County Cancer Society Tops Fiscal Year Target of $5,539

The Wayne County unit of the American Cancer Society once again topped its goal for the fiscal year which ended on Aug. 31. Mrs. George Mecklin, treasurer, said Wayne County residents contributed $5,911.94 during the year to aid in the battle against cancer. The goal for 1979 was $5,539.

"The importance of our contribution is hard to realize," said Mrs. Mecklin, adding that more and more discoveries are being made.

Mrs. Lester Hansen, county president, said Wayne County contributors and volunteers rate a big vote of appreciation for their support.

"The problem is so large, not a battle with one disease but hundreds, and the results often are hard to see immediately," said Mrs. Hansen. "If we had new technology today for cancer prevention its impact would be 10 to 40 years down the road. But if we look at the long-term progress made in the fight against cancer we must be optimistic," she added.

County totals and chairmen are as follows:

Memorials, Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve, $1,453; Special Events, Mrs. Ken Marra, $90; Wayne Business People, $952.50; Wayne City Residential, Mrs. Emil Uken and Mrs. Ron Brown, chairmen, $1,842.92; Carroll, Mrs. Don Davis, $65.50; Hoskins, Mrs. Pat Northrup, $46.40; Winside, Mrs. Dale Miller, $168.45; rural area, Mrs. Neil Sandahl, $1,283.17

Precinct totals and chairmen for the rural area are as follows:

Brenna, Mrs. Harvey Reeg, $88; Chapin, Mrs. John Peterson and Mrs. Lloyd Behner, $84; Deer Creek, Mrs. Lynn Roberts, $55; Garfield, $48.75; Hancock, Mrs. Don Nelson and Mrs. Randall Bergstadt, $61; Hoskins, Mrs. Scott Deck, $97; Hunter, Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen, $200; Leslie, Mrs. Kenny Thomsen, $57; Logan, Mrs. Rudy Longe, $107; Plum Creek, Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen, $64; Sherman, Mrs. Murray Leicy, $83; Strahan, Mrs. Lawrence Backstrom and Mrs. Raymond Reeg, $196; Wilbur, Mrs. Ron Sebade, $12.42.

Mrs. Mecklin said that $10 was sent to Omaha directly from Wayne County. A total of 267 volunteers in the county gave of their time and effort to aid in the cancer fight, said Mrs. Hansen, and they all deserve a special thank you.

Two long-time Wayne County volunteers, Mrs. Clifford Johnson and Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve, were honored this year with special recognition awards. "Both have contributed untold hours in their many years of service," said Mrs. Hansen.

Area chairmen in Wayne this year include Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Ben Ahlvers, Arnold Marr, Mrs. Allen Shufelt, Mrs. Mable Sorensen, Mrs. Robert Porter, Mrs. Kenneth Roland, Mrs. Larry Test, Mrs. Rodney Varilek and Mrs. Jewell Schock.

Money collected goes to help in a three-pronged attack on cancer through research, education and service.

Highway Plans Meeting Topic

Residents of 15 counties in Highway Engineering District III will have an opportunity to express their opinions on the state's highway construction and improvement plans for fiscal years 1980 through 1985 on Oct. 9.

Personnel from the Department of Roads and a member of the Nebraska Highway Commission will host a highway information meeting at the City Auditorium in Laurel on that date. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m., with Highway Commissioner Merle F. Kingsbury of Ponca as chairman.

Counties in District III are Knox, Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Wayne, Madison, Stanton, Cuming, Burt, Colfax, Platte, Boone and Pierce.

"We hope that both residents and public officials will attend and give us their views on Nebraska's current highway program. We will describe the state's highway program for fiscal years 1980 through 1985 and encourage questions and comments from the audience," state roads director David O. Coolidge said.

The District III meeting is one of eight district informational meetings scheduled throughout the state.

Free Watermelon Attracts Crowd

WAYNE CHAMBER of Commerce sponsored a watermelon feed Thursday night in the alleyways between Jeff's Cafe and Gerald's Decorating, and between the old Gamble Store and the Diamond Center. Nearly three pickup loads of watermelon were on hand for a

First Trial Set Involving Power Line

Tentative trial date of Jan. 22 has been set for the first of several cases in Wayne County District Court involving Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) construction of a major transmission line through Northeast Nebraska.

District Judge Merritt C. Warren signed the order Wednesday after a pretrial conference was held between attorneys for NPPD and for plaintiffs Valerius H. and Bernice M. Damme, Route 1, Wayne.

THE DAMME case is the first of several expected to be considered over the next several months. Some seven appeals have been received in District Court, three of which were filed by tenants after property owners decided the original offer was satisfactory. The remainder are appeals by property owners.

In an attempt to secure right-of-way for the proposed 345-kilovolt line to serve Northeast Nebraska, NPPD several months ago filed 47 condemnation proceedings in Wayne County involving some 116 tracts of land.

