three letters opposed to the plan, and Council members who received response concerning the proposal said most comment was negative.

Barnes told the Council that the Chamber Board of Directors had not had a chance to discuss the proposal as a group, but that most seemed to be in support on an individual basis.

Barnes also said that Chamber Executive Vice President Gary Van Meter, now attending a Chamber seminar, had discussed the idea with a number of other Chamber executives and had received positive response.

Mayor Marsh read a letter from a former mayor who was opposed to the idea, and from the Wayne County Historical Society which said it was "unanimously opposed to such a scheme."

The comments from the Historical Society went on to say that "a rumor was reported to the June 26 meeting that a plan was being proposed to rededicate the city of Wayne to honor John Wayne—a movie star. Since John Wayne was not his real name and he only portrayed historical events and he was not living in the 1770's, the active members present at the meeting of the Historical Society were unanimously opposed to such a scheme.

"This idea was never suggested by the society and the society will not accept any memorabilia of John Wayne. Early Wayne County settlers admired the brave exploits of Anthony Wayne and no doubt used his name for our county. Several sites and a university are called Wayne."

After Mayor Marsh read this statement, Barnes told the Council that he had discussed the idea of an honorary dedication after the June 26 historical meeting and interest was favorable then.

Budget

City Administrator Darrell Brewington presented the Council with a preliminary copy of the fiscal year 1979-80 budget which totals $3,450,000.

The Council set a 7 a.m. breakfast meeting at The Windmill Restaurant Thursday for budget review. A public hearing will be set later and detailed information on the budget will appear later.

There were no objections at a proposed use hearing involving an estimated $72,722.25 in revenue sharing funds. The city is anticipating about $50,000 in revenue sharing money for the coming year and has on hand some $22,722.25 in unappropriated funds.

Since there were no objections, the administration will recommend to the Council at a later date how the money should be spent.

The Council also voted to spend some $1,500 and employ an engineering firm to develop a professional service agreement. This would establish a criteria for local contractors to follow when installing sewer, water, paving and other types of improvements.

Jim Coan, a local contractor, was present to discuss an assessment of $1,100 placed on property he owns. The assessment was a result of a recently passed park ordinance.

The Council entered executive session to discuss the matter, and after returning to regular session decided to stay with the administrative recommendation. Coan was arguing for a reduction in the assessment.

Discussion on a car lot owned by Arnie's Ford-Mercury was shelved until a public hearing is held later this month.

Three members of local Boy Scout Troop 174 were visitors to the meeting as part of communications merit badge requirement.

All Council members were present and all decisions were unanimous unless noted otherwise.

Window, Playground Projects Occupy School Board; Mileage Costs Reviewed

Approval of funds for replacement of 189 windows at Wayne Middle School and allocation of funds for improvement of playground equipment were among topics at the regular Wayne-Carroll Board of Education meeting Monday.

Although the contract for the window replacement was not ready for approval Monday night, the board decided to allocate the needed funds.

An estimated $65,000 will be needed to replace the 189 windows. At the June board meeting, the low bid of Marra-Hone-Improvement Co. Wayne, was accepted.

The replacement program is planned over a two-year period and has been in the works for several years.

Don Koenig, elementary physical education director for the Wayne school district, reported on the progress of updating the school's various playgrounds.

Koenig, who is being assisted by David Luft, elementary school principal, said excavation work is nearly complete and equipment will be in place by the time school opens in August.

Appreciation Days at Laurel

The annual Appreciation Days celebration, sponsored by the Laurel Chamber of Commerce, will be held Monday and Tuesday, July 16 and 17, according to a spokesman for the Chamber.

In connection with the celebration, the Laurel AMPI (Associated Milk Producers Inc.) is sponsoring a visit from Nebraska's dairy princess, Val Schroeder of Columbus. Area residents are invited to visit Miss Schroeder during open house at Great Plains Supply Co. in Laurel on Sunday, July 15, from 1 to 5 p.m., and again on Monday, July 16, from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

Census Bureau Survey Planned

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 16-20, the Chamber of Commerce reports.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 76,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 102.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 96.3 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 6.4 percent; it has been in the 5.7 to 5.9 percent range for the past 10 months.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Jim yelled at passers-by while Mike filled the glasses for thirsty customers.

Wayne Senior Center Marks 10th Anniversary

Fifty persons took part in activities July 3 to mark the 10th anniversary of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center.

Following the congregational meal at noon, Bill Hansen led the group in a sing along, accompanied by Genevieve Craig. Several members reminisced and Mrs. August Dorman received the door prize.

Mrs. Howard Stokes baked and decorated a birthday cake in blue and gold, the colors of the Senior Citizens Center. A spring bouquet was shared by Steve and Donna Schumacher.

The Wayne Senior Citizens Center was opened on July 1, 1969 with five charter members. The center, which is directed by Mrs. Jocell Bull, is funded by the Nebraska Commission on Aging and the City of Wayne through a Title III grant.

Gladys Petersen served as the first president of the Senior Citizens Center and, along with Mildred Powers, established a book in memory of deceased members.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Backer of Randolph, was graduated from Randolph High School in 1972 and is engaged in farming near Randolph.

Connie Jaeger of Winside and Leslie Cronk of Winside registered the guests, who were ushered into the church by Keith Wills of Pender, Randy Wills of Winside and Kevin Janssen and Kirt Daws, both of Randolph.
Mrs. Sandy Eckert of Pierce and Mrs. Frances Bors of Randolph pinned on flowers. Allur boys were the bridegroom's brother, Jeff Backer, and a cousin, Brian Backer of Randolph.

Lighting candles were Deanna Wills of Winside and Scott Wills of Carroll, brother of the bride. Flower girl was Tracy Eckert of Pierce and ring bearer was Cory Jacobs of Creighton.
For her wedding day the bride selected a traditional floor-length gown of white sheergazza designed with a jewel neckline and Gibson Girl sleeves. The bodice and sleeves were trimmed in French imported Chantilly lace, sequins and pearls. The skirt, with an attached chapel-length train, was edged with tulle. She wore a tiered bridal veil edged in Chantilly lace and attached to an open worked headpiece encrusted with hand-clipped mollis, sequins and pearls. Her cascade was of orange-ice carnations, red sweetheart roses, white staphanotis and green foliage with streamers.