Ron Bogus, NPPD public information manager, said 59 percent of the cases have been settled voluntarily, while the remaining 41 percent resulted in condemnation proceedings.

In filing the proceedings NPPD is exercising its right to eminent domain. It is seeking the right of way to land over which a line will run from Hoskins east to a substation near Raun, Iowa.

TOTAL PROJECT cost initially was estimated at $3,438,000, but a delay of several months due to the condemnations has inflated that figure somewhat.

Transmission line tower construction already has begun in Dakota, Stanton and Wayne counties where NPPD has been granted easements. The only major stumbling block is in Thurston County.

All condemnations filed in that county involve Indian owned land. No towers have been erected in Thurston County and Bogus noted it is unlawful for NPPD to file condemnations against tribal owned land.

Target date next fall. Bogus said an initial completion date for erection of all towers and stringing of all wire is August, 1980. However, this date is "undergoing review," he added, and it does not look as if the deadline will be met.

due to the uprising of sentiment in Thurston County.

The public information manager said power is needed badly into this area of Northeast Nebraska. "We haven't gotten to the point where someone has said 'no' to the need for such a transmission line," Bogus noted.

If it takes six months for the condemnations hearings to be concluded, then NPPD feels the project will still be economically justifiable. However, if the proceedings look as if they will drag on for years, the project will have to be reviewed, he said.

FURTHER information on the pre-trial conference held at the Courthouse Wednesday was not available since Judge Warren took the file with him to study. Attorney for the defendants, Asa Christianson, of Lincoln, could not be reached.

In addition to the seven cases appealed by property owners and tenants, eight cases were appealed from County Court by NPPD. The appeals were filed by both sides with the feeling that settlements reached in the lower court were either too low (as for the property owners) or too high (as for NPPD).

Fall Grain Storage Outlook Bleak

If you're a farmer and are expecting a bountiful harvest this fall, you'd better be thinking about where to store your grain.

A check with Wayne's two grain elevators Friday lended credence to a national concern about the movement of grain to and from terminals this fall.

Both facilities here anticipate a glut of grain and nowhere to store it. Major grain terminals in Sioux City and Omaha are full to the brim. Strikes by grain haulers and by railroads are sure to compound the problem.

While there is some transportation available locally to haul grain to the major terminals, the Sioux City and Omaha facilities are having difficulty handling grain left over from last fall.

BOB BERGT, Manager of Feeders Elevator Inc., said the situation locally is "very bad" and more than likely will worsen as farmers begin to harvest their crops.

There are only three semi-trucks in Wayne capable of hauling large amounts of grain, he noted, and the situation is worse this year than last. There are some smaller independent truckers with dual axles that can haul up to 500 bushels, but that mostly is a sideline to their primary businesses, he noted.

A considerable amount of grain was moved to government storage last year and a lot remains in the three-year grain reserve program. These two factors have added to the storage problems, he said.

FEEDERS ELEVATOR is adding 75,000 bushels to its storage capacity, but still has less space for storage this year. "If we could facilitate some movement out of the terminals, that would help," he explained. Most handle only a few trucks per hour and grain movement through the terminals is far too slow, he added.

Terminals still are jammed with last year's grain, and earlier this summer some in Sioux City were not taking on any new grain, Bergt said.

The irony of the entire problem is that farmers across the entire state are expecting above normal harvests. Usually, some areas are hit with a drought, or some type of insect infestation reduces the harvest. But this year even the usually dry areas are expected to produce excellent harvests.

Feeders Elevator has a capacity of 265,000 bushels, and most of it is booked up now. And, as for the glut of grain expected this fall, it will hamper the grain movement.

Bergt said most dealers he has talked with are at a loss as to what to do. Farmers have been asking advice on the grain movement problem, and dealers have not been able to provide answers.

QUITE A BIT of additional grain storage was added by farmers last year, and elevators have added to their capacities also. But not nearly as much has been added this year, Bergt said.

As the harvest months begin, grain will have to be piled on the ground unless additional storage is located. Corn can keep the best of any grain, but the idea of piling grain in the open is not relished by anyone.

WAYNE GRAIN & FEED is having similar problems, although manager Fred Gildersleeve maintains he does have some storage available.

His firm also is adding storage facilities. "Storage space, is going to be tight," he admitted. "A lot of crops have been carried over from last year and the prospects are good for a bumper crop this year," he noted.

Gildersleeve cited strikes by grain haulers in Minnesota and by Rock Island rail road as adding to the grain movement problem in the area. However, "If the price is right, then they (terminals) may want to move the grain," he predicted.

He concurred with Bergt's assessment that farmers have a lot of carryover in storage from last year, thus reducing this year's available storage capacity. In addition, he noted that terminal elevators still have three-year reserve corn on hand.

GILDERSLEEVE, also, is concerned there may not be enough storage space to take care of this fall's harvest.

So, as area farmers await the end of the growing season and the start of harvest, area elevators are scraping for storage facilities. Both Gildersleeve and Bergt admit the outlook is bleak.

EVEN RUSTIC corn cribs such as this undoubtedly will be full this fall as local elevator managers predict continued grain transportation problems. Storage facilities are still full of last year's crop, and state and area crop forecasters are predicting near-record yields this year. Tie-ups at major terminals in Sioux City and Omaha primarily are to blame.

Several States Considering Second Transmission Line

With controversy over a 345 kilovolt transmission line from near Raun, Iowa, to Hoskins nearing its end, a group of legislators from several North Central states met recently to discuss construction of a similar line.

The line, if approved and completed, would bring electricity from Manitoba, Canada, to Hoskins. Termed the Mandan power interchange proposal, the idea was put forth as follows by a spokesman for Nebraska Public Power District recently.

THE PEAK electricity demand season for Manitoba is during the winter and, conversely, for Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota, the peak period is during summer months.

A large number of electrically run irrigation systems and air conditioning systems put a large demand on electricity output in those states, he explained. Demand drops off during the winter months.

A power transmission line such as that proposed would allow the three states to receive electricity from Manitoba's Hydro 3,600 megawatt generating system. The system consists mainly of hydro-electric dams along the Nelson River.

If Nebraska and the two Dakotas utilize Manitoba's power generating facilities during their peak demand season, they will save money by not having to invest in additional power generating plants built to meet these peak demand periods.

The savings to United States energy production would amount to an estimated equivalent of five million barrels of oil a year if the proposal, now in the formative stages, is completed.

ESTIMATED to cost $500 million, the project could involve all or parts of Knox, Cedar, Antelope, Pierce and Wayne Counties. Several power districts, including NPPD, are considering the proposed project.

The proposed 630-mile-long transmission line would connect Winnipeg and Hoskins. There would be intermediate terminals in the Grand Forks and Fargo, N.D., areas and the Huron and Sioux Falls, S.D., areas. Five-hundred-sixty miles of line would be in the United States, the NPPD spokesman said.

STUDIES WILL be conducted on the physical characteristics (such as rivers, topography, soil types, etc.), effects on biological characteristics (such as endangered wildlife, wetlands, woodlands, shelter belts, etc.), and effects on cropland, urban development, mining and industrial development, housing, historic and recreational sites.

Agricultural interests will be given a high priority in development of the line because of the area's dependence on agriculture. Efforts will be made to stay out of designated national and state parks, critical habitat areas, wildlife management areas, geographically unstable areas and irrigated land.

The preferred route is expected to be selected by early October of next year.

FCIC Seeks Public Input

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) of the Department of Agriculture is seeking public comment on its proposed regulations for insuring corn in Wayne County effective with the 1980 crop year.

Information on the proposed corn regulations may be obtained from the FCIC office at: Norfolk County Office, 401 Sunset Plaza, Norfolk, Neb., 68701, 402-371-1600.

The deadline for submitting written comments of the proposed regulations is Oct. 15. All written comments must be sent to: Manager, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., 20250.

New Farm Law May Be Attempted

by M.M. Van Kirk, Director of Information
The present government farm programs based on the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 with an amendment in 1978 is due to expire at the end of the 1981 crop year and Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has made news with a statement that he wants to see an extensive national dialogue on the course that U.S. agriculture should be headed in the future.

Past history indicates there may be a serious attempt to enact a new farm law next year prior to the 1980 presidential election. Probably though, Congress won't enact a new law until 1981. But now is the time to be considering whether the provisions of the 1977 law have general farmer and rancher support or whether a new approach should be taken.

Increased agricultural exports and a surge in market prices for grain and livestock during the past year have made both the 1977 program and Secretary

Bergland take on a much better look in the farm country than they had a couple of years ago. The farmer-held grain reserve program so far has turned out to be more helpful and workable than many thought at its inception.

Provisions of the 1977 act relate primarily to dairy products, wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, upland cotton, rice, peanuts and wool. The commodity provisions of the law and related laws vest a great deal of authority in the secretary of agriculture. In the case of feed grains, wheat and upland cotton, the secretary can:

- Set loan rates within limits established by law.
- Increase target prices whenever a set-aside requirement is in effect. (This authority was granted by a 1978 amendment. If it is not used, or not applicable, target prices are determined by updating the targets set by the 1977 act to reflect changes in specified categories of production costs.)
- Accumulate government-owned stocks

under loan programs and establish producer-held reserves of wheat and feed grains.