Rick Anderson's No-Hitter? Stuns Wayne Legion

WAYNE PITCHER Tim Pfeiffer makes a catch of this popped up fly ball in the Midgets' win over Winside Monday night

Scorebooks aren't always in agreement and for that reason Winside's Rick Anderson doesn't know whether he pitched a no-hitter, a one-hitter or a two-hitter Monday night in a Ralph Bishop League win 2-1 over Wayne's Juniors.

The Wayne scorebook credited Tom Ginn with a base hit, although it was debatable Winside's scorekeeper ruled it an error. Winside's scorekeeper credited Wayne for one hit by Dave Schwartz in the fifth inning. This was ruled an error by the Wayne scorekeeper.

Whether Anderson actually threw a one-hitter or a two-hitter as another scorebook ruled it or whether Anderson achieved that moment that all pitchers strive for — a no-hitter, (as many of the fans felt) the fact is that the right handed pitcher muffled Wayne's offense for eight innings.

While Anderson was doing his job for Winside, Wayne's Jerry Goeden did an effective job for the majority of the game but gave up three hits and a run in the second inning and two hits and a run in the eighth. He struckout 14 batters while Anderson fanned seven.

Winside scored its first run of the game in the second inning off of Goeden. Tom Koll led off with a single and Brian Foote lined an 0-2 pitch to the left center field wall for a double. With Koll on third and Foote on second, Rick Anderson rapped a single to score Koll. Paul Roberts loaded the bases but Goeden retired the next three batters to get out of the jam.

Wayne's Legion came back to tie the game up in the bottom of the fifth. Dan Mitchell and Dave Schwartz reached base but Mitchell was thrown out at third on a freider's choice of Jeff Dion's bunt. Another error of Goeden's ground ball, allowed Schwartz to score. The two teams battled in a 1-1 deadlock through the seventh inning and went into extra inning play. It was the same story for Winside in the top of the eighth inning. Tom Koll singled and reached second base on a passed ball. Anderson then picked up his second RBI of the evening with a base hit that eventually earned him the win. Wayne was unable to score in the bottom of the inning, sending Winside home with the victory.

Midgets Hang On To Drop Winside

Wayne pitching ace Tim Pfeiffer had to play the part of a reliever to secure a 7-4 win for the Wayne Midgets over Winside, Monday night in Wayne. Wayne held leads of 2-0 and 7-1 before running into problems in the final four innings. Todd Heier's single in the bottom of the first scored Jerry Morris and Pfeiffer for an early 2-0 lead. Winside's Barry Bowers scored a run in the top of the second to close the gap.

The hosts took advantage of three base hits in the bottom of the inning to score five runs for a 7-1 lead. Kevin Nissen and Pat McCright added key doubles. Mark Koch added another run for Winside in the third off a single by Byron Schellenberg. Koch then relieved Brian Foote on the mound and held Wayne scoreless for the next three innings.

After George and Jerzak reached base for Winside in the fourth inning, Tim Pfeiffer entered the game in relief. Koch and Schellenberg drove both runners home but Pfeiffer put an end to the attack. Pfeiffer kept Winside off of the bases in the fifth and sixth innings to preserve a 7-4 win. Leading batters for Wayne were Kevin Nissen, Pat McCright, Todd Heier, Pfeiffer and Todd Skokan. Players from both teams played in the Ralph Bishop All Star game at Wakefield Wednesday at 6 p.m.

Winside is scheduled to play at Laurel Friday night while Wayne will travel to Wisner.

Wisner Proves To Be Tough Competitor

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"Don't squander time for that is the stuff life is made of..." Franklin

Benjamin Franklin frittered away very few hours during his highly productive lifetime. However, it is doubtful that his words are an endorsement of a rigid daily schedule of all work and no play.

Leisure time, wisely and satisfyingly spent, is the welcome "unwinding" that we must sandwich between the work and responsibilities of the average day. This is not time squandered, for time so spent returns a dividend in a rejuvenating release from the tension and emotional stress associated with modern living.

Third Tourney Title—

4th Jug Extends Streak To 14 Wins

Ken Jorgensen, owner of the 4th Jug tavern in Wayne, may have to build a new trophy case to accommodate the trophies his softball team has won. Jorgensen sponsors a slow-pitch team that has compiled a 32-1 record this year and has won three consecutive tournaments this season.

Ron Bowder with two hits. Loren Hammer recorded the other RBI.

The final three runs were scored by Jake Munter, Bowder and Schultz.

The 4th Jug dumped the Heelan Hogs 9-3 in the previous game with a 17-hit attack. Leading the attack were Hammer with two triples, two runs and four RBIs; Overin with two hits and three RBIs; Schultz with two doubles and a single; Daehnke with two runs and two hits; and Bowder, Lyle Blevins and Tim Robinson with two hits each.

4th JUG batboy Chris Looft shows off the three trophies that The 4th Jug has won in tournament play this season. Chris is the son of Mike Looft, who plays for The Jug.

The 4th Jug won the Funk Construction Tourney of Norfolk over the weekend to stretch its win streak to 14 games with another tournament championship. The Jug defeated DeLay Bank of Norfolk 16-11, Heelan Hogs of Norfolk 9-3 and DeLay Bank 6-5 for first place with a 6-0 record in this rain delayed tournament. Earlier rounds were played over a month ago.