— Require producers to set aside an acreage equal to a percentage of the acreage planted to one or more of these commodities (for harvest) as a condition of eligibility for price support. The establishment of a set-aside program for a crop does not necessarily require producers to reduce the acreage planted to that crop. The secretary may, however, limit the acreage planted to wheat, feed grains and upland cotton. In addition, producers who cooperate with a set-aside but do not reduce plantings by an amount equal to a percentage specified by the secretary may have their eligibility for deficiency payments reduced by an allocation factor.

- Offer producers an opportunity to divert an additional acreage (over and above set-aside requirements).
- Determine the use, if any, that may be made of land that is set aside or diverted.
- Require cross compliance. (Producers who want price support on one or more commodities can be required to comply with the government programs for other commodities.)

Deficiency payments are made to eligible producers at rates equal to the difference between the average market price of the affected commodity in a specified period or the loan rate, whichever is higher, and the target price. The total amount of deficiency payments that may be made to any one producer is limited by law. The limitations in effect for 1979 are $45,000 for wheat, feed grains, and upland cotton combined and $50,000 for rice. The annual limitations provided by existing law for 1980 and 1981 are $50,000 for wheat, feed grains, upland cotton and rice combined.

Producers should constructively review the application of the present program and inventory proposed changes which would serve the long-time interests of producers, consumers and the government.

Agriculture is massive but it is also delicate. Efforts to fine tune program provisions in the light of all the variables demand careful study of alternatives and the impact of each.

A couple of interesting sidelights to last week's comments on Big Red football:

The first reaffirms my feelings on the mentality of some (an isolated few) sports fans — someone with a good sense of humor (something we'd like to see more of) left a package on my desk Monday. Suspecting a letter bomb or a box of tarantulas, I encouraged other staff members to open it. They declined. So, after carefully doing so, inside I found much to my delight an oversized pair of briefs with the Big Red helmet and "Go Big Red" stamped across the front. Now that's the kind of Big Red fan I can respect.

One final note on the Huskers. Wife Kathy has threatened to write a letter to the Editor proclaiming my insanity and her support of the Big Red. Even as an Iowa girl, she was won over to the Huskers while a student at Nebraska Wesleyan and UN-L in Lincoln. Oh well, such is life.

Let's give a hand to the Chamber of Commerce for doing its part in keeping Wayne a neat and clean town. Members of Wayne Industries and the Chamber spent several hours recently mowing weeds at the industrial park.

As noted before, the pied typer is much in favor of cleaning up eyesores that detract from Wayne's attractiveness. Unfortunately, every community has a few residents or businesses who don't see things that way.

We're considering a picture campaign next spring to point out (and hopefully help clean up) some of the more obvious pigsties in town. The Chamber has taken the cleanup initiative, so maybe others will follow its footsteps.

It's truly a frightful thought, but Christmas is less than four months away. Joseph A. O'Byrne of Philadelphia, Pa., is on the ball. We received a pamphlet a couple of weeks ago entitled "To Be a Better Santa."

Bereuter Reports

Nebraska needs labor
Growth of Nebraska's economy is now being slowed by a labor shortage.

The state boasts the lowest unemployment rate in the nation. In June the state unemployment rate was 3.3 percent, compared with six percent nationwide. Last year Nebraska was the only state with an unemployment rate less than three percent. Economists generally consider four percent unemployment to be a state of no real unemployment.

Our low unemployment rate's a blessing in many ways, but the shortage of workers does mean many industries in Nebraska are hard pressed to find skilled labor. Some of our commercial and industrial firms cannot even find unskilled labor to train on the job.

Last month, I had the opportunity to talk with industry officials throughout the First Congressional District. In Lincoln and in several communities both north and south of the Platte River, officials told me that scarcity of workers has stunted growth and expansion of manufacturing and agriculture-related industries. Additional orders are not being met because the necessary labor just cannot be found.

Without a doubt, there are advantages to low unemployment — localized insulation and inflation and recession, in particular. But a healthy future means we cannot be satisfied with the economic status quo.

Rather than concentrating so much on attracting new industry, I believe it may now be in Nebraska's best interest to attract energetic, solid citizen workers for existing industry. We also need to ebb some of the outward flow of youth by highlighting existing employment opportunities in Nebraska. The state needs to clearly convey the message that Nebraska has a good life to offer those who live here and are willing to work. I have already made some of these suggestions to state officials.

The mood change home
Inflation now appears to be the first concern of Nebraskans, with energy ranking second. That's certainly no surprise and no different than reports from the rest of the Nation.

During my travels throughout the district in August, people expressed to me deep concern regarding the health of the American dollar. Our energy policies are still, of course, a major concern for many Cornhuskers, but an easing of the diesel fuel shortage and the ready availability of gasoline has noticeably lessened the intensity of concern from the very high level seen last spring.

I am fully aware, however, the development of a balanced and sensible energy policy and programs must still be among our biggest national priorities. For several years now it should have been the number one item on the presidential and congressional agendas. Here in Nebraska my office is trying to carefully monitor whether there will be adequate diesel fuel supplies for harvest and heating oil for winter.

Despite plenty of bad economic news nationally, the mood back home is still far from pessimistic. Crops look exceptionally fine and, as I mentioned previously, employment opportunities are unusually plentiful.

For economic and energy reasons, people seem to be vacationing closer to home. Attendance at state parks and county fairs is high. My family and I took a very brief vacation in the Panhandle and the Black Hills, after a district work period that was extremely busy and enjoyable. Attendance at county fairs, festivals, service club meetings and time in the mobile office or Lincoln office gave me a chance to visit with a great many of you. Nothing takes the place of that contact.

I feel it's of the utmost importance for me to personally hear the views and concerns and problems from a broad cross-section of district residents. I also appreciated the good wishes for my family and me that so many of you expressed, and compliments on my work in your behalf.

Grandma and Grandpa just seemed to live in a whole world apart. When I was a kid visiting them, it was like stepping back in time. The "parlor" was kept for guests and smelled of beeswax and linseed oil. The kitchen was a real country kitchen, too. Big and spacious.

They were happy living in a different time period from anyone else. Except I knew my Grandpa hankered after that one stop to modern technology—the indoor bathroom. To Grandpa, that was breaking with the past. Besides, those newfangled things never worked good anyway. The truth was, he didn't have the money.

Staying at my grandparents' farm was a big adventure for a city kid like me. Until one sub-zero winter night. As I trotted down the icy path toward the outdoor "facility," with the sleet stinging the back of my neck, I decided something definitely would have to be done.

When I got a job working construction, I started saving my money and buying U.S. Savings Bonds. Before you knew it, I'd got myself quite a bundle of those things.

The day I went to redeem my Bonds at the bank, I told Mr. Whittman, the teller, they were for a present I was planning to give my Grandpa and Grandpa. "Gonna give 'em something to get 'em outta the house, huh?" he beamed. I shook my head. "Ah...no, sir...something more like getting 'em into it." And that's exactly what I did.

When Grandpa realized what the present was, she hit me so tight, she nearly broke a rib. And to this day, she still refers to that room as "The convenience our grandson, Billy, gave us."

Task Force to Explore Consumer Co-operatives

The Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources has formed a task force to explore interest in consumer cooperatives in the state.

According to Wanda Leonard, district extension community resource development specialist and a task force member, the group will look into what cooperatives exist in the state, what their needs are and how widespread interest is in consumer cooperatives.

Presently, she said the group is concerned with identifying cooperatives currently in existence in Nebraska, or those planning to organize. Such groups are urged to contact their county extension offices with the information, she said.

Besides Leonard, task force members include Janet Wilson, extension consumer education specialist; Dr. Mike Turner, professor of agricultural economics; and Dr. Dick Lora, community resource development coordinator and task force chairperson.

Leonard said interest in consumer cooperatives of all kinds is growing across the country. These groups include co-ops for consumer goods, health services, housing, rural electric services, insurance, nursery school care, telephone service, automobile repair and more.

In Wisconsin, she noted, one of four persons belongs to a consumer co-op of some kind, and many belong to as many as 16 different co-ops.

That interest has been backed up with federal funds, the specialist added, which total $2 million for direct loans or technical assistance to existing or emerging cooperatives this year alone.

Congress also has authorized $74 million for the National Consumer Cooperative Bank for 1980, she said.

Over a five-year period, $300 billion in direct U.S. Treasury funding will make possible $3 billion worth of total capitalization, according to Leoherd. Eventually, government involvement will be phased out and the bank will operate through member shares.

The Nebraska task force can provide information now on funding availability and technical assistance to existing or emerging co-ops, she added, but loan applications from the Consumer Cooperative Bank will not be available until after the first of the year.

Leonard said she and Wilson attended a national meeting for all state Cooperative Extension Services in Washington, D.C. earlier this year to get the program underway.

Derailment Cause Determined Near Dixon

AN INVESTIGATION of the 21-car train derailment east of Dixon showed that the cause of derailment was a broken bolt in the rail which allowed the rail to come loose. The Burlington Northern work train was on its way west with 47 car loads of ballast rock, on Sept. 4 when the accident occurred. No one was injured in the derailment but equipment damage was extensive. The derailed cars were cleaned up and taken to Dixon the following day by contractors and will be repaired at Lincoln or sold for scrap. The track was repaired and opened by 5 p.m. the day after the derailment. The train was run by a crew from Sioux City and was traveling at approximately 30 miles per hour when it derailed.

Grain Sorghum Reaches Price Without Penalty

Grain sorghum has again reached the price at which owners may withdraw the commodity without penalty from the farmer owned grain reserve.

Producers may immediately remove their sorghum from the reserve by repaying their Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) price support loans.