Against DeLay Bank in the final game, the 4th Jug relied on three runs in the top of the seventh and final inning to nip the Norfolk team by one run. Leading batters for The Jug in this game were Mic Daehnke with three hits and two RBIs, Earle Overin with three hits and two RBIs, Bill Schultz with two hits, three runs and one RBI and

Pitcher Mike Looft and good defensive play by 4th Jug infielders were the keys to a 16-11 win in the first game this weekend over DeLay Bank. Trailing 11-9, the 4th Jug scored six runs in the final two innings while holding DeLay Bank scoreless. Leading hitters in the game for The 4th Jug were: Jake Munter, Schultz, Hammer, Kim Baker, Blevins, Johnson and Bowder. Looft was the

The Jug began the season with an 18-game winning streak and is currently leading the Wayne County Softball League. They are not presently entered in any future tournaments, but district tour action begins in a few weeks.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascell

THE PAN AM GAMES are being dominated by the United States this year. That's really no surprise since the U.S. is always strong in athletic competition and much larger than many of the countries involved in the Pan Am Games.

This is a great time for the Games. With the Olympics coming up in 1980, this is a preview of what to look forward to from the U.S. in Moscow. The competition will be much more difficult with the Russians and East Germans offering the main competition. But, the United States has showed some strong spots in the Pan Am Games that should be evident in the Olympics.

With total domination of the swimming and diving competition in San Juan, Puerto Rico, the U.S. has again established itself as a power in those events. The women swimmers broke several world records in the Games which gave an indication that East German swimmers will be challenged.

Domination of the Games continued through many other sports, which is encouraging. However, the U.S. basketball team, although undefeated, struggled through a couple of close games. As everyone knows, the Russians have a strong and big basketball team that has played together for years.

In fact, by our standards they could be considered professional. The U.S. digs up a group of average college players who have never played together and prepares them for international competition. Few of the 'big names' of collegiate basketball, play in the competition. This has to make the Russians favorites in basketball as well as the overall title in the Olympics.

MAJOR LEAGUE'S ALL-STAR GAME is rapidly approaching and Kansas City and Boston seem to dominate the American League selections while Los Angeles and Philadelphia each have two players selected to the National League team.

Not one player from the Houston Astros, who lead the NL Western Division, was selected to the starting eight positions by the fans. However, three Houston pitchers were selected to the team by the National League coaching staff. Montreal, the NL Eastern power thus far this season was also overlooked in the balloting. Steve Rogers was named as one of the All-Star pitchers later as a consolation prize.

Only relief pitcher Don Stanhouse was selected to represent the Baltimore Orioles, who still sport the best record in the Major Leagues. Texas, which is tied for the lead in the AL West has only one player on the team — reliever Jim Kern.

Many of the players are selected to the teams because of past performances and merely because the fans recognize their names. Take Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds for instance.

The catcher has had a so-so year but was nearly selected as starting catcher over Ted Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals. Simmons, who had never before been selected to the NL team despite a fine career, trailed Bench in the voting until the final two weeks.

He was leading the National League in batting average and was doing nearly everything right this season but still trailed Bench. A wrist injury sidelined Simmons but that may have been the thing that allowed him to catch Bench in the balloting. I believe people read about Simmons and fell sorry for the man after reading about his injury and season statistics up to that point. That's when he began to pick up votes. Although he will be unable to play in the All-Star game, it's still a justice for him to be selected.

AL MANAGER BOB LEMON overlooked some fine pitchers to choose Ron Guidry of his New York Yankees, to the AL pitching staff. Guidry sports a 6-6 record although he was undoubtedly the best pitcher in the Majors last season. Shouldn't selection be based on this season's performance?

Minnesota's bullpen ace Mike Marshall with 18 saves (tops in the league) and a 9-8 record was overlooked. So were Dennis Martinez (10-6) and Mike Flanagan (11-6) of the Orioles, Jerry Kosman (11-6) of the Twins, Mike Caldwell (10-5) of the Brewers and Ferguson Jenkins (9-5) of the Rangers. I think it's time the American League found a new method of selection.

Rollback of Property Values Is Ordered

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Nebraska Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The state Board of Equalization and Assessment has directed the state Revenue Department to adjust property values of non-agricultural land in 85 counties in which such values average about 17 percent of actual value.

Under state law, these valuations are supposed to be set at 35 percent of actual value.

The board's directive to the Revenue Department is designed to bring most counties in line with the eight counties that have completed reappraisals this year.

Those eight counties have valuations averaging about 30 percent, according to state Tax Commissioner John Decker. He told the board that action to bring the remaining counties to that level will almost double their values.

Starting July 11, there will be hearings for counties which want to contest the adjustment of their valuations.

The board must make a final decision by Aug. 15, the date by which most governmental units have to approve budgets and mill levies for the coming year.

The higher valuations should not necessarily mean higher taxes. In theory, higher values should be accompanied by a lowering of mill levies.

Decker, who had to explain the Revenue Department's equalization plan because of the illness of state Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, described the proposal as a first step in meeting the statutory requirement that land be assessed for tax purposes at 35 percent of actual value.

Decker said with $800,000 furnished by the legislature for the hiring of more field employees and statisticians to refine the sales-assessment ratio, the board can complete its job next year.

Gov. Charles Thone, who has frequently described the property valuations as "a mess," said the board's action was as good as could be done this year.

Agreeing with him were Secretary of State Allen Beermann, Auditor Ray A.C. Johnson and Treasurer Frank Marsh who with the governor and tax commissioner make up the membership of the board.

The plan treats farmland differently than residential, commercial and industrial properties. In most counties the proposal will result in an increase in farmland values.

Gas policy criticized

Gov. Charles Thone has told President Carter he is not enthusiastic about a presidential order that could shift 5 percent of the state's gasoline supplies to other states.

Thone was also critical of a new regulation that permits governors to divert 5 percent of a state's fuel supplies from rural to urban areas. That 5 percent would be in addition to the 5 percent set aside the governors are allowed to use to meet emergency situations.

The "most frightening" part of the plan, Thone said, is the regulation to allow the federal government to divert gas supplies from one part of the country to another. That would reward drivers who have not reduced their driving and would punish those who have conserved, he said.