John Goodwin, CCC acting executive vice president, pointed out that release of the reserve does not require farmers to redeem or sell their grain at this time.

Goodwin said that the five day moving average market price for sorghum was $4.33 per hundredweight on Sept. 5. The reserve release level for a feed grain is reached when the market price is 125 percent of the commodity's loan rate. That level is $4.24 per hundred weight for sorghum.

Sorghum was first released June 22 when the price was $4.25 per hundredweight. The release authorization was withdrawn Aug. 1 when the price dropped to $4.21 per hundredweight.

Approximately 29 million hundredweight of sorghum are in the reserve. Farmers receive storage payments annually in advance on this grain from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Upon repayment of the loan, farmers may keep the storage payments earned through the date of repayment. If the loan is not repaid, storage credit will continue through the end of October.

On Oct. 31, USDA will review the average prices for sorghum to determine if the release authorization should remain in effect. If release continues, storage payments will stop in those states where the price remains above the release level.

Data used by CCC in determining the release level include a daily report by Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) which shows prices bid by buyers at selected markets, and a month end Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service (ESCS) report of prices received by farmers, showing the previous month's average prices and the current bid month prices.

The daily markets reviewed for sorghum are Kansas City and Texas. The five day average of these market prices, adjusted to reflect prices received by farmers, were the basis for the action.

Allen Defense Shocks Trojans For 22-6 Victory

For the first time in many years, the talk over the coffee table in Allen, is about the success of the Allen Eagles football team. Fans are trying to remember when the Eagles last won their first two games of the season. It is believed to have been at least 10 years ago. Allen's football team surprised many people early this football season when the Eagles opened with two consecutive victories. Allen topped Winside 36-18 last week and stunned Wakefield 22-6, Friday night. And the fans are excited. For seven consecutive seasons, they followed the Eagles through losing seasons. This year they want to follow a winner.

The Eagles took advantage of five Wakefield fumbles and one interception to score 22 points. The Allen defense held Wakefield in Allen territory on numerous occasions.

"We really played a good game and had a strong team effort," Allen coach Bart Kneiff said. "Wakefield is a very good club. We got a few breaks and came out on top. The kids have a real good attitude and really want to win."

The Eagles defense put points on the scoreboard early when Terry Brewer intercepted a Wakefield pass at the Wakefield 17-yard line and returned it for a touchdown. Greg Carr ran in the two-point conversion with a little over one minute gone in the game.

WHITE SHIRTS everywhere as Allen's Pat Onderstal (10), Scott Carr (20) and a couple of other defensive players stop Wakefield's Larry Soderberg as Dean Miller (83) watches helplessly possession of the ball in Allen territory several times before a penalty pushed the Trojans back into their own territory.

Wakefield coughed up the ball on a fumble at the Trojan 28-yard line and Allen took advantage of the mistake. The Eagles moved the ball to the nine-yard line and quarterback Lee Hansen passed to Greg Carr for a touchdown. A pass to Rob Linafelter on the two-point conversion attempt gave Allen a 16-0 lead in the second quarter, which held until half-time.

Scott Carr became the hero in the second half when he returned a Wakefield punt 65 yards to the Wakefield four-yard line. On fourth down and two feet from the goal line, Scott's brother Greg carried the ball in. The PAT was blocked and the score stood at 22-0.

Most of the action in the final quarters took place in Allen territory but Wakefield could only manage one touchdown. The Trojans took over at the Allen 28-yard line and quarterback Van Portwood passed to Dean Miller twice to set the ball up in scoring position. Portwood hit Miller on a 14-yard aerial for the lone Wakefield TD with 1:56 remaining in the game. The two-point conversion attempt failed and the game ended at 22-6.

"Our entire defense played an outstanding game," Wakefield coach John Torczon said. "We broke down on a touchdown pass and a couple of conversions but the defense played well. It was a nightmare but, you have to give Allen all the credit in the world. They are a good football team."

In three years, we've made 17 turnovers against Allen and they only made one," said Torczon. "Our biggest mistake was our lack of sustaining blocks. Their (Allen's) pursuit was super. I have to give them credit. We certainly had our chances inside the 40-yard line but we made too many mistakes."

Wakefield outyarded Allen, but the Eagles took advantage of the breaks to open up the game. Lee Hansen completed four passes in six attempts for 45 yards and Greg Carr totaled 68 yards rushing and 42 yards passing to lead the Allen offense. Terry Brewer rushed for 23 yards.

Defensively, the Eagles were led by Carr with 14 tackles. Other defensive standouts were Randy Smith, Frank Lanzer, Brewer with an interception and a fumble recovery, Rick Gotch with two fumble recoveries, Bruce Malcom with a fumble recovery, Pat Onderstal, Ken Hohenstein and Robert Malcom in what coach Kneiff termed "a total team effort!"

Allen will host Bancroft Friday and Wakefield will travel to Wausa at Lewis and Clark Conference play continues with intra-division play.

Winside Unloads On Osmond 40-14

A balanced offense racked up 28 points in the first half and built up a 34-0 lead as the Winside Wildcats blasted fumble prone Osmond 40-14, Friday night on the home field.

The Wildcats scored 14 points in the first quarter, 14 in the second and six in the third while holding Osmond scoreless for the first three periods.

Lakeview Next Opponent Devils Fall To Blair 25-7

Opening their football campaign with a tough schedule in the early season, the Wayne Blue Devils lost their second game of the year, as Blair scored a 25-7 home field victory, Friday.

Wayne opened against South Sioux City last weekend in a game that was moved to South Sioux because of a burned out transformer at the Wayne State College Memorial field. The Devils lost that game 18-6. On the road again, the Blue Devils ran into a good Blair team. South Sioux is a Class A school and Blair ranks as the third largest Class B school in the state.

"Our offensive line controlled their defensive line and we drove the ball down field all night," said Winside coach Dennis Gonnerman. "The whole team played well."

Defensively, Winside was led in tackling by Brad Roberts with 17 tackles, Barry Bowers with 13 tackles and Brad Janke with 10 tackles. Winside recovered six Osmond fumbles. The Wildcats will host Ponca Friday night. Winside's record is 1-1 for the season.

The Bears scored first on a 22 yard run by Thompson in the first quarter. Wayne took the lead in the second quarter when Bryan Aguirre scored on a one-yard run and Hugh Jager kicked the PAT. If looked like the Devils would take the one-point lead into the locker room at half-time but Blair scored six more points on a 41-yard touchdown run by Orsi in the final 13 seconds of the half.

Trailing 12-7 in a game that they needed to win, the Blue Devils tried to regain the lead but couldn't sustain a scoring drive. Blair held its five-point lead into the fourth quarter.

Wayne was forced to open up its offense in the final period in an attempt to come from behind. The attempted rally failed and Blair scored two fourth quarter touchdowns to win the game 25-7.

"We had our opportunities," Wayne coach Stew Cline said. "We had a golden opportunity to take a lead into the locker at half-time and they scored with 13 seconds left. In the fourth quarter, you either beat someone or get beat bad. We had

Seventh at Plainview

WHS Harriers Have High Hopes

The Wayne High harriers opened the cross country season with a seventh place finish in the Plainview Invitational. Friday. Crofton won the tourney with 46 points followed by Bloomfield with 56. Wayne finished with 90 points.

The meet was the first performance by the Wayne team which is expected to be strong this season. Kurt Powers led the Blue Devils with a fifth place finish in a time of 13:38. First place went to John Kube of Crofton with a time of 13:25. Wayne's Doug Proett placed 11th in 13:53. The other Wayne varsity runners were: Mike Lutt, 36th in 15:19; Jeff Baier, 39th in 15:22; Pat McCright, 50th in 15:58. Twenty medals were awarded.

disappointed with the third and fourth place runners but this was Lutt's first time running in competition so he really did pretty well. Some of our runners need to move further up the ladder.

Scores in cross country competition are achieved by adding the place points of the top four

- 2 - Bloomfield, 56
- 3 - Naper, 60
- 4 - Albion, 63

- 8 - O'Neill, 104
- 9 - Hartington C.C., 142
- 10 - Alinsworth, 162
- 11 - Plainview, 170

Individuals Wayne scored 90 points in the Plainview meet, a number which is obtained by adding 5, 11, 36 and 38 (the top four Wayne finishers).

"Kurt had a pretty good day," said Wayne coach Harold Maciejewski. "I was a little

Although Wayne's seventh place finish may not look impressive, Maciejewski and his runners are optimistic for a good season. "I feel we should be as strong as we've ever been, teamwise," Maciejewski said. "We placed second in the conference last year and did well in districts. We could possibly qualify for state if we run well and work hard. I have high hopes and the runners also feel they will do well."

The Wayne cross country team is made up of nine juniors and one senior. Senior Kurt Powers leads the varsity which is composed of Doug Proett, Jeff Baier, Mike Lutt and Pat McCright. The five reserve runners are Jere Morris, Joel Mosley, Perry Nelson, Tim Pfeiffer and Todd Skokan. Maciejewski, who is in his 17th year of coaching at Wayne High, is in his 17th season as cross country coach and official athletic director. He also coaches golf in the spring. He is a board member of the Nebraska Athletic Directors Association.

"They have run all summer on their own," Mac said. "Proett and Powers have done a lot of extra running and Baier increased his leg power with weights. I feel the runners on this team are running four or five miles for practice on their own. I'm hoping some people on the second team will give the top five a run for the starting positions."