Bill Palmer, director of the state energy office, said Nebraska will receive 12.5 percent less gasoline in July than during the same month last year. He said the state is slated to receive about 72.5 million gallons, down about 10 million from July, 1978. In addition, Palmer said, Nebraska will receive about 2 percent, or 12 million gallons, more diesel fuel than it did last July.

The regulation authorizing the governor to shift fuel supplies from rural to urban areas probably won't be utilized in Nebraska because there are no indications that city areas are being harder hit by the gasoline shortage than the rural regions, Palmer said.

Closed hearings anticipated

A U.S. Supreme Court ruling that judges have considerable discretion to close pre-trial proceedings dismayed many attorneys and media spokesmen in Nebraska.

In a 5-4 decision, the court said judges can close the pre-trial proceedings if they believe such action is required to protect a defendant's right to a fair trial—one that would not be affected by prejudicial publicity.

Alan Peterson of Lincoln, an attorney who represents Media of Nebraska, said he was "very disappointed" by the court's ruling. He added the news media will continue to maintain that pre-trial hearings should remain open under state statutory and constitutional provisions for preservation of open court proceedings.

Among those who predicted many pre-trial hearings will be closed because of the decision were Joe R. Seacrest, editor of the Lincoln Journal and chairman of Media of Nebraska, and Dennis Keefe, Lancaster County public defender. Seacrest noted the public is already questioning whether courts are "soft on crime" and that a good many cases are resolved by plea bargaining ahead of public trial. He said the court's decision "inevitably will result in the public knowing less about the criminal process and the efficacy of law enforcement, prosecution and the judiciary."

Keefe said there are "less drastic ways to preserve a fair trial than to exclude the press from the courtroom." He suggested in cases of massive pre-trial publicity that a trial could be moved to another location.

Management prerogative

The Nebraska Supreme Court has ruled the workload of faculty and staff members at a community college is a management prerogative and is not a negotiable item during collective bargaining.

The ruling reversed a Commission of Industrial Relations order that required Metro Technical Community College in Omaha to bargain with faculty and staff members about how many hours they must be available for teaching, counseling, and evaluation.

In the dispute, the union representing faculty and staff proposed contact hours with students be set at 14 per week and 28 per week for counselors, evaluators, and librarians. But Metro Tech refused to negotiate, arguing the workload issue affects educational policy. The court said the workload question involved a "foundational value judgment" because it could require changes in the school's educational philosophy, number of teachers, programs offered, and number of students and state aid tied to enrollment.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the proposed John Wayne dedication for the city of Wayne. I think the whole idea of the thing is disgusting. Not only are you using the man's name for your own profit, you will be despoiling the public.

Anyone unaware of Wayne's history would think that the late movie star was born here or something. But he was not born here, he never lived here, I doubt if he had ever heard of Wayne, Neb.

But that would be enough to bring people to Wayne just long enough to spend some money and find out it's nothing but a promotional hoax intended only in honor of this American hero, but only to capitalize on his fame.

Why don't you money hungry creeps let the man rest in peace. — A Wayne Fan; Cary Johnson, Wayne.

Monday Morning Health Care for Employees

Overweight employees from three Chicago banks are voluntarily competing to see which group can shed the most pounds.

At its facilities in Philadelphia, Penn., FMC Corporation has developed a "Monday morning accident room." The room is staffed with physicians and nurses on company payroll for treatment of injuries incurred over the weekend — injuries that would normally be treated in hospital emergency rooms.

Bonne Bell, a cosmetic manufacturing and distributing company in Lakewood, Ohio, offers a jogging program with outdoor path and exercise stations through woods and surrounding grounds, exercise classes three times weekly, tennis lessons at onsite courts, and exercise rooms, with shower facilities.

What's going on? Is business becoming a country club or a make shift hospital? Not at all. It is getting more involved in the health of its employees, and promoting better prevention and treatment of disease. And business has every reason to do so. Health care costs have now reached more than $180 billion a year and will soon top $200 billion. Business is the largest private buyer of health care in the country. Last year, employers paid more than $40 billion in group health premiums, and as much in taxes to support Medicare, Medicaid, occupational health services, and paid sick leave. So keeping its employees healthy has become one of the best investments any business can make.

The alternative, as I noted in a prior column, is a government take-over of the health care industry that will only produce more pain. Whether it be the President's $24 billion package of health care "restraint," or Senator Kennedy's $40-$60 (take your pick) billion "comprehensive" approach, a government imposed health care solution just won't work. History has repeatedly demonstrated these government schemes eventually drive costs higher, and higher, while dramatically reducing the quality of health care.

On the other hand, we know that only five percent of Americans lack any health insurance, and a slightly higher percent lack catastrophic coverage. Both groups could be protected by slightly expanding coverage of existing programs. The real challenge then, is to arrest the explosion of costs without destroying the most magnificent system of medical care the world has ever known.

We can do it. The Chamber has developed a nationwide program, illustrated by a Health Action Kit, that explains how business and community leaders can voluntarily apply private solutions at the local level to control health costs. The program gives many specific recommendations on how business can instill more competition, cost consciousness and individual responsibility in the health care system. These recommendations fall into four categories:

First, establish physical fitness, nutrition and screening programs for employees. These programs can reduce medical claims, improve productivity, lower absenteeism, and ultimately, lower insurance premiums. For example, the DuPont Company, a pioneer in alcohol abuse programs, estimates it has saved nearly $500,000 each year through less alcohol related absenteeism.

Second, negotiate with insurance companies for more cost effective policies, which cover preventive, outpatient services and second surgical opinions. Self insured or self administered health plans may also be appropriate for some firms. By better coordination of benefits, Borden, Inc. estimated that it saved $2.1 million in 1977.

Third, support the development of Health Maintenance Organizations (HMO's), which have demonstrated their ability to improve health and save money. These plans emphasize preventive services and lower rates of hospitalizations.

Fourth, serve on Health Systems Agencies (HSA), hospital boards and other planning bodies, and participate in local health studies that identify problems and the role business can play in solving them.