"I have real high hopes. They're running with real good attitudes and they feel good about the sport," Mac said. "Altitude makes a lot of difference. We should have an outstanding year next year with all seniors on the team. They have great possibilities."

Volleyball Season Debut

Wildkittens Lose Home Opener

By Kevin Weiberg
Wayne State SID

The University of Nebraska at Omaha volleyball squad started slowly in Wayne State's Rice Auditorium Wednesday night losing their opening set of the year 8-15 to Doane College. Led by sophomore Vicki Hamm, Cook, the Lady Mavericks quickly rebounded, however, and reeled off six straight sets to down both Doane and Wayne State College.

UNO jumped to an early lead in the second set against Doane and won easily 15-5. The third and fourth sets also went to the Lady Mavericks by scores of 15-11 and 15-5.

In the second match of the night, Doane College defeated WSC 18-16, 15-6, 13-15 and 15-13. Three of the four sets were seesaw battles marked by scoring streaks in the opening set. The Wildkittens rallied from a 14-11 deficit to tie Doane at 14 before losing. Trailing 6-3 in the third set WSC scored six straight points to lead 9-6. Doane then scored five straight to retake the lead before finally losing 13-15.

That set proved to be the only win for the Wildkittens as UNO downed WSC in straight sets in the nightcap 15-7, 15-5 and 16-14. UNO's Hamm tallied 10 offensive points in the WSC match to lead the Lady Mavs.

Junior Marlene Mogensen, Cedar Rapids, paced WSC with 14 offensive points in the two matches. Two Wildkittens had 13 offensive points. — Sue Homan of Creighton, and Cheryl Abts of Dixon. Abts also had six ace serves on the night.

WSC SPIKER Marlene Mogensen taps the ball over the outstretched arms of a Doane player. Wayne State lost best-of-five matches to Doane and UNO, Wednesday in the volleyball home opener.

Wayne Nips Laurel Spikers

In a hard fought contest of area schools, the Wayne Blue Devils edged Laurel 15-7, 13-15, 15-13 in volleyball action at Laurel, Thursday.

Lisa Peters scored 14 points for Wayne and Jolene Bennett, Stacy Jacobmeier, and Lynn Surber played well at the net to lead Wayne. Julia Dorcsey did a good job of setting the ball. The Devils trailed 12-3 in the third game but came back to win the match and up their record to 3-1. Laurel falls to 0-2.

Wayne won the B team match 15-9, 10-15 and 15-12. The freshman match was a tight two game match with Wayne coming out on top 15-13, 16-14. Wayne is scheduled to host West Point C.C. Thursday while Laurel competes in the Winside Invitational, tonight (Monday).

W-C Boosters Should Order Sweaters

All Wayne-Carroll athletic boosters who ordered booster sweaters should meet at the Wayne High School commons anytime between 5 and 8 p.m., Wednesday, for refitting and reordering. The sweaters that were originally ordered could not be obtained and sweaters must be reordered. All boosters should meet Wednesday evening to place their orders. For more information contact Vicky Skokan.

Wayne Frosh Tie Cedar

The freshmen Blue Devils opened their football season with an 8-8 tie against Hartington Cedar Catholic, Thursday in Hartington. Cedar took the lead on a 25-yard touchdown run with 8 minutes remaining in the third quarter. A two-point conversion made the score 8-0.

Wayne rallied with four minutes left in the game on a recovered fumble at the Cedar two yard line. Jeff McCright scored the touchdown from one yard out and Shaun Niemann ran in the two-point conversion to tie the game.

Leading players were McCright with 14 tackles and Kurt Janke with 45 yards rushing. The freshmen will travel to Pierce for a game, Thursday.

Laurel Loses But Looks Much Better

After opening their season with a nightmarish loss to Randolph last week, the Laurel Bears played much better this week, although the score didn't show it. The Bears lost their first home game to West Point Conference power Hartington Cedar Catholic 25-0, Friday night.

Although being outscored, the Bears gained more total yards (189 to 163) than Cedar and made nearly twice as many first downs (17 to 9). Cedar scored in the first quarter when Mark Becker passed to Jerry Wieseler for a 15 yard pass play. The PAT was kicked by Kathol. The visitors held a 13-0 lead at half time when Kathol scored on a seven yard run in the second period.

"The score didn't show it but we played a pretty good game," Laurel coach Nick Danze said. "We had a couple of chances to score at 6-0 and 13-0 but we couldn't do it. Our improvements are tremendous from last week."

Kathol scored the third Hartington touchdown on a 16-yard pass from Becker to Kathol. The final score came late in the fourth period when the Bears lost a scoring opportunity. Cedar's Noecker recovered a fumble at the seven yard line, killing Laurel's scoring threat and ran the ball 93 yards for a touchdown.

Laurel is scheduled to play at Plainview, Friday. The Laurel junior varsity team will play at 7 o'clock tonight at Wakefield.