What it boils down to is this: If we want to avoid an eventual break down of our health care system, then we must start getting the government out and getting business in. It's our responsibility. The Health Action program is the National Chamber's answer to this challenge. If you would like to participate and receive our Health Action kit, please contact Jan Peter Orta at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington, D.C.

Grandpa Frank would be a little dis-mayed if he knew I didn't put a garden in this summer. But he does understand Gardening in the Field family has been an honored tradition for as long as I know. Great grandfather Henry comes to mind most often with the ordering of garden produce.

Henry, Frank and my Father John all have been ardent gardeners. But I'm sorry to admit, a little was lost when I came my turn.

The Field's, especially Henry and Frank, knew the nursery business inside and out. It used to fascinate me to listen to Frank on his morning radio program out of KAAA in Shenandoah. He was unbelievably knowledgeable on all types of garden produce, and knew the Latin name for almost all vegetables, shrubs, flowers, etc.

Henry and Frank made the nursery business, and knowing about nursery stock their business. It was their livelihood, their bread and butter.

Both were into radio broadcasting not for the money but for the joy of passing along their knowledge and experience and providing answers to listeners questions.

My father drifted from radio but stayed with journalism, and has kept up much of his expertise in gardening and other areas of vegetation. Besides a large greenhouse, he has a variety of plants scattered around the house, the patio and the deck.

I've had a garden for the past three years and had hoped to have one again this year. But, alas, we moved too late to plant early items and couldn't find a garden spot here in time for corn or beans.

My knowledge of flowers and plants has been lost somewhere along the line. Henry would turn in his grave if he knew what had been lost over the generations.

A lot of folks in this area amaze me that they've heard of Henry and Frank. Several people have asked about the Field family, and others have told me things about my own family I didn't know. I guess I've taken the Field name for granted all these years. Having grown up with it, I've never been able to appreciate the amount of knowledge the family has to offer.

Enough of my family

On occasion I'll be using this column as a means to communicate new ideas and changes at The Herald. Or maybe things we've taken for granted that you readers aren't familiar with.

For instance: Those who read the court house news also read the property transfer list. Did you know that DS stands for dock stamps? These are required to be paid by the seller at a rate of $1.10 per $1,000. So DS $25 would be dock stamps for a piece of property sold for $27,500.

And sometimes you'll see "stamps exempt." Governmental bodies involved with property transfer are not required to pay dock stamps.

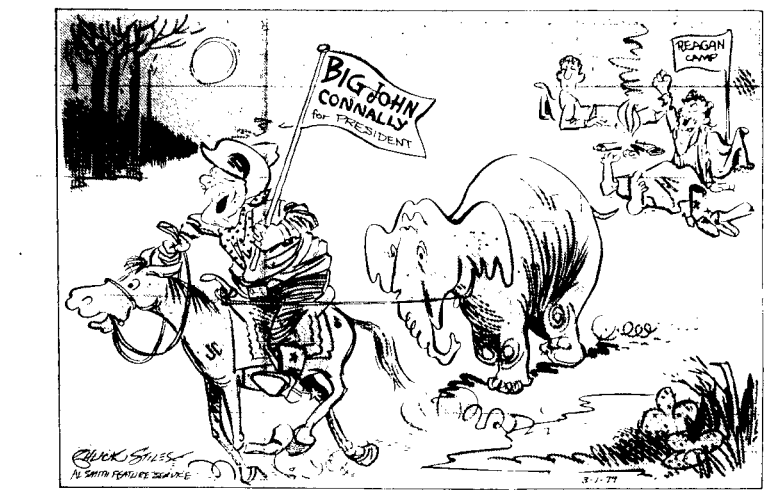

You think you've been faced with price hikes? Try this one on for size.

Postage rates for magazines and newspapers went up again last week in 11 series increases which have amounted to a jump of 413 percent since 1971.

Over an eight-year period, that figures out to an average yearly increase of 51.6 percent.

And on top of that, a ton of newsprint has jumped from about $150 in 1972 to about $350 today.

I've been "on the scene" for 30 days now. Names and places still are unfamiliar and will continue to be for several months. Our share of gremlins have cropped up in print, and our apologies for any misspelled names. The types of problems will improve with time, we hope.

Trucker Slowdown Costs Us Millions

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

The nationwide strike by independent truckers has cost individual truckers, farmers and ranchers and American consumers millions upon millions of dollars in direct and indirect losses and contributed further to the rampant inflation that is steadily eroding the American standard of living.

In the end, everybody pays unnecessary for redress of legitimate grievances achieved through prolonged coercion. Almost always, radical elements get out of hand and resort to weapons and terrorist tactics to intimidate and enforce their demands.

Most of the grievances cited by the independent truckers are recognized as real and worthy of immediate attention and correction.

Representatives from eight farm organizations met recently in Washington with truckers' representatives in an effort to ease the truck strike. The meeting produced an agreement to seek the following goals: guaranteed diesel fuel allocation to truck stops; mandatory 10 percent fuel surcharge with periodic adjustments which regulated carriers under ICC orders pass through to independents operating under a lease; nationwide minimum uniform weight of 80,000 pounds and 60-foot length on the trucks; standard "contract of haul" or bill of lading setting forth responsibilities of shippers, consignees, truck brokers and carriers; USDA to collect and publish agricultural trucking rates and costs; and end to "unloading rackets" which are a form of extortion.

It is unfortunate that such matters could not have been settled to provide the truckers relief without putting their resources and in some cases their lives and property in jeopardy. Unfortunately too that millions of dollars worth of fresh fruits and vegetables representing months of work and investment on the part of growers, both large and small, were lost because they could not be moved to processors and retailers. Such losses will plague consumers for months in the form of higher prices and short supplies.

Here in Nebraska, movement of livestock was disrupted, prices depressed and packing plants closed down with attendant loss of workers' wages and company earnings. Cattle ready for market were in many cases held over and that represents extra feed costs and the possibility of overweight discounts if the delay in marketing is prolonged.

Grain that should have been moving to terminal markets is piling up in storage for the summer wheat harvest was in many cases halted. From past experience with rail and longshoremen's strikes, such disruptions of grain movement are costly to grain producers and the effects linger long after the strike is settled.

The trucking situation emphasizes again that transportation and distribution of agricultural products is vital to the economic health of the entire agricultural economy.

Alarming too is the more frequent pattern of a segment of the nation's working or industrial force attempting to seize the nation by its throat and shaking it until it gets what it wants. In such cases, the demands and settlements frequently exceed what could be considered a worthy compromise. Everybody is a consumer but the load falls heaviest on those who are least able to pay the extra costs.

Somewhat there should be a better-way to resolve injustices and reach fair compromises and settlements. . . for the good of the nation and everybody concerned.

Minimum Purchase Is Not Enforceable

Mary O'Halloran, DOE region representative, has announced that, "Minimum gasoline purchase requirements at retail station outlets are not legally enforceable unless the governor of the state or his representative has established a minimum purchase requirement for the specific area of locality."

According to Mrs. O'Halloran, retail operators who want to adopt minimum purchase requirements must rely solely on voluntary cooperation by their customers if their station is not within an area designated by the governor for minimum purchase.

Some retail operators in Kansas City, in an effort to eliminate tank topping and end long lines at their pumps, have posted minimum purchase requirements such as $5. Customers may be asked to voluntarily observe this plan to help ease lines caused by people who are simply buying two or three gallons to keep their tanks full all the time. But such plans are purely voluntary and retailers do not compel someone to pay $5 or some other minimum if their actual gasoline purchase amount is less.

If a retail operator did compel a purchaser to pay a minimum amount more than the actual purchased amount outside of an area designated by the governor the retail operator would be in violation of the mandatory price regulations.

Lindell Williams, acting district manager, Central Enforcement District, said that his investigators have talked to retailers who did not fully understand the minimum purchase concept.

"We will do everything possible to help both retailers and their customers understand what they may do and may not do during this period of tight supply. Basically, they can be enforced only when and where the Governor says they can be enforced," stated Williams.

Wheat to Stay Release Status

Wheat in the farmer-owned reserve will continue in release status at least through July 31, John Goodwin, acting executive vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), announces.

Storage earnings stopped in all states effective June 30. Wheat was first released on May 16 when the national average market price reached $3.31 per bushel. The price level at which wheat is released is 140 percent of the national loan rate, or $3.29 per bushel.

It was announced at that time that on June 29 the department would review the average price of wheat, to determine if the release should remain in effect. The June 28 national average market price was $4.05 per bushel.

On July 31, the department will again review the average market price to determine if the release will continue.

After release of a commodity, it may be sold by the farmer holding it after repaying his CCC price support loan. However, release of the reserve does not require farmers to redeem or sell their grain at this time.

4-H Judging Even Scheduled

All 4-H gardeners!! Be sure to mark July 16 on your calendar for a special judging and identification workshop at the Northeast Station near Concord.

This will be an all-day workshop beginning at 9 a.m. and ending about 3:30 p.m. Bring a sack lunch and equipment for any recreation we will have during breaks (i.e. softball equipment, balls, games, etc.).

This will better prepare the 4-H gardener for the Judging and Identification Contest on July 20.

SELECTING VEGETABLES

There are no set rules on freshness when buying vegetables in the market or picking them from the garden. Experience in personal selection is the best teacher. By knowing some of the characteristics of ripe vegetables you will be able to select them with more confidence.

Here are some characteristics to look for and to avoid in vegetables.

Cucumbers

Cucumbers of the slicing and pickling types are most plentiful in the summer months. Look for a cucumber with good green color which is firm over the entire length. Cucumbers should be well shaped and well developed but not too large in diameter. Good cucumbers usually have many small bumps on the surface. They may have some white or greenish white color and still be of good quality. Try to avoid picking or selecting overgrown cucumbers which are large in diameter and have a dull color or are turning yellowish. Also, avoid cucumbers with withered or shriveled ends. These are signs of toughness and bitter flavor.

Onions

The many varieties of onions grown fall into three general classes. These are the globe onions, Granex Grano onions, and Spanish onions. Whichever variety you grow or select, look for hard and firm onions which are dry and have small necks. They also should be covered with papery outer scales and reasonably free from green sun burn spots and other blemishes. Avoid onions with wet or very soft necks, which usually are immature or affected by decay. Also avoid onions with thick, hollow, woody centers in the neck or with fresh sprouts.

Potatoes

"New potatoes" is a term most frequently used to describe those freshly dug which are not quite fully matured. The best use of new potatoes is boiling or creaming.

General purpose potatoes are used for boiling, frying and baking, although many of the common varieties are not considered to be best for baking.

The best known among the baking varieties is the Russet Burbank. This potato is a long variety with fine, scaly netting on the skin.

Summer squash include those varieties which are harvested while still immature and when the entire squash is tender and edible. They include the yellow crookneck, the large yellow straightneck, the greenish white Pally Pan, and the slender green zucchini and Italian marrow.

Look for squash that are tender and well developed, fresh appearing and well formed. You can identify a tender squash because the skin is glossy instead of dull, and it is neither hard nor tough.

Avoid stale or overmature squash, which will have a dull appearance and a hard, tough surface. Such squash usually have enlarged seeds and dry, stringy flesh.

New Era In Beef Production May Be Here, Latest Report Shows

The latest cattle on feed report, as well as cow slaughter numbers, indicates that a new beef cycle and a "new era in beef production" has begun, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension beef specialist, in Lincoln.

Dr. Paul Guyer, IANR specialist, said heifers on feed have decreased substantially (a 14 percent drop as of April 1) as a percentage of the total cattle on feed, indicating that they are being held back for cows. The buildup in cow numbers will cause a further reduction in beef supplies, and within the next 18 months, higher price levels than the industry has ever experienced, he predicted.

Loans on Oats, Barley In Reserve Are Called

National average prices have reached $1.44 per bushel for oats and $2.31 per bushel for barley, levels requiring the U.S. Department of Agriculture to call these commodities from the farmer-owned grain reserve, according to an announcement made by Under Secretary of Agriculture, Daig E. Hathaway.

Calling loans on oats and barley in the reserve means that farmers have 30 days from the date of notification of the call to repay their reserve loans. Under the grain reserve program, farmers own the commodities and are not required to sell their grain. If they do not repay the loan, however, they must forfeit the grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) and 40 million bushels of barley are in the farmer-owned reserve.

In a news conference June 26, Hathaway called attention to the current snarls in truck and rail transportation and said that prior to the repayment deadline on a call, an assessment would be made on a county by county basis to determine if it is physically possible for a farmer to deliver the commodity. In areas where there is no commercial storage or adequate transportation, Hathaway said CCC would delay issuance of delivery orders to farmers for at least 30 days after the normal 30 day delivery or repayment period.

If the storage and/or transportation problems continue, an assessment of the situation will be made every 30 days to determine if delivery notices can be issued to the counties involved. These delays in delivery or repayment will apply to farm stored loans only; ware house stored loans will be forfeited after 30 days unless they are repaid before the cut off date. County offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) will make the assessment, Hathaway said. ASCS county offices will officially notify producers when their grain has been called and the date by which the loan must be redeemed.

Under the farmer-owned grain reserve program, established by Congress in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 and designed to stabilize marketing, farmers are eligible to place wheat and feed grains into a reserve during periods of low prices. In return, farmers receive Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) price support loans on the grain in reserve as well as annual storage payments. If prices rise to the "release" level, farmers can repay the loan and market the crop without incurring a penalty.

The release level was reached for barley farmers holding these commodities in the reserve were then free to repay their loan and sell or store the commodities as they wished.

Today's call of oats and barley under the reserve means that consumer's appetite for beef is not insatiable, he noted, although it appeared that way when per capita consumption jumped from 65 pounds in the 1950s to more than 115 120 pounds in the early 1970s, when prices began to drop.

"We need to set goals for per capita beef consumption that beef feeders and producers calculate would sustain a viable industry and, along with these, a per capita consumption where a buildup in cattle numbers should be discouraged in order to maintain the production goal," the specialist said.

Another lesson is that grain exports can disrupt the livestock economy when large changes occur in a short time, Guyer said.

A third point he noted is that there are several indicators which can be used to project beef production levels as much as three to five years into the future. The beef specialist said producers need to use "cycle psychology" to predict future price patterns.

"As we go into the new cycle in the beef industry need to try to evaluate when cattle prices are likely to become unfavorable to the producer and feeder, what level of prices will be necessary for a profitable beef industry, and when and how low prices are likely to drop," Guyer said.

Cycles can be manipulated to minimize the "highs and lows" in production, thus reducing the dramatic impact these extremes can have on the sector. It also should put less financial pressure on all segments of the beef industry, leading to an easier adjustment from one cycle to the next, he added.

"This would give producers, and especially those in the business of financing the livestock industry, some lead time in planning for expansion and reduction in livestock numbers," Guyer said.

Oat Loans May Be Extended

Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loans on 1978 crop oats may be extended for six months at the option of the producer, John W. Goodwin, acting administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), announces.

Producers who wish to extend their loans should contact the ASCS office where they obtained them.

Goodwin said the extension would help alleviate transportation and storage problems that many producers are now facing by allowing them to market their oats over a longer period. Similar extensions were offered earlier for wheat and barley.

There are approximately 15 million bushels of 1978 crop oats under price support loan to which the six-month extension option applies.

There are also 38 million bushels of oats in the farmer-owned reserve. Loans on oats in the reserve were called June 28 when the market price reached $1.44 per bushel, 140 percent of the loan rate, the price level at which the department is required to call the commodity.

Soybean Exports Vital to Income

Soybean exports are vital to farm income and to the U.S. economy, according to a top official of the USDA Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS).

"The American Soybean Association is evidence of the fact that you must export to keep farming profitable, to keep a favorable balance of U.S. international trade and to feed the hungry world," Turner Olyoe, FAS assistant administrator for commodity programs, told 60 soybean leaders from Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska.

"Over the last 22 years, the value of U.S. exports of soybeans and soybean products has increased almost 40 fold to $4.4 billion in fiscal year 1978. Of the $27.1 billion in U.S. agricultural exports in fiscal 1978, soybeans and soybean products have accounted for nearly a fourth of these exports. You are helping to pay for the petroleum and other imports that are vitally essential to maintain America's high standard of living."

Olyoe said American Farmers can see the value of a free market system and farm exports by comparing the peanut and soybean market.

"If you look back about 20 years, peanuts and soybeans each represented roughly the same amount of income for American farmers," he said.

"Then a fork in the road emerged and soybeans took the open market route while the peanuts took the closed market route. Peanut producers sought and obtained legislative protection for their crop at a time when it appeared only protective legislation could assure them enough income to stay in business. On the other hand, soybean farmers, both then and now, constantly and vehemently avoid government control, providing them opportunities to take advantage of an ever expanding international market.

"A comparison to the farm values of these two commodities tells the story. Today's farm value for peanuts is about $800 million while the farm value of soybeans has hit $12 billion," Olyoe said.

"Without neglecting traditional soybean markets, Olyoe said, farm development programs should concentrate on emerging markets.

"The Soviet Union and China, with almost one third of the world's people, have strongly moved into world markets," Olyoe said. "Eastern Europe is moving more and more into the international agricultural markets. The Middle East and North Africa region, which has a combined population of 270 million, also has great prospects since many of these countries have ambitious agricultural development plans."

Soybean farmers will need to continue to expand their grower investment programs to meet the demands of these new markets, Olyoe said.

"We do not expect big increases for market development in annual appropriations from Congress," he said. "At the same time, inflation is leading to a decrease in purchasing power overseas. In addition, we have new commodity groups cooperators representing other U.S. farm products who want FAS to help promote their products. All-in-all, we expect to continue FAS support for soybean market development programs, but growers are going to have to assume a larger share of the financial responsibility for expanding world markets for soybeans."

The soybean leadership seminar, sponsored by the American Soybean Association, involved directors from the Iowa Soybean Association, Iowa Soybean Producers Board, Minnesota Soybean Growers Association, Minnesota Soybean Research and Promotion Council, Nebraska Soybean Association and Nebraska Soybean Development, Utilization and Marketing Board.

Planting Acres
The final day for farmers to report their planted acres to the ASCS office is July 16. Algen Johnson, chairman of the Wayne County ASC Committee, urged producers to certify their acreages, whether they are participating in the program or not.

Producers who certify their acreages will have their acreage credit for future ASCS programs. Those who do not certify will have a zero planting credit, this will affect participation in future programs, Johnson said.

Accuracy of acreage reports is being stressed to producers when they certify. Johnson explained that producers unsure of their acreages can take advantage of the ASCS measurement service program. For producers participating in the set aside program, a measurement service can be very important. The cost is minimal when compared to possible losses in program benefits due to inaccurate certifications.

Neighbors Help At Walton Farm

Neighbors and friends cultivated and sprayed about 200 acres of corn for Fay Walton of Dixon last Thursday.

Men who turned out to assist included Warren Patefield, Milo Patefield, Robert Patefield, Don Cunningham, Scott and Kurt Cunningham, Stan Pehrson, Jack Rasmussen, Randy Rasmussen, Leonard Loftis and La Vern Berteloth.

Women who furnished food and helped with the noon dinner were Mrs. Don Cunningham, Mrs. Stan Pehrson, Mrs. Jack Rasmussen, Mrs. George Rasmussen, Mrs. Milo Patefield and Mrs. Randy Rasmussen. Others who sent food were Mrs. Warren Patefield, Mrs. Robert Patefield and Mrs. Leonard Loftis. Dean and Gary Lunz and Frank Kuehler assisted with work at the Walton farm Saturday.

Take Proper Precautions For Vacation

When you go on vacation, make sure that crime doesn't travel along with you. Unless you take the proper precautions, crime can become an unpleasant part of your vacation.

When the summer months arrive, criminals seem to work harder and the number of crime victims increases. To insure that you can fully enjoy your vacation, here are some suggested strategies that should make you and your family less vulnerable to crime as provided by the U.S. Department of Justice.

Even before leaving home, make sure that your residence will have that "occupied at the moment" appearance while you are gone.

As you travel, try to avoid having that "I'm a tourist" look about your car. Vacationers' autos are frequently victimized because thieves know that travelers often leave valuables in their vehicles. Maps and travel brochures left on the dash and seats are telltale signs that the occupants of the cars are vacationers.

Clothing hanging in a car or luggage on the back seat is an open invitation to car prowlers. Whenever possible, do not leave those items in your car while the vehicle is unattended. Instead, put them in the trunk if you can't take them with you.

Don't carry an excessive amount of cash. If it is necessary to travel with a large sum of money, don't display it openly.

Don't leave valuables in your hotel or motel room. Most lodging facilities will provide a safe place to secure your valuables while you are staying in their accommodations.

Be careful, not careless. Enjoy a care-free vacation.

Chain Letter Scheme Illegal

The lure of easy money has a new generation of victims taking part in the latest variation of an old con game — the chain letter scheme.

Postal authorities have reported complaints and inquiries about the "circle of gold" chain letter over the past three months. The game appears to be sweeping the country, moving from east to west.

The "circle" letter promotion incorporates an appealing new angle — the prospect of immediately recouping money invested through resale of the letter.

After paying $50 for the letter and sending $50 to the first person on a list of 12, a buyer removes the top name, adds his name to the bottom and sells two copies — immediately recouping his $100.

Then participants only need to sit back and watch the money roll in as the letters with their names spread to a geometrically-increasing portion of the population.

The problem is, it doesn't usually work that way. Chain letter money-making schemes are usually the exploitation of the many by the few. Wittingly or unwittingly, participants and organizers are helping to create a set-up which invariably produces more losers than winners.

The money roll in as the letters with their names spread to a geometrically-increasing portion of the population. In a finite population, you run out of people, even if interest is sustained and no one intentionally breaks the chain.

For example, in a fairly typical scheme, where each person is supposed to involve six additional people, perfect participation would exceed the population of the United States before round 11 was completed.

In the real world, of course, the chain does get broken. Chain letters tend to spread rapidly and then die down quickly, so that a small number of people, primarily the organizers, gain at the expense of a larger number.

In addition, it's easy for organizers to manipulate chain letters so that names and addresses are phony and they get all of the money.

Historical Society Reprinting History

The Wayne County Historical Society has announced that it plans to reprint the "Wayne County History" book compiled by Dorothy Huse Nyberg.

The books will be available through the Historical Society. Mrs. Lucile Larson, a member of the Historical Society, announced that 50 alumni of Hahn High School toured the museum Saturday and Sunday. Members of the 1929 graduating class of Wayne High School also toured the museum recently.

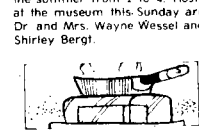

Nearly 550 persons have toured the museum since January 10, 1979, according to Mrs. Larson.

The museum, which is located at Seventh and Lincoln Sts. in Wayne, will have some repair and paint touch-up work done this fall in preparation for a complete paint project in 1980. A planter has been built at the base of the sign in front of the museum. The base includes three concrete blocks from the State National Bank building taken during their recent remodeling. The second floor sitting-bedroom of the museum has been papered in a 1910-20 design. A display includes a model bride packing her trunk with her going away possessions.

A coal-wood burning range has been added to the kitchen of the museum.

Mrs. Larson said visitors are welcome to tour the museum each Sunday afternoon during the summer from 2 to 4. Hosts at the museum this Sunday are Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Wessel and Shirley Berg.
